"I am learn. You learn me little wave round you, don't you?"

Job laughed outright. Joe felt quite at home with him after she heard his jolly laugh.

"I won't as any more questions. Guess what? I do, and you tell me how social grows you be-grow see, why, I can? Bain-my excuse for taking you to my wife."

Joe somehow began to think Job's wife was an awe-inspiring woman.

"How a it be you?"

"I don't no."

"Where you said before. Well, I never could tell women-folks. My wife says no and she knows."

Joe laughed now.

"Do mean a lone indgin' lonesome? Say—lots play that thing there?"

"What, I reckon we'll get on first rate then."

"I no can tell. Wait and see."

It seemed true, too, Job Wonder put on a long face and talked of religious children and dying mamas. Joe felt very lonesome, and was quite down-hearted at the dark face. Job finished his story, and he was sorry he forced it afterward, he seemed so with a tender-hearted man. He took Joe by the waistband. Six inches separated the two, Joe was so much taller.

"Sure it gives you a sore heart, I know it. Mebbe you're not used to it."

"Yes, I do. I have lots of it."

"Sure. Did you think I'd a white man? Bain-my fault. I'm sorry I made you rake, is it?"

Job stood in front of Joe, and they were face smooth for the practice. Joe was a little taller, but Job's shoulders ran down his chest, and Joe was great where he was small.

"So you can play the accordion? Well, I can't. Bain-my fault, I guess. Mebbe when you get there. We will get good, I know. Mebbe you will be a good girl I'll stand to you, almost—I'm sure I will. Job Wonder's never said one thing and did another. If my word is good, I'll stand to you. Come round by and by to-like you, and you'll be good to me. Job Wonder's your 2 feet plenty as plenty. You play with my house."

"Hello! What's down?"

Joe turned square around and looked down.

"Dad—why, just dotes, of course. Every girl's crazy about dolls, and never seen a girl dolls have a doll."

"I guess I don't know much."

"Never read a doll? The idea was to make a girl like it, and it's a sure sign, "Never read, and spoiled to blow." Why, I'm a girl myself, "what she has, you get in that one." Why, I'm a girl myself, "what she has, you get in that one." Why, I'm a girl myself, "what she has, you get in that one

CHARLEVOIX!

CHARLEVOIX, MICH. A CHICAGO SUMMER RESORT ☞

The best point for Manufacturing Industries in Northern Michigan.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, JULY 15, 1891.
Northern Michigan News.

Heavy forest fires have been ragging on the Beavers lately.

Detroit Journal: Boyne Falls has human ills, but it has no mair of pills. There are dollars to be caught, and the school will for count naught, with the people who live upamong the hills.

Prof. McEwen made two ascensions in his balloon at Traverse City on the 3d. He was successful in his ascent and drop, but on saturday his parachute rope caught and was pulled from the trapeze. The professor could not make his jump. He landed in the woods about three miles away, without injury.

Kalkaska Leader: Crops in this part of the world compare more favorably with those in the south part of the state, where rain has been more or less abundant, than one would expect. In fact, Northern Michigan soil has demonstrated this season that it can stand a prolonged drouth far better than regions that are supposed to be more highly favored by nature.

Glen Lake, in Leelanaw county, is a beautiful body of water, lying among the bluffs bordering on Lake Michigan, into which it flows. At a certain season of the year—at its "blooming season" as it is locally expressed—its waters become poisonous. During this time no one drinks a swallow of the water. The people say it feels as if they were swallowing needles, it gives such a prickling sensation, and anyone bathing in it suffers as if they had been stung with bees.

Petoskey's celebration was a glorious one and the feature of it which took the fancy of the crowd most was the eloquent oration of Wm. Alden Smith of Grand Rapids. The Cadillac Hose Company won the hose race and $125. The horse race and a purse of $200 were won by a black gelding owned by a musician from St. Louis. Bicycle races for medals aggregating $100, lively games and sports, a mammoth procession, balloon ascension and a general big time were the other features.

Suicides seem to be becoming quite popular with young men through the country. Clark Montague, a young man of about 23, living about six miles from Traverse City, shot himself about 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The ball entered his forehead, and lodged in his brain. It did not kill him but the doctors say he can live but a short time. He has been in poor health and despondent for several days and on being questioned about the shooting, he said that he did it intentionally because he was tired of living.

Grand Rapids Democrat, July 8: The first invoices for steel for the C. & N. M. road were audited yesterday. They call for $75,441.89 for the first lot of 3,500 tons delivered at Traverse City. The rails are purchased of the Illinois Steel Company, Chicago. They are to weigh sixty pounds to the yard. Splices and connections are being obtained at Milwaukee, and are arriving by way of Ottawa Beach, the new lake line of the Chicago and West Michigan system. The new road is ready for this steel and it will be laid at once.

Bellaire Herald: Next season the C. & W. M. railroad will bring many summer visitors into this country, and the Herald hopes to see the Queen of the Lakes on her old Elk Rapids-Eastport route, and the Lewis hotel at Torch Lake open for business. We believe both would patronized, and certainly Antrim county would be greatly benefited. The Queen is a nice boat and well adapted to ply on the inland lakes, while the commodious Lewis house, with its fine surroundings, should no longer remain in innocuous desuetude.

Petoskey Record: An accident occurred Friday last on the new railroad grade in the west side of town in which an Italian laborer had his leg crushed from his knee to the foot and had a narrow escape from drowning. The track gave way precipitating some ten cars into the bay the Italian with them. He was rescued with difficulty by his comrades from where he was wedged between the cars.——Last week the surveying crew under C. A. Gordon, were engaged locating the line of the Chicago and West Michigan railway through the city. The track will follow the bay shore to the first lime kilns, where the deep cut will be made through the bluff. This new road, which is being pushed toward completion, while adding greatly to financial and commercial growth of the city, will not detract an iota from its beauty as a resort, as the line does not cut up the streets of the town.

More Pensions.—Soldiers Take Notice.

The dependent pension bill has passed and become a law. Thousands of soldiers, widows, parents and children entitled. This also applies to Pensioners now on the rolls who are drawing a less rate than $12.00 The rollcall at present in the Pension Office are very liberal and many can easily get their claims increased to a higher rate.

We make a specialty of rejected and Abandoned claims. A great many are entitled to bounties, claims for computation of rations, lost horses, pay for transportation, clothing and in fact all classes of claims.

Widows, parents and children of soldiers call and see us. Unfortunately you have some kind of a claim that we can prosecute for you.

After ten years of practice before the several departments of the Interior and being familiar with the rules and decisions, we feel confident of handling your claims.

D. M. Wells of the firm of Wells & Peters of Coldwater, Michigan, will be at the Fountain City House, Charlevoix, Mich., July 20th, 1891 to consult soldiers in relation to pension and bounty claims.

Call and see us. Consultation free. If you are having trouble with your claim we can assist you. Do not forget the date.

WELLS & PETERS,
Coldwater, Mich.

A fine lot of Spring chickens for sale at Mt. Mesauba at 25c each.
1-2t. D. S. WAY.

For pure milk delivered to any part of town apply to W. S. SPERRY, Clinton St., or P. O. box 91. 48-12t

Wanted—Cedar bolts, also cedar blocks, 242-17.
WM. PEARSON.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

NOTICE—Any claims against the schoolcraft Sun Cross must be presented within 30 days from date to MASON A GRIG.
May 30th 1891

THE SALISONTAL COTTAGE, adjoining the grounds of the Chicago Summer Resort Company, on Pine Lake is for rent. Inquire at Law and Real Estate office of E. H. GREEN, Charlevoix. 1-tf

English Spavin Liniament removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-1y

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica salve and Bucklen's Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Chicago & North Michigan Railroad Company will make application to the Board of supervisors of the county of Charlevoix at a meeting of said board to be held at said County House in the village of Charlevoix, in the county of Charlevoix, on the first Tuesday in September, 1891, and at divers other times, for permission and authority to construct a railroad, and to locate and lay down the tracks of said railroad, in, across, along, upon and on the lands and highways hereinafter described, and in the manner and upon the terms and conditions following:

Commencing on the north section line of section number twenty-six (26) in Town number thirty-four (34) north of range number five (5) west, and forty (40) feet east of the quarter post, thence on a curve degree (1) curve to the left five hundred and twenty-six (526) feet, thence tangent one hundred feet, thence on a curve degree (1) curve to the right two hundred and twenty-one (221) feet thence on a curve (1) degree curve to the right eight hundred and twenty-eight (828) feet, thence tangent one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet, thence on a curve (1) degree curve to the right eight hundred and twenty-eight (828) feet, thence tangent one hundred and twenty-eight (128) feet to the east line of said section twenty-six (26) two hundred and thirty-five (235) feet South of the north and south quarter post.

Said bridge will be a through truss iron drawbridge to single track of standard gauge, or other equivalent bridge, and the tracks will be laid in Pine River in such a way, and the line will have a clear opening for the navigable channel of Pine River of ninety (90) feet for the passage of vessels.

CHICAGO & NORTH MICHIGAN RAILROAD COMPANY.
By CHAS. H. HALLE, President.
41-3t.

MT. McSAUBA,

The Reserved Lots

at this Romantic spot are now offered to resorters at reasonable rates.

LOW TAXES, FINE VIEWS,
THE BEST OF BATHING PLACES

Resorters and Summer visitors cordially invited to inspect the grounds and visit the Observatory from which a Grand view of the

SURROUNDING COUNTRY and the
ISLANDS OF LAKE MICHIGAN,

can be obtained.

For Prices and Terms apply to

D. S. WAY,
Mt. McSauba, Mich.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS

And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by E. H. GREEN.

FARMERS, REA[illegible]IS!!!

If you or any of your neighbors expect to buy a machine, wagon or any farm tool this season remember we will sell you the BEST goods in the market at prices guaranteed to be below any one who sells FIRST QUALITY as we do, and handle nothing else.

We say best goods for least money.

Yes, HERE ARE THE WHY'S

We can sell you the best article in the country, BECAUSE we have devoted several years of the best part of our lives to this particular business, have handled almost every make and grade of implements, have become acquainted with the advantages of each, and the faults of all, and therefore stand in a position TO KNOW which is best and in all cases we assure you at whatever effort, we have secured the best and latest improved machine with which to supply our customers. Experience is our school and it has taught us the best, and we have it at any cost.

We can sell the goods cheaper than anyone else BECAUSE we devote our entire and exclusive attention to this business, buy in car load lots and thereby obtain every possible advantage in purchasing and in freights, and owing to the great quantities we sell, can certainly afford to sell better articles for less money than those who buy in small quantities and who only handle the goods as a side issue.

Consider these propositions, and if you think them sound and logical, come and see our Reapers, Binders, Harrows, Plows, Buggies and Wagons, repairs and attachments for all. Remember the place.

THACKER & GORDON.
NEAR FERGUSON HOUSE.

A FLUENT DICTION, vivid descriptive powers, and a gorgeous vocabulary,—aided by the most cunning art of the engraver have not exaggerated the beauties of Charlevoix. It cannot be done. While Mackinac is grand, Ottawa beach delightful, and Belle Isle a lovely landscape garden, Charlevoix is still the prettiest spot in Michigan.

We are handling property in every part of this village. We can sell you a factory site on Round Lake. We can sell you a piece of property on Bridge Street, suitable for either stores or a factory. We have thirty residences, ranging in price from $700 to $4,000, and in location such that any taste may be satisfied.

Our specialty this week is two lots worth $250 apiece, well fenced and graded, upon which are two new modern houses and a barn, good well and fruit trees—the buildings alone could not be duplicated for $1,600, title perfect, and location advantageous. We will take $1,700 on the following terms: $500 down, and the balance on long time and easy payments. This is a bargain.

MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

MILLINERY!

JUST RECEIVED.
A fine line of

SUMMER GOODS,

Comprising all the latest novelties in Hats and Bonnets, new and desirable Ribbons, Flowers, Laces, Veilings, Gauze, an elegant assortment of Gilt Belt Buckles, Pins, Ear Drops and Scarfs, and Grocery, and a nice line of Patterns.

I Have also in stock a nice line of

☞CHILDREN'S WEAR☜

Ladies are especially invited to call, whether wishing to buy or not. Also agent for Butterick goods.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

HAVING RECEIVED my Spring and Summer Samples, I call attention to my

$26 & $30 SUITS

In any Shade Desired.

They are the finest ever sold in Charlevoix. Give me a call.

JOHN SWECKLE,
Merchant Tailor.
Charlevoix, Mich.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

☞Country produce especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
—Dealer in—
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

Take The Sentinel

J. W. Kirby

—Has removed his—
BLACKSMITH SHOP
To his premises on Bluff Ave.

He invites attention to the fact that he is prepared to do

SAW-GUMMING.

In addition to regular blacksmithing. Give him a trial.

HORSESHOEING
a Specialty.

JOHN W. KIRBY.

Washburn & Ackert.
FOUNDREYMEN.
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The
Charlevoix Plow.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental • Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

For Sale or Exchange.
For property in Charlevoix,
A STORE AND DWELLING
In Scottville, Michigan. Will trade in good first class location. Address
LOCK BOX 78,
Charlevoix.

For the Finest

Job Work,

GO TO THE
SENTINEL OFFICE.

T. J. CANNON,
NEW GROCERY
AND BAKERY,
Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a Full Line Family Groceries.
In connection with an article of
BAKERY GOODS,
Root Beer, Pop and Ginger Ale,
Orders taken and fresh promptly delivered.
I solicit a share of your patronage, and will guarantee you good goods, low prices, courteous treatment and square dealing.
T. J. CANNON.

Call and see

A Full line of
WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, PINS,
SILVER TABLE WARE,
CHARLEVOIX SOUVENIR SPOONS,
AGATE JEWELRY, SATIN STAR JEWELRY, POCKET AND TIME JEWELRY.
Also, A Full Line of OPTICAL GOODS, IN WHITE and SMOKED.
Especial attention given to all repairs. All goods subject to sale after six months.

C. R. Bellinger.

FOR SALE.
Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Dixon's Addition.
These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton St., and in one block, with nice house, nicely finished on outside. Inquire of PROF. O. M. BICE,
Kalamazoo, Mich.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-1y

TAKE 2 PILLS AND CURE A BAD HEART CORE
HONEY FELT LIKE PEAR OF THE SIDE SHORT BREATH FLUTTERING DROPSY ETC.

HEART DISEASE.

Statistics show that one in every ten has a weak or diseased Heart. The first symptoms are short breath, oppression, fluttering, faint and hungry spells, pain in side, then smothering, swollen ankles, dropsy (and death,) for which Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a marvelous remedy. Free book on Heart Disease, with wonderful cures. Trial dr. free at druggists, or address Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Elkhart, Indiana. Sold by F. G. HINES & CO.

SHERWOOD

BOOTS and SHOES,

New, Mammoth Stock.
Lowest Prices.
No Credit,

GLASS WATER SET with every Ten Dollars trasded with us.

☞SHERWOOD.☜

FREE CONSULTATION

—DR. A. B. SPINNEY,—

of Detroit, for the purpose of accommodating his friends and patrons that cannot visit or consult him at Detroit, has opened an office at the point named below, and will be there on that day. The Doctor has been thirty-on years in practice—thirteen years in gonorrhea, eighteen years in the study and treatment of Diseases of Women, for two years as Medical Superintendent of Alma and Ypsilanti Sanitariums, was two years Professor of Anatomy and Physiology in Medical College in Detroit—has given hundreds of lectures upon Physiology in different parts of the State. If you have Catarrh, Throat, Lung Eye, Ear, Liver, Stomach, Kidney or Nervous Diseases, improve this opportunity for a careful examination. If your case is curable he will tell you so; if you can be treated at home he will do so, if not, he will tell you what it will cost and how long it will take a his office, which is open all the time and is equipped throughout in the most GLASSES fitted to all cases needing them. Special attention given to Rectal Uterine and Private Diseases.

AT FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
CHARLEVOIX,
Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5th and 6th,

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

-AT-

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

Fox & Miller.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple hemlock and other wood and are accessible to best markets

By Water and Rail

And are in a climate unequalled for health, with water of good quality. Unequaled for raising winter wheat and grass.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the place. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 350,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every place in the Union

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
TITLE PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
I call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
I also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of LIQUORS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS.

First door south of Sentinel office

We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!

Thirty-six number of boats I have built for certain and satisfactory trade. Also I have done and can do a good job building. Call and get references.

I will guarantee the boats sailed, rowed, trolled and towed building Boats in Northern Michigan for the LEAST MONEY!

All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made with mefore boat for next summer's use. I a prepared to please you.

LEAVE ORDERS

☞Specialty of Boats for rent this season.☜

JOS. BEAUVAIS.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

WAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA,

Charlevoix Sentinel.
BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED. W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for Charlevoix County. Title examined, loans negotiated, and a general law business transacted. Office in Park. Charlevoix, Michigan.

E. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Conveyancing. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

I. O. O. F.—Tuna Rosa No. 157, meet Saturday evenings before full moon in Jefferson hall.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 76, of R. A. M., meets on the first Monday of each month at Masonic Hall. Carrie Hilton, W. M. Hettie McLeod, Secretary.

FRANK CHAPTER, No. 104 R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the Monday of each full moon.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 232, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Bank office.

UNANGOKOMMANDJIGO No. 116, F. T., meets at Odd Fellows' hall every first Thursday of each month.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 9421, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at 7:30, at Jefferson Hall.

HANTER BELCHER CAMP, No. 4.3, meets every 2d and 4th Saturday in each month, at Old Fellows' Hall.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, W. P.—Physician and Surgeon. Office Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. M. and J. V. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County Surveyors Antrim county.)

The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. GAGNON, Prop.
(Known as the "PERI-HIT HOUSE")
Beautifully located on the South Terrace, overlooking the village and three lakes.
Lunch Counter and Ice Cream Parlor.
Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.
20-26-1y.

GRAND RAPIDS & INDIANA R. R.
In Effect Nov. 16th, 1890.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.

	Mail.	Express.
For Traverse City & Mackinaw	10 00 a m	4 00 p m
For Petoskey	3 25 p m	11 00 p m
For Traverse City & Mackinaw	3 25 p m	11 00 p m
For Cadillac (Direct)		4 00 p m
From Cadillac	8 50 a m	1 40 p m

TRAINS GOING SOUTH.

	Mail.	Express.
For Chicago	10 00 a m	11 00 p m
For Cadillac	3 25 p m	4 00 p m
For Cincinnati	11 45 p m	12 00 a m
From Mackinaw & Traverse City	10 40 a m	4 00 p m
From Petoskey	8 50 a m	1 40 p m

Train leaving for Cincinnati at 11:45 p. m., and arriving from Cincinnati at 7:40 a. m., carries Sleeping Cars furnished either train only except Sunday.

Train leaving for Petoskey and Mackinaw at 4:00 p. m., and arrive here for Mackinaw 10:40 a. m., and leave 7:15 a. m. Train has Dining Car, and Sleeping Car, Parlor Car and Coaches.

Muskegon, Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.
In effect Nov. 16th, 1890.

For Muskegon, Leave	From Muskegon.
7 00 a m	10 00 a m
11 05 a m	3 15 p m
3 30 p m	6 00 p m
5 30 p m	9 30 p m

Train leaving Muskegon at 10:00 a. m. has Parlor Car leaving again at Allegan. Ticket agent at depot, or office, W. Bacon, Union Ticket Agent, 67 Monroe St., Grand Rapids. Wm. Ledyard, Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agt. Geo. Dick, Gen'l Pass and Ticket Agt.

CHICAGO

VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE.

Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points west and South-west.

Trains leave as printed schedule as follows:

Leave Traverse City, 7:35 a. m.
Arrive Grand Rapids, 12:45 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 1:00 p. m.; 7:15 p. m.
Arrive Chicago, 4:50 p. m.; 5:30 p. m. (7:00 a. m.)

*Every day. Others week days only.

7:35 a. m. has free chair car to Chicago.

1:00 p. m. has Wagner parlor car to Chicago.

*11:15 p. m. has Wagner sleeping car to Chicago.

Trains leave Chicago at 8:00 a. m.; 4:40 p. m. and *11:15 p. m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 2:40 p. m., 12:45 p. m. and 8:30 a. m. Arrive at Traverse City 10:00 p. m. and 12:00 p. m.

Chicago Summer Resort

72 guests at the Club House.

A fine pennant pole was raised recently.

Arrivals at the Club House: Mrs. L. M. Bradsold and son, and Mrs. E. G. Clark and daughter, Chicago; G. H. McIntyre and wife, Peoria, Ills., and A. C. Harmon, Chicago.

At the cottages: Mr. Albert Crane and family with Mrs. Uhl and children, Grand Rapids, at the Chilagoe; Mrs. J. R. Smith, son and two daughters, Chicago; Lyman Barr and wife, Bloomington, Ills., and Mr. Frederick Ulman and family, Chicago.

Charlevoix Summer Resort.

131 took dinner at the Belvedere, Sunday.

The Rainey cottage is being repaired.

Arrivals at the Belvedere: J. N. Savage and wife, Mrs. A. C. Glasgow and Miss Miller, and Geo. H. Morgan and family, St. Louis; S. D. Kimbark, Chicago; Noble Olds, Ft. Wayne; D. K. Loveland and family, Saginaw; Samuel Johnson and family, Saginaw; Chas. Crane and family, Chicago; Dr. T. M. McIlvaine and family, Peoria; H. E. Mattier, and S. S. and Joe Atkins, Cincinnati; C. H. Wallbridge, Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Frank Willard, Chicago.

On the Resort: Mrs. S. B. Ladd and Miss Annie Fuller with Mrs. Gulley, Kansas City. E. C. Ware and family, Mrs. J. J. Knight, Mrs. W. H. Aldrich and family, Mrs. W. H. and Mrs. W. M. Holden, Chicago, President Mosher, of Hillsdale College, and wife, are guests of H. P. Farnsworth and wife, at Breezy Point. E. C. Chamberlin and family, and C. M. Christy and family, St. Louis; H. H. Everard and family, Mr. E. D. Bixby and family and Mrs. I. D. Bixby, and Miss Harden, Kalamazoo; D. A. Waterman and family, Detroit; also Mrs. A. B. Wood, D. L. D'Ooge, A. L. Conger, Kalamazoo, and O. T. Beeves and family, Bloomington, Ill.

Hastings from Hayes.

Mrs. Compton returned home from Adrian last week.

Several old landmarks in Hayes disappeared last week. The old Indian church at Ka-ge-che-wug was burned, also the old Burn's barn near Burgess.

The United Brethren held their quarterly meeting services in the grove at Fairgrove last Sunday.

Rev. W. S. Sly is building a cottage at Rocky Beach.

Wheat harvesting will commence this week; some fields look ripe. There but few soils that would produce such a crop with as little rain as we have had this season.

Allen Bowman and Fred Lawson returned from the upper peninsula a few days ago.

Mrs. F. J. Smith, of Grand Rapids is here visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wallace Whitford.

Mrs. Esther Hamlin, of Burgess, is visiting relatives in Undine this week.

Ben Nowland who went to Tallapoosa, Ga. last fall has suffered a sunstroke and thinks he will come back to Michigan by next spring. Their garden is a total failure. Wages are $1 a day and lots of "niggers" who will work for 50 cents if they can not get a dollar.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamlin were visiting friends in Undine Sunday.

School closed in Dist. No. 3 last Friday with a picnic in the woods.

Mrs. Margaret Willis is getting better, so that she can ride out once in a while.

Miss Le Jenkins and Mattie Crane were visiting Mrs. Lena Crane Saturday.

The management of the big Armstrong factory at Petoskey laid off thirty men last week, and it is rumored they will shut down entirely very soon, which means nearly or quite 200 men out of employment. It appears that their monthly pay roll has been $2,800, and that the firm's headquarters in Pittsburg, Pa., have been sending $500 per month to help pay the men. The elder Armstrong, father of the Armstrong brothers, is there and says the plant is for sale cheap, as they do not propose to run it a less any longer. It cost in round numbers $150,000. It has a complete system of water works for fire protection and an electric light plant of its own and everything built in a corresponding manner throughout.

Why the Sherwin-Williams colored lead and avoid the adulterated oil and naphtha so often found in mixed paints.

Grand Palace Hotel.
81 to 103 N. Clark St.,
CHICAGO.
Only fire minutes from the Grand Union Depot. Cable Cars run to door.
New house with all Modern improvements newly furnished. Its American and European plans. Rooms $2.00 upward, transient rooms and upward. Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents. Restaurant by Fred Gumpenny, late chef Chicago and United League Clubs. Table d'Hote served. Regular 50c cuts for refreshments.

A FEW POINTERS

FOR THE FARMERS

ABOUT AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

This talk about FIRST CLASS GOODS, and the advantages of experience leads us to remark that talk is cheap. We do not concede, and emphatically deny that any dealers, here or elsewhere, can purchase Agricultural implements cheaper than we can, and as for quality, our goods talk for themselves. The nature and extent of our business, aside from this branch of trade, gives us facilities for selling at bottom prices, where others can not. Call at Baker & Sons Blacksmith establishment and we will prove the truth of our assertions.

S. BAKER & SON,
ANTRIM ST., CHARLEVOIX.

"FOOLED AGAIN!"

"Well, it serves me right. I didn't buy my Paris Green of Hines & Co., consequently the BUGS COT FAT and I lost my potatoes, but I know better now.

Now, don't you get fooled, our PARIS GREEN is the BEST ON EARTH, bought on an Iron Clad Guarantee of its purity, we sell it the same. It goes farther, consequently is the cheapest, and will never disappoint you. Try it and if not what we claim we will refund the money.

Yours for the extermination of the potato bug.

F. G. HINES & CO.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.

REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.

REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.

REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.

REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY,

Unexcelled in Fertility! A Wealth of Timber! One Hundred Miles of Navigable Coast-Line!

CHARLEVOIX, as the entrepot and outlet of a region bordering 90 miles of navigable inland coast, possesses elements of commercial importance that only require railroad connection to make it the business center of Northern Michigan. A railroad is assured! Study the map of Charlevoix county, and the relation it bears to Charlevoix harbor. Railroad connection with our lines of water traffic at this point, means concentration and enlargement of trade, transfer of travel and shipping, lines of north-shore and inland steamers, and investment in manufactures. The map says so!

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles found herself sound and well, now does her own house work and finds herself as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this great discovery at F. G. Hines & Co.'s. Large bottles 50c. and $1.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

FOR SALE.

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE—Inq. Mrs. M. Gaynor, door from Bartholomew Park. Price, $1,100, cheap and on easy terms.

TAKE FOR SALE—Combination Fixtures, adapted to a summer resort, newly moved to grounds, well finished, well shaded, plenty of good water, good buildings, a good variety of fruit, entirely free from Fruit Ink. Beautiful for sale at a bargain. Also, 2 good new well and windmills complete. A good new well and windmill factory and other machinery within half mile of the premises.

ALSO ON SAME SECTION—

Two acres, with good house and improvements, good orchard, well fenced, well shaded. The above lands or any part thereof will be sold for cash, or on very easy terms.

Inquire of REV. E. H. WHITMAN,
East Jordan, Mich.

(First Publication May 29, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE

A mortgage made by Nancy Ann Dougherty to Amos Dougherty, dated the 19th day of August, 1884, in Liber 7 of Mortgages on page 6, upon which there is claimed to be due at the date hereof the sum of $1,000 in lawful money of the United States, and no proceeding has been commenced at law for the recovery of which amount has been commenced, or if, with interest thereon, it be not all due, it will be so upon default in payment of the interest thereon, mentioned in said mortgage, and default has been made in the payment of the interest thereon, mentioned with The north east quarter of section Twenty, in town Thirty-four, north of range Five west, at the front door of the county building, in the village of Charlevoix, Michigan, on the 20th day of July, 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at 11 o'clock Antrim 1891, 1891.

Dated May 19th, 1891. DAVID E. GALLSETT,
CLAY E. CALL, Mortgagee.
Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication April 23, 1891.)

STATE OF MICHIGAN, } ss.
County of Charlevoix, }

In the matter of the estate of Noah Bird deceased. Notice is hereby given, that by pursuance of an order granted by the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, at a session thereof, held at Charlevoix, on the second day of March, 1891, there will be sold at public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the Township hall, in the village of Charlevoix, in said county, on Monday the ninth day of June, A. D. 1891, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, the following real estate, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the debts of said deceased, as ordered by said Probate Court, at the Probate office, in the Village of Boyne City, in said County, on the 2d day of March, A. D. 1891, the real estate of said deceased, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the debts of said deceased, and the charges of said administration, and the expenses of said sale, and the lands to be sold are situated in the County of Antrim and State of Michigan, and are described as follows, to wit: The south half of the south east quarter of section twenty-six (26) in township twenty (20) north of range ten (10) west, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less.

Dated April 20, 1891. JAMES DOUGLAS, Administrator.

(First Publication March 19, 1891.)

Probate Notice of Hearing Claims Before the Court

STATE OF MICHIGAN, } ss.
County of Charlevoix, }

Probate Court for said County.

In the matter of the estate of John Dixon, deceased. Notice is hereby given that by an order of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, made on the 6th day of December, A. D. 1890, the months from that date were allowed for creditors to present their claims against the estate of said deceased, and that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims to said Probate Court, at the Probate office, in the Village of Boyne City, in said County, on the 6th day of March, A. D. 1891, and that the 6th day of June, A. D. 1891, and that such claims will be heard before said Court on Monday, the 6th day of June, A. D. 1891, and that the 6th day of June, A. D. 1891, and that such claims will be heard before said Court on Monday, the 6th day of June, A. D. 1891, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day.

Dated March 6th, 1891. FRED. W. MAYNE,
Judge of Probate.

(First publication June 5, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, whereby the power therein contained has become operative, executed by Ira Bennett, Hiram and John W. Page, all of Charlevoix County, Michigan to Christian D. Bug of same county, the February 1st, 1890, in the eighteen hundred and eighty three and recorded in Liber 7 of mortgages on page 6 in the office of the Register of Deeds for said County of Michigan, on the seventh day of February, a. d. eighteen hundred and eighty three, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day which Mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of seven hundred and seventy six dollars and twenty five cents ($776.25) and no proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, I do hereby, in pursuance of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and the statute in such case made and provided, give notice that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof, as may be necessary to pay the amount due thereon, and legal costs, together with an attorney fee of twenty dollars, provided for in said mortgage, which said premises are described as follows, to wit: The south half of the south east quarter of section twenty, in the town of Milton, in the County of Antrim, and State of Michigan, containing one hundred and sixty acres more or less.

Dated Kalamazoo, May 25, 1891.

DORMITIA S. ROGERS,
Mortgagee.
Attorneys for Mortgagee. 46-13t

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK
And PINE
LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

FOR JULY:
New Stock of Tinware, Wooden Ware, Hammocks, Fishing Tackle, Croquet.

BRICK. OARS, BOAT FIXTURES, ROPE, PAINTS, OILS and VARNISHES. BRICK.
COOK & HEATING STOVES.
Job and Tin Work.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

VICTORY FOR LABOR.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE IMPACT FOR 3 YEARS.

Four Men Elected by a Dollar Explain on Electioneering Journals Calculate the Majority Secured, Can Come So Close as a Twin Stick So Loose Gets.

SIGNED THE IRON SCALE.

A Compromise on Nine Hours and Advance Wages—It Was Sold Out.

The conference between the Pittsburg Dispatch and the men has been adjourned the Area granted in a letter published and the negotiations are broken from that time forward. The men have been informed that the nine hours are gone for good and all at the last moment the men agreed to make it nine hours and fifteen minutes. This will make nine hours of the men's expected to bring in the Mahoning and Shenango Valley operations, we are now on the nine hours. Reports are rapidly coming in of outside firms signing the nine hours and advance Iron and the Shenango Iron Company after the Wheeling Iron Works of Steubenville Mansfield which refused to sign and the Lo Bar Iron Company of Bellaire, Ohio, the last mentioned district that is not operating on the nine hours and advance. Iron Company, Wheeling, W. Va., and Pittsburg Iron Company after the Wheeling Iron Works of Steubenville.

RENEW THE DREDGING.

Grosse Isle, Ann Arbor Mich. Author Another Year.

A Boston dispatch says that the renewal of the Grosse Isle and Ann Arbor is a matter of speculation. Has a further influence in the Grosse Isle and Ann Arbor and Grosse Isle, and the dredging has been shown to Congressman Wilson who said by a conversation, that he approved of the dredging of channel for several years. The Fremont Congressman appears to have had an interview that was given out, and the result has brought persons in authority in charge of the policy of France of renewed efforts to open a ship canal to connect the lower part of the river, the Mississippi River, the language used, which is mostly about the ship canal and the Lake Superior and Ann Arbor, and the fact is now recognized with deep concern in Figure.

JUMPED TO HER DEATH.

Suicide of a Six Year-Faged Girl Near Saginaw Bay City.

A tragedy of a distinctly sensational character was enacted at Saginaw Bay City on the house of Richard W. Waugh, aged 36 years, and Mrs. Richard W. Waugh, aged 35 years, and Mrs. E. H. Jones, living in the house, have been friends for about two years and occupied a room in the house. Her husband is a traveling man, and heart-weak in the side of the house, and a month ago the woman left the house and boarded somewhere, leaving her last from the room. Mrs. Jones has been most kind and sympathetic, but last night Mrs. Waugh left the house, and Mrs. Jones, fearing for her safety, became demented. She had a little girl, aged six years, and she was jealous of others. He gives to the HAND BALL.

Standing of the B B real club from Big to Little.

Figures show is showing of the standing of each of the teams of the different associations.

	NATIONAL ASSOCIATION.
New York	41	17	Philadelphia	31	27
Chicago	31	21	St Louis	28	30
Boston	31	21	Pittsburg	21	31
Cleveland	31	21	Cincinnati	17	41
	AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.
Boston	41	17	Columbus	31	27
Brooklyn	31	21	Pittsburg	28	30
Philadelphia	31	21	Louisville	21	31
St Louis	31	21	Cincinnati	17	41
	WESTERN ASSOCIATION.
Omaha	41	17	Kansas City	31	27
Milwaukee	31	21	Minneapolis	28	30
Denver	31	21	St Paul	21	31
Minneapolis	31	21	Omaha	17	41

DISSOLVED BY ICE CREAM.

Three Persons Killed and Forty Injured Continue of Rudolph, N. Y.

The wife of the Thirteenth Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., gave the first ice cream sociable of the season on Friday. Twenty people who ate the cream were poisoned. The physicians say that the cream had been dirty and all the others are in a critical condition.

Blame for Death Being.

A dispatch from Greenfield Marlboro, Ohio, transferred to the Marlboro Hotel four treasure a large tract of land in that town on which Greenfield is to be erected and occupied by some shares of the Hotel Company. This is one of a number of charitable institutions by Baron Hirsch the philanthropist, who has done so much for the Jews.

Tried to Kill the Sheriff

At Charleston, N. C., Brabham, the prisoner is to be tried soon for murdering the Prince, Moore, and an attempt on the life of the sheriff. The negro would have killed him but for a pistol over and Caldwell, who resident from the interior and pulled the trigger, was shot. The prisoner begged to be killed, as he would not live to be hanged.

Side-Bu-Brother's Wife

Tony Arthur Bee of Bloomington and Tuscaloosa, Ala., are looking for David Dunnett, son of Philo Dunnett, a wealthy farmer. The Tuscaloosa people want him for stealing a horse and the Bloomington people hold a warrant charging him with eloping with his brother's wife.

Murdered While Riding Supper

Mr. E. L. Moore, manager of the Shelby plantation, near Sho by Station, Holiver County, Miss., was murdered while riding supper, and the assassin, shot through the window at him. A cow prepared with whom Moore had quarreled or suspected.

No One to Tell the Tale

The bodies of shifting engine 245 on the Pennsylvania railroad near Jersey City plunged at Munch church. Fly. Four men were killed. Engineer Tetlow and Fireman Pope were blown to atoms.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

Dr. John L. Neumann, the instructor in medicine at Columbia College, New York, who was badly burned in the basement of the Bellevue Hospital on Friday, died of alcohol shock in the Presbyterian Hospital.

The great Yearly race between the Yale and Harvard crews was rowed at New London, conn., and was won by Harvard by eleven length lengths. The race was pulled in 21 minutes and 25 seconds, Yale's time being 21.02. The scene on the banks of the Thames during the progress of the race was one of the NEARLY A LYNCHING.

MURDER BY A NOTORIOUS DESPERADO.

In a Cursing Rage He Fires Four Bullets into E. H. Wishart—His Is Not His First Shooting An Angry Populace.

Frank Pierce fatally wounded E. H. Wishart, at Des Moines, and narrowly escaped lynching. Intense excitement prevailed when he was arrested, and cries of "Bring a rope" and "Lynch him," were heard on every hand. The policemen were necessary to escort him to the jail. The feeling is so strong against Pierce that results may come at any moment. Wishart was hit by four bullets, and a crowd of the people gathered at the City Hall when Pierce was placed in jail. For three years Pierce was the leader of the Des Moines sporting crowd. He has several prisoners that city, and on three occasions mobs have been organized to lynch him. The cause of Harry Lloyd and Terry Chambers attracted great attention at the time. Another of his victims is in the insane asylum from his persecutions and Dutch hands. Heretofore Pierce has received the support and sympathy of the temperance people, but it this crime is the last straw. Wishart and Pierce had a quarrel on Friday night, and Pierce shot Wishart as he left the house. Pierce was arrested at the Ninth street and Grand avenue, and a crowd of the people gathered at the City Hall when Pierce was placed in jail. For three years Pierce was the leader of the Des Moines sporting crowd. He has several prisoners that city, and on three occasions mobs have been organized to lynch him. The cause of Harry Lloyd and Terry Chambers attracted great attention at the time. Another of his victims is in the insane asylum from his persecutions and Dutch hands. Heretofore Pierce has received the support and sympathy of the temperance people, but if

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

VICTORY FOR LABOR.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE INTACT FOR SIX YEARS.

Four Men Killed by a Dollar Explosion—Establishing Jewish Colonies—The Hanlan Electrical Railway—No Coke in a Long-Stick St. Louis Oven.

SIGNED THE IRON SCALE.

A Compromise on Nine Hours and Fifteen Minutes—It Was Inevitable.

The conference between the Pittsburg, Pa., ironmasters and the men has adjourned, the men accepted nothing inferior and the manufacturers conceded. The scale as signed has but one change from last year's, that provided. The manufacturers insisted that the nine hours limit gave them no benefit, and all the last meeting the men agreed to make it nine hours and fifteen minutes. This a release agreeing of the mills is expected to bring in the Mahoning and Shenango Valley mills, etc., who are now the only ones not in the Amalgamated Association. Of the mills in Pittsburg, Pa., and the Monongahela Valley, and the Ohio, Pa., and Wheeling, W. Va., districts, the Bessemer are rapidly coming in, of which, branching the Pa., and the Ohio, Pa., and the Atlantic Iron Works, of Pittsburg, the Moundsville Steel Works, and the Laclede Mills, of Wheeling, W. Va., the last named district there is not one mill, except all a few small concerns, not yet unionized. Exceptions with the Shenango New Castle and Youngstown.

RENEW THE DREIBUND.

Germany, Austria, and Italy Affirm the Treaty of Alliance.

A German dispatch says that the renewal of the triple alliance, or treaty, is a matter of speculation. Italy's German authorities have been received in Austria and Germany, and the dispatches have been signed by Crispi, Kalnoky, who said in a conversation that it renewed the triple alliance for six years. The Prince Gerasgiorgi appears to be not so well satisfied with what going on, and the report has been in German of certainties in the Italian Ministry of Foreign at renewed efforts to avert possible of a secret treaty on the part of Germany. By agreeing to renew the triple alliance Germany has for the existing states England has remained calls home from Egypt, and this fact is also connected with deep rivalry in Paris.

JUMPED TO HER DEATH.

Suicide of a New Haven Girl Who Had Written Her Mother Not to Come.

A DESPATCH of a daughter's suicide at church was received in the residence of Rodney W. Shipp, eight, St. Louis. The stricken family is Mr. and Mr. E. H. Jones is living in the house. Miss Hiram, a domestic, 20 years old, occupied a room in the third story. Her parents, who live in the house, was at the side of the house and a note to her house to Mr. Jones, addressed and sensible to support herself and from the window, from the upper and her first shortly. Her last note intimation that she feared it was unwise to take her and she evidently became demented. She had recently to the Hiram church. The remains should be given to the relatives.

BASE-BALL.

Standing of the N.P. Clubs According to Games Won.

FOLLOWING is a standing of the standing of each of the clubs of the different associations:

	NATIONAL GAMES.
	W.	L.		W.	L.
New York	45	27	Philadelphia	37	35
Chicago	42	27	Cincinnati	31	40
Boston	39	27	Pittsburg	27	40
Cleveland	38	27	Brooklyn	27	40
	AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.
Louisville	41	25	Columbus	30	40
Baltimore	41	25	St. Louis	29	41
Pittsburg	41	25	Cincinnati	27	41
Cincinnati	31	30	Washington	21	37
	PLAYERS' LEAGUE.
	W.	L.		W.	L.
Boston	43	25	Brooklyn	36	36
Milwaukee	42	26	Chicago	32	40
Philadelphia	41	26	Pittsburg	25	44
Cleveland	36	36	New York	25	44

POISONED BY ICE CREAM.

Three Persons Dead and Five in a Critical Condition at Bradford, N. Y.

The Ladies of the Christian church of Bradford, N. Y., gave an ice cream social on Thursday of last week. Three people who ate the cream were poisoned. The packet of the ice cream used was taken home and all of the others are in a critical condition.

Boss Tweed's Brother.

A dispatch from Cincinnati to Harrison Gray, transferring to a Harrison Hirsch land business a long report of land in the town, on which buildings are to be erected and to employ the best artists of the Hirsch charity. This is one of a number of charitable contributions by Baron Hirsch, the philanthropist, who has done so much for the Jews.

Tried to Kill the Sheriff.

At Charlotte, N. C., Brabham, the negro to be hanged, was for murdering Mr. Tillman, Monday, made an attempt on the life of the sheriff. The negro would have killed him but for a spittoon or some [illegible] which prevented the contents and pulled Brabham's away. The prisoner is kept to be tried, to be sold and hung to be hanged.

Sick-Bib Breakers Will Strike.

The authorities of Birmingham and Tuscaloosa, Ala., are looking for Israel Dasenty, one of Pilot Bassett, a wealthy farmer. The Tuscaloosa people want him for stealing a Tree and the Birmingham people hold a warrant charging long with stealing with his brother's wife.

Murdered While Eating Supper.

MR. E. I. MANN, manager of the Shelby plantation, near Shelby Station, Shelby County, Miss., was murdered. He was eating supper, and the assassin shot through the window at him. A negro tenant with whom Mann had quarreled is suspected. The negro has run away.

No Fare to Tell the Tale.

The bodies of eighteen Italian Jews in the central Railroad of New Jersey employed at Marsh Creek, Pa. Four men were killed. Engineer Tripp and Fireman Pope were known to escape.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

DR. JOHN T. NORTHROP, the nestor of the medical at Columbia College, New York, who was badly burned in the basement of the building by the explosion of a case of alcohol, died in the Presbyterian Hospital.

The great variety race between the Yale and Harvard crews was rowed on New London, Conn., and was won by Harvard by seven lengths. The race was pulled in 21 minutes and 23 seconds, Yale time being 22. The crews on the banks of the Thames during the progress of the race was one of the greatest enjoyment fifty eight thousand people cheering the men as they passed and which is the most spectacular Harvard crosses the line and broke the crew of the Yale's successive victories.

At Brooklyn, N. Y., Judge Barrett appointed the Rev. Dr. Cuyler, of the Kings County Hospital, to Mission Committee, were closed by the Board of Aldermen, and Mr. Cuyler's place in the Mission Committee will be filled by Rev. Dr. Cuyler.

At Harrington, Iowa, while working at the cement power, workmen found a mortared human hand which had been cut recently off from the body. As there is no medical college there this world indicate murder.

At Janesville, Wis., Patrick Hagerty, John Flanery, and Richard Bennett were doing a job of work on the roof of the walls fell, bringing the men. All three were taken from the wreck dead.

The signal service reports the hottest day in San Francisco since 1857, the thermometer registering 92 degrees at a little after midday, or an excitement of 10° degrees on the streets.

At Indianapolis, about twenty streetcar stable men are locked out on account of a disagreement over wages and hours of labor.

The mangled remainder of John Davis were found in the Illinois track near Lincoln, Ill. The deceased had a drinking bout on the night with a young man named Ed Nolz.

SOUTHERN INCIDENTS.

The Texas Supreme Court rendered a decision in the famous railway case from Galveston county, involving the speed on the Gulf railroad, and holding that the constitution of 1876 bound grants of land to the road, and that the lower court below gave judgment for the State.

Mr. Cleveland's last medical bulletin from Gulfport, Miss., says the patient is improving.

WALTER A. TAUSSIAN, wanted at Fort Smith, Ark., for forcibly taking a young man out of his home and shooting Mr. Wolhart, a preacher, hanging at his home near Fort Smith, Ark., on the charge of having a warrant charging him with the murder of Mr. Wolhart.

At Fort Smith, Ark., Henry Martin was shot and killed by Edward Price, a colored policeman. Martin was being arrested for disturbance and disturbing the peace. The policeman was ordered to the sheriff.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

The chief of the Bureau of Statistics, in his statement of imports and exports of the United States, reports that the value of the exports of merchandise from the United States during the twelve months ended May 31, was $845,000,000, and the value of the imports of merchandise for the twelve months ended May 31, $866,000,000.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

COMMODORE N. PARSONS and Mrs. Ella Cooper were married at Paris, France, Monday of last week. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Cuyler, of the Presbyterian church, in the presence of about 200 guests, among the most prominent of the American colony in Paris. The bride's dress was of white satin, with a long train, and she wore a diamond tiara and necklace, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids were all in white satin, and wore diamond and pearl ornaments, the gift of the groom. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Cooper, who had been at the wedding breakfast, which was given at the residence of the groom's father, Mr. Parsons, in the Avenue Hoche, Paris. The wedding breakfast was served in the Hotel Continental, Paris. The bride and groom left for a tour through Europe.

The Bey of Tunis has issued a decree for the sale of her husband, who was in the service of the Bey, and who, on the death of the Bey, was ordered to be buried with the Bey's wife, and who, on the death of the Bey, was ordered to be buried with the Bey's wife, and who, on the death of the Bey, was ordered to be buried with the Bey's wife

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - - $1.50 | Six months - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

THE SAILORS.

Gossip For the Marines—Matters of Interest Here and Elsewhere.

The fishing tug Clara Elliot, of Beaver Island, is at Washburn's ship yard for recaulking.

The new name of the yacht Harry Burke is Ben Ard and not Ben Lomond, as stated last week.

The hull of one of King Strang's boats can be seen on the bottom near Les Cheneaux Islands, Lake Michigan.

The steamer Skater has been bought by the Seymours and put on the ferry route between Harbor Springs and Petoskey.

The schooner Willard A. Smith sprang a leak about ten miles off of Sheboygan one night last week. The fishing tug Carrie Mather towed her to Sheboygan, where she was at once docked and the leak stopped.

G. C. Gelken is having built a fine fishing tug, to be out Sept. 1st. She will be 65 feet long, 6½ depth of hold, and 15 feet beam. She will be driven by a 14x16 engine, and will cost $6,000. She will be used here in connection with the Anapach, in the fishing business.

Capt. Dan Mabee came out last spring in the schooner Morning Star. He had bad winds, made a long trip, and lost two booms, and the owners laid him off. Now Uncle Dan is going to make them pay him the season's wages. In the meantime he is first mate of the steamer Hickox.

The steamer Hackley is having hard sledding to pay expenses on the Boyne City route, and may have to quit. If the Pine Lake people are wise they will pull themselves together and keep the Hackley on the route. She is certain to have good business next season without half trying. Later.—The Hackley abandoned the Boyne City route yesterday and this morning began on the East Jordan and Charlevoix run. She will leave East Jordan daily at 7:00 a. m., and 1:30 p. m. and Charlevoix at 9:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m.

Norwood Notes.

Miss Angie Wood returned from Hipon, Wis., last Friday, where she has been attending school the past year.

Mrs. E. W. Coulter came up from Traverse City Thursday.

Two or three large loads of young reporters from here attended the circus at Petoskey last week, driving across country.

Mrs. Day, formerly Kate Graves, a well remembered Norwood girl is fast climbing the ladder of success in her chosen profession. She having a position with the noted Carl Rosa troupe of London, Eng., and has been assigned the part of Marguerite in Faust.

The schooner Lottie Cooper loaded Monday with lumber for Sheboygan, Wis.

Sam T. B. Chase and a friend from Chicago arrive Wednesday and leave the same day for the Jordan.

Will C. Van Fort stopped over night with his parents last Thursday, while on his way west. He travels for H., B. & Co., of Chicago.

Dr. D. C. Chamberlain is resorting with us for a few days.

Rev. C. N. Coulter got off the Gazelle Tuesday on his way to visit his sonsat Atwood.

Keeney and Livingstone, seedmen, are in town looking over the pea and bean crops planted around here.

The band boys' spike tail uniforms are on the way from Cincinnati, O.

Robt. Boyd has bought the house and lot owned by Henry Superneaw and S. A. Clements the house and lot adjoining, owned by G. Y. Nash. Considerations, two hundred and thirty and four hundred dollars respectively.

The shingle mill started up Wednesday morning.

—Petoskey is to have a new state bank organized under the state law with a capital of $50,000. The Chilchesters, of Allegan, are among the the principal parties interested and the Democrat understands that it is will be doing business about the first of August.

—Send a copy of this week's SENTINEL to your friend abroad. We don't call it a "dozen issue," but it contains a plain statement of facts regarding Charlevoix and Northern Michigan. Six copies for 25 cents.

NOTICE.

My wife, Ellen Pickard, having left my bed and board, I hereby give notice that I will pay no debts of her contracting from this date.

Atwood, July 15, 1891. 3-w.

THIS WEEK WE HAVE Only Generalities.

Best Line of Dress Goods and all Lines of Dry Goods in the Pine Lake region.

We have established a reputation for low prices and we need not multiply words.

MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

THEY WILL GO FAST

ROYAL SERGES, single fold, 1,500 yards, at 5 3-4 cents per yard, worth 15c.

A Big line of China Mattings in Stock from 20 to 40 cents per yard.

A. T. WASHBURNE

COPCO & CURLY
MAPLE SOAP.
FOR THE BATH.
Good and Cheap.
at
CALKINS & WARNE.
Druggists and Stationers.

The Procession

is not a long one, and

WE ARE AT THE FRONT.

NEVER IN THE REAR. As you pass by you will see from this time until fall the finest assortment of Fruit and Vegetables you ever saw in Charlevoix. It is useless to enumerate. Our Mamoth Fountain will be on tap, and all the summer drinks on sale.

YOU WANT TO REMEMBER

That my prices are right. Especial care will be given to all California Fruits. Buy my goods once and you will buy again.

THE - PAGODA - FRUIT - HOUSE,
Opposite Bridge St. Hotel. O. W. SMITH.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.

We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.

Will take all the
- - - - - HEMLOCK BARK - - - - -
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.

BERT MASON

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

DRUGS and MEDICINES,
PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE.
CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS.
STATIONERY.

Prescriptions carefully compounded.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

NEW STOCK OF
STATIONERY,
NOVELS, ETC.,
AT THE NEWS DEPOT.

WANTED.
CLOTHING AND DRY GOODS STORES
IN LEWIS GRAND OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

FOR SALE---80 acre farm; 55 acres cleared. Two Houses and lots in Charlevoix, on very easy terms. The Lewis Grand Opera House Block for sale or rent. DR. L. LEWIS, Charlevoix, Mich.

S. M. See & Sons, Headquarters of Charlevoix County for FURNITRE AND UNDERTAKING.

Keep constantly on hand a full stock of REASONABLE CHEAP and MEDIUM GRADE FURNITURE at PRICES.

WE INVITE YOU TO CALL AND EXAMINE OUR STOCK.

NEW GOODS ARRIVING EVERY DAY.
Never were the designs so pleasing as they are this summer. They are sure to please you.

Yours Respectfully, S. M. SEE & SONS.

July 1, 1891.

Binder Twine

at prices which you will be quick to appreciate and accept if you are looking for that article.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

You will want a good Scythe, Snath, Rake or Fork. We have 'em and cheap for the quality

H. L. IDDINGS, Proprietor.

The best goods for little money. Come and see. Yours truly, H. I. I.

FINEST LINE OF GROCERIES
and Crockery Ware
IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

A.

Cash Grocer.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO--23. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY JULY 22, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,127.

"FOOLED AGAIN!"

"Well, it serves me right. I didn't buy my Paris Green of Hines & Co., consequently the BUGS GOT FAT and I lost my potatoes, but I know better now.

Now, don't you get fooled, our PARIS GREEN is the BEST ON EARTH, bought on an Iron Clad Guarantee of its purity, we sell it the same. It goes farther, consequently is the cheapest, and will never disappoint you. Try it and if not what we claim we will refund the money.

Yours for the extermination of the potato bug.

F. G. HINES & CO.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by
E. H. GREEN.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.

REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.

REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.

REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.

REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

COPCO & CURLY
MAPLE SOAP.
FOR THE BATH.
Good and Cheap.
at
CALKINS & WARNE.
Druggists and Stationers.

The Procession

is not a long one, and

WE ARE AT THE FRONT.

NEVER IN THE REAR. As you pass by you will see from this time until fall the finest assortment of Fruit and Vegetables you ever saw in Charlevoix. It is useless to enumerate. Our Mamoth Fountain will be on tap, and all the summer drinks on sale.

YOU WANT TO REMEMBER

That my prices are right. Especial care will be given to all California Fruits. Buy my goods once and you will buy again.

THE - PAGODA - FRUIT - HOUSE,
Opposite Bridge St. Hotel. O. W. SMITH.

WANTED.
CLOTHING AND DRY GOODS STORES
IN LEWIS GRAND OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.

FOR SALE---80 acre farm; 55 acres cleared. Two Houses and lots in Charlevoix, on very easy terms. The Lewis Grand Opera House Block for sale or rent. DR. L. LEWIS, Charlevoix, Mich.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.

We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.

Will take all the
- - - - - HEMLOCK BARK - - - - -
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.

BERT MASON

Furniture! FURNITURE! Furniture!
AT
S. M. SEE & SONS'
EVERYBODY COME AND SEE.

Our BEDROOM SUITS $15.00 and upwards are bargains. Now is the time to buy.

AND OUR PARLOR SUITS ARE FINE AND VERY REASONABLE.

Agents for the Western Cottage Organ.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - - $1.50 | Six months - - $1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—"Kirmiss" tomorrow night.

—S. M. See & Sons have a change of ad. this week.

—The "Kirmiss" at Lewis Grand Thursday evening.

—Mason & Berdan have something new to say this week.

—New fall goods are being received at Mason & Berdans.

—Stairs are being built up the north side of Mt. Mesaiba.

—We shall carefully preserve the last Boyne Citizen as a relic.

—William Henry, of Ironton, has sold his span of colts for $450.

—A. T. Washburne has something in his space of interest to readers.

—Miss Lee Tisdale, of Niagara, Ont., is here visiting Mrs. S. M. See.

—Secure your seats at Calkins & Warne's for the "Kirmiss" tomorrow night.

—Wm. Boyle, of St. James, is over visiting his daughter, Mrs. Jerome Heath.

—A young son at the Fountain City House—not Uncle Richard's but Henry's.

—Mrs. Mike Litney, of Sutton's Bay was over here Sunday on the Crescent.

—The Charlevoix Hardware Co. call attention to their new advertisement in this issue.

—There was a smell of roast veal about the premises of the Boyne Citizen last Thursday.

—Miss Ayers, of Plattsburg, N. Y., is here looking after her real estate and other interests.

—If you have a spare nickle come in and get a copy of last week's SENTINEL and send it away.

—Mrs. A. F. Bridge, (nee Celia Nicholls,) of Whitewater, Wis., is here visiting her parents.

—Misses Bertie and Pearle Taggart, of Cheboygan, are at H. Y. Rothenberg's for a week's visit.

Miss Jennie Hessler, a teacher in the Jackson schools, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. Gard Brown.

—Two dollars will secure the SENTINEL and the Detroit Weekly Tribune one year. Call and see us.

—S. Baker & Son sold Dr. Crosier a new harness and a spiral spring buggy last week. It is a beauty.

—Dwight H. Bennet left yesterday for Indianapolis. He will return here before going home to Kansas.

—Miss Nellie Greening, formerly of this place, but now of St. Joseph, is here visiting Miss Winnie Bartholomew.

—Miss Mamie Sullivan, of Chicago, arrived last week and will remain for a time with H. V. Hitchcock and family.

—Miss Ida Canfield, of Port Huron, is here visiting her uncles and her cousins and her aunts, the Fixes, Millers and Faulkners.

—Chief Clerk Sherwood, of the State Banking Commissioners Office and a brother of Commissioner Sherwood, was in town yesterday.

—Fred W. Hathaway, Western Manager of the Dodgeth Lyceum Bureau, is at his old Fountain City House quarters again for the summer.

—By a clubbing arrangement made with the Detroit Weekly Tribune, you can get that excellent paper and the SENTINEL one year for $2.00.

—We still have a number of last week's issue of the SENTINEL. Let everybody buy at least one to send to an acquaintance abroad. It may do good.

—Dr. Bartlett is entertaining his father and mother, B. Bartlett and and wife, of Ohio, and his brother, Dr. Bartlett, and wife, of Leslie, Mich.

—The big boiler for the new Nicholls, Lewis & Bates factory was placed this week. The engine is also placed, and some of the machinery has arrived.

—In our mention of Charlevoix hotels last week, we enumerated four but inadvertently omitted to name but three, leaving out the Ferguson House. It was one of those accidents that will happen occasionally, and we are sorry, for the Ferguson House is one of our most popular and prosperous hotels.

—The Village Council appreciating the SENTINEL's last week's write-up of Charlevoix and her interests and wants, ordered 500 copies printed for general distribution.

—The shiny Yacht Argo, of Chicago, owned by Hon. C. W. Leffingwell, has been in port since Friday. Rev. Mr. Sweet, of Chicago, is a guest. Capt. Ed Home is sailing master.

—Circuit Court convened at Boyne City yesterday. The Charlevoix contingent of lawyers, jurors and witnesses were compelled to go via Petoskey to the county seat. Nice, isn't it?

—Rev. W. E. McLennan, late of the City of Mexico, arrived Sunday from Chicago, and will be the guest of M. J. Steckman a few weeks. Mr. McLennan, being a Charlevoix boy, is always welcome here.

—Baker & Son's new agricultural implement warehouse was fully open of this week. The front part is devoted to office purposes, and the harness department. The main portion contains a very fine display of buggies.

—We have made arrangements whereby we can furnish to new subscribers to the SENTINEL, only, the SENTINEL and Detroit Weekly Tribune, for one year for $2.00. This offer will also extend to any old SENTINEL subscriber who pays up arrearages and one year in advance. This is a great offer.

—Prof. G. M. Rice, wife and son, of Kalamazoo, are here for a week or two. The professor has always had a warm place in his heart for Charlevoix, and there are many here who have the same sort of feeling for the professor.

—Fishing on Beaver Island is better than for some time past, and the fish is better in quality. About 25 pound nets are operated on the Island, and the daily catch some days is as high as twenty tons—all white fish, and all shipped fresh.

—Judge Dennis, of Howell, who presides over the Ingham and Livingston circuit, is in town, a guest at the Fountain City House. He is accompanied by H. J. Haven, of Lansing. Both gentlemen are loud in their praises of Charlevoix and predict for it a great future.

—Positive will be given at Lewis Grand Opera House the few part of next week. It was recently given in Petoskey, and the people of that city unite in saying it was the finest entertainments ever given in that place by local talent. It is under the direction of Prof. Arthur Nelson, of this place.

—The yacht Marion, Capt. Wm. Cross, has been up in Big Traverse all the past week with the following party on board: H. N. Faulkner, wife and son, Mrs A. Fox and Frankie and Geo. W. Miller, wife and daughter. Saturday the party were at Old Mission, which enjoys the distinction of being Mr. Miller's birthplace.

—An "Experience Social" will be given in the Lewis Grand Opera House on Wednesday evening, August 5th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational Church. This entertainment promises to be one of the most novel and interesting events of the season. Further information later.

—The Boyne Citizen was quite a lively paper last week. It will now lapse into its usual condition of mediocrity for a season, until Charlevoix again awakens it from its stupor, or until some restaurant inspires its editor to write an interesting item by inviting him to a dish of ice-cream, or some farmer brings in a water-melon.

—The Board of Supervisors met here Thursday at 1:30 p. m., took an omnibus and went to the proposed site of the railroad bridge, came back, passed a resolution permitting the construction of said bridge, and adjourned. There wasn't a word said about county seat matters in Charlevoix that day, except, what few were spoken to keep the water hot in Boyne City, and there wasn't a Supervisor but what enjoyed the joke. Oh, we had more fun than a cage of monkeys.

—Mr. Bert Smiley, of Kalamazoo county, a young man well known here publishes at Galesburg, an alleged newspaper called Smiley's Enterprise. Mr. Smiley also writes, what for want of a better term he calls "pen-dry." He also writes newspaper sketches intended for humor. In a recent letter to his paper he aired his humorous proclivities at the expense of the truth, in stating that the Charlevoix bridge-tender refused to swing the bridge for his sail-boat. Mr. Smiley may imagine that poets and humorists are licensed to draw upon their imagination when necessary to make a rhyme or say something funny, but he is neither a poet nor a humorist, hence, a lie from him is a lie. The bridge-tender, who is a decent man, is very mad at the eccentric young man from Kalamazoo.

"The Wicked Flee When No Man Pursueth."

If the unmitigated babbler of the poor fool that publishes the Boyne Citizen can be taken as indicative of public sentiment at the county seat, things were in a very bad way there last week. The Board of Supervisors held a special session at Charlevoix on Thursday to pass upon the petition of the C. & W. M. R. R. Co., for permission to construct a railroad bridge across the upper cut. The meeting was called at Charlevoix because the Board desired to view the premises. In Antrim county the Board met at Elk Rapids for the same reason.

But from the hour that the Board, at its June session, adjourned to meet in Charlevoix, there was much anxiety at Boyne City lest the blandishments of Charlevoix fine workers, and the change of diet from the Boyne City sort to a series of square meals, should bide danger to the present official bellwick of the county. Suspicious looked in high places, and meaning glances were exchanged.

Their condition of nervous prostration was complete, when Mr. Sam B. Thatcher, who has in times past done much to make their dreams unpleasant, appeared in town. The last remnant of a doubt disappeared. What was that bad man from Ohio here for on the eve of a meeting of the Board? It was only the ripening of the arch conspiracy to rob them of their all! A meeting was called, and the impending danger discussed. The Citizen came out Thursday filled with warnings, and alarums and prayers and threatenings.

The day before, the steamer Hackley abandoned the Boyne City route. This circumstance was added to the common stock of irrefutable evidence that there was blood on the moon. The captain had been bought off by the bummers of the west end! No mistake about it. It was done to isolate Boyne City in the interest of Charlevoix. Bribery was rampant; bundle was doing the business; Sam Thatcher had been through the eastern part of the county, and a proposition to remove the cuthly seat was to be submitted on the morrow.

Misery was upon every countenance and the gloom that settled down over the county seat could be cut with a knife. The Citizen plant, with an estimated value of $175, fell twenty five per cent., and rents dropped. But the height of their suffering was not yet reached. The Board met at Lewis Grand Opera House at 1 p. m. At 4 p. m. some Charlevoix wag called up the Boyne City telephone office, and announcing himself as Supervisor Chase, of Evangeline, conveyed the paralyzing information that the question had been submitted by one more than the necessary two-thirds majority. There was a distinctly audible thud, a mingling of Boyne City voices in choicest invectives, then a sigh, and all was hushed. No "good bye" was spoken. Our wag rung off, and, unconscious, perhaps, of the grief he had brought to many hearts, went down stairs four steps at a time, and took a drink with himself.

An hour passed. Oh, the retching agony of that long hour! Boyne City called up Hampton and asked for the figures on the vote. The first report was continued. Then they called up Henry Cooper only to have the suffering prolonged. Then the SENTINEL office was rung up and in the blandest of tones they were informed that their dog was dead. Then John Ward gave the knife a turn. They sought honest Zach Morgan, of Wilson, he had gone home. Then as far as we know, they gave up in despair.

Probably not until their own supervisor had reached home, did they discover that they had been made the victims of a cruel hoax, and that the county seat question had not been taken from a thought, that the editor of the Citizen was a big calf.

Pine Lake Regatta.

The report people have bills out for a regatta to come off on Friday of this week.

The races are open to entries in three classes. One race will occur in the morning, and two in the afternoon. First class—open to all; prize, a dog from the ladies of the resort. Second class—fish and mainsail boats owned in Charlevoix, or by those summering here; prizes, $7, $5 and $3. Class three—cat-rigged boats; same restrictions as in class two, and same prizes. No time allowance; first heat is gets the prize.

Entries must be made in writing, and in the hands of Col. Dunbar, at the Belvedere, by 9 o'clock p. m., of Thursday, the 23d.

The races will occur in Pine Lake, in full view of the Belvedere hotel and the resort grounds.

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER VI.

SHOWS LOVE AND

When Joe woke up the next morning the sun was shining across the floor the patterns on the worn carpet brilliant, with beautiful, bright colors she had never seen on a floor.

There was a prodigious noise outside. Chickens were scattering and cackling, energy crowing going in every between times, and a pig was being killed in the back yard. There was a sound indoors of a mixing of bacon and eggs, of coffee and gravy, and dancing.

Joe was in a fever. Everything was so strange. She did not know where she was, and had retained her journey. She had slipped out of her bed, was slipping a trial was thrown in the mine.

Joe was in a room with two other girls, who were dressing in the most elaborate and gorgeous.

The room was very small, and very low, and very comfortable. It was furnished with a bed, a table, and a chair, and a little trunk, upon which the other girls were sitting. The walls were white and small red bug-like roses, and there was a little fire, and a little rug, and a little mirror, and a little—everything that had a little in it, and was very comfortable.

Joe was in her chemise, and the other girls were in their petticoats, and they were dancing and singing, and laughing, and talking, and—

The importance of Joe," exclaimed Samantha, "never did see such a bold, brazen creature, I will have in your place, I tell you."

"Why, girl, don't you know I'm your mother?"

"What—the—the—the—lunatic?"

"Why, what do you mean?"

"Well—you—"

"Why, don't you see Maria Wellington's been married, and I'm her husband, and I'm your father, and I'm your mother, and you're the other girl's mother, and I'm your father, and I'm your mother, and I'm your father, and I'm your mother, and I'm your father, and I'm your

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, JULY 22, 1891.

From the auditor's report is gleaned the information that the legislature of 1891 used more stationery than any previous one, being $71 ahead of the body of 1889, over which the Democrats kicked so lustily. The total for 1891 is $2,626.

Kalamazoo Telegraph: D. P. Kiley ball, of Manistique, wanted to sell a black bear to the state, and wrote to secretary of State Soper concerning the sale. He had probably mistaken the legislature for a bear garden and had not heard of the adjournment.

It is hardly to be expected that Cleveland will write an open letter advising Congress not to favor the unlimited coinage of silver, as he did 1884. It now looks as if the democratic party might favor the free coinage of silver. But it will undoubtedly wait for an avowal of the Republican party upon that subject and then practically say "me too again" whatever that avowal may be.

The Richmond, (Ind.) Telegram has little to say about Senator Voorhees. Senator elect, who lives in New York. Think not for the return of Cal Brice from England. If he didn't roll over to cry shows the biggest barrel chunk full of English manufacturers money to be used as the essential substitute of the Democratic machine in the great campaign of '92. It will be a surprise to those who know his methods.

Hubbard Leader: The campaign liar spent a good deal of time in our corner the latter that owing to the increased duty on lumber twine under the McKinley bill, farmers would have to pay this year several cents per pound more for twine. It was a lie and denounced as such at the time by the Republicans. Farmers are now buying binder twine. What price are you paying? Buying it lower than ever before? How are you Mr. campaign liar.

Democratic free traders sneer about the policy of the Republican party protecting our infant industries, and they attempt a sarcastic caption upon the word infant." Let us see the growth of our protected industries has been mostly since the Morrill tariff of 1861, and England had a strong protective tariff, which was largely prohibitive, for over three hundred years previous to 1846, when she adopted free trade. Does the American Cobdenite demand that the United states should do in thirty years that which it took his English prototype over four hundred years to accomplish?

The St. Louis Republic, in its desire to belittle and belittle our new tariff industry, goes so far as to ridicule the "stamping works of that city as the "Nederlinghus tin-plate mill." This indicates a desperate struggle in the minds of free-trade writers to ward off the effects of this new business on politics. It only shows that to such the success of the Democratic party in the McKinley bill was than the prosperity of the country. It is an "infant industry" but the St. Louis works is a leader in it, and the fact is, a source of great local pride to St. Louis people who seek the prosperity of their city and country without reference to party. There are now over twenty tin-plate works in the United States, and the law which makes them possible is in its first month. Take your medicine, gentlemen. These facts can not be lied down nor ridiculed out of existence, and no one know it any better than do the operators in Cornwall.

On the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th of this month there convened at Minneapolis the largest gathering of Christian delegates ever assembled at one place in the United States. At least 10,000 women were present, and young people, full of the ardor of early youth and impregnated with the glorious crusading spirit of doing as much good as their endeavors will permit to their fellows and the country at large. This society is not more than eleven years old, originating in the state of Maine, and its growth has been prodigious. It already has 500,000 members. Its work and principles have fired the fervent spirit of the young people everywhere, and there is literally an evangelical union among the young men of the nation which pessimistic theorists did not deem a possibility fifty years ago. The society embraces both young men and young women, forming a perfect whole, and all are striving so to live and act that they will be not only bright exemplars to their comrades, but will accomplish an amount of practical good and active benevolence which will place the Society of Christian Endeavor among the foremost agencies in every humanitarian work for which man and woman are designed.

Northern Michigan News.

A Petoskey horse fell dead of fright on seeing an elephant in a circus procession saturday.

St. Ignace wants to be a summer resort and the mayor has called a meeting to see how much money the people will subscribe towards this end.

Grand Rapids Democrat: Three cars of steel were sent by the Chicago & Northern Michigan to Chicago yesterday to be made into frogs for the new road.

H. E. Perkins, of Boyne City, has had another parachute stroke. His condition is thought to be serious, and as a consequence the Commercial hotel has been closed for the present.

It has been definitely stated by the Ashleys that no work will be done on the proposed extension of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan railroad this season, but if the bonds can be floated it is expected that the dirt will be made to fly early next spring.

The Pine Lake Iron Co. are receiving the largest assortment of goods for their stole ever brought here. They are overhauling the store, painting and otherwise repairing it, and it is reported work will begin soon on thoroughly overhaul and repair the furnace.

Two young sons of East Jordan, Cummins and Wilson by name, were arrested Thursday last after succeeding in passing a one dollar bill which had been "raised" to a ten. They claimed to have obtained the bill in a proper transaction without knowledge of its worthiness. The case has not yet been tried.

Hon. H. H. Noble met with quite a painful accident at his home in Elk Rapids last Friday. He was attending to some repairs in the grist-mill when a defective joist gave way and fell, striking heavily on another timber, breaking two ribs and receiving some other lesser injuries. He is able to attend to business some, but will have to be a little careful for a time.

F. J. Smith has returned to Elk Rapids from the south, and it is authoritatively announced that the Lewis House, at Torch Lake, will be opened up next season, and the steamer Queen of the Lake put on Torch Lake, the route for which she was built years ago. The Lewis House, which has been closed for several years, is one of the pleasantest resort homes in the north. It is furnished throughout, but is in a state of decay. The Queen, at Torch Lake, the lake at Central Lake, six miles down.

A Mr. Truss of Elk Rapids was arrested at that place last Thursday on a charge of forging three sewing machine contracts, he being a sub-agent for their sale. He was released on bond, but at the time of appearance Friday forenoon he was not present in court. Officers found him at his residence in a stupefied condition. Mr. Truss stated to the officers that he expected to go to prison and had taken laudanum to quiet his nerves. A bottle containing that drug was produced which told the story. Every effort was made to save him, but he died.

Mr. Blaine may be very sick, but he is not half as sick as the Democratic party will be if he gets well.

Buckley's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positive cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from ures, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix County.

THE SALVATORIA COTTAGE, adjoining the grounds of the Chicago Summer Resort Company, on Pine Lake is for rent. Inquire at Law and Real Estate office of E. H. Gibbs, Charlevoix.

E. H. Gibbs offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the west one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Rev. P. M. Shrout, pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Mound, Kan., says "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased, and my physicians thought I would live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and am sound and well, gaining 26 lb in weight." Arthur Lowe, manager Lowe's Pony Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption beats them all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest kindness I can do my friends and friends is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00 3.

THE RIO GRANDE.

A Stream Regarded with Veneration by the Natives Along Its Course.

At a point about midway in New Mexico, from north to south the Rio Grande takes on a new character, says a Guadalupita Correspondent Magazine. The Rio Pueco (Nasty river) comes in from the west, bringing down in thick solution the soil of its alkaline valley. The earth of the Rio Grande's banks in this locality easily dissolves, and from the mouth of the Rio Pueco southward the waters are liquid mud.

The great river both gives and takes on its journey to the sea. Smaller streams, just it from point to point, cease keeping to it down canyon banks, others meandering in rivulets in the middle of wide examples filled only at flood, and often the waters of the joint, as in the case of the Rio de Santa Fe, are hidden beneath the sands of a dry bed and more underground to join the subterranean current of the great stream. The river gives of its abundance to the villages and cultivated fields through acequias, or irrigating ditches, that lead from it to the grounds of the dwellers upon its banks. Far enough up the channel to secure the necessary fall to the lands to be irrigated a little wing-dam of brush and stone serves to turn the water from the stream into the ditches which follow the bank at a slight descent as compared with the downward flow of the swift current. These canals, which at first run nearly as a level, parallel with the course of the stream, as the river's surface falls more and more below them, come to the notice and eventually to effort the bank, and the tendency is constantly stronger to let the ditch is running up hill.

The main canals that lead from the river, which are known as acequias madres (mother ditches), distribute their waters into smaller waterways leading into the separate fields, and these ditches in turn, through furrows (lar rasuijing orterio) diffuse the water evenly over the cultivated ground. No acequia is needed on lands thus irrigated, for they are abundantly furnished by the fine, rich deposits in the water. There are productive fields in the Rio Grande valley that have been under continuous cultivation for 200 years. The water draws off for domestic use when allowed to settle, is excellent, and the New Mexico woman, that thirstily seek its refreshing cool, has not yet expanded with a Gowanian akin to that which the Egyptians and Arabs bestow upon the Nile.

Bible Guessing Contest.

The progress of Blue Guessing fund has received a sudden check at Dundee, where a return with Sam has been arrested on a charge of carrying shotguns down the pickets of his cottage, by bibical students, says the Post Herald. This was the kind of an advertisement to be inserted in some of the leading newspapers throughout the country: "Twelfthcake! Also a week's board, cheap prices for competing the words in chapters 5 and 6 of Jonah." It transpired that $1,200 had been received in reply to the advertisements (still unpaid) and for all had been given as prize money. The presiding sheriff and he did not think there were so many fools in the country, ready to send money in answer to such a transparent fraud. The idea of giving prizes, he added, for counting the words or letters in the New Testament was a proposal which could be made only by a rogue or a lunatic.

The prisoner's agent objecting to the term fraud as too harsh, he stated somewhat: "He will be all the better off a little time for medication. Send him the Book of Jeshua and let him count the number of letters in it. Yet they say there's no such thing as sin in a Scotsman."

HIS BURIED LEG.

How the Injured Pain He Felt Was Magnified Beyond Reason.

"That reminds me," said the man who is always being reminded of something, "

"What is it that reminds you, and what off?"

"This from about a man having his leg buried the other day. I wonder if he will have the same experience as I did of some strangest thing I ever heard of. You see the poor fellow had suffered mighty much agony for a year or more after injuring his right leg by falling down stairs, and finally the member became so diseased that amputation was necessary. The man nearly died under the operation, though this is not the curious part of the story. The removed portion of the leg was taken away and buried. It is well known, of course, to surgical science that when a man loses half a limb cut off he still suffers, or thinks he suffers, pain—which amounts to the same thing—in the part of the member removed. It was so in this case, and as my friend came back to consciousness his constant complaint was of the most severe pain in the buried foot.

"There is something pressing upon it," he would say in what seemed like delirium; "it's packed too tightly."

"Now the sufferer knew nothing of where or how his lost limb was buried, but as a matter of fact it had been swathed in a lot of hay, packed tightly in a box and the whole put underground. Day after day went on the suffering of the man with the buried leg and foot grew intolerable, until finally he begged his brother to dig up the place of Hiram Bush, remove the trappings, and change its position in the box. Only a sick man's whim, thought the brother, who was nursing the unfortunate fellow. Still, who he could never explain, he was seized with a fancy that if he were to do as the invalid wished and then tell him about it the effect might be a relief to the sick man's mind. It's all nonsense, of course, he said to himself, but he went one night, just the same, dug up the limb, relieved it of its wrappings, turned it over in the box, and limited the graveyard thing again, thinking the next morning he would tell his brother all about it. The first thing his brother said to him when he saw him was, 'Something queer happened last night.' 'What was that?' 'Well, you know what I have been telling you about my buried limb, how awfully it ached, and how I felt as if something was pressing upon it. Well, the thing was aching as usual, I suppose, but I felt a relief. The pain was completely gone, and I have not felt it since.'

"The brother was astonished beyond expression. It was just exactly five minutes before 10 o'clock on the night previous that he had changed the position of the buried limb, and he had not told a living soul of what he had done. Rather curious, isn't it?—N. Y. Tribune.

FARMERS, READ THIS!!!

If you or any of your neighbors expect to buy a machine, wagon or any farm tool this season remember we will sell you the BEST goods in the market at prices guaranteed to be lower than any one who sells FIRST QUALITY as we do, and handle nothing else.

We say best goods for least money.

Yes, HERE ARE THE WHY'S

We can sell you the best article in the country, BECAUSE we have devoted several years of the best part of our lives to this particular business, have handled almost every make and grade of implements, have become acquainted with the advantages of each, and the faults of all, and therefore stand in a position TO KNOW which is best and is all cases we assure you with which to supply our customers. Experience is our school and it has taught us the best, and he have it at any cost.

We can sell the goods cheaper than anyone else BECAUSE we devote our entire and exclusive attention to this business, buy in car load lots and thereby obtain every possible advantage in purchasing and in freights, and owing to the great quantities we sell, can certainly afford to sell better articles for less money than those who buy in small quantities and who only handle the goods as a side issue.

Consider these propositions, and if you think them sound and logical, come and see our Reapers, Binders, Harrows, Plows, Buggies and Wagons, repairs and attachments for all. Remember the place.

THACKER & GORDON.
NEAR FERGUSON HOUSE.

A FLUENT DICTION, vivid descriptive powers, and a gorgeous vocabulary, aided by the most cunning art of the engraver have but exaggerated the beauties of Charlevoix. It cannot be done. While Mackinaw is grand, Petoskey is a dream beach delightful, and Belle Isle a lovely landscape garden, Charlevoix is still the prettiest spot in Michigan.

We are handling property in every part of this village. We can sell you a factory site on Round Lake. We can sell you a piece of property on Bridge Street, suitable for either stores or a factory. We have thirty residences, ranging in price from $700 to $4,000, and in location such that any taste may be satisfied.

Our specialty this week is two lots worth $250 apiece, well fenced and graded, upon which are two new modern houses and a barn, good well and fruit trees—the buildings alone could not be duplicated for $1,600, title perfect, and location advantageous. We will take $1,700 on the following terms: $500 down, and the balance on long time and easy payments. This is a bargain.

MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

MILLINERY!
JUST RECEIVED.
A fine line of
SUMMER GOODS,
Comprising all the latest novelties in Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Flowers, Jewelry and Notions. Also, an elegant assortment of Gloves, Stockings, both for millinery and Dresses, and a fine line of Patterns.
I Have also in stock a nice line of
CHILDREN'S WEAR'S
Ladies are especially invited to call, whether wishing to buy or not. Any thing purchased in this house will be cheerfully exchanged.
MRS. H. A. CARR.

HAVING RECEIVED my Spring Stock of Summer Samples, I call attention to my $26 & $30
SUITS
In any Shade Desired.
They are the finest ever sold in Charlevoix. Give me a call.
JOHN ZWECKEL,
Merchant Tailor.
Charlevoix, Mich.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER,
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Ridenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

Take The Sentinel

J. W. Kirby
Has removed his BLACKSMITH SHOP
to his premises in Harbor Inn.

Job Work,
GO TO THE
SENTINEL OFFICE.

T. J. CANNON,
Horthwest
NEW BAKERY,
Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a fine line of
BAKED GOODS,
always on hand.
Fresh bakes and Cinds promptly delivered.
I solicit a share of your patronage, and will guarantee good goods, low prices, courteous treatment and square dealing.
T. J. CANNON.

Call and see
A Full line of WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, ETC.
SILVER TABLE WARE.
CHARLEVOIX SOUVENIR SPOONS.
ALWAYS JEWELRY, satin bear jewelry, youth and tour jewelry.
Also, a Full line of OPTICAL GOODS, IN WHITE and SMOKED.
Special attention given to all Repairs. All goods subject to sale after six months.
C. R. Bellinger.

FOR SALE.
Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Dixon's Addition.
These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton Ave., and same block, with nice house, nicely finished, on outside. Inquire of
PROF. O. M. RICE,
Encanada, Mich

Hels on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woodford's sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

HEART DISEASE.
STATISTICS show that one in four has a weak or diseased heart. The first symptoms are short breath, palpitation, fluttering, faint and hungry spells, pain in side, shortness, swollen ankles, dropsy and smothering. Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a marvelous remedy. Free book on Heart Disease and testimonials. FREE at druggists, or address Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Elkhart, Indiana. Sold by F. G. HINES & CO.

SHERWOOD

BOOTS and SHOES,
New, Mammoth Stock.
Lowest Prices.
No Credit.
GLASS WATER SET with every Ten Dollars traded with us.
SHERWOOD.

FREE CONSULTATION
—DR. A. B. SPINNEY,—
of Detroit, for the purpose of accommodating his friends and patrons, will be here or consult him at Detroit, for special office days as the practice allows, will be at Gaylord on Thursday. The Doctor has been thirty-one years in practice—thirteen years in general practice, and twenty years in Detroit. Graduate of Chemic Dissection, for two years was Medical Superintendent of Detroit and Ypsilanti Sanitarium, and two years Professor of Anatomy and Physiology in Medical College in Detroit. Author of Spinney's Compendium of Human Physiology in different parts of the State. If you have Catarrh, Throat, Lung, Eye, Ear, Liver, Stomach, Kidney or Nervous Diseases, improve this opportunity to a careful examination. If your case is curable he will tell you so. If you can be cured at home he will do so, if not he will tell you what it will cost and how long it will take to do office, which is quite a little more than a experienced physician in the country.
CLASSES limited to all could nothing than Special attention given to Rectal, Uterine and Urinary Diseases.
AT FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
CHARLEVOIX,
Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5th and 6th.

Fox & Miller

Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
--AT-
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.
Fox & Miller.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale by The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.
These lands are endorsed with beech and maple to such effect and are accompanied with such testimonials as to leave no room for doubt.
By Water and Rail
And are in a settlement which is in a healthy and good condition. Its great facilities for market are unsurpassed.
The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the place. Part of this is now in cultivation, and a portion of it is for sale.
Not a Wilderness by any Means.
Illustrated pamphlets containing maps and information sent free on application.
Send for Pamphlet to Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.
TITLE PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
I call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
I also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Bavarian Beer
And Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.
B. J. GELLICK & Co.
We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.
We will special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. Finest brand south of Sentinel office.
We will clump for cash.
B. J. Gellick & Co.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Determination Guaranteed. Rates low.
GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

It Pays to Buy the
BEST BOATS!
The large number of Boats I have built for several years, and for complaints of that have done and are in the hands of the people, is the best guarantee.
I will guarantee the best modelled, easiest running and best sailing boats Northern Michigan for the
LEAST MONEY!
All kinds of Oars, and Paddles made
LEAVE ORDERS
with orders left for me at Sentinel's office. I am located in Charlevoix.
Repairing Neatly and Promptly Attended to.
JOS. BEAUVAIS.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.
FIXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA,

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRANK HAYES, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for all lands in Charlevoix County. Office in Sentinel Building. Future valid validity guaranteed. Law and Insurance. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Real Estate. Office Park Of Hotel Charlevoix.

SOLICITORS.

L. H. LOCTER Mason No. 182, meets Saturday night on or before full moon. Visiting brothers cordially invited.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 116, meets second Monday night each month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 76, meets at Masonic Hall the third Wednesday of each month. Visiting members cordially invited. Mrs. HELEN WELLMAN, Sec.

UNION LODGE, No. 179, I. O. O. F., meets every Thursday evening in Odd Fellows' Hall.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 439, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall.

MACCABEES—Charlevoix Lodge No. 206, F. & A. M. Meeting on or before full moon. Hall over Sawyer's office.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS, meets every Monday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall.

BAXTER RELIEF CORPS, No. 116, meets at G. A. R. Hall every second Saturday each month, at 2 o'clock P. M.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. E. WHITNEY, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Lake Shore Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. C. DYKE, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. Orders promptly attended to.

The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. DAWSON, Prop.
ACCOMMODATIONS FIRST CLASS.
Conveniently located on the South Side of Round Lake, Northern Michigan.
Accommodations and Rates Considerably Reduced and well adapted to the present times.
Send for Pamphlet to Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.
TITLE PERFECT.

GRAND RAPIDS & INDIANA R. R.
In Effect June 14th, 1891.
TRAINS SOUTH BOUND.
For Traverse City, & Mackinaw: 7.00 a.m. 3.00 p.m.
For Traverse City & Mackinaw: 10.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
For Petoskey: 10.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
TRAINS NORTH BOUND.
For Cincinnati: 7.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
For Fort Wayne: 7.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
For Cincinnati: 10.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
For Chicago: 10.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
From Mackinaw & Traverse City: 10.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
From Big Rapids: 10.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
For Petoskey: 7.00 a.m. 3.00 p.m.
For Traverse City & Mackinaw: 7.00 a.m. 3.00 p.m.
Mackinaw, Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R.
In Effect June 14, 1891.
From Mackinaw.
For Petoskey: 7.00 a.m. 3.00 p.m.
For Grand Rapids: 7.00 a.m. 3.00 p.m.
For Mackinaw: 10.00 a.m. 7.00 p.m.
Connections at Mackinaw with Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R. Trains.
Connections at Petoskey with Grand Rapids & Indiana R. R. Trains.
Connections at Petoskey with Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
Connections at Petoskey with Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway.
Connections at Petoskey with Ann Arbor Railway.
Connections at Petoskey with Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan Railway.
Connections at Petoskey with Pere Marquette Railway

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

THE NEWS RECORD.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S HAPPENINGS.

The Latest News as Flashed Over the Wires from the Scenes of the World-Shaking Events, Foreign, Casualties, Conventions and Industry.

SWEPT AWAY BY FIRE.

Over $2,000,000 Worth of Business Property in Spokane Destroyed.

Within 10 minutes' walk of the principal business portion of Spokane, Wash., is a conflagration in the great forest fire called a flight of magnificent buildings, the Spokane Falls and Northern depot, the Northern Pacific freight depot, the Spokane and Cheney depot, the Spokane Falls and Northern roundhouse, the Spokane and Cheney roundhouse, the Spokane and Cheney machine shop, the Spokane and Cheney coal chute, the Spokane and Cheney water tank, the Spokane and Cheney sand house, the Spokane and Cheney ice house, the Spokane and Cheney lumber yard, the Spokane and Cheney hay and grain warehouse, the Spokane and Cheney office building, the Spokane and Cheney car shop, the Spokane and Cheney car yard, the Spokane and Cheney switch yard, the Spokane and Cheney main track, the Spokane and Cheney side track, the Spokane and Cheney switch track, the Spokane and Cheney bridge, the Spokane and Cheney telegraph office, the Spokane and Cheney telegraph poles, the Spokane and Cheney telegraph wires, the Spokane and Cheney time table, the Spokane and Cheney time card, the Spokane and Cheney time clock, the Spokane and Cheney time tables, the Spokane and Cheney time cards, the Spokane and Cheney time clocks, the Spokane and Cheney time, the Spokane and Cheney time, the Spokane and Cheney time

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, JULY 22, 1891.

All From The Bogus Village, Last Issue.

The county seat is destined to remain at Boyne City, the geographical centre of the county, forever and aye.

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vile," those Charlevoix fellows beat the Old Chap himself, and they're bound to have the County Seat!

Boyne City may be a sleepy town but she can out-general Charlevoix anytime. She sleeps with one eye open and occasionally peers into the dark corners where the money bags from Charlevoix are ready to be distributed.

Charlevoix is a very nice resort town during the hot summer months but it was never destined to be the county seat of the county, and so long as the residents of the county have a say in the matter, never will.

Charlevoix county Supervisors are not to be bought. Even a drive around the place at the expense of the dear people, the freedom of the city with a 500 wad thrown in, has no bring effect on the honest, honorable Board who represent the people of our county.

Should our confidence in the integrity of our representatives be misplaced, and the question be allowed to come before the people, it will be at the annual election next spring, when Charlevoix and the western part of the county will swarm with hundreds of railroad laborers, every one of whose votes will count the same as that of the most wealthy and influential citizen.

Of course Charlevoix is at its very best now. The streets are crowded with gaily-dressed people, flags are flying and an air of great and general busy-ness appears to prevade the atmosphere, for it is the height of the resort season, and of course the Supervisors will be given a drive around town at the town's expense, to take in all the beauty and prosperity of the place, and no pains will be spared to make a good impression.

Chicago Summer Resort.

The club house is full and the cottages all occupied.

Extensive repairs have been made on the boat houses.

Thursday evening the opening of the new Music Hall was celebrated by an entertainment. The new building is a gem. It is connected with the club house by an enclosed entrance, and the club house verandas are extended along in front. It is supplied with a stage and a neat drop curtain was painted by a Chicago this week. It has a fine piano, and a large fire-place on the side. Sunday afternoon it was occupied by a large bible-class, under the instruction of Rev. Mr. Gates.

Charlevoix Summer Resort.

Judge Mills and wife are here for a week or two.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Gillespie is at his Cottage.

About two hundred are taking meals at the Belvedere.

Rev. Dr. Brank, of St. Louis, is on the grounds. He will preach at Music Hall on Sunday afternoon.

D. B. Merrill, of Kalamazoo, arrived Monday.

H. P. Parmelee, of Hillsdale, and one of the best posted geologists in the State, will lecture on that subject at Music Hall Saturday eve.

The annual meeting of the Resort Association was held yesterday. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, D. B. Merrill; Vice President, S. A. Gibson; Treasurer, I. D. Hatch; Secretary, E. D. Hatch; Directors, O. M. Allen, H. P. Parmelee, H. H. Evenard, F. M. Hodge and Dallas Boothman.

—The Congargational Sunday School will picnic at the Holy Island on Thursday of this week. All the friends of the Sunday school and others are invited to go along. All are to meet at Emery's Dock at 9:30 A. M. to take the steamer Hackley. Twenty live cents for the round trip. The children go free. A basket picnic. Remember the day and the hour of starting.

—A few of the tenants in the railroad gang north of her, went on a strike last Thursday, involving some of the other laborers in the lay-off. Jos. McIlwraut, who was driving Peter McNally's team was the governing spirit of the trouble. When the men went out to harvest, he stripped off the harnesses, and stood in the door with a club, threatening all manner of things to the man who took out a team. His scheme only worked for a short time. The foreman came down and secured a warrant for Mr. McIlwraut, and Under Sheriff Myers and Deputy Sheriff Stevens went up and brought him down. He was arraigned before Justice McLeod, who fined him $25, in default of which Mr. McIlwraut would be compelled to go to Detroit for a term. He scratched around among the boys and raised the money. During the progress of the trial, one Jas. Shay was naughty in the presence of the court, and Mac sent him down stairs behind the ice until he sobered up.

SPECIAL SALE!
To make room for new fall goods.
THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY,
JULY 23, 24 25.
A BIG CUT ON EVERYTHING FOR THOSE DAYS.
Challies 4 1-2 cts; Wash Surahs, 19 cts; Good Ginghams, 7 cts; Shirtings, 7 cts; Cambrics, 5 cts; best Silesia, 15 cts.
These are only a few of the many cuts.
MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?
at GEO. W. MILLER'S
And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.
I AM MAKING A RUN ON A
BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

THE SAILORS.

Gossip For the Marines—Matters of Interest Here and Elsewhere.

The tugs Park, Higgie and Martin have pooded for the season.

The steamer Hackley is doing well on the East Jordan route.

The new tug for C. C. Gelken, mentioned last week, is being built at Grand Haven.

The steamer Crescent was here at the shipyard putting on a new wheel Sunday.

The pile-driver finished work Saturday. Inspector Collier will complete the repairs on the harbor revetment this week. He then goes to Muskegon to take charge of the harbor work there.

The schooner Hale cleared from Chicago last week for Cheboygan to load for Barker. In the big gale she lost her main gaff and considerable of her canvas, and had to run into Milwaukee for repairs.

The two-masted schooner Silver Cloud, Capt. Johnson, bound from Bailey's Harbor to Milwaukee, laden with cedar posts and lumber, capsized near Port Washington. Capt. Johnson, wife and child were drowned. The sailors clung to the rigging and were saved by a tug.

The schooner Col. Cook, recently transformed into a tow barge, capsized and sank near Marblehead, Lake Erie, lately. She was loaded with limestone for Cleveland, and lies in water only fifteen feet deep. The craft is owned by F. Smith, of Cleveland. The Col. Cook was formerly known as the Augusta, which gained unwholesome notoriety through running down the steamer Lady Elgin off Winetka, Ills., September 8, 1860, causing the loss of nearly 400 lives. The Cook has traded here considerably.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: The work of repairing the damage sustained by the schooner Starke in her recent collision with the schooner C. E. Wyman is progressing slowly at the Wolf & Davidson Company's yard. Four of her frames on the port side were found to be so badly broken as to require renewal and several others which were cracked have been strengthened by placing pieces alongside. She will receive new outside plank and ceiling throughout one-third of her length on the port side also. This shipyard work, with replacement of outfit ruined through the collision, will run the Starke's repair bill beyond the $4,000 mark.

Religious Items.

Episcopal.

Rt. Rev. Geo. D. Gillespie, D. D., will hold divine services in Odd Fellows' Hall on Sunday, July 26, at 10:30 a. m. All are invited.

The Ladies' Guild will meet on Thursday afternoon at the cottage of Mrs. Blake, on the Charlevoix Resort. A full attendance desired.

The Ladies' Guild will hold a Fair on Wednesday and Thursday, August 5th and 6th, in Lewis Grand Grand Opera House Block. All kinds of useful and ornamental articles will be offered for sale. Ice Cream and cake will be served. All will be welcome.

Congregational.

Services as usual on Sunday and through the week. You are cordially invited to all our services.

—General Superintendent Agnew, and Attorney Smith, of the C. & W. M., were in town Friday. In a brief interview, they expressed themselves as pleased with the progress of the work on the northern extension, and said there was very little doubt of the iron all being laid this fall. Mr. Agnew confirmed the report that one of the company's locomotive would be put on the north end next month for track-laying, and when asked as to the probability of giving an water service with it between here and Petoskey next winter, he expressed himself favorable to the idea providing they made connections this fall at Petoskey with the G. R. & I., so that a car could be put on, of which he thought there was very little doubt.

Northern Notes.

Orlando Spaulding, of Muskegon, is here visiting his brother Eugene, whom he has not seen for fifteen years.

John Jolliffe, Sr., met two of his brothers here, one from Wisconsin, the other, with his wife, from Canada, who will stay a while.

Mrs. Cassius Pearl and daughter, Mrs. Geo. Wilson, of Battle Creek, arrived Friday for the summer.

John Runyan's daughters, Mrs. Chew and Mrs. Bird, with their husbands, spent Sunday at the paternal mansion.

A large cooper-shop has this week been erected on the corner of Main and Pearl streets for the manufacture of potato and apple bbls.

The Ladies' Aid Society had a lawn-social Tuesday night in Wm. Harris' yard. Receipts, twenty-four dollars.

Fred Gillett has bought a lot of A. E. Meech on the new street opened up this spring, and will build a house on it.

Prof. Arthur Nelson, of Charlevoix, is spending a few days here this week.

Mr. Bryan, of Texas, is renting at the Ferguson cottage for a few days, and Albert F. Streich, of Chicago, arrived Wednesday, bound for the same pleasant place.

S. B. Chase will arrive Thursday with a party of young ladies from Chicago, who will be guests at the "Owls' Nest" the rest of the season.

The band boys Wednesday evening were feasted in right royal style at the pleasant home of the Van Pelts.

Undine.

The schooner J. L. Green took her tenth cargo from Cram, Whitford & Son's mill Saturday.

Mrs. Davis and daughter, Mrs. Develin, of Canada, are visiting Mrs. Margaret Willis, an aunt of Mrs. Davis, and Isaac Willis, her father, last week and this.

J. Panchett, of Dakota, was visiting his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank White, last week. Charles White goes to Dakota this week.

The pile-driver was at work for C., W. & Sons Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Finch, of Bear Lake, were visiting at Nally Cram's Saturday.

The Kirmiss.

Arrangements have been made for the appearance of the "Kirmiss," at Lewis Grand Opera House, tomorrow, (Thursday) evening, under the management of Mrs. Anna Ward Foster.

This entertainment was given at Petoskey last week, and was the greatest success of the season there.

The "Kirmiss" is a representation of the dances and costumes of all nations. We hope to see the opera house crowded on that occasion.

Specimen Claims.

S. H. Clifford, New Castel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming extent, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ills., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co. 3

NOTICE.

My wife Ellen Fickell having left my bed and board, I hereby give notice that I will pay no debts of her contracting from this date.

Alanson, July 15, 1891. OMAR FICKELL. 3-4t.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that at the request of Jo Gallmeth, whose position is hereunder described we will sell at public auction on the premises named with one, I shall sell on the 7th day of August next at 10 o'clock a. m. at my place in Boyne Township being the s. ½ of the s. w. ¼ of s. 1 of twp. 33, n. of r. 7, the animal described as follows, to-wit: One bay mare, aged four years, white spot on forehead.

Signed at Pellston on the 20th day of July, 1891.

JOSEPH GALLMETH.
Owner of Bay Mare.
GEO. W. SMITH,
Pathmaster of Highways, R. R. No. 11.

Were a Man Weighing 150 lbs. proportionately endowed with the strength of a beetle,
He should be able to move
198,000 POUNDS.
BUT HE IS NOT, and in nine cases out of ten cannot move a a wonan after she has once made up her mind to trade at Washburne's, who is offering new broadhead Dress Goods in plaids and stripes, single and double fold at 25 and 50 c. per yard as well as all seasonable goods at bottom figures.
A. T. WASHBURNE
THE DRY GOODS MAM.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.
DRUGS and MEDICINES, PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS, STATIONERY.
Prescriptions carefully compounded.
A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

NEW STOCK OF STATIONERY,
NOVELS, ETC.,
AT
THE NEWS DEPOT.

We have in connection with our fine line of carriages a good assortment of work and driving harness also harness repairs, robes, whips and etc.
Just received a splendid lot of spiral spring carriages, springs and all attachments warranted for ten years.
A good assortment of BELKNAP wagons on hand.
BAKER & SON.

H. L. IDDINGS, Proprietor
OF THE
CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.
Hardware, Iron and Nail Merchants.
STOVES
Stoves & Ranges.
Heath & Milligan's "Best" Paints. Pure Linseed Oils. Varnishes, Stains and all other Painter's Supplies.
Strictly "Guarantee.d Pure" Paris Green, at Lowest Prices.
Yours Truly,
July 22, '91. H. L. I.

FINEST LINE OF GROCERIES
and Crockery Ware
IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN.
A.
Cash Grocer.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
VOL XXIII. NO.-4. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY JULY 29, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,128.

"FOOLED AGAIN!"
"Well, it serves me right. I didn't buy my Paris Green of Hines & Co., consequently the BUGS GOT FAT and I lost my potatoes, but I know better now.
Now, don't you get fooled, our PARIS GREEN is the BEST ON EARTH, bought on an Iron Clad Guarantee of its purity, we sell it the same. It goes farther, consequently is the cheapest, and will never disappoint you. Try it and if not what we claim we will refund the money.
Yours for the extermination of the potato bug,
F. G. HINES & CO.

COPCO & CURLY MAPLE SOAP. FOR THE BATH. Good and Cheap. at CALKINS & WARNE. Druggists and Stationers.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One Year - - $1.50 if in six months - - $1.75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Wm. Stevens went to Milwaukee Sunday.

—O. W. Smith has a new advertisment.

—Mason & Berdan have a new ad. this week.

—There are 215 guests at the Chicago Club.

—Henry Bishop arrived from Kalamazoo Friday.

—Judge Mills went to the Soo Friday for a few days.

—Mrs. Capt. A. G. Aldrich returned to Chicago Friday.

—Dr. Valle, of St. Louis, joined his family here Saturday.

—H. N. Faulkner is building a barn on his Main Street lot.

—Rev. C. N. Coulter, of Leelanaw county, was in town Thursday.

—A new display in the advertising space of Thacker & Gordon.

—Marshal McLeod wants you to call in and pay your village taxes.

—Miss Lucy Carlisle, of Rockford, Mich., is the guest of Mrs. Ben Campbell.

—A damaging land-slide is reported from the railroad work at Central Lake.

—Mrs. A. T. Ross leaves to-day for Detroit and Toronto, to visit relatives.

—W. G. Pierce, of the Wilson Hoop Co., South Arm, spent Sunday in town.

—Prof. Samuel Ives Curtis, of the Chicago Theological Seminary, is at the Club.

—Moore & Nettleton have something of interest to say on real estate this week.

—Miss Jennie Toleman, of Chicago, is the guest of Mr. Aunt, Mrs. Capt. Gaunt.

—The widow of the late Capt. James Stevens, was over from Northport Sunday.

—E. D. Robertson and H. M. Dearing, bankers of Albion, were in town yesterday.

—Mayor Ullt, of Grand Rapids, was with his family at the cottage Saturday and Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ashley, and Mrs. H. L. Bishop and three children are at the Bishop cottage.

—Miss Cora Decamore of 1504 Grand Ave Milwaukee is visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. H. Green.

—A remarkably liberal offer—The Detroit Weekly Tribune and the SENTINEL one year for $2.00.

—E. W. Fuller, well known here as "Reaping mill Fuller," is in the employ of J. Milo Eaton, in Chicago.

—Mrs. H. A. Martin, of Marion, Ohio, is with her brother, De Witt Clinton Martin is expected next week.

—Mrs. J. K. V. Agnew, wife of General Superintendent Agnew, of the C. & W. M. is at the Belvedere.

—The Winans Yacht Chequeta, arrived from South Haven Monday, with Capt. Eugene Croft in command.

—Misses Sadie and Tradie Den Bleyker and friend, and Master H. Den Bleyker at the Den Bleyker cottage.

—Frank Churchill, of this place has been granted a pension of $12 per month, reaching back seven months.

—Will Hampton, of the Democrat, and Verlie Cole, of Petoskey, took a whirl to Eastport and back Sunday, on their bicycles.

—S. H. Thacker returned to Napoleon, Ohio, Monday. He says the buildings for the hoop factory will be built this fall.

—A. J. Emrey, of Manistee, and J. W. Stokoe and Miss Hose Stokoe, of Louisiana, arrived Sunday and are the guests of R. A. Emrey.

—Just Jordan Enterprise: When the Charlevoix base ball club came up last Monday they registered as "swipers from Swipetown," in big letters. When they planned they probably registered "o. b. b. c."

—Petoskey Democrat: The little yacht which arrived at the G. R. & I. depot last week was the property of Mr. W. H. Aldrich, of Charlevoix. The "Weynant" is a sightlee launch forty feet over all. She was put in the water by Mr. Cook Monday and towed to Charlevoix by the Lucile.

—S. J. Lobdell has purchased a lot on the north side adjoining the one recently purchased by A. D. Cruikshank, and will build in the near future.

—The Congregational Sunday Schools of Charlevoix and Ironton picniced together at South Arm, Thursday. A delightfull day and time is reported.

—If you want to secure a first-class state paper and the leading County paper cheap, call in and leave $2.00, add we will send you the Detroit Weekly Tribune and the SENTINEL one year.

—On the completion of the Nicholls Lewis & Bates factory, the entire plant of that wide-awake firm will employ about 50 men. And it is reported that the boys don't propose to stop there.

—Rev. J. J. Kanagy leaves on a jar of strained honey from his apiary. Mr. Kanagy has three swarms of bees and last week took 105 pounds from one hive. Within three weeks he has taken out 140 pounds.

—Julius B. Berg, of St. Louis, who with his family, is now at the Belvedere, was formerly of Whitewater, Wis., and was a personal friend of Frank L. Kiser, who drowned off the tug Winnie Warren many years ago.

—The Detroit Weekly Tribune the leading family paper of Michigan, and the SENTINEL can be secured one year for $2.00. The SENTINEL is the only paper in Charlevoix county that can offer these exceptionally liberal clubbing rates with the Tribune.

—Attention Comrades:—There will be a special informal meeting of Baxter Post, on Thursday evening, July 30, 1891, at the law office of E. H. Green, to make final arrangements for attendance at the National Encampment of the G. A. R. in Detroit. By order of Wm. KASAWOT, Commander.

—The "experience social" in the Opera House Wednesday evening, August 12th, will be a fine affair in many ways. A fine entertainment will be given and refreshments. Many have already been found who are willing to give a dollar or more to aid the church. All who will are asked to tell how the money is earned or in what they denied themselves in order to save it, as the cause may be.

—Messrs. McCracken & Slaby, the contractors for the grading of eight miles of the C. & W. M. extension south of the river, are on the ground, and have established an office in the Eaton block. They are establishing camps, and getting their outfit on the ground. They expect next week to have 150 men and 60 teams at work. On the section north of here there are 175 men and 70 teams at work.

—Jim Ashley, claiming to be the "champion middle-weight of Michigan," came from Petoskey Saturday and circulated bills announcing a sparring exhibition at the opera house that evening. The gentleman remarked during the day that "there was good talent here if it was only worked up." It is growing to the credit of Charlevoix that there was not a ticket sold. Charlevoix has "talent," but not on that sort.

—The Charlevoix Epworth League given an excursion to Bay View Friday, July 31st. The following program will be rendered there that day: At 11:00 a. m. "Still on the Floats" dramatized, Miss Dorsey; at 2:00 p. m. Grand Assembly Concert. Admission to the grounds, 75c; but tickets sold by members of the League which will include the fare Bay View and Admission for 75c, fare without admission, 50c.

—Boyne Falls News: Boyne City City now has a great snitch of war paint on, and neighbor Smith must be burned on a spot covers with a stake driven through his bowels, for a witch. Or wasn't it he who proposed up from Charlevoix, the day the supervisors met that they had authorized the removal of the county seat to Charlevoix? Horrible! Horrible! Those icy chills running down the spine for the mortal hours. Never mind neighbors, blessed are they that have nothing, etc., etc., you know.——A vague telephone from Charlevoix last Thursday, stating that the removal of the county seat had been submitted, and Charlevoix had "a majority, "entitled" our otherwise quiet city quite badly. The SENTINEL man is thought to be the one who perpetrated this most cruel joke.

Special G. A. R. Train.

Via G. R. & I. and Michigan Central Railroads on Monday, August 17th, 1891.—One fare for the round trip. Tickets good for return until August 19th. Special train leaves Petoskey at 6:00 a. m. and Boyne Falls at 6:05 a. m.; arrives Detroit at 7 o'clock p. m. Plenty of room. Solid train through without change. Rate, one fare for the round trip. Secure tickets of agents of the undersigned.

THE SAILORS.

Gossip For the Marines—Matters of Interest Here and Elsewhere.

"Cap." Taylor is second mate on the City of Charlevoix.

Yachts have been nearly as numerous as resorters the past week.

The scow Lottie Mason is out at Washburn's yard for repairs and re-caulking.

The fine sloop-yacht Druid, of Chicago, was in port Saturday, and left for the straits Sunday.

Capt. Lee, of Muskegon, owner of the steamer Hackley, was here over Sunday. He says the Hackley will be kept here.

The schooner Thomas Howland, well known here, went ashore in Green Bay, and is now in the Manitowoc dry dock for repairs.

On Thursday the steamer Gordon on her afternoon trip, broke her cylinder so badly that it will be replaced by an entire new engine. She will be laid up about ten days or two weeks.

Hastings from Hayes.

Winter wheat was harvested the past week and some of it is in the stack.

Willie Hair has been very sick with flux, but is improving under Dr. Lewis' care.

H. S. Newson will probably remove his his saw and shingle mill to Burgess in the near future.

A. R. Struthers succeeds A. W. Chew as Justice of the Peace and took possession of the office effects the past week.

Owing to the short hay crop, all the surplus stock will be sold off this fall and our farmers will winter but very little stock. Prices will rule high another year.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Morell Long died the 17th inst. Funeral services were conducted the Sabbath following by Rev. W. H. McCartney, assisted by Rev. Mr. Gates.

The first crew on the new railroad north of Charlevoix is at Kargo-che-wong, six miles out, and the traveler, after leaving Charlevoix gets the first view of Lake Michigan from that point.

"These men are nothing but cattle and you can treat them as if they were cattle," said one foreman to a boarding house boss, when speaking of a gang of men who were working on the railroad, and were mostly composed of foreigners of the neighborhood. It is just such whipper-snappers that cause trouble and strikes among workmen very often.

Religious Items.

Episcopal.

Divine services in Odd Fellows Hall on Sunday, August 23 at 10:30 am. You are cordially invited to attend.

The Ladies Guild will meet on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. P. Howe, on the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets. On Wednesday and Thursday, August 5 and 6, they will hold a fair in Lewis Opera House block. All kinds of useful and ornamental articles will be offered for sale. Ice cream and cake will be served. All are welcome.

Congregational.

Services as usual on Sunday and through the week. You are cordially invited to attend.

Two New Stores.

Schmuckmann & Goldsbeck is the name of the new firm from Grand Rapids, who have opened the north store in the Lewis Grand Opera House block. Within two weeks they will open a first-class dry goods store. Both members of the firm were in town yesterday arranging for the opening.

The south half of the Opera House has been leased by J. C. Townsend, of White Cloud, Mich., in which he will open an extensive stock of clothing in about three weeks. Mr. J. H. Mulnix, representing Mr. Townsend, was here yesterday and effected the lease. Both Mr. Townsend and Mr. Mulnix will reside here.

Any man that wants a good sound eight-year old nag, that will go to the end of the road and cry for more, had better call on O. W. Smith and get a bargain. Having no use for a horse at present, I mean business.

O. W. SMITH.

The Procession
is not a long one, and
WE ARE AT THE FRONT.
NEVER IN THE REAR. As you pass by you will see from this time until fall the finest assortment of Fruit and Vegetables you ever saw in Charlevoix. It is useless to enumerate. Our Mamoth Fountain will be on tap, and all the summer drinks on sale.
YOU WANT TO REMEMBER
That my prices are right. Especial care will be given to all California Fruits. Buy my goods once and you will buy again.
THE - PAGODA - FRUIT - HOUSE,
Opposite Bridge St. Hotel. O. W. SMITH.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by
E. H. GREEN.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.
Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.
REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.
REMEMBER,
We carry a general stock.
REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.
REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

WANTED.
CLOTHING AND DRY GOODS STORES
IN LEWIS GRAND OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.
FOR SALE—80 acre farm; 55 acres cleared. Two Houses and lots in Charlevoix, on very easy terms. The Lewis Grand Opera House Block for sale or rent.
DR. L. LEWIS, Charlevoix, Mich.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.
We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.
Will take all the
----- HEMLOCK BARK -----
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.
BERT MASON

Furniture! FURNITURE! Furniture!
AT
S. M. SEE & SONS'
EVERYBODY COME AND SEE.
Our BEDROOM SUITS $15.00 and upwards are bargains. Now is the time to buy.
AND OUR PARLOR SUITS ARE FINE AND VERY REASONABLE.
Agents for the Western Cottage Organ.

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER VII.

ON THE MOONSHINE.

"Hello! What are you doing here? Who are you?"

Dick sprang to his feet in alarm. He stared curiously at the face peering down at him.

"Have you a match? I see you have one in your mouth. What are you doing here?"

"I'm rather not info."

Dick looked at the tramp. He was on the point of running, but a heavy hand was laid on his shoulder.

"Look, Dick, he trembles! Isn't he afraid of the dog. He wouldn't hurt a mouse. Come here, Nip."

The dog approached Dick and threw his cold nose against his hand.

"Nip! He wants to make friends with you."

Dick shyly stroked the dog. A man without dogs he was. Dick never would have believed there was such a big dog in the world. He often recalled Nep, who was a mere cur, but he never believed—probably never will believed—another dog as large as Nip could exist. Dick felt his danger hide against the big dog this morning.

"Dick, don't you tell me what you are doing here?"

"I don't tell no one."

"Well, I'm not the man. "That ain't in my line."

The man turned and called to someone behind him.

"Come up. It's all right. Only a boy."

"Only a boy? Why a sweet voice, for a young gentleman." Dick thought. "Not in the world is he doing here?"

Then he saw another man, who was approaching.

"Dick, do the most be almost from."

"Oh, I had money of course and straw from the stacks. Those were the very people who could claim on my old mother's hands and age to poke reaching forwards, and stand in their place. These were the wonderful riders. Where was the clown? Dick would have given a year of his life just to look at the clown.

At that instant Dick caught sight of an elephant and a lion, tethered to a tree on one of the cages round.

Dick quaked with terror. Boo laughed coolly at the lad's fear.

"Dick, don't be afraid. Dick looked rather—pleased. Here now was the man who had heard of him yards of times. These were the very people who could claim on my old mother's hands and age to poke reaching forwards, and stand in their place. These were the wonderful riders. Where was the clown? Dick would have given a year of his life just to look at the lions.

At that instant Dick caught sight of an elephant and a lion, tethered to a tree on one of the cages round.

Dick quaked with terror. Boo laughed coolly at the lad's fear.

"Dick, don't be afraid."

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, JULY 29, 1892.

on Protection continued has promised to make no speeches in Ohio during the present gubernatorial campaign, and the newspapers of that state have decided the type foundries will soon be busy cast of the words "protection," "reciprocity," "protectionist," "free trade," "tariff reform," "free coal," etc.

The McKinley bill has been in operation eight months, and during that time twenty-three million dollars worth of American made goods, in excess of the amount made in the same months of the previous years, have been shipped to foreign lands. And yet it was asserted by free trade shriekers that the passage of the McKinley bill would kill our foreign trade. That was not a false statement it was a deliberate lie. They knew it would not, even while the house was bringing thousands of men were being made.

Great Britain is called a free trade nation yet Great Britain levies an almost prohibitive tariff on certain classes of imports, and collects a customs revenue of almost $100,000,000 per annum on foreign goods entering her ports. The amount of revenue which Great Britain derives from import duties averages about as much per capita of her population as does our tariff receipts per capita of our population; indeed, England's per capita tariff tax has in some years been higher than ours. And further more, England's tariff is more truly a tax than is our tariff, because it is levied solely for revenue, and is in no sense—not even incidentally—protective. Notwithstanding the free trade and freshy boasts of Free Traders, the tariff taxation of England is far more burdensome to the people of that nation than is the tariff system of the United States to our people. Yet the free-trade empire would have no slander on our system to adopt the British system.

Charles S. Hampton, editor of the Petoskey Democrat and state game warden under the so-called "reform" administration, gives the last Legislature the following truthful setting forth. "The recent Legislature has proved a bitter disappointment to Michigan Democrats. It has followed nearly the example set by previous Legislatures. It wasted time, which belonged to the people. It kept by that disgraceful and cowardice principle of weekly adjournments. It passed no law of importance. It failed to redeem the promise of the Democratic platform. It wasted time, money and opportunity. It failed to make its promises of tariff reform, and it failed to make its promises of economy. It failed to make its promises of tax reform. It failed to make its promises of economy. It failed to make its promises of tax reform. It failed to make its promises of economy. It failed to make its promises of tax reform. It

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

THE OHIO FIGHT BEGUN.

A TENNESSEE JUDGE CHAZED BY REMORSE SUICIDES.

Francis Said to Be Willing to Admit American Pork Paid Exposition at Dentur: A Tragedy in a Hotel Corridor: Way Wrecks.

GOV. CAMPBELL WINS.

Renominated by the Democrats of the Buckeye State.

At Cleveland, Ohio, the delegates assembled at one o'clock at Sam Cook's hall and were called to order by State Chairman Kurtz. Ex-Congressman Neal was elected temporary chairman, and he made a prepared speech (he didn't have velvet) in the key of Grover Cleveland. He was followed by Allen W. Thurman, who also sounded the keynote of tariff reform. The reading of the resolutions occupied the time until the afternoon session, when Governor Campbell was renominated by acclamation. The platform adopted by the convention was not the most progressive. The new style renegade democrats succeeded in defeating a proposed resolution for an eight hour law and the free recognition of labor organizations. The platform adopted only indorsed what the Democratic party has done in Congress. The convention adjourned at 5 o'clock.

Governor Campbell was born in Ireland 52 years ago. He was brought to this country when a boy of 8 years. He was a soldier in the war of the rebellion, and was wounded at Chickamauga. He was a member of the Ohio legislature in 1875, and was elected Secretary of State in 1879. He was appointed Minister to Japan by President Cleveland, and was recalled by President Harrison. He was nominated for Congress in 1890, but was defeated by Major McKinley, who was nominated for governor in 1891 and was defeated by Governor Campbell. The new governor is a fine looking gentleman, of medium height, and has a pleasant face. He is a fluent speaker, and is a strong party man. He is a member of the Catholic church, and is married and has a family of children. He is a brother-in-law of Congressman Tarsney, of Missouri, and is a cousin of Congressman Bailey, of Texas. He is a cousin of Congressman Lawrence T. Neal, of Ohio, and is related to Congressman Bailey, of Texas. He is related to Congressman Cleveland, and married Miss Gertrude Thurman, a niece of Allen W. Thurman. He is related to Congressman Tarsney, of Missouri, and married into the family of Congressman Bailey, of Texas, and married into the family of Congressman Neal, of Ohio.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

TOPEKA is a lot free brewing under the official seal of Supreme Judge Kagey of the Supreme court. Judge Allison, of the Supreme court, has decided that the law is constitutional, and that the city of Topeka is entitled to the proceeds of the brewery, which were ordered sold by the court below. The brewery was seized by the city some time ago, and the case was carried to the court of last resort. The decision follows closely the decision of the court in a similar case under the prohibitory amendment, which was decided some time ago. The proceeds of the sale of the brewery will be devoted to drug prosecutions, which are in progress in Topeka.

AT Allegan, Mich., three daughters of Harrison Collins aged 15 and 11 were playing in a wagon when the horses ran away, throwing the two little girls out. The youngest was dragged, sixty rods. The oldest was crushed to pieces under the wheels and was totally scalped. The dead girl's father is a prominent Methodist.

THE house occupied by John Bailey, of Albany, Ind., was overturned to death in the night by a cyclone. The family escaped with only a few bruises.

AT Lansing, Mich., Office James Lemon, of the police force, was shot and killed by Jack Monroe, an desperado and burglar. From the testimony of eye witnesses Monroe killed Lemon in cold blood.

IN the Louisiana Supreme Court opinions were read in the cases of the Hennessey gang robbers, affirming the sentence of the criminals convicted of the lynching of New Orleans, and consigning the two accused to the penitentiary. The Court holds that the statute embraces false juries as well as regular jurors.

Four destroyed the Birmingham (Ala.) saw mills, causing a loss of $60,000, on which there was $15,000 insurance. The fire originated in a pile of sawdust. Mills, seven partly burned, causing a loss of $100,000, with insurance light.

DENVER, Colo., colored, ran amuck in Policeman Andrew Clayton, whom he shot twice through the lungs. Policeman Clayton, in turn, fired six shots at the fleeing negro, and killed him instantly with a bullet through his brain.

The bank of Commerce of Sandusky, Ala., which was robbed last week, has provided arrangements to meet all its obligations in cash as soon as the authorities in charge of the case, and its current business. The bank was and is now perfectly solvent, but for lack of currency to meet a crisis that was expected in result from the failure of Moses Brothers, bankers of Montgomery, it was decided to temporarily issue local notes, which could be shipped to the bank.

THE house of S. P. Anderson, living Strong, adjoining the Office, Tex., was struck by lightning, killing his wife and three daughters, all that were in the house.

AT Lamar, Ark., Mrs. Eliza Ryan, a widow, 85 years old, who has been totally blind for thirty years, had a bowl pulled from her upper jaw. When it was extracted Mrs. Ryan complained of having pain in her eyes, and later she could see plainly.

A LYNCHING without cause occurred at Leno, Bedfords County, Tenn. Samuel Gillespie was arrested for robbing an other negro charged with larceny. A mob of masked men surrounded the jail, tore down the door and shot him to death. The corpse has been found with twenty rifle bullets in it.

AT Middlebourgh, Ky., Francis Hurt, jr., who is wanted in Missouri for the murder of Thomas N. Moore, of Brown county, Kansas, was captured.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

THE employees of the Green Ridge Iron Works in Scranton, Pa., have gone on a strike under moral strongs. The men were recently joined the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, and attempted a social affair in accordance with those do so, conducted by officers of the order throughout the country. My friend Mr. Francis said to me, "I wish I was to get cent lower than that in the market." I said, "Why, Mr. Francis, I thought you said you were the largest importer in the business." He said, "Yes, we import more than all the others combined." The association declare that their pursuits, wages will inevitably decline. The financial crisis in Germany is traced to its farthest limit, is to obviate a strike of 50,000 men. The Prussian ministry is trying to reconcile the establishment of a system of pensions and to increase opportunities for employment, not in one or two but in a great diversity of occupations.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Coke Operators meet in Pittsburgh, Pa., to-day to consider the question of the Connellsville Coke Operators' Association, which has now a membership of 1,500 men, and which has been active in the matter of the strike.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

IT is announced at Rome that the local authorities of Genoa, a city of Italy, have released the United States Consul, who is their prisoner, and that the Queen of Italy has telegraphed to Washington to express her regret at the action of the officers of the Genoa, under the protection of the Queen.

FRESH AND NEWSY.

THE Collector of Customs at Victoria informs the department of the seizure of the schooner Ada, of the Alaska Port, of Seattle, Wash., for neglecting to report her arrival at the port of Victoria, British Columbia. The Ada, Alfred Zetterman, said she had been about to take another cargo of seal skins for the United States. He was about to take aboard the skins, when the Canadian cruiser Grim, of the Victoria, ordered him off the ship, at the end of which time, if the skins were not shipped, the vessel will be confiscated and sold to the highest bidder.

Dispatches received at Victoria from the United States steamship Boston and from the Grim, of the Canadian township, Alaska, show that they registered at a Boston hotel. They also found three seal skins on the swinging gas. Both will be tried.

WHEN Congress passed the bill repealing the direct tax Indiana's share was $70,000, but, pending settlement, the Government discovered that excess of the amount had been paid. No man in the Indiana Capitol knows where the money went to.

Attorneys and officers of the Indian Territory who can not show proper payment of taxes will be ousted. The order is issued by the Department of Justice.

WILLIAM M. CHAFFEE, of Illinois, is mentioned as the probable successor to Adjutant General Kelton, of the army. This is the first time in years that it has been found necessary to fall back on the general public for Army appointments. Appointments issued by requirements have exhausted the West Point stock. A score or so are being selected from the private citizenship ranks.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

THE annual conservative strike, practiced by the Knights of Labor and Branches of Industrial Organizations, has set in with unusual vigor. It may, with as very fast ground for confidence in a healthy condition of affairs, that the strike is a complete failure. Nearly 1,000 men have gone out, but the effect has been scarcely perceptible, the strikers being unknown industries. This conservative strike is an annual affair, lasting the year through. While money is now abundant and the country is prosperous, there are other causes which make it difficult to hold the demand for skilled mechanics. The remedy indicated is a greater diversity of industries, a wider diversification and distribution of the population, so that the demand for employment may not be compelled to concentrate in a few occupations.

It is obvious that industries so diversified will not be dependent on non-working men themselves as best they may, and will not be subject to strikes, nor yet among the few industries in operation, which are compelled to employ any special account than are needed to meet the demand for products. The pursuits, wages will inevitably decline. The financial crisis in Germany is traced to its farthest limit, is to obviate a strike of 50,000 men. The Prussian ministry is trying to reconcile the establishment of a system of pensions and to increase opportunities for employment, not in one or two but in a great diversity of occupations.

CANADIAN SHORT FOR THE BOTTLES.

A very powerful temperance lecture in the town of Montreal, Canada, President Cleveland's message and the Ohio fight of the McKinley tariff law of the United States, and the prohibitory amendment throughout the country has not been lost on the people of Canada. The Canadians will find other markets and go to get rid of their stocks. They will then "go on progressing" on the merits of the McKinley bill, and the Government they have been having a good search for, for the last twenty or more years just for their surplus products. Canada is a great country, like the rest of this nation, but the farmer, the mechanic and the laborer, and all other foreign consumers, they demand that Canada shall pay no reciprocity with other countries, but shall tax the products of American farmers and laborers, and pay a premium to the Canadian farmer. It is the reason why the Canadians are now seeking for markets for their surplus products. They average fairly well as a people, but they cannot be expected to ruin the United States or to monopolize the trade of the United States to boundary and keep. The farmers of this country are not to be ruined, and the Canadians will find that the McKinley law is working steadily in their behoof.—Des Moines Register.

AUGUST ENTERPRISES.

Dispatches from Berlin to the London papers make an emphasis of the fact that large numbers of the Jews ordered from Russia in a condition of pauperism are given free tickets direct from the German ends of the frontier to the United States. The correspondents remember

IT IS NOT A ROBBER.

THE ASSERTION OF FREE-TRADERS IS FALSE.

How the Tariff Benefits the Farmer—Republicans Should Get to Work—Wages in the United States—Short Political Gossip—Tariff Pictures.

Free Trade Republicans and Reciprocity.

When Attorney General Stone, of Iowa, was elected the Republican State convention, of which he was chairman, the remark—which was then followed by continued and general applause were these:

"There is but one reciprocity, and James G. Blaine is its prophet. Two measures appeared. When he first announced this gospel the Democratic party, under the spur of the moment, thought it was free trade leading to a more dazzling light than ever before. But when the spell wore off the reciprocity was in a Republican camp and James G. Blaine was its prophet. Which is? Here the convention again became wild with applause.

The farmers of Iowa have been taught a good thing when they were taught that the prosperity of their neighbors has to do with them it was worth taking to them. The farmers of that Blaine's reciprocity scheme is opening up new markets for their surplus wheat and corn products and hogs, and the wages being they long felt for him is intensified by the Iowa that he is a free trade leader. Free trade is a dream of them by adding to the selling price of their crops, and adding to the income the Iowa farmers have been

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, JULY 29, 1891.

The Fine Lake Regatta.

The terraces and verandas at the Charlevoix Summer Resort grounds were crowded Friday, on the occasion of the regatta. The morning race, open to all, opened with the following entries: The Argo, owned by Rev. Dr. Isellingwell, of Knoxville, Ill.; the Teazer, owned by Glen Allen, of Kalamazoo; the Mildred, owned by C. S. Corning, of Peoria, Ill., the Bon Ami, owned by Pettibone, of Chicago, the Mamie, owned by J. H. Kimball, of Kenosha; the Petrel, owned by J. Beauvais, and sailed by Capt. Wm. Cross; and the Alvira. The Mamie rounded the buoy first, taking the first prize, a beautiful silk flag, from the ladies of the resort.

The two afternoon races, jib and mainsail boats in the first and cat-rigged boats in the second, was only responded to by those of the first class, and the Petrel won the prize—a clock. The second prize, a chefloniier, to the Teazer; and third, a telescope, to the Mildred. There being no entries in the second class, the judges thought it proper to award the prizes of that class to the three prize boats of the first class, and the prizes were chosen consecutively by the winners. The prizes were two silver cups and a flag.

The judges were Judge McKeighan and George H. Morgan of St. Louis, and Dallas Boudeman, of Kalamazoo. The prizes were awarded in the main parlor of the Belvedere Friday evening, Judge McKeighan making the presentation speeches, which were responded to by the recipients very gracefully. Brief remarks were also made by Dr. Isellingwell and Mr. Boudeman.

The Entrancing Woman.

One needs only a slight experience in general society to discover that some has separate favorites in different individuals and that beauty, wit, "style," a gift of light conversation, depth of mind, are each their admirers, a fact that sets the ones on the outside of the oversoul circumstance to wondering what fine can possibly be in the particular woman in view.

Is there a woman who is universally entrancing? Is there one who commands worship swift and entire—a worship impatient of reasoning, that subjects to no authority but that of the sight?

If there is, we must naturally conclude that she possesses something that appeals to more than one side of human nature, and this does not mean that she has that diplomacy that is the beginning is perhaps nothing more than the desire to please the many but which often degenerates into positive insincerity, but rather that uncomposed touch upon her kind that comes from a very oneness, of her being.

Sorrow and joy are at the extremes of human experience and the woman who stands at the centre stretching sympathetic hands toward either one—Grief must be the one who is essentially charming. Like Tennyson's "Rose-pale Margaret," she stands "between the rainbow and the sun."

This woman of the sweet confiding nature, who is thrilled with the delights of life, upon whom is flashed all the beauty and grace in nature, and yet who feels about her enthusiasm that the storms have raged at the very centre of her soul, and that she has taken the hand of misery a sufferer, to discover in sympathy to the deepest grave of affection, is an enchantress. She is the one to whom the young come with their enthusiasms and youthful fears and hopes; indeed, to her, all are the springs of renewal within her nature that in the passage of the years time seems to have refused to make its sign upon her; and yet the middle-aged and the old recognize in her a friend and helper.

To her the knightliness of the manliest manhood bows and offers protection. Perhaps all men naturally are susceptible to appeals to the strength of their arm and to their bravery of soul, and this something in a woman's eyes said revealed, this touch of sadness, few of the stronger sex are able to resist.

Such a woman is beyond the art of the copyist. Spend their efforts as they may in trying to reproduce the fascinating effects, women who only her are never able to get a true copy. Sometimes they imagine that the secret may be found in a tone of the voice, or again, in a glance of the eye, or in the poise of the figure; but in the effort to adapt these to their own personality, they meet failure even before the first trial of their experiment is made in public.

But the entracing woman pays her price, in a sense, for her power. The rainbow that is hung in beauty in the sight of the many to delight, cheer, and inspire them, was formed through the mist of her tears, and when the glorious colors fade away, some turn to behold the lonely figure that stands amid the clearing skies.—Mary E. Dodgen, in Harper's Bazar.

Traveling a Corpse.

An Edinburgh who during his lifetime attended closely to business and rarely left his shop E. Kent has been on the go ever since he died. Two years ago he was buried at Portsmouth, where he remained until his widow removed to Highgate and took him along. In a year she went to Canterbury and took her former partner along and not long since she started to Liverpool with the defunct gentleman in tow.

GREAT SLAUGHTER SALE!
IN RIBBONS,
SATURDAY, AUG. 1.
One Thousand Yards of Ribbon in all Desirable Shades
AT HALF PRICE.
No. 5, old Price 15c, now 8c. No. 9, old price 25c, now 12 1-2c.
No. 7, old Price 20c, now 10c. No. 30, old price 30c, now 15c.
ALL SILK.
MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?
at GEO. W. MILLER'S
And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.
I AM MAKING A RUN ON A
BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

Norwood Notes.

My eyes! Just luk at the band now.

G. V. Nash left for Chicago Monday.

Large attendance at quarterly meeting last Sunday.

Miss Alice Seymour went to East Jordan Monday, for a visit.

This has been kite week, every boy in town has had one a flying.

Quite a number from here will go on the excursion to Detroit next Monday.

Frank Richardson took a large excursion party to Ellsworth Tuesday, a pleasing.

Mr. Clement, of Clement Bros., of Petoskey, is in town visiting his brother, John Clement.

The schooner Collins loaded lumber and bark for Milwaukee Monday.

Geo. H. Van Pelt shipped five thousand last blocks by Lawrence Tuesday, to Chicago.

Happy George, the well known Fakir, held the town last Friday and Saturday nights.

Blossom Goodrich and niece, of Richmond, Va., arrived Friday and are located for the summer at Dr. Lewis'.

Miss Inez Bartlett, of Harbor Springs, has been visiting her sister Miss Isabel Richardson at Frank Richardson's the past week.

Mr. Ira Mohlo, wife and child of Traverse City, came by the Cummings Monday, and will visit his parents at Atwood.

Two large bus loads of good-looking excursers from Charlevoix are their picnic dinners on the beach here, Monday, and gathered specimens of our slate and iron minerals.

Some of the arrivals for the week are, from Chicago, S. B. Chase, I. L. Chase, J. W. Meaker, C. H. Ferguson and son Charles, Miss Agnes Bateman and Miss Lottie Booth.

—Baxter Post, G. A. R., leave here Sunday for Detroit. They will be joined at Petoskey by delegations from other posts in the county, and all will have a car of their own. Good luck attend the old—s, and lots of fun.

Northern Michigan News.

A Chicago company with $5,000,000 capital has been formed to develop hardwood and pine timber districts in Michigan. They have bought nearly 6,000 acres in Kalkaska county.

Frankfort: The following advertisement, headed "Wanted—A Wife" appears in a local paper: "A widower, forty-five years old, owning a good farm of 160 acres, desires a wife. Must be a young widow or maiden not over thirty-five years old, dark hair and buxom. The party has a good farm well stocked and is drawing a pension of $24 per month; perfectly sound physically and mentally; has four boys well grown up and not bothersome."

Down in Hoyne Falls business is run on conservative principles, and when the morning rush is over the business men proceed to enjoy life. When mosh approaches the good businessmen may be seen scooting round town looking for the meat market men. They are usually to be found behind the town ball playing croquet, and one of them, Mr. Kinsella, has lost the most of his hair by being yanked over to his shop by irate housekeepers.

The Frankfort Woodenware and Lumber Company has just been incorporated, with a capital stock of $15,000, all paid in. The company has leased the R. G. Butler grist mill property, and will equip it with machinery suitable for the new business.

Charles Bormeister, of Frankfort, died of consumption at Manitowoc, Wis., July 3, at the age of thirty-six. His circle of friends was large, and all will be pained at his early departure. He was postmaster at Frankfort during Cleveland's administration.

The re-arrangement of matters at the Mercantile Co.'s store at Traverse City, consequent upon the death of General Manager Barnes, has been fully decided upon, but will not be officially ratified until a meeting of the directors is held in August. The title of the General Manager will not be revived, although H. Montague becomes Secretary of the corporation and assumes the financial management of the institution, in addition to looking after his grocery department. It is understood that the general policy of the corporation will be more aggressive in the future than it has been in the past and that strong efforts will be made in the direction of a considerable extention of its jobbing trade.

Petoskey Democrat: The condemnation suit of John L. Shaw vs. the C. & W. M. railroad was tried before Judge Page Tuesday. Mr. Shaw's property is in the western part of the town and the line of the C. & W. M. crosses it near the bay shore, which fact, Mr Shaw claimed, would destroy his water front and damage his property more than the value of one hundred and fifty dollars, which sum was offered him by the railroad company. The jury, which was composed of Petoskey business men, after listening to the testimony, awarded Mr. Shaw $150 damages. The Democrat is in receipt of a letter from Anthony O'Donnell, of Beaver Island, describing the destructive which has been raging on the island for more than a week. Crops are been destroyed, houses burned and a number of families homeless. Geo. Sweet & Co. lost their camp and farms, and later Mr O'Donnell writes that unless rain soon soaks the whole island will be burned over. The winds are heavy and with everything so dry the fire is swept along at a fearful pace destroying everything in its way. Last Saturday night a report reached the city that there had been a general fight among the Swedes engaged in building the new line of the Chicago and West Michigan railroad, out near Carpenter, six miles from Petoskey. It seems that Saturday was pay-day and the men had come down town and filled up on poor whiskey. When they got back to their quarters they became very belligerent and finally ended up by raising a disturbance in Fox's grocery store. During the difficulty, one of the men struck Mr. Fox and he promptly came down town and had a warrant sworn out for his assailant. Sheriff C. R. Pratt went out to Carpenter and arrested his man.——Wilson Bros. lost 150,000 pounds of whitefish one night last week at their fishery at Point Waugoshance, worth $600, a two week's catch which they had taken from their pound nets every morning and put into three staving nets and kept them alive to supply their trade here and other points. They do not know how they got out of the nets, as the nets were found in perfect order after the fish had disappeared.

WANTED—At the Bridge Street House, a good cook.

LOST—A red cow with star in forehead. Liberal reward for her return or for information of her whereabouts. WM. PETROSKOW.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and ten on Antrim street, also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

Were a Man Weighing 150 lbs. proportionately endowed with the strength of a beetle,
He should be able to move
198,000 POUNDS.
BUT HE IS NOT, and in nine cases out of ten cannot move a a wonan after she has once made up her mind to trade at Washburne's, who is offering new broadhead Dress Goods in plaids and stripes, single and double fold at 25 and 50 c. per yard as well as all seasonable goods at bottom figures.
A. T. WASHBURNE
THE DRY GOODS MAN.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.
DRUGS and MEDICINES,
PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE,
CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS,
STATIONERY.
Prescriptions carefully compounded.
A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

NEW STOCK OF STATIONERY,
NOVELS, ETC.,
AT
THE NEWS DEPOT.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.
The Detroit Weekly Tribune
AND
THE SENTINEL,
ONE YEAR, FOR
$2.00
Open for 30 days.
A GREAT OFFER.

H. L. IDDINGS, Proprietor
OF THE
CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.
Hardware, Iron and Nail Merchants.
STOVES
STOVES
& Ranges.
Heath & Milligan's "Best" Paints. Pure Linseed Oils. Varnishes, Stains and all other Painter's Supplies. Strictly "Guaranteed Pure" Paris Green, at Lowest Prices. Yours Truly,
July 22, '91. H. L. I.

FINEST LINE OF GROCERIES
and Crockery Ware
IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN.
A.

Cash Grocer.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
VOL XXIII. NO.-5. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY AUGUST 5, 1891. Jas C Miller WHOLE NO. 1,129.

"FOOLED AGAIN!"
"Well, it serves me right. I didn't buy my Paris Green of Hines & Co., consequently the BUGS GOT FAT and I lost my potatoes, but I know better now.
Now, don't you get fooled, our PARIS GREEN is the BEST ON EARTH, bought on an Iron Clad Guarantee of its purity, we sell it the same. It goes farther, consequently is the cheapest, and will never disappoint you. Try it and if not what we claim we will refund the money.
Yours for the extermination of the potato bug.
F. G. HINES & CO.

COPCO & CURLY
MAPLE SOAP.
FOR THE BATH.
Good and Cheap.
at
CALKINS & WARNE.
Druggists and Stationers.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - - $1 00 (Six months - - $.75 Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Zannie!

—Zannie and Steen!

—O. W. Smith has a new ad.

—Mason & Berdan have a change.

—Zannie and Madame Steen tonight.

—James Parsons made a business trip to Bellaire.

—Moore & Nettleton, real estate men, are on deck.

—Watch for G. W. Paul's advertisement next week.

—Secure seats for the Zan-zie-Steen performance tonight.

—Thos. K. Hanna arrives from Kansas City to-morrow.

—The aged father of Col. Dunbar is quite ill at the Belvedere.

—L. D. Bartholomew & Co. are having work for two tinners.

—E. M. Clark and wife, of Chicago, arrived Friday, of last week.

—The Detroit Tribune and the SENTINEL one year for $2.00.

—Miss Kate Merrill, of Jackson, is here visiting her sister, Miss Grace.

—Read Rev. B. H. Whitman's advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

—W. H. Downer went to Bellaire as a witness in a law suit, Monday.

—L. P. Eddy, of Grand Rapids joined his family here for a few days.

—G. W. Paul has put up an awning that comes under the head of "cool."

—R. W. Elston, of Grand Rapids, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. John Baker.

—Madame Steen is a wonder, and Zannie is a marvel. To-night at the opera house.

—Zan-zie and Madame Steen at the Opera House to-night. A wonderful combination.

—Mrs. Litran and daughter Josie accompanied Mr. Litran and Baxter East to Detroit.

—Gen. C. Mahon and wife, of the resort left yesterday for Duluth to visit their sons.

—The Charlevoix Hardware Co. call your attention to their advertising space this week.

—Madame Steen can tell you the year, month and day of your birth, and make no mistake.

—Miss Mary Wakefield arrived from Florida last week, and is visiting friends for the summer.

—Miss Clara Linsley, who has been visiting friends at St. Ignace and Mackinac, returns this week.

—When a good entertainment comes it should be well patronized. Zan-zie and Steen are "in it."

—Mrs. Elizabeth Dimock and daughter, of Chicago, are guests at the Dixon Terrace Farm House.

—Baker & Son's have the week past set up Champion binders on the farms of Mrs. Edwin Cook and Wm. Clark.

—The Rev. Wm. McPherson, of Lansing, preached two excellent sermons in the Congregational church last Sunday.

—Ex-Lieut. Gov. Crosby, wife and daughter, of Grand Rapids are domiciled at the Fountain City House for a week or two.

—The new Music Hall, on the Chicago Resort grounds, is to be dedicated to-morrow night by a select entertainment.

—See Newman & Laughton's new new advertisment in this issue. They are prepared to do all kinds of painting and graining.

—The condemnation proceedings in the case of the C. & W. M. Ry. Co. and John C. Miller and O. D. Wood is set for Aug. 11th.

—A dog belonging to L. N. McLean, went mad one day last week, and was quickly dispatched by its owner. Watch your dogs.

—O. C. Ainsworth, of Sandwich, Ill., is here with Misses Emma Wright, Olive Hodgens and Lucy Macy, of the same place, as guests.

—The Commander-in-Chief st. Detroit, to-day: "Is Corporal Tom Kelly in the line?" "He is, Sir!" "Then let the column move! Forward!"

—About twenty-five old veterans left Sunday for Detroit to attend the National encampment. They expect to reach home again about Saturday.

Harry Widdifield recently purchased Albert Ackert's interest in the new Mason Addition, consisting of eight lots. He has already sold five of them.

—On Monday, Cornelius Barry purchased the interest of Thos. Keating in the cigar factory, and starts out as sole proprietor. Mr. Keating left the same day for Detroit. His family will follow later.

—The much talked of "Experience Social" takes place in the Lewis Grand Opera House Aug. 12th. A varied and novel program is being arranged and will end with a grand tableau entitled "How We Did It." Admission 15c, refreshments free.

—There is a certain class of news, a sample of which has lately appeared in certain papers not a hundred miles from here, that have no business in a journal that reaches the family circle. That Emmet county affair is too horribly disgusting for publication in a family paper.

—Teachers of Charlevoix and vicinity, desiring to attend the State Teachers' Institute next week will probably be able to get passage on a steamer here on Monday morning. A boat will also be in readiness to bring them home on Friday. Anyone wishing to take advantage of this opportunity, is requested to leave word with H. A. Emrey.

—We are informed on good authority that certain Petoskey people report the prevalence of diphtheria in Charlevoix, and one person was heard to say that 200 roasters were leaving here last week Sunday. It is a malicious fabrication. There is not one case of diphtheria in Charlevoix, and there has been none since the resort season opened, and only one case in the past six months. Now try the small-pox racket.

—The Toledo & Ann Arbor road is to be extended to Kalkaska at once. It will be further extended to Mackinaw next season, passing through East Jordan Boyne City and Clarion in this county. This road will be of vastly greater importance to us than if we had secured the C. & W. M., Boyne Citizen. We are glad this matter of where the T. & A. R. R. is going is finally settled. We have worried over it much. The Citizen is entitled to the thanks of the public for disposing of the matter.

—The work on the railroad grade south of here progresses favorably. About 60 rods south of the river is ready for the shovelers. This work is on the old D. C. & E. grade, which is raised four feet. Further up at the Thompson farm, the grade crosses the wagon road. At this point there is a four-foot cut through the field to Stover's mill. About 60 rods of this cut is made from the wagon road south, and the work approaches nearly to the mill. Further up the line a camp is established and a gang are at work clearing and grubbing.

—At the Miller House: A. S. Dunlar, South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Mary E. French and son, Harry W. French, East Saginaw; Mrs. Annie Ward Porter and daughters, Mary I., and Annie W. Porter, East Saginaw; Mrs. Flora Morton and daughter, Milla F. Morton, Kalamazoo; Jas. M. Hughart, Florida, of his yacht Oldsmar; Dr. P. C. Cobb, Boston; H. E. Tuttle, St. Louis; Geo. Reynolds, Grand Rapids; W. M. Biggs St. Louis; Mrs. A. S. Blake's two sons, Alf. F. Blake, and Wm. D. Blake, and daughter, Marguerite Blake, of Avondale, near Cincinnati Ohio. Rev. Blake will arrive next week.

—The Sven-Zannie entertainment at Lewis Grand Opera House last night was unmistakably the best of its kind that ever appeared here, and was worthy of a better audience. If there is such a thing as mind reading and second sight Madame Steen possesses that mysterious power to a degree that is marvelous. A committee of six gentlemen selected from the audience subjected her to the severest tests, and she conquered every all. Time and space prevents our particularizing, but we will say that her demonstrations are wonderful. Zannie, the conjurer, an elegant little Frenchman, is a wizard. We have seen Herman, and other great performers in that line, but we never saw Zannie's superior. They appear again tonight, and they deserve to have the house filled, galleries and all.

Reaper Trial.

A large crowd gathered at Arthur Beaties farm Friday, to witness the trial contest between the Champion and Walter A. Wood Binders. A number of the farmers present drove both machines and all claim the Champion is one horse easier in draft, operates easier, and a superior binder to any on the market. Wm. Clark, after trying both machines, was thoroughly satisfied with and bought the Champion. More of them for sale at

S-28 S. BAXTER & SON.

THE SAILORS

Gossip For the Marines—Matters of Interest Here and Elsewhere.

Beauvais boat yard turned out Hughart's Yacht Chiquita, Saturday.

The schooner Willard A. Smith will be sold by the U. S. Marshal at Milwaukee to-morrow.

The schooner Hattie Estelle has been held at Buffalo five days by the Seaman's Union coaxing away her non-union sailors.

The oldest boat sailing the lakes is the schooner Racine, which was built in 1844. The oldest steamer is the Arcata, which came out in 1836.

The Charlevoix tug Parke with her powerful wrecking pump, which is always in order for business when steam is up on the tug, would be good fire protection along the harbor, if she was supplied with hose.

The schooner Surprise went ashore near here in the early part of the season. A Grammond tug came from Cheboygan and relonsed her in a badly leaking condition and towed her to Manitowoc. Last week she was libeled for a $750 wrecking bill and will be sold at Milwaukee on the 10th.

Which Is the Most Important.

Talking about this matter of a street car line from one resort to the other via Bridge street, leads us to observe, that while it may be very desirable, there is another matter that should take precedence over all others in the consideration of public improvements, and that is, a system of water works. In considering waterworks, the benefits of domestic convenience, green lawns, fire protection and street hose are minor in their importance. Their relation to the improvement of the sanitary condition of our village should prompt our corporation authorities to look into the matter at once. At the recent sanitary convention held here, the official report, which is now before us, the subject upon which most stress was laid, both both by State health officers and local contributors, was the poison secretions in the water of our wells, and the unanimous opinion was officially recorded that from that source came the diphtheretic germs that have in the past three years caused so much alarm. A public system of water works would at once solve both the problem of the public bath.

With our present system of water supply the evil of which we speak will certainly grow no less, and we shoulder in the consideration of what may be in store for us if our neglect of this vital question continues. Spasmodic outbreaks of that terrible scourge for a time inspire only spasmodic interest, and with the taking down of the Health Officer's placards we lapse into indifference. Charlevoix is at present free from the plague, and has been for some time; but reason teaches us that we have no reason to expect continued immunity from it.

We regard this question of water supply one that should occupy the attention of our council and people first of all. We can get along without rapid transit, and we can get around the streets in comparative darkness, but we should not compel ourselves to walk in the valley and the shadow of death when a remedy is plainly pointed out to us. The State Board of Health selected Charlevoix as a striking example of the filtration of disease, and, in order to awaken our people to the danger lurking in our midst, a sanitary convention was held here. What good has come of it? The same evils exist, and we know not how soon we shall suffer from their effects.

Don't talk about constructing street railways until you build a safeguard about the loved ones of the household.

—Mr. J. M. Garniss, of Hayes, is getting letters patent on a system of cold storage, for the preservation of vegetables. There lies on our table a potato over a year old preserved by the process, that is in as fine condition as when taken from the ground. Mr. Garniss says potatoes can be kept by it for from 1½ to 2 cents per bushel.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by E. H. GREEN.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.
Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.
REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.
REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.
REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.
REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

ALL THE PEOPLE
Have waited long for a Rail Road.
They have also waited some time for a good crop of Peaches
Now, We Are About to Have Both.
From now until the close of the Season, I shall endeavor to supply everybody with Peaches You may come just as soon as you choose, I have them, a little high just now: But keep coming, they will be lower.
Peaches! Peaches!! Peaches!!!
O. W. SMITH.

WANTED.
CLOTHING AND DRY GOODS STORES
IN LEWIS GRAND OPERA HOUSE BLOCK.
FOR SALE---50 acre farm; 55 acres cleared. Two Houses and lots in Charlevoix, on very easy terms. The Lewis Grand Opera House Block for sale or rent.
DR. L. LEWIS, Charlevoix, Mich.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.
We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.
Will take all the
HEMLOCK BARK
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.
BERT MASON

Furniture! FURNITURE! Furniture!
AT
S. M. SEE & SONS'
EVERYBODY COME AND SEE.
Our BEDROOM SUITS $15.00 and upwards are bargains. Now is the time to buy.
AND OUR PARLOR SUITS ARE FINE AND VERY REASONABLE.
Agents for the Western Cottage Organ.

SOME WESTERN SENSE.

A KANSAN'S ABLE ANALYSIS OF THE SITUATION.

Why Canada is Anxious—Reciprocity—The Reciprocity No so—Forced to the Wall—Canada Must Be Free—Interesting Home Matter.

Judge Jones, of Hutchinson, Kan., who visited Boston early in May and was interviewed by the Globe, has shed a good deal of light on the question of reciprocity among the farmers and made a very comfortable answer to the critics of his speech in Faneuil and Tremont Temples. The Judge is a Democrat and will be heard from in future years but the farmers of other connections suffered far more. The causes of this was aptly expressed by some farmer in his recent address. There has been an overproduction, this is the leading fact. The farmers of the great West are in a position where they have to sell their products in a free market. Their chief competitors are Russia, the farmers suffer from low prices, and the farmers of Canada, the two classes of their products that chiefly compete with theirs are wheat and cattle and they have to sell and that their of wheat in the open market.

There is practically no demand in the United States for Canadian cattle except for stock, even neither wheat and cattle are dutiable, the Canadian cattle are admitted free since as the lowest price will be paid for them.

The case of Canada is quite different. Her farmers are hard pressed to sell their products. Duties are imposed on her products in the United States. It will bring some concessions nearer to the Canadian farmer if we admit his products free. Reciprocity would be a great change. Which concerns his customers.

And, if we admit Canadian products free, we must do the same by the Mills bill or the Protective tariff, which amounts to about of 47 per cent. Canadian farmers have made no such calculation, they have never seen the population of at least 10,000,000. They would consider it a great advantage and it would receive our interest. To-day the farmers of Canada are very much pinched, hard times are upon them, the price of their products is reduced at home. It times Indeed, we are not in a position to be responsible for American influences to counteract their wishes. We are in a position to our market, and our friends, asking us to do what we can to help them. The Canadian farmers are not the only people who have been since 1890. In a short time we have had a very severe and exceptional crop season. His prices will then be satisfactory to the farmers of the United States. The Republicans will always be between Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, because their votes can be given at lowest cost.

Reciprocity Not Free Trade.

Now that reciprocity is working so admirably it has become quite the fashion to denounce the papers in claim that it is free trade in disguise. Nothing is more far-reaching surprising to these claims. Democrats are in the habit of claiming the honor of every Republican measure as soon as it proves a success, but this is not free trade. Under free trade it would be impossible to have reciprocity, for what commercial concessions could one free trade country make to another? This is evidently the English view, for the St. James Gazette says:

"We are endeavoring to fight the commercial battle single-handed under free trade, and with to fight it not on those lines in the latter end. But it is the most unwise and ridiculous policy to shut our eyes to the fact that free trade treaty is a blow to the success of our free trade policy.

Viewed in England, reciprocity seems to be something not only entirely different from free trade, but as a direct blow to the political economy of the Golden Calf. If we in the St. James Gazette think it is a blow to the economy of our free trade policy. Reciprocity is not free trade. It is some thing infinitely more Protectionist and hostile to the tenets of free trade than any tariff bill that we know of, as it is a direct attempt to open the markets of other countries to our products.

Judge Jones, of Hutchinson, Kan., who visited Boston early in May and was interviewed by the Globe, has shed a good deal of light on the question of reciprocity among the farmers and made a very comfortable answer to the critics of his speech in Faneuil and Tremont Temples. The Judge is a Democrat and will be heard from in future years but the farmers of other connections suffered far more. The causes of this was aptly expressed by some farmer in his recent address. There has been an overproduction, this is the leading fact. The farmers of the great West are in a position where they have to sell their products in a free market. Their chief competitors are Russia, the farmers suffer from low prices, and the farmers of Canada, the two classes of their products that chiefly compete with theirs are wheat and cattle and they have to sell and that their of wheat in the open market.

There is practically no demand in the United States for Canadian cattle except for stock, even neither wheat and cattle are dutiable, the Canadian cattle are admitted free since as the lowest price will be paid for them.

The case of Canada is quite different. Her farmers are hard pressed to sell their products. Duties are imposed on her products in the United States. It will bring some concessions nearer to the Canadian farmer if we admit his products free. Reciprocity would be a great change. Which concerns his customers.

And, if we admit Canadian products free, we must do the same by the Mills bill or the Protective tariff, which amounts to about of 47 per cent. Canadian farmers have made no such calculation, they have never seen the population of at least 10,000,000. They would consider it a great advantage and it would receive our interest. To-day the farmers of Canada are very much pinched, hard times are upon them, the price of their products is reduced at home. It times Indeed, we are not in a position to be responsible for American influences to counteract their wishes. We are in a position to our market, and our friends, asking us to do what we can to help them. The Canadian farmers are not the only people who have been since 1890. In a short time we have had a very severe and exceptional crop season. His prices will then be satisfactory to the farmers of the United States. The Republicans will always be between Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains, because their votes can be given at lowest cost.

Reciprocity Not Free Trade.

Now that reciprocity is working so admirably it has become quite the fashion to denounce the papers in claim that it is free trade in disguise. Nothing is more far-reaching surprising to these claims. Democrats are in the habit of claiming the honor of every Republican measure as soon as it proves a success, but this is not free trade. Under free trade it would be impossible to have reciprocity, for what commercial concessions could one free trade country make to another? This is evidently the English view, for the St. James Gazette says:

"We are endeavoring to fight the commercial battle single-handed under free trade, and with to fight it not on those lines in the latter end. But it is the most unwise and ridiculous policy to shut our eyes to the fact that it is not a treaty is a blow to the success of our free trade policy.

Viewed in England, reciprocity seems

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued.

The man and woman were vastly amused. Dick was pleased more than ever and wished he had been out of the way when the boys came in to show him in woman's clothes.

Hockey's drawing as the gallant cavalier were moving down to the road, and Joe was saying good-by to Dick, when a stare at him.

"Let me make you acquainted with one new member," said Ben, soberly, to Hockey.

"Joe!" said Hockey in reply. It is a fine name. "Where did Mitchell pick her up?"

Mitchell figured on the posters of Barnum's Museum, Aggregation as Master of Ceremonies.

"Joe! Joe! Joe! Joe! Joe!"

"Yes!"

"Joe! the boy you saw beside me."

Hockey looked, stared with all his right at poor Dick, looked now and slowly.

The Mitchell made no excuse to fall behind; he, too, stared at Dick, and rode on.

This was all strange and very puzzling to Dick. He felt the stares of Mr. Hockey on him as he rode down and walk. Mitchell, too, was his master, and he dare not to him.

"I will ride beside Ben, Dick. I will talk with some one else."

"Hockey!" said Ben, greatly relieved.

"Hey! we needn't make the change until we get into town, if you'd rather ride with Dick."

"Thank you," said poor Dick again, looking towards Hockey.

And then it happened that Dick was subjected to a second shock. He was passing, riding on the public highway by the side of a well-dressed man.

The gay cavalcade was laughing and talking, the country road, laughing and talking, the country road, laughing and talking, the country road. They were all "up" in the world, they were working and had earned set of people, for Mr. Hockey was the most jovial of the lot, and Dick could be gay.

He had the best company in the country, the best that money could secure, and he was happy, and felt happy, and felt that he contributed to deserve the world, for he was doing his duty, and he was as much as they really were.

Dick was thinking of the poor and the people who were employed as "attendants" in the ring were crowding a road, he heard a loud clattering of horse's feet behind, and he had to ride in single file to the right to keep out of his way.

Dick looked back, and he saw a man

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

CHARLEVOIX, AUGUST 5, 1892.

It was given out that both Cleveland and Hill have accepted the invitations of the Ohio Democratic state committees to stump for Campbell this fall. It this be true why not form a ring somewhere in the state and invite David and Grover to settle their little differences on neutral ground?

In advocating the adoption by the United States of the British system of free trade, the American Cobdenite is careful not to expatiate on the fact that Great Britain has 500,000 professional paupers, or one to every thirty-eight inhabitants. The United States has only one pauper to every 600 inhabitants; and we have furnished a refuge for a great many thousands of paupers from foreign lands during the past few years.

We have heard a great deal, of late about "farm mortgages" and in the same connection we have heard a great deal about railway bonus, monopolies, etc. It is undoubtedly a fact that the railway properties of the nation are far more heavily mortgaged than are the farm properties, and the number of failures in the railroad business is largely in excess of the number of failures in the farming business, proportionately to the men and capital engaged in the respective industries.

The Louisville Courier-Journal cannot forgive the Republican party for ever being born. It gives the party this delicate send-off: "The Republican party was conceived in the idea of 'the higher law,' and it was born of the denunciation that the constitution of the United States is a covenant with the devil. It drew its sustenance from revolutionary organizations and its cradle was rocked by hands that would have destroyed the union if they could." But the student of political history, can stop to pertinently inquire what that gang was up to that fired on Sumpter. Was it Republican hands that aimed those guns to shatter the bonds of the Union? Or was it not rather Republican hands principally that aimed the shots that knocked out the infant rebellion? There are two sides to the story and we prefer the Republican side.

The tin-plate schedule of the McKinley act did not go into effect until July 1, 1891, as well known to those who know anything about the matter. The McKinley law went into effect on the sixth day of October last, ten long months ago. The silly dream of some free-trade newspapers, under these circumstances, for lists of American tin-plate mills now in operation," statements of their output," etc., etc., is about as reasonable as it would be for a farmer to plant his potatoes on Monday, and expect a matured crop on Tuesday. The building up of a great national industry cannot be accomplished in a month, nor in ten months. A good beginning has been made however, and American tin-plate is already in the market. There is every indication that the development of the new industry will be rapid and substantial. If this expectation be realized, the McKinley law will be vindicated. If it be not realized, the sneers of the opponents of American industry will be verified.

New York Press: We invite the attention of our free-trade contemporaries to the challenge made in the Press of yesterday in behalf of an attacked McKinley industry. There is reason to believe that the increased duty complained of will result in American consumers getting the goods at a lower price as well as of a better quality; although the Times on July 10 claimed not only that the price had advanced, but that tissue paper used for wrapping purposes by jewelers and silversmiths was not made in this country. The manufacturers say they can furnish just as good a quality of tissue wrapping paper as the imported paper, at a price much less than the cost of the latter. They are evidently willing to have the matter fairly tested, and so far they do not hear any complaint from dealers who are using this paper. Since the McKinley bill went into effect two mills which have been idle for two years started making tissue paper, while several other mills which had been doing a poor business have sliced up some, are running on full time and have plenty of orders. Under the McKinley bill the $2,000,000 paid in this country for foreign tissue paper will go into the pockets of American workmen and another American industry is established. The foreign proposed in the Diamond Mills Paper Company's challenge is $1,000. Money talks. Will the impudent and their organs put up or shut up.

It is said of Governor Campbell, in Ohio, that he raised a million seven votes of pendacity his strength in the convention which nominated him. This is an example of political nonsense and judgment that amazes admiration. Now let the governor display his pulmonic again and predict how many thousand votes he will be defeated by Major McKinley.

A most interesting census bulletin is that which shows that the United States has only 97,267 paupers, one to each 643 inhabitants, while Great Britain, the home of free trade, has 908,155 paupers, or one to every 38 inhabitants. This furnishes a striking object lesson of the effects of free trade and of protection, as national policies. It would be still more striking on the side of protection if the facts were shown, as it undoubtedly exists, that a very considerable of the percentage of the paupers came from European countries previous to the incoming of the present administration, which has by its vigilance and the aid of a Republican Congress, which amended our immigration laws, reduced the landing of pauper immigrants upon our shores to a minimum.

Northern Michigan News.

Ironwood has a summer school of theology.

Big fires have been raging about vicinity east of Boyne Falls.

State Teachers' institute at Bellaire August 24 to 28, and a county Sunday school parade on the 12th.

The Mackinaw Island department of the St. Ignace Republican says that the hotels on the island are only about half full.

The Odd Fellows of Elk Rapids laid the corner stone of their proposed new building on Tuesday of last week, with imposing ceremonies.

We learn from the Resorter that the Seventh Day Adventists have opened a camp ground on the bluff above Harbor Springs and call it "Harbor Heights."

The mate and engineer of the steamer City of Grand Rapids have purchased the "snug little island" in Grand Traverse Bay near Southport, and will make a resort of it.

Prof. Walrond has declined the appointment as principal of the East Jordan schools, and will go into business at Petoskey, much against the wishes of the East Jordanites.

The business have received the announcement of "The First State Bank of Petoskey." From it we learn that the bank will open for business August 10th with a capital of $50,000.

Track laying on the northern extension of the C. & W. M. has begun at Traverse City and is progressing nicely. The river is crossed and the rails now beyond the G. R. & I. crossing.

Mr. Losch, the contractor at Central Lake, now has a practical railroad in operation, which is used for the purpose of drawing the dirt from the cut, through the village, and placing it in the big "fill" just north of the town.

On the arrival of the congressional delegation at the Soo last week a bonfire of etiquette was consumed but it is thus explained by the News: "Fort Brady would have fired a salute in honor of the arrival of the President only that a cat crawled in the cannon and an angle-worm in the touch-hole which effectually spiked it."

The hay crop of Northern Michigan was never so near a failure as it is this season. The dry weather in the spring, extending long into the summer, retarded the growth of the grass to the extent that many meadows were turned into pastures, and the fields that have formerly yielded a good crop of hay, have scarcely paid running expenses of the mowing machine over them. The market is fair for hay to bring a large price next winter.

The Chicago Times is authority for the report that a company has been formed in Chicago, with five million dollars capital, to develop the hardwood industries in northern Michigan. The report gives further particulars, and states that 5,998 acres of timber lands in Kalkaska county have been purchased, for which $300,000 was paid, and that saw mills and furniture factories will be established at Kalkaska soon. It is also stated that a branch of the "T. & A." road will be built through the recently purchased timber tract. All this may be true, and we hope it is, but a part of it may be anticipated speculation. However one important truth is self-evident, and that is that the hardwood possibilities of northern Michigan have attracted the attention of shrewd aggressive capitalists, and from this time into the far distant future values and investments in hardwood interests will be altogether freed from the timidity and uncertainty of former years. The long-expected era of permanent prosperity for northern Michigan through a proper appreciation of its unequaled hardwood is just beginning to dawn.

A. B. Dougherty, of Elk Rapids, but who for some time past has had a situation in the Senate clerk room at Washington been appointed an examiner of claims in the land office of the interior department, with a salary of $2,000 per annum.

Petoskey Democrat: Thomas Quinlan was called away Friday by a telegram announcing the sudden illness of his father in Vermont.——The new railroad is all graded and ready for the rails from Kirby's dock westward as far as the clay banks.

It is hinted that the C. & W. M. folks do not hold a valuable bridge across Elk River at Elk Rapids for nothing, and the Torch Lake, Eastport and Norwood people are yet confident that the Elk Rapids branch will be extended along one shore in the near future. Stranger things have happened.

The Game Law.

Game Warden Hampton promulgates the following synopsis of the game and fish laws now in force:

GAME.

Ely act approved June 26-'89, deer may be killed in the upper Peninsula "between the 25th day of September and the 25th day of October in each year," and in the Lower Peninsula "from the 5th day of November to the 25th of November in each year." It is a violation of the law to kill deer at any time in the water, or by trap or pit-fall, or by artificial light commonly called "shining," or by the use of a dog. Any person has rights to kill any dog following a deer, or deer track. The penalty for violation of these provisions is fifty dollars or thirty days.

FISHING IN INLAND LAKES.

An act approved June 24th, 1891, prohibits variety of fishing in all inland lakes of the state, except with hook and line. Even set lines, or night lines, are prohibited and it is prima facie proof of guilt to be found upon an inland lake with a net, spear, pack, dynamite or set line. This law goes into effect the first of October. There are many inland lakes which subject to special acts limiting the fishing to certain months, etc.

FISHING IN RIVERS AND STREAMS.

Dip nets may be used in rivers and streams to catch mullet, grass pike, redsides and suckers, but no other fish and not within one hundred feet of a fish chute. These same fish may also be speared at and time in any of the streams, except where a local act applying to some particular county, makes it unlawful. In streams not under the provisions of the local acts, spearing is lawful except during March, April, May and June; but trout, grayling and bass of all kinds must not be speared at any time.

SPECKLED TROUT, SALMON AND GRAYLING.

These fish may be caught from the first of May to the first of September. It is against the law to either buy or sell these fish during the close season. Trout, salmon and grayling less than six inches in length must be put back into the water. It is a violation of the law to catch speckled trout or grayling for sale, or to be shipped to be sold.

ROUND-NETS AND GILL-NETS.

The mesh of the head, funnel and heart of pound nets must not be less than five inches and the mesh of pot not less than three and one half inches in extension. There is, however, a special provision that pound nets with pots of not less than two and one-half inches mesh may be used for taking perch, herring and pickerel, but it is expressly limited to these varieties, and even a single fish of another kind brought in from such nets would incur a liability to fine or imprisonment.

The meshes of gill net must not be less than four and one-quarter inches in extension, but gill nets of not less than two and three-fourths inches in extension may be used for taking perch, herring, black-fins, and long pears, but this exception shall not be construed to permit the capture of other fish.

The provision allowing the use of smaller nets for certain fish is barren, absurd in theory, is liable to abuse, and makes it difficult to sustain the spirit of the law without danger of working injuries and hardship by enforcing the letter of the law, which makes no distinction between one fish and a bonthead.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, O., states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better, he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any throat, lung or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given of a special meeting of the school inspectors of Bay Side Cross Roads district, to be held on the last Monday in August next, at the house of Mrs. Mary Ann Bennett, in said Township, for the purpose of building a house for the school grounds, and transacting such other business as may come before this meeting.

Jackson, Mich., July 27, 1892.

WILLIAM H. BENNETT, M. D.,
President Bay Side Cross Roads District.

NOTICE.

My wife Ellen Bennett having left my bed and board, I hereby give notice that I will pay no debts of her contracting from this date.

ANDREW BENNETT.

ANDREW, July 15, 1892.

WANTED—At the Bridge Street House, a good cook.

LOST.—A red cow with star in forehead. Liberal reward for her return or for information of her whereabouts. WM. FERGUSON.

THACKER & GORDON

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.,	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, flat harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

THACKER & GORDON.

OLD PERDICTON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

MILLINERY!

JUST RECEIVED.

A fine line of

SUMMER GOODS,

Comprising all the latest novelties in Hats and Bonnets, Ribbons, Feathers, Flowers, Jets, Gauzes, Laces, Parasols, Crapes, an elegant assortment of Old Trimmings, both for millinery and dresses, and a nice line of Patterns.

I Have also in stock a nice line of

"CHILDREN'S HATS."

Ladies are especially invited to call whether willing to buy or not. An always pleased to show goods.

MRS. T. A. CARR.

HAVING RECEIVED my Spring and Summer Samples, I call attention to my $26 & $30

SUITS

In any Shade Desired.

They are the finest ever sold in Charlevoix. Give me a call.

JOHN ZWECKL,
Merchant Tailor.

Charlevoix, Mich.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

☞ Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,

Dealer in

Rutenburg Milling Co.'s

FLOUR, FEED, BRAN

ETC.

IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

Take The Sentinel

T. J. CANNON

Has opened a

NEW BAKERY,

Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of

BAKED GOODS,

always on hand.

Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered in any part of the village. Fresh bread every morning, and a full line of Confectionery, Fruits, Nuts, Tobacco, Cigars, an elegant assortment of Old Trimmings, both for millinery and dresses, and a nice line of Patterns.

I Have also in stock a nice line of

"CHILDREN'S HATS."

Ladies are especially invited to call whether willing to buy or not. An always pleased to show goods.

MRS. T. A. CARR.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

For Sale or Exchange.

For property in Charlevoix,

A STORE AND DWELLING

In Northern Michigan. Will locate in a good business location. Address LOCK BOX 76, Charlevoix.

For the Finest

Job Work,

GO TO THE

SENTINEL OFFICE.

5 BUYS POUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL

ALLEN B. WRISLEY'S OLD COUNTRY SOAP.

Call and see . . . .

A JAUNTY NECKLACE OF LOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, ETC.

SILVER TABLE WARE, CHARLEVOIX SOUVENIR SPOONS.

AGATE JEWELRY, SATIN BEAD JEWELRY, POCKET AND TOILET JEWELRY.

Also, a Full Line of OPTICAL GOODS, IN WHITE AND SMOKED.

Especial attention given to all Repairs. All goods subject to sale after six months.

. . . . . C. R. Bellinger.

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton St., and to one block, with nice house, nicely painted, on outside. Inquire of

PROF. G. M. PICE,
Escanaba, Mich.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

DR. MILES'
PORTUGUESE NERVINE
CURES
ALL NERVOUS DISEASES
SPASMS, FITS, NERVOUSNESS, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS HEADACHE, PARALYSIS, ST. VITUS DANCE, EPILEPSY, NEURALGIA, HYSTERIA, DIZZINESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION CAUSED BY THE USE OF STIMULANTS, TOBACCO OR THE WORK OF A TYRANT.

Nervous Prostration,

Sleeplessness, Weak and Nervous Headaches, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Spinal Pains, Hot Flashes, Nervous Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Convulsions, Fits, St. Vitus Dance, Epilepsy, Hysteria, Fits, St. Vitus Dance, Insanity, Fits, St. Vitus Dance, Epilepsy, Hysteria, Fits, St. Vitus Dance, Epilepsy, Hysteria, Fits, St. Vitus Dance, Epilepsy, Hysteria

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.

CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN

DOINGS OF THE DAY.

SUMMARY OF LATE NEWS BY WIRE.

Beautiful Happenings in Every Nooks Hamlisphere—Fires, Accidents, Casualties, Elections, Legislation, Conventions and Gossip Handsketched with Minor Adjetive.

TURMOIL IN CHINA

The Southern Fleet on the Yangtze Engaged in a Sham of Battle.

DISPATCHES received by the steamer Empress of India state that the attitude of the southern portion of China is in a perfect state of lawless order and at defiance, and around Hankow all active business is almost impossible. Hung Hsiang, commander of the Hunan forces, has had hard fighting with and succeeded in driving the rebels from Hankow, and it is believed that the Imperialists and a goodly number of the rebels are now in the vicinity of Hankow.

AT Canton, the special war fever is at its height, in the opinion, in April, 1900, of the Hunan and four of the Imperial troops, stationed there, have joined the rebels, and are now in possession of the city. Hung Hsiang, the commander of the Imperial forces, is reported within six miles of Canton, and that he intends to attack the city, and that he has ordered the Imperial fleet to join the land forces in the attack. It is reported that the Imperial troops have mutinied in Canton, and that the rebels are in possession of the city.

AT Shang Kiu, in Lower Chinese waters, the Imperial fleet, consisting of three gunboats, and the rebel fleet, consisting of two gunboats, and a number of smaller craft, had a skirmish, in which the Imperial fleet was defeated and the rebel fleet remained in possession of the city.

AT Shang Kiu, the rebels have fortified the city, and have placed a number of guns in position, and have made it ready for a siege. The Imperial troops are now in the vicinity of the city, and it is believed that a battle will be fought in the near future.

GREENBACKS FOR THE MASSES.

Heavy Shipments of Gold Coming in Most Unexpectedly.

THE shipments of currency to the West and the shipment of the Canadian Bank, the sale of stocks of small notes being thought to be due day from the West, the withdrawal of Dominion exchange for deposits in New York.

TASTE ALL ALIKE.

Standing of the Different Candidates in the Latest Contest.

FOLLOWING is a tabulation of the standing of the different candidates.

CITY.	CITY.	CITY.	CITY.
Chicago	41	Cincinnati	3
Boston	10	Pittsburgh	3
Philadelphia	6	Cleveland	2
Washington	4	St. Louis	1
Baltimore	4	Detroit	1

STATE.	STATE.	STATE.	STATE.
Illinois	8	Ohio	2
Massachusetts	5	New York	2
Pennsylvania	4	Maryland	1
Indiana	3	Michigan	1

STATES.	STATES.	STATES.	STATES.
Alabama	1	Kansas	1
Arkansas	1	Kentucky	1
California	1	Minnesota	1
Colorado	1	Nebraska	1
Connecticut	1	New Jersey	1
Dakota	1	Tennessee	1
Georgia	1	Texas	1
Iowa	1	Vermont	1
Maine	1	Wisconsin	1

SOUTHERN INCIDENTS

A SYRIAN Temperance Assembly under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is being held at Asheville, N. C., with a large attendance. It will continue for six days. Among those who are taking a prominent part in the proceedings are Mrs. Dr. Dabis, the president, Mrs. Dr. Mary Woods, President of the North Carolina Union, and Miss Frances Willard. Among the Miss Mary Allen Wood and Miss Mary Lathrop representing the West.

THE New Orleans mint has commenced bullion deposits for the first time since 1861 and the first gold bullion deposit since the war.

A STRIKE of 1,000 men at the Nottingham colliery, near Pittsburgh, has put an end to a year's idleness. The men agreed to the reduction of 10 cents per ton in the price of mining.

(Continued on Page 2.)

MICHIGAN'S MILITIA.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT OF CITIZEN SOLDIERS.

Showing Made by the Military of that State—Interesting Features of Camp Life Described by the Special War Correspondent.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

WORTH LAKE, The rolling sand dunes of this State assembled now and erected their tents preparatory to their annual week of military discipline.

THE morning was—they—clear and sharp was the morning greeting of the Imperial Patrol, as it made the first round of the day. A few glimpses here the owner of a tent would see the sentinel, with rifle across his breast, and as the boys rolled out of their blankets they became the good-tempered brigade commander found occasion to indulge their morning dreams.

THE morning, following the dawn from the pearly tints, was a study in fog and dampness. Nature seemed to have taken a quiet pique, yet with charm for Gladness it made the field of tents a scene of beauty, that could not have been made chaster by a dark contrast. The sun, shining in the East, soon dissipated the mist, and the white tents, standing out against the dark evergreen groves, made a scene to be remembered. The regiments were all on the Blue—corresponding to the gold lace your cap for a souvenir, for they are dressed in blue, and the Regulars are dressed under a leaf of service they had eaten their country soil, the army had shown for consolidation they had loved from their cradle days.

MESS TENT.

BREAKFAST DISPATCHED.

ACTION OF THE CAMP.

"Yankee Doodle" was the first tune you used Peace' sung! Nor thought I the tender of one of the tents of the Navy, some sources did not impress me as being of the best quality. The cots were good, the mattresses were good, the bedding was good, and the tents were good, but the tent was so small that had given the occupants the impression that the room was wanted and was needed, and the occupants were of the young variety. The trouble arose from a lack of proper discipline.

THE GUARD LINE.

WM H. POOR, the Louisville author, who disappeared some time ago with a large amount of money, has been located in the city of Mexico, and is held by the police.

THE ship launched at Vancouver, B. C., on Christmas for the war was 52, 10 feet in length and 10 feet beam for seven years. The amount cost had from $40 thousand to $50.

E. G. BIX & CO.'S weekly review of trade says:

Dun's weekly gives somewhat more than usual prominence to the failures in the west. At Eastern cities there is activity and increased demand for manufactured goods with larger call for materials. As the West trade is delivered by the large jobbers it is worst when already harvested and thrown into the hands of the trade. Prices are lower, though in the case of the west are also favorable, as to procurement. Wheat has fluctuated but has had no general cause for the season and at suspicion of a large crop has unsettled the speculation at New York have charged decline, but at the close of the week it is 3c. lower, and per cent. less than for the same week last year. On the other hand, the Pacific Northwest reports at this point show an increase from the week before, and for the month of March, the total is larger than for any month since the year 1892, and the largest quarterly exhibit in the history of business Failures occurring throughout the country during the last week, are 212 as compared with a total of 247 last week and 189 the week before.

MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO.
CATTLE—Common to Prime		$3.00	$5.60
HOGS—Shipping Grades		5.00	5.40
SHEEP—Fair to Choice		4.00	5.75
FLOUR—Winter Wheat		3.00	3.40
WHEAT—No. 2 Red		78	78
CORN—No. 2		38	38
OATS—No. 2		26	26
RYE—No. 2		50	50
BUTTER—Choice Creamery		14	18
EGGS—Fresh		12	12
POTATOES—New (PER BUSHEL)		1.00	1.50
BEANS—Hand-Picked		1.50	1.60
BRAN—In Bulk		13.50	14.00
HAY—Choice Timothy		8.00	8.50
PORK—Mess		9.50	9.75
LARD—Steam		5.30	5.35
DETROIT.
CATTLE—Best Steers		$3.50	$4.00
HOGS—Yorkers		5.00	5.25
SHEEP—Fair to Choice		3.50	4.50
FLOUR—Winter Wheat		3.00	3.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red		78	78
CORN—No. 2 Yellow		38	38
OATS—No. 2 White		27	27
RYE—No. 2		50	50
BUTTER—Creamery		17	18
EGGS—Fresh		12	12
POTATOES—New (PER BUSHEL)		1.00	1.50
BEANS—Hand-Picked		1.50	1.60
BRAN—In Bulk		13.50	14.00
HAY—Choice Timothy		8.00	8.50
PORK—Mess		9.50	9.75
LARD—Steam		5.30	5.35
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—No. 2 Red		78	78
CORN—No. 2 Mixed		38	38
OATS—No. 2 White		27	27
RYE—No. 2		50	50
CLOVER SEED—Prime Cash		4.65	4.70
BUFFALO.
CATTLE—Best Shipping Steers		$3.75	$4.25
HOGS—Fair to Good Light		4.75	5.00
SHEEP—Fair to Choice Mixed		4.00	4.50
FLOUR—Winter Wheat		3.00	3.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red		78	78
CORN—No. 2 Yellow		38	38
OATS—No. 2 White		27	27
RYE—No. 2		50	50
BUTTER—Creamery		17	18
EGGS—Fresh		12	12
POTATOES—New (PER BUSHEL)		1.00	1.50
BEANS—Hand-Picked		1.50	1.60
BRAN—In Bulk		13.50	14.00
HAY—Choice Timothy		8.00	8.50
PORK—Mess		9.50	9.75
LARD—Steam		5.30	5.35
MILWAUKEE.
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring		75	75
CORN—No. 3		37	37
OATS—No. 2 White		27	27
RYE—No. 1		50	50
BARLEY—No. 2		58	58
PORK—Mess		9.50	9.75
NEW YORK.
CATTLE—Common to Prime		$3.60	$5.60
HOGS—Good to Choice		5.00	5.40
SHEEP—Fair to Choice		4.00	5.75
FLOUR—Winter Wheat		3.00	3.40
WHEAT—No. 2 Red		78	78
CORN—No. 2 Mixed		38	38
OATS—Mixed Western		28	28
BUTTER—Creamery		14	18
EGGS—Western		12	12
PORK—New Mess		9.50	9.75

RUN OFF THE MILITIA.

TENNESSEE SOLDIERS CAPITULATE TO STRIKING MINERS.

The Situation Became a Hard in Which States Had Sought Shelter—The Scene Was at Wise Excitement—Every city Worked at Boiling.

A SAD story of terrible violence swept over West Saginaw, Wis., carrying death and destruction in its path. The wind was accompanied by pouring rain, and the air was heavily charged with electricity.

THE storm lasted only about thirty minutes, but during that period many thousands of dollars of damage was done, besides the loss of at least five lives and the taking of terrible injuries to many parties.

THE terrifying feature of the storm accompanying the rain from the cloud was a study in fog and dampness. Nature seemed to have taken a quiet pique, yet with charm for Gladness it made the field of tents a scene of beauty that could not have been made chaster by a dark contrast. The sun, shining in the East, soon dissipated the mist, and the white tents, standing out against the dark evergreen groves, made a scene to be remembered. The regiments

MESS TENT.

Not in a minute do they do the bleeding, but in a minute they do the bleeding, and the whole thing is changed in lines of the Colonel's tent. If he possesses a modest heart he must be crushed, and unmanfully tell the fair sure to be disappointed and a little pick up in the morning.

THE Thunder in a Rain Storm.—It is obvious that we are dealing with an old Hessian. The sales-commodore is invariably the most cheerful, and the sales-commodore is invariably the most cheerful, and the sales-commodore is invariably the most cheerful, and the Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, AUGUST 5, 1891.

A Wealth That Is Not Covered Up.

We read about experimental investigations, here and there, to uncover wealth that is supposed to exist in the earth. One northern Michigan exchange says that iron crops out in its neighborhood, another says there are unmistakable evidences of coal, while in other localities oil trickles out of the sidehills. In our own county there are dreamers, and visions of oil-derricks, and coal-cars are pictured in the clouds and reflected upon the glassy surface of Grand Traverse Bay.

Northern Michigan has great wealth that is all in sight, and only awaiting capital to yield dividends. Our hardwood timber requires no experimental investments. It is ready for the saw and the lathe, and ample facilities exist for its transportation to profitable markets.

One gentleman within a week, predicted the establishment of an extensive furniture factory here within a year. He said to the writer: "Now that you are about to have first-class railroad facilities, your wealth of hardwood timber has only to be known to bring to to your water fronts large establishments now in operation where the supply of timber is limited. I of one plant that is seeking a new location. It is here."

Another gentleman interested in the handling of wheels, last week said to the editor of this paper that he knew of no place so well adapted to the manufacture of wheels, as Charlevoix. Beach and rockelm, especially the former, abound and are of good quality. There is large profit in the manufacture of this article, and a ready market. The vacant site of the old Charlevoix Manufacturing Co., on the south side of Round lake, would be just the spot for such a plant, and the outlay necessary for its establishment and operation could be compassed by the business men of Charlevoix, in a joint stock company.

The supply of hardwood and basswood timber in the region easily tributary to Charlevoix by rail and water is ample for many other enterprises of a kindred character. We have wealth above ground that only requires enterprise and skill to bring large profit. Have we thought of what may exist in the bowels of the earth.

Undine.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bacot are rejoicing over the arrival of a young son last Friday morning. Weighed in ten pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Whitford can beat that with a girl which arrived Sunday and weighed 10¼ lbs.

Mrs. Emma Arnold is very sick with inflammatory rheumatism.

Mrs. R. H. Bennett came home Friday from Grand Rapids, where she has been visiting the past two months.

The J. L. Green took her thirteenth load from Undine Monday.

Mr. Isaac Willis of Horton's Bay died Monday morning.

Mr. W. C. Grandy, Mrs. Fred Smith and Mr. Stroud have gone to Detroit to attend the Grand Army Encampment.

Norwood Notes.

Hurrah for the Norwood band; she's a dandy. The trip to Traverse City was a fine one. Don't miss the band's next excursion trip. Dance at the ball Friday night; be sure and attend.

Henry Supernak has a bran-fired new jury at his house; weighs 11 pounds.

The young ladies from the "Owls Nest" last Wednesday walked to Eastport and back, making the trip in about six hours.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Trask, of St. Louis, Mo., have been visiting at Geo. H. Vanfelt's for a few days.

Phil Chase and W. S. McHarg, of Chicago, are with us for a stay of a few days.

Mr. R. T. Sleeper was surprised last week by a visit from his mother and sister, one from Iowa, the other from Mass., whom he had not seen in eighteen years.

Miss Jessie Treanor, of Chicago, arrived on the Lawrence Sunday and is visiting with the McHarg's at Geo. Foote's.

ARRIVING EVERY DAY,
NEW FALL GOODS.
NEW STYLES AND NEW SHADES.
A Good Trade and Growing Better.
MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?
at GEO. W. MILLER'S
And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.
I AM MAKING A RUN ON A
BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

Services morning and evening as usual. Rev. W. E. McLennan in the morning.

Baptist.

An entertainment consisting of Literary Exercises, Vocal and Instrumental music will be given at the Baptist Church, on the evening of the 25th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Further notice hereafter. 5-2w.

Rev. Geo. L. Mason, of Whooh-ow, China, will lecture on China, at the Baptist Church on Thursday evening of the present week. The incidents, experiences and observations of eleven years of Missionary life in interior China. All are cordially invited. No admission fee.

Congregational.

Services as usual morning and evening. In the evening the Rev. Mr. Gates will give an address in the interest of Foreign Missions, and our annual offering will be made.

There will be a business meeting of the Congregational church and society on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock to consider the important matter of calling a man to be pastor of the church. It is hoped that all interested will attend, as far as possible this meeting.

From Marion.

Mrs. Wm. Clarke was taken suddenly ill last Friday with a fever.

R. Gregory has the foundation laid for his new residence and Arthur Beattie has his new house almost completed.

The rain on Friday was timely to fill out the grain.

The Barnard, Eastport, Atwood and Spencer Creek Granges have united to have a grand picnic at Eastport, August 27th. Ex-Governor Luce will deliver the address. Other noted speakers will be present, and entertain the people. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Hayes Town Hayes.

John Ross returned from Cheboygan last Wednesday.

William House came up from Cadillac Saturday to visit his parents.

Lewis Benson has finished his contract on the railroad and commenced on a new section in the eastern part of Charlevoix township.

The grading through Hayes township will be finished in two weeks.

The rain last Friday night is making the potatoes jump, but it will spoil the little potatoes—make big tubers of them. Sell.

Forest fires still continue to rage in Hayes and the amount of damage already done is hard to estimate.

G. O. Scott removed to Charlevoix last Wednesday.

A. J. Hanaby, of Carpenter, is buying sheep throughout Emmet and Charlevoix counties and shipping them south. He shipped a car-load last week and will soon have another ready.

Ironton.

Uncommon activity around the Pine L. I. Co's kilns plainly indicate that there is a hen on, we hope to hear her cackle soon. Verily Ironton has a future.

It gives us to learn of Mrs. R. L. Allen and her sister, Mrs. Wallace of Wayne Mich., meeting with quite a serious accident last week. On their way from the Allen farm to Charlevoix in a buggy, a sudden start of the team from a walk, threw both ladies, who were occupying the back seat, which was not fastened, backward out of the buggy, inflicting painful but we hope not permanent injuries.

The late rain was hailed by every one with a grateful heart to the Giver. Serious losses to many in hay, wood, line etc. would have been the result not mentioning the benefit to the late crops.

Farmers are reporting the harvest of fall wheat No. 1, Spring wheat, oats and corn, looks very promising.

THE CHARLEVOIX BOILER WORKS.

H. Barth, Proprietor.

Will offer for sale the entire stock of goods, consisting of boilers, engines, steam fittings, tar iron, waterglasses, radiators, valves, rivets of all sizes, boiler plate, sheet iron and steel plate, boiler tubes, all sizes, new and second-hand. A variety of goods of all kinds. Call and examine, will sell at cost price and under at great bargains. Don't fail as I mean business. Reason—will suspend business to go away for time being, a lack of trade the cause.

H. Barth.

Lost.—On Thursday last, on road road near Lake Michigan beach, a summer shawl, white with black plaids. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at this office.

Lost.—$35 in bills, one twenty, one ten, and one five, lost at Emrys Warehouse, at Geo. W. Miller's, or on the street between Emery's and the light house. Finder will be rewarded by leaving the same at this office, or with W. H. Howard.

E. H. Green offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best ore hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

Buckler's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful Blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-1y

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise—a purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure Malarial fevers. For cure of headach, Constipation and indigestion, try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price $1.00 and $1.50 per bottle.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between Thos. Keating and Cornelius Barry for the manufacture of cigars at "Charlevoix" in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. Thomas Keating retires from the firm. Cornelius Barry will continue the business at the old place and assumes all outstanding accounts and accountable and pay. The business will be conducted at the old stand by Cornelius Barry.

Dated, Charlevoix, August 1, 1891.

THOMAS KEATING.
CORNELIUS BARRY.

Were a Man Weighing 150 lbs. proportionately endowed with the strength of a beetle,
He should be able to move
198,000 POUNDS.
BUT HE IS NOT, and in nine cases out of ten cannot move a wonan after she has once made up her mind to trade at Washburne's, who is offering new broadhead Dress Goods in plaids and stripes, single and double fold at 25 and 50 c. per yard as well as all seasonable goods at bottom figures.
A. T. WASHBURNE
THE DRY GOODS MAN.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.
DRUGS AND MEDICINES, PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE, CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS, STATIONERY.
Prescriptions carefully compounded.
A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

NEW STOCK OF STATIONERY,
NOVELS, ETC.,
AT
THE NEWS DEPOT.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.
The Detroit Weekly Tribune
AND
THE SENTINEL,
ONE YEAR, FOR
$2.00
Open for 30 days.
A GREAT OFFER.

Save Your Dollars.
BUY THE BEST.
Heath & Milligan's "Best" Paint has no Rival.
Read what one of the "Best" Painters in Charlevoix says of it:
"There is no other paint for sale here which which can be compared to Heath and Milligan's for covering quality, lustre and beauty of finish, and, better still, it outwears every other paint. Yes, sires! Heath and Milligan's is the Best."
Get a sampte card at the Charlevoix Hardware Co.'s Store. Try it and you will always buy it.
HAVE YOU SEEN ANTI RUST?
Yours for the best at the lowest price,
H. I. IDDINGS, Proprietor.
Aug. 5, 1891.

FINEST LINE OF GROCERIES
and Crockery Ware
IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

A. Cash Grocer.

Job Work,
GO TO THE
SENTINEL OFFICE.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
VOL XXIII. NO--6. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY AUGUST 12, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,130.

"FOOLED AGAIN!"
"Well, it serves me right. I didn't buy my Paris Green of Hines & Co., consequently the BUGS OT FAT and I lost my potatoes, but I know better now.
Now, don't you get fooled, our PARIS GREEN is the BEST ON EARTH, bought on an Iron Clad Guarantee of its purity, we sell it the same. It goes farther, consequently is the cheapest, and will never disappoint you. Try it and if not what we claim we will refund the money.
Yours for the extermination of the potato bug.
F. G. HINES & CO.

COPCO & CURLY MAPLE SOAP. FOR THE BATH. Good and Cheap. at CALKINS & WARNE. Druggists and Stationers.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by E. H. GREEN.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.
Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.
REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.
REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.
REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.
REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
ISSUED THIS EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - $1.50 | Six months - $.75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—See John Zweckl's new ad.

—Read Sherwood's new advertisement in this issue.

—McCartney & Co. have a new ad in this issue. Read it.

—E. M. Clark returned to Chicago Monday, on the "Soo."

—L. D. Bartholomew & Co. have a change of ad. this week.

—Regular meeting of Charlevoix Chapter, O. E. S., next Wednesday.

—D. A. Waterman, of the resort, arrived back from Detroit Saturday.

—A. P. Lenhabach has taken an office in Lewis Grand Opera House.

—Miss Edith Hawkins is back again from Chicago, owing to ill health.

—Mrs. M. J. Stockman is at Ocean Grove, on the sea shore, with Ohio relatives.

—Mrs. Ida Emery and Miss Lillie Carpenter left Monday for Manistee to visit friends.

—Miss Reed and Miss Adams, of Portland, Ind., are visiting Miss Edie Lewis this week.

—Miss Ella Carr went to St. Ignace yesterday to visit her friend, Mrs H. D. Wood.

—Will Jennings, of Cleveland, a brother of Mrs. D. Sherwood is here visiting for a few days.

—A. T. Washburn has an enlargement to his new advertisement this week that should be read.

—Godlieb Schiller, a tailor, from Detroit arrived last week and is working for John Zweckl.

—Monday afternoon, E. M. Clark sold his Main street residence to Harrison Bedford for $2,000.

—Dr. J. A. Carleton, of Chicago, joined his wife here Monday, and will remain here a week or two.

—Mrs. A. L. Jones, of Hastings, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. A. Hawkins, guests of Mrs. Isaac Mills.

—At the Breezy Point cottage this week, A. D. Stock and Misses Madge and Mabel Boutwell, of Hillsdale.

—Henry Barth left yesterday for Elk Rapids to work on some new boilers for the Iron Co. at that place.

—Most of the G. A. R. boys return home Saturday, and report a glorious time in the "City of the Straits."

—Harsha's Real Estate Agency reports the transfer of F. M. Ward's property on Main St. to Harrison Bedford.

—Yesterday the Charlevoix baseball boys went to Petoskey and vanquished their team to the tune of 13 to 11. Twas ever thus.

—J. Earle Howard, Assistant Treasurer of the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. Railways, with his wife, are on the resort grounds.

—E. D. Hines and wife, of Chillicothe, Ohio, arrived Wednesday, to visit their son, F. G. Hines. They will remain about a month.

—Moore & Nettleton report that R. W. Hilston, of Grand Rapids, last week purchased the Whitman residence, on Main St., for $1,300.

—Mrs. L. D. Bartholomew and Winnie will leave Monday for Milwaukee. From there they will go to St. Joseph, Albion and Kalamazoo.

—Mayor Uhl, of Grand Rapids, has his Kentucky thoroughbred here with him, and is the finest look'g equestrian in the whole resort population.

—It is expected that the ever popular opera Pinafore will be given at the Lewis Grand Opera House, Saturday evening, Aug. 15, under the direction of Prof. Arthur Nelson.

—Miss Agnes Dean, for the past two years a teacher in the Petoskey schools, has been employed by the school board to teach the grammar department of the Charlevoix schools.

—Capt. John Beattie, of New Orleans, accompanied by a nephew, from Chicago, has been in town the past week. The Captain thinks it quite probable that he will remove to Charlevoix in the near future.

—David C. Nettleton, who returned from the Dakotas, A. R. encampment Saturday, met with two of the comrades of his regiment whom he had not been in 28 years. Upon parting they engaged to meet in 28 years again if alive.

—Rev. D. J. Roberts, of Petoskey, will deliver a lecture on temperance, at the Congregational church on Friday evening of this week. The public are cordially invited to attend. The I. O. G. T. will also hold a public installation of officers on that occasion.

—W. S. MacHarg, C. E., of Chicago, was in town yesterday, on his way home from Norwood, where he and his wife have been guests of G. H. VanFelt. Mr. McHarg is the engineer of Water Supply, Sewerage and Fire-Protection, of the World's Fair.

—General Supt. Agnew, General Passenger Agent DeHaven and Attorney Wm. Alden Smith, of the C. & W. M. and the D. L. & N., were in town yesterday. Mr. DeHaven remarked: "I have heard much about Charlevoix, and it surpasses my expectations."

—The condemnation proceedings in the case of the C. & W. M. Ry. Co. vs O. D. Wood were discontinued last week by the settlement of the case for $250. The case against John C. Miller, which was to have come off yesterday, will be tried before Judge Ramsdell, in Chambers.

—The experience Social, the novel event of the season tonight. The experiences will be interspersed with music. The entertainment will close a grand tableau "How we did it." Ice cream and cake free. Admission 15 cents. For the benefit of the Congregational church. Everybody come.

—The Ladies' Silver Cornet Band will give an excursion to Charlevoix and return on Saturday evening on the steamer Hackley. The East Jordan Cornet Band will accompany them and furnish music for the occasion.—East Jordan Enterprise. What will the Ladies' Cornet Band be doing all this time?

—Married, on the 11th, at the residence of the bride's cousin, Mrs. W. A. Smith, of this village, by Rev. C. N. Coulter, father of the groom, Mr. L. D. Coulter of Detroit, and Miss Nettie Hawkes, of Charlevoix. The young couple left the same day for Detroit, where Mr. Coulter has charge of D. M. Ferry & Co.'s experimental seed farm.

—Last evening about 9 o'clock everybody on Bridge street was momentarily of the opinion that the street railway had actually materialized or that the locomotive for the Petoskey end of the railroad had arrived. It proved to be a fine new traction engine and threshing-machine on its way from Petoskey to Ellsworth.

—Three miles of iron are laid east of Traverse City on the C. & W. M. Northern extension, and the work is going on rapidly. We have it from reliable authority that the company will build their remaining dock on Pine Lake this fall. The five foot excavation through the Thompson lot, near Stover's is being done with tram-cars.

—Grand Rapids Democrat: Harry Chamberlain is a conductor of many years' experience and rarely makes a bad run. He was a fireman on one yesterday he embarked thereon for dinner, twenty-two minutes behind his schedule. He was due at his home at 12:35, and while sailing along at a forty-five-mile clip running will, he had about end collision with a heavily loaded bumble bee coming down on the same track. Harry didn't have time to put on the air brake before he was hit squarely in the eye, disabling his head(light) completely and precipitating him down the embankment. When he staggered into his home, his face looked like a camel hack locomotive in a wreck, and it was only after considerable overhauling that he was able to take out his train for Muskegon.

—Lyman M. Dunbar, the father of Col. G. Ellis Dunbar and Clarence, of the Belvedere, died at that house Friday night last, aged 79 years. The remains were taken to Kalamazoo, where the funeral was held Sunday. Col. Dunbar accompanied the body there. Mr. Dunbar leaves a widow, the two sons already mentioned, a son in Chicago, one in Kalamazoo, one in Sioux City, Iowa, and a daughter in California. Up to the time of his last sickness, Mr. Dunbar was a remarkably hale and vigorous old gentleman. But a short time before his death, the writer of this had the honor of dining in the Dunbar family circle, at the Belvedere. The memory of that hour's pleasure will remain with us. The venerable gentleman was as bright and vivacious as a man of half his years. The loss of such a remnant and such a site is a loss indeed.

—J. B. Martin, proprietor and cashier of the bank of East Jordan has sold out that establishment to Reuben Gleim, who has assumed management of the bank. The position of Manager of the Mercantile branch of the East Jordan Lumber Co., which Mr. Gleim vacates, will be filled by Mr. Chas. N. Dunham. This business change promotes two worthy young men to positions for which they are eminently capable, and entirely deserving.

ALL THE PEOPLE
Have waited long for a Rail Road.
They have also waited some time for a good crop of Peaches
Now, We Are About to Have Both.
From now until the close of the Season, I shall endeavor to supply everybody with Peaches You may come just as soon as you choose, I have them, a little high just now: But keep coming, they will be lower.
Peaches! Peaches!! Peaches!!!
O. W. SMITH.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.
We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.
Will take all the
----- HEMLOCK BARK -----
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.
BERT MASON

Furniture! FURNITURE! Furniture!
AT
S. M. SEE & SONS'
EVERYBODY COME AND SEE.
Our BEDROOM SUITS $15.00 and upwards are bargains. Now is the time to buy.
AND OUR PARLOR SUITS ARE FINE AND VERY REASONABLE.
Agents for the Western Cottage Organ.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Gordon is running again.

The U. S. steamer Hancock was here last week two days waiting for weather to take out the pile driver.

Capt. G. C. Gelken's new tug was launched at Grand Haven Monday. Capt. Gelken left here Sunday to name her. "Frank Gelken" will probably be her name.

Old Capt. John Freer, well known in Charlevoix and Pine Lake shipping circles, is just now conspicuous again. He is master of the schooner H. H. Badger, and his vessel has been tied up in Chicago over two weeks because the seaman's Union will not let him ship a non-union crew. Delegates are kept watching the vessel night and day. Capt. Freer is now going to prosecute the officers of the Union for boycott and conspiracy.

Religious Items.

Baptist.

An entertainment consisting of Literary Exercises, Vocal and Instrumental music will be given at the Baptist Church, on the evening of the 25th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Further notice hereafter. 5-2w.

Congregational.

Services as usual on Sunday and through the week. The pastor will preach in the morning, and the Rev. W. E. McLennan will give an address on Mexico in the evening. You are cordially invited to all of our services.

Methodist.

Bishop Gillespie, on behalf of the members of the Mission, desires to express his thanks for the exertions and patronage of persons from abroad and in Charlevoix, by which the fair, held the last week, was made so successful. We are largely indebted beyond our own household of faith. It will be pleasing to those who have been interested to know that $130 was realized. Very sincerely,

The Bishop and Members of the Mission.

The Ladies' Guild extend a hearty vote of thanks to Dr. L. Lewis for the use of his store during the late fair.

Hastings Town Hayes.

Mr. Dehmer, of Carpenter, had the thumb, middle finger and portion of the index finger of his right hand cut off last Saturday, by coming in contact with a saw.

One hundred in the shade last Saturday was a very good record for this region.

Clarence Hewitt put in a cooler and refrigerator at his residence Monday, for the storing of beef, and the farmers can have the privilege of buying a mine roast any time.

E. H. Sly's residence, just completed at Bayside, is as fine as any in this region of country. Bayside is a beautiful location, and next year will see a big change there.

This kind of weather makes the Hayseite feel like filling up with refreshment of some kind, one pokeberry to a gallon of whiskey makes a very good bitters.

Several of our neighbors across the border in Bay township are putting up wind mills this summer. Jacob Kahler is putting up a steel wheel.

Our pathmasters have been doing some good work on the State road the past week.

Norwood Notes.

Ezra Meech, Arthur Reese and Ed Wisner are over to the Jordan this week.

Tuesday evening, Aug. 18, the colored jubilee singers of Norwood will give a concert at Town Hall.

The road work left undone in the south end of our road district is a disgrace to the town. Van Pelt's rig was overturned there, and he himself was thrown into two different lots, and his driver, Col. Wisner took the involuntary bath in the brook. The Hon. Dickie Knight of Banks, says his wagon was all smashed to pieces while driving over it the other day.

S. B. Chase, Frank Chase, and W. S. McHarg left for Chicago Monday.

The J. C. Bauer loaded with bark for Nash Monday, and the Starks arrived Wednesday to load with ties. Her first trip since she was capsized.

Lamie Ferguson and Miss Lillian Ferguson left for Detroit last Friday.

The fires north of town have needed watching pretty closely to keep them from the mill.

Mrs. Steve Moore left for Ellenburgh N. Y. on a visit Tuesday.

Mr. F. O. Fisher and wife, of Chicago, Mich., arrived Tuesday on a visit to Frank Richardson.

Arthur Reese and sister of Battle Creek, Mich., are visiting at E. R. Harris for a few days.

Miss Flora Temple in her recitations at the town hall Tuesday evening was much liked. The instrumental music by the resort ladies, the Misses Bateman, Chase and Sauer was very fine.

Masonic.

Regular communication of Charlevoix Lodge, No. 195, F. & A. M. next Tuesday evening. A general attendance desired.

J. SPENCER, W. M.
WM. H. VAUGHAN, Sec'y.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN

A ROCK IN THE MOUNTAINS

BY ALEXANDER MORIE GRAHAM.

In a weary land I wandered,
Where the sun shone hot and bright;
Not a shade could I discover
To ease my aching sight;
But my heart was glad within me
Though I was a long way off,
When I saw the big, cool, inviting
Rock in the mountains stand.

Then I lay upon the grassy
Cool, and I felt the rest
Steal into every nerve tingling
With a thrill, almost like pain;
Then, stiffening, there with contracted
Muscles I strained my ears
To the sound of a mighty rushing
From a drowning mountain's breast,
Rushing, one knew, and knew not
Its destination and rest.

Gathering up my scattered senses
Out of a trance though weak and limp,
I, with a sigh of regretful pleasure,
Lazily rose from the cool
Shelter of the friendly rock
Still with an almost strong sigh
Active to continue facing
Unknown ahead of me.

Hilltop from hill—a bare architecture,
Stretched to the sky—I climbed
Mountain from mountain, and Mountain from mountain, I
Saw the sun sink behind the
With the water in their hollows
Reached into some valley
O the shelter of that mountain!
Where I had lain and slept
I like the mountain in a tempest,
Stood firm against the storm
Which had been hurled against me
With as proud with true courage,
Yet the shelter of the mountain
Lights all the perfect life.

THE STORY OF AMATA

BY MARGARET A. HOGLANDS.

The old adobe house is a picturesque ruin, which the wind is slowly sifting into the surrounding cactus. — Los Angeles.

In the year 185— it was the home of Senorita Amata Cebalos, who lived with an invalid father, who was bedridden for years. Yet she was not lonely, for a kinsman, Don Roberto, had left her his guardianship, and he was fond of her, so he used to come every evening, when he was not hunting or smoking in the vineyards, and the old women servants accompanied by her evening duties, the two would sit together in the wide hall facing from the shady stream near the door and know her lover wanted to hear the night owl.

The father and the old Senora Anna R. loved Don Roberto as their son, and the laws of propriety were less strict than in the Spanish cities.

How shall we describe her? Imagine the most beautiful Spanish girl you ever saw, having dark melting eyes shaded by long lashes with a round rosy little mouth, and dimples in her cheeks that seemed like dark velvet, and, when she pulled in her hair, more charming than any her fairer sisters may possess.

This, at least, was the opinion of Don Roberto Montijo, who stood beside her listening to the music of the stream at their feet.

"Do you know, mi amado, it always reminds me of your thousand of rushing water," she said, looking up into his face.

"To me also," he replied, "it is our love song."

As he spoke she observed a troubled expression in his brown eyes, and as it crossed her mind, pulled gently upon as he spread on the ground the cloak he carried and drew her down to a seat beside him.

"My sweet is heavy," he said. "Tell Amata mia, this my last visit for many months.

He saw her lips tremble and felt her hands clasp tightly about his as he forked his glance.

Then in a voice deepened by emotion and with a lover's tenderness, he told her that his business demanded his going to the city of Mexico for an absence of six and a half years. He would leave his inheritance in the care of his elder brother, and when he returned his fortune would be secure, he was to the land clear, and they could then be married.

As he explained the details she comprehended his necessity to go, in order that his estate might be secured against the Americans who were pouring into the country. She could not realize the value of land for other purposes than grazing.

They talked for a long time that evening, and there was much she said and many vows and promises to be repeated, for, as he said, they should enjoy the triumph of their loves through the long years to come, and would she remember it all—every word and caress, the sweet sounds about them, the deep song of the nocking birds in the tree overhead, the stream's music, and over all the clear, soft moonlight—the Cuir Serna moonlight that reveals even the color of flower and garment.

During his absence journey the sound of some running stream often brought to all her lonely hours her lover's words, her sweet courage and her prayer for his safe keeping.

After he had left her she used to go farewell to her father, they parted, she keeping bravely until he was out of sight.

Perhaps the interval of the separation seemed longer to her than to her, for she occupied quite a home except for her father and spending the tiresome hours at her embroidery—the beautiful Spanish drawn work with which she trimmed garments and household linen for her wedding day.

Before she expected Don Roberto also was the belle of the Spanish town in the valley below, and he had received several months against Senor Gasper, whom he still hated, although Amata was a model of faithfulness to him, having long ago ceased to care for the attentions of other men.

"Do not we again be friends? You cannot feel hatred to me, Gasper, this our last one day meeting her after more than the church of the mission, at 6 o'clock.

After taking supper with one of their number who lived on a cross-road below, they were to return home in the character of a vigilance committee.

Five Americans and one Spaniard composed the party. And that one was Senor Gasper.

"Are you sure his horses are the ones stolen from the Americans?" one party inquired.

"Sen, Senor," replied Gasper, "I am sure."

"Then," exclaimed the other, "by G——, we will give him what horse-stealing deserves."

The riders burst into imprecations, showing the sentiment of the times. Some horse-stealing and murder were regarded as equal crimes.

When they had gone, Amata hurried home. Her father was asleep. She told the servant she was tired and would retire early. Then she went to her father's wardrobe and taking out a complete suit, with hat and revolver, dressed herself in them. Then opening her window she dropped to the ground below.

It was now dark, but the moon would rise within a few moments.

She went up the canon a short distance and came to a place where the trail hid top road below, and there waited. After an interval that seemed an age, she heard the tread of five horses and knew he was coming.

Stepping into the road, she ordered him to halt.

"Who is there?" he demanded. Her heart bounded at the sound of his voice.

"It is I, Amata, who have come to save you. You are supposed to have stolen these horses, and six men are after you! Hide quickly; they will soon be home. Do not utter a word! There is not time. I know it's a mistake and you did not steal them. But the men are determined on your destruction. Quick! I hear them coming. For the sake of Heaven do as I tell you!"

He, too, heard them. "What shall I do, Amata?" His voice trembled in pronouncing her name and she knew it was not through fear.

"Hide in the trees. I will take the horses and lead them past, and in the chase you will have time to escape. They will overtake me and use it not. I will give them the horses, and they will not harm a woman. Oh, you foolish boy, I shall not be in danger," she said as he began to remonstrate.

"Do as I tell you!" she ordered. He obeyed, and in an instant she had dismounted and was galloping on the road.

Within they were talking she walked up the street, and now stood in the arbor in her father's room. Then she ran the hysterical begin to sob and tremble and to declare that he would forever hate her as the bearer of evil tidings, and that the only kind him because it would be heroic to hear it from the mouth of the man.

When a woman sees a man is either angry or distressed. And Don Roberto was angry. He took her hand and tried to soothe her; then rose saying, "I will go to the ranchero for a few days until I have thought clearly."

When you return to the village," he said, "call for a few moments, I have something to tell you."

He urged to hear it now, but she declared she had promised to be quiet and added, "You have suffered enough already, Don Roberto," and to parting gave him a look that would have stirred his pulses if a dozen Spanish women.

After three days he resolved to visit Amata and assure himself that all was a cruel mistake. But unfortunately he strayed north and west.

She saw him coming in the distance, and hastily calling the man servant, she hurried out to go to Senor Gasper's room, as he was absent for the day on a journey, and to tell her father to send a stilleto on which his name was engraved to Don Roberto, that he has left on festive occasions. "Then," she added, "rude servant, go to the home of Senorita Amata and drop this message where she will get it. Go a large pinch water. Do it well, return by another road and I will give you a large piece of silver."

He bowed, "yes, miss, you are very kind."

He had just gone when Roberto entered. This time she was still more afraid of pressing his hand against Amata.

When he rose to go the servant was out of sight up the road and locked not long behind.

Amata's plot was successful.

The Roberto Montijo came home before Amata's door and turned to knock, he saw the stiletto glittering among the flowers. Picking it up, he recognized it, and, with a sneer half—bitterness, half Amata with reproaches.

She did not answer, but bowed them, and, by supposing her confounded by shame, did not see the triumphant look rise over his and half frown.

She had not intended to be a ringer, but, when he returned his fortune was secure, he was to the land clear, and they could then be married.

As he explained the details she comprehended his necessity to go, in order that his estate might be secured against the Americans who were pouring into the country. She could not realize the value of land for other purposes than grazing.

They talked for a long time that evening, and there was much she said and many vows and promises to be repeated, for, as he said, they should enjoy the triumph of their loves through the long years to come, and would she remember it all—every word and caress, the sweet sounds about them, the deep song of the nocking birds in the tree overhead, the stream's music, and over all the clear, soft moonlight—the Cuir Serna moonlight that reveals even the color of flower and garment.

During his absence journey the sound of some running stream often brought to all her lonely hours her lover's words, her sweet courage and her prayer for his safe keeping.

After he had left she used to go farewell to her father, they parted, she keeping bravely until he was out of sight.

Perhaps the interval of the separation seemed longer to her than to her, for she occupied quite a home except for her father and spending the tiresome hours at her embroidery—the beautiful Spanish drawn work with which she trimmed garments and household linen for her wedding day.

Before she expected Don Roberto also was the belle of the Spanish town in the valley below, and he had received several months against Senor Gasper, whom he still hated, although Amata was a model of faithfulness to him, having long ago ceased to care for the attentions of other men.

"Do not we again be friends? You cannot feel hatred to me, Gasper, this our last one day meeting her after more than the church of the mission, at 6 o'clock.

After taking supper with one of their number who lived on a cross-road below, they were to return home in the character of a vigilance committee.

Five Americans and one Spaniard composed the party. And that one was Senor Gasper.

"Are you sure his horses are the ones stolen from the Americans?" one party inquired.

"Sen, Senor," replied Gasper, "I am sure."

"Then," exclaimed the other, "by G——, we will give him what horse-stealing deserves."

The riders burst into imprecations, showing the sentiment of the times. Some horse-stealing and murder were regarded as equal crimes.

When they had gone, Amata hurried home. Her father was asleep. She told the servant she was tired and would retire early. Then she went to her father's wardrobe and taking out a complete suit, with hat and revolver, dressed herself in them. Then opening her window she dropped to the ground below.

It was now dark, but the moon would rise within a few moments.

She went up the canon a short distance and came to a place where the trail hid top road below, and there waited. After an interval that seemed an age, she heard the tread of five horses and knew he was coming.

Stepping into the road, she ordered him to halt.

"Who is there?" he demanded. Her heart bounded at the sound of his voice.

"It is I, Amata, who have come to save you. You are supposed to have stolen these horses, and six men are after you! Hide quickly; they will soon be home. Do not utter a word! There is not time. I know it's a mistake and you did not steal them. But the men are determined on your destruction. Quick! I hear them coming. For the sake of Heaven do as I tell you!"

He, too, heard them. "What shall I do, Amata?" His voice trembled in pronouncing her name and she knew it was not through fear.

"Hide in the trees. I will take the horses and lead them past, and in the chase you will have time to escape. They will overtake me and use it not. I will give them the horses, and they will not harm a woman. Oh, you foolish boy, I shall not be in danger," she said as he began to remonstrate.

"Do as I tell you!" she ordered. He obeyed, and in an instant she had dismounted and was galloping on the road.

Within they were talking, she walked up the street, and now stood in the arbor in her father's room. Then she ran the hysterical begin to sob and tremble and to declare that he would forever hate her as the bearer of evil tidings, and that the only kind him because it would be heroic to hear it from the mouth of the man.

When a woman sees a man is either angry or distressed. And Don Roberto was angry. He took her hand and tried to soothe her; then rose saying, "I will go to the ranchero for a few days until I have thought clearly."

When you return to the village," he said, "call for a few moments, I have something to tell you."

He urged to hear it now, but she declared she had promised to be quiet and added, "You have suffered enough already, Don Roberto," and to parting gave him a look that would have stirred his pulses if a dozen Spanish women.

After three days he resolved to visit Amata and assure himself that all was a cruel mistake. But unfortunately he strayed north and west.

She saw him coming in the distance, and hastily calling the man servant, she hurried out to go to Senor Gasper's room, as he was absent for the day on a journey, and to tell her father to send a stilleto on which his name was engraved to Don Roberto, that he has left on festive occasions. "Then," she added, "rude servant, go to the home of Senorita Amata and drop this message where she will get it. Go a large pinch water. Do it well, return by another road and I will give you a large piece of silver."

He bowed, "yes, miss, you are very kind."

He had just gone when Roberto entered. This time she was still more afraid of pressing his hand against Amata.

When he rose to go the servant was out of sight up the road and locked not long behind.

Amata's plot was successful.

The Roberto Montijo came home before Amata's door and turned to knock, he saw the stiletto glittering among the flowers. Picking up, he recognized it, and, with a sneer half—bitterness, half Amata with reproaches.

She did not answer, but bowed them, and, by supposing her confounded by shame, did not see the triumphant look rise over his and half frown.

FAMOUS MARCHES.

Great Distances that Soldiers Have Gone in Long Time.

In these days of steam and electricity war is by no means what it was in the olden times. Armies are not now kept marching night and day in order to defeat some plan of the enemy. Men are taken from point to point on the railroad, and they come in with fresh and fresh and fresh and

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1880.
WALLACE A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, AUGUST 12, 1893.

It is estimated that the entire population of the world could be provided for in the United States, allowing each person one and a half acres of land.

Let us hear no more about the impossibility of civilizing the red men now. An Indian base-ball nine plays against a pale-face nine in Chicago with eminent success.

The Toledo Blade says: "Protection, reciprocity and honest money are the Republican watchwords in 1893 this year." And there will be the Republican watchwords in all the States.

Here begins to doubt whether he will serve another term on the Democratic National Committee. He has begun to hear from those numerous red-crown Democratic doubts whether he ought to serve or not.

As the Republicans have nothing to fear, but everything to gain by a thorough comprehension of all matters economic and political by the people, we hope that Mr. Clarkson's "campaign of education" will be of the most vigorous kind.

The people of this country can feel a just pride in the fact that they were able to stand a drain of $70,000,000 of gold to fill the vaults of England, France, Germany and Russia, without seriously disturbing their own financial condition. It is also gratifying to know that our contribution of gold averted great losses and perhaps actual bankruptcy in some cases. Another across of gratification is the fact that we have only lent the gold to them for a time and it will all be returned for our bread stuffs.

In 1857, the United States had a tariff, which was the nearest approach to a "tariff for revenue only" the country ever had and this is what President Buchanan said in his message to Congress in that year of the condition of the country: "In the midst of unsurpassed plenty in all the productions and in all the elements of national wealth, we find our manufactories suspended, our public works retarded, our private enterprises of different kinds abandoned, and thousands of useful laborers thrown out of employment and reduced to want." And he recommended a lowering in the rate of tariff duties. Is this the condition of the country today? Not by any means, and yet Cleveland, and the other wiseacres, still maintain that "the tariff is a tax."

The intrusion of the "color question" in the Grand Army of the Republic is regretable, and the recommendation of Commander-in-Chief Veazey that separate departments and posts be chartered for the colored veterans in the South is to be deplored. It is like sanctioning the placing of another obstacle in the way of a natural settlement of the perplexing race question in the South. Where the ar was in progress there was no color line in the brotherhood of loyal men who risked their lives in the defense of the Union. It is indelibly recorded in the annals of the war, "the colored troops shall not be slaughtered" and remembrance of the great internecine struggle are replete with incidents of escape from suffering in prison pens and stockades through the loyalty and sacred brotherhood of the colored men along the underground roads to "God's Country." The veteran who is ungrateful enough to forget the assistance he received from a colored loyalist in time of dire extremity is unworthy to wear the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic. The men who risked their lives to assist Union soldiers that were escaping from keepers that were pressing them with bloodhounds, and who also risked their lives in the field, fighting side by side with the soldiers of the north, should be worthy of unpalatable recognition by the great organization of defenders of the Union. Instead of being compelled to form separate departments and posts they should be taken into the general membership and all attempts draw a color line should be resisted persistently and emphatically. The colored man who not entitled to membership in the Grand Army of the Republic are not many, comparatively, and time would gradually remedy the difficulty and remove the danger of exhibition of ingratitude from the organization of old soldiers. The color question should therefore be permitted to work itself to solution naturally.

The trial of the Traverse City Herald-Tribune for contempt of court, in which the jury disagreed, resulted in the discharge of the whole crowd after spending a couple of weeks of the justice time.

MISSING LINKS.

A Hindoo journalist declares that "many ground hoods are trembling in their shoes."

An eighty-year-old man of Williamsport, Pa., has lasted for forty-five days and still lives.

A sewing gas concern in Brooklyn has become a stock company with a capital of $1,000,000.

Of the 11,000,000 square miles of Africa only 2,500,000 remains in the hands of the native rulers.

The kings of all the lobsters was caught off Monhegan, Me., recently. He was thirty inches long and weighed fourteen pounds.

There are twenty-six monarchies and twenty-five republics in the civilized world today. Twenty-one republics are in South America.

German medical papers report the death of a young woman from heart failure following immersion in cold water for baptism.

So disgraceful has become the penitentiary system in Georgia that juries in many cases acquit women rather than send them there.

Rose Hawthorne says that Emerson's memory became so weak at last that he used to go out looking for himself in the streets of Concord.

The output of whisky last year was 120,000,000 gallons, and the transactions in whisky are by no means confined to the output.

The fourteen centennials over the remains of the late Prince Chun, father of the Emperor of China, began on January 19, and are still going on.

A Wichita, Kan., farmer within a year has sold corn from one crib at 15 cents, 26 cents, 50 cents and 75 cents, and has some left for which he expects to get 85 cents.

Unless a Kansas editor lies there is an old gentleman in Hoosville, that place, who has carried the same umbrella every day in the week for sixteen consecutive years.

There are 10,000 women studying in the various colleges of the country, and yet in only twenty-five years since the first college in the land was opened to women.

One of the members of the Ohio Legislature is a blind gentleman named Palmer, who, when he is in the chair, can instantly recognize the voice of any member rising to address the House.

President Balmaceda, of Chili, is a stern and arbitrary man, with cold gray eyes, thin lips and an angular chin. He possesses more energy and ability than are usually found in a South American dictator.

"These are the days for the Kiplings. Pain Kipling has written a book about Indian beasts; and now comes the announcement of a novel by Moe Beatrice Kipling, the sister of Rudyard. "The Heart of a Maid."

Dallas Hunter, the fat boy of Green County, Indiana, is dead. He was only fourteen years old, but he weighed 249 pounds, and he died in his sleep, practically smothered in his superabundance of adipose tissue.

Boston is much cast down, because the Concord School of Philosophy will not meet this summer. Boston wants no music of the Theosophists in convention and ought to be satisfied.

M. Meurier, the French Minister of Finance, is still a young man, who has already made a reputation of extraordinary ability as a statesman and financier. He is regarded as one of the coming men in France.

Ibsen was entertained at a banquet of journalists and actors at the Hotel Continental in Vienna on April 20. It was Somenthal, the actor, toasted him as the "greatest living dramatist, whereupon Ibsen kissed him.

A farmer near Topeka, Kas., stored away 150 bushels of corn. Soon after storing it he did seventy-five baskets and realized $7.50. A year later he sold fifteen baskets and realized $2.50. And recently he exchanged the remaining five baskets for $5.50.

An artist has been looking through the Boston cemeteries and finds to his surprise that there is no monument in any of the cemeteries there that is worth over $5,000. The Chadwick tomb cost about $25,000, but this is not classed with monuments.

As Senator Stanford could not induce the Government to loan money to the farmers he has concluded to save to that class and will begin the manufacture of champagne on his big California farm. He has brought a French master over from Lyons to take charge of the experiment.

The French Society of Men of Letters, which held its convention in Paris recently, has a pension fund of $200,000 for old and indigent members. Its whole property is worth between $600,000 and $700,000. Its annual expenditures are $150,000 or about $5,000 less than its receipts.

The Paris street extending from Neuilly to St. Denis is lined with tumbledown tenements that are said to shelter more vice and iniquity than can be found in any other spot in the world. The houses throng with criminals. The street is known as the "House in Revolte."

The commander of the St. Petersburg police has issued an order that if a house owner is in arrears with his water taxes he is to be compelled by police measures to pay them. But the water supply is not to be cut off, in order that the tenants shall not suffer for the delinquency of the landlord.

In 1862 Arthur M. Gray, of Cincinnati, sold a piece of land for $2.25, which is thus described in the deed: "The 1-64,000 part of an inch from the n. e. corner of lot No. 23, and running south 1-4 of an in.; thence w. to the west line of said lot; thence n. 1-4 of an inch; thence e. to point of beginning." This is probably the smallest real estate transaction on record.

The latest fad among society ladies in Omaha, Neb., is to have a tiny diamond ring in a full's stomach. The ring is of handsome design and contains two small stones set in a circle, with one larger than the rest in the center. Inside the band on the lower side are engraved the letters S. E. L. The ring is a valuable one probably worth from $100 to $125.

A St. Petersburg lady of fashion has invented an improvement in her corset which, the local papers say, is likely to become popular with all the ladies of her rank. She has a mirror fastened to the girdle of her driver when she takes a drive. This enables her not only to see whether her bodyguard and drawn are in perfect order, but even to notice the carriages and the people who are coming up behind her vehicle.

Russia claims to possess the oldest soldier in the world in Colonel Gurgenoko, of Poltawa, near Odessa, who on Feb. 7 celebrated his one hundred and seventeenth birthday. Entering the service in 1792, over one hundred years ago, he received from the hands of his Imperial Majesty, after the taking of Ismail, where he was serving under Suwarroff, the military gold medal. This bears the inscription: "For exceptional bravery at the assault of Ismail, Dec. 11, 1790."

Phillips Brooks was asked some time ago to furnish a sketch of his career for the record of his class in Harvard, and replied in the following characteristic fashion: "I shall certainly be at commencement, and shall not miss the dinner on commencement day. As to your question, I have little to say. I have had no wife, no children, no particular honors, no serious misfortune, and no adventures worth speaking of. It is shameful, at such times as these, not to have a history; but I have not got one, and must come off out."

WAS CHANT A MEDIUM?

The Theosophists Claim that He Was an "Elementary," and that the Union Was Saved By the Mahatmas.

Old soldiers know the story of "the wraith of New Hope Church." In the Atlanta campaign the Union and Confederate armies lay in the pine woods waiting for morning, which was to bring battle. It was in the immediate vicinity of New Hope Church. At daybreak the Confederate line was formed. Suddenly and almost noiselessly swept down the Confederate battle line a dazzling flash of lightning. This visitation did more than blind the eyes of the Confederates for a few moments. It left in its wake a feeling of depression and of nervous dread which did not wear off as the day went on. The Union forces advanced. The skirmish spirit and fire of the Confederate veteran troops was gone. Officers could not hold the line in its place. Before a whole, the like of which had been repeated with one or other frequency, the front wavered and fell backward. At every victory was won for the Union.

"I have thought often of that affair," said the theosophist, dropping his voice in confidential tone, "and my conclusion is that a mahatma or master interfered on that occasion in behalf of the Union side and produced that effect upon the Confederates which took the fight out of them. I have talked with those who have been theosophists longer than I have and who have attained higher development. They tell me there is no doubt that the mahatmas do interfere at times to shape the affairs of men. All of the civilizations, to my mind, are that the battle of New Hope Church was one of those times."

This theosophist resides in a city at some distance from Boston. He follows the unspiritual vocation of a real estate agent. But his leisure he gives to the reading of theosophical literature and to deep meditation upon theosophical subjects. He shuts himself up in his room and for hours is wrapped in thought. Finding that general news and literature tend to distract his attention and to hinder his mental concentration he has almost given up reading newspapers and books not in the line of theosophical development.

"Some time ago I went down into a portion of the city where mostly poor people live to look after some rent," this theosophist said. "I had been giving considerable attention to reading and study, but had not progressed as far in occult power as I have since. I entered a rather squalid court, and stopped at a house where a negro lived. The man was not at home. To my astonishment a white woman of inelegant appearance came to the door. She looked down upon me with great dignity. She used the choicest language. I said to myself, it is possible this white lady is living here as the companion of a negro man. Then it looked I saw that the lower part of the face was not distinct. A part of the chin did not present a clear outline. Not until after I had made my inquiries and started away did I begin to realize what had happened. And if the full knowledge did not come to me until the next week, I want facts again to see about that year. This time an ordinary negro woman, such as might have been looked for in such a place, came to the door. I treated my business, and in the course of the few moments' conversation I asked her if she was the person I had seen there the previous week. She said she was and showed a recollection of what had occurred, at that time. Then I was pretty well convinced of what before had been an impression on my mind. One of the mahatmas had taken possession of this negro woman upon my previous visit, and this revelation had been made to me to encourage me in my theosophical studies and to show me that I was progressing in spiritual development. I told Mr. Judge about what I had seen and he said at once that there was no doubt my conclusion was correct. The mahatmas do mold men, often unaffected their presence in some such way to initiate in the earlier stages of development. You see the negro woman was an elementary. Mahatmas know beforehand and just the moment they are going to die. They leave the power of creation. A mahatma can create a human being just before he is going to die but can take possession of that being at any time. A being created in that way to be taken possession of by a mahatma is known as an elementary. The mahatma has complete control of the elementary. I saw exhibited this negro woman was an elementary. Upon my first visit, the mahatma who had possessed her, completely changed her appearance and made a white lady of her in order to give me a manifestation of supernatural power. I account for part of the features being indistinct on the supposition that I was not sufficiently developed at that time to see the full outline of the mahatma."

The real estate theosophist told his experience in modest and all serious tones. He has since that time obtained many other manifestations which encourage him to continue his studies in meditation and isolation in obtaining the most satisfying results. This theosophist advances a strange proposition regarding General Grant. He believes that the great commander was an elementary, and that the success achieved by him in war is to be accounted for by the theory that a mahatma had complete control over his time and guided him in his various campaigns.—Globe-Democrat.

A new fad among fashionable young men of Philadelphia is the wearing of gold buttons on everyshirt.

THACKER & GORDON
ARE AT THE FRONT,
And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.,	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness ("The Best in The Binder" for the Money) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed by
THACKER & GORDON.
Old Perdmon House.

VILLAGE PROPERTY
and
FARMING LANDS
For Sale.
Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.
Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.
MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given of a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner, to be held at the Sentinel in Charlevoix, on the 14th day of August, A. D. 1893, at 10 o'clock forenoon, for the purpose of letting a drain on the road grounds, and transacting such other business as may come before said Board.
Dated, Charlevoix, July 29, 1893.
WM. H. WEEKS, M. D.
President Boy ards Drain Commissioners.

NOTICE.
We will this 1st day of July, 1893, for 30 days and longer, if needed, give notice that I will pay no debts contracted by my wife, CHAS. PICKELL.
Ashland, July 29, 1893.

NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between Thos. Kenny and John Kenny, of Charlevoix, Michigan, under the firm name of Kenny Bros., was this day dissolved by mutual consent. Thomas Kenny retiring from the firm. Considerable outstanding indebtedness will be left unpaid, and authorized to collect and receipt for all accounts due said firm. The business will be continued at the old stand under the firm name of
THOMAS KENNY,
JOHN KENNY.
Charlevoix, July 1st, 1893.

Huckler's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

MILLINERY!
JUST RECEIVED.
A fine line of
SUMMER GOODS,
Comprising all the latest novelties in Hats and Bonnets, new and desirable Ribbons, Flowers, Laces, Velvets, Trimmings, an elegant assortment of fine Corsets, a book for millinery and dresses, and a full line of Patterns.
I have also in stock a nice line of
CHILDREN'S WEAR &c
Orders are especially invited to call, whether they buy or not. An early inspect is show goods.
MRS. B. A. CARR.

T. J. CANNON,
Bay-mills
NEW BAKERY.
Choice Stock of Macs Bread, and will keep a fresh supply of
BAKED GOODS,
always on hand.
Orders attended and promptly delivered.
I have a fine spring wagon and will gladly show my goods. Low prices, conscious treatment and square dealing.
T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Prices reasonable and satisfaction guaranteed.
GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

Call and see . . . . . .
A Full line of
WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, PINS.
SILVER TABLE WARE.
CHARLEVOIX SOUVENIR SPOONS.
Also a Full line of OPTICAL GOODS, IN WHITE AND PEBBLES.
Especial attention given to all repairs. All goods subject to sale after six months.
. . . . . C. R. Bellinger.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
JEROME, MICHIGAN.

G. W. PAUL,
The Enterprising Grocer.
Goods always fresh; always cheap.
For Groceries and Provisions That's the Place to Go.

HERE'S THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME
BOOTS AND SHOES
AT FIRST COST.
We are Closing out summer goods at a great reduction to make room for the new stock. Many of these goods are at cost price.
Don't Miss These Bargains.
We are making great Reductions in all lines. Come while the stock is yet complete.
SHERWOOD
B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
C. R. & R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.
These lands are timbered with beech and maple (the best timber for farming purposes) or hardwoods.
By Water and Rail
and are in a water settled for health, well water and of easy access to the great fruit raising section of Michigan.
The Grand Rapids and Indiana R. R. runs through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is
Not a Wilderness by any Means.
It contains a population of 250,000 souls and is dotted up with settlers, from almost every state in the Union.
Over 100,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.
Sold for Examples or Address
W. C. HODGE, Land Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
TITLES PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
I call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
I also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.
B. J. GELLICK & Co.
We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.
We will special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We will change for cash.
B. J. Gellick & Co.

Fox & Miller
Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
-AT-
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.
Fox & Miller.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD P. VOLLMER, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent, Petoskey, Mich.

FRED N. MANNS, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for Charlevoix County, and will make abstracts promptly. Value and utilize property for sale. Law business. Charlevoix, Mich.

H. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Insurance and Real Estate Agent, Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

L. O. L.—True Blue No. 197, meet Saturday evenings in Masonic hall. Visiting members cordially invited. W. H. WEEKS, Secretary.

G. A. R.—Butler Post No. 115, meets second Wednesday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 76, O. E. S., meets on the first and third Wednesday of each month at Masonic hall. Visitors always welcome.
HELEN McLEOD, Secretary.

FOREST CHAPTER No. 78, R. A. M., meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Forest View Lodge No. 207, meets every Thursday night in Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. & A. M. Regular communications on or before full moon, at Masonic hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 76, O. E. S., meets at Masonic hall on the second Tuesday in each month.

PYTHIAN ASSEMBLY, No. 9111, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASTER DELIVER LODGE, No. 125, meets at Odd Fellows' hall on or before full moon.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, H. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. E. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers. Surveys made. Office Dixon's County Surveyors, Charlevoix county.

The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. GAUNON, Prop.
(Known as the STEBBINS HOUSE.)
Beautifully located on the North Traverse, overlooking the Bay of Charlevoix.
Large Sample Rooms and EXTRA CHARGES.
Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.
10-W-1y.

Grand Palace Hotel.
81 to 103 N. Clark St.
CHICAGO.
Only four or eight hours from Grand Rapids. Cable Cars to all depots.
Rooms, 50 cents, $1 and $1.50.
Large transient trade, as American and European plans. Rooms with bath and upward. Turkish Bath, $1 1 day and gentlemen. Restaurant Fine Wines and Cigars. Ladies and gentlemen, attended. Rates, $2 per day. Super class. Rates, $3 per day.
Mention this paper and receive special attention.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental • Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

OUR NEW
FALL & WINTER
SAMPLES
—Have just arrived, and they are a Jaunty lot.
The Prices are the Lowest ever offered there.
Good Business Suits at from $15 to $20.
Don't put off buying and then.
JOHN ZEMAN,
Merchant Tailor.

FOR SALE.
Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.
These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton St., and 132 feet back, with good house, nicely painted in outside. Inquire of PROF. F. M. RICE,
Ypsilanti, Mich.

CHICAGO
VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE.
Shortest and best line to Chicago, and all points west and south.
Train leaves Charlevoix as follows:
Lake Express City, 7.00 a.m. 11.55 p.m. 8.15 p.m.
Mail and Express, 10.05 a.m. 1.40 p.m. 10.05 p.m.
Grand Rapids Express, 7.00 a.m. 1.40 p.m. 8.15 p.m.
Atlantic Express, 3.55 p.m. 5.30 p.m. 3.55 a.m.
Sleepy Hollow, 10.05 a.m. 1.40 p.m. 10.05 p.m.
10.05 a.m. line fine chair car to Chicago.
1.40 p.m. line Wagner sleeper to Chicago.
*10.05 p.m. line Wagner Sleeping car to Chicago.
Trains leave Petoskey as follows:
11.15 a.m.; Atlantic and Grand Rapids Express, 4.35 p.m. and 1.05 a.m. Leaving at Harbor Springs 10.30; 4.50 and 11.50 a.m.
J. H. MERRY, G. P. A.
Chicago.

DETROIT
The Favorite is the
Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.
From Howard City and Grand Rapids.
In effect June 18, 1893.
Leave Howard City 10.45 a.m., 5.00 p.m. and 3.55 a.m.
Leave Grand Rapids 8.00 a.m., 1.00 p.m. and 10.05 p.m.
Leave Lansing 8.50 a.m., 2.00 p.m., 5.40 p.m. and 4.30 a.m.
Arrive Detroit 11.15 a.m., 4.25 p.m., 8.15 p.m. and 7.00 a.m.
Pullman Parlor and Sleeping Cars on all trains.
Leave Detroit 7.00 a.m., 12.00 noon, 5.05 p.m. and 10.00 p.m.
Arrive Lansing 9.35 a.m., 2.35 p.m., 6.45 p.m. and 12.40 a.m.
Arrive Howard City 11.15 a.m., 4.15 p.m., 8.15 p.m. and 2.00 a.m.
Pullman Parlor and Sleeping Cars on all trains.
Connections at Howard City with trains for all points east.
GEO. DERATHY,
Gen'l Pass. Agent.

FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH

Twice was the valiant Monhegan—at the point of "dead." Twice the assassins on the homestead were few and the brave, and the well-sewers were in danger of becoming depopulated. Every one anything they could get.

M. Morient, watchmaker by trade, was walking early one bright January morning down the Indianwards, his hands in the pockets of his overcoat, feeling hungry and disappointed, when he stumbled upon a friend. He recognized M. Sauvage, an old time chum of the riverside.

Every Sunday before the war Morient used to start at daybreak with his fowling-piece, and, in his hand, his line bait and tackle-for upon his back. He used to take the train to Colombes and walk from there to the island of Marantte. No sooner had he arrived at the river than he used to begin to fish as continuous fashion until evening. Here every Sunday he used to meet M. Sauvage, a linen-draper from Paris, but stout and jovial withal, as keen a fisherman moreover as he was biassed.

Often they would sit side by side, their feet dangling over the water for half a day at a time, and say scarcely a word, for little by little they became friends. Sometimes they never spoke at all. Occasionally they launched out into one of those long-drawn-out stories which are sufficiently without its aid for the entertainment alone were the cause.

On a spring morning in the bright sunshine, when the light and delicate mist hovered over the river, and those two good fishermen enjoyed a foretaste of real summer weather, Morient would say to his neighbor: "Hein! not cool, eh?"

And Sauvage would reply: "I know nothing to beat it."

This interchange of sentiments was quite enough to engender perfect understanding and esteem.

Thus, on the morning already alluded to, the setting sun reddened the sky and the windows of the farmer's cottage over the water, when the river was spread out, one foot now—one foot full, bearded men—dressed as servants in livery and wearing red caps upon their heads. These men were covering the two fishermen with rifles.

The rods dropped from their frightened hands and they stood looking down the river. In an instant the Prussian men were upon them, dragged them to a boat, and carried over to the island.

Sauvage was for fight, but thought unhandicapped was a pocket of Prussian soldiers. A hasty glance, when he was sitting astride a chair and smoking a porcelain pipe, asked them in excellent French if they had good sport.

A soldier placed at the feet of the officer a basket full of fish, which he had brought away with him.

"Not bad. I see, that we have other fish to fry. Listen, and don't alarm yourselves. You are hostages. Prussians soon cost us watch my movements, disguised as fishermen. I take you prisoner and order you to be shot. You have taken into my hands—so much the worse for you. It is the fortune of war. Innocents, however, as you come through the lines you are free to go where you please, on your word. Otherwise you could not get back again. Give me your word and I will let you go."

The two friends, livid with fear, stood side by side, their hands nervously twiddling, but they answered nothing to them. They simply fished.

Suddenly a smothered sound, as if were underground, made the earth tremble. The guns had commenced firing. Morient turned his head and saw above the bank, far away to the left, the vast shadow of Mont Valerien, and over it the white wreath of smoke from the gun which had just been fired. Then a jet of flame burst forth from the fortress in answer, a moment later followed by another explosion. Then others, till every second, as it seemed, the mountain trembled out death, and the white smoke formed a funeral pall above it.

M. Savage struggled his shoulders. "They are fighting again," he said.

M. Morient, anxiously watching his float leap up and down, was suddenly seized with rage against the belligerents and growled out: "How idiotic to kill one another like that."

M. Sauvage—It's worse than brute beasts.

M. Morient, who had just hooked a black eel: "Yes, it is true that it will always be thus, so long as there are two things as governments."

M. Sauvage stopped him: "The republic would not have declared war."

M. Morient in its turn: "With kings we have foreign wars, with the republic we have civil wars."

There is a friendly way they began to discuss politics with the calm, common sense of peasants and peace-loving men, agreeing on the one point that no one would ever be free. And Mont Valerien thundered unceasingly, complicating with its cannon balls French houses, crushing out French lives, ruining at a stroke many a joyous hope deferred, wrecking much happiness, and bringing to the hearts of women, girls, and mothers in France and elsewhere sorrow and suffering which no time never have an end.

"It's Hell," said M. Morient.

"Say rather that—It's death," said M. Sauvage.

They started, scared out of their wits, as the flame of the firing came walking close behind them. Turning round, they saw four men—four tall, bearded men—dressed as servants in livery and wearing red caps upon their heads. These men were covering the two fishermen with rifles.

The rods dropped from their frightened hands and they stood looking down the river. In an instant the Prussian men were upon them, dragged them to a boat, and carried over to the island.

Sauvage was for fight, but thought unhandicapped was a pocket of Prussian soldiers. A hasty glance, when he was sitting astride a chair and smoking a porcelain pipe, asked them in excellent French if they had good sport.

A soldier placed at the feet of the officer a basket full of fish, which he had brought away with him.

"Not bad. I see, but we have other fish to fry. Listen, and don't alarm yourselves. You are hostages. Prussians soon cost us watch my movements, disguised as fishermen. I take you prisoner and order you to be shot. You have taken into my hands—so much the worse for you. It is the fortune of war. Innocents, however, as you come through the lines you are free to go where you please, on your word. Otherwise you could not get back again. Give me your word and I will let you go."

The two friends, livid with fear, stood side by side, their hands nervously twiddling, but they answered nothing to them. They simply fished.

Suddenly a smothered sound, as if were underground, made the earth tremble. The guns had commenced firing. Morient turned his head and saw above the bank, far away to the left, the vast shadow of Mont Valerien, and over it the white wreath of smoke from the gun which had just been fired. Then a jet of flame burst forth from the fortress in answer, a moment later followed by another explosion. Then others, till every second, as it seemed, the mountain trembled out death, and the white smoke formed a funeral pall above it.

M. Savage struggled his shoulders. "They are fighting again," he said.

M. Morient, anxiously watching his float leap up and down, was suddenly seized with rage against the belligerents and growled out: "How idiotic to kill one another like that."

M. Sauvage—It's worse than brute beasts.

M. Morient, who had just hooked a black eel: "Yes, it is true that it will always be thus, so long as there are two things as governments."

M. Sauvage stopped him: "The republic would not have declared war."

M. Morient in its turn: "With kings we have foreign wars, with the republic we have civil wars."

There is a friendly way they began to discuss politics with the calm, common sense of peasants and peace-loving men, agreeing on the one point that no one would ever be free. And Mont Valerien thundered unceasingly, complicating with its cannon balls French houses, crushing out French lives, ruining at a stroke many a joyous hope deferred, wrecking much happiness, and bringing to the hearts of women, girls, and mothers in France and elsewhere sorrow and suffering which no time never have an end.

"It's Hell," said M. Morient.

"Say rather that—It's death," said M. Sauvage.

They started, scared out of their wits, as the flame of the firing came walking close behind them. Turning round, they saw four men—four tall, bearded men—dressed as servants in livery and wearing red caps upon their heads. These men were covering the two fishermen with rifles.

The rods dropped from their frightened hands and they stood looking down the river. In an instant the Prussian men were upon them, dragged them to a boat, and carried over to the island.

Sauvage was for fight, but thought unhandicapped was a pocket of Prussian soldiers. A hasty glance, when he was sitting astride a chair and smoking a porcelain pipe, asked them in excellent French if they had good sport.

A soldier placed at the feet of the officer a basket full of fish, which he had brought away with him.

"Not bad. I see, but we have other fish to fry. Listen, and don't alarm yourselves. You are hostages. Prussians soon cost us watch my movements, disguised as fishermen. I take you prisoner and order you to be shot. You have taken into my hands—so much the worse for you. It is the fortune of war. Innocents, however, as you come through the lines you are free to go where you please, on your word. Otherwise you could not get back again. Give me your word and I will let you go."

The two friends, livid with fear, stood side by side, their hands nervously twiddling, but they answered

We have in connection with our fine line of carriages a good assortment of work and driving harness also harness repairs, robes, whips and etc.
Just received a splendid lot of special spring carriages, springs and all attachments warranted for ten years.
A good assortment of BELKNAP wagons on hand.
BAKER & SON.

Cash Grocer.

CHARLES LAMB'S NATURE.
A Combined Misfortune With a Good-Hearted Sufficient Man.
"The Chinese poem says of Charles Lamb that he possessed that full dose of years qualities universal human tenderness. He always saw the best in a friend, and selected it, sometimes from a long sleep. "How could I take him?" he said of some one. "Don't I know him? I never could hate any one I know." It was this candy comprehension of every man's nature that made his sag, in his educational way, "I love a fool as naturally as if I were kin and like to him."

Just was it a fondness which made him blind to his friend's foibles. Of quiet Martin Burney he wrote: "Why does not his grandfather regret back after him? Maybe he has tired him out." Mr. Wordsworth, who had declared he could have written "Hamlet" if he had the mind to, said: "It is clear nothing is winning but the mind." Of his landlord he said: "He has £45 a year and some anecdotes." Of everybody he made some characterizations, but always with sweetness.

A precious lace been discovered by which the specific gravity of cork can be reduced one-third, thus producing a material only half the weight of common cork. This will enable anyone to use to carry a life-boat in his pocket.

HEART
DISEASE, palpitation, pain in shoulder and arm, short breath, oppression, coldness, swollen ankles, weak and smothering spells, dropsy, wind in stomach, etc., are cured by Dr Miles New Heart Cure. A new discovery by the eminent Indiana Specialist. Elegant illustrated book of cures FREE at druggists, or address Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
Sold by F. G. HINES & CO.

FREE CONSULTATION
DR. A. B. SPINNEY,
of Detroit, for the purpose of accommodating his friends and patrons that cannot visit Detroit in person, will be at Detroit office at the place named below, and will be accompanied by his wife, who will be in attendance to assist the ladies in the treatment of their peculiar diseases.
CLASSES limited to 10 at a time, enabling them to receive private care by Special Course and Private Lessons.
AT FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,
CHARLEVOIX,
Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9th and 10th.

FINEST LINE OF GROCERIES
and Crockery Ware
IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN.
A. Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,
Cash Grocer.

MT. McSAUBA.
The Reserved Lote
at this Romantic spot are now offered to resorters at reasonable rates.
LOW TAXES, FINE VIEWS.
THE BEST OF BATHING PLACES
Resorters and Summer visitors cordially invited to inspect the grounds and the observatory from which a Grand view of the SURROUNDING COUNTRY and the ISLANDS OF LAKE MICHIGAN, can be obtained.
For Prices and Terms apply to
D. S. WAY,
Mt. McSauba, Mich.

NEWMAN & . . . . . .
. . . . . LAMPHEAR,
Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers.
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Outside or Inside Work Done Promptly and Satisfaction Guaranteed.
Orders From Outside of Town Solicited.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,
Saw and Planing Mill,
Dealers in HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK
And PINE
LUMBER.
Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 1, 1893.
Wilson, L. D. Bartholomew & Co., PAINT.
Dear Sirs:
My experience with the Wilson Williams Paint during the last year has been very satisfying, and I do not hesitate to recommend their to every engaged. Their durable qualities will go a long way and add to morning qualities and amount of surface covered, they surpass any other I have ever used.
My experience with the Wilson Williams Paint is the liquid paints are often found adulterated. The fact of the matter being ground in with the best white germs is the only way to make a good paint.
Yours Very Truly,
W. F. CHERRY.
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

STEAMBOAT TIME CARDS.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN STEAMBOAT LINE.
R. A. EMREY, Agent.
STEAMER "SOO" CITY.

GOING NORTH.		GOING SOUTH.
Leave Chicago Wednesday	4.00 p.m.	Leave Charlevoix Monday	4.00 p.m.
Charlevoix Thursday	11.30 a.m.	Charlevoix Tuesday	7.00 a.m.
GOING SOUTH.		GOING NORTH.
Leave Charlevo

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

WENT UP IN FLAMES.

A WISCONSIN TOWN TOTALLY DESTROYED.

A Distressing Accident at Elmira, N. Y.—The Thought-to-Guard-Against Fund Activity Flag in Kewaskum—Killed in a Coaster Sled Exposition

A TOWN WIPED OUT BY FIRE.

The village of Blue, in Washington County, Wisconsin, was visited by the most disastrous conflagration in its history on Sunday morning. The entire business portion of the place was totally destroyed by fire, involving a loss of not 100,000. The town, laid out for a junction on a railroad, has been a thriving place, and has had a population of about 1,000. The business portion was almost all of wood, and a strong wind was blowing. There was nothing to do but try to save what was possible, and the fire engine was in commission. Ten or twelve families were left homeless, and their loss falls on insurance companies. Some of the principal sufferers are Mrs. Mary Gaffney, restaurant, loss, $1,000; insurance, $500; Mrs. Mary Gaffney, dwelling, $1,000; insurance, $500; Mrs. Mary Gaffney, barn, $300; no insurance; Tom Gaffney, saloon, $1,000; insurance, $500; Mrs. Mary Gaffney, saloon

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, AUGUST 12, 1891.

The Matter of Public Improvements.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Aug. 10, 1891.
To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

Dear Sir:—In your last week's issue you point out very clearly the fact that a good system of water works for this town should precede any such improvements as electric lights or an electric railway.

To an "Resorter" the sanitary condition of your town and neighborhood is of the first importance, and outweighs all other considerations.

You have in addition to Lake Michigan itself, two beautiful bodies of water in Round Lake and Pine Lake, the one for rowing the other sailing, such as few if any other summer resorts can offer. Your natural park on the south beach, your safe bathing beach to the north, the beautiful fir and cedar groves on all sides seem to fill all the requirements for recreation, for rest, for scenery which can reasonably be made.

Nature has done everything to make this a health resort. The necessities and habits of an increasing population should not be allowed to interfere and change her blessings into curses.

The loose sandy soil which quickly absorbs and distributes moisture seems an absolute safeguard against that malaria from which the people of the Mississippi valley fly every summer. It forms a good natural filter for, giving you everywhere at moderate depth wells of pure clear potable water.

On the other hand it interposes no barrier to the rapid distribution of the liquid poisons of sewage, the quantity of which grows with the growth of the town.

Unless the water supply is absolutely separated from such contamination, typhoid conditions will surely arise, predisposing young and weak persons for the reception and propagation of the germs of various virulent diseases.

The experience of towns and cities in our country as well as in Europe has invariably been, that wells and springs and even underground cisterns, though at first furnishing wholesome water, in course of time become dangerous to health through infiltrated sewage contamination.

Two problems arise simultaneously.

First: The necessity of closing the wells and furnishing all water from a source of unquestioned purity.

Second: The rational disposition of all sewage.

The latter is even more dependent on local conditions than the former. Where a large stream of running water is available, and the inhabitants of the down stream localities do not protest too loudly a simple system of drains toward and into the river is generally adopted. Where such streams are small and sluggish and the city grows too rapidly this often has a "boomerang" effect. Chicago is at present in the midst of such an experience, which has twice compelled her to push the inlet opening of her water works further into Lake Michigan.

The most sanguine prophet of the future greatness of Charlevoix could hardly predict a population large enough to convert your clear beautiful Round Lake into the turbid and odoriferous duplicate of the Chicago river, or even of the "Canale Grande" of Venice. But a great many degrees less of contamination would destroy it as a pleasure water and sweep away the cottages on its terraced shores.

The disposal of your sewage must of necessity be found in some kind of sewage farm. To this it could at first easily be carried by special wagons, sealed and odorless, and later, when the town's growth demands it and renders it economical, by small sewer pipes and proper sewage pumps. The storm water can always be returned to the lake by surface drainage. Such systems are successfully employed by various small towns, Pullman (I. I.) and to a limited or partial extent by such large cities as Paris, Berlin and Philadelphia. The sewage farm would furnish an abundant and excellent supply of vegetable food, which, while a most necessary adjunct to the pure air and water of all health resorts, is found at none of them.

The sewage disposed of, the water supply presents an easy problem. Wells or galleries sunk into the sand near Lake Michigan would furnish an abundant supply of pure water of the average temperature of the Lake. The distributing pipe system would naturally be laid deep enough so be frost proof, and this depth would ensure the delivery of the water at your doors and in your houses at cool spring temperature, so that icing would be unnecessary. For, at a depth of twenty feet below the surface Lake Michigan water is cold enough to drink in the hottest weather, and pipes a foot below street level would preserve this coolness perfectly. A direct (or so-called Holly) system of pumping works would probably present the least difficulties for winter service, and has of course, the advantage of always ready fire protection without waiting for hand or steam fire engines. A fire-hydrant at each street crossing with telephone or bell alarm system would ensure sufficient water and pressure in the time required to serve on the hose. Nothing, in my opinion, that your enterprising citizens could undertake, would so surely and rapidly stimulate the healthy increase of industrial works of all kinds in your midst as a good reliable water works system. Nothing would so surely add to the number, size, beauty and completeness of your summer cottages, as a supply of pure water in all houses and assured fire protection by fire hydrants without. Probably these works would have to be built by a private corporation working under a liberal charter. The charter should authorize such company to build and operate an electric light and power plant. And as the same poles, buildings, and operatives would be available for such purposes, the company may be counted on to put in such an electric plant whenever its profitableness is apparent.

This plant would not only supply the best light yet found for all manufacturing purposes, but could also furnish power at any point in town, subdivided in quantities to suit individual requirements, at less cost and infinitely less risk than small steam plants. The hotels and and larger cottages would no doubt be glad to use it. Finally, whenever the demand for transportation between the resorts and town shall become large enough to pay a fair interest on the investment required to build a railway solid enough for electric cars, and incidentally a substantial drawbridge in place of your present flimsy turntable, an additional dynamo in the same power station will suffice to run the cars.

Yours respectfully,
E. D. M.

Northern Michigan News.

Wm. Mears has again started up the handle factory at Boyne Falls.

Mrs. Wilson of Boyne Falls bunded a California ostrich weighing five pounds from the mill pond at that place the other day.

The South Boardman handle factory was destroyed by fire lately with a loss of $11,000 and no insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown. Forty men are out of employment.

Four hundred cords of perfect bark and other valuable timber belonging to W. D. McMaster, of Petoskey, was destroyed by fire at Melrose siding, 6 miles north of Boyne Falls, last week.

Holbrook, who was arrested at East Jordan some time ago by the railroad company for trespass, and who escaped from Deputy Sheriff Burdock, has been captured again and is in jail at East Jordan.

The Lelanaw Enterprise says a man named Horton in Provemont township, has discovered gold quartz on his farm, and has been offered $10,000 for a share in the farm. He better take it, and then keep right on raising potatoes.

Sheriff Thomas Bradley, of Grand Traverse county, started from Traverse City Monday with James Roach, a convicted felon, whom he was taking to Ionia. At Saginaw he turned the prisoner to the city authorities for safe keeping and took in the enrainpment at Detroit. Later he returned and started on to Ionia with his man handcuffed to the seat. Sheriff Bradley fell asleep and the prisoner took French leave and disappeared in the woods. There has been no trace of him seen since.

Petoskey Tomsent: The condemnation suit of the Chicago and West Michigan railroad vs. G. W. Seavey which has been in progress two days was completed Tuesday evening. The company offered Mr. Seavey $150 damages, but the jury, after being out about half an hour, awarded damages to the amount of $198.33. In every case where the amount offered by the railroad company has been refused by the owners of the property, the jury has either fixed the sum sufficient or awarded a verdict which increased the amount to be paid by the railroad for the right of way. The several companies pretty clearly show that those who are best qualified to pass judgement think the railroad will increase rather than injure the value of property through which it passes.

A case of most inhuman treatment has recently come to public attention at Frankfort. It is alleged that a woman who has a little daughter some three years of age, has for some time been in the habit of punishing the girl for the most trivial disobedience by holding her and forcing cayenne pepper into her mouth. A few days ago the girl ran into the street, followed by her mother who caught her and administered the usual chastisement, and the interference of a neighbor only prevented serious results. No action has yet been taken by the authorities, but much indignation has been stirred up, and only the promised reformation of the woman has saved her from the legal penalty.——The school board has decided to ignore the contract with Prof. Hoover by the former board, and have notified him to that effect.

A Big Pension.

Chester Denton, of Norwood Township, this county, has been granted the largest back pension yet granted to any veteran in Charlevoix county. He received notice last week that he had been allowed as follows:

From Sept. 1, 1865, $8 per month; from Oct. 17, 1872, $18; from June 4, 1874, $24; from March 3, 1883, $30; from Aug. 4, 1886, $36. The total amount to Aug. 4, 1891, is something over $6,300.

About fifteen years ago Mr. Denton had a leg amputated as a result of injuries received in the service. The SENTINEL congratulates Mr. Denton, and wishes him many years of enjoyment of this well earned reward.

LOST.—A gold, enameled earring, three pearls in the center. The finder please return to this office and claim reward.

NOTICE OF TAXES.—Taxes have been extended to Aug. 25th. All taxes not paid are subject to levy.
A. J. MCLEOD,
Marshal.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

Itch on human any horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-ly

FOR SALE CHEAP.

Household furniture, carpets, stoves tables, chairs, and many articles too numerous to mention. For particulars inquire of JNO. S. ROOTS.

Happy Trial.

A large crowd gathered at Arthur Beulen farm Friday, to witness the trial contest between the Champion, and Walter A. Wood binders. A number of the farmers present drove both machines and all claim the Champion is one hour easier in draft, operates easier, and a superior binder to any on the market. Wm. Clark, after trying both machines, was thoroughly satisfied with and bought the Champion. More of them for sale at
S. BAKER & SON.
5-25

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it, and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or sore throat, long or chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time or money refunded. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co's drug store. C

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise.—a pure medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure Malarial fevers. For cure of headache, Constipation and indigestion, try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price $1.00 and $1.50 per bottle.

ARRIVING EVERY DAY,
NEW FALL GOODS.
NEW STYLES AND NEW SHADES.
A Good Trade and Growing Better.
MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?
at GEO. W. MILLER'S
And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.
I AM MAKING A RUN ON A
BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

WASHBURNE TALKS
ABOUT BARGAINS.

1. All Wool Double Fold Dress Flannel All shades, 25 Cents.
2. LIGHT PRINTS, 4c. INDIGO (best) 6 14c. RED STAR L. L. Cotton, 6c.
3. Cotton Flannel White, 8 to 10. Brown, 8 to 12 1-2. SHAKER WHITE, 10c. A Bargain.
4. Scotch Ginghams, Reduced to 11 1-2 Cents.
5. Royal Serges Going fast at 5 3-4 Cents.
6. Peau Du Soie An Elegant and Popular Weave of Black Silk Selling at $1.25 to $1.75.
7. Sheep Grey Yarn. All Wool 60c. Ger. Knitting Yarn. 75c.
8. Men's Seamless Cotton Sox, A bargain at 12 1-2c pr. 6 for 70c.
9. JACKSON CORSET WAISTS For Ladies and Children. A Crusher at 48 Cents.
10. BLACK DRESS GOODS The best to be found, in quality excelled by none.
11. Linen Crashes, at 7c. Men's Outside Shirts and Underwear, 48 cts. Pants, 95 c.
12. Call and see A. T. Washburne And Get Information.

A. T. WASHBURNE
THE DRY GOODS MAN.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.
DRUGS and MEDICINES, PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE, CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS, STATIONERY.
Prescriptions carefully compounded.
A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

THE BOSS ADDER.
Not a serpent, but one of the mechanical wonders of the nineteenth century. Combines the cunning of the serpent with the harmlessness of the dove. A machine for adding figures, one or two columns at a time. We have them.
TABLETS. Manufactured by the largest paper house in the world, and sold by no other firm in Charlevoix. Some great values.
Newspapers. W. H. McCARTNEY & CO., Stationers.

Save Your Dollars.
BUY THE BEST.
Heath & Milligan's "Best" Paint has no Rival, Ready or Anywhere.
Read what one of the "Best" Painters in Charlevoix says of it:
"There is no other paint for sale here which which can be compared to Heath and Milligan's for covering quality, lustre and beauty of finish, and, better still, it outwears every other paint. Yes, sirree! Heath and Milligan's is the Best."
Get a sample card at the Charlevoix Hardware Co.'s Store. Try it and you will always buy it.
HAVE YOU SEEN ANTI RUST?
Yours for the best at the lowest price,
H. L. IDDINGS, Proprietor.
Aug. 5, 1891.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
VOL. XXIII. NO.-7. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY AUGUST 19, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,131.

"FOOLED AGAIN!"
"Well, it serves me right. I didn't buy my Paris Green of Hines & Co., consequently the BUGS GOT FAT and I lost my potatoes, but I know better now.
Now, don't you get fooled, our PARIS GREEN is the BEST ON EATRH, bought on an Iron Clad Guarantee of its purity, we sell it the same. It goes farther, consequently is the cheapest, and will never disappoint you. Try it and if not what we claim we will refund the money.
Yours for the extermination of the potato bug,
F. G. HINES & CO.

COPCO & CURLY MAPLE SOAP. FOR THE BATH. Good and Cheap. at CALKINS & WARNE, Druggists and Stationers.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN, Charlevoix, Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by E. H. GREEN.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.
Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.
REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.
REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.
REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.
REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

ALL THE PEOPLE
Have waited long for a Rail Road.
They have also waited some time for a good crop of Peaches.
Now, We Are About to Have Both.
From now until the close of the Season, I shall endeavor to supply everybody with Peaches You may come just as soon as you choose, I have them, a little high just now: But keep coming, they will be lower.
Peaches! Peaches!! Peaches!!!
O. W. SMITH.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.
We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.
Will take all the HEMLOCK BARK
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.
BERT MASON

FURNITURE. BARGAINS. FURNITURE
We also have two Sewing Machines which have been rented out for a short time, which we will sell very cheap.

$14.00 Baby carriage for	$12.00
$19.00 Baby carriage for	8.50
$ 9.00 Baby carriage for	7.75
1.25 White Mexican Hammock for	1.00
1.50 Palmer's No. 3 Hammock for	1.10
2.00 Palmer's No. 4 Hammock for	1.50
1.00 Cotton Hammock	.80

FURNITURE. S. H. Lee & Sons. FURNITURE

Local News.

—The Charlevoix Cigar Co. now employs five men.

—Chas. Lanceaux is building an addition to his house.

—C. H. S. Coayne, of Oak Park, Ill., is a guest at the Belvedere.

—Cash Hifenburg was home from Orion Saturday and Sunday.

—Fine showers during the past week have done much good.

—Miss Belle Hansen, of Greenville, is visiting friends here.

—Miss LeFevre, of Hillsboro, O., is a guest at Mrs. Blanchard's.

—Wm. Stevens returned from Chicago Sunday with more horses.

—Mason & Berdan have a new display in their space this week.

—Day-day yesterday here and the town was full of railroad laborers.

—Dr. Frank E. Foster and wife of East Jordan, were in town Monday.

—Lost.—a pair of lowed spectacles. Finder please leave at this office.

—Prof. Stuart, of Lake Forest University, Chicago, is at the Merrill Cottage.

—S. B. Calkins has been in Grand Rapids the past week, visiting relatives.

—Clarence Burns, of Marquette, is here visiting his mother, Mrs. M. P. Burns.

—Geo. Downer was down from Cheboygan over Sunday with his father.

—Dr. M. L. Leach, of Grand Traverse county, is visiting at John S. Dixon's.

—Mrs. W. J. Sprout, of Grand Rapids, is a guest of Frank E. Wood and wife.

—The W. R. C. meets Saturday evening of this week, at Odd Fellows' hall.

—Rev. Jno. S. Rood advertises house-hold furniture for sale in another column.

—H. S. Harsha reports the sale of Mrs. Fisher's house on Mason street to Mrs. John Hall.

—Mrs. M. A. Johnson, of Elkheim, Ill., is with her parents Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Kemper.

—Com. Pettibone gave a reception to his friends on board the yacht Bon Ami yesterday p. m.

—M. J. Bartlett, of this place, has been granted a pension of $6 per month, dating back one year.

—All honor to the reform legislature of 1891!—Petoskey Democrat. Holy smoke, just listen to that!

—The Marshal has managed to keep somebody in jail about all the time the past two or three weeks.

—Geo. W. Brannan and wife, of Wisconsin, are visiting Mrs. Brannan's parents, Wm. Cooper, of Marion.

—John Sandusk, chief of the Sheboygan (Wis.) fire department, is visiting his brother-in-law, Fred Smith, of Hayes.

—Mrs. Masters, sister of Mrs. Levi Blanchard, left last week for Batavia, N. Y., called there by the serious illness of a brother.

—The Charlevoix base ball club, played the Bay View nine here yesterday, vanquishing their visitors by a score of 10 to 5.

—Rev. W. E. McLennan gave an interesting and helpful address on Mexico in the Congregational church, last Sunday evening.

—Contractor McLane was here, Saturday. He says they have six miles of iron laid east of Traverse City on the extension.

—Mrs. Harris, mother of Mr. Harris of the C. & W. M. engineer department, is here visiting her son, and is stopping at Mrs. Blanchard's.

—Nicholls, Lewis & Bates are building a summer pagoda for H. N. Faulkner, to be erected on the high ground of his Main street property.

—S. H. Sea & Sons have a new advertisements this week, which inclose some special bargains of which you will do well to take notice.

—M. Brittain, of the firm of Brisser & Brittain, Napoleon, O., accompanied by his wife, is here. Mr. Brisser and wife will arrived Saturday.

—Mrs. Annie Gordon Gould, the elocutionist, will give an entertainment at Music Hall, Charlevoix Summer Resort, to-morrow (Thursday) evening.

—The prettiest foot in northern Michigan belongs to an Indian woman who lives west of Petoskey a few miles—Petoskey Record. That is not a.

—Mr. W. C. Graves, of the Detroit Tribune editorial staff, and one of the brightest young newspaper men in the State, has been here for a few days. He is at Mackinac now, but returns here the last of this week.

—Rev. Wm. H McPherson, of Lansing, accepts the unanimous call to the pastorate of the Congl' church. He will begin his work the third Sunday in September.

—The steam pile-driver, with four teams and eight men, arrived yesterday to do the work on the railroad dock and bridge. The outfit came by land from Elk Rapids.

—J. T. Kirkpatrick has been at home for a few days after completing his work on Traverse Bay. He goes to Petoskey this week, where he will remain the balance of the season.

—Mayor Ehl, of Grand Rapids, who is sojourning here during the heated term, last week vetoed a council measure by telegraph, and friends of the measure say he can't do it. But he did do it, and says it will stick.

—The Epworth League gave Miss Maggie Green a farewell party at her home last night, all enjoying a delightful evening. Miss Green leaves next Monday for a visit among relatives in Ohio.

—Postmaster Berdan lingered longer than the rest of the "settler fellers" in the vicinity of Detroit, and visited among friends for a week, returning Saturday. While in Detroit the Captain met his famous cousin, Gen. Berdan, of the sharpshooters.

—The Grange picnic people announced to take place Aug. 27, will be held in Hinkley's grove, Eastport, Wednesday sept. 2d. Ex-gov. Luce will deliver an address and music will be furnished by the Eastport band. A cordial invitation is extended to all. By order of Com.

—The "experience social" under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church was a great success. Total receipts about $20.00, net receipts about $15.00. The ladies and the church wish to express sincere thanks to all who in any way aided in making the enterprise so successful.

—Col. C. P. Jacobs, of Indianapolis, Ind., with his wife and son are stopping for a few days at the Belvedere. They are on their way up to Mackinac and the Sou. Col. is vice president secretary to Gov. Morton, of Indiana during the last years of the war, and is now a practicing lawyer at Indianapolis.

—Rev. Mr. Gates for ten years missionary in Turkey, gave a fine address upon the work in that country, in the Congregational church and Mrs. Davis, a popular singer in Grand Rapids sang. The offering for foreign missions was $54.00. Mr. Gates spoke twice last Day Live in interest of missions.

Henry Co. (Ot) News: Col. Sam Thatcher had a starting experiment while returning from Detroit last week. While sitting beside a crude conveying the carriers, which, attached to the patent blower, is to carry every particle of refuse and dust from the factory to the boiler a distance of about thirty rods.

Everything about the new factory has the stamp of permanence. The saw-mill tram-ways are extended to the factory and warehouse, so that one man with a car can easily transfer from mill to factory, and in the delivery of its product of manufactured goods, the factory is supplied with corresponding conveniences.

The entire N., L. & B. plant will, when the new factory is completed, employ fully fifty men, and we may trust the enterprising firm to push it to its full capacity.

Mr. Jerome Heath is at the head of the factory, and those who know him need not be told that he is the man for the place.

Norwood Notes.

Resorters are beginning to travel homeward.

Miss E. C. Frost will return this fall and stay the winter at Van Pelt's.

The Sunday school and Chas. Ferguson had their annual picnic at Stigas's grove last Saturday.

Sid Griffin is home on a visit.

Miss Gates, of the Chicago Club House visited with the Van Pelt's Tuesday and Wednesday.

Chas. H. Ferguson took a party of friends around the Islands Tuesday, starting Wednesday and will spend five or six days on the trip.

The jubilee troops did extra well Tuesday evening. Everyone speaks highly of the entertainment.

ATTENTION!
HEADQUARTERS
Charlevoix County
Veteran Volunteers Association
Gen'l Order No. 1.
Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 16, 1891.

Notice is hereby given that the ANNUAL REUNION of the Charlevoix County Soldiers and Sailors Association will be held at Charlevoix on Friday and Saturday, September 18th and 19th, 1891.
By command of
MORRIS J. SHUMAN,
Commander.
E. H. GREEN,
Adjutant. 6-35

FOR SALE CHEAP.

Household furniture, carpets, stoves tables, chairs, and many articles too numerous to mention. For particulars inquire of JNO. S. ROOTS.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The popular little steamer Gordon is making her regular trips and doing well.

W. H. Horn sold one-half of the schooner A. J. Mowry to Captain Bernston for $2,000.

The tug Minnie Warren is being partially rebuilt at Ben Campbell's ship yard.

It is learned from reliable sources that the Northern Michigan line are making ready to build a larger boat that the Soo City to run next season.

The schooner Surprise was sold by the U. S. marshal at Milwaukee last week for $1,700, all because whiskey got her ashore on the point outside of this harbor early this season.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: The yacht Mamie, of Kenosha, fresh from her honors won at Charlevoix a few weeks ago, arrived at Chicago Friday, and is anchored in the basin off the Exposition Building.

While crossing the deck of his vessel at Ishpeming, recently, Capt. Edward Cunningham of the steamer New Orleans stumbled and fell down the center hatchway. He struck on his left shoulder, crushing the bones to splinter and also breaking three ribs and sustained internal injuries. The surgeon says he will recover. Capt Cunningham is well known in Charlevoix. He is a brother of Henry Cunningham and Mrs. J. M. Ross, of this place.

Most of our readers in this vicinity will remember Capt. Poisson and his steamer Florence, that ran on Pine Lake three years ago. At great expense he pulled his boat overland from Reed's Lake, near Grand Rapids, to the river and brought her here. In the fall he was mighty glad to snake her back again. The captain is always having trouble. Recently he was run into by a rival boat, receiving about $300 damage. Capt. Poisson has had his competitor arrested.

A Wide-Awake Concerto.

A SENTINEL scribe dropped in at Nicholls, Lewis & Bates office Saturday night at about 9 o'clock when Harry Nicholls was preparing the last little envelopes containing the week's pay to each one of the force of men in their employ. It was a gratifying exhibit of an industry that is but in the commencement of its activity.

The factory in process of completion is in operation with the few machines in place, but the work of adjusting machinery, still goes on, and within two weeks, the two floors will be humming with appliances for manufacture. The large engine is fully in operation, supplied with steam from the boiler at the large mill, and workmen are rushing everything into shape, when attached to the patent blower, is to carry every particle of refuse and dust from the factory to the boiler a distance of about thirty rods.

Everything about the new factory has the stamp of permanence. The saw-mill tram-ways are extended to the factory and warehouse, so that one man with a car can easily transfer from mill to factory, and in the delivery of its product of manufactured goods, the factory is supplied with corresponding conveniences.

The entire N., L. & B. plant will, when the new factory is completed, employ fully fifty men, and we may trust the enterprising firm to push it to its full capacity.

Mr. Jerome Heath is at the head of the factory, and those who know him need not be told that he is the man for the place.

Teachers' Institute.

The State Teachers' Institute for Charlevoix county was held in Boyne City last week, conducted by Prof. J. N. Ingraham of Ypsilanti University, with Supt. H. M. Ross as instructor in Pedagogy and Reading. The attendance was more than usually regular and prompt. Prof. Ingraham received on Pedagogy and Reading, Language and Grammar; Supt. Ross, treated Arithmetic, Geography, School Law, Organization and Government of Schools, and Physiology and Hygiene. The sessions of the institute were marked by much interest on the part of the teachers, and many expressions of a character gratifying to the instructors, were volunteered by all who attended. A series of resolutions reciting this feeling and strongly commending the institute system, was offered by Supt. Harris of Boyne City, and enthusiastically adopted. Charlevoix's contingent was small owing to the lack of transportation by boat; but a few braved the dusty roads, and enjoyed the sessions. One young man walked twenty miles out back, and expresses himself as "abundantly paid." Wide-awake teachers who go up to these gatherings are sure to find themselves better equipped for their work.

Railroad Matters.

Mr. John Seymour, of Hudson, Mich., has the contract for building the C. & W. M. dock, and the outer pier and approaches to the railroad bridge here. Mr. Seymour has leased a house in which to reside during the progress of the work. The drivers are expected here as we go to press.

The dock will be of 12x4 feet footage, and 10 feet deep. The company will build a side track along the inside of the dock, below the bridge to facilitate transfer of freight. Mr. Seymour expects to be at work this week.

Conniee & Marshall, the boot and shoe firm, have received 500 pairs of the finest, ladies shoes ever brought to Charlevoix.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

BREEZY BRIEFLETS.

COLLECTED BY WIRE FROM FAR AND NEAR.

An Entertaining and Instructive Summary of the Doings of the Last Week, Embracing Politics, Labor, Accidents, Crime Industry, Etc.

THREATEN TO DEPOSE DIAZ.

Continuation of the Revolution in Mexico Is Imperatively Demanded by Mexicans.

The country continued a threatened revolution in Mexico for the purpose of deposing Porfirio Diaz were in a state approaching to a panic when advices received in New York on board the steamer Yumuri from Mexico, by passengers by a term of wealth and influence and has always been a staunch friend of Diaz, but for practically a month past Diaz has wanted to have his name used. He said there were strong symptoms of a coming revolution in Mexico. The people are much disturbed by the action of the administration of Diaz. He has been among us in a transient manner for some time toward a certain case. The speaker said he would be surprised if a revolution broke out within the next six days.

SMASHED ALL OCEAN RECORDS.

The Majestic Crosses the Ocean in Less Than Six Days.

All ocean records for speed and time were smashed by the Majestic, the White Star steamship Majestic, just arrived, coming great long from Queenstown in 6 days, 6 hours and 2 minutes, and 6 hours and 2 minutes, which, considered her making the best time on record, and 2 hours and 2 minutes to day the Atlantic, considered our record time. The Majestic, which is the flagship of the fleet, is the largest and most powerful steamship in the world. She is 704 feet long and 68 feet 6 inches in breadth, and is 17,000 tons in weight. She

BAHAMA FIBRE.

The Future of Wheat is Hardly a Fine Blade of Sisal Grass.

The wonderful developments of modern science in adapting the hitherto worthless and in many cases despised vegetation, to a practical and easily valuable product is worthy of special notice. A short time ago the sisal hemp is now produced from fine and its adaptability to hard work, which held out a new encouragement to our farmers as well as manufacturers. Also attention has now been called to still another new fibre produced from one of the varieties of Sisal grass, growing most abundantly in the Bahamas, and until quite recently despised as a weed by the natives.

Its adaptation to commercial uses and the development of the industry is due in a great measure to the efforts and encouragement of the present governor of the islands, Sir Ambrose Shea, of whom the New York Tribune speaks in the following terms:

Sir Ambrose's record as governor of the Bahama possesses to be historical by reason of the remarkable development of the islands due to his sagacity. When he went there, three years ago, he found the inhabitants who were making a living by fruit and sponge culture, doing their best to extirpate a fibrous plant which overran the land. The governor recognized in the tall, healthy vigorous weed, against which the natives were making a vain fight, burning it down only to have it revive, a remarkably fine specimen of the Sisal grass whose cultivation in an interior quality in Mexico for use in rope making, had built up large fortunes in that country. After an investigation of the Sisal grass in Mexico, Sir Ambrose proceeded to teach the people of the Bahamas that they had been despitefully using their best friend, and the cultivation and dressing by machinery was established, with a government bounty of a cent a pound for exportation, to remain in effect until 1895. The Bahama plant is not to be known to the commercial world as Sisal, but as Bahama fibre. It is to be free but of the United States and in this country as well as from Britain a large market is expected with confidence.

Sir Ambrose Shea, in talking to a Tribune reporter, said: "The Bahamas are jumping. There will be a cable from the Bahamas to Florida within this year. I think that this will be regarded in America as a great mover of annexation! Well, we are annexed to the United States all but politically. There is more American business in the Bahamas than any other, and we are very glad to see Americans.

"This Bahama fibre—it is too good to be called Sisal—is a very superior article to that obtained in Mexico. It makes an excellent rope, and it is believed it will go into tabacco, the thread-like one fibre. So show you what I thought of the fibre by a shrewd business man. I may tell you that Joseph Chamberlain, chief six months' careful examination, has taken 20,000 acres of land, and his lease-hold are not three now taking charge of the estate. I don't care to sell very much more land. Where because there was no European capital invested in the Bahamas, there are now first-class men like Mr. Chamberlain coming in and giving an impetus to the fibre industry. We shall begin to export the fibre in factory next year. It takes four years to come to maturity, but after it is in harvest condition you can get leaves from the same plant for twelve or fourteen years without renewal of any kind. It is a very fine plant a little of the cactus order. The leaves which certain fibre are from five to six feet long."—American Cultivator.

HER HAIR GREW AFTER DEATH.

Heavy Braids Cut Per Years Buried in a Coffin Twenty Years Buried.

A prominent citizen of Warren Sunnuk, N. H., recently caused the body of his mother to be disinterred for the purpose of burying it in another spot. When it was found that the coffin was completely enwrapped with the strands of the lady's hair, even the grave being filled with the silky tresses, which had to be cut through before the coffin could be removed. Upon opening the coffin the remains, with the exception of the head, were found to have perished, but the skull was wonderfully preserved, and even the skin based and from this hid grown a quantity of hair such as the living frame would carry. The lady had been dead twenty years, and at the time of her decease her magnificent suit of hair had been clipped short, so that there is no doubt of all that was found in the coffin had by grown after death.

Her son says, however, that his mother's hair was of a beautiful bright golden hue, whereas the post-mortem growth is of a pale colorless tinge, filmy and coarse, though retaining a sort of vitality. It had forced its way through the seams of the coffin, and spread about it like the tendrils of a vine and was so thick as to hide it completely, while it filled the coffin so entirely. It was calculated that there were nearly seventy-five pounds of it in all, and that the strands were fully ten feet in length. The lady to whom head this grew died at the age of 37, and after an illness of only a few hours consequently returning for robust and full-blubbed figure which may possibly account for the extraordinary growth. When it was removed from where the coffin the latter had spare, showing that it was held together by the hair.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Great Foot.

A shoe dealer in Middletown, N. Y., on measuring a customer the other day, was amazed to find his foot so large that shoes to fit could not be found in stock anywhere in town. Accordingly they were made to order and were pinched inches long, 6 inches across the ball, 14 inches around the instep and 21 inches in the heel.

They Had Waited Long.

A curious wedding took place recently in Ashley, Northamptonshire, England. The contracting parties were a man aged seventy-six and a woman aged seventy-seven. The man had been published in church fifty-six years ago, but they separated and married different people. The wife of one and the husband of the other living they found themselves at liberty to renew their engagement, and have now married, presumably for the last time.

MISSING LINKS.

King Humbert has 2,000 blooded horses in his three stables near Pisa.

Detroit undertakers must wear rubber coats when they handle diphtheria corpses.

Princess Alix, of Hesse-Darmstadt, is the most beautiful unmarried royal girl in all Europe.

Jerry Simpson, the Kansas Congressman, owns a farm of 660 acres and has eighty acres in wheat.

Joseph Pulitzer has a fad. It is to consume stearyr in his to do of importance on the 19th day of the month.

It is no unusual thing for a vessel plying between Japan and San Francisco to bring 1,000,000 fans as a single item of its cargo.

Exchange Journal Turner, of New York, "the ice man" is a candidate for the Speaker of the House, of which he was formerly a member.

Theodore Thomas is so well known as a conductor that it is almost forgotten he is a first-class violinist, but he still retains aware of the fact.

Houston County, Georgia, claims the youngest cum-drate soldier in the person of Augustus L. Hixon, who enlisted in 1861 under twelve years of age.

The word "preface," used in the beginning of books, was originally a word of welcome to a meal, and was equivalent to "Mock good may it do to you."

The Springfield Republican says: "Wachusett, the only decent mountain down East, is about to be sold like any parcel of level mead and woodland."

A scientist of Tennessee thinks that the Gulf stream every day passes through thousands of miles of subterranean channel that is surrounded by a living fire.

The Michigan penitentiary has a clove of Hiram in telegraphy, written and by one of the prisoners. Each convict purchased his own instrument by working overtime.

The people of Starlight, Grundy County, Mo., complain that the men who carries the mail to that town puts young dogs, etc., in the pouch along with the love letters, etc.

Dr. Roland P. Faulkner has been elected Professor of Statistics in the University of Pennsylvania, the first professorship of the kind established in any American seminary.

A new religious sect has appeared in Pike county, Ia. Its members call themselves "antilepsies." A title derived from the fact that they anticipate an early end of the world.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Custer is always the center of attraction at "teas" and other social gatherings, but that is because she has a very gracious manner and says just the right thing to every person.

Austria has nearly 4,720,000 of people, 1,250,000 more than the population of the American colonies when they declared their independence, and the same as Ireland at the present time.

A monument will be erected shortly in Tullingen, in the Black Forest, to Max Schwerkabelleger, author of "The Watch on the Rhine." The fund for this purpose is $6,000, and contributions are still solicited.

A benevolent Attilan, Kan., woman keeps a bar of soap on a long cord near a creek that runs through the town for the use of tramps, and a number of them may be seen at that place washing themselves.

The estimates of New South Wales, one of the Australian provinces, in proportion to its population is three times that of Canada, five times that of France, and eight times greater than the trade of the United States.

Mrs. Gladstone, who is about to marry Henriette Coquelin, a brother of the two Coquelins, is not an American lady, as has been stated, but the daughter of Captain Arthur Boyd, who was lately retired from the British Life Guards.

A Honesdale, Pa., lady has a full set of carpenter's tools, which she uses with remarkable skill in making useful and ornamental articles for her own home, a full set of chairs being among the productions of her mechanical genius.

Apropos of Lieutenant Peary's proposed expedition to Northern Greenland, General Greely, who accompanied opinion to an Oregon reporter that the danger attended these polar explorations than a tramp like Stanley's through Africa.

It is said there is a tract of forest trees in southern Oregon embracing about 16,000 square miles, which, cut and sold at $10 per 1,000 feet, would pay our national debt twice over. It is estimated that the amount of merchantable timber standing will reach 400,000,000,000 feet.

A few years ago a gentleman bought 100 acres several miles below Macon, Ga., on the East Tennessee Road, for which he paid $10 an acre. He improved the property at a cost of only $9 an acre and within four years from the date of the purchase cleared $27,000 from the sales of fruit grown on this 100 acres.

A twenty-year-old son of W. B. Douglass, a merchant of Westfield, N. Y., recovered from an accident similar to that which killed Dr. Bothwell of Brooklyn. The boy swallowed a horseshoe nail, which was taken into left lemonade and vomited there from July 12 to January 13. The nail was expected to come out with a cough by a violent fit of coughing and the boy got well.

Rose Hawthorne thinks that one reason why Ralph Waldo Emerson recovered from an accident similar to that which killed Dr. Bothwell of Brooklyn. The boy swallowed a horseshoe nail, which was taken into left lemonade and vomited there from July 12 to January 13. The nail was expected to come out with a cough by a violent fit of coughing and the boy got well.

Rose Hawthorne thinks that one reason why Ralph Waldo Emerson recovered from an accident similar to that which killed Dr. Bothwell of Brooklyn. The boy swallowed a horseshoe nail, which was taken into left lemonade and vomited there from July 12 to January 13. The nail was expected to come out with a cough by a violent fit of coughing and the boy got well.

THACKER & GORDON

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.,	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

THACKER & GORDON.

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given of the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Charlevoix Lake Park Resort Association to be held at the Park Hotel, Charlevoix, Mich., on the 10th day of July, 1895, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing a board of directors for said association and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

Dated, Mich., June 25, 1895.

CHAS. TICKNELL, President Lake Park Resort Association.

NOTICE.

My wife Ellen Pickwell having left my bed and board without just provocation, I hereby forbid all persons trusting her on my account, as I will pay no bills of her contracting after this date.

Atwood, July 12, 1895. CHAS. PICKNELL.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the copartnership heretofore existing between Thos. Kenning and Charles Barry for the manufacture of Brick at Charlevoix, Michigan, under the firm name of Kenning & Barry has this day been dissolved by mutual consent, the said Charles Barry retiring from said firm. All persons have accounts with the late firm of said firm are hereby notified to collect and receipt for all accounts due said firm, and all persons indebted to said firm are hereby notified to pay the same to the undersigned.

Charlevoix, August 31, 1891.

THOS. KENNING, CHARLES BARRY.

Buckton's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-y1.

G. W. PAUL,

The Enterprising Grocer.

Goods always fresh; always cheap.

For Groceries and Provisions That's the Place to Go.

Call and see . . . . . .

A Pulling of WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS FOB.

SILVER TABLE WARE, CHARLEVOIX SOUVENIR SPOONS.

AGATE JEWELRY, PEARL PIN JEWELRY, TOOTH AND TURK JEWELRY.

ALSO A FULL LINE OF CIGARS, TOBACCO IN WHITE and SMOKING.

Repeated attentions given to all repairs. All goods subject to sale after six months.

. . . . . C. R. Bellinger.

ROBERT MILLER,

—Dealer in—

Rifenburg Milling Co.'s

FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.

IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

T. J. CANNON,

NEW BAKERY,

Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of

BAKED GOODS,

always on hand.

Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered.

I shall be a share of your patronage, and will guarantee good goods and prompt attention. Good wagon and square dealing.

T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Horses furnished if desired. Barn Line.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

MILLINERY!

JUST RECEIVED.

A fine line of

SUMMER GOODS.

Comprising all the latest novelties. Hats and Bonnets in new and desirable shapes. Flowers in Roses, Lacies, Vellings, Crapes, etc., and a assortment of Ribbons, Trimmings, and a complete line of Notions.

I Have a so in stock a nice line of Parasols.

CHILDRENS HATS WEAR'S

Ladies are especially invited to call, whether wishing to buy or not. All are welcome to see what I have to show.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

Take The Sentinel.

HERE'S THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

BOOTS AND SHOES AT FIRST COST.

We are Closing out summer goods at a great reduction to make ready for fall stock. Many of these goods are at cost price.

Don't Miss These Bargains.

We are making great Reductions in all lines. Come while the stock is yet complete.

SHERWOOD

B. J. Gellick & Co.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Bourbon Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continuously on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & CO.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCO, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are thickly wooded with beech and maple and other wood and are accessible to best markets and are in a state unequalled for health, well water and contiguous to the best fishing and hunting grounds.

By Water and Rail

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the great The part of Michigan which these lands are located.

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of thousands and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 Acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.

TITLE PERFECT.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD P. GRAVES, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED M. HAYNS, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts to all lands in Charlevoix County. Office in Sherwood's Block and Kehoe Improvements. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. FAIRE, Attorney at Law. Insurance and Real Estate Agent. Office Block of Charlevoix

SOCIETIES.

L. O. L.—Tent Hiawatha, 117, meet Saturday on or before full moon in Jefferson Hall.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Old Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 72, O. E. S., meets at the Masonic Temple on each Wednesday on or before full moon.

ORIENT CHAPTER, No. 103 R. A. M., meets at Masonic Temple on Friday on or before full moon.

I. O. O. F.—Hazel Lake Lodge No. 193, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 184, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Bennett's.

CANDOCHIAN CONCLAVE No. 19, K. T., meets at Masonic Temple on the second Thursday of each month.

JOURNEYMEN'S CLUB, meets at Jefferson Hall every Monday evening at 7:30, at Jefferson Hall.

BAXTER RELIEF CORPS, No. 119, meets at G. A. R. Hall second Saturday of each month, at 2:00 p. m.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Lake Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

E. and J. S. MANN, Surveyors and Engineers. Office in Lake Lewis Block. Highest Grade Surveying. Charlevoix Mich.

The "New Charlevoix."

M. B. GAUSON, Prop.

Known as the Lake Side Resort.

Beautifully located on the North Branch, overlooking Lake Charlevoix.

LARGE GROVE AND FINE CONVENIENCE.

Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated throughout.

26-y1.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only free omnibus from the (Union) Home Office Cars pass the door.

The home of Rates Impressionable newly furnished, the American and European plans. Rooms 50c per night, with steam heat and upward. Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen, connected. Restaurant by First Compagnon, late chef Delmonico. Rooms large, lofty. Table d'Hote served. Special Rates for Invalids.

41-y

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental • Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert, FOUNDREYMEN, MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

OUR NEW FALL & WINTER SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $14 to $30.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL, Merchant Tailor.

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton St., and in one block, with nine houses, sleep finished on outside. Inquire of

PROF. G. M. HICE, Roseville, Mich

CHICAGO VIA THE Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE.

Starting and last line to Chicago and all points west and northwest.

Trains leave or present schedule as follows:

Leave Ludington 7:00 a. m., 1:45 p. m., 11:10 p. m.
Leave Manistee 7:45 a. m., 2:45 p. m., 12:10 a. m.
Leave Grand Rapids 10:00 a. m., 7:10 p. m., 4:00 a. m.
Arrive Chicago 3:30 p. m., 10:30 p. m., 7:30 a. m.

*Every day. Others week days only.

10:00 a. m. train carries sleeper to Chicago.

1:35 p. m. for Wagner parlor car to Chicago.

*11:10 p. m. for Wagner sleeping car to Chicago.

Trains leave Chicago at 8:00 a. m., 4:15 p. m., and 11:45 p. m. Arriving at Grand Rapids at 2:45 p. m., and 6:45 p. m., and 3:45 a. m. Evening train 10:30 p. m. Grand Rapids 7:30 a. m.

DETROIT

The Favorite is the Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.

From Ludington, Manistee and Grand Rapids

Office June 17, 1895.

Leave Ludington 7:00 a. m., 1:45 p. m. and 11:10 p. m.

Leave Grand Rapids 5:00 a. m., 1:00 p. m. and 9:30 p. m.

Arrive Detroit 1:35 a. m., 8:05 p. m., and 6:40 a. m.

Arrive Grand Rapids 10:00 a. m., 7:10 p. m., and 4:00 a. m.

Trains leave Detroit 8:00 a. m., 4:15 p. m., and 11:45 p. m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 2:45 p. m., 10:30 p. m., and 7:30 a. m.

Trains marked * run daily.

Close connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.

T. M. CHAMBERLAIN, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

A BOY HERO.

He Chose to Perish for the Sake of His Comrade.

In a recent Decoration Day address, Dr. Gordon said:

A regiment had been in a battle in the wood. Night came and they were ordered to bivouac in the woods. Some time during the night, just as the moon was rising, the cry was heard, "Fire!" The woods were on fire, and the dry leaves and the dry grass, and the dry underbrush, and the dry trees, and the wind blew a hurricane.

Wounded men, who could not stand, called to their comrades to make a circle round them, and they did so. Some were burned to death, and some were shot to end their agony. Some were killed, and some were wounded, and some were crushed by the falling timber

BAHAMA FIBRE.

This Product of What is Really a Fine Kind of Sisal Grass.

The wonderful developments of modern science in adapting the hitherto worthless sisal to many uses deserve recognition in a practical and easily calculable product is worth of special notice. A contemporary was mentioned a note from prominent firm, and as a sympathetic to interests which hold and a new encouragement to the farmers as well as manufacturers. The discovery has now been carried to still another new fiber produced from one of the varieties of Sisal grass, growing most abundantly in the Bahamas, and until quite recently despised as a weed by the natives.

Its adaptation to commercial uses and the development of the industry is done in a great measure to the efforts and encouragement of the present governor of the islands, Sir Ambrose Shea of whom the New York Tribune speaks in the following terms:

Sir Ambrose owned as governor of the Bahama possessions, he is historical by reason of the remarkable development of the islands for to his sagacity. When he went there three years ago he found the inhabitants, who were making a living by fruit and sponge culture, doing little best to extirpate a fibrous plant which overran the land. The governor recognized in the tall, healthy vigorous weed against which the natives were making a vain fight, burning it down only to have it rise again, a remarkably fine specimen of the Sisal grass, whose cultivation in an inferior quality, in Mexico, for use in rope making, had built up large fortunes in that country. After an investigation of the fibrous in Mexico, Sir Ambrose proceeded to teach the people of the Bahamas that they had been despitefully using their best friend, and the cultivation and dressing by machinery was established, with a government bounty of a cent a pound for exportation, to remain in effect until 1895. The Bahama plant is not to be known to the commercial world as Sisal, but as Bahama fibre. It is on the free list of the United States, and in this country as well as Great Britain a large market is opened with confidence.

Sir Ambrose Shea, in talking to a Tribune reporter, said: "The Bahamas are jumping. There will be a cable from the Bahamas to Florida within this year. Do I think that this will be regarded in America as a promoter of annexation? Well, we are annexed to the United States all but politically. There is more American business in the Bahamas than any other, and we are very glad to see Americans.

"This Bahama fibre—it is too good to be called Sisal—is a very superior article to that obtained in Mexico. It makes an excellent rope, and it is believed it will go into fabrics, the thread, we so fine. To show you what is thought of the fibre by a practical business man I may tell you that Joseph Chamberlain, after six months careful examination, has taken 20,000 acres of land, and the two men are out there now taking charge of the estate.

I don't care to tell story much more. Where before there was no European capital invested in the Bahamas, there are now five-three million like Mr. Chamberlain coming in and giving an impetus to the fibre industry. We shall begin to export the fibre industry next year. It takes four years to come to maturity, but after it has reached condition you can get leaves from the same plant for twelve or fourteen years without renewal of any kind. It is very the plant, a little of the cactus order. The leaves, which contain the fibre are from five to six feet long."—American Cultivator.

HER HAIR GREW AFTER DEATH.

Heavy Braids Too Fast Long Buried in a Coffin Twenty Years Buried.

A prominent citizen of Warren Summit, N. H., recently caused the body of his mother to be disinterred for the purpose of having it in another spot. When it was found that the coffin was completely overrupted with the strands of the lady's hair, even the grave being filled with the silky masses, which had to be cut through before the coffin could be removed. Upon opening the coffin the remains, with the exception of a small space found to have perished but the skull was wonderfully preserved, and even the skin hung well from this had grown a quantity of hair such as the living person could envy. The lady had been dead twenty years, and at the time of her decease her complexion and of hair had been diligent sheet so that there is no doubt of all that was found in the coffin has grown after death.

How, you says, however, that his mother's hair was of a beautiful bright golden color, whereas the post-mortem growth is of a pale colorless tinge, dingy and coarse, though retaining a sort of vitality. It had forced its way through the seams of the coffin, and twined about it like the tendrils of a vine, and was as thick as to hide it completely, while it filled the coffin as entirely. It was calculated that there were nearly seventy-five pounds of it in all, and that the strands were fully ten feet in length. The lady on whose head this grew died at the age of 77, and, after an illness of only a few days, consequently retaining her mental and full-bodied figure, which may possibly account for the extraordinary growth. When it was removed from where the coffin lay into the space, showing that it was held together by the hair.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Great Feat.

A shoe dealer in Middletown, N. Y., on answering a customer the other day, was amused to find his foot so large that shoes to fit pattie were a thing not usually seen in town. Accordingly they were made to order and were given. Pattie long 6 inches across the sole, 14 inches around the instep and 21 inches in the heel.

They Died Walled Long.

A curious wedding took place recently in Ashby, Northamptonshire, England. The contracting parties were a man aged seventy-six and a woman aged seventy-seven. The base had been published in church fifty-six years ago but they separated and married elsewhere people. The wife of one and the husband of the other dying they found themselves at liberty to renew their engagement, and have now married, presumably for the last time.

MISSING LINKS.

King Humbert has 2,000 blooded horses in his three stables near Pisa.

Detroit undertakers must wear rubber coats when they handle diphtheria corpses.

Princess Alix of Hesse-Darmstadt, is the most beautiful nonarrived royal girl in all Europe.

Jerry Simpson, the Kansas Congressman, owns a farm of 600 acres and has eighty acres in wheat.

Joseph Pulitzer has a fad. It is to remember whatever he has to do of importance on the 19th day of the month.

It is no unusual thing for a vessel plying between Japan and San Francisco to bring 1,000,000 fans as a single item of its cargo.

Encouragement Turner, of New York, the ex man, is a candidate for doorkeeper of the House, of which he was formerly a member.

Theodore Thomas is so well known as a conductor that it is almost forgotten he is a musician, violinist, but he still remains aware of the fact.

Houston County, Georgia, claims the youngest confederate soldier in the person of Augustus L. Dixon, who enlisted in 1861 under twelve years of age.

The word "preface," used in the beginning of books, was originally a word of welcome to a meal, and was equivalent to "Much good may it do you."

The Springfield Republican says: "Wachusett, the only decent mountain down East, is about to be sold like any parcel of level meadowland."

A scientist of Tennessee thinks that the Gulf stream every day passes through thousands of miles of submarine canals that is surrounded by a living fire.

The Michigan penitentiary has a class of fifteen in telegraphy, organized by one of the prisoners. Each convict purchased his own instrument by working overtime.

The people of Starlight, Grundy County, Mo., complain that the man who carries the mail in that town is a young pigs, etc., in the pouch along with the love letters, etc.

Dr. Roland P. Faulkner has been elected Professor of Statistics in the University of Pennsylvania, the first professorship of the kind established in any American university.

A new religious sect has appeared in Pike county, Pa. Its members call themselves "anticipators" a title derived from the fact that they anticipate an early end of the world.

Mrs. Elizabeth B. Custer is always the center of attention at "teas" and other social gatherings, but that because she has a very gracious manner and says just the right thing to everybody.

Australia has now 4,250,000 of population, 1,000,000 more than the population of the American colonies when they declared their independence, and the same as Ireland at the present time.

A monument will be erected shortly in Tuillagen, in the Black Forest, to Max Schmeckenberger, author of "The Watch on the Rhine." The fund for this purpose is $2,000 and contributions are still solicited.

A beautiful Arabian Kan., woman keeps a bar of soap on a bank near a creek that runs through the town for the use of tramps, and it is said that in it. The screen is a flag stretched in a conspicuous part of the ship, on which the letter of the slide is projected. By the help of glasses the distant ship reads the letters.

By careful experiments made at the United Mass mint it has been shown that 35 are lost by abrasion every time $1,000,000 in gold coin are handled. The experiments were conducted with bags containing $5,000 each, and it was shown that the many filing of the 200 bags making up $1,000,000 in a truck to be removed to another vault, resulted in the loss stated, and that their transfer from the truck again made a second similar loss.

The Grand Duchess Stephanie, Prince Rudolf's widow, is a very beautiful and surprisingly young woman. She has laid aside the widow's weeds, dismissed on the tragic death of her husband, and affects gray gowns with pentagonal massive girdles of silver and pink roses in the gray bonnet, all of which is very becoming to her rose-leaf complexion. The Grand Ducal party are living through Italy with a train of four horses.

MARTINIQUE.

As Island That Looks Like a Bit of France Gone Astray.

Martinique is a garden of romantic beauty, extending from the edge of the pretty harbor to the foothills of the mountains and looks like a fragment of France gone astray, says a writer in the Sunday Register. Every building is of venerable stone, antique in structure large and roomy, and windowed by deep balconies. The heavy tile roofs overhang the sills like the eyebrows of nuns, and are covered with silvery mosses and trailing vines. The streets are nearly all paved with Belgian blocks, and sparkling water rushes down the middle of each in the gutter, toward which the pavement slopes.

Everybody lives out of doors. The harbor is skirted by a wide boulevard, shaded by palm trees and furnished with iron seats, where the populace gather in the evening and chatter like waggles. During the day the women sit in the gardens and at night sleep in hammocks under the verandas, except in the rainy season, when they keep their houses. There is no glass in the windows and not a chimney in the place. All the cooking is done in charcoal stoves, or upon shelves of stone like a blacksmith's forge.

There are some fine churches and one old cathedral that is worth a visit. The people are mostly Catholics, but there is a large colony of Jews engaged in banking and trade.

The town of Fort de France, which was known as Fort Royal during the time of the empire, is the seat of the government, where the lieutenant-governor lives and commands a garrison of 300 or 400 colored soldiers. It is about twenty miles from St. Pierre and has 10,000 inhabitants, but the latter place is the commercial capital and the fashionable residence. The blacks and whites live together as brothers and sisters of the common family, often intermarrying. Many of the colored families are wealthy and aristocratic and send their children abroad to be educated.

The upper classes wear the latest French fashions and live with considerable comfort, but the colored women of the romantic class, as elsewhere in the tropics, are clad in a single garment of cotton, without any particular design of concealing or exposing their anatomy. They load themselves with a large amount of jewelry of peculiar designs, and on Sunday and least days get themselves up in a most elaborate and outlandish manner, men and women both trying the plumage of the birds in the myriad colors they assume. There are no poor, no slum houses, no asylum for the indigent.

The women of Martinique carry their babies in a peculiar manner by placing them astride of the left hip and strapping them there by wide strips of cloth. Martinique has a population of 150,000, of whom 12,000 are white, 30,000 of mixed blood, and the remainder colored.

The island is covered with fields of sugar cane, mostly cultivated by the women, while the men do the heavier labor in the sugar mills and in the harbor. There are no carriages or carts, but the women and donkeys are the common carriers.

There is a good opera house where performances are often given by local talent and once in awhile an opera or a play by a company from France.

Once the most beautiful parlor in the world is known as the Place Royale, where there is a magnificent fountain of bronze, a most graceful water nymph fourteen feet high, bearing upon her head a basket, from the rim of which jets of water flow.

In August this fountain exhibits what to strangers is a most amazing phenomenon, spouting myriads of little tubes about as large as wheelpin with bodies as transparent as crystal. These are called flies and come from the mountain streams with which the fountain is fed. In the month of August they come from the mountains in great swarms, and fill the fountain. The people expecting them come down with baskets, scoop them up, and, taking them home, fry them in oil; they make delicious morsels.

Martinique was the birthplace of the Empress Josephine, whose family still live near Fort de France, and their old home a little one-story house, is still to be seen.

THACKER & GORDON

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.,	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

THACKER & GORDON.

OLD PERRYSON HOUSE.

G. W. PAUL,

The Enterprising Grocer.

Goods always fresh; always cheap.

For Groceries and Provisions That's the Place to Go.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the firm name of Jay Fish Park Resort, consisting of Jay Fish Park Resort, situated on Lake Michigan, in the Township of Bear Creek, Charlevoix County, Michigan, is dissolved by mutual consent, the business of said Park Resort will be settled by the undersigned, who are authorized to receive and receipt for all accounts due said Park Resort, and who will be responsible for all accounts owing said Park Resort.

Dated, Charlevoix, August 24, 1895.

CHAS. FUNKNER,
CORNELIUS BARRY.

T. J CANNON.

NEW BAKERY,

Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of

BOOTS AND SHOES AT FIRST COST.

We are Closing out summer goods at a great reduction to make ready for fall stock. Many of these goods are at cost price.

Don't Miss These Bargains.

We are making great Reductions in all lines. Come while the stock is yet complete.

SHERWOOD

B. J. Gellick & Co.

NOTICE.

My wife Ellen Pickrell having left my bed and board without just cause or provocation, I will not pay her any wages after this date.

Atwood, July 15, 1895. JAMES PICKRELL, Jr.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the firm name of Gillick & Co., for the manufacture of Shingles, at Boyne City, Michigan, under the firm name of Boyne City Shingle Mill, has been dissolved by mutual consent, the business of said Shingle Mill will be settled by the undersigned, who are authorized to receive and receipt for all accounts due said Shingle Mill, and who will be responsible for all accounts owing said Shingle Mill.

Dated, Charlevoix, August 24, 1895.

CORNELIUS BARRY.
CHESTER BARRY.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Horses furnished if desired. Horse Livery.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

Buckton's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeny, ring-bone, stifles, spralns, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street. Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

MILLINERY!

JUST RECEIVED.

A fine line of

SUMMER GOODS,

Comprising all the latest novelties. Hats and bonnets, new and desirable shapes, in Tuscan, Leghorn, Felt, Chipps, at cheap prices. A department of Dry Goods, Notions, Ribbons, Silks and Dresses, and a line of Patterns.

I Have a 50-in-stock size line of

"SCHILDE, S & WEAR'S"

Ladies are especially invited to call and see the goods, whether wishing to buy or not.

MRS. I. H. A. CARR.

Take The Sentinel

ROBERT MILLER,

Dealer in—

Rifenburg Milling Co.'s

FLOUR, FEED, BRAN

ETC.

IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

HERE'S THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

BOOTS AND SHOES AT FIRST COST.

We are Closing out summer goods at a great reduction to make ready for fall stock. Many of these goods are at cost price.

Don't Miss These Bargains.

We are making great Reductions in all lines. Come while the stock is yet complete.

SHERWOOD

B. J. Gellick & Co.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the Finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First class smoke of Sensible size. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES and other FOOT WEAR,

--AT--

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

Fox & Miller.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD S. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Michigan.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for Charlevoix County. Title examined, conveyancing done and money to loan on real estate. Charlevoix, Mich.

E. S. WEAVER, Attorney at Law, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix

SOCIETIES.

I. O. L.—True Blue No. 157, meet Saturday each evening. Visitors welcome. J. Bennett, C. C.

G. A. R.—Hunter Post No. 419, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 75, O. E. S., meets on the first Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Earle Hill, W. M. Hettie S. Lord, Secretary.

EMMET CHAPTER, No. 116 R. A. M., meets at Masonic Hall on the Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Blood Lake Lodge No. 375, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 345, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Jim's office.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF ODD FELLOWS.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 375, meets every Saturday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

KNIGHTS OF MACCABEES OF THE WORLD.—Tent No. 1, meets every Friday evening at Odd Fellows' hall. Visiting Sir Knights always welcome. Jas. Bennett, Commander. Jas. Bennett, Record Keeper.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

J. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office, Pine Lake Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

DENTISTS.

J. S. and J. F. DENTON, Surgeons and Dentists, Charlevoix, Mich. Deputy County Surveyors. Charlevoix County.

The "New Charlevoix."

M. S. CANNON, PROP.

(Known as the "FREIGHT HOUSE.")

Beautifully located on the South Terrace, with a view of the Lake and Harbor.

Rooms Newly Furnished and Thoroughly Renovated at $1.75.

A BOY HERO.

He Clows to Perish for His Sake of His Comrade.

In Lamoille Parlor, which, to certain eyes means much of interest, glittered and dazzled with a collection of gleaming silver, a conversation seemed to move from day to day.

Hush and more than the people was curtained well with silver and gold behind the silver, and the silver curtains with silver and gold.

And increasing excitement owing slightly to age.

Responded by their hands to some slightly bold, but well-meant and tender behind the silver curtains.

Where were with soft, and growing gray and old then a silent tear, but something than a sigh.

Yes with tears and. Alone and young.

Which not wholly gold and silver single thing.

In which to pursue found, no children clung.

And now the dollar or his father and wife.

He now that ever deliverance could be brought

The load signed they grieved must carry

And in that doubtling moment's flash of thought

He chose to perish for his comrade's sake.

Well known and respected by his comrades

"The captain." he said, and twenty his strong arm

Dragging a young man upon the excess below.

And by their dead, like sticks and as lifeless

Not a single, in spite of the gleaming silver

And now he stood, the captain, the captain's wife

Was and, to the young man, the captain's daughter

In the same length of assemblies here

Was and, to the young man, the captain's daughter

Elizabeth, Award in Harper's Young People.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

"Hello, Jack! The very person, among all others, I wished most to see."

"What's up now?" asked Jack, in surprise.

"I have a great favor to ask of you; two favors, in fact. One is great and the other is greater."

"Go ahead, old fellow. I'm all for the dark, but, if it is possible, I will grant them. You know that, though, don't you?"

"I am certain. But let us retire to some place 'more private,' and then I'll tell you what I want." So down the park, and, lighting their fragrant Havanas, we seated themselves comfortably on one of the many rustic benches.

"I'm ready now, Hal; out with it," said Jack Dempsey, as he lazily puffed out the blue smoke.

"Well, I don't know how to begin. I was such a blockhead that I have to ask a guardian for a sweetheart; and, not caring to confess my sweet, I ask for one; I have decided to ask you. You are the guardian I want, and the most responsible."

"A guardian, Hal? A guardian for what?"

"Ah, thereby hangs a tale, which I will soon relate. That is the greater favor and the great one is the 'hard man' for me, as it little affair that is to come off next Wednesday."

"A woman in the case, as usual," said Jack. "I thought as much, at first, but I did not think that you were going to deal so hard."

"Yes, I'm in for it, and all I'm afraid of is that I will commit some egregious blunder before I get through with it. I have such confounded luck."

"You have confounded luck, when you can win your sweetheart, I'm sure."

"I am good luck I have is my humor. I believe I would not curse my luck so often if it was not for the humor. What 'is a name?' There is John Fox. If there is anything in a name he ought to be subject to humor, and yet he is not humorous. He had an invalid wife and two nice little boys, ranging from a year to three years, and he loved them more than life. What's in a name? Why, everything. There is not a man in Detroit, or, for that matter, in the world, who knows John Fox, who does not speak of him as a good man, a good husband and a good father. Why? Because he is a good man, a good husband and a good father

BEUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER VI—Continued.

Mr. Cooper lost his old woman when persecuted to know Joe's likes and dislikes, he did tell them that his old woman had some much more than Mr. Caper was women of. When they were alone the thing she said startled Joe.

"Mean how much he has, Joe?"

"Lots—great lots! Just fairly amazing! Why, he's made a fortune, anyway, why, man!"

"Make money? Why, bless my soul! Fairer now and I thought he was a poor country doctor."

"Office is—Joe, you don't know—he's—I don't want to fool you. You must be—why—

The old woman looked at him fearily.

"Why, he's the name of the Steven Sanger—mean? Want to fool you? Joe?"

"Sure, sure fooling me. You've found out, eh—guess he's found out here? Sure—guess—there's risk, and they've lots of money—sure—I'm fooling you. Now, you can't fool me. Mr. Wonder—

"Stand back, Joe! Don't—snack clean, Sloan—guess crazy? Hind nothing! Never—nothing! I just wanted to find out something, but you don't hinder's a mine! Why, bless my soul, I'm—I'm—

"Now, Joe—

"Now, Joe! Why, Mr. Wonder, my—I'm—I'm—

"Why, Joe—

"I don't want to fool you. You must be—why—

The old woman looked at him fearily.

"Why, Joe—

"Now, Joe—

"Now, Joe! Why, Mr. Wonder, my—I'm—I'm—

"Why, Joe—

"I don't want to fool you. You must be—why—

The tendency of protection is to make this nation commercially, industrially and politically independent. Free trade, if carried to its logical sequence, would make this nation tributary to Great Britain, and other foreign nations, to the extent of depending upon foreign manufactures and merchants for a large number of articles which we can just as well manufacture ourselves, and which every consideration of statesmanship and common sense urges us to manufacture.

The profits realized by manufacturers in the so-called protected industries are no greater, on an average, than the profits realized in other lines of industry in this country. If protection afforded the fabulously large profits which the Free Traders are continually harping about, there would be a grand rush of capital into the protected industries. There is no such grand rush. Capital in abundance can be found for investments which yield 4 and 5 per cent., and investors are glad as rule to get so much as that upon a safe investment. The wordiness and uninformed bray of the free-trade donkey about the fabulous profits of the manufacturing interests are believed by no one, and are constantly disproved by the actual facts of manufacture, in nearly all its branches.

A cable telegram from London, says that the McKinley bill is accomplishing its purpose so far as great Britain is concerned. Many former heavy importers of British manufacturing are now placing their orders in the United States, and the importation of finished goods to America will be not a fraction of the total of former years. That fact, of course, is not pleasant for our free trade friends at home and abroad to contemplate, but the friends of our own country will learn it with pleasure. Orders for goods to the extent of millions and millions of dollars which in other years have been sent to the factories and workshops of Great Britain and Europe to be filled, are this year being placed with our own manufacturers. For all of which and many favors yet to come, we most sincerely thank the McKinley bill.

The "infamous McKinley act" gets in its work again. A pearl button manufactory has been put in operation at Muscatine, Iowa. The buttons are made from mussel shells, which are abundant at that place. The prospects are that if this sort of thing keeps on, the new tariff law will so far have demonstrated the wisdom and statesmanship of its promoters as to confound its maligners before the next congress has had time to demolish it.

Is it not a little singular that renegade Republicans are received with such widely open arms and given the highest honors by the Democratic party? No man ever denounced the Democrats in such bitter and caustic terms as did Horace Greeley, yet when he soured on the Republicans he was made their nominee for president. Wellington R. Burt, of our own state was another Republican who said many bitter things against the Democrats, yet when he soured because he could not control Hon. H. G. Hoyt in the making of appointments and left the party, he was cordially received by the party he had denounced and made their standard bearer as a gubernatorial campaign. Governor Campbell, of Ohio, was formerly one of the most stanch of Republicans, when he lived in a Republican county, but when he moved to Butler County, a Democratic stronghold, he turned his coat, sacrificing principles for political preferment and was immediately elevated to the highest seat in the synagogue. In 1867, when residing in a Republican county he addressed a Republican meeting and with a voice trembling with emotion said "may my right arm wither and drop paralyzed to my side if ever I attempt to raise it to cast a Democratic ballot." Perhaps since moving to a Democratic county he casts his ballot with his left hand. We believe however, that even this will not save him from being ostracized, politically, this fall when the votes for Governor are canvassed. The "People's party," the Democratic ado society cannot save him. This fall farmers are prosperous this year. They never raised better crops, and under the policy of the Republican party, protection and reciprocity, they are receiving good prices for all their farm produce, and they are directly in line with the party that is pronounced in favor of American industries.

—Little Trixie, the tuniest play on earth at the Lewis Grand Opera House, Monday, August 24.

From Marion.

Harvest is almost ended and grain will yield well.

Miss Ella Trimble has closed a successful term of school near East Jordan, and is attending the institute at Boyne this week.

There will be a basket picnic at Barnard school house Thursday evening of this week.

The Ingalls Bros., of Banks had a colt die from mustrickle last week.

The date of the Orange picnic has been changed to Sept. 24. A good program is being prepared, and a good time is assured. We would like to see the professional men of Charlevoix attend. Everyone is invited.

Northern Michigan News.

A union harvest picnic will be held by the Grangers of Charlevoix and Antrim counties, at Eastport, Mich., on Wednesday, Sept. 2, 1891. Hon. C. G. Lore will speak at 11 o'clock a. m., after which a picnic dinner will be enjoyed.

A square of Northport, Leelanaw county, attempted to quench the forest fire that threatened her shanty with destruction Thursday. Her clothing took fire and she was finally burned before any one could get to her assistance.

East Jordan Enterprise: Prof. J. M. Harris, of Boyne City has purchased Henry Kortlhouse's saw-mill in the south-east part of Wilson. Cut-cider-

FULLY STOCKED for Fall TRADE.

We call your attention to the following
Exceptionally low prices.

Flannels, 36 to 54 inches, from 25 to 75 cents. A full line of shades.

In Black Goods we cannot be surpassed. In Cashmeres, Cheviots, Henriettas, Serges, Flannels and Broadcloths. Also a full line of novelties, from 25 to $1.50.

Cambrics reduced to 5c.

And those Jackson Corsets, 45c.

Table Linen, a full and complete line.

Our stock of Shirt and Skirting Flannels is complete.

Cotton Flannels, bleached, from 6¾ cts. to one shilling. Unbleached from 6¼ cts. to one shilling.

Ginghams, cut from cut from 10 cts. to 7½ cts.

Chash, from 6 cts. to one shilling.

Light Shirting prints, 4 cts.

Indigo Blues, 6 cts.

Cottons, bleached, from 7 cts. to 10 cts.; Unbleached, 5½ cts. to 10 cts.

Our yarns are away out of sight.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF FALL JACKETS JUST RECEIVED.

MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

ation $1,200. Another gentleman, in partnership with him, will run the mill, which will remain for the present where it is now located.

Petoskey Democrat: Monday, August 10, suit was commenced in chancery against the village of Petoskey, its council, the Petoskey City Bank and the Chicago & North Michigan railroad company by Gideon W. Seavey. We presume that the bill of complaint would reveal the fact that it is a bill asking for an injunction to restrain the sale or transfer of village bonds for public improvement.

The principal damage to northern Michigan from the drouth has been to the hay crop, and as a result the prices of cattle has dropped greatly. But late feed of various sorts has been sown and planted for winter feed for stock, and, with the late rains, to assist, with good prospects Grain will be an average crop, and roots, except early varieties of potatoes will be quite satisfactory. There will be no famine in northern Michigan.

Cheboygan News: Six gas buoys costing $2,000 each, are to be tried in the straits this fall by the lighthouse department. One of these gas buoys will give light for ninety days without attention. The gas is from petroleum and is the same as that used for lighting passenger trains on some railways. The gas for the buoys will probably have to be taken from Chicago until it is manufactured in some city nearer by.

Petoskey Democrat: J. G. Hill, who was recently appointed prosecuting attorney for Manitou county, by Judge Dalbinge, returned Tuesday from Beaver Island where he has been investigating the case of James O'Donnell and Edward Boyle, who were charged with the murder of Patrick O'Donnell early last spring. Mr. Hill, upon examination, found that the case against the men had been improperly conducted, and if they were ever tried they would have to be re-arrested and undergo a new trial. Warrants were gotten out for their arrest, but O'Donnell and Boyle are not in Manitou county now and their whereabouts is not known.

General Miles last week visited Fort Mackinac, and as luck would have it, Bro. Eaton, of the Boyne Falls News, was there also. The editor describes the event: "As the passengers were crowding off, there came pushing through them a posse of officers from the fort all in glitter ing uniform, shining helmets, sabers and all. But presently they came out again headed by the commander of the fort on whose arm was leaning Mrs. Miles. Next came Gen. Miles and staff, he was dressed in a light grey suit of citizen's clothes. They were escorted to carriages and driven to apartments in the Grand Hotel. In the afternoon they were driven by the commander of the fort to the principal sights on the island; on this occasion the general wore the grey suit of citizen's clothes, a straw hat russet leather shoes and brown cloth gloves. Mrs. Miles wore a dark gown of figured blue. As it was Sunday no official reception was tendered by the military authority of the fort, but on Monday in uniform he was escorted to the fort with regulation salute of cannon and the small review of the small body of soldiers, only two companies, one hundred and ten men now quartered there.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

The pastor will preach in the morning. Services at the M. E. Church in the evening.

Methodist.

Rev. Masanobu Ishikawa, of Tokyo, Japan, will speak in the Methodist church Sunday morning and evening. Mr. Ishikawa is immediately from Albion college where he is preparing for missionary work among his own people. Monday evening he will appear in costume and represent life in Japan. All are invited. Admission, 25 cents.

Bapsist.

An entertainment consisting of literary exercises, vocal and instrumental music will be given at Lewis Grand Opera House on the evening of the 26th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Bayview church. The music, both vocal and instrumental, will be furnished by the "Excelsior Quartette," of Chicago. Miss May Yonley, of Kalamazoo, will give a recitation and swing the dumbbells. Miss Mabel Briggs will recite, and several chairs will take part, which will add largely to the program. Admission 25c, children under twelve 15c, including ice cream and cake which will be served after entertainment.

Hastings from Hayes.

Two years ago this fall A. S. Norman had a yoke of oxen suddenly disappear. He spent two or three weeks scouring the county, and advertised for them in vain. One day last week, while on the road to Petoskey, he met a man driving his lost oxen. He went on to Petoskey got out a writ of replevein and now has the oxen in his possession. The man who stole them sold them to Max Spangenberg of Petoskey. Max sold them to Mr. Gurney and he sold them to a man named Newman, of Bear Lake, who has since died. Mr. Norman found the oxen at Walter Newman's, on whom the writ was served. The party who sold the oxen to Max has been arrested and languishes in jail. The replevin suit will come off one day this week. One of Henry Hair's oxen disappeared at the same time, Max says the man promised to bring him a third ox in a day or two after he bought the pair but he failed to do so, and it is not yet known what became of Hair's ox.

The law ought to be enforced by our highway overseers in reference to cutting Canada thistles. One or two careless men will cause the pest to spread all over the country. We know a prominent farmer of our town who has a large patch of them in seed now. The law is very plain in regard to the matter.

Camp No. 1 has pulled up stakes at Burgess and gone up the railroad line near Petoskey. Camp No. 2 will finish their section this week.

William Wolcey of Northport became insane over a love affair, it is supposed, and mysteriously disappeared. Three days later he was found wandering around in a swamp and was restored to his friends.

ENTERTAINMENT.—A grand matinee will be given at the big Parisian Carrouselle, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, evenings this week, Aug. 19, 20, 21 and 22. This is a very pleasing and delightful entertainment. Everyone who visits it speaks in terms of praise of the glittering hangings and when the lamps are lighted at night you would think it was the beginning of the world's fair, and is worth seeing as it is an innocent pastime and about as fine a thing as ever struck our town.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

Rub on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-15

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it, and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any throat, lung or chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time or money refunded. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co's drug store.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise—a purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure Malarial fevers. For cure of headache, Constipation and Indigestion, try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price $1.00 and $1.50 per bottle.

STRAYED.

Came into my enclosure in the township of Wilson on or about the 20th day of July, two red steers, one with white star, about 2 or 3 years old. The owner can have the same by paying for this notice and other expenses.

THOMAS WARNER.

WASHBURNE TALKS
ABOUT BARGAINS.

1.	2.	3.	4.
All Wool Double Fold Dress Flannel All shades, 25 Cents,	LIGHT PRINTS, 4c. INDIGO (best) 6 14c. RED STARL L Cotton, 6c.	Cotton Flannel White, 8 to 10. Brown, 8 to 12 1-2. SHAKER WHITE, 10c. A Bargain.	Scotch Ginghams. Reduced to 11 1-2 Cents.
5.	6.	7.	8.
Royal Serges Going fast at 5 3-4 Cents,	Peau Du Soie An Elegant and Popular Weave of Black Silk Selling at $1.25 to $1.75.	Sheep Grey Yarn. All Wool 60c. Ger. Knitting Yarn. 75c.	Men's Seamless Cotton Sox, A bargain at 12 1-2c pr. 6 for 70c.
9.	10.	11.	12.
JACKSON CORSET WAISTS For Ladies and Children. A Crusher at 48 Cents.	BLACK DRESS GOODS The best to be found, in quality excelled by none.	Linen Crashes, at 7c. Men's Outside Shirts and Underwear, 48 cts. Pants, 95 c.	Call and see A. T. Washburne And Get Information.

A. T. WASHBURNE
THE DRY GOODS MAN.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.
PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE.
CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS.
STATIONERY.

Prescriptions carefully compounded.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

THE BOSS ADDER.

Not a serpent, but one of the mechanical wonders of the nineteenth century. Combines the cunning of the serpent with the harmlessness of the dove A machine for adding figures, one or two columns at a time We have them.

TABLETS. Manufactured by the largest paper house in the world, and sold by no other firm in Charlevoix. Some great values.

Newsdealers. W. H. McCARTNEY & CO., Stationers.

Save Your Dollars.

BUY THE BEST.

Heath & Milligan's "Best" Paint has no Rival, Here or Anywhere

Read what one of the "Best" Painters in Charlevoix says of it:

"There is no other paint for sale here which which can be compared to Heath and Milligan's for covering quality, lustre and beauty of finish, and, better still, it outwears every other paint. Yes, sire! Heath and Milligan's is the Best."

Get a sample card at the Charlevoix Hardware Co.'s Store. Try it and you will always buy it.

HAVE YOU SEEN ANTI RUST?

Yours for the best at the lowest price,

H. L. IDDINGS, Proprietor.

Aug. 5, 1891.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Joe C. Miller 1891

VOL XXIII. NO--8. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY AUGUST 26, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,132.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
Druggists.

WALL PAPER.
Wall Paper.
WALL PAPER.
Wall Paper.

AND BORDERS AT COST.
....AT....
CALKINS & WARNE.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village
Lots for Sale.

Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by E. H. GREEN.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.

REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.

REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.

REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.

REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year - - $1.50 | Six months - - 85c
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Mrs. H. D. Wood, of St. Ignace, is here visiting friends.

—Calkins & Warne have a change of advertisement this week.

—O. J. Woodard, left for his home at Plainwell, Mich., yesterday.

—Read the advertisement of the Hifenburg Milling Co., in this issue.

—Andrew Ross has gone to Alco, Alabama, where he has charge of a saw.

—Misses Maggie and Mabel Green left Monday for Ohio, to spend the winter.

—C. P. Waldron, of the Grand Rapids daily Democrat was in town Saturday.

—Miss Lovey Kinner leaves Saturday for a visit to relatives and friends in Chicago.

—Rev. S. W. Frable, wife and two daughters of Detroit are visiting Mrs. E. H. Green.

—E. D. Hines has bought four lots at Mt. MacSauba, for himself and some Ohio friends.

—Mrs. Horace Stockman, of Sauble River, has been visiting relatives here the past week.

—Street Commissioner Kirby is grading down the Chicago Resort hill to the depot grounds.

—Mr. A. Bruner and wife, of Na poleon, Ohio, arrived Saturday and will remain a week or two.

—Mrs. Wrisley, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Capt. Willsar, at Northport, the past week.

—Mr. Martin and son, and Mr. Wilson and son, guests at Le. LeFevre's returned home Sunday.

—Mr. J. J. Brown, the st. ignace attorney, joined his wife here over Sunday at the New Charlevoix.

—Hoyt P. Parmelee and bride were at Breezy Point over Sunday. The Parmelees left for Hillsdale Monday.

—Rev. B. H. Whitman still continues to advertise his Hayes farm for sale. It is a most desirable property.

—Col. Lindlow, in charge of the harbors of this district, is in town today on board the U. S steamer Gen. Hancock.

—Lost—A shawl, on Saturday last, somewhere in the streets of this village. Finder please leave at this office.

—The "Handy Reliable" pocket dictionary at Calkins & Warne's are just the thing for school children. Only 10 cents.

—Miss Cora DeGarmo of Milwaukee, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. H. Green for the past month returned home Monday night.

—Mr. and Mrs. Byron Sec, of Detroit, are here among their many friends. They remain the rest of this week and possibly longer.

—Mrs. A. E. Granger, of Middleville, who has been visiting with her brother, W. H. McCartney for some time past leaves for home Friday.

—Mrs. Sandberg and aunt, Mrs. Vanderberg, of Chicago, are stopping at G. S. Washburn's. They will remain until about the last of September.

—Wm. Nelson and Wm. A. Nelson of Boyne Falls, have been spending a few days here, the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis. They were accompanied by a brother of Mr. Nelson sr. and Mr. Fathers, both of Janesville, Wis.

—Highway Commissioner Cunningham has greatly improved the cemetery road and Street Commissioner Kirby has extended Clinton street through the hill to the park. Both citizens have done other work that was greatly needed.

A union harvest picnic will be held by the grangers of Charlevoix and Antrim counties at Eastport, Mich., on Wednesday, Sept. 2, 1891. Hon. C. G. Lore will speak at 11 o'clock a. m. after which a picnic dinner will be enjoyed. Farmers, mechanics and everybody invited.

By order of committee.

—A. W. Chew of Hayes, has been appointed statistical correspondent of the Agricultural Department for Charlevoix Co., and has selected the following assistants: Robert Miller, of Eveline; O. B. Hilton, of Norwood; and W. O. Wheeler, of Bear Lake.

—Editor Lorraine of the East Jordan Enterprise made the SENTINEL a call yesterday while the editor was out. The call was none the less appreciated.

—General Manager Heald, Division Engineer Northrup, and attorney Smith, of the C. & W. M., are in town again yesterday and today, on railroad business.

—Little Anna Herron, of Peoria, Ill., celebrated her 4th birthday yesterday at the Chicago Club by a party to her young friends on the grounds, numbering about forty.

—Mrs. M. J. Stockman returned home last Wednesday, having, during her absence, visited Cleveland, Philadelphia, Long Branch, Ocean Grove, Asbury Park and Elberon.

—A few weeks ago the Democrat made an effort to get a street car railway boom. The SENTINEL called attention to the fact that water works were of more vital importance than street railway. Now the Democrat is red-hot on the water works question. That is the proper place. It is better to adopt the ideas of others than to have none of your own.

—Mrs. Calhoun, sister of the lamented General Custer, and a relation of the State of Michigan, is a guest at the Fountain City House. She with Mr. Calhoun and wife Mrs. Eddy. As the sister of two and the widow of another of the heroes of the Little Big Horn battle, Mrs. Calhoun is herself a heroine. Long life to her.

—Jos. Beauvais was up from Manistee over Sunday and Monday. He came up to prepare and ship to the Harbor Springs regatta specimens of his work in row boats. It is safe to predict that no concern of its kind in Michigan or elsewhere can show up, in point of symmetry and workmanship anything superior to Beauvais' boats. They are already famous. But Joe wants to paralyze the connoisseur, that will congregate at Harbor Springs.

—Our recent item concerning the change in the East Jordan bank, is thus confirmed by an East Jordan correspondent of the Traverse City Democrat: Geo B. Martin has sold the bank of Jos. Jordan to Alexander Millar and it will be conducted hereafter

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Job Printing Department.

Neatness, Accuracy, Promptness.

Prices Reasonable.

Stock Complete.

Work Guaranteed.

Patronage Solicited.

ALL THE PEOPLE

Have waited long for a Rail Road.

They have also waited some time for a good crop of Peaches.

Now, We Are About to Have Both.

From now until the close of the Season, I shall endeavor to supply everybody with Peaches You may come just as soon as you choose, I have them, a little high just now: But keep coming, they will be lower.

Peaches! Peaches!! Peaches!!!

O. W. SMITH.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

FIRES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.

1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee 25c.

We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.

Will take all the

----- HEMLOCK BARK -----

Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.

BERT MASON

FURNITURE. BARGAINS. FURNITURE.

We also have two Sewing Machines which have been rented out for a short time, which we will sell very cheap.

$14.00 Baby carriage for	$12.00
$16.00 Baby carriage for	8.50
9.00 Baby carriage for	7.75
1.25 White Mexican Hammock for	1.00
1.50 Palmer's No. 3 Hammock for	1.10
2.00 Palmer's No. 4 Hammock for	1.50
1.00 Cotton Hammock	.80

FURNITURE. S. M. See & Sons. FURNITURE.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

THE HIFENBURG MILL.

Its Relation to Our Common Interests.—Its Improved Product Under New Mechanical Supervision.

There is no enterprise in the list of human industries so closely linked with the destinies of a small town as a flouring mill. In a large degree it is the medium of commercial intercourse between the farmer and the merchant. Under proper magnetic conditions it is the commercial lodestone toward which trade is attracted, and from which radiates more of the warmth of business fellowship than from any industry common to a farmer's market.

Even with the odds against it, no business man can afford to ignore its importance in the prosperity of his town, and if he has the good of his heart with him he will do all in his power to make it financially successful.

Charlevoix has a first-class roller mill. For the reasons above stated it should be patronized by the business men of Charlevoix. During the past year it has passed under new management. Sales are increasing and with the new era about to dawn upon our town and section, the Hifenburg mill is expected to contribute nobly toward our progress.

The new miller, Mr. L. A. West, comes from Wisconsin bearing testimonials not only of sterling qualities as a man and citizen, but as a scientific miller. From several large milling companies come written evidences that Mr. West is in every regard master of the art of making flour. From many years of experience he has learned also the relation that exists between the grain grower and grain buyer. Likewise he has learned much of the relation existing between the manufacturer and the consumer. With confidence in his ability not only to please the dealer but the farmer, Mr. West proposes to bring the Hifenburg mill to the front in this part of the state.

There is no better mill for its size anywhere. The capacity will be enlarged in the fall, when the Hifenburg mill, and there is no more capable miller or worthy gentleman anywhere than Mr. L. A. West. Mr. West desires farmers and dealers to call at the mill and become acquainted.

We confidently predict that the Hifenburg mill product will, as it should, cash every household in Charlevoix county, and crossing borders become popular throughout Northern Michigan.

Railroad Matters.

General Manager Heald, General Passenger Agent DeHaven, Chief Engineer McVean and Attorney Smith were here Tuesday. Mr. Smith, while here effected a settlement between the company and John C. Miller, in the matter of securing the latter's place in this township. The company gives him $200, an upon ground middle-class and removes his barns.

Since the settlement of the Wood and Miller right-of-way cases, work is more active in that vicinity. The suspended work is taken up, and a large force of men and teams are in the field east just north of the Stover road, which will be crossed this week. At the Wood place a 70 foot culvert has been laid, and the 24 foot fill across the creek is being made.

Our information is that work is progressing favorably all along the line, and ten miles of iron laid out of Traverse City.

The contractors have a force of men driving piles for the railroad dock, opposite the depot site here. As soon as it is completed, 20 will lay track between here and Petoskey.

General Manager Heald last Thursday located a station at Sly's, in the Township of Hayes.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Services as usual. The last sermon by the present pastorate will be preached in the morning. Baptisms and reception of members will follow the sermon. In the evening the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor will have charge of the service, at 7:30 p. m. All are cordially invited to all of all our services.

Baptist.

Rev. Henry Tallock, of Ann Arbor will hold Divine services and preach in Odd Fellows' Hall on Sunday next at 10:30 a. m. All are very cordially invited to attend.

Lost.—An old gold breast pin, oval in shape, with a carbuncle in center. Finder please leave at Washburne's store and claim reward.

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOVING.

CHAPTER VII.

[CONTINUED FROM LAST WEEK.]

Mr. Inglesby Dufour's bell rang.

"Our visitor has arrived, and you encountered from Dufour's a minute ago."

Dick again said a word servant a gigantic affair looked out. He spoke a few words, and quickly the big door swung open, allowing the door a little girl happy enough to be in.

"Is Mr. Dufour in?"

"Yes, he has been engaged at present."

The man looked at the child curiously.

"Dad—is Mrs. Dufour at home?"

"Yes, she is very busy just now."

"Mrs. Dufour, the young ladies—Judge Dufour—are they there—Mrs. Dufour's office, I—"

"See here, I don't know anybody from Lakeside; and I'm no time to answer your questions. Who are you, any way, and what do you want with Mrs. Dufour?"

"I've needed you so badly just be—cause—I want to speak to—"

"I repeat my question, who are you?"

"I am Dick Dufour's—"

The man turned his face toward the door, and called a name. Dick's heart sank. He was relating to his dock in the Lake, where Dufour's carriage was back.

"Hold up your hand. Swear its the truth."

"I'll hold up hand—but what's the use—"

"No matter. You needn't swear. Now, then, is she's not dead, how she comes back how will you know?"

"My friend will send out in a little while and let me know."

"Your friend—is a detective?"

"I guess so."

"If I call you in a little while you know how to answer my questions."

"I guess so."

Half an hour later Jack Wonder entered Dufour's office. The gentleman received him cordially. His guests crowded to the door and gazed curious the street steadily, followed her until she hurried breathless into Mount Clair Lawns, Hancock paper had such a sensation.

Then the footed that dogged her have to the Dufour's.

"Well, Jack, what's the news?"

"Dick's all right."

"Dick—he is very busy just now."

"Mrs. Dufour, the young ladies—Judge Dufour—are they there—Mrs. Dufour's office, I—"

"See here, I don't know anybody from Lakeside; and I'm no time to answer your questions. Who are you, any way, and what do you want with Mrs. Dufour?"

"You needed you so badly just be—cause—I want to speak to—"

"I repeat my question, who are you?"

"I am Dick Dufour's—"

"Dick's—Dick's—Dick's—

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1880.

WILLARD & SMITH EDITORS.

CHARLEVOIX, AUGUST 26, 1892.

Inter-Ocean: Speaking of pensions the Democratic Richmond Times says:

"The South is already tired of having to pay millions of dollars annually in taxes to be distributed among Northern frauds, perjurers and humbugs—another reason why the Grand Army of the Republic wants no fusion with the gray." Keep it up, brethren. Let the people know just how you feel.

* * *

Inter-Ocean: "Our grasshoppers—they were burning," "mortgaged Kansas"—that has excited the compassion of down East politicians—has a crop this year of grain alone that will net $20,000,000 over and above the supplies for home use, then she has her pigs and chickens and cattle for pocket money and sealskin sacks as winter bonnets.

* * *

Democrats are already tired of the role means they themselves have raised and are clamoring that they be laid aside and "the issue fought out on the tariff alone." Republicans are perfectly willing to discuss the tariff until Democrats act;-tired, but they wonder to see their opponents so supremely over their platforms as recently built and dedicated with music and banners. What is new in Ohio and Iowa to necessitate a change of front in the Democracy.—Inter-Ocean.

* * *

Hon. Nathan Frank, ex-congressman, of St. Louis, Mo., declares in a recent interview that Missouri can no longer be counted as a safe Democratic State, and that if Blaine be the Republican candidate for president in 1892, he will certainly carry that state by a good majority. The Farmers' Alliance, he says, has seriously weakened the Democracy. Blaine is extremely popular, and will polt a larger vote than any other Republican candidate. He thinks that Blaine is the only Republican candidate who can carry the state. This is only the opinion of one man; but he has had exceptional opportunities for forming an opinion in the premises.

* * *

The Democrats are many of them so fully committed to the statement that the plate cannot be manufactured in this country that they are constantly subjected themselves to mortifying disclosures of their ignorance or mendacity on the subject. Governor Campbell of Ohio is the latest victim. On a recent visit east he repeated the stock denial, accompanied by some sort of a bluff as to what he would do if anyone should manufacture American tin plate. In reply to this two Pennsylvania firms very promptly sent samples of their manufactures. The first firm, that of Marshall Bros. & Co., of Philadelphia, sent sheets of American roofing tin and challenged comparison of it with the best Welsh plate. The other firm, P. H. Langnan & Co., of Appollo, Pa., send samples of American tin plate for roofing, cornices, etc., in various sizes, equal to the best foreign product. Considering the fact that it is less than two months since the increased duty was added to tinplate the manufacture of it in this country is making very satisfactory progress. If the American free traders are not willing to concede this fact the Welsh manufacturers have a very lively sense of it. The victim of manufacturers closed and of a vanishing market is something that they can clearly comprehend.

* * *

The free traders have been trying to make the farmers believe that the great depression in prices of farm products was owing to the protective tariff. According to their theories all that was necessary to do to remedy the evil was to adopt free trade, throw open the gates wide and allow the products of foreign labor to flow in free. It mattered not that importing the products of foreign labor meant the taking away of just so much work from American artisans, thus depriving them of the power to purchase farm products. Free trade was the great panacea for all the ills of the country. Now their cry is changed. The farmers have harvested abundant crops, and are receiving good prices for all they raise, but the free traders do not give credit of this to the protective policy. Oh, no! It is all owing to the failure of crops on the other side of the ocean. The abundant crops raised by the poorly paid wage earners of Europe had nothing to do with the low prices heretofore ruling. But, as soon as prices rise, it is the failure of crops that accounts for it all. It is evident that this year the farmers are on top. The impetus given to manufacturing of all kinds by the McKinley bill has increased the home demand, and added to this comes the shortage in European countries. For their immense crops they will receive good prices. This is disastrous to the hopes of the calamity shrikers. They cannot pull the wool over the eyes of the intelligent farmer and make him believe that protection had all to do with the low prices of grain and nothing to do with the advance.

INVENTIONS THAT PAY

MINTS OF MONEY MADE OUT OF BRIGHT IDEAS.

Six Million Dollars Realized from the Baby's Tie Rack—and Several Millions from the Button Tie.

In reply to the question: "What is a patent?" the Yankee inventor once said: "It is the right to use somebody." And the answer really embodies the most comprehensive definition of the word that could be found, says the N. Y. World. The patent office annually issues 24,000 patents, and it is safe to say that one of them not less than half that number of inventions are evolved.

The great building at Washington could supply a mind of humor, of patience, of literature, and tragedy which might well furnish the novelists of the world with plots for a lifetime.

As a rule the little inventions—that is, those which seemed really insignificant—have brought forth the greatest fortunes.

The man who invented the tin tablet for bakers retired with $1,000,000 in the good.

The return ball, when consisted of an ordinary rubber or wooden ball to which was attached a long elastic cord, was invented by a shoemaker in New York. It met with universal favor and the man who originated the idea found that it prompted him in the extent of $500,000 per annum. It is said by those who are supposed to know that he never secured a patent on the device, but instead bought up all the rubber balls in the market, attaching them the elastic cords, and reaped his fortune while others were loafing around to find enough rubber with which to compete for the prize. The wire hairpin scooper is a very simple contrivance and yet it has earned an immense fortune. It was invented and patented by a man named Charles Quilfeld, who subsequently sold it for $1,000 to one Cyrus Hutter.

In the meantime a man named Painton had invented another design of the same thing, which was the detachable wire over the top of the cork. In some way one infringed upon the other and a lawsuit was begun. But the parties got together, consolidated their interests, and coined money.

One of the remarkable "simple" inventions is the cotton tie. Formerly all cotton bales were tied with rope, but there were many objections to that process which hundreds of men sought to overcome, and at last one by the name of Coons invented what was known as the "arrowhead" tie for an iron strap. The contrivance was so simple that outsiders far and near quietly took their old posts from the fence corners and kicked them around their rooms because they had not thought of the device themselves. The tie went into immediate use, thousands of "improvements" were patented, and millions of the straps were sold and millions of dollars were realized. The man who at present controls the patent and the numerous assignments connected therewith, made to him by the various inventors of improvements, has purchased the famous Navarre flats in Fifty-seventh street and is the possessor of a large fortune beside.

Everybody remembers the "fifteen puzzle." Fifteen little blocks were placed in a square box, which was made to hold sixteen. Five sixteenth space was left vacant, and block No. 1 was placed between blocks "fifteen" and "fourteen." The problem was to arrange them in order without removing a block from the box. The idea was originated by a cripple, and from it he is said to have amassed a large fortune. The puzzle was everywhere—in the houses of the rich and poor alike.

"Pharaoh's serpent" was the invention of a Brooklyn man. It consisted of a little pill, to which a lighted match was touched, when a snake crawled forth and writhed and twisted after a most serpentine and fascinating fashion. The pill sold like wildfire—which, indeed, they were—and brought the inventor between $20,000 and $100,000. Was it shrewd in the little working man as an "improvement" in his laboratory he imbibed the fumes of the chemicals he was using and died from the poisonous effects produced upon him.

Mr. Mason of the Saturday American tells many interesting stories about patents and inventors. He says the gimlet-pointed screw has brought more wealth to different men than mines of silver and gold mines of the west. A man named Walter Aiken was the first lightbulb of it and he realized a handsome fortune. Aiken's father, by the way, invented a sawset which brought him $500,000 or more.

It was a Yankee who first thought of putting copper tips on children's shoes and his check became good for magnificent sums.

Sometimes many years elapse before the good qualities of an invention are appreciated. The patent upon roller skates had nearly expired before it realized any profit. Then somebody started a rink, and so made the skate inventor worth $1,000,000.

Who has seen the "dancing Jim Crow?" Who would believe that it was worth $75,000 a year to its inventor? Yet it is true.

One of the largest fortunes ever realized from a patent was made by the man who conceived the idea of putting emery powder on cloth, and the inverted glass bell to hang over gas-burners protected by a veritable lamp of Aladdin.

The fortune of the bread-pencils made $100,000. The pen for sleeping with different pens for different things an annual stipend of $200,000, and in the year 1887 alone, we proved by testimony in a recent legal action, the inventor of metal plates for protection of the cuffs and backs of shoes realized a profit of $6,300,000.

William Chandler Raymond has written a book entitled "Curiosities of the Patent Office," and he devotes several pages to the whimsical and comical things that have been patented.

There is a mechanical sheetiron cow with eyes, which runs by clockwork and is warranted to "kick any man in Christendom." This cat is wound up and placed on the floor. Old Pomp sits upon a newcomer and tackle him. Where they obtain the light on his back is a mystery to mortals and the mechanism works. There is a small cyclone on the roof, lawnmower, jiggs, and—the old reminder relieves to meditate over the uncertainties of life.

"Any man patented a process of curing worms by fasting for them in the human stomach with rail, hook, and line. History does not state whether he used a reel or not, and fails to describe the landing net or the gaff employed for large ones. Another made a trap for catching tapeworms as one would a fox. The patient was starved and the trap set in his mouth. The worm was caught by the head and pulled out.

Upon one occasion a man sent the embalmed body of a baby to the patent office with his application to secure a patent for a new process of embalming discovered by him. The baby is not now on exhibition as a model.

A DROP OF HAY-WATER.

What One May See Therein by the Aid of a Microscope.

Let me tell you of some of the wonderful things I have seen. Once I put a little hay in a tumbler, covered it with water, and so, the glass in a warm place for a day or two. Then with a medicine-dropper, I put a drop of the water on a glass slip, covered it with a very thin glass under the size of a cent, placed it under my microscope, adjusted the focus, and what a sight met my eyes. Dozens and dozens of what looked like animated drops of jelly were darting here and there, jumping against one another, or dodging one another like scared boys at recess. Perhaps among the crowd of smaller ones would dash a much bigger fellow. I fancied it might be a big brother, older than the others by some years, and so entitled to the deference he seemed to exact. Then, in another part of the drop of water, the little ones formed almost a circle, and presently in the center of this came a big fellow—he must have been at least 1 100 of an inch long—who lay gun recoiling slowly. "P. T. Barnum," I thought to myself. That is exactly the way I have seen him act, dress an audience surrounding a circus ring." But I can never know what he told the small ones, for not even the "little ghost of an inaudible squeak" reached my ears. Besides these little creatures, I could see what looked like dark specks darting above. Determined to find out what these were, I used a stronger magnifying glass, and looking through it the specks proved to be other little swimmers, and as I had been examining, and the latter, of course, seemed larger, I saw there were still other specks darting about as a still stronger glass was took, with the same result. Magnify as I might, I could not reach a point where there were not some moving atoms needing further magnifying. I have since learned that no glass has ever been made powerful enough to reveal the tiniest of these "animcules" as they are called.—Mary J. Brandt, in N. Y. Ledger.

Intelligent Chimpanzees.

Among the most remarkable stories in Mr. Stanley's book on Africa is one told to the explorer by Emin Pasha. Here it is:

The forest of Mesogwa is infested by a tribe of chimpanzees of great stature, who make almost nightly raids on the villages and little plantations of the Mawa natives, carrying away their bananas and other fruits. There is nothing very remarkable about this fact, since many kinds of animals make pilaging forays upon the habitations of men, but the surprising part of Emin's narrative is the statement that in these thieving raids the chimpanzees make use of lighted torches to hunt out the fruits.

"If I had not been myself a witness of this spectacle," Mr. Stanley reports Emin as saying, "nothing would ever had made me believe that any race of monkeys possessed the art of making fire."

On one occasion, Emin says, a chimpanzee of this intelligent tribe stole a drum from the huts of his European troops and made off with it, bearing it as he ran.

The monkey took the drum to the headquarters of his own "people," who were evidently much charmed with it, for the Egyptian soldiers then heard the monkeys beating it vigorously, but irregularly. Sometimes a dozen of the apes would gather, and chimpanzee would get up and go to beating the drum.

But what the other chimpanzees thought of this midnight musical performance will never be known positively, but, from the fact that no sound of battle and slaughter among the Egyptian chimpanzees ever followed, the Egyptians were forced to conclude that they liked it.

Here at least, therefore, we find an indication that the grade of intelligence of even the chimpanzees of Mesogwa is still far below that of the human race.

The Tarpon.

The tarpon is the Megalops atlanticus of naturalists, a member of the family Elopidæ, and may be considered a gigantic herring. They have a wide geographical range from the extremity of the Florida reef to Cape Cod, two specimens having been captured in the latter locality in 1878. From May to September they are extremely common in the northern streams of Florida, seeking the warmer waters of the reef and the more southern islands during the winter. Large ones are the rule, averaging one hundred and fifty pounds in weight and from five to seven and a half feet in length, while their maximum length is said to be over eight feet, and their weight three hundred pounds. The smallest specie is objected to in the St. John's River, according to a naval observer, who recently described an exciting capture was effected in a manner that illustrates the agility of the species. It leaped aboard the steamer Water Lily, clearing the guards, and landing fairly in the captain's lap, who was sitting in a chair in the middle of the forward deck.—Century.

Fighting Between Men-of-War Men

"It is a curious thing, and one which I could never satisfactorily account for," said an old navy man the other day to a N. Y. Times writer, "that if the crews of an American and British man-of-war are given leave at the same time in a foreign port the result of broken heads and noses is so more a matter of speculation than the realization of the sad event. As soon as they meet a row is sighted, which generally ends with all hands being clubbed or arrested, and sometimes both. It frequently happens that the police interfere with the combatants. The newspaper law in this case is for the belligerents to join forces against the common enemy. I have often seen them come out victorious in their contests with the officers of the law, and, after adjourning to a neighboring saloon for refreshments, begin again their interrupted hostilities. But it only on mutual ground that these general engagements take place. If Jack meet an English or American sailor even alone he is sure to begin to hostilities."

THACKER & GORDON

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.,	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best on The Binder for the Money) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

THACKER & GORDON.

OLD FEEDMILL HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat.

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

MILLINERY!

JUST RECEIVED.

A fine line of

SUMMER GOODS,

Comprising all the latest novelties in Hats, Bonnets, new and desirable Ribbons, Flowers, Feathers, Birds, Gauze, an elegant assortment of Silks, Trimmings, both for Millinery and Dressmaking a nice line of Parasols.

I have also in stock a nice line of

CHILDREN'S WEAR ✿

Ladies are especially invited to call, whether wishing to buy or not. Also always pleased to show goods.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

Call and see . . . . .

A Full line of WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, PINS.

SILVER, GOLD & WOOD WARE.

GRANULATED SILVER WARE.

AGATE JEWELRY, SATIN SPAR JEWELRY, TOOTH AND HAIR JEWELRY.

Also, a Full Line of SPECTACLES AND EYE GLASSES, IN WHITE AND SMOKE.

Special attention given to all repairing. All goods sold by me will be warranted as represented.

C. R. Bellinger.

T. J. CANNON,

NEW BAKERY,

Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of

BAKED GOODS,

always on hand.

Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered.

I will run a share of your patronage, and will guarantee satisfaction in quality, price, courteous treatment and square dealing.

T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Prices furnished if desired. Barn Low.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

STRAYED.

Came into my enclosure in the township of Norwood on or about the 20th day of July, 1892, one spotted black and white heifer, about 1 year old, does not give milk. The owner can have the same by the payment of all charges.

THOMAS WARNER.

Take The Sentinel

HERE'S THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

BOOTS AND SHOES AT FIRST COST.

We are Closing out our entire goods in a great portion to make ready for fall stock. Many of these goods are at cost price.

Don't Miss These Bargains.

We are making great Reductions in all lines. Come while the stock is yet complete.

SHERWOOD

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Or Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are finbered with beech and maple and other valuable hardwoods—the best farming lands in Michigan.

By Water and Rail

Lands are in a safe magnetical for health, well water and easy conditions to the great fruit raising and dairy region of Michigan.

Take the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad, through to some of the great. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated.

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of thirty souls and is capable filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.

TITLES PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to my

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We will sheep for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES and other FOOT WEAR,

-AT-

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

Fox & Miller.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counsellor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts of Charlevoix County. Title examined, loans negotiated, and real estate exchanged. Call and learn to deal. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. A. SAWYER, Attorney and Counsellor and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

L. O. O. F.—Torch Light Lodge No. 159, meets every Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

G. A. R.—Rector Post No. 116, meets second Monday each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 77, O. E. S., meets at the first Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Cassie Hilton, W. M. Effie Mulford, Secretary.

FOREST CHAPTER, No. 103 R. A. M., meets at Masonic Hall the first Monday in each month.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 299, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MACKINAC COMMANDERY No. 56, K. T., meets at Masonic Hall in Charlevoix, the second Friday in each month.

PROTECTED ASSEMBLY, No. 3911, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at 7:30, at Hotel Dow.

BAXTER RELIEF CORPS, No. 173, meets at G. A. R. hall every Saturday of each month, at 2 o'clock p. m. Hattie Dow, Sec.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEON S. H. Physician and Surgeon—Office Pine Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. L. JONES, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. Deputy county surveyors in attendance.

The "New Charlevoix."

M. H. HOUSE, Prop.

(Known as the "FIRKIN" HOUSE.)

Beautifully located on the South Terrace, overlooking the Village and Lake.

LARGE ROOMS AND EXCELLENT CUISINE.

Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated throughout.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 105 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only first minutes from the Union Depot. Cars pass the door.

New house with all modern improvements, equipment and service. Rates, $1 and up. European plan. Rooms $2.00 weekly, one person. Rooms and apartments, $2 and up. Turkish, Russian, Roman baths and gymnasium. Ladies' and gentlemen's cafe. Restaurant. Best in the city. Reasonable prices. Special rates to Commercial Travelers and Union League Clubs. Table d'Hote dinner, 25c. Cars transfer the length of the city.

DR. G. W. CROUTER.

Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert.

FOUNDREYMEN.

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $14 to $30.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,

Merchant Tailor

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 66 feet front on Clinton St., and in one block with nine houses, newly finished on outside. Inquire of PROF. O. M. HUGE, Escanaba, Mich.

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE

Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points in the West.

Leave Traverse City, 5:40 a.m. 12:25 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Grand Rapids, 11:15 p.m. 3:50 p.m. 10:15 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids 7:00 a.m. 1:40 p.m. 10:25 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City, 12:20 p.m. 6:20 p.m. 5:35 a.m.

Leave Traverse City, Mondays only 10:00 a.m. for Ludington.
Leave Ludington 2:00 p.m. arrive Grand Rapids 4:30 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids 9:00 a.m. for Ludington.
Leave Ludington 11:00 a.m. arrive Traverse City 1:00 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Petoskey 8:45 a.m. 2:30 p.m. 8:15 p.m.
Leave Petoskey 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:30 p.m. 8:15 p.m.

Leave Petoskey 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Bay View 7:05 a.m. 12:50 p.m. 6:20 p.m.
Leave Bay View 7:10 a.m. 12:55 p.m. 6:25 p.m.
Arrive Petoskey 7:15 a.m. 1:00 p.m. 6:30 p.m.

Leave Petoskey 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Alanson 7:45 a.m. 1:45 p.m. 7:00 p.m.
Leave Alanson 8:00 a.m. 2:00 p.m. 7:15 p.m.
Arrive Petoskey 8:45 a.m. 2:30 p.m. 8:15 p.m.

Leave Petoskey 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Boyne Falls 11:15 a.m. 5:05 p.m. 10:35 p.m.
Leave Boyne Falls 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Petoskey 11:15 a.m. 5:05 p.m. 10:35 p.m.

Leave Petoskey 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Harbor Springs 7:25 a.m. 1:25 p.m. 6:45 p.m.
Leave Harbor Springs 7:30 a.m. 1:30 p.m. 6:50 p.m.
Arrive Petoskey 7:55 a.m. 1:55 p.m. 7:15 p.m.

Leave Petoskey 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Cheboygan 10:45 a.m. 4:45 p.m. 9:45 p.m.
Leave Cheboygan 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Petoskey 10:45 a.m. 4:45 p.m. 9:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Elk Rapids 7:45 a.m. 1:45 p.m. 7:00 p.m.
Leave Elk Rapids 8:00 a.m. 2:00 p.m. 7:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:30 p.m. 8:15 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Suttons Bay 7:35 a.m. 1:25 p.m. 6:55 p.m.
Leave Suttons Bay 7:40 a.m. 1:30 p.m. 7:00 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:15 a.m. 2:00 p.m. 7:35 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Northport 8:15 a.m. 2:15 p.m. 7:35 p.m.
Leave Northport 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:15 a.m. 2:15 p.m. 7:35 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Leland 8:15 a.m. 2:15 p.m. 7:35 p.m.
Leave Leland 8:30 a.m. 2:30 p.m. 7:50 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 9:45 a.m. 3:45 p.m. 9:05 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Frankfort 11:00 a.m. 5:00 p.m. 10:20 p.m.
Leave Frankfort 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 11:00 a.m. 5:00 p.m. 10:20 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Kalkaska 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Kalkaska 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Walton 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Walton 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Williamsburg 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Williamsburg 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Bellaire 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Bellaire 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Alba 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Alba 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Mancelona 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Mancelona 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Kewadin 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Kewadin 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Ellsworth 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Ellsworth 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Atwood 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Atwood 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Central Lake 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Central Lake 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Traverse City 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.

Leave Traverse City 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Arrive Elk Rapids 8:45 a.m. 2:45 p.m. 7:45 p.m.
Leave Elk Rapids

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

DEATH CLAIMED MANY.

UNUTTERABLY SAD FATE OF MANY EXCURSIONISTS.

Death of One of America's Most Noble Journalists—Accounts Misstatements or Trouble in Close Quarters Has a Tough on Those Who Did Escape.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Scores of Men, Women and Children Killed and Maimed.

Nineteen people met death in one of the most terrible forms at Coney Island, Long Island. Thirty lives were crushed out of them, their blood clotted, and perhaps more were injured, some of them, of course, fatally, as the result of an excursion, earlier, composed of the employes of the Pratt & Lambert, a city goods movement of Brooklyn, E. D., and the Pratt & Lambert Paint Works, on the steamer Nelson St. and on the Iron Republic. Some of the people had been in the grounds for dances and among. They were then in the grounds and had remembered and were about to start on their homeward journey. Some had waged prizes, the latter, mining one pier, others, the Nelson, had been on the steamer, returning to finish the people who had spent the day at Coney Island. Each steamer was full of people, and it was the steamer Nelson that was the first to come in contact with the Iron Republic, according to the number of names on the Pratt & Lambert list, the Nelson had on board, quite some time, in fact, half an hour, before the Iron Republic came in sight. How much longer the latter was in coming, no one could tell, but it was generally thought that the Nelson was either in the way or had lost her bearings, in the opinion of the people, the latter was in the way, and the latter was in the way, and the latter was in the way, and

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, AUGUST 26, 1891.

THE SAILORS.

Gossip For the Marines—Matters of Interest Here and Elsewhere.

The schooner Seaman lost her jib-boom and head gear in a collision with a Chicago bridge last week. Imagine the language on the quarter deck about that time.

Capt. J. P. Hodges, a well-known retired lake mariner, died at Detroit last week. Capt. Hodges will be remembered by old settlers as Master of the steamer Boscobel, which wooded here about 20 years ago.

Notwithstanding the advance in seaman's wages lumber freights continue as dull as ever. There is not the least sign of improvement, so vessel agents say, and it now looks as if the depressed condition of lumber carrying is to continue through the fall. Rates do not go any lower, because they are now at the bottom, and boats will not accept any less, preferring to lie in port.

Milwaukee Wisconsin.—The Schooner Lincoln Hall, of Chicago, has this season been engaged in carrying bark to this port, but Capt. John Hall declares he will steer clear of the trade in the future. On her last trip the Hall ran four cords short of the pier measurement at the shipping point. To this Capt. Hall did not demur in fact he congratulated himself upon getting off with so light a shrinkage. Last evening, however, when the result of the present trip showed a shortage of twenty cords the Captain was inconsolable. The Hall carries about 196 cords, and that she should run short twenty cords on that amount with careful piling and honest measurement is scarcely credible. Remeasurance is useless as the receivers invariably, and no doubt to a considerable extent correctly, attribute the discrepancy to loose piling at the point of production and shipment. But Capt. Hall's experience is common to all bark carriers. It is remarkable only because of the large amount of the shortage. With each recurring season a wail goes up all along the entire line from those engaged in the bark-carrying trade, and yet they keep right on carrying, worrying and swearing. Shortages are common in every branch of the lake carrying trade, but it is safe to say that can bark heads the list in this particular direction with a huge percentage.

Norwood Notes.

G. V. Nash went fishing up the Jordan last week.

Mrs. E. Raymond Hiles, wife of ex-county attorney, Hiles of Chicago, has been making a pleasant visit with the Van Pelt's this week.

Edd Stafford is bidding on some work for the railroad. You can bet the R. R. will move if Edd gets hold of it.

Will Superman will attend business college at Detroit this fall and winter.

Mrs. Kleibacker and daughter, Adelle left for home, St. Louis, Mo. on the Lawrence Monday.

The Cummings set fire to a pile of ties on the dock last Saturday, but it takes the Norwood Fire Dept. but a short time to subdue a fire even after it has gained much headway.

Mrs. Vernie Sicken and children left for Burlington, Vt. Wednesday.

Will Ward and H. M. Chamberlain of Detroit, were in town over Sunday.

The Keeney pea crop is now being marketed here and is turning out better than last year's crop.

The cooper shop is now running full blast and turning out lots of nice apple barrels.

The shingle mill closed down Tuesday night after a four weeks run cutting a million shingles.

The L. A. S. meets with Mrs. G. V. Nash, Wednesday afternoon this week.

A Mr. Babcock, of Harbor Springs has been hired to teach the school this winter.

Ellsworth.

Miss Flavie Smith, of Grand Rapids is here to stay with her sister, Mr. Wallace Whitford, this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bacot were visiting friends at Undine Sunday.

Cram, Whitford and Sons have their logs all sawed off from the beach and will be done sawing in about two weeks.

Geo. Blythe has purchased a farm near Lake Lake and is moving today.

Northern Michigan News.

Andrew Knowland, of Boyne Falls, has been granted a pension under the late disability law. He will receive $12 per month to date from August, 1890.

Boyne City fishermen are all looking for the biggest bass in Pine Lake. Five pounds is the largest yet caught but several have had six pound bites and nibbles and are not discouraged.

H. G. Rose, of Petoskey, has again suffered loss by fire. This time it is the stave mill between Petoskey and Bay View. Loss, $1,500.

The Grand Rapids & Indiana and the Chicago & West Michigan railroad Companies have appropriated fifty dollars each to be given in special premiums at the Antrim county fair this year.

The captain of the Salvation Army in Cheboygan came down with the small-pox, and the report has spread around the state that a small-pox epidemic has established business headquarters there.

The Petoskey City Bank during the months of June and July cashed pension checks aggregating $10,161.02. This is at the rate of $40,644.08 for the year, as the pension payments are made quarterly.

Blackberries are so plentiful around Boyne Falls that it will not be putting it too strong to say that thousands of bushels will be gathered. They are selling at from five to seven cents per quart.

The Antrim County Agricultural Society will hold its fair Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1. The officers of the society are making a special effort to make the fair not only a success but to have it eclipse all its predecessors. It is expected that Gen. Alger will be present.

At Central Lake, on the line of the new C. & N. W. railroad, is a sink-hole into which over 100 feet of earth filling has disappeared. A lake several rods distant is being filled by the slide. The strip of timber that formerly stood between the railroad line and the lake now stands in the lake.

"Hurrit Island" is a low island but a few feet above the water, lying northwest from Mackinac Island five miles or so, and has been used as a pasture for the teams of the Mackinac Lumber Co. for many years. It now appears that under the thin soil the island is one big uplift of gypsum.

A long blast of the whistle of the 40 year old Hannah, Lay & Co. saw mill at Traverse City, one day last week announced that the last pine log had been cut, and the days of the manufacture of pine lumber at Traverse City were gone. The Herald remarks: "The old dispensation has ended, the new one begun. When in olden times the king died, and his son took his place as he drew his last breath, heralds walked the city's streets proclaiming, 'The king is dead! Long live the king!' On this August day of 1891, King Pine, old and worn, departed—King Hardwood, young, vigorous and triumphant, took the throne."

A peculiar accident happened one day last week, in front of the Arlington hotel at Petoskey, which, if it had happened at any other time would have resulted fatally. The bay View dummy was pulling up on the main track to the water tank when the engineer, Ed Haaf, saw a freight coming on his track. There was no way out of a collision, he thought, so he threw back the lever, reversed the engine, and jumped. Engineer Grosvelt of the freight stuck to his engine like a man, reversed her, and both locomotives came together with a bump that took off both cowcatchers. The force of the collision and the reversion of the dummy started it down the track with throttle wide open. There was nobody on board to stop it, as the fireman had joined his companion, and the engine whirled by the depot and through Petoskey at full speed. Fortunately nothing was in the way, and no accident. Haaf got on to a handcar and chased the engine down the road, catching up with her below Clarion, where she was without a pound of steam in her boiler.

—Mrs. G. W. Crouter went to Manistee Thursday.

The First to Arrive.

The Grand Rapids Daily Democrat now arrives in Charlevoix at 6 p. m. same day as published, 18 hours ahead of Detroit morning papers. It contains the full associated press dispatches. Delivered by McCartney & Co. at 50 cents a month.

Attention!!

Gen'l Order No. 1. HEADQUARTERS CHARLEVOIX COUNTY Soldiers & Sailors Associa'n CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Aug. 14, 1891.

Notice is hereby given that the ANNUAL BIRTHDAY of the Charlevoix County Soldiers and Sailors Association will be held at Charlevoix on Friday and Saturday, September 18th and 19th, 1891.

By command of
E. H. GREEN, Adjutant. MORRIS J. STUCKMAN, Commander.

WANTED.—A good cook at the Bridge Street House, at once.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

Household furniture, carpets, stoves tables, chairs, and many articles too numerous to mention. For particulars inquire of JOHN S. ROSS.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-52

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists.

A Safe Investment.

is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of throat, lungs or chest, such as consumption, inflamation of lungs, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co's drug store.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

FULLY STOCKED for Fall TRADE.

We call your attention to the following
Exceptionally low prices.

Flannels, 36 to 54 inches, from 25 to 75 cents. A full line of shades.

In Black Goods we cannot be surpassed. In Cashmeres, Cheviots, Henriettas, Serges, Flannels and Broadcloths. Also a full line of novelties, from 25 to $1.50.

Cambrics reduced to 5c.

And those Jackson Corsets, 45c.

Table Linen, a full and comptete line.

Our stock of Shirt and Skirting Flannels is complete

Cotton Flannels, bleached, from 6¾ cts. to one shilling; Unbleached from 6¼ cts. to one shilling.

Ginghams, cut from cut from 10 cts. to 7½ cts.

Chash, from 6 cts. to one shilling.

Light Shirting prints, 4 cts.

Indigo Blues, 6 cts.

Cottons, bleached, from 7 cts. to 10 cts.; Unbleached, 5½ cts. to 10 cts.

Our yarns are away "out of sight.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF FALL JACKETS JUST RECEIVED.

MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

WASHBURNE TALKS
ABOUT BARGAINS.

1. All Wool Double Fold Dress Flannel. All shades, 25 Cents.

2. LIGHT PRINTS, 4c. INDIGO (best) 6 l4c. RED STAR L. L. Cotton, 6c.

3. Cotton Flannel White, 8 to 10. Brown, 8 to 12 1-2. SHAKER WHITE, 10c. A Bargain.

4. Scotch Ginghams. Reduced to 11 1-2 Cents.

5. Royal Serges. Going fast at 5 3-4 Cents.

6. Peau Du Soie. An Elegant and Popular Weave of Black Silk Selling at $1.25 to $1.75.

7. Sheep Grey Yarn. All Wool 60c. Ger. Knitting Yarn. 75c.

8. Men's Seamless Cotton Sox. A bargain at 12 1-2c pr. 6 for 70c.

9. JACKSON CORSET WAISTS For Ladies and Children. A Crushe at 48 Cents.

10. BLACK DRESS GOODS The best to be found, in quality excelled by none.

11. Linen Crashes, at 7c. Men's Outside Shirts and Underwear, 48 cts. Pants, 95 c.

12. Call and see A. T. Washburne And Get Information.

A. T. WASHBURNE
THE DRY GOODS MAN.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

DRUGS and MEDICINES, PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE, CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS, STATIONERY.

Prescriptions carefully compounded.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

THE BOSS ADDER.

Not a serpent, but one of the mechanical wonders of the nineteenth century. Combines the cunning of the serpent with the harmlessness of the dove. A machine for adding figures, one or two columns at a time. We have them.

TABLETS. Manufactured by the largest paper house in the world, and sold by no other firm in Charlevoix. Some great values.

Newsdealers W. H. McCARTNEY & CO., Stationers.

Save Your Dollars.

BUY THE BEST.

Heath & Milligan's "Best" Paint has no Rival, Here or Anywhere.

Read what one of the "Best" Painters in Charlevoix says of it:

"There is no other paint for sale here which which can be compared to Heath and Milligan's for covering quality, lustre and beauty of finish, and, better still, it outwears every other paint. Yes, three! Heath and Milligan's is the Best."

Get a sampte card at the Charlevoix Hardware Co.'s Store. Try it and you will always buy it.

HAVE YOU SEEN ANTI RUST?

Yours for the best at the lowest price,

H. L. IDDINGS, Proprietor.

Aug. 5, 1891.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO.-9. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 2, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,133.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
Druggists.

WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER

AND BORDERS AT COST.
....AT....
CALKINS & WARNE.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

Four fine locations for New Summer Resorts now on sale by E. H. GREEN.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.

REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.

REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.

REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.

REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

ALL THE PEOPLE
Have waited long for a Rail Road.

They have also waited some time for a good crop of Peaches.

Now, We Are About to Have Both.

From now until the close of the Season, I shall endeavor to supply everybody with Peaches You may come just as soon as you choose, I have them, a little high just now: But keep coming, they will be lower.

Peaches! Peaches!! Peaches!!!
O. W. SMITH.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.

We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.

Will take all the
----- HEMLOCK BARK -----
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.

BERT MASON

FURNITURE. BARGAINS. FURNITURE.

We also have two Sewing Machines which have been rented out for a short time, which we will sell very cheap.

$14.00	Baby carriage for	$12.00
$10.00	Baby carriage for	$ 8.50
$ 9.00	Baby carriage for	$ 7.75
$ 1.25	White Mexican Hammock for	$ 1.00
$ 1.50	Palmetto No. 3 Hammock for	$ 1.10
$ 2.00	Palmer's No. 4 Hammock for	$ 1.50
$ 1.00	Cotton Hammock	$ .80

FURNITURE. S. W. See & Son. FURNITURE.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year . . $1.00 | Six months . . $ .75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—W. H. McCartney & Co. have a new display this week.

—Teachers examination Friday of this week at this place.

—Capt. Roddy, of St. James, has been in town the past week.

—The Methodist Sunday School held a picnic in the park Tuesday.

—T. K. Hanna and family return to their home in Kansas City today.

—A. T. Washburne has a new ad. this week, which you will do well to read carefully.

—Deputy oil-inspector Gallagher, of Cheboygan, was in town last week Friday and Saturday.

—At Mrs. Blanchards: Mrs. McKnight and daughter, and Mrs. Davis, all of Galesburg, Ill.

—Wm. Lobdell, of Buffalo, is here visiting his brother Sam, his parents, and his sister, Mrs. Dr. LeFevre.

—The Charlevoix Hardware Co., call your attention to the new advertisement in their space this week.

—Guie M. Lee, the Chinese laundryman, has augmented his force by another chinaman from Chicago.

—Mrs. M. P. Burns leaves tomorrow for Traverse City, to spend the winter with her son, W. F. Harsha.

—Mr. Quincey Thacker was called to Traverse City yesterday by the serious illness of his brother-in-law.

—Albert Ackert's new brick house, on the south terrace has the roof on, and is rapidly approaching completion

—W. W. Canfield, of Port Huron, joined his wife last week, and has been enjoying himself among friends.

—C. A. Norris, of Batavia, Ill., a regular hay fever habitue here for several years is again at the Ferguson House.

—A. T. Hoss left for a week's visit in Chicago, after which he will return to work for R. Connable & Sons, Petoskey.

—Mrs. I. P. Eddy has returned to Grand Rapids, and her brother, W. C. Graves, has returned to his post of in Detroit.

—"Tom's Vacation" is to appear at Lewis's friend Opera House the 14th. Ray L. Royce, the eminent comedian is the Star.

—Rev. S. W. Frisbie, of Detroit and Rev Henry Tollock, of Ann Arbor returned home Wednesday, via Traverse City.

—Alanson Campbell, for the past year a clerk at Manistique, has returned home to accept a position at Geo. W. Miller's.

—Jim Parsons and Lew Smith celebrated the first day of the game season by bringing in nine partridges, one duck and four plovers.

—Mrs. Kauffmann and the Misses Pattee, who have been stopping at Mrs. O. S. Washburn's returned to their home in St. Louis, yesterday.

—Mrs. W. H. Downer, of Lake Geneva, Wis., is at the Fountain City home with her husband and son, and will remain during the greater part of September.

—5 M. See on Thursday received a telegram from Rochester, N. Y. announcing the death of his brother William. He and Byron at once left for Rochester.

—Mr. W. O. Stone, of Chicago, representing the British Electric Light Co., was here this week, looking over the town with an eye to business He went from here to St. Ignace —Rev. J. J. Kanagy and his two daughters went to Atwood Saturday, for a visit. While there Mr. Kanagy will fill the appointments of Rev. Mr. Chamberlain, who goes to Wisconsin for a few weeks medical treatment.

—James Ford, a stranger within our gates, got loose jointed Monday and made too free with a revolver on the streets. The marshal took him up over night, and the court bled him to the extent of about $7.50 in the morning.

—Young Mr. Wm. Peters, of Marion, was reckless enough to speak slanderous words regarding a neighbor's wife, recently, and the lady swore out a warrant for the boy. He was arraigned before Justice McLeod and a jury Thursday. And the court, after the jury returned a verdict of guilty, made the defendant pay $10 and costs—in all close onto $30.

—The Epworth League, of the M. E. Church gives a social at the parsonage tonight. An Art Gallery arranged by the young ladies will be one of the attractions. Ice Cream and cake, 15c.; admission to the Art Gallery, 5c.

—On next Monday evening Sept. 7, will occur the annual School meeting. Among other things to be done will be the election of an Assessor for the next three years. It is the duty of every taxpayer to attend the meeting. Don't forget.

—The G. R. & I. railroad is now selling round trip tickets to Detroit and will continue the same until Sept. 4, good to return Sept. 5, at one limited fair for the round trip, with 50 cents added for admission to the International Fair and Exposition.

—Married, on the 27th, by Rev. Mr. Jerry, Mr. Frank M. Sears, of Charlevoix, and Miss Ida Canfield, of Port Huron. Frank and his bride have settled down in the pleasant suit of rooms in the Hutters block. Long life and happiness to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Sears.

—Every day now resorters are returning to their homes. The summer of 1891 has been the shortest in the history of Charlevoix. July was a remarkably cool month, and the rains and cool weather of the latter part of August have made the season very unsatisfactory.

—Twenty young girls have been organized into a zouave company, and are being drilled by A. R. Brink, who was one of "Billy Wilson's Zouaves" during the war. The company will be one of the attractions at the county G. A. R. reunion here, on the 18th and 19th. The girls be appropriately uniformed, and will make a hit.

—Rev. J. S. Rood and family left Monday for Chicago, where, as previously stated, Mr. Rood enters upon a two years course in the Chicago Theological Seminary. Many good wishes go over the lake with Mr. Rood and his wife, and the kindest of words spoken by those not only of their church circle, but the community at large.

—J. C. Schaub, of Boyne City, has a blow out just once a year—not one of the blind that the remark will most naturally suggest—but a decent blow out. His birthday occurs once a year, and at each recurring mile-stone of his life he gives a free excursion to his customers. This year he chartered the Friant and took his friends to Northport. The event occured Saturday, and was successful.

—Thursday last a stranger took quarters at the Ingleside boarding house. He first gave his name as Henry Hudson, but told several stories as to his place of abode. He acted queer from the start, but yesterday morning he came down from his room a veritable lunatic. He was clothed from head to foot, white and black stripes on his face, and upon further questioning said he was here "hunting for his name." He provided himself with a branch of a balsam tree, in the large end of which he fastened a sharpened spike. With this he wandered about town, and was taken into custody by officer Blank, near the Chicago Resort, and locked up. He will be taken before Judge Mayne to-day to be examined for lunacy. Later he gives his name as Henry Moore, and says he came from the township of Hager, north east of Benton Harbor.

Railroad Notes.

General Manager Heald, in a recent interview with the Daily Inter-Ocean repeats what is previously stated to the SENTINEL that there is a likelihood of train service between Charlevoix and Petoskey the coming winter.

About fifty piles are driven for the railroad dock at this place.

The contract for the Charlevoix bridge has been let and the structure is to be completed by Jan 1st. next.

Watson Bros., who have the grading of two miles between Elsworth and the Sibley & McCracken contract, report their work progressing satisfactorily.

Mr. Seymour, the C. & W. M. bridge and dock contractor, is here with his foreman and a gang of eight carpenters. Work began yesterday on the superstructure of the dock, and the force will continue work here until the dock and bridge is completed. Mr. Seymour is buying timber and piles up the lake.

Track laying on the Chicago & West Michigan has been temporarily suspended, awaiting the graders. Tomorrow the work will proceed.

Washburn & Ackert have taken a contract of stumping nearly a mile of railroad right of way for Sibley & McCracken and are getting their stump machine on the ground.

Let Us Make Haste Slowly.

The Democrat has in a series of interviews with citizens given a compendium of public opinion on the water works question, the trend of which is against the bonding of the village for such public improvement. In these opinions we concur.

But we will not be far afield in saying that the taxpayers of Charlevoix will not hastily indorse any project to grant franchise for that or kindred enterprises without first thoroughly canvassing the proposition in the light of all future contingencies. There are many things to think of in this regard that we will not here enumerate. In many cases a franchise is only another name for robbery. It makes very little difference whether taxpayers are burdened with taxation to pay interest upon debentures, or whether they, in another form, bond themselves with a burden to enrich a corporation.

Public improvements secured under a franchise may be an unmixed benefit, and they may, on the other hand, prove an unmixed evil. It may be said that the granting of a franchise is placing a mortgage upon the possibilities of an unknown future. It may be that the blessings of the future may exceed even the limit of our hopes, and the idea suggests corresponding unforseen inequality of benefit as between the public and the corporation, and for which there can be no remedy until the "pound of flesh" is in the hand of Shylock, and the bond satisfied.

We have every confidence in the judgment and integrity of the present village council, but suggest to them the necessity of weighing carefully and scrutinizing critically any proposition looking toward the granting of franchises to individuals or corporations for public improvements. In the light of past events, they should proceed with caution.

But in this matter of water works the cold fact confronts us that a crying necessity exists, and it must be supplied. The electric light question is a suplementary one. With one will come the other; and, if you will, we will keep away the flies while you are dreaming about a street railway. But water works in the near future are a sanitary necessity. Indeed, we cannot provide means for proper drainage without first providing a system of public water supply.

And we admit that the only feasible solution of the problem is, in our of our present financial condition, to empower private capital by a franchise, to supply the want, but in so doing, we should, as far as possible, compass all contingencies and anticipate all possibilities in the granting of privileges.

What we do let us do wisely, and for the best good of all.

Norwood Notes.

Chester Denton went to Detroit Tuesday.

Vern Culbertson, of Mancelona, is in town this week.

Blossom Goodrich and niece left for Richmond, Vt., Tuesday.

G. V. Nash went to Milwaukee Tuesday.

Mr. D. Sauer and wife, C. H. Ferguson and son Charlie returned to Chicago Monday.

John Merriam and Lydia Superman were married Tuesday at East Jordan and went to Chicago on the Petoskey Wednesday.

Mr. D. Sauer, of Chicago, who has been spending a very pleasant summer here with his family, says Norwood is the place for him every time and will be up again next summer.

E. R. Harris' old horse Billy died of old age Tuesday.

Rev. J. W. Lent preaches his last sermon before conference next Sunday.

Dr. Thad Lewis this week purchased of Blossom Goodrich the house and lot he has had in front, of J. W. VanDuesen and start a dairy farm.

The watchman at the mill saw a large bear the other night near the

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN

A NEWSY MELANGE.

DOINGS OF OUR NEIGHBORS AT HOME AND ABROAD.

Events of Interest and Importance in Every Section of the Home-Instructive Intelligence—Crimes and Casualties—Industrial Science—Personal Mention.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICANS

Have Placed Their State Ticket in the Field.

Secretary of Internal Affairs	Thomas J. Stewart.
State Treasurer	Henry K. Boyer.

The Pennsylvania Republican State Convention met at Harrisburg and on first ballot chose the gentleman named above as candidates for the respective offices. The contest in took a lively interest in the surface indications, but resolved itself to no candidate for the Presidency. The platform adopted favors the free coinage of silver.

RECORDS ALL BROKEN.

A Wonderful Quick Trip of the Chicago Express Train.

The White Star steamships Teutonic and Majestic, which are the fastest on the Atlantic in 5 days or hours and 6 minutes, when in good condition, have for a week past performed, covering the distance, 3 hours and 20 minutes, made to the Valentia, of the mean time 5 days 15 hours and 7 minutes.

BASE-BALL.

Standings in the National League Clubs up to and including Sept. 1.

	Games Won.	Games Lost.	Per Cent.
Boston	75	35	.682
Baltimore	73	37	.664
Cleveland	71	39	.645
Philadelphia	67	43	.609
Cincinnati	65	45	.591
Brooklyn	63	47	.573
New York	58	52	.527
Chicago	55	55	.500
Pittsburg	53	57	.482
St. Louis	45	65	.409
Louisville	35	75	.318
Washington	32	78	.291

Games to be played on Sunday, Sept. 8.

Boston at Washington	Pittsburg at Louisville
Baltimore at Philadelphia	Cleveland at St. Louis
New York at Brooklyn	Chicago at Cincinnati

FIRE IN THE WOODS.

A Fearful Conflagration Raging in Michigan.

A terrible conflagration is now raging in the woods of Michigan. The fire is said to have started from the sparks from a passing locomotive on the Ontonagon & Western railroad, near the village of Zellwood, in Ontonagon county, on Sunday, Aug. 25, and has been fanned by the gales of last week into a fierce conflagration. The fire is said to be the most destructive in this country, except among those of the pioneer days that history has preserved for us. Occasionally the early frost would nip the corn in the ills and the farmers would be alarmed to see a few ears of their corn shriveled in a single night. The time seems to have come for corn to fully repay all the expenses of its cultivation, and the farmers in the northern portion of the Lower Peninsula are jubilant over the prospect of a bumper crop. The corn is so far ripe that it will take a hard frost to injure it, and the farmers are now in the midst of the harvest. The corn is so much better than last year that it is a matter of congratulation to the farmers. The wheat is all in the shock, and the farmers are now busy with the threshers. The yield of wheat is not so large as last year, but the quality is much better. The oats are a good average crop, and the farmers are busy with the harvest. The potato crop is a failure, the bugs having taken possession of them early in the season. The hop crop is also a failure, the lice having taken possession of the vines early in the season. The fruit crop is large, and the farmers are busy with the harvest. The prospect for a good crop of apples is very good. The farmers are busy with the harvest. The prospect for a good crop of apples is very good. The farmers are busy with the harvest. The prospect for a good crop of apples is very good. The

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 2, 1891.

SQUAWK-ERS.

A Scathing Arraignment of our "Reform" Legislature by a Democratic Paper that Confesses it is ashamed that It Aided in Electing Such a Disreputable Set.

Below we give one or two extracts from a lengthy article from the Detroit Evening News, (Dem.) under the heading of "Legislative misfeasance:"

"God sends, this year, to the people of Michigan, their Fourth of July at a time when they most need some great reminder of their political inheritance of freedom, viz., following upon the heels of the adjournment of a legislature which has done little else than to separate its enemies, and to disgrace and to wound its friends. The Sun has asked hundreds of enquiring friends to await with patience its answer to the query why it has devoted so little of its news and editorial space to the doing of Michigan's first Democratic legislature since the war, and the patience of those friends is now rewarded on this Fourth day of July, 1891. The negative course of the Sun during the legislative session was caused by a kind of paralysis. We have stood dumfounded by the uninterrupted succession of shameless atrocities which the present legislature has perpetrated. The reason the Sun has not been outspoken during the perpetration of these outrages is that even a metropolitan paper must be given time to catch its breath in moments of great and uncommon surprises. We have waited until the end of the session, in the vain hope that some great, redeeming act of decency would give us the opportunity to sing one short song of praise for the men we helped to send to Lansing. Even the murderer Gilligan breakably jumped into the sea and saved a Woman's life before he went home to shoot to death his comrade Casey. But the Michigan legislature has saved nobody, probably not even its own return to a power abased.

The part which the Sun took in the election of this legislature was taken with hopefulness and pride. We believed that a change was needed in every branch of administration of our public affairs. The Republican boast than anybody, if he was a Republican, could carry the state of Michigan, had become too true for the public safty. The influence of the Sun was honestly exerted to elect a class of men who, we fully believed would be inspired with the single ambition to carry out the pledges of the platform and to convict the misgovernment of the past by substituting therefore an honest and brilliant conduct of public affairs. The outcome, however, has brought to us little rise than humiliation and sorrow. We do not, at this moment, recall a single act of this legislature or of the Governor upon which we would care to stake the fortunes of another popular canvass, in favor of this same class of men. On the contrary, the sins of omission and commission are so numerous that it is difficult to single out one for distinguishment from any and all others. To make a stab anywhere into the journal of either House is to puncture some measure of stupidity and dishonor, which no good government can for a moment justify. The party yoke is good for a certain degree of discipline when organization is highly important, but when it is worn at the expenses of patriotism and honor, it becomes the yoke of slavery.

Again, foreseeing by that instinct through which all malefactors foresee their condemnation, that there was little likelihood of popular approval at the polls of their misdoing, the legislature has proceeded to defeat the people's will by a gerrymander of the state as disgraceful as any which has as yet marked the history of Republican party politics. This reform legislature had before it the grand opportunity of rising to its duty, and through that performance of assuring a popular approval that would have effected its honorable return to power. Instead, however, it has chosen to betray its trust and to rely for future success upon the vulgar political trick of a gerrymander is the advertisement of the politicians, distrust of the people.

The Sun has heretofore given its opinion of the Grand Army of the Republic. It is sufficient to say now that the legislature, with a consistency rare among legislative bodies, has sustained by its vote, one of the most reprehensible vetoes. The Sun helped to elect the Governor and the legislature, on the glorious independence day the Sun is not so proud of its last campaign work as it was on the day after the election.

R. H. Green offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Dexter street and two on Antrim street. Also the best open hundred foot water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

MRS. ROBIN'S TROUBLE.

"And I want you to be sure to wake me at the first blush of day Robin dear," murmured Mrs. Robin with a drowsy flutter. "We must be stirring, there is such a demand for locations now that we won't secure a good one unless we are out early."

Mr. Robin gave an angry flirt.

"There you go again!" he cried crossly. "You've waked me up so many times now that I am catching the grip from pulling my head out from under my wing every time I get it warm and comfortable. First you thought you heard bugs on the lower limb, then you believed I'd forgotten to mark the place where we carried up those worms for breakfast, and now I'm too waking up. I declare my feathers are turning grey from lack of sleep. Will you keep still?"

"There, there, dear," chirped Mrs. Robin cheerfully. "I'll keep still. And really, my nerves are all in a flutter. I have so much on my mind."

It was daylight just a little, but Mr. and Mrs. Robin, having bathed and drank in the sparkling dew, finished their breakfast and were preparing for the business of the day.

"I believe that last grub disagreed with me," said Mrs. Robin, languidly. "Grubs are so rich! I feel quite bad."

Mr. Robin smiled a little slightly. His wife was a very sensible bird, but she had been flying pretty high with some Southern orioles this past winter and had some quite elevated ideas in her head of late.

"Where will you look first, Mr. Robin?" she said, shaking the bright drops from her wing and admiring the beautifully fitting grey and scarlet suit in the water.

"I saw the Widow Gooseberry where we lived last year when I was out yesterday," replied her mate. "She says our old place is vacant still, and it was so homelike and cozy I thought."

But Mrs. Robin interrupted him with a twitter.

"Live with that cross, thorny, old thing, and in that low-down locality! No, indeed, Mr. Robin; I propose to move in higher circles this year."

"You didn't think her cross last summer," said Mr. Robin gravely, "and you said yourself the little gooseberries were lovely, and it was so quiet and sheltered, and the gardener dug worms for us every day."

"Yes, and there was that common family of ground thrushes close by," mentioned Mrs. Robin, obstinately. "Suppose Mrs. Oriole should call on her trip to the lakes in her magnificent dress of black and gold, and see that brown, homespun creature running in so familiar—I should die! And then there's the cat; my nerves really wouldn't endure her, with her great yellow eyes so still every day. No, indeed; I'm going out for that top branch that Mr. Elm said he would have vacant this year."

So Mr. Robin refrained from reminding his aristocratic wife that seven Mrs. Thrush sang at the funeral of Bluebird, their earliest hatched son and was counted the family's dearest friend; nor how Widow Gooseberry's sharp rebuffs kept the yellow-eyed cat away from their nest when he really crept up the apple tree and discovered Mrs. Yellow Hammer's twins. He wisely remembered that birds and folks are alike in one way—they learn best by old experience.

So away they flew, over trees, over green wheat fields and bare brown earth to call on Mr. Elm.

Mr. Elm was not in full dress, it being a little early, but received them very politely.

"Caw! Caw! Caw!" shouted Aunty Crow, sailing from a top branch to meet them. "Why, bless your top beam, bonny, I'm mighty glad to have you for neighbors! I know you."

Mr. Robin drew past her coldly. There is no prejudice against color among birds, but he had heard reports reflecting on the honesty of the crow family.

"Welcome home! welcome home!" called the catbird jauntily.

Mrs. Blackbird sailed past with a delicious thrilling laugh of greeting.

"What a pleasant neighborhood!" chirped Mrs. Robin.

"Yes, madam! It is!" said stately Mr. Elm, bowing graciously—"all the finest tenants in my branches, I assure you."

"Rather bare and unsheltered!" remarked Mr. Robin with the air of a sharp lawgiver.

"I shall leave as soon as you come," said Mr. Elm.

"I am glad to hear it," declared Mr. Robin politely.

"Now this would be rather unkind talk between our landlords and us. But it was all right between birds and trees. There are some points of resemblance, but if I should sit up all night I couldn't begin to tell you the difference between birds and folks.

"And I shall put a branch over yours this spring also," added Mr. Elm.

"Yes, but the branch itself don't look secure," objected Mr. Robin.

"Oh, I'm sure it does!" scolded Mrs. Robin, dreadfully afraid their elegant host would be displeased. "And there is such a delightful rock to fill And with pale-green hangings—"

"Ay! Apple-Tree has the most delicate pink and white hangings to his apartment," said Robin briefly.

"But they are not durable, you know that, sir," interposed Mr. Elm, coldly.

"Is there a bath?" asked Mr. Robin.

"A pond right over in the one pasture."

"Probably dries up in July?"

Mrs. Robin fluttered forward.

"We'll take that!" she said hurriedly. "Of course we will! Now, Mr. Robin, do for once listen to me! I'm sure Mr. Elm wouldn't misrepresent anything to us, and this is really such an aristocratic location. We will go right to work to move in!"

"Don't! Don't! Don't!" cried the saucy Blue Jay swinging by twenty branch is cracked."

"And you can't rely on him! You know he is called Slippery Elm sometimes," whispered Mr. Robin, but all to no purpose. Mrs. Robin was settled on that branch, and so they went to work to build their nest.

And such work as it was! Flying far and wide after straws, feathers, hair, wrapping, spinning, living hardly time to snatch a worm or a drink of water. You just can't imagine what work it is to build a nest until you have built one.

At last, however, the beautiful nest was complete and the two birds completely exhausted, one on the edge and admired it.

"Isn't it pretty?" cried Mrs. Robin, proudly. "How sweetly that bunch of willow wool worked in! I really think it's the prettiest nest we ever made."

Mr. Robin thought so, too; but it only made him more anxious as he looked one peep up at the sky and noted that it looked red and threatening. He only sighed a little, however, and asked—

"Shall I bring you an insect, my dear? You really look very timid."

"I am dreadfully fatigued," replied Mrs. Robin languidly. "My nerves are in a state, and my left wing feels as if it were broken. Yes, Robin, you might bring me a small insect. I feel as if a beetle's wing would refresh me. But I am so proud of our nest! Madame Oriole can't find fault with that, I think."

It is too bad that it happened as it did, but it's just as sure as anything that those who fly too high must sooner or later light low. And I can't help it. It happened and I've got to tell it the way it was no matter if I do hate to, sadly.

It must have been pretty soon morning because Watchman Rooster in the barn yard near by had crowed for midnight at least two hours before when the tired birds were awakened by a crashing and roaring. The wind was roaring about, the rain was falling in torrents and Mr. Elm was writhing, thrashing, groaning and wringing his hands as if he had a terrible fit, or cramps.

"Mr. Robin, where are you?" screamed his wife through the roar and darkness.

"Here, my dear!" shouted Robin, struggling breathlessly to get to her side. "I was blown off the perch. It's an awful storm. My, how the wind blows! Our nest is full of rain."

And just then there came a crash, a swish, a rent, and they couldn't hear themselves think for a minute.

"I don't believe there's a pin feather left on me," gasped Mrs. Robin. "They've all blown off. Robin, love, are you hurt?"

"No," chirped Robin from the lower branch, where they had been blown, "but our lovely nest has gone, branch and all."

"Our dear nest!" sobbed Mrs. Robin, bitterly, "that branch was crooked!"

Mr. Robin didn't say, "I told you so," which shows another difference between birds and folks.

"And I freely confess, Robin dear," remarked Mrs. Robin, sadly, as they broke over their ruined nest, "that it is foolish to be too fly."

"Here is the swim," responded her husband, looking ruefully at their soaked and shattered nest, "but it is plain to be seen that we are not in it."

So they went back to Widow Gooseberry's. And grew to love her and the humble neighbors dearly.

"But, you know, birdie," said Mr. Robin, tenderly one day as he sat in the family circle, "you did say so much about your cross, now didn't you?"

"Indeed, Mr. Robin, you are dreaming," replied Mrs. Robin with some spirit. "It is her nature to be short, and I might have told she was full of fine points. Everything in this world depends on how you put a thing!"

"And where you put it!" thought her mate as he remembered the ill-fated nest, but he didn't say it.—Concord Jim.

"TOLD AFTER SUPPER."

The Curate Had Too Much Punch—The Story the Parson Tried to Tell is a Story of Woe.

Here is a choice bit from Jerome K. Jerome's latest book, "Told after Supper." It is the story of a pretty maiden exclusively of men and the time is Christmas eve.

"We had some more punch and then the curate told us a story. I could not make head or tail of the curate's story, or I can not recall it to you. We none of us could make head or tail of that story. It was a good story enough, so far as material went. There seemed to be an enormous amount of plot and enough incidents to have made a dozen novels. I never before heard a story containing so much incident nor dealing with so many varied characters.

I should suppose that every human being our curate had ever known, or met, or heard of, was brought into that story. There were simply hundreds of them. Every five seconds he would introduce a complete fresh collection of characters, accompanied by a fresh new set of incidents.

"This was the sort of story it was: "Well, then, my uncle went into the garden and got his gun, but, of course, it wasn't there, and Scraggins said he didn't believe it."

"Didn't believe what? Who's Scraggins?"

"Scraggins! Oh! why he was the other man, you know—it was his wife."

"What was his wife—what's she got to do with it?"

"Why, that's what I'm telling you. It was she that found the nut. She'd come up with her cousin to London—her cousin was my sister-in-law and the other niece had married a man named Evans, and Evans, when it was all over, had taken the box around to Mr. Jacobs; because Jacob's father had been the man when he was alive, and when he was dead, Joseph—"

"No-o. Look here, never you mind Evans and the box; what's become of your uncle and the gun?"

"The gun? What gun?"

"Why, the gun your uncle used to keep in the garden, and that wasn't there. What did he do with it? Did he kill any of these people with it—those Jacobs and Evanses and Scragginses and Josephuses? Because, if so, it was a good and useful work, and we should enjoy hearing about it."

"No—oh, no—how could he? He had been built up alive in the wall, you know, and when Edward IV. spoke to the abbot about it my sister said that in her time the state of health she could not and would not, as it was endangering the child's life. So they christened it Horatio, after her own son, who had been killed at Waterloo, before he was born, and Lord Napier himself sold—"

"Look here, do you know when you are talking about?" we asked him at this point.

"He said so, but he knew it was every word of it true, because his aunt had seen it herself. Whereupon we covered him over with the table-cloth and he went to sleep."

Histories.

Go ahead all night! Spare no cows or corn! And watch the Fourth of July patriotic corn! Oversleep to-morrow's sermon! Give a neighbor an hour's work! Let your children go barefoot! Let your wife do the chores! Wish that winter Strawberry, till as you grow old the sweetness of it is heavenly! Forget your best friend's birthday, and much remembered star in phenomenal years! Sit in the curious inn.

What chance we are! Spare the dripping eyes! Have mercy! Open, open a contemptible section in but the grave! Let the sick man, with his two weeks to live, wake about! Forgive Satan on account of his sensational essays! Remember your sins are scarlet! Remember, remember, remember the Fourth of July!

THACKER & GORDON
ARE AT THE FRONT,
And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder.	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.,	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on two bungies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at
THACKER & GORDON.
OLD PERDYSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.
Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.
Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.
MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.
Manufacture the following brands of Flour:
IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.
SILVER SPRAY.
ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.
FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.
CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.
Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat.
Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.
RIFENBURG MILLING CO.
L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

MILLINERY!
JUST RECEIVED.
A fine line of
SUMMER GOODS,
Comprising all the latest novelties in Hats and Bonnets, new and desirable Ribbons, Flowers, Laces, Vellings, Trimmings, an elegant line of Corsets, Gloves, Hosiery, Underwear and Dresses, with a nice line of Patterns.
I Have also in stock a nice line of
CHILDREN'S WEAR
Ladies are especially invited to call, whether wishing to buy or not. Anything found to be cheap.
MRS. H. A. CARR.

Call and see . . . . . .
A Full line of WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, PINS.
SILVER TABLE WARE, CHARLEVOIX SOUVENIR SPOONS.
AGATE JEWELRY, BATIN SEAL GOODS, SOUTH SEA PEARL JEWELRY.
Also, A Full Line of OPTICAL GOODS, IN WHITE and SMOKED.
Special attention given to all repairs. All work warranted to wear after six months.
. . . . . C. R. Bellinger.

T. J. CANNON,
Has opened a
NEW BAKERY,
Corner Bridge and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of BAKED GOODS always on hand.
Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered.
I solicit a share of the patronage, and will guarantee you good goods, low prices, courteous treatment and square dealing.
T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Horses furnished if desired. Extra Low.
GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

STRAYED.
Came into my enclosure in the township of Norwood, about the 20th day of July, 1891, two spotted black and white steers, about 1 or 2 years old, dose not give milk. The owner can have the same by the payment of all expenses.
THOMAS WARDRIP.

Take The Sentinel

G. W. PAUL,
The Enterprising Grocer.
Goods always fresh; always cheap.
For Groceries and Provisions That's the Place to Go.

HERE'S THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

BOOTS AND SHOES AT FIRST COST.
We are Closing out summer goods at a great reduction to make ready for fall stock. Come and these goods are at cost price.
Don't Miss These Bargains.
We are making great Reductions in all lines. Come while the stock is yet complete.
SHERWOOD
B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.
These lands are adapted to grain and supply cities and other wood markets accessible to best markets.
By Water and Rail
and are in a climate unequalled for health, well watered and timbered.
The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the middle of the tract, and the great lumber ports in which these lands are situated, part of which are
Not a Wilderness by any Means.
It contains a population of 150,000 souls and 12 mills filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.
Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this great have been sold.
Send for Pamphlet to Address
W. C. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
TITLE PERFECT.

Fox & Miller
Offer a
Mammoth Stock
OF BOOTS, SHOES
and other
FOOT WEAR,
--AT--
LOWER PRICES
Than can be found elsewhere in the County.
Fox & Miller.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.
EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.
FRED V. BRIDGMAN, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.
MOORE & NETTLETON—Real Estate Agents for Charlevoix County. Lots and farms for sale. Capitol Loan and Savings Association money to loan. Charlevoix, Mich.
R. W. BARR, Attorney at Law, loans, insurance and collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.
LOG No. 1—Tree Blown No. 157, meet Saturday night on or before full moon in Jeffersonville hall.
G. A. R.—Rufus Pond No. 119, meets second Monday each month, at old Eckhart hall.
EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 77, O. E. S., meets on the 3rd Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Cassie Hilton, W. M. Hettie McLeod, Secretary.
FOREST CHAPTER No 101 R. A. M., meets at Charlevoix on the 2nd Monday of each month.
I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 289, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.
MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, F. & A. M. Meeting on or before full moon. Hall over Bank. Jas. Mills, Secretary.
CANNONSCHEMENDEY No 195, K. T., meets at Knights Templar hall, Masonic Temple, Detroit.
UNITED ASSEMBLY, No. 5311, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at 7:40, at Jeffersonville Hall.
HAYES RELIEF CORPS, No. 174, meets at G. A. R. hall on or before full moon of each month. Ella Gillespie, Secretary.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.
LEWIS W. ROGERS, Physician and Surgeon. Office Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.
J. SCOTT, C. E., Surveyor and Engineer. Charlevoix, Mich. Plats neatly surveyed. Correspondence solicited.

The "New Charlevoix."
Beautifully located on the South Terrace, overlooking Lake and three lakes.
LARGE GROUNDS AND EVERY CONVENIENCE.
Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.
40-tf.

Grand Palace Hotel.
81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.
Only fire escapes from the Palace Hotel, Chicago, are on the door.
New house with all Modern Improvements, including hydraulic elevator, and Grand Rapids furniture. Rooms $1.00 weekly; transient, $1 and upwards. Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents. Restaurant on First Complimentary. Table d'Hote Dinner 12 to 2 p. m. Reduced rates to Ministers.
47—1y.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental • Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.
Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.
OUR NEW
FALL & WINTER
SAMPLES
Have just arrived, and they are immense
The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here
Good Business Suits at from $8 to $30.
Don't fail to call and see them.
JOHN ZWECKL,
Merchant Tailor.
FOR SALE,
Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.
These lots are off less front each on Clinton St., and in one block, with nice house, barn, etc., finished on outside. Inquire of PROF. O. M. POPE,
Kalamazoo, Mich.

CHICAGO
VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE.
Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points west and South-west.
Train leaves Ludington as follows:
Leave Traverse City, 7:00 a.m. 12:30 p.m. 6.15 p.m.
Arrive Grand Rapids, 11:15 p.m. 4.30 a.m. 10.35 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids 10:00 a.m. 11:30 p.m. 7:00 p.m.
Arrive Ludington, 2:45 p.m. 6:45 a.m. 1:00 a.m.
Sleep ing Cars on night trains.
10.00 a.m. has free chair car to Chicago.
11.30 p.m. has Pullman parlor car to Chicago.
*11.30 p.m. has free Reclining chair car to Chicago.
Train leaves Ludington as follows:
Leave Grand Rapids, 7:00 a.m. 4.15 p.m. and 11.45 p.m.
Arrive Ludington, 11:45 a.m. 9.30 p.m. and 4.30 a.m.
Leave Ludington, 8.00 a.m. 2.30 p.m. 6.15 p.m. and 9.00 p.m.
Arrive Grand Rapids 11.45 a.m. 7.15 p.m. 11.15 p.m. and 3.00 a.m.
Parlor cars on all trains from Grand Rapids to Detroit, Sleeping Cars on all night trains.
Time connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.
J. H. HUNTLEY, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

DETROIT
The Favorite is the
Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.
From Howard City and Grand Rapids.
In effect June 21, 1891.
Leave Howard City 5.45 a. m. 11.15 a. m. and 3.55 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids 6.50 a. m. 1.00 p. m. and 6.25 p. m.
Arrive Lansing 8.50 a. m. 3.00 p. m. 8.15 p. m. and 9.50 p. m.
Leave Lansing 8.45 a. m. 3.15 p. m. 8.15 p. m. and 9.50 p. m.
Arrive Detroit 11.35 a. m. 6.00 p. m. 9.50 p. m. and 12.40 p. m.
Parlor cars on all trains from Grand Rapids to Detroit. Sleeping Cars on night trains.
Time connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.
J. H. HUNTLEY, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

Forerunners of the Modern Bicycle.

The first rudimentary bicycle was invented by Baron von Drais a Freemasson living in Germany, early in this century, invented a combination of two wheels, a seat, and handles, which he called a "celerifere," to aid him in his work of overseeing large estates.

The old date of this odd machine, called after the inventor, the "Draisine," show it to be in its general features the direct forerunner of the bicycle. The "Draisine" was introduced into England in 1818, and a year later they were seen in America, on the streets of New York.

In both countries they met with great favor and one historian relates that in New York, people rode them up and down the Bowery, and on the parks, a favorite place for speed being down grade from Chatham Street to City Hall Park. Clumsy machines they seem, metal by a cross-bar to which was attached midway the cushioned seat for the rider. In front of the seat was a raised cushion upon which, having mounted, the rider rested his forearms, guiding the machine. He propelled it by pushing alternately with his feet on the ground until the speed was sufficient to maintain equilibrium, when he would raise his feet and, in the words of a rider to-day, "coast."

The rapid fire of these "Draisines," and "pedestrian curricles," or "dandy-horses" and "hobby-horses" as the later improved machines were called, soon ended rapidly because of the difficulty of making them practically useful, and because of the obstacle always existed by the riders.

This extreme spurt of fickle wheels, joined, and running in the same perpendicular plane, therefore languished in obscurity until after a lapse of more than forty years it again attracted public attention in a new form. It was in 1865 that a French mechanic, Pierre Lallement, conceived the notion of attaching foot-cranks to the front wheel of the old-fashioned hobby-horse. He made a machine embodying this idea and went to Paris and exhibited it at the Paris Exposition in 1867. To credit for this invention is also claimed in England by Edward Ravenscroft, who based his idea to Frenchman or Englishman, it was a decided step in the immortal ancestorship of the bicycle. It immediately became popular in both England and America. A great many improvements and changes were necessary, of course, before the crude machine of Lallement—the "velocipede" of thirty years ago—became the finished bicycle of to-day; but energetic business men in England, and later in this country, saw its possibilities and began the manufacture of the machines. Improvement has followed improvement until now there is little resemblance left to the old velocipede, or "boneshaker" as it is difficult to imagine is what was a modern bicycle may be compared with Ariadne.

THE PRAIRIE MIRAGE.

Tragic Incident of a Journey Through the Illinois Prairie Desert.

A burning summer sun had beaten down on the prairie for days. Parched and dry, the grass crunched and cracked beneath the heat with a grayish brown.

The only sound of nature was the monotonous sameness of the "locust whistle," grasshoppers, etc. Rapping canvas bag giving sun shades to the emigrant and his wife crouched within. Not a breeze has been long and fever throbs in the woman's veins.

Suddenly the man sits up, startled. Their search for a home is over.

"They! he cries in joy.

"They have come out on the edge of a wide-reaching valley. Lone, undeadened, billowy forest land and away in a gentle breeze. A lake with here and there a touch of foam to relieve the sparkling blue of the waves, cooling coolness and wrinkles its waters. Near, mediaeval suggesting chaver and goldenrod are near by, and the curious tinkles of the great sky like those of the lake. Yonder stong of the town which they catch a glimpse of dwellings—seemingly palaces when contrasted with the "sod" huts.

Hungrily, earnestly they feast their eyes on this scene, and in the morning in the flapping canvas.

A passing wind sticks suddenly before the sun.

A cry of pain and disappointment surges in the woman's lipsas she sees again a strong length of plain whose level lines lost so long fatigued her eyes. The careful wind flails not a leaf to stir. She turns to her husband in silent appeal.

The mirage has lifted. The emigrant is alone in the midst of the prairie with his dead.—Detroit Free Press.

The California Miner of '49.

The early miners has never been truly understood. Bayard Taylor the Bippset style and eccentric them is on the whole, not much under him in terror, or who, seizing upon a sporadic word of modesty, which some drinkers, trawling wretch, have given a certain claim to be called a poet and a humorist. The so-called literature that treats of the gold-digger is too extravagant in this direction. In all my personal intercourse with the pioneers from 1849 to 1854 there was not a cowardly or dishonest, robbery, theft, or sexual violence. I doubt if a more orderly society ever existed. Now, how could it be otherwise? The pioneers were young, ardent, unencumbered, most of them well educated and from the best families in the East. The early miner was ambitious, energetic, and generalizing. No underthinking was too great to daunt him, no pluck and resources exhibited by him in attempting and achieving which nothing but his courage and his bravery arms to carry them out was phenomenal. His generosity was profuse and his sympathy active, knowing no distinction of race. His sentiment that gave a generous nature rather than a service were so economical to settle differences peacefully, or with pistol in hand to right a grievous wrong to a stranger. His capacity for self-government never has been surpassed. Of a glorious epoch, he was a glorious man.—Dunberg.

5,000,000 Rubles for a Throne.

If the prince is playing king in Bulgaria because he loves the sense of power—and it is exceedingly difficult to believe that he can have any other motive, it is still true that Stambuloff is manager and holds the lookstrings, and that he is likely to change the "star" whenever it pleases his fancy; provided, of course, the Bulgarian audiences still come to the play. In other words, provided the various factions struggling to get control do not break up the theater and throw the company and the properties into the street.

It is also equally true that M. Stefan Stambuloff is to-day by far the most commanding personality in his country. Never a soldier, and always a politician, with only three years' schooling at Odessa, he became when hardly grown a Russian correspondent, and for some years thereafter a Russian agent. Rising rapidly by his own force of character, he was appointed a regent by Alexander when he abdicated, and now when only thirty-six years of age occupies more of the serious attention of the governments of eastern Europe than any other one man west of the Bosphorus.

Stambuloff's plan for governing was simple and to the point. It called for 5,000,000 rubles and a king. Was this king might be, or where he should hold from, was a matter of detail. Anybody but a Russian or a Turk would do. And so numerous offers were made in a confidential way to various gentlemen who thought they had an especial, divine gift for reigning and who lacked the opportunity only because of the depleted condition of their bank accounts. At last a fond and ambitious mother and her son were found who at almost unlimited reserve fund—millions for the ordinary needs of life—took the bait.

It was not, however, a harmonious family arrangement; for it was well known that the young prince's sense of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg, did what he can to prevent the final agreement be being an older and wiser diplomat, and having had a long and varied experience in the ups and downs of several new-made governments. Among other things, the duke boldly stated that he was not anxious to quarrel with the Bulgarian regents, and that he certainly would leave the throne when his goddess were gone, as Alexander had left, to whom the Bulgarian Government then owed three millions of francs. The duke's property is not yet fulfilled. If, however, the state of mind of public Bulgarians is to be taken, a very considerable portion of Ferdinand's private estate (variously estimated at from one-half to all of it) has already been absorbed.—F. Boyle Alnson South, in the Century.

San Francisco to Stockton by Boat in 48h.

Glowing accounts induced us to try the southern mines, and a passage to Stockton was secured on an old tub of a steamer at the rate of twenty ounces of gold, or thirty-six dollars per head. The deck was crowded with men of every nationality. The rolling hills, sunny, and flecked with green trees, bounding the bays of San Francisco, Suisun, and the Pole, were novel and interesting. The very color of the earth, covered with wild oats or dried grass, suggested a land of gold. The sight was inspiring. But when we reached the mouth of the San Joaquin and entered the tortuous, this river has an extraordinarily tortuous course almost without a straight line, we marshlands, that in 1849 produced hundreds of miles of impenetrable tules to the acre. I had never known the "ague" before, but it seemed as if there was a situation of swarming insect, from ten feet think on the surface of the earth. I curled my cousin tight in my bed-bags to keep them from pulling up, donned a thick wide-brimmed hat, and, thus armed, shielded my neck and face with handkerchiefs, and put on leather gloves, and in that condition partialled and suffered for the spite of all precautions. Our faces were much swollen with the poisonous mosquito bites. In coming the hot sun we took refuge below deck, and in a little over an hour our faces was inside on some sand in the bottom of the boat, which filled the cold stream to suffocation. The mosquitoes were too revolting to be long fully fed by snakes. I tried I never endured such vexation and suffering. Since was thankful. The boat had to be worked by hand through the various bends, and half the time the sails were useless for want of wind. It was a long-drawn-out nightmare of a voyage. But even in our distress there was a humorous side, provoking grim smiles at least.—Cadogy.

Not Good On the Long Fly.

A big flock of wild geese went over Jackson, Mich., one day, flying low, and as they drove past a farmer who had a good deal of a house at the end of the barn, he conceived the idea that the bosom of a tame goose belonging to the owner of the house accepted invitation. The tame goose uttered a low squawk, spread her wings and away he went with the wild ones, the end goose in the tail of the long leg of the winged wedge. On the flock swept northeast, and the tamed domestic goose kept up his end very well for a while with a half, three-quarter speed, and, with a normal squawk, he dropped to the ground near the house of a farmer. He turned around three times, as its instinct told him, and flew slowly home on foot. His owner thinks the tame goose has lost his nerve for long yard walk and has clipped the bird's wings.

A Cruel Wind.

A lusty and inconsiderate breeze played a mean trick on a boy or two with the little old woman who grinds a hand organ on 14th street, near 6th avenue. A block the pleasant hung on the front of the old woman's instrument, telling in white letters to passers-by "I am paralyzed." Suddenly a vigorous gust of wind swept around the corner and entering the pleated on the under side, swung it well out of its perpendicular and turned it completely over. When the wind, the boys and the passers-by recovered from astonishment there was the little old woman frantically grabbing at the "Annie Rooney" behind the pathetic inscription on the street of black letters: "Kind friends I have been blind since childhood."—N. Y. Times.

Waterproof Paper.

A special kind of paper has been invented, which, it is alleged, is absolutely waterproof and impervious to any given stand. boiling. The waterproofing can be carried out every step the paper is made or after the operation of making it.

Shenandoah, Pa., has a year over 150 years old.

We have in connection with our fine line of carriages a good assortment of work and driving harness also harness repairs, robes, whips and etc.
Just received a splendid lot of spring carriages, springs and all attachments warranted for ten years.
A good assortment of BELKNAP wagons on hand.
BAKER & SON.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

It's on human and horses and all animals cured in 20 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. A. Hines, Druggist, Charlevoix.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or callous lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, sitfast, sore throat, quinsy, mumps, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by C. H. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

BOYS POUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL
ALLEN B. WRISLEY'S OLD COUNTRY SOAP.

DR. MILES' NERVINE
Dr. Miles' Nervine Is a Certain Cure for Nervous Headache.
HEADACHE!
Otall for ns, Neuralgia, Spasms, Fits, Sleeplessness, Dullness, Dizziness, Blues, Opium Habit, Drunkenness, etc., recommended by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, discovered by the eminent Indiana Specialist in nervous diseases. It does not contain opiates or dangerous drugs. Fine book of proofs and trial bottle FREE at druggists. Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.
TRIAL BOTTLE FREE.
Sold by F. O. HINES & CO.

FREE BOOK
DR. A. B. SHINEY
of Detroit, for the purpose of acquainting his friends and generally the public with his success in treating Nervous Diseases at the point mained below, and offering on sbsidy. The income has been Unprecedented in the treatment of Nervous Diseases, eighteen years in Detroit, and the demand for his services has increased to such an extent that now and for the future he will devote his entire time to his Private Practice in Detroit—his office being the headquarters of Nervous Specialists, and one of the most Sanitarium, private and complete in the United States. Consultation free in Detroit—his fees moderate, if agreeable after Psychology in different parts of the country. If you have Catarrh, Throat, Lungs, Eyes, Ear, Liver, Stomach, Kidneys or Bowels Diseases, improve this opportunity to a careful examination. Many cases who have all or some of these ailments, can be cured at home by mail or express. If you can not come to Detroit, write for Symptom Blank and Book. Sent free. Hours 9 to 5 and 7 to 8 daily, except Sundays. Consultation free. Address, DR. A. B. SHINEY, Detroit, Mich.

FOR SALE.
Farm for sale—
Consisting 170 acres, eighty acres improved, mostly seeded to grass, well fenced, well timbered, well watered, good house, good barn, orchard of fruit, within half a mile from Ellsworth, and one mile from Bellaire, six miles from Charlevoix on the main road to Petoskey. A good farm and well and desirably situated and three-fourths within half mile of good school.
Also on same section—
Eighty acres of good timber, good house and good outbuildings.
Will sell the whole farm thereof will be sold very cheap and on easy terms.
Inquire of
REV. E. B.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
ORELAND A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

THE LATEST COURSE.

When I married my wife she had studied elocution.
She would show until then, look up photographs.
Gradually that science and started gesturing.
Then she started in on dancing.
Following that up with a month of startling.
Then she started in on the piano.
Which her grind ended remained true.

She then took to painting, and of setting
Some theories and poses on the subject of Color, which I thought was unnecessary.
So forgot science and music, dancing and
Painting, for chemistry and cooking.
She devoted the entire six months to Which she spoke of as the science of Cooking, and I thought we had Reached a point at last where we could Live on something else than
Chemistry, but she discovered that Cooking was a fad, and abandoned
A course lesson.

"Do be seated," he repeated, "this is a very serious matter and must be treated seriously. Your acquaintance with my unfortunate cousin is as well known to me in all its details as to my uncle. Why try to deceive him?" as Dorothy made an attempt for a hearing.

"But I am not the person you think I am," she declared with spirit; "I am Mrs. Dempsey."

"Indeed! And to what reason does my uncle, my old friend, owe the pleasure of this visit to-day? You mistake your relationship, madam."

He made a quick, convincing gesture to the startled, haunted and wan face.

"You see it is useless" he went on, "I must insist on your immediate return. I am a stranger to few quadrupeds, but I beg that you will leave me to be more impolite than you can help."

"I believe so, indeed, you will."

"Is an hour or two at the most. If you prefer waiting for him, that will be even better," and he drew forward one of the spare chairs.

"But I can't stay here any longer," she protested, rising and pacing and continuing to stand unaccompanied.

"Nor is there the slightest necessity for it. Perhaps, if I state the case, it will enable you to see that you are the same freedom with me as with the rest of your family. Perhaps, if I tell you, provided you are honest, and have no reason to be ashamed of your life if you choose. There have been great complaints in two of the houses in which my cousin is connected, and actual theft has been committed. It has been proved past doubt at what hour the latter occurred, and suspicion has fallen in the highest places. My cousin will be imprisoned in the street unless it can be proved to the satisfaction of those interested that he was elsewhere at the time. It is necessary, at the farthest the next day, all New York must know of it. I'm sure when you receive no reason to account for himself. Now, all we require is that you shall state under oath when and where you have seen him since Monday last."

"I don't know what you are talking about, and I don't wish the conversation any longer," protested Dorothy, whom he was.

"Nonsense," replied Sawtelle, almost rudely, and seeming himself between her and the door. "Your whole gave us description of you before he left. The man described to me that you know Albert Van Twiller is alive."

"Albert Van Twiller! Albert Van Twiller!" repeated the same, Dorothy gave a little gasp of horror and amazement.

"Why, of course, I know him," she said, regretfully, and then she was sure that, she was only strengthening his suspicions, as each in the contrary clear, with a pitiful wail of distress for some way of disassuring him. In spite of herself, the recollection of the unfortunate Van Twiller, under any other circumstances, or in any other locality, would have been practicable. It was clearly himself who should provide her with the means to escape, but not one to receive you if you came, and gave me entire authority to act in his stead."

"As the mistress of his flat is probably that Miss Dorothy had never experienced such a variety of emotions. That it was a case of mistaken identity, appeared plain; but how to account for her presence here, without betraying her name and her reason for ringing the bell, appeared a problem difficult of solution.

"I am sure there is some mistake," she ventured at length. "I can not be Mrs. Robinson expects. I simply wanted to consult Mr. Robinson about my husband, who is ill."

"As my uncle is no longer a practising physician, I am sure that can not have been your object." He drew himself up to his full length, which Dorothy found rather overwhelming, and adopted a severer tone.

"Do be seated," he repeated, "this is a very serious matter and must be treated seriously. Your acquaintance with my unfortunate cousin is as well known to me in all its details as to my uncle. Why try to deceive him?" as Dorothy made an attempt for a hearing.

"But I am not the person you think I am," she declared with spirit; "I am Mrs. Dempsey."

"Indeed! And to what reason does my uncle, my old friend, owe the pleasure of this visit to-day? You mistake your relationship, madam."

"Nonsense," replied Sawtelle, in a very

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1880.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 2, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The fine steam Yacht Thistle, of Chicago, was in port Saturday.

The Harbor Springs-Petoskey ferry boat Skater came here Saturday to haul out and fix her misplaced rudder.

E. Shay's steel steam yacht, from Harbor Springs, was here yesterday. She is a peculiar looking animal, but is speedy.

Capt. Partridge, of the tug Avery, has chartered the tug Bob Stevenson, of the Flint-Lake Iron Co., and will run her with the Avery. Capt. Wm. Cross will run the Bob.

The Schr. John L. Green's last trip: She left Sheboygan, Wis. came to Ludington, loaded, and in one hour less than three days she was back at Sheboygan, and unloaded.

Death of Wm. See, Brother of Samuel M., Charles and Byron See.

From the Rochester (N. Y.) Times: William See died at his residence, 22 Clifford Street, at ten minutes past five o'clock this morning of diabetes. Three weeks ago he appeared to be in the best of health, but suddenly the dread disease came upon him and he rapidly sank away. Mr. See was born in Jefferson county about fifty years ago, and had been a resident of this city for the last ten years. At the breaking out of the rebellion he enlisted in the Fifty-fourth regiment, New York volunteers, and served faithfully during that memorable period. He was severely wounded at the battle of Antietam, and he lay in a hospital in Washington. He was a member of E. G. Marshall post G. A. R., and was much esteemed by his comrades. In 1880 he was a candidate for member of Assembly on an independent ticket and received 3,856 votes out of a total of about 15,000. He was a member of the pack commission, in which body he did good work and was also trustee of the Mechanics' Institute and was president of the Times Printing and Publishing company. Mr. See was in all respects a sturdy and a manly man. He was a man of pronounced opinions and never hesitated to speak the truth when he knew it was truth. He hated all forms of shams and humbugs and devoted his life to the expression of principles which he believed to be correct. There was not in his heart an evil thought. He meant to do right and he wanted all other men to do right, not only in political but in social life. He was a singularly lovable man with his quiet disposition and made friends with all with whom he came in contact. The good work he has quietly done for the cause of the people of Rochester and of the state cannot be properly measured. Peculiarly unselfish so far as dollars and cents were concerned, with no hope or wish for pecuniary reward, he has attended the numerous meetings and conventions all over the country as I bore his own expenses without a murmur. He was prominent for the last five years in the conclaves of the state Workingmen's assembly, in which body his voice was listened to as the voice of sound judgement. One good thing, above all other things, can be said of William See—he was faithful to his friends and would do anything for them that lay in his power. Personally, he was a pleasant, unpretentious gentlemanly man, full of love for the cause of humanity. The surviving relatives, beside his wife and one daughter, are a widowed mother and four sisters, Mrs. Celia Glass, Mrs. Hattie Stevens, Mrs. Kate Meyer, and Mrs. Cynthia Iverson, all of whom live in Wisconsin. His brothers are Byron See, Samuel See and Charles See, of Charlevoix, Mich., and Asa, of Adams Center, Wisconsin.

Hisings from Hayes.

Mrs. Lottie, wife of John Murry died last Thursday morning, and was buried Saturday in the Charlevoix cemetery. A large concourse of friends attended the funeral at Burgess, which was conducted by Rev. G. A. Bowles, of Petoskey.

Mrs. Henry Hair was visiting friends in East Jordan last week.

Robert Trimble and wife of Barnard were the guests of W. S. Baker a few days ago.

Isaac Stauffer returned from a short visit to Kent Co. last Saturday.

Preaching in the grove at Bayside last Sunday by Rev. W. Sly, as announced, was interfered with, by rain.

Bacon Bros., of Resort will commence threshing in Hayes this week.

Geo. W. Leddick, of Boyne Valley, accompanied by a cousin from Detroit, who lately purchased a forty in section ten were looking it over last Wednesday.

Mrs. W. C. Arnold, who has been dangerously ill for several weeks, is now convalescent.

J. E. Chew and wife, of Charlevoix, were visiting in Hayes last Sunday.

Fred Hamlin and wife of Harbor Springs have been visiting at the homestead a few days.

Mrs. Truman Case is building an addition to her farm residence, now occupied by Mr. Gurney.

FULLY STOCKED for Fall TRADE.

We call your attention to the following
Exceptionally low prices.

Flannels, 36 to 54 inches, from 25 to 75 cents. A full line of shades.

In Black Goods we cannot be surpassed. In Cashmeres, Cheviots, Henriettas, Serges, Flannels and Broadcloths. Also a full line of novelties, from 25 to $1.50.

Cambrics reduced to 5c.

And those Jackson Corsets, 45c.

Table Linen, a full and comptete line.

Our stock of Shirt and Skirting Flannels is complete

Cotton Flannels, bleached, from 6¼ cts. to one shilling; Unbleached, from 6½ cts. to one shilling.

Ginghams, cut from cut from 10 cts. to 7½ cts.

Chash, from 6 cts. to one shilling.

Light Shirting prints, 4 cts.

Indigo Blues, 6 cts.

Cottons, bleached, from 7 cts. to 10 cts.; Unbleached, 5½ cts. to 10 cts.

Our yarns are away out of sight.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF FALL JACKETS JUST RECEIVED.

MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

Religious Items.

The Ladies Society of the Baptist Church wish to return thanks to the members of the Excelsior Quartette, also the Misses Phila Wood and Mabel Briggs for their services in making the entertainment of Friday evening last, such an enjoyable affair, both socially and financially, the Ladies realizing $10 from the same.

From Marion.

W. C. Byers goes to conference as the delegate from the Norwood charge.

Much of the grain in Marion is still out on account of rain, but as yet no damage is done.

Miss Ella Trimble is now at home. There will be an Ice Cream Social, at the Barnard schoolhouse, Friday evening Sept. 4. A select program is prepared and will be fully carried out. All are invited, admission 15c.

The Barnard Grange has now about sixty members and more coming.

Wm. Black is doing service as Highway Commissioner.

Mrs. Wm. Black has been in Eastport a week visiting among friends.

Rev. Lent will preach his last sermon for the year, next Sunday.

Northern Michigan News.

Perry Hannah is building a $35,000 residence at Traverse City.

The Emmet County fair will be held at Petoskey Sept. 14, 12, 16 and 17.

There are sections in Leelanau county where no rain has fallen since early last spring.

An Indian camp meeting near Elk Rapids was attended by 300 or 400 aborigines and lasted two weeks.

P. D. Wachtel, of Petoskey, recently disposed five shore lots to the C. & N. M., which is the name under which the C. & W. M. is being extended to Petoskey.

Every season August 8, for fifteen years, with one exception, Mackinac Island has been visited with the most violent rain and wind storms of the year, and last August 8 was no exception.

The Northport graded school is looking for a male pedagogue worth about $50 per month. Mr. McKeever, who had been hired to teach the school has thrown up his contract and gone to Chicago to care for his wife who is in with consumption.

The competition grows warm between the G. R. & I. and C. & W. M. railroads out of Traverse City. The G. R. & I. has waked up and last week ran an opposition excursion to Grand Rapids and return, the tickets being $1 for the round trip, which price included a tickets to Barnum's circus.

Last apple picking season an Old Mission girl dropped a note into one of the barrels asking the finder to write to her. The note fell into the hands of a Chicago girl who knew the value of Old Mission as a summer resort. A correspondence followed and now the Chicago girl is enjoying an outing at Old Mission without expense.

Hon. G. E. Steele, of Traverse City has just finished a sectional map of Michigan from Manistee to Mackinaw embracing the whole Grand Traverse and Little Traverse regions, showing counties, sections, lakes, streams, towns, railroads, etc. It is the finest and most complete map of this part of the state ever issued, and is absolutely correct in every detail of drawing. It is of great value to residents tourists, land dealers, land lookers, and all who are interested temporarily or permanently in northern Michigan. All the new lines of railroads are shown on their exact routes, and the whole map is handsomely engraved and printed on the finest linen map paper. The price is but the low figure of fifty cents. Everybody should have one.

G. A. R. Attention.

General Order No. 2.
HEADQUARTERS
CHARLEVOIX COUNTY,
Knights of Relief Association,
Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 31, 1891.

The following named committees are hereby announced for the ANNUAL REUNION to be held on Sept. 18 and 19, 1891:

1. RECEPTION AND ENTERTAINMENT. S. M. See, E. Carpenter, A. Brown, E. W. Bennett, M. J. Bartlett and J. G. Reed.

2. FINANCE. Robert Miller, Capt. H. Berdan, D. C. Nettleton and H. V. Hilfeslung.

3. MUSIC. Wm. Kanagy, S. O. Scott and Lorenzo Porter.

By order of
E. B. GREEN, Adjutant.
M. J. STOCKMAN, Commander.

Afterthought!

General Order No. 1.
HEADQUARTERS
CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
Knights of Relief Association
Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 24, 1891.

Notice is hereby given that the ANNUAL REUNION of the Charlevoix County Soldiers and Sailors Association will be held at Charlevoix on Friday and Saturday, September 18th and 19th, 1891.

By command of
E. B. GREEN, Adjutant.
MORRIS J. STOCKMAN, Commander.

The First to Arrive.

The Grand Rapids Daily Democrat now arrives in Charlevoix at 6 p. m. same day as published, 18 hours ahead of Detroit morning papers. It contains the full associated press dispatches. Delivered by McCartney & Co. at 50 cents a month.

One Fare For Three Fairs.

For the State Fair at Lansing Sept. 7 to 11th and the West Michigan Kent County Fairs at Grand Rapids, Sept. 14 18th, the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. lines will sell excursion tickets at one fare for the round trip from all stations in Michigan. Tickets good to return Sept. 12 and 19th respectively.

GEO. DEHAVEN, G. P. A.

For Sale.

Two span of horses for sale cheap for cash or exchange for cattle.
G. V. Nash,
Norwood.

Apple Barrels.

For sale cheap at the Norwood cooper shop. 2t.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Guaranteed Cure.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a Cough, Cold or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s drugstore. 2

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, stockman and farmer, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies;" he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at F. G. Hines & Co.'s. 2

NOTICE.

There will be special examinations for the vacancies of Charlevoix county, at Charlevoix, Friday, Sept. 25, 1891, and at East Jordan, Friday, Sept. 26, 1891.
WILLIAM A. MCARTHUR,
County Commissioner.

GETTING NEAR THE BOTTOM.

As the fall Season approaches we endeavor to close out all unseasonable goods:

SO WATCH OUT SHARP FOR BIG BARGAINS.

We are in a position to offer Cash buyers the best possible terms and Guarantee quality the best.

We now offer our friends an elegant new line of

CORSETS

of which we have the exclusive control.

S. C. MODEL FRENCH FORM LONG WAIST, $1.75.
858 MODEL FRENCH FORM LONG WAIST, $1.00.

Other makes at Popular prices.

Men's Wool Socks, 19, 25, 35, 45 cts. Ladies, Misses and Children's hose, cords of them from 15c to 60c.

GET MY PRICES.

A. T. WASHBURNE.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

DRUGS and MEDICINES,
PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE,
CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS,
STATIONERY.

Prescriptions carefully compounded.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

SCHOOL TIME
is coming very soon.

School Books.

And School Supplies of all kinds at

W. H. McCARTNEY & CO.,
Newsdealers. Stationers.

FOR SALE BY H. L. IDDINGS,
PROPRIETOR OF
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

"The Best in the world," at prices which will suit you, if you belong to the Grange, if you are a F. of H., Farmer, Lumberman, Miner, Mechanic, Reporter, one price to all and that the lowest, for the Best goods. Come and see.
Yours truly, H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO--10. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 9, 1891. Jno C Miller March 2 WHOLE NO. 1,134.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE

OF

EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.

REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.

REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.

REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.

REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER

AND BORDERS AT COST.
....AT....
CALKINS & WARNE.

Down Went McGinty to the Bottom of the

Peach Market.

PEACHES THAT ARE PEACHES. Only early Crawfords on sale. Now I just wish to say, that I am in daily receipt of the finest, largest and best Crawford Peaches that ever came to this county, and they all come direct from the orchard, and are Strictly Fresh and Sound. EVERY ONE, look at them and you will say this is strictly true. Bartlett Pears by the peck or bushel. Low. Now is your time to buy these fruits for canning, they will be no better or lower than now.

at O. W. SMITH'S.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

3 lbs. No. 1 Rasins, 25c.
1 lb. Cracked Java Coffee, 25c.

We believe we have THE BEST 50c Tea in town and back our belief by a warranty that there is none better sold.

Will take all the
----- HEMLOCK BARK -----
Brought to us and pay Cash or trade for it. If you have any to sell call and see us.

BERT MASON

FURNITURE. BARGAINS. FURNITURE.

We also have two Sewing Machines which have been rented out for a short time, which we will sell very cheap.

$14.00 Baby carriage for	$12.00
10.00 Baby carriage for	8.50
9.00 Baby carriage for	7.75
1.25 White Mexican Hammock for	1.00
1.50 Palmer's No. 3 Hammock for	1.10
2.00 Palmer's No. 4 Hammock for	1.50
1.50 Cotton Hammock	1.20

FURNITURE. S. H. Lee & Son. FURNITURE.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - $1.50 (Six months - $.75) Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—J. T. B. McKay is in Chicago.

—Baker & Son have a new ad. in this issue.

—Sheriff Pratt, of Petoskey was here Monday.

—A. T. Washburne is in New York after new goods.

—Rev. Mr. Barnes left Monday, for conference.

—Jos. R. Dixon will return from the North this week.

—Wilbur E. Campbell, of Eastport, was in town Monday.

—Ray L. Hayes at Lewis Grand House next Monday night.

—Geo. Berdan, of Wayne county is here visiting his uncle, Capt. Berdan.

—I. D. Bartholomew & Co. have a new advertisement in their space this week.

—Mason & Berdan make a special announcement in their space this week.

—Mrs. Hepburn, mother of the late Mrs. Harrison Berdan, died at Evart, aged 92.

—F. G. Hines & Co., the druggists, have a new advertisement this week. Read it.

—The payment of village taxes is extended to Sept. 15th. This is the last extension.

—O. W. Smith has something to say about peaches that will interest our readers. Read his ad.

—The heavy rains of the past two weeks have started feed, and cattle are making up for lost time.

—John Nicholls, Jr., left yesterday for Chicago, where he will enter Hahnemann Medical College.

—The Charlevoix Summer Resort directors are contemplating an extensive addition to the Belvedere hotel.

—Rev. W. H. McCartney went to East Jordan Monday, to officiate at the Labor Day celebration at that place.

—"Tom's Vacation" will be the best entertainment on the boards here this season. Next Monday night.

—The house of John McEwan, at Eastport was destroyed by fire Monday night, with nearly all his household effects.

—Daniel J. Higlow, formerly of Marion, this county, but now of Toledo, Ohio, was here visiting friends over Sunday.

—Cornelius Budd, who for many years has been a resident of Charlevoix, has gone to Northport, to reside permanently.

—Miss Mamie Sullivan, who has been spending the summer with H. V. Hifenburg and family, left Saturday for her home in Chicago.

—J. F. Smith, the shoemaker, has also something on eggs. He brings in one, 82 inches in circumference one way and six the other way.

—The ladies of the M. E. Church will give one of their popular 15c. teas Tuesday evening, Sept. 15th, at the church, from 5:30 to 8 o'clock.

—W. P. Edson, one of "Sherman's Old Dummers," who resides in the township of Marion, has been granted $12 pension from last October.

—"Tom's Vacation," at Lewis Grand Opera House next Monday, Sept 14th. This will be the best and the best entertainment of the season.

—S. M. See returned home from Rochester Thursday. Byron See stopped at his home in Detroit. Mrs. See will have here this week or next.

—The Democrat stirs up Capt. Bonteeou, editor of the Petoskey Record, for meddling with Charlevoix affairs." Do you see where the joke comes in?

—Capt. Pillow, of the steamer Hackley, was called to Muskegon by a telegram Friday, to see his sick wife. Capt. Bob Donnelly is in the Hackley during his absence.

—S. J. Leiddell has arranged to leave here in October for Buffalo, where he will enter the real estate business with his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Leddell will be missed by a large circle of friends.

—The Gilpar band that has been camped here the past week took as much money out of town as a circus. Saturday their fortune tellers took in $40, and Sunday their receipts were over $100.

—In honor of the visit of their lowa relative, D. L. Campbell, the "Campbell clan" are to-day having a picnic at Mount McSauba. The crowd filled three omnibuses.

—Mrs. L. A. West, of Lake Geneva, Wis., joined her husband here last week. She will return to Wisconsin for the winter, but will remove here permanently next summer.

—Next Wednesday, Sept. 16, regular, in the Order of the Eastern Star Hausiness, Annual election of officers. All members are requested to be present. GEORGE HILTON, W. M.

—Hon. A. Buttars, although yet confined to his bed, is in a fair way to recovery. As soon as he is able, he will go to California, where he will spend the winter with his daughter.

—D. L. Campbell, of Iowa, is in town this week. He is the brother of Orson Campbell, of this place, and Mrs. Preston, the mother of Mrs. S. M. See, whose he had not seen before in 45 years. He was accompanied by a sister who lives in Marion City.

—Quinlan Tucker resigns from the firm of Thacker & Gordon, of this place, and Marion Paul enters the firm with Mr. Gordon. They will continue the sale of agricultural implements at the old stand, Mr. Paul being a practical harness maker, has added that branch of the business, and will supply the farmers with harness.

—Ex-Congressman Ostebeico, has sold his home at Manistee, and bought a home at Grand Rapids. A magnificent farewell reception was given him at Manistee last week, in which leading citizens of all parties participated. The General has a $5,000 position for four years yet at Washington, however, as a member of the Board of Fortifications.

—The papers state that Cornelius Vanderhoef was lost near Grand Haven in his small schooner recently. The boat came ashore with the dead body of a boy supposed to be his grandson. The boat is known to have been Vanderhoef's, and he is supposed to have been drowned. Vanderhoef formerly lived here. He was an old man, a Hollander, and did fishing on a small scale.

—The seventh annual fair of the Charlevoix Agricultural Society will be held at East Jordan Sept. 30, and Oct. 1 and 2. Competion is open to Charlevoix and adjoining counties. The Society have planned for an exhibition this year which will eclipse that of any previous year. Several attractions are promised. Besides the races, there will be balloon ascensions and parachute descents. The people of Charlevoix county especially, should contribute to make the fair a success.

—The wise young gentleman who conducts the Charlevoix branch of the Petoskey Democrat is pleased to apply the word "screed" to the Sentinel's remarks on the fraudulent quarter week. Will the Sentinel deem it a little space to argument on the question. Show us wherein the Sentinel erred. Prove by some of the philosophy that is supposed to exist in the hamptonian brain that the editorial is only a lot of foolishness. Demonstrate where the "screed" comes in. There are quite a number of things that the young man has not yet learned.

—The sleeps are having great success in Grand Rapids. A committee of citizens having decided that Madam Steen is a wonder, Prof. Steen recently put the following out in the Telegram-Herald: "Seeing from bills which are being circulated throughout that Prof. Steen and Mamie Fox, so called spiritualistic mediums, claim to produce through materialization and spiritualistic powers, the passing of flowers by unseen hands through the audience, slate writing, etc., etc., and that they will forfeit $1,000 if these tests can be reproduced by any one who is not a spiritualistic medium. I can and will produce by mechanical and natural means any and all so called tests which they can do, or I will forfeit $1,000 to any charitable institution in this city, or I will forfeit $1,000 if they can reproduce by the aid of spirits or any power which they claim to possess tests or experiments which I produce by mechanical means.

Annual School Meeting.

At the annual school meeting last evening, Horace S. Harsha was elected Assessor for the next three years.

A resolution was adopted raising $2,270 for school expenses for the ensuing year: also that the school year consist of nine months.

The following is the corps of teachers for the year: Superintendent, Prof. H. M. Rice; Assistant, Ida L. Tracey; Grammar Department, Miss E. Agnes Dean; 1st Intermediate, Lillian C. Webster; 2d Intermediate, Grace M. Merritt; Primary, Jennie Sloves and Jessie Litson.

Railroad Notes.

Grading for the freight depot and dock side tracks is completed.

The Detroit Iron and Bridge Works has the contract for building the bridge.

McCracken & Sibby, the railroad contractors, have 100 more men coming from Chicago.

The pile driver will finish driving for the railroad dock this week, and will begin driving for the bridge Monday.

A Grand Rapids man was here Saturday figuring on saving John C. Miller's barns for the railroad company.

Tom Quinlan, of Petoskey, was in town Saturday. Mr. Quinlan will put the ties on the ground between Petoskey and Charlevoix for the C. & W. M. R. R.

Contractor McLane was in town yesterday. Mr. McLane came to bury the construction of the dock. He expects a load of steel rails here this week. The large Manistee scows have been chartered, and as soon as the dock is near enough completed, work will be next week, a locomotive and several flat cars will be brought, and the work of laying iron to Petoskey be begun.

Hisings from Hayes.

John Harris, who has been afflicted for more than three years with an abcess of the hip, from injuries received in the lumberwoods, died [illegible] Sunday in Pine Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Wm. Grey found an egg within an egg a few days ago. Upon breaking open the egg it was found to contain, besides the yolk and albumen, a smaller egg with fully developed shell. We lay it to the McKinley bill.

W. L. Whittemore and wife, of Barry county, are visiting at Lorman H. Scott's.

O. D. Hilton, of Norwood, made a flying trip through Hayes last Saturday and now he is doing penance for laying bad things about us in days gone by.

At the Burgess school meeting Frank Kan: was elected moderator, to fill vacancy, Loren Hamlin was elected assessor and A. W. Chew was engaged to teach the school for ensuing year.

Mark Sunsby is having his residence plastered this week.

The rains have started the grass growing finely and fall pasturage is in splendid condition.

James Arnold who has been in southern Michigan a couple of years, is at home again.

From Marion.

Pleasant weather has given all a chance to secure the harvest in good shape.

Mrs. J. Lent is at conference this week.

Miss Ella Trimble attended the school meeting at East Jordan Monday night.

Wm. Clark was elected director for fall term.

Homer Clark was thrown from his horse and seriously hurt recently.

The Grange picnic at Bayport last week was a grand success. Ex-Governor Luce spoke eloquently and to the point, and all enjoyed a very pleasant time.

The social at Barnard last Friday was a success. Receipts $25.

There will be a bible reading at Barnard next Sunday at 3 p. m.

—The Petoskey Driving Park Association has fixed the date for holding the Emmet county fair for Sept. 14, 15, 16 and 17. The Association expect to make the fair a greater success than ever before.

—Ray L. Hayes is one of the best comedians on the American stage. He appears here next Monday night.

Masonic.

Regular Communication of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, next Tuesday evening, Sept. 15. Work on Third Degree. A general attendance desired.

M. J. STOCKMAN, W. M.
WM. M. VAUGHAN, Sec'y.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale lots of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

TERRIBLE DEATH-ROLL.

THE NEW YORK HORROR CLAIMS SIXTY-ONE VICTIMS.

Minnesota Counties Are Shaken Up—Fire in a Mill: Was It Incendiary? Ice Gorge Is Broken Head—Its Trail of Woe.

The Wave of Taking Off Victims of the Park Place Disaster Finished.

At New York the search for victims of the park place disaster has ended. The police report gives the number of bodies taken from the ruins as sixty-one. There are such unusually bodies unidentified. Mayor Grant has appointed a relief committee, and money for the families of the dead has poured in from all sides in large amounts. In four hours the sum of $10,000 was made up, and the Mutual Life company gave $5,000 of the amount. The number of dead will reach about 75.

INJURED IN A WRECK.

Twenty Passengers Badly Bruised Up on the Erie Road—Two Cars Burned.

The Ground gave way under a train of 15 cars on the Erie railroad near Middletown, N. Y., Friday morning, and twenty persons were more or less bruised and shaken up. The engine and the first 7 cars went over the embankment, and the last 7 cars were left standing on the track. The passengers, many of them women, were thrown from their seats, and had a terrible shaking up. The injured were taken to Middletown, where their wounds were dressed. The train was a local, and was crowded with people.

BASE-BALL.

Standing of the Different Clubs Engaged in the Game.

Following is the standing of the different clubs of the league at the close of last season:

	Games Played	Games Won	Games Lost	Games Tied	Per Cent.
Boston	131	102	27	2	.787
Philadelphia	131	97	34	1	.740
Chicago	131	90	39	2	.690
Cleveland	131	84	47	1	.641
New York	131	77	53	1	.588
Pittsburgh	131	72	58	1	.550
Cincinnati	131	52	78	1	.398
St. Louis	131	50	80	1	.382
Brooklyn	131	46	84	1	.352
Baltimore	131	36	94	1	.275
Washington	131	27	103	1	.207
Louisville	131	26	104	1	.199

A Terrible Ice Shaker.

Advices will be made to-day against the lead trust, which has been having been received regarding the action of the Hongkong companies on the plan for withdrawal of the British troops from the programme of the friends of the organization whose Blow on Cotton.

A COMPLETE misunderstanding between Manchester and Alabama cotton mills has resulted in the cotton crop. Large factories in Alabama are now idle, and more are expected.

Worse by Small Pox.

Mr. Gladstone's health is at a steady ebb. Small pox is a large villa of unknown and very serious which blow the mind in directions. The cause of the mysterious gas can be found for either.

One More Victim.

MRS. JOHN HAYMAN, residing near Dunkirk, Ind., received a letter, which in the woods, and hanged herself to a tree. The deceased was 40 years old. It is supposed she was insane.

A Strange Incident.

Two men, each named A. H. Wilbert, but neither relatives nor acquaintances, died at the same hotel in Helena, Montana.

Unfortunate Impress.

ALFARO H. FRANCO, an impressive compositor, died at his office, in New York.

The Seal Poachers.

It is announced that the total number of seals taken in Behring Sea to the 1st of Aug. 1, 1896, by the North American Commercial company, is 5,781, and it is estimated that poachers took about 10,000.

Not a Mysterious Will Bequest.

The farmers about Martin's Ferry, O., are in the large numbers searching the woods in search of some wild animal that has made a great slaughter of hogs and sheep in that section.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

THERE has been a dead dog seen in Hamilton, N. J. A number of dogs are infected with the rabies have been killed.

HAZEL WEBSTER, at Little Britain, Pa., was fatally shot by James M. Jordan. Jordan's motive was revenge.

An Italian laborer who was detected robbing the body of one of the victims of the disaster in New York was sentenced to six months in prison.

At the New York Special Treasury Agent Cummings stopped four cases of Paris customers for various fashionable women. They came from Charles Lauer, of Paris. Lauer is the man dressmaker. $8,000 worth of whose Paris dresses were seized recently for undervaluation. He had to pay $8,000 in duties and penalties to secure their release.

AT Philadelphia, Frank Johnson of New York, who lived in the same house with the mayor to lower the alm.

THE Pennsylvania, Penn plans, New York, five storm tank covering three stories, contained without a moment's warning, and over a hundred people were buried in the ruins. The building was occupied by a drug store, restaurant and a paint and shop on the ground floor, and above were printing offices, lodging rooms and sample establishments. The upper stories of the building were those where all or those cellular process of the Rightling method, the lower floors were used. The number of dead will reach about 75.

MRS. FRED BLACK committed suicide at Mill Grove, N. Y. She was despondent because her face had been disfigured.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

WILLIAM ZEN opened Lowlow at Fine Not. New, for inspection. Zen was offered $1,000 for the ticket, but refused. Zen is a man who lives on a farm in Illinois. Zen's farm is 10 miles from Lowlow.

IRA SMITH, aged 15, of Trowbridge, Mich., was found in a wood of Lansing, aged 11, were drowned in a boat on near Lansing, by the capsizing of a boat.

AT Springfield, Ill., a man in the case of a man's home on a line of gradually crumbling away is attracting the attention of the medical fraternity.

A CONVENTION of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Illinois, representing 1,000 lodges, in Chicago resolved in the murder of Mrs. Amelia Cornwell by her brother, Frank Kent, a laborer.

DEVASTATION in the Iroquois, Ohio, tragedy, in which two people were killed, Kent, a laborer, was murdered by an unknown man, who shot Kent and his wife, and then committed suicide by the same pistol, the motive for the murder being a mystery. William Wanagle, a prominent farmer, was found in his home, shot through the heart, and a signed letter, which Wanagle had written, was found in the room of the murder.

AT Ada, O., John Jones, of Fort Wayne, and John Fleury, of Toledo, Both were arrested.

THE Mower was manufactured in mower of New York, and is used in the mower in use in the city of New York.

JOHN W. MILLER, the proprietor of a Chicago, Ill., was found in his office, dead in his dressing room. The woman

AT Alliance, Ohio, Thomas Cooper was arrested in a fast freight and family in Mich. When the train was stopped at Mich. the man was found in the car, a man and the man was found in the car, and he was killed. The man's name and had taken

AT Pittsburgh, Virginia, Peter Tedrick, a member of a minstrel company, in which he was an away over for an application for a divorce, and he filed a complaint, he discovered a counterpane. The lawyer's name was Tedrick and one shot was lodged in the right ear and went over through his brain.

Midnight Blaze Close.

The records of the bank of the Mississippi Valley at Quincy, Illinois, has undergone alarming disturbance. It is now over the bank of the Mississippi for the last time. It is now over the bank of the Mississippi road, on the east side of the Mississippi road, on the east side of the Mississippi road, on the east side

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 9, 1891.

The Present And The Future.

From McKinley's own speech.

Now, if protection is a burden upon the people, we should find some manifestation of it somewhere. We have been living under it for thirty years. Where does the burden rest? The great mass of the people of our country were never so well off as they are today. They are better off than the rest of mankind. There were never so many men in this country who owned their own homes as there are today. There were never so many workmen who had accumulations in the savings banks of the country as there are today. There never were so many comforts, refinements, and educated homes as there are in this country today. No nation of the world can present such a picture of progress, prosperity and plenty.

Much as the republican party has done, it has great things yet to do. It will be a mighty force in the future as it has been in the past. Its glories will continue to blaze on the brightest a light to the world, pointing to a higher destiny for mankind, and the upholding and uplifting of a nation approved by God. It will not pause in its march and achievements until the tag of the stars shall be the unquestioned symbol of sovereignty at home and of American rights abroad, until American labor shall be securely sheltered from the degrading competition of the Old World, and our entire citizenship from the vicious and criminal classes who are crowding our shores; until the advocates of a debased dollar threaten the country with financial heresies, and never until the free right to vote in every corner of the country shall be protected under the law, and the American ballot-box held as sacred as the American home.

There are hundreds of thousands of new votes for the Republicans in 1892 in the 100c dollar issue.

Cleveland is right on the silver question, and this is one of the reasons why his party will never nominate him again for the presidency.

The fact is worth bearing in mind that the duties imposed by the McKinley bill do not aggregate as much as those which were proposed by the Mills bill.

The "bankrupt" treasury of the United States appears to be in a very healthy condition. Last month the cash in the treasury was increased $6,000,000, to the great agony of the calamity shrielers.

One thing is now sure, the more the public see and the oftener they hear President Harrison, the more they appreciate him. His reception during his Eastern tour has been marked by the same warmth as that exhibited in the South and West. The people like brains and patriotism and Harrison has both.

The Democratic groan over the McKinley opening is general. They say he actually wants to make us talk about something else than the tariff—boo-hoo. So he does. Step right on to that Ohio platform, gentlemen, like little men. You made it, and you must defend it. You will get all the tariff you want; don't be alarmed about that. More of you will "have a tired feeling" before November.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Republican tariff bill was designated to stimulate American industries by checking imports from competing countries, and encourage our own trade with those countries whose products do not compete with ours. Is this new tariff which has now been in force less than a year, fulfilling expectations? The government statement of foreign commerce just issued shows that we sold $8,000,000 worth more of our products in July 1891, than in July, 1890, and in the same period we bought about $11,000,000 less from other nations.—New York Press.

The constant reiteration in the Democratic and mugwump press of assertions and predictions that the McKinley bill will be repealed have their natural sequence in reports that come from abroad about the frame of mind of manufacturers and capitalists who under ordinary circumstances would have been over here immediately after its passage to erect factories and investments. An associated press cable dispatch tells us that capitalists "are shy of laying out money to erect works in America which a popular vote might at any time render useless." This announcement is highly significant. It affords good reason for sustaining the Republican party this fall and thereby making it definitely known that we are not to have any tariff tinkering in the direction of free trade.

THINGS WE DON'T KNOW.

In the Broad Domain of Sense, Sentiment and Fetish.

In alluding to insects and pick up, in baseless and unknown a few of the "Things We Do Not know," the first step is to identify a few of the things we think we know, but don't; next, a few of the things we think we don't know, intuitively—that is the sense we not knowing them, and finally to point out some of those we know we don't know, and which we were enough dog's, writes an lounsbian in the N. Y. Evening Sun.

For example, among the last are a child's mind, a woman's meaning, a man's purpose, the verdict of a jury, the operation of medicines, the speech of cats, elders of dogs and so on; all of which we know to exist, and that we know nothing further about them.

Some folks suppose they know things learned at school, as for example, that parallel straight lines in a plane are two that never meet, but this isn't true. If the lines are parallel they do meet—at infinity. Others hug the delusion that a straight line does not change its direction, however prolonged. The fact is, of course, that a straight line is part of a circumference of infinite radius.

Among things we think we don't know, but which we do know all the time, the first is, What we will ourselves do in a situation we have never experienced. We shall, in fact, do just what we did before. If our conscient we that occasion turned out ill many people think they will do something else, and that they don't know what. This is delusion. They will do the same old thing. Otherwise man would learn by experience, which is against nature.

Another thing a man thinks he doesn't know is that a fellow-creature who cheats a third for his sake will cheat him for the fellow-creature's own sake. Yet this is a trait that governs human relations as gravitation rules the material universe. It is a mentorium in which the relations of men and women find a universal solvent.

Many folks believe they know that iron is a substance which can not change into different substances. Most error. Iron maintains its identity at the temperature of terrestrial laboratories. It splits up into other substances under the sun's heat. Most folks think they have a mental image of what the moon's surface is like, but they haven't. They have such an image of that half of its surface which faces us, but none of the other half, which man has never seen.

There are folks who believe they know what their own inside is like, though they have never seen a cadaver or a hog in the cutting up.

There are even school teachers who think they know that English verse is in the number of its syllables, irrespective of the time required to utter them. So there are orifices of such verse who mispronounce outery to be poetry if it is metrically articulate.

There are painters who believe they produce works of art which appeal in sense without awakening any sympathy that is not common to man, birds and butterflies. Yet such works are not of art.

More people think they know that the rudder turns the bow of a boat than know that what it really does is to swing the stern.

Most people know, when speaking of an electric fluid or current, that, while electrical phenomena are developed successively in time and space, nothing exists corresponding to any of our other conceptions for which the words fluid and current stand. More than this, very few persons have formed any kind of provisional hypothesis, even, for reducing to any sort of conceivable image the similarities of a concept that waves behind the use of the word electricity.

Among other things we think we know, but don't, may be enumerated Pointers on the stock exchange, the figures of visible supply of staples and the real responsibility of parties rated at $1,000,000 or upward by the commercial agencies.

A popular delusion is that the liar can be made, who is not here at. The liar's gift is, in fact, one of the rarest, the highest expression conceivable in imagination, the most rare, the most rare of all, and the certainty of being disbelieved.

More men believe they can play draw than there are white blackheads, yet the man who can play draw is the rarer beast.

Folks talk of steam; to most of them visible vapor is the thing this word stands for; many think they believe that the cloud they see issuing from a steam waste-pipe is the agency that, still a visible cloud, moves the steam engine. Few, perhaps, really believe this, for the mental impressions of most of such people on such subjects are too vague and unreasoning to be rightly called beliefs. But there is a considerable number of people who know better than to confound live steam in its working state with visible vapor; most of these perhaps have read or have heard of an hypothesis by which particles in the gaseous condition are conceived to fly about, bombarding the sides of vessels in which the gases may be contained coming into collision with one another. How many people do notice that this fanciful presentation of the subject is put forward purely in a provisional way, awaiting the progress of investigation essentially mathematical, say that it sustains to sane conceptions of the physical world, some sort relation as spectacular pantomime does to the conduct of human life in its derby hat and rubber overshoes?

Woman in general thinks she does not know her changeling. She does show in the first place which makes her either brighter or sillier than she is by nature, which created her either sillier or brighter than she needs to be.

Nature created man neither as bright as he ought to be nor as silly as the preservation of the race demands; hence, he should drink red wine, which is better than champagne any way.

Brandy is drink for heroes. Avoid it.

An Intelligent Animal.

The keeper of the bear Island light is the owner of an intelligent dog. When a steamer passes the light in winter its valets, and in response the lighkeeper rings sea bell, or rather did ring before the dog took the job out of his hands. Seeing that the passing of a boat and the ringing of the bell were two things that went together, the dog took it into his sou l and—of mouth—to ring the bell, and when a boat comes along, without waiting for her whistle, he seizes the bell rope with his teeth and rings a vigorous salute.

PHOTOGRAPHIC FUN.

Some Rare Incidents in the Experience of an Artist.

One old gentleman often came to me to have his picture taken. He were a wrinkle except about five inches in height, and he held his head sideways. It always tried to get his head down, so as to obtain a view of its face without looking up his nostrils, but he never let me. As soon as I placed his head in a good position he would say that that was not natural, and up would go its head. It was this gentleman who was told by a crazy woman on the Jersey ferry-boat that when he died it would not be much trouble to bury him, as he was already laid out.

A lady once brought her three children, a bobby-horse, a drum and a doll. They were to be taken in a group. The size selected was 3 1-4 x 4 1-2 inches. The girl Angelina was to hold the doll; but the family had not decided whether Charles Augustus was to ride the horse and William Henry hold the drum, or conversely. They had agreed to let my superior judgment decide that momentous question. As both the boys wished to mount the horse a decision was no easy matter. I then learned that the mother did not want the children close together, as all the "dog-days-type" were taken. She wanted Angelina in the middle of the room, one of the boys by the "winder," and the other boy on the other side of the room. It was a brilliant idea; but how my camera was to reach them all, thus spread out, was more than I could see. I told her that it could not be done; I explained to her the capabilities of the lens, the concentration of the light, and so forth, but she did not understand me. She said that she had been told that I was disposed to be accommodating, but that I was just the same as the rest of the "dog-dy-type" men, for three chances had refused to accommodate her in this way.

Another lady brought her three children to be taken in a group, and when I asked her if she wished them taken in any particular position she showed her good sense by saying that she only asked that they should not look like three exclaims, she did not wish them all standing straight.

An old lady, after sitting about half the time required to have her picture taken, raised both hands and exclaimed, "Stop! stop it! I winked!"

As an elegantly dressed young lady was preparing to sit for her picture she asked, "Where must I look?" and before I could answer her escort, a very diminutive specimen of a man, stepped in front of the screen and said in a squeaking voice, "Look at me." The scene was so ludicrous that the lady burst into hearty laughter, and it was some minutes before she could control her features for a sitting. After that, "Look at me," solo voice, was for some time a by-word in the gallery.

Phases of English Words.

The subjoined words have undergone changes chiefly in the acquisition of new powers, during the last few years. In some cases I may be mistaken, although I have tested the experience of other persons. But a record of the kind is of value, and a short list will perhaps suggest noteworthy additions. Ordinary slang words (such as "awfully") and technical terms should, I think, be excluded.

Insidently.—Much affected in the place of "very," "decidedly," "certainly." The word has even found favor with writers of money articles in newspapers: "Iron is distinctly quiet."

Brutal.—No longer simply "coarse-ly ferocious." "Brutish," but also, as in French, "rough," "harsh," especially as applied to language.

Odious.—Familiarly used, without a complimentary nous, to the sense of "makes way with." "Sold."

Strained.—The very familiar use of this word in a metaphorical sense is of recent date.

Once.—For "when once."

To-days.—For "at the present day," "nowadays."

Vince.—Familiarly used as a verb, in the sense of "to give expression to."

Reverstreen.—Getting into common use. Since jotting down the above words I have chanced to read in a speech by Lord Salisbury (March 4) of "the reverstreen of prosperity," and in an article by Professor Huxley, in this month's Nineteenth Century, of "the reverstreenie, of superstition."

Largely.—Much favored of lately at the expense of "greatly."

Smart.—Almost equivalent, as applied to persons, to "swell," "stylish." Also applied to things, but, I think, not so much used by genteel people.

Enjoyable.—"Pleasant," "agreeable," and not merely "what may be enjoyed." But is not this adjective a new coinage, dating from about twenty-five years back?—Notes and Queries.

Japanese English.

A firm dealing in fishing tackle having sent a circular to a merchant in Tokio, Japan, received the following communication:

"Dear Sir in Yours: We should present to your company the bamboo fishing rod, a net basket and a reel, as we have just convenience, all those were very rough and simple to you laughing for your kind reply which you sent us the catalogue of fishing tackles list, &c. Wishing we that now at Japan there it was not is prevailing his gamming, but fisherman, in comfort of human life in its derby hat and rubber overshoes?"

Woman in general thinks she does not know her changeling. She does show in the first place which makes her either brighter or sillier than she is by nature, which created her either sillier or brighter than she needs to be.

Nature created man neither as bright as he ought to be nor as silly as the preservation of the race demands; hence, he should drink red wine, which is better than champagne any way.

Brandy is drink for heroes. Avoid it.

Simple Remedy for Insomnia.

"The man who has just left me wanted to know if I could cure him of insomnia," said a well-known New York doctor. "He said he could not sleep unless he drank a bottle of beer every night just before going to bed. Now, I'll give you a prescription for insomnia to put in the Sun for all the world to read. It is simply this: If you cannot sleep the probability is that it is because your stomach is out of its basin. Seeing that the passing of a boat and the ringing of the bell were two things that went together, the dog took it into his sou l and—of mouth—to ring the bell, and when a boat comes along, without waiting for her whistle, he seizes the bell rope with his teeth and rings a vigorous salute.

—N. Y. Sun.

THACKER & GORDON

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies, road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

THACKER & GORDON.

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat.

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

MILLINERY!

JUST RECEIVED.

A fine line of

SUMMER GOODS,

Comprising all the latest novelties in Hats and Bonnets, ipe and desirable Ribbons, Flowers, Laces, Vailings, Tinsels, Gauzes, Jets, Trimmings of all kinds. Stock complete for Millinery and Dresses, also a nice line of Corsets.

I Have stem to stocks

Call and see

MRS. B. A. CARR.

Call and see . . . .

A FINE LINE OF WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, PINS.

SILVER TABLE WARE. CHARLEVOIX SOUVENIR SPOONS.

AGATE JEWELRY, BATIN SPAB AND SHELL TOOTH AND TUSK JEWELRY.

Also, a Full Line of OPTICAL GOODS IN WHITE AND SMOKES.

Special attention given to all Repair. All work subject to sale after six months.

C. R. Bellinger.

T. J. CANNON.

Has opened a

NEW BAKERY.

Corner Pearl and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of

BAKED GOODS,

always on hand.

Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered.

Also keeps a full line of Confectionery and will sell cheap for Cash. Give him a call and see what you good goods, low prices, courteous treatment and square dealing.

T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Rates Low.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

STRAYED.

Came into my enclosure in the township of Hayes, Charlevoix county, on or about July 20th, 1891, one yearling heifer, red and white in color, about 400 lbs. weight. The owner can have the same by the payment of expenses.

THOMAS WARDING.

Take The Sentinel

HERE'S THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

BOOTS AND SHOES AT FIRST COST.

We are Closing out summer goods at a great reduction to make room for our fall stock. Many of these goods are at cost price.

Don't Miss These Bargains.

We are making great Reductions in all lines. Come while the stock is yet complete.

SHERWOOD

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

Why Not Buy Where Land is Cheap?

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 200,000 souls, and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this great have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.

TITLES PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

Will pay special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS.

First door south of Sentinel office.

We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR,

—AT—

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

Fox & Miller.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD P. GIBBS, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for Charlevoix County. Title guaranteed. Loans negotiated. Farms and village property for sale. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

L. O. L.—Tues Meets No. 215, meet Saturday even Lo. before full moon in Gaffney's hall.

G. A. R.—Burke Post No. 113, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 77, O. E. S., meets at the Odd Fellows' hall on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month. Charlotte Hills, J. W. N. Hilda Mcland, Secretary.

FOREST CLUB, No. 108 R. A. M., meets at Masonic hall on Friday evenings on or before full moon.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 225, meets every Saturday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. & A. M. Meets Saturday on or before full moon.

TANDERO WAMKEEKY No. 249, K. T., meets at Odd Fellows' Hall in Pinconing on the first Thursday of each month.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 2911, K. of L., meets every Friday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall, Charlevoix.

BAXTER GULLEY CAMP, No. 172, meets at I. O. O. F. hall the first Saturday of each month, at 1:00 P.M. Jesse Hall.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. S. DENOS, surveyors and highlanders, Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County Surveyors for Charlevoix county.)

The "New Charlevoix."

M. S. GAUNOR, Prop.

(Known as the Lake View House.)

Pleasantly located on the North Terrace, overlooking the Village and Lake.

LAKE VIEW AND ROOM CONVENIENCES.

Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.

49-37-tf.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only first class Hotel on the North Side. Cable Cars pass the door.

Rates $2 per day. Modern improvements newly furnished. Its American and European plans. Rooms with bath, $3 per day; rooms 50 with and upward. Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen. Ladies Dining Parlor, Gent. Dining Room, Ladies and Children's Dining Room. Special rates for Families and Parties.

47-1-y

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental • Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER

SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $13 to $30.

Pants, $3 to $8.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,

Merchant Tailor.

FOR SALE,

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton Street, and in one block, with other house, nicely finished on outside. Inquire of

PROF. G. M. BICE,

Ecorse, Mich.

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE

Elegant and fast line to Chicago and all points West and Northwest.

Twelve hours on present schedule as follows:

Leave Traverse City, 12 15 p. m. 8 20 p. m. 5 20 a. m.
Arrive Grand Rapids, 12 15 p. m. 5 40 p. m. 10 50 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 7 00 a. m. 1 00 p. m. 11 45 p. m.
Arrive Chicago, 1 30 p. m. 7 30 p. m. 6 30 a. m.

*Every day. Others week days only.

Sleeping Car on night train through to Chicago.

1.35 p. m. has free chair car Traverse City to Chicago.

8.20 p. m. has Sleeper Grand Rapids to Chicago.

Train 1 connects at Grand Rapids with Chicago 3.15 p. m., arriving in Grand Rapids 5.05 p. m., 8.45 p. m. and 6.30 a. m., arriving at Traverse City 12.40 p. m. and 5.15 p. m.

DETROIT

The Favorite to the Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.

From Howard City and Grand Rapids.

In effect June 21, 1891.

Leave Howard City 8.00 a. m., 11.15 a. m. and 3.35 p. m.

Leave Lansing 8.50 a. m., 2.00 p. m., 7.05 p. m. and 4.20 a. m.

Arrive Detroit 1.40 a. m., 6.10 p. m., 9.45 p. m. and 7.00 a. m.

Leave Detroit 7.00 a. m., 1.40 p. m. and 6.40 p. m.

Leave Lansing 10.35 a. m., 5.05 p. m. and 9.45 p. m.

Arrive Howard City 12.05 p. m., 6.35 p. m. and 11.10 p. m.

Train leaving Detroit at 6.40 p. m. runs to Howard City only on Saturday.

Train leaving Howard City at 8.00 a. m. runs to Detroit only on Monday.

Train leaving Howard City at 3.35 p. m. runs to Detroit only on Sunday.

Connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.

GEO. DERAVEN,

Gen'l Pass. Agent.

WIT AND HUMOR.

Tact is hypocrisy in its most delightful form.—Troy Press.

A man's idea of heaven is a place where every sun is as good as he knows it is.—Boston Gazette.

A man whose soul is harrowed is not necessarily a cultivated individual.—Boston Herald.

Kissing (to murderer in electric chair)—"I gave the best years of my life to you."—Buffalo Courier.

"There are born liars as well as born poets," but the former comes nearer to a man.—N. Y. Advertiser.

You can't tell anything about a man's religion by what he does when he knows he is watched.—Howe's Here.

The art enthusiasm in some of the salesmen are decidedly suggestive of lost-horse-in-a-fog splendor.—Washington Post.

He—"Do you belong to the Psychical Society?" She—"No, but I sometimes go out on my brother's machine."—Puck.

May—"Yes, I spent the winter in Florida." Blanche—"But, like Bonner de Lyon, you were unsuccessful?"—N. Y. Herald.

If you wish to know what the standard of a people is, look at the kind of men they patronize the horse-cars.—Boston Bulletin.

"It must be nice to be a Hinkon and always dodge the question when disciplined Way Bishops marry, do they and?"—N. Y. Sun.

Sinkins—"Do you and your wife get along well together?" Hen Peck—"Just along well enough to hold out I don't."—Epoch.

The fact that gold is one of the ingredients in the Koch lymph reduces it to the level of a mined cure after all.—Elmira Gazette.

The man who sells goods with a 35-mile-an-hour speed, and who has built foundation stones of heaven, if he could only do the thing.—Detroit Horn.

"Briggs a good business man? I should say he was. He can keep a fortune, you know." "Well?" "He's got it."—Detroit Horn.

He—"Why are you going to Europe?" She—"Frankly, to secure a husband." He—"I'll go away at once." "Frankly, my wife."—N. Y. Continent.

The man who spends all of his time sitting around studying himself is wasting his days upon a lesson that is not worth knowing.—Dallas News.

"Shall I wash the windows, mum?" "Why, what is the matter?" replied the lady of the house. "You know we have never washed."—N. Y. Recorder.

Hoolihan's Wife—"What do they mean—the proper labor of Vorwurts, Pa?" Hoolihan—"They mean the Chinese, av course."—Hennessy's Hinkey-O.

The Rev. Phillips Brooks' election to a bishopric is a fine illustration of the nature law that brooks ultimately rise to the surface.—Louisville Courier.

If we all had the gift to see ourselves as others see us very few of us would be persuaded to act as Grand Marshal in a holiday parade.—N. Y. Recorder.

The man who doesn't like the human race was heard to remark: "This world might be a delightful place if it has a mighty poor company."—Hawk-eye.

"O, dear," sighed Tompkins, "this moving makes me wish I was dead!" "Humph!" said his wife, "if you dread you'd want to move, I guess."—N. Y. Herald.

"I do so love England," said Du Poyster unexpectedly to Miss Pryde-in-the-ebony. "Why?" asked Brownlow. "Its so English," returned Du Poyster.—Brooklyn Life.

"So she rejected you did she? Your proposal didn't please her?" "Well, I can hardly say it didn't please her. I thought she'd never stop laughing."—Boston Herald.

Chollie—"Wuall, you fellows don't use cast aside for another, I presume?" Miss Lorraine—"No, not for another." "I am in love with a real nice man."—Indianapolis Journal.

"I think," said the downcoastal farmer somewhat, "that I'do need gee yuwiaaa—" "Do you mean, I'm see it I can? find something that will take."—Washington Post.

"How did you get along with Miss Gilbert? Which of your gifts did she take?" at the end of the conversation she announced that we were engaged."—Pingback Bentler.

"No, sir," exclaimed the politician at the end of a long speech, "I am no talk about helping politicians. All we want is to be allowed to help ourselves."—N. Y. Recorder.

"Don't you think," said Miggins that I often wield a bitter pen?" "I don't know," was the reply. "You're the only man I ever saw chewing the end of it."—Washington Post.

Chollie, the office-boy—"There's a man downstairs says he's goin' to kill yer, and a beautiful young lady as wants to go on dat stage." Manager—"Well, show the man up."—Brooklyn Life.

Guess that will about five miles have been invented. We mention this fact only to emphasize again to spring poets the advisability of sending in their contributions by mail.—Texas Siftings.

Watts—"I do not think any men can be happy without a family." Jones—"Are you an agnostic?" Watts—"And not so very happy either, by the way." Jones—"Why, I thought you were one devoted to the church." Watts—"I am. Why, what makes you think I am not happy?" Jones—"Why, I thought you seemed happy."—Brooklyn Life.

Mr. Meek—"The paper says the Judge reserved his decision. I don't see what in a judge is material to put off deciding a point until the next day." Mrs. M.—"Bad! Judges have sense enough to want to consult their wives."—N. Y. Weekly.

Miss E. (whose parents refuse to recognize her friend)—"If you had a daughter, Mr. Hardy, who ran away from home and married a young man, what would you do to the young man?" Mr. Hardy—"Write him a letter of condolence."—Life.

"Bunko Bill," said the old settler, "was a very wicked man." "Was he honest?" asked a bystander. "Worse'n that," said the old settler. "Cheat at cards?" asked the bystander. "Worse'n that," said the old settler again. "How could that be?" asked the bystander, and the old settler replied: "Got caught."—Somerville Journal.

Miss Alcott—As Author and Woman.

Miss Josephine Lazarus publishes in the Century a thoughtful sketch of the career of Louisa May Alcott the children's author, from which we quote these paragraphs:

Strangely enough, in her works, which are the counterpart of her life, she defers become a merit, and accounts for their phenomenal success. What was it in Miss Alcott's books that surprised and delighted the children of a score of years ago, and that still holds its charm for the childhood of to-day? Was it a new world that she discovered, a fairy-land of imagination and romance, peopled by heroes and romantic heroines? Far from it, in spite of the literal, homespun, child's world of to-day; the romance is set aside, the romance life of every New England boy and girl, and we know it! the trials, pluck and cares, the games and sports and jolly companionship, the sociability and detail of familiar and secluded scenes, the life of home and school. For children are born realists, who delight in the suggestive, and who find for them the marvelous is no less real because the commonplace, and is accepted just as unconditionally. Miss Alcott put the children on their own plane, gravely discussed their problems and interpreted their part of view, drawing in no wise upon her invention, her imagination, but upon the facts of her own memory and experience. Whether or not the picture, so true to the life, as she had lived it, will remain true and vital for all times cannot now be determined. For the literature of children, no less than for our own, a higher gift may be needed, more finish, and less of the rough-and-ready of every-day habit and existence; above all, perhaps, a large genuineness, and a suggestion, and the issues of things unseen as well as things familiar.

But whatever the fate of her books, Miss Alcott deserves the niche she has won, and the monument built for her by the record of a life which is a protest against the doctrine of the age—the fear that it may be lost in the vast and character its foundation, and that happiness is the sole measure and rule of living.

A Playwriter's Luck.

A man with his trousers in his boots tops and a white tie his hand rolled at the back-door of one of the Detroit theaters the other day, and, after finishing about the contents of a bottle brought out about a dozen sheets of foolscap pinned together, and said:

"Here's a play my daughter has writ me commended all by her self. What are you paying this spring?"

"The price is way down," replied the courteous attendant.

"Too many in the market, I suppose?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, this is a stopper of a play and no mistake. Plenty of love and no end of love and hanging around."

"I see, but I don't think we could use it."

"Hence gets after a-el the heroine puts it out with cider," continued the Wash Tub Kid, "and at a time and you are sure to hit everybody. I engineered the cider myself."

"Yes, but as I told you, the price is way, way down."

"I expect so. How much'll you give?"

"I am assumed to make you an offer."

"Pooh! Don't be afeard of hurtin' my feelings." Kid Wash Tub's eyes and say what you'll give?"

"Well, sir, plays are such a drug in the market that I couldn't offer you anyone do cause—really couldn't do it."

"Gimmee the money—stop a minute, said the man, as he handed it to and after swallowing the lump in his throat and running about forty different colors, the officials passed on a quarter and took a drink and sadly dropped it in the waste basket.—Detroit Free Press.

Brings Bad Luck.

"I have known commercial travelers," says a hotel clerk, "to stay out until the early hours of Sunday morning and yet they would get up and go to church Sunday, no matter how severe the weather was. They said they were not particularly religious, but that they made it an invariable rule to go to church on Sunday or they would have no success during the week. I remember a case of a young fellow who came in from the train late one Saturday night, and said he had a worse week in my life,' he said. 'Why, I thought you were doing tremendous.' And the reason is I neglected to go to church last Sunday, as my usual custom. I am going out of town night and may be not late but I want to be sure of a seat in the church morrow Sunday." He did not come in until 4 o'clock in the morning, but he insisted on being called at 9 o'clock, and though it was raining pitchforks went to church after a hearty breakfast. I joked him when he returned and declared that he had not been to church. But he insisted on the minister's text so several good points of the sermon. He said it was the best week's good luck all the week and hooked several of the big orders he had ever taken in this city."—N. Y. Tribune.

The hourly rate of water falling over Niagara falls is 100,000,000 tons, representing 16,000,000-horse power, and the total daily production of coal in the world would just suffice to pump the water back again.

It is estimated that the Australian colony of Victoria will have 10,000,000 bushels of wheat for export this year.

To reduce our stock, we make the following low prices for September:

Open Buggies	$38.
Top Buggies	$55.
Spiral Spring Buggies, the BEST	$85.
Two Seat Platform Spring Wagons	$70.
Two Seat Combination Spring Wagons	$70.
Two Seat Duplex Spring Wagons	$55.
Sulky Harrows	$32.
16 Tooth Spring Tooth Harrow	$14.
16 Tooth Spring Tooth Steel Frame Harrow	$16.
Double Harpoon Hay Fork	$1.

Our $8 Single and $25 Double Work Harness are "World Beaters."

Special low prices on Belknap Wagons, Land Rollers, Stone Boats, Seed Harrows &c.

S. BAKER & SON,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

English Spavin Liniment, removes all hard, soft or callonsed lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeny, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

BUY'S POUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL

ALLEN B. WRISLEY'S OLD COUNTRY SOAP.

THE DR. MILES' NEW HEART CURE

"For twenty years I suffered with heart disease, short breath, pain in left side, smothering spells, could not lie down on bed. Your Heart Cure has made me a well man."—REV. E. WHITMAN, East Jordan, Mich.

HEART DISEASE.

Statistics show that one in every ten is weak or diseased Heart. The 5 symptoms are short breath, expression, fluttering, faint and hungry spells, pain in side, arm smothering, swollen ankles, dropsy (and death.) for which Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is a marvelous remedy. Free book on Heart Disease, with wonderful cures, FREE at druggists, or address Dr. Miles' Medical Co., Elkhart, Indiana.

Sold by F. G. HINES & CO.

FREE CONSULTATION

—DR. A. B. SPINNEY,—

of Detroit, for the purpose of accommodating his friends in Charlevoix, will be present and consult him at Detroit, has opened an office at the point named below, and will be there on duty. Dr. Detroit has been thirty-one years in practice—thirteen years in general practice, eighteen years in the study and treatment of Chronic Diseases, for six years as Medical Superintendent of Alma and Ypsilanti Sanitarium, also two years Professor of Anatomy and Physiology in Medical College in Detroit—has given hundreds of lectures upon Physiology in different parts of the State. If you have Catarrh, Throat, Lung Eye, Ear, Liver, Stomach, Kidney or Nervous Diseases, inquire this opportunity for a careful examination. If your case is curable he will cure it. If it can not be cured at home he will do so if can, he will tell you what it will cost and how long it will take; his office which is open all the time and is supplied with all the modern appliances.

CLASSES filled to all cases needing close and attentive care. Special Rates, Strictly Private Business.

AT FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE,

CHARLEVOIX,

Tuesday and Wednesday, November 3d and 4th.

Specimen Cures.

S. H. Clifford, Wayne Canal, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming extent, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speakler, Catawba, O., had five large sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

Now Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will surely you good, if you have a cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines Cook's Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

FOR SALE.

Farm for sale—

Containing 170 acres, eighty cleared, mostly stoned up, rest fenced, well timbered, plenty of water, 2 miles from Boyne City, and 2 miles from Boyne Falls. Reasonable for quick sale. Will take a team or good cow in part payment. Inquire of Mrs. Mary Ann Ingersoll, Boyne City, Mich., or Mrs. Ingersoll, Boyne Falls, Mich.

Also on same section—

100 acres with 40 acres of improvements, good house and barn,

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

(CHAPTER XVI.—Continued.

Mrs. Brown could not control the roll. "Very well—you can tell Mr. Buckett I want each bill more, at least, fifty dollars worth—to—and make the apparatus be not required. Do just as much of your money to it as will make it safe—and—and—I will give back half to you.

"Of course he will—and I am much obliged to you, sir," said Bess. "He will be very glad to get it. I would have been content—indeed, I did not—but I know how much it means to you."

"Bess, you are a sensible girl. Why should you not be the Queen of Arabia in this—long—at last?"

"I thought this a strange request, but I—I—I—

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 9, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The schooner Evaline Bates is ashore on Beaver Island, and is a total loss.

The schooner Charlotte Ruab is being detained at Chicago under a seamen's union boycott.

The scow J. B. Prime sprung a leak and came near sinking in Lake Michigan last week, and had to go into dry dock at Milwaukee.

The steamer Crescent came over from Northport Sunday with an an excursion party and a brass band, and was storm-bound here until Monday forenoon.

The yacht Ben Ami was dismasted in a squall last week near near Harbor Springs. She is hauled out at Washburn's yard, where she will receive a new spar and stop a leak.

The gospel steamer Glad Tidings was in port over Sunday. Capt. Binely "dressed ship" on the Sabbath and preached to a small congregation, the bad weather prevented a dock-meeting.

While Capt. Ed. Cunningham is ashore with a dislocated shoulder and three broken ribs, his steamer, the New Orleans, goes ashore near Bois Blanc Island. She was released by the tug Favorite, but lost a part of her cargo.

Capt. G. C. Gerken returned from Grand Haven last night with his new fishing tug, the Frank P. Gerken. She is a well built and fine looking boat. She is 70 feet long over all, 15 feet keel, and is driven by a 14x16 engine.

The old schooner Evaline Bates, ashore on beaver Island, will be allowed to go to pieces, as her present valuation does not warrant the expense of a wrecking expedition to effect her rescue. When the Bates was new she spent some time on the Atlantic Ocean, in the coasting trade. On one occasion she took a cargo of hides from a Texas port, and encountering a hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico the hides were saturated with salt water. When Mobile, her port of destination was reached, the vessel was ordered away on account of the stench emanating from the cargo. The hides were afterwards dried at a lonely spot on the shore of Mobile Bay. During the war of the Rebellion, the Bates returned to the Great Lakes, and since that time has earned several fortunes for her owners. The vessel came out in 1854, and is therefore 33 years old.

Ray L. Royce, the Comedian.

Rarely do we get such a fine attraction at our opera House as the "Ray L. Royce" Musical Comedy Company which is booked to appear next Monday night.

Mr. Royce is a talented and versatile comedian, who has gradually crept to the front as an artist of great merit. He is now the leading artist of his line in the country —a genuine an of education and refinement, a true artist, clean, refined, artistic.

"Tom's Vacation" was written especially to display the wonderfully versatile talents of this young comedian, it is full of real genuine fun. Although "funny" it is pure in tone and caters to the most refined and cultured taste. Mr. Royce introduces his famous songs and character specialties, he assumes a wide range of characters, and has ample opportunity for the display of his powers of imitation and facial expression.

The excellent support of Mr. Royce assures us of a very artistic and charming performance. We notice the names A. R. Brooks, an old time favorite; Miss Vere La Vallette, the phenominal contralto; Charles Howrin, a rising young comedian; Lizzie Royce a sweet and charming young lady who is a great favorite everywhere; A. C. Moore, a fine sol-oist on the banjo; Jessie Lindsay, a bright young lady of 16 summers, a fine skirt dancer; Jeffries Lindsay, the mother of Miss Jessie, is a good actress, at one time she was in the company of Rose Coghlin and Frederick Warde; Kenyon Jones, the musical director of this company is an artist of exceptional ability. Not often do we find such an aggregation of talent in one company.

Our opera house should be full next Monday night. It will be a treat, and all who attend will doubtless enjoy the artistic work of Mr. Royce and the members of this fine organization.

OUR GREAT BOOK OFFER.

Which has proven such a great attraction, closes October 1st.

Don't lose the opportunity to get one, by buying your fall goods of us.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF

FALL GOODS

ARRIVING DAILY.

MASON & BERDAN.

Northern Michigan News.

Horse races at Petoskey, Sept. 16, 17 and 18.

St Ignace is to have an improvement society.

The Grand Traverse fair opens September 8th.

Traverse City is after the Manedonia oval dish factory.

East Jordan is to celebrate labor day, and plans are laid for a big time.

Work on the Pine Lake Iron Co's. kilns at Ironton, is progressing finely Five have already been completed.

Cheboygan had a special election Tuesday to vote on a proposition to bond the city for an electric light plant.

On Thursday, Sept. 10th there will be an Odd Fellows picnic at East Jordan in which the Odd Fellows of Horton's Bay, Boyne City and Petoskey will participate. A capital time is anticipated.

The total tonnage received and discharged at Elk Rapids last week would make a train over three and one-half miles long, with plenty of freight left for more trains. A railroad will get some of the freight this month.

An Italian laborer employed on the Chicago & West Michigan extension, at Petoskey, has been arrested on the charge of opening other people's letters. He was given an examination before United States Commissioner Call and bound over for trial at the next term of the United States court in Grand Rapids.

The planing mill of Thomas Copp & Co., at Northport, burned recently. The fire was first discovered by a passerby who gave the alarm, and in a few minutes the entire building was in flames. The effort of the citizens saved the lumber yards and the saw mill. Loss in the neighborhood of $1,500; no insurance.

Maj. McKinley is to make one speech in Iowa, not because it is really needed, but merely for the purpose of adding 5,000 to the Republican majority.

Say! George where is the best place in Charlevoix county to buy school books? Oh: there is easy, for everybody knows that Hines & Co.'s Drug Store takes the lead. Ask as somehand.

Apple Barrels.

For sale cheap at the Norwood cooper sh op. 2t.

School begins Monday. See that the children are supplied with books, etc. The best place to get them is at Hines and Co.'s Drug store.

One Fare For Three Fairs.

For the State Fair at Lansing Sept. 7 to 11th and the West Michigan Kent County Fairs at Grand Rapids, Sept. 14 18th, the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. lines will sell excursion tickets at one fare for the round trip from all stations in Michigan. Tickets good to return Sept. 12 and 19th respectively.

GEO. DEHAVEN,
G. P. A.

Buy your school supplies at Hines & Co's Drug Store and save "big money."

For Sale.

Two span of horses for sale cheap for cash or exchange for cattle.
G. V. Nash,
Norwood.

Half-Fare to Chicago.

For the Annual Inter-State Exposition, the Chicago & West Michigan and Detroit, Lansing & Northern Lines will sell tickets to Chicago and return, Sept. 22d, 23th, October 6th, 13th, 20th, good to return first Monday following date of sale; rate, one fare with 25 cts. added for admission to the Exposition.
GEO. DEHAVEN, G. P. A.
37-21.

G. A. R. and W. R. C. Attention.

Gen'l Order No. 3.	HEADQUARTERS CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, INDEPENDENCE DAY, 1891. Charlevoix, Mich., Sept. 5, 1891.

G. A. R. Posts and W. R. C. are earnestly requested to send to Samuel M. See, at Charlevoix, Chairman of Committee on Reception and Entertainment, the number of comrades and Musicians, and Ladies who will attend the encampment on Sept. 18 and 19 inst. Each comrade is expected to bring his blanket. County papers please copy.

E. H. GREEN, Adjutant. M. J. STOCKMAN, Commander.

Attention!!

Gen'l Order No. 1.	HEADQUARTERS CHARLEVOIX COUNTY, SOLDIERS & SAILORS ASSOCIATION. Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 24, 1891.

Notice is hereby given that the ANNUAL REUNION of the Charlevoix County Soldiers and Sailors Association will be held at Charlevoix on Friday and Saturday, September 18th and 19th, 1891.

By command of
E. H. GREEN, Adjutant. MORRIS J. STOCKMAN, Commander.

"Your net in it" unless you buy your school books at Hines & Co's

The First to Arrive.

The Grand Rapids Daily Democrat now arrives in Charlevoix at 6 p. m. same day as published, 18 hours ahead of Detroit morning papers. It contains the full associated press dispatches. Delivered by McCartney & Co. at 50 cents a month.

LEWIS GRAND OPERA HOUSE

One night only,
Monday, Sept. 14th.

Reserved seats at
CALKINS & WARNE'S
now on sale.

TWELFTH SEASON.

LAUGH AND GROW FAT.

RAY L. ROYCE

America's Refined and Popular Comedian in

TOM'S VACATION

A Clean and artistic Musical Comedy Medley in Two Delicious Doses.

FIRST-CLASS COMPANY OF WELL-SELECTED ARTISTS
CHARACTERISTIC SONGS, DANCES, SPECIALTIES, COMICAL NATIVE AND RIDICULOUS.
LATEST SONG HITS. ATTRACTIVE SCENERY, EQUIPMENT, ELEGANT GOWNS. ORIGINAL MUSICAL COMEDY GEMS.
MUSIC, FUN, CLEAN AND REFINED.
UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF
B. E. BRIGGS and S. C. BRIGENNA.

NOTICE.

Plats will be special convention for the teachers of Charlevoix county, at Charlevoix, Friday, Sept. 25, 1891, and at East Jordan, Friday, Sept. 25th, 1891.
MARIA A. PRATT,
County Commissioner.
3-21

(First Publication Sept. 2, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE

A mortgage dated December 18th, 1890, made and executed by Ira Ward, of Charlevoix, Michigan, mortgagor, to Ann Arbor Savings Bank, mortgagee, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county State of Michigan, December 29th, 1890, in liber 50 of Mortgages on page 70 thereof, and assigned by Mortgagee, by assignment to Charles Fairchild, August 9, 1891, which assignment was duly recorded September 1, 1891, in liber 50 of Mortgages at page 69 in the said Register's office, which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of $174.30.

Also a mortgage dated November 8, 1891, executed by Charles Fairchild, of Ann Arbor, Mich., to Charles Peterson and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county November 18th, 1891 at page 69 of Liber 6 of Mortgages, from which mortgage there is due, due and unpaid the sum of $174.30.

Also a certain other mortgage executed by said Willard A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, to the Ann Arbor Savings Bank, dated July 1st, 1890, and recorded Jan. 26th, 1891, in liber 6 of mortgages in said of-ficial Register's office, at page 73 upon which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of $1,000 principal and $100 interest.

Default has in each of the said Mortgages of principal been committed, will be foreclosed by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgages by sale of the premises therein mortgaged, at public vendue, to wit: The south half of the south east quarter of section 19, Township 33 north of Range 7 west, lyingwithin the Village of Boyne City, Michigan, at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Boyne City, on Friday, November 6th, 1891, at 10 o'clock noon.

Dated, Sept. 4th, 1891.

Mortgagee.
CHARLES FAIRCHILD,
Mortgagee and Assignee of Mortgage.
ISAAC E. CALL,
Attorney for Mortgagee.

GETTING NEAR THE BOTTOM.

As the fall Season approaches we endeavor to close out all unseasonable goods:

SO WATCH OUT SHARP FOR BIG BARGAINS.

We are in a position to offer Cash buyers the best possible terms and Guarantee quality the best.

We now offer our friends an elegant new line of

CORSETS

of which we have the exclusive control.

S. C. MODEL FRENCH FORM LONG WAIST, $1.75.
858 MODEL FRENCH FORM LONG WAIST, $1.00.

Other makes at Popular prices.

Men's Wool Socks, 19, 25, 35, 45 cts. Ladies, Misses and Children's hose, cords of them from 15c to 60c.

GET MY PRICES.

A. T. WASHBURNE.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

DRUGS and MEDICINES,
PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE,
CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS,
STATIONERY.

Prescriptions carefully compounded.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

SCHOOL TIME
is coming very soon.

School Books.

And School Supplies of all kinds at

Newsdealers. W. H. McCARTNEY & CO., Stationers

FOR SALE BY H. L. IDDINGS,
PROPRIETOR OF
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

"The Best in the world," at prices which will suit you, if you belong to the Grange, if you are a P. of H., Farmer, Laboring Man, Sailor, Merchant, Mechanic, one price to all and that the lowest, for the Best goods. Come and see. Yours truly. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO--11. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 16, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,135.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Our assortment for the summer trade is now complete in every Department.

REMEMBER.
We will always meet the prices of others' specialties, and make prices on all other goods equally low.

REMEMBER.
We carry a general stock.

REMEMBER.
We will always give you a fair and square deal.

REMEMBER
and call on us when in town, as we will be pleased to see you whether you wish to buy or not.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year . . . $1.00 in advance . . $1.50 Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—The Chicago Club closes today for the season.

—Miss Rose Cody, of Chicago, is visiting friends here.

—H. W. Tullock is erecting a large coal shed on his dock.

—Dr. Geo. W. Crouter returned home from Manistee Saturday.

—J. S. Smithson's household effects were shipped to England last week.

—Mrs. Capt. O. E. Wilbur, of Northport, arrived today to visit relatives.

—Chas. R. Bellinger is erecting an addition to the residence portion of his building.

—A. E. Mason's change of advertisement will be found well worth a careful perusal.

—Mrs. J. J. Brown, daughter of M. S. Cagiann, has returned to her home at St. Ignace.

—G. W. Paul, the grocer, has a change of advertisement in this issue. Read it.

—The gypsies folded their tents like the Arabs, and silently stole away," Monday.

—Street Commissioner Kirby is laying a new side-walk on the north side of the school yard.

—Sherwood, the shoe man, has a new advertisement in this issue. Don't fail to read it.

—Amos Fox & Co. give you something to think about in their advertising space this week.

—School opened Monday with an attendance of 289 pupils out of a total of 375 in the district.

—Geo. Miller, of Marion, lost a three year old colt last week, by injury on a barbed wire fence.

—Mrs. D. Sherwood left last week for a two week's stay with friends in Traverse City and Elk Rapids.

—Let every old soldier in Charlevoix county come to Charlevoix Friday and Saturday of this week.

—J. M. Hall, Supt. of the Hay View Assembly was in town yesterday and called on the SENTINEL.

—The Catholics held divine service with mass this forenoon, at Odd Fellows' Hall, with a good attendance.

—Married, Sept. 9th., Mr. George McNeil to Miss Eva Thompson, both of Charlevoix, by Rev. W. H. McCartney.

—Mrs. H. A. Carr has a new ad. in this week's SENTINEL calling attention to her Opening of Fall and Winter Millinery.

—Mrs. W. H. Miller, Mrs. George Ward, and Mrs. John Hall, left this week for St. Lawrence Co., N. Y. to visit friends.

—H. Lee Iddings, of the Charlevoix Hardware Co., calls the attention of patrons to matters" pertaining to that trade, this week.

—Rev. Wm. McPherson, the new Congregational pastor arrived from Lansing, today. He will reside in the Hurd house on Main Street.

—Geo. W. Brannan, formerly a Charlevoix druggist, has returned here from Wisconsin, and bought out the Cochran drug store, and will take possession next week.

—Ed. Widdefield, a Charlevoix boy but now a stenographer and typewriter with the National Loan and Investment Co., of Detroit, is here this week, visiting relatives.

—Mrs. I. E. Allen, who has been spending the summer in Detroit, arrived here yesterday to remain a few days. She desires to dispose of several bed-room suits, stoves and a piano.

—Mr. Campbell the Boyne City Citizen man, has left Boyne City and gone to Sand Beach, taking with him a part of his printing office. We understand Mr. Chase is to continue the publication of the Citizen.

—Geo. Burns has engaged to make improvements on the Chicago Resort grounds, between this and another season, to the extent of about $250. The old channel will be dredged out to connect with the main river and a revetment constructed from the government revetments, around the north side of the island. A dock will be built on the island, and a bridge built to connect it with the main land. Much of the work will be done this fall.

—H. S. Harsha reports the sale by Winton Lamphear to Mrs. Emma Ryan, his house and lot on Mason St; also the sale by Mrs. Ryan to Winton Lamphear of what is known as the Glass place just south of town on the State road.

—A singular phenomenon occurred here tuesday. At about eleven o'clock the river, in which very little current had been noticed, suddenly began running out with remarkable velocity, the water lowering fully a foot in 15 minutes. The current ran out for half an hour with a rapidity never before seen, and stopped as suddenly as it began. Can anybody explain it.

—R. Connable, the senior member of the celebrated Northern Michigan fishing firm, has been in town this week arranging for business here. They have just taken a five year lease of the Hurlbut dock property on the south side of the harbor, and will erect a warehouse upon it at once. They expect to fill extensively from here this fall. As before stated in these columns, they will put up their next winter's supply of ice on their Pine Lake property, and the following spring erect their freezers there.

—Hay L. Hoyes and his company played to a good audience at Lewis Grand Opera House Monday evening. It is safe to say no audience ever left that house better satisfied. Without going into detail, it is enough to say that it is a great entertainment. No greater artist of his class now walks the American stage than Royce, and we have seen a score of them, including Russell. He is well supported and the musical features are fine. Driggs and Behenna, the managers have a combination that they can make their reputation upon, and win success.

—Last week circuit court summons was served upon J. R. McLane & Co., the C. & W. M. railroad contractors by Deputy Sheriff Stevens, on behalf of Moses Cooper, E. H. Burgess and Peter McNally, in a suit for damages. During the dry season the past summer, Burgess' mill was burned, and a large amount of bark and cedar belonging to the other two named, and they assert it was from the fires set the railroad people along their right of way, after due warning had been given. The process is returnable Oct. 6th., and it promises to be a hotly contested suit.

—New York Dry Goods Chronicle, A. T. Washburn, dry goods, notions, etc., Charlevoix, Mich., who has been in the market early part of last week completed his purchases on Thursday and left for Boston on his way home. He is a bright, active, intelligent young merchant, whose trade is steadily increasing, and who visits the market twice a year. And the reason for this, as he remarked in the office of Dry Goods Chronicle, is "because I can obtain a better selection of goods here than anywhere else, and if there is anything new and novel it is first shown in the metropolis. I get ideas by visiting the leading retail houses, not only in the way of window dressing, but in the general display of the stock, and as to what seems to sell the best. I can afford to visit New York twice a year, because it pays me to do so.

Conference Appointments.

The following are the M. E. Conference appointments for this part of the state: Charlevoix, G. S. Ilsley, Boyne City, J. W. Lent, East Jordan, B. H. Whitman; Elk Rapids, Adam Clark, Harbor Springs, W. N. Moore, Petoskey, D. Engle; Norwood and Torch Lake to be supplied. Rev. Mr. Sherman is again Presiding Elder.

From Marion.

Robt. Trimble attended the Traverse City fair the last week, and his mare took first prize.

Wm. Gregory has enjoyed a visit from his sister, Mrs. Fisher, of San Francisco, Calif., whom he had not seen before in thirty-five years.

Wm. Clark is putting a silo in his barn.

Miss Josie Van Nostrand and Mrs. Jacquot, of Brooklyn, N. Y. and Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Stewart, of St. Ignace have been visiting their many friends in Marion, the past two weeks. They left for St. Ignace Sunday.

Wm. Clark and wife attend the Fremont county fair at Petoskey this week.

A first class school teacher is wanted at Dacosta.

The Grange party at Robt. Trimble's last Thursday evening was enjoyed by all. The recitation by Miss VanNostrand showed her to be proficient in the art of elocution.

All come to Burnard next Sunday.

Lost,—a pocket book, between Dr. Bartlett's residence and the residence of Will Cooper, north of town. Finder will be suitably rewarded by calling at this office.

WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER

AND BORDERS AT COST.
....AT....
CALKINS & WARNE.

Down Went McGinty to the Bottom of the

Peach Market.

PEACHES THAT ARE PEACHES. Only early Crawfords on sale. Now I just wish to say, that I am in daily receipt of the finest, largest and best Crawford Peaches that ever came to this county, and they all come direct from the orchard, and are Strictly Fresh and Sound. EVERY ONE, look at them and you will say this is strictly true. Bartlett Pears by the peck or bushel. Low. Now is your time to buy these fruits for canning, they will be no better or lower than now.

at O. W. SMITH'S.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

MASON JARS,

Prices Way Down

LOWER than can be bought at
WHOLESALE.

1 Quart Mason Jars, per dozen, $1 00
1-2 Gallon Mason, Jars per dozen, $1 25

SPECIAL PRICES ON FULL CASES.

BERT MASON.

FURNITURE. FURNITURE.

S. M. SEE & SON'S

FURNITURE. FURNITURE.

Railroad Notes.

About fifty more railroad men arrived today.

Washburn & Ackert have their stump-machine on the right-of-way about five miles south of town, and commenced Tuesday.

Chief Engineer McVean and Division Engineer Northrup were in town saturday looking over the work, and hurrying up the dock work.

A. M. Ross has taken the job of removing the gravel and ice house of John C. Miller for the railroad company, and began the work today.

The dock force have been putting in extra hours the past week, and worked all day Sunday, to have the dock completed to receive a cargo of steel rails that is expected to arrive from Chicago today. The locomotive and track-laying outfit will arrive this week or next.

Grand Rapids Democrat: W. McLane, of the firm of J. R. McLane & Co., contractors for the West Michigan extension, was about the Morton yesterday, in company with William Alden Smith. To a reporter for the Democrat Mr. McLane said: "we will have the track laid between Traverse City and Elk Rapids by the middle of the week. We have 750 men at work all along the line and expect to have it all graded and the track down this season. Trains can be operated between Charlevoix and Petoskey, and Elk Rapids and Traverse City, this winter, but the rest of the line will probably not be laidated before spring. That big 140,000 yard cut south of Petoskey is not proving so much of a bugbear after all. We took out 50,000 yards of dirt last month, and will pretty nearly clean it up next month. Night and day gangs are at work at a number of places, and the road is being pushed along as rapidly as possible."

The Soldiers' Reunion.

Friday and Saturday of this week are expected to be great days for the Soldiers and Sailors of Charlevoix county. Their annual reunion occurs in Charlevoix, and every preparation has been made to make the event a success. Meals and lodging will be supplied all soldiers and sailors. The day will be given up to soldier' goodfellowship, and a free entertainment will be given at the opera house in the evening, a dance to follow. Let Charlevoix welcome the old veterans as they deserve. They are entitled to the best there is in the larder, and the best feather bed in the bed-room. The old boys can have anything we've got.

Hastings from Hayes.

Mrs. Mills and sister, of Detroit, have been visiting their brothers Thomas and Cornelius Sunderland a few days. Cornelius returned home with them Saturday.

Jay Arnold, son of W. C. Arnold died Thursday evening and was buried Friday afternoon at Charlevoix cemetery. The funeral was deferred until the family recover from illness.

Dr. W. A. Chase, of New Weston, Ohio, is visiting friends in this region.

Isaac Stauffer has been in Grand Rapids, conferring with the railroad officials in regard to the depot.

Five steam threshers have been "rooting" around Hayes the past week and yet some people say Hayes is noted for its hemlock productions.

The frame of the Oyster Bay mill was raised last Saturday.

Ludine.

Mrs. F. J. Smith returned to Grand Rapids last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hale went to Petoskey yesterday and purchased goods with which to begin keeping house. They are moving to-day.

Mrs. Wallace Whitford is quite ill.

The Green of Sheboygan and the Hotan Tract, of Chicago, were both at Ludine last Thursday for lumber.

Crain, Whitford & Sons will be through sawing this week for this season.

Miss Lissa Willis is engaged to teach our winter school in District No. 3.

Mr Joseph Lewis has been on the sick list but is getting better.

—Prof. Arthur Nelson returned to-day from a trip to Alpena. On his way back he stopped at Old Fort Mackinac (Mackinac City) where he gathered a collection of valuable relics on the site of the fort. They are part of a gun barrel, several scalping knives, a tomahawk and human bones. This was the site of the Indian massacre of June 4, 1763, in which the Indians captured the fort during a game of ball.

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER XVII—Continued.

The boisterous merriment at Dick on his birthday was not the only one that mortificated to those of the more, they thought, advanced the vast technique in dentistry had increased in dimensions.

"Dick's gone for a cab," shouted Mitchell to Joe.

"No, no," shouted Dick instantly—"third time—don't load. Dick."

Dick did hold on. The white mane rose in the air—spread the air with Dick clung to her. She pinned it—grabbed—slid the boy out on her back. Here here flew like lightning, and still Dick weaved—and over her head.

On the contrary, as she reared again and passed the 1 Dick, hit her on the right ear with his fist with all his might. She was stopped on all fours, then reared again, was hit again and again dropped on all fours.

But, now, Dick did not lose time striking her. His hard, sharp, hard knuckles of times or more as fast as he could move his arm.

The mare stopped and shook her head. She reared and plunged a few feet. In that interval Dick had grasped a handful of mane and was hitting her on the head. Blood was now mingled in the air. The spectators saw it come from on the head stunning and flecks of the mane—it fanned blows on her.

The mare was now on the field in a frenzy, still the blows were showered in her ears—blood was streaking one eye—that made her frantic with fear and rage. Dick was hit and reached away to the end of the large field, back, he and he pulled the mare back to the grandstand.

"If anybody wonders it is death to both," said Mitchell.

"Why, that's three five hundred dollars gone at a clip," said Mr. Burkett, whose face had stopped the fun the road at a distance, where to one spectator this was the successful Derbyshire Wrestling.

"Up give a thousand to that plucky boy," said Ben Jerby.

"No! no—no!" said Burkett.

"Here, one," said Mitchell.

At that moment the mare stood stunned still. The bystanders could not see what happened to her. The mare was quiet. Dick had a wild or crazy look in his face—the mare was quiet. Dick was quiet. Dick was quiet. Dick was quiet. Dick was a good quiet, back in the group near the grandstand, where she stopped.

As Dick looked at the crowd smiling, Burkett exclaimed, "Well, he's a winner."

"I don't understand it," said Mitchell, as Dick sat on the ground with a laugh.

"You don't understand—I don't—no, his wife knows Dick's clerk, whereat he Windsor Hotel—

"There—nothing you can't kick after Dick," said Mitchell.

"If I'm pan him on a zebra or tiger after this," said Dick, taking hold of the mare, which stood quiet.

"Dick, come to breakfast," said Burkett.

"Yes," said Dick, with a laugh, "it gave me an appetite just to look at Dick and the mare."

It is necessary for me to say something about the mare Dick mastered. Since Dick was an infant the mare had never been seen. There was every one who could get on her, but Dick. Dick was a born driver, children—was well known in the region. Mitchell said, "Dick's a born mechanic," as Mitchell said, Dick did anything.

Finally, was to twist an axel saying, she was a perfect horse, and Dick, the white steed was the most remarkable horse known to the country where she was chased. She was a hunter, a spitfire—unmanageable. Dick's brother, Dick. She had a terrible record. Dick's brother was well-educated and well-bred, but he took a strange fancy to his horse, and paid more attention to his horse than to his brother. Dick's brother was a man of the world, and he was a man of the world, and he was a man of the world, and he

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 16, 1891.

An American Tariff.

From McClure's Magazine for October, just out.

Do you know that we consume 51 per cent of all the tin plate that is produced in the world? Why can not we make some of it? Why can not we make some of it to increase the demand for American labor, and increase the output of the steel furnaces, and give a new and larger demand for your product? That is the purpose and object of the tariff. That law raised the tariff on tin plate so that we could manufacture it in the United States. It made the duty high enough so as to make up the difference between the price of labor in Wales and the price of labor in America. [Applause.] And that is all there is of this tariff question. A great many people don't like the new tariff law, but they are principally on the other side of the ocean. [Cries of "Good" and applause.] There is not a nation in Europe that would not repeal that tariff law tomorrow if it had the power. But we don't take orders from any European power—[loud cheers]—as James G. Blaine—[cheers]—said a few months ago, speaking to the representative of a foreign government, and it does not propose to take orders from any foreign government.

"May we all be gathered into the fold to sing a quartette before the throne," is the way a Grand Rapids Sunday school superintendent, famous for his blunders, concluded a prayer.

Speaking of Emperor William the Boston Transcript remarks that for a man who is suffering from cancer, hydrophobia, a broken bracket-cap, Bright's disease, his opium habit and delirious tremens, he seems to be doing very well.

It is now estimated by the Michigan board of agriculture that the wheat crop of this state will aggregate 57,000,000 bushels, instead of 25,000,000, as previously estimated. There is no doubt that the agriculturalist is "in the saddle" this year.

An agnostic circle which was founded at Bradford, Pa., by the late Dorsey Stuart, is fast going to pieces in consequence of a mania the members have acquired for taking their own lives. Dr. Stuart was the first of the band to end his earthly career by his own hand, and since his death three of his followers have become weary of life and have escaped its trials and tribulations by a way of their own selecting. Elias Healy is the latest on the list. After pondering on the peculiar theories of Doctor Stuart, he decided the question "to be or not to be?" in the negative, and took "rough on rats."

The New York World recently spread broadcast its charges that certain American manufacturers of farming implements (notably one in one in Ann Arbor, Michigan,) sold its machines to foreign customers 75 less than it sold them to American customers. Hon. Roswell G. Horr of this state, at present, connected with the New York Tribune, wrote to every one of the firms mentioned, and inquired if the World's statements were true. Every firm replied that the charges were false—that in some cases goods in large orders were billed at a lower rate than schedule prices, but domestic customers were accorded the same rights and privileges as foreign customers.

By the way, we haven't read that quotation from Blaine (relative to selling an extra barrel of flour or pork under the McKinley tariff) in a democrat or mugwump paper for several weeks. Under the guidance of Minister Phelps the American pig has passed under the arch of triumph at Berlin, and is making the tour of Germany upon the strength of Uncle Jerry Rusk's passport, with no one to dispute his triumphal march. Secretary Blaine has also taken a hand in the matter, and as things now stand there are a great many more markets for our barrels of flour and pork than ever before. We still have, however, Uncle Jerry says, 200,000,000 bushels of surplus corn, and if it should be poured into Germany there would never be any further demand for Russian rye. Our new treaty with Germany gives us a concession by which our farm products will be received on the same terms as those of Russia, and it is not improbable that a fleet of steamers will be sent as soon as December or January, full of America's great foodmaker, corn.

That's the way the "Chinese wall" has affected this country so far. It has "split the keys" of the democratic harp and "busted" the tom-tom of the calamity-shrieker. They lie voiceless and neglected upon the rubbish pile of democratic errors.

The Story of Life.

Only the same old story, told in a different way.
Sometimes a world of gladness, and then a chill of pain;
Sometimes a flash of sunlight, again the drifting rain.

Sometimes it seems so narrow from the cradle to the grave,
Sometimes the room is filled with blunder, their changed into a brilliant silver.
Sometimes no false or Satan, sometimes an Heaven-born.

Only the same old story! But, O, how the changes ring!
Prophet and priest, and peasant, soldier and statesman, king and king.
Sometimes the weaving changes leaves in the pattern a stain;
Sometimes in the hands of even, sometimes in the adding strain.
Sometimes we will develop, cunningness, somewhat rivals with carelessness;
We may be wrong or right, O, W. B. this weird, wild answer of life.

—Boston Transcript.

MISSING LINKS.

Of the 11,000,000 square miles of Africa only 2,500,000 remain in the hands of the native rulers.

Forty years ago a New York man marked a quarter and put it into circulation. It was just returned to him.

In the last three years Annie Besant has fed no less than 120,000 school children in the Tower Hamlets division.

A man run over by a train at Lancaster, Pa., explained: "If I am going to die give me a chew of tobacco first."

An Albany tobacconist scatters his garden well with tobacco stems, which, he says, makes an excellent nematicide. It also kills noxious insects.

It is thought there will soon be hosts of American tourists in Japan since the trip from New York to Yokohama can now be made in fifteen days.

A nine-foot shark in the harbor of Charleston hit at a dead horse floating up the water and bit off a piece of meat estimated to weigh 150 pounds.

In Charleston, S. C., where the population is about equally divided between whites and blacks, there are two deaths of blacks to one of whites.

A woman in Flint, Mich., advertises for a position as housekeeper, and says in her advertisement that an offer of marriage will be given attention.

In the case of a man who killed himself recently, an Anglesby jury rendered a verdict that the deceased "committed suicide by the instigation of the devil."

A letter of George Washington, dated May 2, 1776, and addressed to Colonel George Clinton, sold for $50 and another, written from Valley Forge, May 28, 1778, brought $95.

In Winnipeg they ask $20 a foot less for a corner lot than for an inside one, because it costs so much more to clear off the snow in winter around corner lots that people don't prefer them.

The new census shows that Philadelphia is the greatest manufacturing city in this country, exceeding New York. The value of Philadelphia's annual manufactures is $530,000,000.

Charles Tappan, who built the famous New York Tombs prison, is still living in that city at the age of 93. He has seen the metropolis grow from a town of less than 100,000 inhabitants.

Queen Victoria is getting tired of being made a show for the general public and has given orders that hereafter the regulations limiting presentations at court shall be strictly enforced.

The remains of William Innes, who died two years ago were buried at Corunna, Ind., when exhumed the silver dap was found to have become petrified, increasing in weight from 12 pounds to 50.

"Old Archie," a horse belonging to Martin Kendall, of Tipton, Ind., is dead at the age of 34 years. In the fall of 1865 he went to the front with his owner, and served Uncle Sam until the close of the war.

The largest flowing well in the world has been struck two miles west of Huron, S. D. The well is 385 feet deep, but will be put to a depth of 1,500 feet, if possible. The flow is estimated at 10,000 gallons per minute.

A Philadelphia paper, in describing a New York preacher, said: "He is like an auger; takes hold right away, cuts all the time and quite when he is through. It might have added that such a preacher never bores his hearers.

The late Prince Jerome Napoleon, for various reasons, always refused to be presented to ex-Premier Crispi, of Italy. By a strange decree of fate Crispi was one of the two witnesses to the official announcement of the Prince's death.

A book on social etiquette, as applied to New York City, says that in fashionable man-meat have at least eight overcoats. As to whether he changes eight times in eight days or wears the eight all at once is a question not touched upon.

General Butler lives on a scale that most millionaires would regard as extravagant, keeping up establishments in Washington, Boston and Lowell. Despite the belief to the contrary, he is a remarkably generous man, and gives away more money than do many people who have opportunities for philanthropy.

In a house on Fairphion street in Lawrence are a number of interesting relics of an old-time Bonapartist with several years' records of the Boston Post Office. The letter date back to 1807, and show the curious fact that then ten letters received in a single day was a good one, while on some days but one incoming letter was recorded.

Browning, it is said, during the last years of his life, made as much as $15,000 a year out of his poems. Mr. Whittier has for many years made as average income of $6,000 per year out of his poems, while Lord Tennyson, it is said, has for at least twenty years past been drawing an income of more than $50,000 yearly from his muse.

Five boys were arrested by the police in Boston the other day on a charge of breaking into a carpenter shop and stealing $1.50 in coppers. They used the carpenter's tools in the shop to try to break open the safe. When the police made an examination of the premises they found a book entitled "How to Break Safes" which had been left in the shop by the boy burglars.

One of the obligations assumed by Mrs. Lawrence Harrent some time ago was that of paying of the debt upon the Cohasset Catholic Church. The Boston Journal announces that it will be met by that lady, although at the time of its assumption Mr. Harrent's prospects seemed far brighter than the result warranted. The Harrent dwelling and grounds at Cohasset are offered for sale at $30,000, which is said to be far below the original cost.

Bishop Williams recently wrote, in reply to a young Hartford man about to be married: "I regret, sir, that it is without my province to order the word 'obey' omitted from the marriage service. There is no way that this can be done except by vote of the House of Bishops. The house next convenes in 1892, and if you will postpone your marriage until then I will take pleasure in presenting your petition to the house for its action." The young man concluded not to wait.

Keeley, the motor man, explains the latest cause of delay, as follows: "I am making a sympathetic harness for the polar terrestrial force—first, by exciting the sympathetic concordant force that exists in the corpuscular interstitial domain, which is concordant to its and, second, after the concordance is established, by suggesting the thirds, sixths and ninths of this concordance, thereby inducing high velocities with great power by intermittent vibration, as associated with the domant thirds."

It is related of Von Moltke that, after the capitulation of Paris in 1871, he went to Colmar, and, meaning to stay there a few days, did not think to ask for a billeting order. Mile. R., however, upon whom the Marshal was to have been quartered, would have nothing to say to him, and Moltke was fain to lodge and feed himself at a hotel—of course, at the lady's expense. He asked for four rooms on the first floor invited people to breakfast and dinner and treated them to champagne—in short, the Teutonic lived like a fighting-cock. But at the end of three days the landlord, who listed him, quietly took leave to remind His Excellency that the term of the billeting order had now expired. Moltke replied with a dry cough and a demand for a small room on the second floor. During the remainder of his stay he dined friendless and champagneless at the table d'hote.

Where Gold Comes From.

The gold taken from the river bars was mostly in the form of scales resembling cucumber seeds, and of varying size. It was most plentiful on the red-rock and in a few inches of soil above it, though sometimes there or our feet of earth would pay to wash. Where the bed-rock was hard the miner cleaned it for a shovelful of bit might contain a few dollars in small particles. Where the bed-rock was soft shale or slate on edge the miner picked away an inch or so and cleaned it, as frequently the scales were found to be driven quite thickly into the crevices. When the ground was very rich the rocker was cleaned of gold every hour or two. When work was over, around the supper fire the events of the day were discussed, prizings compared, reports made of grizzly bears or deer being seen or killed, of better diggings of "coarse gold" discovered. This was the hour for speculations as to the origin of the gold in the rivers, and a strong opinion was entertained by many who were well versed that somewhere among the precious metal would some day be brought to light in the narrow-capped peaks towering to the east.

"Co ee gold" was a charm to the ear of the ordinary miner. His claim might be paying him as coarse a day in fine gold, but he was always interested in some reported diggings far away where the product was in lumps, and not infrequently he left a good mine to seek some richer El Dorado. The characteristic and besetting fault of the early miner was unrest. He was forever seeking better fortune. Yet it was this passion for prospecting that resulted in the discovery of gold in an incredibly short time from the southern end of the San Joaquin Valley to the northern limit of the State. It "prospected" was to find a spot that looked favorable and make an examination of it. The miner would take a pan of earth, shake it gently in water, raising and tipping it frequently to run the dirt and water off then plunge it again, and so continue until a small residuum of black sand and gold remained. A speck of gold was the "color," several specks were "several colors," and the number and size determined the judgment of the miner whether he should go to work or move on. I have seen miners take in this way in a single pan, but in the earlier days re counted a "lot" to the pan, twelve and a half cents, a fair prospect.—Century.

A Fastidious Burglar.

A burglar broke into a house up in North Philadelphia last week and found his way into the parlor, where he struck a light and looked about him. Then he gave one long shriek and fell senseless to the floor. The family came down and found him there and revived him.

"Take one in jail! take me out! get me away from here! I was published. God knows I have suffered. I have stood up against stray rides and toy pistols, bull dogs, brass knuckles and repeating arms; I have conquered spikes fences and paint brushes, but, madame," to the serious-looking woman who stood by, in a night-cap, with a wild-eyed look on her face, grasping the neck of a cod liver oil bottle, "I'm a sensitive man, of tender sympathies, and would sooner go to jail than above my humorous spirit with a further inspection of this abominable apartment. Put handcuffs on me and take me out, or I will die at the sight of those nightmare hatchetfaces and green idiotic."—The Upholster.

Long Hair.

A Gainesville (Tex.) girl has probably the longest hair in the world. It is 10 feet 6 inches long. The present growth is of the last seven years, as in 1884 her head was shaved during a spell of brain fever. It is necessary to her health to cut our large quantities of hair every few months, and this she has a regular sale for from some large wig, manufactory in the east, which pays her well for it, as its fineness and silky gloss are exceptional. It being of a much abraded red gold color.

Burglars' Tools.

Over 100 tools and processes have been invented by safe burglars which are marvels of ingenuity and scientific knowledge. A recent burglar's outfit, captured by the police, consisted of a little giant knob-blower, a diamond drill, and a high explosive of the nature of dynamite, but put up in the form of sawdust. It would open the strongest bank safe in a half hour, and without noise enough to disturb people in the next house, while the entire outfit could be carried in the pockets of an ordinary coat.

THACKER & & GORDON

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder,Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

THACKER & GORDON.

OLD FERRYMAN HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour.

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat.

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO., Props.

L. A. WEST, Supt.

Attention!

Gent's Order No. 1

HEADQUARTERS Soldiers' Home, Indiana, Soldiers' Home, Indiana, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., Aug. 14, 1891.

Notice is hereby given that the ANNUAL REUNION of the Charlevoix County Soldiers and Sailors Association will be held at Charlevoix on Friday and Saturday, September 18th and 19th, 1891.

By command of

HORACE LAWRENCE, Commander.

E. H. GREEN, Adjutant.

The Train to Arrive

The Grand Rapids Daily Democrat, now arrives in Charlevoix at 6 p. m. same day as published, 18 hours ahead of Detroit morning papers. It contains the full associated press dispatches. Delivered by McCarthy & Co. at 50 cents a month.

Call and see . . . . .

A Full line of WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, PINS.

SILVER TABLE WARE, SILVER SIX SOUVENIR SPOONS.

AGATE JEWELRY, BATIN BEAD NECKLACES, BOXWOOD AND TOOTH JEWELRY.

Also a Full Line of OPTICAL GOODS, IN WRITE AND SEND FOR.

Especial attention given to all repairs. All goods subject to sale after six months.

C. R. Bellinger.

T. J. CANNON,

Has opened a

NEW BAKERY,

Corner Pine and Water Streets, and will keep a supply of

BAKED GOODS,

always on hand.

Cannon takes and Cinda pressed for delivery. I solicit a share of your patronage, and will guarantee satisfaction in quality of goods and courteous and speedy dealing.

T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX,

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Private furnished if desired. Prices Low.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

STRAYED.

Came into my enclosure in the township of Norwood on or about the 25th day of July, 1891. One spotted black and white cow, about 5 or 6 years old, five or five and a half years old. The owner can have the same by the payment of all charges.

THOMAS WARNOCK.

Take The Sentinel

BEING THANKFUL

TO THE PEOPLE

For past patronage and soliciting further favors, I am prepared to help my customers by selling:

21 lbs. Granulated Sugar for $1.

I also retail 3 lbs. 50c tea for $1.

3 lbs. best Mocha & Java Coffee $1.

CANNED GOODS AT COST

To make room for our large stock, already ordered.

We have also a large stock of

MILLINERY,

of which a portion is beginning to arrive. They will be sold at very lowest possible price.

My store is also headquarters for finest

CALIFORNIA AND DOMESTIC FRUITS.

Crockery will also be sold at cost for next 30 days.

G. W. PAUL.

GREAT!

That is what our big book offer is. We have been giving away glassware with every ten dollars trade with us. Now we are going to give you something better. We will give U. T. Barnum's great work, with every $20 traded with us This book is profusely illustrated with about 400 engravings by the best artists in Europe and admirably suited to please in every house. This is an expensive advertisement and cannot last long. You need not want winter boots and shoes soon, come and get them now. Those who have glassware coming, please get it now.

"Wild Beasts, Birds and Reptiles of the World, or Story of their Captivity."

SHERWOOD

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple elm and other wood and are contiguous to good markets.

By Water and Rail

And are in a state unequalled for health, well watered and contiguous to the great fruit raising belt of Northern Michigan.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any means

It contains a population of physicians and lawyers enough to settle a township, and has a good supply of school houses and churches.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Prices and Terms Made Known on Application to

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.

TITLE PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I sell Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCO, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First-door south of Sentinel Office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE

Shortest, Quickest and Best of all, and only quick, well and direct route.

Trains leave as per current schedule as follows:

Leave Traverse City, 7.45 a.m. 12.10 p.m. 5.15 p.m.
Leave Walton Junction, 8.45 a.m. 1.10 p.m. 6.15 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 10.05 a.m. 5.00 p.m. 7.50 a.m.
Arrive Chicago, 5.35 p.m. 5.30 a.m. 1.00 a.m.

(Every day. Others week days only.)

10.00 a.m. lea ves Chicago for Traverse City.

Leaves Walton Junction 1.10 p.m. Traverse City 4.15 p.m. See Wagons sleeping car in Chicago.

Leaves Traverse City 7.45 a.m. Walton Jct. 11.12 p. m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 5.30 p. m. and 1.10 a. m. and Chicago at 10.00 p. m. and 11.00 p. m.

Fox & Miller

Offer a

Mammoth Stock

OF

BOOTS, SHOES

and other

FOOT WEAR.

-AT-

LOWER PRICES

Than can be found elsewhere in the County.

Fox & Miller.

DETROIT

The Favorite is the

Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.

From Howard City and Grand Rapids.

Leave Howard City 5.45 a. m. 11.15 a. m. and 3.50 p. m.

Leave Grand Rapids 6.30 a. m. 1.00 p. m. and 6.00 p. m.

Arrive Detroit 11.35 a. m. 6.05 p. m. 7.05 p. m. and 4.10 a. m.

Parlor cars on all trains from Grand Rapids to Detroit. Sleeping car on night train.

Close connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.

GEO. DERAMUS, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD D. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED. M. HAYES, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for Charlevoix County. Title examined, land located, taxes paid, money to loan on easy terms and terms to suit. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. SABE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

L. O. L.—True Blue No. 157, meet Saturday evening before full moon in Jellison's hall.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 113, meets second Monday each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 76, G. R. A. meets on the third Wednesday of each month. Visiting members cordially invited. Carrie Hiles, W. M. Edith McLeod, Secretary.

EMMET CHAPTER, No 105 R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the 3rd Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Forest Lodge No. 293, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 293, F. & A. M. Regular communication Saturday on or before full moon. Richard Lewis, Secretary.

RANDOLPHMAY SCHEFF No. 135, R. A. T., meets every Friday in Temple on the 2nd Thursday of each month.

PIONEER ASCEBLY, No. 1181, K. of L. meets every Saturday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

BAXTER HALL POSTS, No. 172, meets at Odd Fellows' hall Saturday of each month, at 10 o'clock.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers. Charlevoix, Mich. Dixonville, Otsego County, Michigan County.

The "New Charlevoix."

M. S. GAUNON, Prop.

(Formerly Mansion House.)

Beautifully located on the North Terrace, overlooking the village and Lake Charlevoix.

IN NEW FURNITURE AND EQUIPMENT.

Newly Painted and thoroughly renovated.

49-40-tfy.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only first relation from the Grand Pacific. Chris Cars pass the door.

Rooms with Bath. Modern improvements newly furnished. The American and European plans. Rooms $1.00 daily. Rooms 50 cents and upward. Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen. Strictly first class in every respect. Rooms $1.00 daily. Best service. $2.00 per day for future use.

49—1y

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental • Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDREYMEN, MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER

SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense.

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $21 to $35.

We don't fail to sell and see them.

JOHN ZWEGLE,

Merchant Tailor.

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 99 feet front each on Clinton St., and to one alley, with nice house, nicely painted in outside. Inquire of

PROF. O. M. RICE, Escanaba, Mich

RATTLESNAKE JIM.

How He Got His Name—A Story of a Thrilling Adventure in California.

The oddity of his name struck me. After supper I ventured to inquire how he came to be called Rattlesnake Jim.

"Why," he cried, "didn't you ever hear how I got that name? I thought everybody knew about that."

It evidently felt chagrined. I hastened to explain that I was a stranger in the State, and had just come up to this mountain valley on a fishing expedition. This set some mollified him, and after "a drink of straight mountain water" at my expense, he explained the origin of his name as follows:

"Bob McGill and I were down on the Middle Fork one summer, prospecting and hunting. We killed a little game, caught plenty of fish, had lots of land claiming, but did not find a claim that was worth a cent.

"The river came to be a very sore spot and stopped to examine it. It looked like a big stone cup turned upside down in a stone saucer. The rock was here and full of cracks and crevices. In three sides the cup was pretty steep, but on the fourth was a little narrow place to walk up. We crossed the stone saucer and climbed the knob or cup.

"As soon as we got to the top, Bob says, 'Look thar,' and pointed right down the other side. Three big rattlesnakes were coiled up in the sun. I always did hate a rattler, so I poked my gun over the edge of the cup and let fire. Right thar I made a mistake. We ought to have skipped out and let them snakes sleep. The moment I fired, two of them, for I only killed one, twisted and rattled, and called up every to fight. If they had been the only ones we would have laughed, but the sound of the rattles made us feel full of the pizen critters. We were standing in the middle of a rattlesnake den. Those two made their rattles fairly whir, for more snakes right out of the sun crawling out of the cracks in the rock. I'm near me hell in, we were in a fix. We could not run, and thar they kept on coming up as fast as they were lucky for us that the little trail up the cup ran up thar, where they could reach the top of the rock.

"We kept still a minute, thinking maybe the critters would go back to their nests. They were spilin' for a fight, and seemed to know they had us in a box. They could see us right above 'em, and that riled 'em madder than yellier jackets.

"They didn't wait more than a minute or two till they started up that little trail. Bob and I stood ready to shoot snakes thar were I have no idea. I reckoned about a thousand, but Bob always stuck to it thar were a round million.

"Our guns were double-barreled breech-loaders, and most of our cartridges were filled with buckshot. The idea was to shoot the snake near enough from one to half a dozen at each shot. We managed for a time to keep the little trail clear, but they kept coming faster and faster. We killed 'em by the dozen, but if we could have made the pizen things into lie and sold it at 5 cents a gallon we could have made a pile of money.

"We were mighty scared for fear they would find a way up through the big cracks, but we kept up a good time. If our cartridges held out long enough, we could stand 'em off but we had to shoot lively, and they would come, rise, slant, and the whole rocky bottom was plum full of them wriggling, rattling, squirmin' critters. We didn't have a drop of sulphur with us. Had drank it all up, and had no doctor. What was worse, it was a hot day, and the critters seemed to be nearest place where nay could be gun.

"We were shaky in our knees for the smell of them snakes make us feel. Reckon you think the way we scared. Bob was no slouch at tightin' anything in the snake line, and, strange, I never turned back from the big grass plain in the mountains when I fled then we would have been mighty glad to have got away.

"Our cartridges were running low. We ought to have left a trail to reveal to take chances of running right across that lot of plaza rattlers. It was a desperate case, but we made the thick boots on, and might get through.

"Bob gave a great whir, like the last word.

"We grabbed our guns so as to use them as clubs. Then we slid down the rock a little bit, and looked down among the snakes. I tell you, strangers, it were like going right down into hell. The snakes wriggled and twisted and rip and rattled till the air fairly whistled.

"That is many a thing in the woods that makes you feel the power of God. Sometimes it's a leaf it may be a little stick, or maybe only seeds in a small pod. You jump for a minute, and then laugh to think how easy you got sold. But when you hear a genuine rattle from a snake that is mad you will never mistake it. It will come near waking a dead man than a shock of Indian Hollow. Thar is not a man nor a bird but will get out of the way as quick as a flash.

"Just as we shut our teeth and gripped our guns for a start, Bob caught me by the arm and cried, 'Wait a bit.' Thar is no run to the top of the rock but yelled, 'Come here. Give me a bite.' I say, 'no, no.' Bob says, 'I think I can reach that nek limb.'

"The limb of a big oak came down over the top of the rock, and this Bob made a snake dive for. Four times he as bigs as I could. He grabbed the limb and pulled himself up, and brought it down so I could get hold of it.

"We were some too quick for the snakes. We slipped down the rock mighty lively, and I had to kick one out of my way. Bob was a leap in the limb. We climbed thar limb and got down the tree in less than no time, and struck off up the mountain. We never stopped till we reached the Mountain Spring House, and got a drink of old rye, for fear we might have been bit.

"I reckon those guns and blankets are down thar yet, for we never went back for 'em. It was a mighty close call for us, strangers, and I'm here they come to call me Rattlesnake Jim. Reckon that's enough."

The hourly rate of water falling over Niagara falls is 100,000,000 tons representing 16,000,000 horse power, and the total daily production of coal in the world would just suffice to pump the water back again.

It is estimated that the Australian colony of Victoria will have 10,000,000 bushels of wheat for export this year.

THE INDIAN JUGGLERS.

Hermanus, the Magician, Gives His Impressions of Some Much Overrated Fakirs of the East.

Hermanus, who is a delightful talker, entertained a few friends on Sunday with some of his experiences in India, which may prove interesting reading.

Naturally on his first visit to India Hermanus was curious to see something of the famous jugglers of whom travelers have told such marvelous tales. He went out of his way to meet the famous performers who could only be reached in that manner, and the result was that between the time he landed at Calcutta and the time he embarked at Bombay he had witnessed about everything of note in jugglery that the country afforded.

The opinion he formed after securing all they could show him was that, apart from their skill as snake-charmers, in the basket trick and one or two other illustrations, the ability of the entire fraternity of Indian jugglers is lamentably contemptible.

"I heard a great deal about the wonderful mango trick," said this modern Merlin, "in which the native jugglers were said to plant a mango seed in the earth, whence it would be seen to sprout and gradually grow into a full-size mango tree, covered with ripen fruit in full view of the spectators.

"They further declared that the fruit would be handed around to whomever could taste it. Stories to this effect had been told by so many travelers of repute that I really expected to find some merit in the trick. At Allahabad, Cawnpore, Lucknow, Delhi and Bombay I saw the jugglers who did the trick and each time they performed it precisely the same. The fakirs, usually five or six in number, would squat on the ground and the spokesman would ask the spectators to select a spot of earth on which they desired the trick to be performed. Being shown a spot, would pick up the earth with a small pointed instrument, in order to make a soft spot, then putting up a skeleton tube of tripod shape he would throw a shawl or cloth (without which the fakir would be like a ship without a rudder) over it, so as to make a sort of tent.

"One of the conjurers, wearing a long robe with wide sleeves, would then produce a mango seed, and placing both hands and arms under the improvised tent would plant the seed. His hands got down lightly out of sight under the tent during the operation. His comrades would then perform some simple tricks with cups, balls, etc., after which the cover over the tripod would be removed and a small sprout would be seen in the side of the mango seed.

"When the cover was again thrown over the tripod the fakir with his long sleeves would once more put his arms under the tent so formed. At another interval of three or four minutes the cover would be again removed and there would be seen a branch of the mango tree an inch or two feet in height, bearing a few mangoes, some green, others ripe.

"The secret of this trick is very simple. It is evident that it requires little explanation. The man who placed his hands under the cover first inserted the sprout in the seed, and the next time he free from his sleeves a branch cut from a neighboring mango tree and stuck the cut end into the earth which had previously been softened."

Some one then asked Hermanus if he had seen the trick performed of throwing a ball of twine into the air to form a sort of Jacksonville beanstalk, up which the juggler climbed out of sight, pulling the string after him and that the pistol shot of a companion conjurer brought the twine down in two parts in his hands, which, when brought together, became a living, sound rope once again.

"No! I never saw that trick," replied Hermanus, "and the people who believe it can be done must have their brains cooped up in a basket." Speaking of this trick in India, but somewhere I was unable to find a conjurer who could attempt it. Most of the wonders attributed to oriental jugglers have never existed outside of the imaginations of credulous people.

"The feats of snake charming, however, are real and genuine, if they are utterly duty detection. When I was at Allahabad a fakir came into my room with nothing on but a breech cloth and a flute. Plenty of snake here, Sahib. Plenty big snake in the grass." I told him to go off that I had seen all his snake tricks, and did not want to be bitten. He replied, "Come to the tree more closer of snakes in the room, so I hold him 'e go stand and hold 'em 'e go 'e 'e. Here were any.

"I followed up in the middle of the room and began to play on a sort of flute he had in his hand. Right out from there was no furniture in the room but a cot and some rugs and cushions. He had not played two minutes before I saw the object on the floor rise up till it looked like a small tent. Then an enormous cobra crawled out and coiled itself on the floor with its head erect and its tongue darting out in anger.

"The instant I saw other snakes crawling from all corners of the apartment and they joined themselves along side their companion. The fakir, still playing on his flute, led the way to the door and the snakes followed him. He paused at the threshold and they reared their heads in anger. Just as I was beginning to get nervous another fakir stepped out of the room and cut their heads off with a sharp instrument he had in his hand.

"Now I have no other explanation for this trick, then that the snakes were trained to wind themselves along side their companions, and move south the breech cloth. When they were trained to do this, the fakir was attracted to the spokesman, not to his companions, and he might have placed the snakes in the room while I was watching the fakir in the tent. This is my only explanation."—Edgar G. Sagar, in Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Surgical Operation on a Mule.

A Georgia veterinary surgeon has performed quite a skillful operation on a mule. The animal had grown to out about eight inches long and had practically ceased to be a grazer. He was thinking on its blind legs something like a man. The surgeon had three lather of its head sawed off and bent it about in such a manner as to enlighten it up on the foot again.

There are 14,465 women commercial travelers in the United States.

A New York woman recently refused a present of a handsome set of books because they did not match the color of her library furniture.

To reduce our stock, we make the following low prices for September:

Open Buggies	$38.
Top Buggies	$55.
Spiral Spring Buggies, the BEST	$85.
Two Seat Platform Spring Wagons	$70.
Two Seat Combination Spring Wagons	$70,
Two Seat Duplex Spring Wagons	$55.
Sulky Harrows	$32.
16 Tooth Spring Tooth Harrow	$14.
16 Tooth Spring Tooth Steel Frame Harrow	$16,
Double Harpoon Hay Fork	$1.

Our $8 Single and $25 Double Work Harness are "World Beaters."

Special low prices on Belknap Wagons, Land Rollers, Stone Boats, Seed Harrows &c.

S. BAKER & SON,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 3-1y

O. C. HOLLISTER,

ST. JOHNS, MICH.

Has Good Farms to Sell on Easy Terms through Clinton, Gratiot, Montcalm, Osceola, Wexford, and Other Counties

5 CENTS BUYS POUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL

ALLEN B. WRIGHT'S OLD COUNTRY SOAP.

DR. MILES' ANTI PAIN PILLS "A NEW DISCOVERY" NO OPIATES NO MORPHINE

STARTLING FACTS.

The American people are rapidly becoming a nation of invalids. Of the 1,000,000 who die in this last year, 600,000 died of Kidney Disease. Dr. Miles' Anti Pain Pills relieve Kidney Disease in 30 minutes. Sexually Weak Men from the Effects of Early Indiscretion or Excessive Use cured life. Mrs. J. E. Miller, Ashland, Ohio, says: "Your Anti Pain Pills have relieved my female pains wonderfully." Mrs. H. A. Tarbox, of Canton, Ill., was cured of Bright's disease, dropsy and weak kidneys. Dr. Miles' Anti Pain Pills, regular size, 25 cents, 100 doses, $1. Dr. Miles' Nervine cures all nervous diseases, such as Spasms, Fits, Nervous Headache, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, etc. Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on a guarantee. Trial bottles, and free book of marvelous cures, at F. G. Hines & Co's. Druggists, 50 cents. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Regular Size, 50 cents and $1.00.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive, you have a bilious Look. If your stomach be disordered you have a Dyspeptic Look and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Haggard Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters are the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drugstore, 50c. per bottle.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

FOR SALE.

Farm for sale--

Containing 70 acres, well cleared, with good house and barn,

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION

OF DYNAMITE IN A MICHIGAN TOWN.

Two Years to a Stockade at Menominee—Monuments to Illinois Troops on Gettysburg's Field—Bad Accident to a Drilling Party—Bid to Bonds.

Tale of Horror in Clinton County.

An astounding revelation of crimes at St. Thomas on the Pinconning, Bloomingdale, Jones in Ogle where a discharged conductor laid a bomb in a house and attempted to destroy a dozen souls, from a letter from Angel Henry, now serving a seven-year sentence in that institution, in of the four years he has served this wretched creature has against he declares, no less than twenty-four murders in the black list. This punishment is in a portion of the cellar of the penitentiary, and is so exactly like with one that I had in my light house near to the sea so it is long and the same as there. The Portuguese prisoner put there is next on round and what, being quite a young fellow, one every day. He is seven years now, and the end when he comes with his time. I had a published story in Boston, in him. I am twenty four months in this black hole

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 16, 1891.

THE SAILORS.

Gossip For the Marines—Matters of Interest Here and Elsewhere.

Thursday night between dark and daylight, fifteen vessels were towed in at this port.

Joe Swails had the tug Bob Stephenson and steamer Cummings out last week for minor repairs.

Capt. Geo. Madison, an old-time resident of Charlevoix, was about town Saturday. He was here as master of the schooner Duval.

The steamer Skater, of the Petoskey and Harbor Springs route, has been coaling here lately. She has gone to Manistee this week to lay up, but went with a broken shaft, in tow of the tug Parks.

The steambarge Owegatchie and two tow barges loaded up the lake and here this week. The Owegatchie is one of the old N. T. line, and was once one of the sister boats to the Lawrence and Champlain.

Attorney E. S. B. Suttons, of Sault Ste Marie, was refused permission to board the Pontiac and make an examination relative to the collision with the Athabasca. He then got a camera and caught an excellent view, showing her rudder hard-a-port.

The schooner Owasco is now on her way from the lakes to the Atlantic, taking a cargo of ore from Sanbisky to Portland, Maine. The Owasco is owned by J. M. Jones & Son, of Detroit, and Captain Alonzo Carter her present master. The Owasco loaded twice at Nicholls' dock twice this season.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: The old schooner Cascade has just commenced her season's work out of Chicago. As she lay in the North Branch the fire-boat one night smashed in her bow and that was rebuilt at the city's expense. Not long afterward a fireboat ran into her stern, and that was also rebuilt by the city. If somebody had run into the boat amidship her owner would have had an entirely new craft.

The smaller carriers, after running four months, find that they have not made enough money to pay their insurance, even with good luck as to charters and mishaps. One owner of several schooners stated that he had come out just about even, but if he had carried more insurance he would have been just so much behind. He could see no money running the risk of fall storms on this basis, as his boats could do as well lying at their docks as being on the lake. Others agreed with him. "It's the worst season I've ever seen," one owner said.

Northern Michigan News.

Elk Rapids votes on the waterworks question on the 15th.

The Traverse City asylum is too full to admit another patient.

Morrell & Crawford, grocers at Kalkaska, have failed with liabilities $2,500; assets, $1,000.

At Traverse City the other day a horse pelted John Kratkovitz's beauty by biting him in the face. His name was uninjured.

Soldiers carelessly firing on a rifle range at Sault Ste. Marie lately shot through two houses, severely injuring several persons.

E. Hibbs, an old and respected resident, for many years connected with Hannah, Lay & Co.'s grist mill died last week, after a brief illness.

The proposition to light Cheboygan for $8,000 to put in an electric light plant was knocked out last week by an adverse majority of 91 votes.

Mr. Perkins, of Hoyne City, came home from the Alma (Mich.) Sanitarium last Saturday, he is steadily on the mend, but is far from well yet.

The seventh annual encampment of the Antrim County Soldiers and Sailors' Association, held at Central Lake Sept. 3 and 4, was a success in every respect.

Upwards of 8,000 broom handles are made every day in Hoyne Falls and good maple ones at that, which is fairly appalling to men who are already bald headed.

Andrew Thompson, a sailor of the schooner Towbridge, was drowned at Cheboygan Friday night by the capsizing of a yawl while returning to the vessel in heavy weather.

An Indian babe was killed by a bald eagle at Echo Lake near Sault Ste. Marie lately. The bird tried to carry the child away, but the babe's mother drove it off. She rescued the child only to see it die shortly afterward.

There may be nothing particularly significant in it but the Manistee Herald publishes the following religious item: "Theme for Sunday morning at the Congregational church, 'The one thing lacking,' evening, 'Liars.'"

OUR GREAT BOOK OFFER.

Which has proven such a great attraction, closes October 1st.

Don't lose the opportunity to get one, by buying your fall goods of us.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF

FALL GOODS

ARRIVING DAILY.

MASON & BERDAN.

H. Jones Petoskey, a relative of the famous old Chief Petoskey, and who recently received $1,800 from the estate of the old chief, was arrested at Kalamazoo, charged with numerous small forgeries in Marshall, Allegan and other neighboring places.

East Jordan Enterprise: The board of Education of this Village secured the services of Prof. J. P. Northen as principal of the public school for the coming year. Prof. Northen comes to our village from the College at Alma, and recommended very highly as a scholar, teacher and gentleman.

For a dollar a tippy fortune teller informed George Lee where he would find gold. He has spent three months digging a hole into the ground on the Hay Mills road, in Sault Ste. Marie township. He was told to go down one hundred feet, but thinks he'll stop at seventy-two as the hole has filled with water.

Perry J. Stocking, a convict in the Ionia house of correction has earned his release and was pardoned by the governor. Stocking was sentenced from Antrim county for theft. On July 1 he came to the aid of a keeper who had been attacked by a convict. Had it not been for his timely assistance the keeper would have been killed.

Notices are posted calling for a special election to be held in Traverse City for the purpose of considering propositions to bond for securing the M. & N. E. R. R., and the Manceloa Oval Dish Factory, which will come if the bonus is large enough. If the dish factory goes, it won't be safe for a Traverse City man to show his face in Manceloa for many weary months.

East Jordan Enterprise: Mr. Levi Miles of this township died on Sunday last, Sept. 6th, and was buried Monday at the Jones Cemetery. The cause of his death was dropsy.

We are told, Messrs. David Ward and Chamberlain of the Grayling and Charlevoix Railroad Co. were up over their proposed line last week and made an investment in real estate at Ellsworth. Also that Mr. Ward told at Ellsworth that his road would be extended to a connection with the Chicago & West Michigan at that point.

Hoyne Citizen: An immense amount of lumber yet remains to be shipped from here this fall. One dock is piled full of Hoyne Falls cut, and several teams are still hauling it over from the Falls. Wm. H. White & Co. have done a splendid business this year, better, we believe than any previous year and they expect to greatly enlarge it next season.——Many in this vicinity will be interested in learning that the Commercial House will be re-opened again Oct. 1st under the management of W. J. Jarvis the former popular landlord.

Hoyne Falls News: While digging ginseng about a mile from town the other day, Emmet Otto saw a bear. The bear was busily engaged digging wild turnip roots and did not notice Otto until he was within a few yards of him. Emmet gave a scare, which only made bruin sit up, and when he spied Otto he simply growled in such an ominous way that Emmet thought he had better do the running for the bear. When he had reached a safe distance he discovered he held his pocket knife open in his hand. "Yes" said Mrs. Otto, "when he reached home his hair was still standing straight up," and she stepped over and lifted Emmet's hat, and, bless us, he was bald headed!

The Gill family at Northport, notorious for cruelty to animals is beginning to find that the mills may grind exceeding fine. Howard, who is postmaster, has been asked by the United States authorities to hand in his resignation. He is now skirmishing around for signers to a petition to retain the post office and a few dupes have put their names on the paper on the representation that his term had expired and he was asking for a reappointment. Sentiment against him is strong up that way and he will hardly get what he wants.

Grover Cleveland has been suspiciously quiet for some time. Either he is hatching a scheme to knock out all his competitors for the Democratic presidential nomination, or he is feeling too happy over his family prospects either to talk or write. Perhaps he thinks the senator-governor is entitled to the floor long enough to wind himself up so tight as to removed him from the probabilities.

One Fare For Three Fairs.

For the State Fair at Lansing Sept. 7 to 12th, and the West Michigan Kent County Fairs at Grand Rapids, Sept. 14 18th, the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. lines will sell excursion tickets at one fare for the round trip from all stations in Michigan. Tickets good to return Sept. 12 and 19th respectively.

GEO. DEHAVEN,
G. P. A.

Half Fare to Chicago.

For the Annual Inter-State Exposition, the Chicago & West Michigan Ry and Detroit, Lansing & Northern Lines will sell tickets to Chicago and return, Sept. 22d, 23d, October 6th, 19th, 20th, good to return first Monday following date of sale; also, one fare with 25 cts added for admission to the Exposition.

10-31. GEO. DEHAVEN, G. P. A.

STRAYED OR STOLEN.—Mare pony weighing about 750, is spotted brown and white, white face and four white feet. Reward given for information of her whereabouts.

B. S. SHAPTON

Dissolution of Co-partnership.

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between Andrew Johnson and Jacob Langlois, under the firm name of Scandia Lumber Co., is hereby dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to said firm are notified to make payment, and all claims against the company will be paid by Jacob Langlois.

Dated Sept. 1st, 1891. ED NOWAK
11-3d. FRANK LANGLOIS

[First Publication Sept. 9, 1891.]

MORTGAGE SALE.

A mortgage dated December 15th, 1886, made and executed by Hector A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, his wife to Walter Sayles and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for Charlevoix county, state of Michigan, December 18th, 1886, in liber 1 of mortgages at pages 107 and 108, and assigned by said Walter Sayles to Ann Arbor Savings Bank, which assignment was duly recorded September 2, 1891, in liber 10 of Mortgages at page 32, in said register's office, upon which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of Eight Hundred Dollars.

Also a mortgage dated December 1, 1887, executed by Hector A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, his wife to Walter Sayles, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix County, December 14th, 1887, at page 438, of Liber 1 of Mortgages, upon which mortgage there is now due and unpaid $200.

Also certain other mortgages executed by said Hector A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, to Ann Arbor Savings Bank, dated January 20th, 1890, and January 20th, 1891, and duly recorded in said register's office, of all and singular the premises which said mortgages thereto are the same and equal to the sum of $8,000 for the payment of which sum or money due on each of the said Mortgages so and last mentioned there is now due and payable to the owner of said mortgages and mortgagee by virtue of the provisions contained in said mortgages, the sum of Eight Hundred Dollars, and no suit or action or proceeding at law or in equity has been or is now pending to recover the said or any part of said mortgages, or any part thereof, or to foreclose the said mortgages or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgages, and the statute in such case made and provided, I shall sell at public vendue or auction, to the highest bidder, at the south door of the Court House in Boyne City, that being the place of holding the circuit court for Charlevoix County, on the 7th day of November, 1891, at 10 o'clock noon.

Dated, Sept. 9th, 1891.

CHARLES PETERSON
CLAY A. CALKINS,
Attorneys for Mortgagee.

Fall and Winter
OPENING!
COMMENCING,
Thursday, Friday and Saturday,
SEPT. 17, 18 and 19

FRENCH PATTERN HATS & BONNETS
Also a Choice Selection of
MILLINERY NOVELTIES
ALL ARE INVITED
Strong inducements will be offered during the holidays. Remember a chance to purchase their millinery.

MRS. H. J. CARR.

GETTING NEAR THE BOTTOM.

As the fall Season approaches we endeavor to close out all unseasonable goods:

SO WATCH OUT SHARP FOR BIG BARGAINS.

We are in a position to offer Cash buyers the best possible terms and Guarantee quality the best.

We now offer our friends an elegant new line of

CORSETS

of which we have the exclusive control.

S. C. MODEL FRENCH FORM LONG WAIST, $1.75.
858 MODEL FRENCH FORM LONG WAIST, $1.00.

Other makes at Popular prices.

Men's Wool Socks, 19, 25, 35, 45 cts. Ladies, Misses and Children's hose, cords of them from 15c to 60c.

GET MY PRICES.

A. T. WASHBURNE.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

DRUGS and MEDICINES,
PERFUMES, TOILET ARTICLE,
CONFECTIONERY, CIGARS,
STATIONERY.

Prescriptions carefully compounded.

A. COCHRAN, Druggist.

SCHOOL TIME is coming very soon.

School Books.

And School Supplies of all kinds at

W. H. McCARTNEY & CO.,

THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Every Man, Woman and Child in this broad country should be the owner of property amounting in actual value to the sum of $1,000 if the wealth of the country was evenly distributed among its population.

Prices on Building Paper:
Plain Board, $1.35 pr cwt.
Tarred Board, 1.60 pr cwt.
10 Wire Nails, 2.90.

If we can suppose the wealth of the country to be so distributed, the query arises, how long would it remain so. "The OAK JEWEL," best Round stove in the world and the cheapest.

CALL AND SEE.

Yours,
H. L. Iddings.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO—12. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 23, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,136.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1866.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

HAY,

Fall Stock Flannels,

YARN.

WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER

AND BORDERS AT COST.
....AT....
CALKINS & WARNE.

Down Went McGinty to the Bottom of the

Peach Market.

PEACHES THAT ARE PEACHES. Only early Crawfords on sale. Now I just wish to say, that I am in daily receipt of the finest, largest and best Crawford Peaches that ever came to this county, and they all come direct from the orchard, and are Strictly Fresh and Sound. EVERY ONE look at them and you will say this is strictly true. Bartlett Pears by the peck or bushel. Low. Now is your time to buy these fruits for canning, they will be no better or lower than now.

at O. W. SMITH'S.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

FIRES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

MASON JARS,

Prices Way Down

LOWER

than can be bought at WHOLESALE.

1 Quart Mason Jars, per dozen,	$1 00
1-2 Gallon Mason, Jars per dozen,	$1 25

SPECIAL PRICES ON FULL CASES.

BERT MASON.

FURNITURE. FURNITURE.

S. M. SEE & SON'S

FURNITURE. FURNITURE.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year - $1.00 | Six months - $.75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Contractor McCracken is in Chicago.

—Rev. D. O. Hall was in town yesterday.

—Hon. A. Butters is steadily on the gain.

—Gordon & Paul have a new ad. in this issue.

—Mrs. O. A. Sears left for Saginaw today.

—Wanted, two good girls, at the Ferguson House.

—Mrs. D. Sherwood returned home from Traverse City Monday.

—Capt. O. E. Willson's family have removed here from Northport.

—Orin Case, of Traverse City, was visiting friends here last week.

—A. T. Washburne has something new to say in his ad. this week.

—Col. H. D. Moir and family left today for their home in St. Louis.

—No more long winter jaunts to Petoskey to get a railroad train!

—Mrs. F. M. Sears goes to Port Huron today to visit her parents.

—W. W. Johnson, the Snowflake numeryman was in town yesterday.

—A. E. Clayden, of Jackson, was here for a few days visiting friends.

—Mr. Elra Berdan, of Detroit, arrived today to visit his father and sisters.

—Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co. have something to say about hay in this issue.

—Rev. G. W. Wood has purchased the Boyne Citizen and will become an editor.

—The stock for the clothing store in the Lewis Opera House is expected this week.

—J. T. R. McKay and family left yesterday for their home in Cleveland, Ohio.

—Mrs. L. D. Bartholomew and her daughter Winnie, returned Saturday from their trip.

—R. N. Faulkner and Geo. W. Miller left Monday night for Chicago, to be gone a week.

—Prospects for a lively fall here insident to the work on the railroad bridge and station.

—U. S. Senator Stockbridge is expected here soon on the revenue cutter Andrew Johnson.

—Lou See and Jim Parsons left for Chicago Saturday, for a trip for pleasure and business.

—Mrs. W. A. Smith and her mother Mrs. Bagley, are spending a week in Banks at Wm. Coulter's.

—Frank A. Fogg and James A. Keat, the East Jordan attorneys, are to go west to locate this fall.

—Chas. P. Davis, a U. S. Signal officer, from a suburb of Cincinnati, is here for a few weeks, for hay-fever.

—Chas. Mason has purchased the Archer stage outfit, and is on the mail service between here and Eastport.

—Grading is now being pushed on the Grand Rapids & Indiana spur to Bear Lake which will be completed soon.

—The W. C. Peters barber shop is closed, and Mr. Peters will move it away. Harry Pringle will work for Frank Wood.

—Hay fever sufferers are numerous, and the recent warm weather and southerly winds made them somewhat unhappy.

—A. Wisley has purchased the Henry Cook residence on the north side and is building an addition to it. It will be occupied by Capt. O. E. Willson.

—A. D. Crutkshanks and Dr. G. W. Crouter left Saturday for St. Louis, Mo., to attend the Supreme Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F. Dr. Crouter will go to Washington before his return.

—Last Wednesday evening at the M. E. Parsonage, there was organized a Chatauqua Circle, with Mrs. G. S. Barnes, President; Rev. Mr. McTheman, Vice President, and Miss Edith Hawkins, Secretary.

—Grand Rapids Democrat: The Rev. W. H. McPherson, a bright and canny young Scotch clergyman, was tendered a farewell reception by his Lansing flock last week. He goes to Charlevoix on the pastor of the Congregational church there.

—L. E. Allen has sold the "McCausland property," just south of town, on the State road, to a Detroit party, for $700.

—E. S. Hawks, of East Jordan, will remove here and take a position in the N. I. & B. factory. J. T. Kirkpatrick is also engaged. The factory is crowded with orders.

—Rev. G. S. Barnes is back from Conference, and is in charge of his work, and Rev. Mr. McPherson preached his first sermon at the Congregational church Sunday.

—We long about our school building, and superior educational benefits, yet almost under the shadow of our elegant structure, there exists a den of filth. Is there no remedy?

—The fair at East Jordan occurs Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. Four steamers on the lake will give ample facilities for attending, and we hope everybody will go.

—There are some irregularities in public affairs and some public nuisances existing conspicuously, that should receive the prompt and energetic attention of the village council.

—It is an open secret, yet comes well authenticated, that Ward's railroad will be built to Ellsworth, thence to Ironton and Charlevoix, and that Ward's lumber will be cut at the foot of Pine Lake, for shipment by water.

—H. Cornable & Sons have leased the steamer North Star for fall fishing here. They will remove her cabin. Capt. Dave Parrish, late of the Omeksina, will sail her. The Cornables will also fish, the little here. This gill make five tugs fishing out of this port, besides the small outfits. Fishermen say the fishing season begins earlier this year than usual, and the lifts are good. Another fact that makes them feel good, is that they are getting good prices for their fish.

—John H. Williams, who keeps a livery stable on the north side, has only one arm; he lost the other in battle. He has seen four bullet wounds, and sabre-cuts, but he can "kick his weight in wild cats" yet, as three railmen recovered Friday night. They attempted to gain an entrance to his premises, and after being warned away, had to be knocked down several times by a sickened one arm. One of them was thrown twice, the last time so severely that he strike like a baby. Another made a savage attempt to get Williams with a knife, cutting his shirt. They all went away feeling badly. Railroad men had better leave that one-armed stable alone. He learned how to fight a good many years ago, and he hasn't forgotten how.

THE SAILORS.

Gossip For the Marines—Matters of Interest Here and Elsewhere.

Capt. H. G. Edwards is sailing the steamer North Star.

The schooner Mont Blanc is discharging a full cargo of coal at Tullock's dock.

The schooner Florence M. Smith is hauled out at Joe Swail's yard, and is receiving some new frames and considerable new planking.

The steamer Lucille began this morning running on the East Jordan and Petoskey route, starting from East Jordan every morning.

Two large crews in tow of the tug Temple Emery arrived here from Two Rivers, Wis., Thursday, and loaded at South Arm with logs, 600 feet of basswood logs and 400 feet of pine logs bought by a Two Rivers concern from the Parkes Lumber Co.

W. S. Johnson, who recently bought the schooner Willard A. Smith at U. S. Marshal sale, has sold her to an east shore man. The Smith is about on her last legs. She was built by Ben Campbell and S. M. See, at this port 19 years ago, and has had a good many ups and downs in life.

Capt. Jas. Beauvais has thrown up the command of the steamer Lucille. He has been tendered the command of the new lightroom steamer Amaranth, now being built at Cleveland. She will be 175 feet long and first class in every particular. Capt. Beauvais has the plans here for revision. He don't say much, but will probably accept, in which event the Government will have made a very proper selection.

Railroad Notes.

The iron going arrived, and ties are being scattered on the grade south of the river.

A vessel is chartered at Toledo to bring a cargo of coal here for the use of the railroad Company.

The work south of the river has reached Slater's mill, and the big fill at O. H. Wood's is completed.

The first passenger coach went out Tuesday from Traverse City over the new extension. It was a private car, carrying Chas. M. Heald, Jr. V. K. Agnew and Wm. Alden Smith.

The rails on the extension of the Chicago & West Michigan from Traverse City will be laid to Elk Rapids by Sept. 26. The bridge crossing Elk River will be ready for the iron by that date.

Engineer Harris has received the plans for the bridge work, and piledriving for the center pier and approaches is now in progress. The center and end piers will be constructed of cut stone.

The schooner T. V. Avery arrived Sunday from Chicago with 441 tons of steel rails, another schooner and a steam barge are loading at South Chicago. For the road between here and Petoskey, 1,750 tons will be required.

Pile-driving for the dock was completed last week, and the main portion of the dock is finished ready for use. On the south side are three large slips; on the north side the railroad track will run, several feet below the floor-level, so that the floor of the cars will be on a level with the dock. A narrow bridge with railing connects the dock with the shore, for the use of passengers.

Bellaire Breeze: Messrs. Northrup and McVean of the C. & W. M. Railway Company, have been here since our last issue on matters connected with the erection of depots and water tank. A proposition was received by them from Mr. Richardi to supply the with water, which will probably be accepted. Our passenger depot is to be a duplicate of the one at Traverse City and is to be built in the near future.——The work on the railroad south from Bellaire is being pushed quite rapidly; but there is considerable to be done north and south of town. The southern part of the job is nearly all sub-let and work seems to be progressing thereon in a satisfactory manner. North of here, however, we understand that Mr. Leach intends to do the work with his own men and teams, together with such as he sees fit to hire and will very likely have it all finished by early winter.

Detroit Tribune: Captain W. A. Gavett returned from an extended exploration along the line of the new extension of the Chicago & West Michigan Railroad, which is being rapidly constructed, accompanied by General Manager Charles M. Heald. He is full of enthusiasm, over the great resources of the rich country the new road is opening up. To a reporter for the Tribune, Gavett said: "We had a great trip. We drove through the woods forty-seven miles, from Traverse City to Charlevoix, and I never saw such a hardwood region. There is nothing else equal to it in the state. Our road runs east from Traverse City to Kalkaska and a branch runs from there to Elk Rapids, twelve miles north. The last rail of that branch will be laid on Saturday. The grading of the main extension will be completed soon. It runs through Bellaire, the county seat of Antrim County, which is one of the finest little towns I ever saw. It has nine hundred people and a large brick school house. I was greatly surprised to find such a town away out in the wood. The people are wild over the prospect for getting a railroad. Our road is opening up a wonderful region."

Grand Rapids Democrat 19th: The Chicago & West Michigan road is now building a 50,000 pound snow plow at the Muskegon shops for the Chicago and North Michigan division.——The Chicago & West Michigan road has just received a contract with the United States Wood Engine Co., of Batavia, Ill., for four water stations along the line, north of Traverse City.——Chief Engineer McVean of the Chicago & West Michigan yesterday closed a contract for 500 yards of stone for the piers of the Charlevoix draw bridge, with the Grafton Stone Company of Cleveland. The stone will be shipped by boat at once.——The Chicago & West Michigan road will ship two train equipments for road ballasting to the northern extension on Monday. One train consisting of a locomotive and twenty-eight flat cars, will be sent by barge from Traverse City to Charlevoix and put to work upon the central division.——Superintendent of Motive Power Morris of the Chicago & West Michigan and Detroit, Lansing & Northern has just let the contract for two immense locomotive boilers for powerful passenger locomotives to Pickett and Hines of this city. The machines will be finished in the Muskegon shops and put into the Chicago & West Michigan service north of Traverse City.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

OMINOUS MOVEMENTS.

RUSSIA MASSING MUNITIONS OF WAR.

Minneapolis Millers Afraid of Dutch-Uncle-to-the-Lions Weather Bureau Hoodoo Failure—How a Little French Canadian Cures Sick People.

(By Wire Leased Wire.)

A massive Russian railroad says enormous shipments of war stores have transmitted the Dardanelles this year. All contraband articles have been heavy items for fortifying Vladivostok. Several foreign vessels have been chartered to carry stores and munitions. Turkish yielding to Russia shows that the treaty of Paris is a dead letter so far as Russia is concerned, as a strong Black Sea fleet is being rapidly collected. The diplomatic triumph of the Russian ambassador at Constantinople shows plainly how Russia is paving the way to a blockade-proof-and-safe-to-use, the next session of Constantinople.

BASE-BALL.

Standing of the Different Clubs According to the Games Played.

Following is a showing of the standing of each of the clubs of the different associations.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
	W.	L.	Pct.		W. L. Pct.
Chicago	47	21	.691	Brooklyn	36 35 .507
Pittsburg	45	23	.662	Boston	31 38 .449
New York	42	26	.618	St. Louis	26 42 .382
Philadelphia	38	31	.551	Cincinnati	21 47 .309
AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.
	W.	L.	Pct.		W. L. Pct.
Boston	36	21	.632	Columbus	30 26 .536
St. Louis	36	21	.632	Louisville	26 30 .464
Baltimore	35	22	.614	Cleveland	25 31 .446
Philadelphia	31	25	.554	Washington	19 37 .339
WESTERN ASSOCIATION.
	W.	L.	Pct.		W. L. Pct.
Sioux City	37	20	.649	Denver	30 26 .536
Kansas City	36	21	.632	Lincoln	27 29 .482
Omaha	31	25	.554	Des Moines	21 35 .375

Off to Meet the Co-Co-Co-Co-Coxhead Men.

The colored people of Charlevoix have to think George Vanderbilt's mother for a long time yet. Young Mr. Vanderbilt has expended in the erection of a 40-foot boat house and a 60-foot dock, which he presented now, and George Vanderbilt half owned the boat, known as the Hogan. They have also to thank E. N. Cornell and his friends of Chicago for the $400 bill on which the building will stand. In the boat house, the Hogan, the latter for the colored people of St. Louis to a cold shack.

Celebrates 40 Years.

A PATRIOTIC event in a sad without the death of his father occurred in Mackinaw City. Prof. A. Parker is farmer, retired house artist, Elgin was to a quarter some mood and without any growing. Iron Hogan was a Civil War vet. Prof. Parker lost a few years of age, spring to celebrate his birthday. The Hogan responded by picking up his gun and shooting three times when the Hogan was buried, the Hogan shouldn't contract no magic. Nonetheless, he obtained a marriage license and Miss Ada Hogan took occasion to show it to a number of his friends before the ink of the old soldiering it published. He also told friends of the incident. Prof. Hogan is right, but that her mother was waiting for him to be buried and the ceremony should wait. And he forgets word.

SOUTHERN INCIDENTS.

Business improves in all sections, so far as reports show, and the outlook is too good, and the cheapest advance in cotton, which seems unfortunately, has not been lost. Cotton is selling at 9½c, and the crop is not yet all in, and has been saved, and is very large. Southern railroads are benefiting by the heavy southern crop, which, definitely, is now assured.

Mr. Thomas Pickens, president of the Georgia Railway of Georgia, has a remarkable escape from death. Until regain power, a piece of iron entered his head, and a few feet, from Shackley, and Mr. Pickens was thrown to the ground, attended to find him at exact habit hurt, and had had fractured skull. The iron bar had been fastened against the puzzle in his car, and it almost divided over his head.

At Hopson, Texas, there was an important war that in the Hopson County. Mr. Hopson, for 40 years in office, and Mr. Hopson, for 40 years in office, and Mr. Hopson, for 40 years in office, and

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
MILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 29, 1893.

Tin Plate Factories.

Wherever the manufacture of tin plate in this country is mentioned the free traders demand to know where and by whom it is being manufactured. They even go so far as to challenge the proof of the existence of a single mill manufacturing tin plate, that is doing a business of respectable magnitude. In answer to these challenges the American Manufacturer, a non-partisan journal, has gathered some interesting statistics from which it appears, the free trader to the contrary notwithstanding, that the United States Iron and Tin-plate Company is making 100 tons, or say 2000 boxes, a month; the Apollo Sheet Iron Works state that they are making 100 boxes a day; Fleming & Hamilton, of Pittsburg, make about fifty boxes a day; N. & G. Taylor, of Philadelphia, forty boxes; Marshall Bros. & Co., about 100 boxes, and Niedringhaus some fifty boxes. This makes about 2000 boxes

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

WATER LILIES.

BY LEE ON CHASE.

Some Nymph, I imagine, of silver mother
Was left by her lover on Lake Michigan's shore,
The pale Pale Moon, cold and pitiless gazing
Down on the lone maiden, her tears falling fast
Till, reaching the water, she left them—
Such were the pearls that were strewn on the beach
Of the sweet lonely lake with such profusion
That they were selling for 1 dollar apiece
Or 6 seeing where we had leisure to stop
The boat was drifting for 1 hooded out
The coral anchor, which we had taken
I looked about with me that it was
Not to be found, and I said to the boy
Pull back to the place where we saw the lilies
Of water, mostly blooms, and before of course
Pulling back to the place, I had taken a dive
Down to the bottom of the lake, and I found
The lilies were growing in water knee deep
Could you imagine of those silver scented
Lilies? Well, I picked a bushel of them
Enough
To make some fine wreaths for my lovely
Lake
And they have kept the sweetness and Beauty
Of the lake Michigan
And connected to each original nymphing
Lilies, there are 1 million of them
Which are the most wonderful pictures
That the lake ever produced
Or the world ever produced
Or the world ever produced
Or the world

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 23, 1891.

TWO BIG DAYS.

The Annual Reunion of the Charlevoix County Soldiers and Sailors' Association.

The old soldier's took Charlevoix last Friday morning and occupied it without hindrance until Saturday night. There were about 125 of them, and many of them were accompanied by their families. A number of W. R. C. ladies and a delegation of Sons of Veterans were also among the invaders. Comrade M. J. Steckman was the officer "in command of the forces and acquitted himself like a Major General.

The occasion was blessed with charming weather, and every feature of the two days gathering was a grand success. The Emrey store building was turned into a mess hall below and barracks above. The mess hall, under the magic touch of the W. R. C. was nicely decorated and the rear wareroom was turned into a complete kitchen, with every appurtenance for cooking. All was under the direction of the W. R. C., and well did they perform their duty. At every meal the tables were loaded, and all were provided.

The days were passed as all reunions of this nature are, in full enjoyment of the occasion. Friday a drese parade was about the only noticeable occurrence during the day. In the evening, Lewis Grand Opera House was full to overflowing to witness an entertainment provided for the veterans. Prof. Enos welcomed the visitors in a speech full of earnest patriotism, which was fitly responded to by a veteran. Musical and other exercises constituted a portion of the program, and the Young Ladies Zouave company, under Captain Brink, gave their drill. The roster of the company is as follows: Misses Ruth Brown, Attie Brink, Maud Scott, Mary Tullock, May Brown, Carrie Brown, Attie Kanagy, Mamie See, Lillie Carpenter, Hertha Pierce, Mattie Brink, Nellie Nettleton, Edith Mason and Georgie Irwin. Their fine appearance and precision of drill elicited hearty applause and an encore. The young ladies also appeared in line at the dress parade, and were the attraction of the day.

Saturday occurred another dress parade and review in which also the Zouaves participated, and gave a street drill. But it was not all dress parade and review for the old boys. They came for fun and they had it, right royally. A vegetable wagon was raided on Bridge street, as a part of the program, and the spectacle of an old grey-haired veteran throwing a cabbage at the head of the driver, revived the memories of "marching through Georgia."

Friday night, along toward the morning hours the editor of this paper heard a commotion in his hen house, and daylight disclosed the fact that seven chickens had disappeared. Saturday afternoon, Comrade John H. Hinkemstoe, of Advance, was apprehended as the ringleader of the foragers, and duly courtmartialed. D. C. Nettleton, of Baxter Post, was also arrested by a corporal's guard on information setting forth that "between the hours of five and six a. m. he had feloniously, and with malice aforethought, milked Willard A. Smith's red-speckled cow." The Court martial convened at two o'clock at the opera house, with Comrade Duell, of Boyne City, as President, and Wm. Mears, of Boyne Falls, as Judge Advocate. The culprits were brought in under a guard and plead guilty. After the hearing of evidence, overwhelming against them, they were duly convicted and sentenced each to wheel the other the length of Bridge street on a barrow, to the music of the "rogues, march." The sentence was carried out to the letter, but the guilty wretches, smarting under their punishment, seared the complaining witness, the editor of this paper, and jointly inflicted the same punishment upon him, with variations that could only have been conceived in a depraved and vicious mind.

Thus the two days passed. Everybody enjoyed the pranks of the veterans, and everybody freely gave them license to kick just as high and yell just as loud as they wished. The citizens of Charlevoix are entitled to all the fun they can get. Their line at the Soldiers parade was a thing of beauty. It would have made a West Point lieutenant laugh. Their heels were not together and their shoulders were not thrown back. They marched like a Good Templar's lodge, and some of them limped. But these thoughts are dispelled, and a thrill touches the heart of the patriot when he remembers that these are the men who ended the sleeps of Lookout Mountain withstood the onset of Pickets legions at Gettysburg, freed half at Chancellorsville, Antietam and Mission Ridge; that marched from Atlanta to the sea, and rounded up the Confederate Army at Appomattox. These men were a part of the grandest army that ever trod the earth. They can have our chickens, and milk our cows.

At the business meeting it was voted to hold the next reunion at East Jordan and the following officers elected: Commander, Jonas H. Koker; V. C., J. H. Lanway; Adj., C. Madison; Q. M., Jacob Bunet; O. D., A. J. Stroud; Chaplain, L. Coles; A. D. C., Harrison Mitchell, E. K. Robinson, Wm. Herven, John A. Newville and Albert Brown.

A supplementary county organization was instituted to attend the Washington National reunion, next year, and Comrade Wm. Mears, of Boyne Falls, was elected Commander.

The veterans all went away happy over the success of the county reunion of 1891, and the people of Charlevoix wish them many more happy gatherings before last their muster.

Norwood Notes.

Robt. Boyd has moved back to Traverse City.

Chas. Richardson is home on a visit.

Our school teacher, Mr. Babcock and wife, came from Harbor Springs last Friday and school commenced Monday.

Mr. Frank Blakely, a detective on the Detroit police force, has been visiting with Nick Shores the past week.

F. C. Daily, of Chicago is up visiting with Geo. M. Ferguson at Vineland Farm.

E. W. Coulter was in town Saturday and and received 18 loads of seed peas, over eight hundred bushels.

The bicycle cranks from Petoskey took dinner here Saturday on their way to Traverse City.

We have kept Lent a whole year and now we are going to have a Holiday.

J. G. Holliday will preach to us the coming year, Mr. Lent going to Boyne City.

Mrs. Belle Carter, of Detroit is visiting relatives in town.

S. B. Chase is up for a few days hunt before taking his family home to Chicago for the winter.

Van Pelt has had a nobby porch built on the front of his house, Mills, of Charlevoix did the work.

Nash has done some much needed dock work the past week, and the dock is now in good repair.

Miss Sue Rees left for Battle Creek, Mich Monday on the Cummings

Edd Stafford with a gang of men is engaged in moving Eastport all over on the other side of the street.

S. S. Spaulding, of Elk Rapids was up over Sunday.

Geo. M. Ferguson is up from Chicago superintending the building of a large carriage barn on his father's farm.

The Norwood boys are fitting up the finest ball grounds in the county and next season will have the crack nine of Northern Michigan.

Undine.

Mrs. W. Whitford is on the gain.

Mrs. J. A. Bacot is going to Detroit to see her sister who is sick.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Cram attended the fair at Petoskey last Wednesday.

Miss Sadie McNally was visiting at Willis' Monday afternoon.

The Black Hawk of Milwaukee, loaded with wood for the Lewis boys yesterday.

Sunday while Mrs. A. J. Stroud and Bertha Ayrefoot were on their way to church, their horse took fright at a dog and ran away, turning the carriage over them. Mrs. Stroud had an arm broken and cut about the face, Miss Ayrefoot escaped with no bones broken but was terribly bruised.

Cram, Whitford & Sons finish up their sawing today.

A full line of canned goods at Linton's

L. D. Bartholomew & Co. are selling plain building paper for $1.25 and tarred board for $1.40.

Masonic.

At a regular meeting of Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, O. E. S. the following officers were elected, who will be installed on the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 30: W. M., Miss Carrie Hilton; W. P., S. B. Calkins; A. M., Mrs. B. W. Miller; Treas., Mrs. F. G. Hines; Sec'y, Miss Bert McLeod; Cond., Mrs. R. Bedford; Ass'nt Cond. Mrs. G. W. Bates; Ad., Miss Lettie Mason; Ruth, Mrs. H. Bedford; Esther, Mrs. W. H. Miller; Martha, Mrs. H. A. Carr; Electa, Mrs. J. Chew; Warder, Mrs. H. V. Hifenburg; Chaplain, Mrs. A. F. Myers; Sentinel, A. F. Myers.

If you would like to see some fine Crawford peaches look in at O. W. Smith's.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

Sunday evening Rev. G. S. Barnes will give a discouse on "Demonology," the first of a series on the inhabitants of the spirit worlds.

Fine, large fresh oysters at O. W. Smith's.

The First to Arrive.

The Grand Rapids Daily Democrat now arrives in Charlevoix at 6 p. m. same day as published, 18 hours ahead of Detroit morning papers. It contains the full associated press dispatches. Delivered by McCartney & Co. at 50 cents a month.

Call and see my cakes and candies all fresh and nice. J. Z. LINTON.

Half-Fare to Chicago.

For the Annual Inter-State Exposition, the Chicago & West Michigan Ry and Detroit, Lansing & Northern Lines will sell tickets to Chicago and return, Sept. 22d, 24th, October 6th, 13th, 20th, good to return first Monday following date of sale; rate, one fare with 25 cts added for admission to the Exposition.

GEO. DEHAVEN, G. P. A.

Call on J. Z. Linton for nice candies and fruits.

Lost Strayed or Stolen.—Mare pony weighing about 700, is spotted brown and white, white face and four white feet. Reward given for information of her whereabouts.

R. S. SHAPTON
Charlevoix, Mich.

NOTICE.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Sept. 23d, 1891.

The partnership heretofore existing by and between Jos. Gy Thacker and Jos F. Gordon is hereby mutually dissolved. Thacker's notes to be collected and Gordon's to be paid by Thacker and all accounts contracted to be paid by GUIDEY THACKER.

J. F. GORDON

(First Publication Sept. 9, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

A mortgage dated December 19th, 1887, made and executed by Marcus A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, his wife, of Charlevoix Michigan and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county State of Michigan, in Liber 3 of Mortgages at page 341 Dec. 19, 1887, and assigned by Walter Taylor, duly assigned to Charles Peterson of Chicago, Ill., by assignment dated and recorded September 1, 1891, in Liber 31 of Mortgages page 371 in the said Register's office, upon which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of $1,000.

Also a mortgage dated November 8, 1887, executed by Marcus A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, his wife to Charles Peterson and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county aforesaid, Nov. 9, 1887, in Liber 3 of Mortgages, page 329, which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of $1,000.

Also a certain other mortgage executed by said Marcus A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, his wife, and Charles Peterson, dated January 20th, 1891, and recorded Feb. 20th, 1891, in Liber 3, of mortgages on page 329 in the said Register's office, upon which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of $1,000 for the currency of a bank check or draft given in payment for said mortgages and also for the sum of $100 attorney fee provided for in the power of sale contained in said mortgages, and no suit or proceeding at law has been instituted to recover the said debt or any part thereof. Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgages, I shall sell at the premises described in said mortgages, to wit: The south half of the south east quarter of section 31 in town 34 north of range 7 west, containing forty acres, according to the south west quarter of said section, and lot one, all in section 31 in township 34 north of range 7 west, containing 41 acres, more or less, according to the plat of the Government Survey of Michigan, at the front door of the Court House in Boyne City, that being the place for holding the circuit court for Charlevoix county, on Friday, December 4, 1891, at 10 o'clock noon.

Dated, Sept. 9th, 1891.

CHARLES PETERSON
Mortgagee and Assignee of Mortgage.
CLAY TUTTLE
Attorney for Mortgagee.

OUR GREAT BOOK OFFER.

Which has proven such a great attraction, closes October 1st.

Don't lose the opportunity to get one, by buying your fall goods of us.

AN ELEGANT LINE OF

FALL GOODS

ARRIVING DAILY.

MASON & BERDAN.

HAVE YOU SEEN THEM.

The Ladies are all talking about it. Those camel hair Stripes Plaids and Boucle effects in dress goods. THE PATTERNS

CANNOT BE DUPLICATED.

I am constantly receiving new novelties in Dress Goods, Trimmings and Notions which are bound to sell.

Attention is Again Called to a New Line of Corsets, Namely: "Adelaide," "A La Sprite," "P. C." and "C. B. La Sprite" The Manufacturers of these have won and were Awarded Gold Medals at Paris Exposition 89.

CLOAKS AND JACKETS.

For Ladies Misses and Children, a big stock now open.

I SHALL OFFER SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS FOR YOUR PATRONAGE BY DISCOUNTS.

A. T. WASHBURNE.

Take The Sentinel

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

SCHOOL TIME is coming very soon.

School Books.

And School Supplies of all kinds at

W. H. McCARTNEY & CO., Stationers
Newsdealers.

Dissolution of Copartnership.

Notice hereby given that the copartnership heretofore existing between Ed Bowman and Frank Lamphere, under the firm name of Bowman & Lamphere, in the city of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, doing livery, feed, sale and exchange business, the will expire by the Dissolution of the Partnership on the 15th day of Sept. 1891.

Dated, Charlevoix, Sept. 1st, 1891.

ED. BOWMAN
Frank Lamphere

NOTICE.

At the examination for teachers certificates which occurs at East Jordan Friday, Sept. 25, and at adjourned session Saturday, Sept. 26, applicants will be taken up in the same order as follows, to wit:

Reading	8:00 to 8:30
Arithmetic	8:30 to 9:15
Grammar	9:15 to 10:00
Geography	10:00 to 11:15
Recess	11:15 to 1:00
Theory and Art	1:00 to 1:30
Physiology	1:30 to 2:15
Civil Government	2:15 to 3:00
Orthography	3:15 to 4:00
U. S. History	4:00 to 4:45
Physiology and Hygiene	4:45 to 5:30
Penmanship	7:30 to 8:00

ELLA A. BROWN,
County Commissioner.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
proprietor of
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN.
Good Turnouts at Jewest rates
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

TEACHER WANTED.

To teach eight months school in school District No. 4 Hayes Charlevoix Co., Mich. School to commence first Monday in October.

Apply to
D. E. CHAMPIN, Director,
Hayes P. O., Mich.

J. Z. Linton handles a full line of cigars and tobacco.

THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Every Man, Woman and Child in this broad country should be the owner of property amounting in actual value to the sum of $1,000 if the wealth of the country was evenly distributed among its population.

Prices on Building Paper:
Plain Board, $1.35 pr cwt.
Tarred Board, 1.60 pr cwt.
10 Wire Nails, 2.90.

If we can suppose the wealth of the country to be distributed, the query arises, how long would it remain so. "The OAK JEWEL," best Round stove in the world and the cheapest.

CALL AND SEE.

Yours,
H. L. Iddings.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XXIII. NO.-13. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 30, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,137.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE

OF

EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER

AND BORDERS AT COST.
....AT....
CALKINS & WARNE.

Down Went McGinty to the Bottom of the

Peach Market.

PEACHES THAT ARE PEACHES. Only early Crawfords on sale. Now I just wish to say, that I am in daily receipt of the finest, largest and best Crawford Peaches that ever came to this county, and they all come direct from the orchard, and are Strictly Fresh and Sound. EVERY ONE, look at them and you will say this is strictly true. Bartlett Pears by the peck or bushel. Low. Now is your time to buy these fruits for canning, they will be no better or lower than now.

at O. W. SMITH'S.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for Sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

MASON JARS,

Prices Way Down

LOWER

than can be bought at

WHOLESALE.

1 Quart Mason Jars, per dozen, $.90

SPECIAL PRICES ON FULL CASES.

BERT MASON.

FURNITURE. FURNITURE.

S. M. SEE & SON'S

FURNITURE. FURNITURE.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One Year $1.00; Six months 75 cts
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Capt. Jas. Beauvais is in Detroit.

—Bert Fox went to Chicago Monday.

—Additional locals on the 8th page.

—Gard Brown is in Detroit this week on business.

—H. S. Harsha was in Traverse City over Sunday.

—C. Barry is in Detroit after stock for the cigar factory.

—Mrs. Will N. Moore went to Detroit with the excursion.

—The ladies should read Mason & Berdan's advertisement.

—J. H. Noble, of Toronto, is here visiting his brother, Bert Noble.

—Mrs. Ida Emrey went to Chicago on the City of Charlevoix Sunday.

—Editor Hampton has moved to the Allen house on the south terrace.

—Fred A. Wood arrived last week for a short visit with his relatives and friends.

—Another fine boy up on our street at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wood.

—Isaac Mills will build a house for O. D. Wood, on the old McNeill place near Ellsworth.

—The Charlevoix Hardware Co. have the celebrated anti rust tinware for sale. Call and examine it.

—John Baker and wife have moved into the house recently purchased by Mr. Elston, on Main street.

—The Congregational people give a reception to their new pastor and his wife, at the church this evening.

—Charlevoix county took the best prizes at the Tuscola county Fair. For fruit and vegetables we received first.

—Loren Hamlin hands us specimens of wheat and corn from his farm in Hayes that should have gone to the fair.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co., the pioneers have a change of advertisement in this issue, which will interest their many patrons.

—Chester Denton, of Norwood township, has purchased the Van Aukes property, on Clinton street, and will occupy it this fall.

—The gypsies went from here to East Jordan, where according to the Enterprise, they gathered in many shekels in return for "futures."

—Mr. Q. Thacker, late of the firm of Thacker & Gordon, has taken the Agency for the Fonthill nurseries, and will canvas the county for orders.

—The C. L. & C. will meet at the home of Mrs. W. H. McCartney Friday evening, Oct. 2. Members are requested to respond to roll call with quotations from Longfellow.

—Schoenmann & Gundebeck, the Lewis Grand Opera House dry goods merchants have an advertisement in this issue. They have largely increased their stock, and ask for a share of trade.

The Charlevoix railroad bridge will be 204 feet long and 22 feet high (from the track to the top of the truss.) It will be of iron upon a stone pier, the ends resting also upon stone piers when closed.

—After seeking in vain for a better section than northern Michigan; they all come back. Geo. Anderson, who left Marion for Minnesota about a year ago is coming back to his farm disgusted with Minnesota.

—Charlevoix is to have the regatta next summer. At a meeting of the directors held at Petoskey last week it was so decided, with only one vote against us. It was an eminently fitting thing to do, because Charlevoix is the best place for it.

—The editor of the Odessa Boomer been viewing a big potato. It rolled day and speaks of it as follows. "J. M. Hudson brought us a large potato last Saturday, it is very fine and smooth, and wayes too pounds exact. Mr. Hudson raised it himself. We would like to see from seven one-also on such.

—A sparrow gun fired on Bridge street one day last week, frightened S. M. See's horse with Mamie See alone in the buggy. He ran the length of Bridge street and was caught by Miles Beattie, who was dragged about three rods. It was a brave act, and probably saved Miss See from serious injury, if not worse.

SHE IS HERE

And Doing Business.

"IRON SINEWS OF COMMERCE."

That's What We Have in Charlevoix at This Present Writing.

The past week has been an eventful one in the progress of railroad matters here. When we went to press last week the schooner T. Y. Avery was unloading steel rails on the railroad dock. Following her, Friday, came the steamer Westover and barge Bliss, both steel laden, and then the steam barge Dunham came with the last consignment of the 1,750 tons necessary for the Charlevoix-Petoskey section. One hundred tons of angle-bars came on the Charlevoix Friday night.

The crowing event of the week occurred Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, when the tug Jesse Spaulding came in with two monstrous scows, laden with the greater part of the construction outfit. The first scow had twelve flat-cars, and the other fifteen, the locomotive and two flats. The entire outfit was taken at once to the railroad dock. As the outfit passed into Round lake, every mill, steamboat and tug whistle opened up, shot guns were fired, and the "pup cannon," taken to the north side to salute the advent of the steam horse. In the hurry, the powder was forgotten, and when it arrived, the bridge was swung, and only when the scows reached Pine Lake, did the howitzer add its voice to the general rejoicing. The steam whistles frightened the engine house people into ringing the fire alarm, and firing the Silsby steamer, but no harm came of it.

The engine is "No. 105," a 60 ton machine. Her engineer is Mr. Frank Owen; fireman, L. Flaggart, both his young men. Mr. Owen has been a freight engineer, and we venture to predict he will gain a promotion to the Petoskey "fast express" before Jan. 1st.

Accompanying the outfit were Division Engineer Northrup, Master Mechanic Capt. Cook, and Major Con. Sullivan, with his track laying crew. Major Sullivan, besides being one of the most expert tracklayers in the country, is otherwise a gentleman of fine attainments and pleasing address. The Major says he will string the steel at the rate of a mile a day, or more.

All day Saturday preparations for landing the outfit progressed. A trestle-work was extended out into the lake to the scows, and Sunday at ten o'clock the first wheel of the rolling stock was on terra-firma. During the forenoon of Sunday the first permanent steel was laid on the main line, and down the dock-siding. By Monday at two o'clock the flat-cars were all ashore, and at six o'clock Monday evening the locomotive steamed off and rested up on the siding.

As we write, the work of track laying progresses rapidly, and contractor McLane, who is on the ground, says December first will see the road completed to Petoskey, and ready for traffic.

The liveliest activity prevails. Every hotel and boarding house is full, and more men arriving daily. A full force is engaged in completing the dock, and dock railway, the bridge gang are at work preparing the piling for the stone work and approaches, and McCracken & Silsby are pushing matters on the south side with energy.

A second scow, laden with twelve flat-cars is here, making in all, 26, for use in construction.

The Ironton Branch.

The C. & W. M. folks will build a branch to Ironton, notwithstanding the condition of "timorous disquietude" in which the matter has rested for some time. To-day Engineer McKay, of the C. & W. M. force started out to locate the line of the branch. The line will be as originally contemplated, unquestionably, along the beach, except, ing where it crosses the point. The railroad folks are reticent about it, but there is very little doubt that branch will be built at once.

Loose Items.

"No. 105" is a lucky number.

Major Sullivan is now "the cynosure of all eyes."

McCracken & Silsby expect fifty more men from Chicago this week.

A cargo of coal for the railroad company is on the way here from Toledo.

About a hundred men are employed today about the switch yard and dock.

A coal dock 400 feet long is being built beside the track, a short distance down the line from the dock.

It was an ecstatic moment for the editor of this paper yesterday, when he mounted the locomotive and rang the bell a short distance down the road.

"No 105" will always have a warm place in the hearts of Charlevoix people, and engineer Owen and fireman Flaggart will be remembered when steamboat captains and stage drivers are in the mouldy earth.

—The enthusiasm of last Saturday carries us back something more than twenty years, to the day when the first wave of civilization came to Lake. When the scow Mendota went through the old tap bridge, we were a proud and happy community. And again, later, after the government had made it possible, the propeller Fountain City blew her whistle in Round Lake, and the event stirred the hearts of the faithful few who hoped and never croaked. In 1870 at a meeting to devise plans for protecting the mouth of the river, old William Lanster submitted plans to build cribs like Noah's ark and float them down to the mouth. In defense of his plan, he predicted that more than six feet of water would never be required here. If the old man last Saturday was in a position to look down (which is extremely doubtful) upon the events of that day, he would want to again call everybody down into his little room and bring out the black jug. The events of those days and these latter days, referred to in this article, cheered the soul, because they marked the beginning of epochs. They will constitute conspicuous pages in the history of Charlevoix county.

—Married, to-day at the residence of the bride's parents, in this village, by Rev. G. S. Barnes, Mr. W. M. Wellman to Miss Lena E. Washburn. Mrs. Wellman was born in Charlevoix and is a "Charlevoix girl," for whom we all entertain sentiments of regard. Mr. and Mrs. Wellman go to South Lyndon to reside, where Mr. Wellman is engaged in the lumber business. Charlevoix people will follow them with good wishes.

—Michigan Masonic home committees met in Grand Rapids and decided to ask the grand lodge to set aside $2,500 annually for the maintenance of the institution. Each lodge in the state will also be asked to contribute annually a sum equal in amount to an assessment of 25 cents per member. This will give the home about $7,500 a year.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

HENDRICKS THE MAN.

HE GETS THE NEW YORK COLLECTORSHIP.

A Man of the Plain Sort Wrong—Indiana Pays Dues to Save the Republican—Tales Making Over The Pendleton Page Bill.

Sketching the Man.

The President has appointed Frederick Hendricks Collector of Customs for the port of New York as announced in Sunt Pissett. Mr. Hendricks is a very popular man at his home in Syracuse, N. Y. He has always been successful in politics, and has been for years one of the Onondaga county committee in case the Republican majority jumped from 5,500 to 7,000. He has been in the Legislature three times, and early year his nomination has been made by acclamation. His political skill was especially conspicuous in the last election of Governor Hill's home county, which he had small contingent in the Legislature which was made up of Democrats, Prohibitionists, Fusion Honest, of Syracuse.

Getting Even Too.

Tom Chilborn (Kansas Indian schools carrier) escaped being lynched by a gnarle Sioux. The gnarle said was on fire by coupons. The steed drove the farmer toward the Indian reservation, where as the fire rose feel the schoolhouse about two Indian girls and some of their mommies of lightwalkers turned out to save the day. They were lot of plain and ordinary clays. The day turned across to which the lynched yards of hay by stacks was.

Preacher as a Bugler.

Revs. Dr. Watson and Joseph Walker, Brothers, aged 70 and 68 years respectively, were across of near City Hum. Wash., charged with the crime of stealing white goats. In the Superior Court last to be tried for the offense Presiding Judge disagreed, standing ten for conviction and two against. Inquiry of the jurors, it was found guilty. Rev. Mr. Walker's counsel, Hiram Gorr, of Tacoma, Indian fifth and a member of the Indian Tribe, Tyee Tyee.

Another Sunset Boulevard.

SAUTHAMPTON, Bermuda, The Hamburg Bermuda Mail Steamship Co. has marck arrived at Southampton, hashing Bermuda, at 7 o'clock, 1 hour 10 minutes ahead of the Bermuda Mail Steamship Co. Bermuda and 10 minutes. The last previous record was 7 days 11 hours 10 minutes, made by the same steamer when the left New York on June 29 of last year at 4:47, p. m. and arrived at Southampton at noon 8 m. on the 7 inst.

Dangerous Dust.

Philadelphia is a showing of the standing of each of the clubs of the different associations:

National League.				National Association.
Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per Ct.	Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per Ct.
Boston	41	17	.707	Philadelphia	41	17	.707
New York	35	20	.636	Brooklyn	35	20	.636
Chicago	31	21	.596	Baltimore	31	21	.596
Cleveland	29	24	.547	Cincinnati	29	24	.547
Pittsburg	24	27	.471	St. Louis	24	27	.471
Philadelphia	21	31	.404	Louisville	21	31	.404
Detroit	17	34	.333	Washington	17	34	.333
Indianapolis	14	37	.275	Boston	14	37	.275
Kansas City	12	39	.235	Kansas City	12	39	.235

Without a Whole Gil.

Wenn Ind., The New York Thread Gin factory was also closed with Lizzie Spraul, of Lansdale, Pa., some months ago, and was so overcome by the decision of the Supreme Court in the Trust Cases of Sessions and was prostrated for seventy-two hours, the prospect of her imprisonment.

Wound Were a Convicted Murderer.

At Omaha, Neb., Edward Sell the murderer, is condemned to hang this month, pleaded guilty to the murder of Mr. Clarke, a woman of the Sioux City, Iowa, and that he will marry Nevi before the hanging. Nevi said that she would allow the sailing to take place.

An Earthquake Shock.

At Portland, Ore., several slight shocks of earthquake lasting ten seconds, were felt, but no damage was done. The shocks were felt in other cities of the State.

Cord of Hydrophobia.

C. S. Wright, of Ft. Wayne, who was taken to a hospital in Mexico, Mass., suffering with hydrophobia, died of the disease. He was bitten by his own dog some two weeks ago in Ann Bangalore.

Fall Of Cornice.

During the first sixteen days of Sept. tember the United States paid 16,552,000 to old soldiers by pensions.

Thirty Dollars for a Boys Life.

Frank Johnson, a boy, at Tiffin, Ohio, was kicked by John Hammann, a few days ago, and caused recover. Hammann was frightened by the death of eleven, and offered the boy's father $30 to be quiet.

Fig Attempts.

A syndicate has been formed at Hamburg, Germany, to construct grain elevators in Chicago, so that Germans may control the imports of American pork into Germany.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

Gunner Gorsch was the engineer on train 29 on the Lehigh and Hudson Railway a few nights ago. Conductor Underwood and Engineer Coffin gave the train up in the afternoon and in two it at the place of a mile a week.

Two some heirs of Mrs. Hopkins-Scribe have materialized and through counsel entered notice of their intention with the other claimants to break the will if it can be done. The other claimants are Jo Isaac Shepard and Patricia Sherwood, of South East, Putnam County, N. Y. They are among the heirs.

Two coughs of the tragedy, and claim that by the first will, which is missing, they were well remembered.

W. A. Smith of W. A. Smith & Co., brokers, at 44 Broadway, New York, was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. The complainant is a prominent merchant of Poughkeepsie. He charges Smith with having sold no money given him to consolidated with which to buy stocks. Sunday Sun.

MICHAEL PARNAY, who lives near Hackensack, N. J., had an accident a few years ago, broken only by wonderful escapes from death. Mr. Parnay of Ionger. Parnay was for many years night watchman in a tunnel, and was on a train, falling on which he realized, during the night, that he had been overlooked and that one morning when returning home he was hurled to a partial coma, from which he could not be aroused. For days he was in a dead sleep. Friends who came to see him thought him in a partial coma, but after entire he again die and away. The man who had been left behind never attempt to take further measures.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

Tour greatest whatever that the Miami, Ill., Valley ever produced and of a recent outpatient will together if freely do not come before Sept. 20. The issue is Sunday, and the tour cases of Spanish, 20, are cases of seed leaf tobacco, the fellow of Sunsmoon, Frans Hiesack, of Sarnemo.

Getting Even Too.

Tom Chilborn (Kansas Indian schools carrier) escaped being lynched by a gnarle Sioux. The gnarle said was on fire by coupons. The steed drove the farmer toward the Indian reservation, where as the fire rose feel the schoolhouse about two Indian girls and some of their mommies of lightwalkers turned out to save the day. They were lot of plain and ordinary clays. The day turned across to which the lynched yards of hay by stacks was.

Preacher as a Bugler.

Revs. Dr. Watson and Joseph Walker, Brothers, aged 70 and 68 years respectively, were across of near City Hum. Wash., charged with the crime of stealing white goats. In the Superior Court last to be tried for the offense Presiding Judge disagreed, standing ten for conviction and two against. Inquiry of the jurors, it was found guilty. Rev. Mr. Walker's counsel, Hiram Gorr, of Tacoma, Indian fifth and a member of the Indian Tribe, Tyee Tyee.

Another Sunset Boulevard.

SAUTHAMPTON, Bermuda, The Hamburg Bermuda Mail Steamship Co. Bermuda marck arrived at Southampton, hashing Bermuda, at 7 o'clock, 1 hour 10 minutes ahead of the Bermuda Mail Steamship Co. Bermuda and 10 minutes. The last previous record was 7 days 11 hours 10 minutes, made by the same steamer when the left New York on June 29 of last year at 4:47, p. m. and arrived at Southampton at noon 8 m. on the 7 inst.

Dangerous Dust.

Philadelphia is a showing of the standing of each of the clubs of the different associations:

National League.				National Association.
Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per Ct.	Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Per Ct.
Boston	41	17	.707	Philadelphia	41	17	.707
New York	35	20	.636	Brooklyn	35	20	.636
Chicago	31	21	.596	Baltimore	31	21	.596
Cleveland	29	24	.547	Cincinnati	29	24	.547
Pittsburg	24	27	.471	St. Louis	24	27	.471
Philadelphia	21	31	.404	Louisville	21	31	.404
Detroit	17	34	.333	Washington	17	34	.333
Indianapolis	14	37	.275	Boston	14	37	.275
Kansas City	12	39	.235	Kansas City	12	39	.235

Without a Whole Gil.

Wenn Ind., The New York Thread Gin factory was also closed with Lizzie Spraul, of Lansdale, Pa., some months ago, and was so overcome by the decision of the Supreme Court in the Trust Cases of Sessions and was prostrated for seventy-two hours, the prospect of her imprisonment.

Wound Were a Convicted Murderer.

At Omaha, Neb., Edward Sell the murderer, is condemned to hang this month, pleaded guilty to the murder of Mr. Clarke, a woman of the Sioux City, Iowa, and that he will marry Nevi before the hanging. Nevi said that she would allow the sailing to take place.

An Earthquake Shock.

At Portland, Ore., several slight shocks of earthquake lasting ten seconds, were felt, but no damage was done. The shocks were felt in other cities of the State.

Cord of Hydrophobia.

C. S. Wright, of Ft. Wayne, who was taken to a hospital in Mexico, Mass., suffering with hydrophobia, died of the disease. He was bitten by his own dog some two weeks ago in Ann Bangalore.

Fall Of Cornice.

During the first sixteen days of September

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 30, 1881.

General Lew Wallace, author of Ben Hur and Minister to Turkey under President Hayes is spoken of for the War portfolio.

Russia has extended a gloved hand of friendship to England and notified the world that for the present the Czar has all the territory he can attend to. If in the future it becomes necessary to make conquest of India, it will be because of British hostility.

The Brazilian congress has refused to remove the ban of exile placed upon Brazil's deposed emperor, Don Pedro, and he will be compelled to live and die among strangers. The vote was decisive and indicates that the spirit of self-government has taken a deep hold in Brazil.

The Methodists of eastern Michigan evidently are not afraid of the direful results of women's voting in church affairs. They recognize the fact that but for the women most churches would have to close their doors. Two thirds of the delegates had the decency and justice to allow them due representation in affairs which are so much their concern.

James E. Campbell, the Democratic governor of Ohio, has been specialtying wildly, and is therefore in such sore financial straits that it looks as as if he would soon become a bankrupt. Such being his financial condition the voters of Ohio fully understand that he needs a free ride to law which would enable him to pay his debts at 75 cents on the dollar.

"Columbus," says Professor Pinke, estimated the earth to be one-seventh smaller than it really is. He exaggerated the length of Asia, and supposed it to extend so far east that its eastern coast would come to where Mexico is. Then he supposed the island of Japan would extend to where Cuba is, and he argued from a verse in the Apocryphan that one seventh of the temperate zone was water, and that that is what he would have to cross, which distance he figured at 2,500 miles."

Emperor William, of Germany has aroused the admiration of thousands by reason of the great tact, judgment and good sense he has so often displayed since he assumed his important place at the head of the German people; but in his recent public allusion to Napoleon the Great as a "Corsican Parvenu," he departed from his usual good taste in public speaking and aroused a feeling of bitterness on the part of the French people that it will take a long time to efface.

"The defeat of McKinley in Ohio," observes the Detroit News, "would be the biggest bucket the theory and application of protection has received in many a long day." It is a little singular that a Democratic paper should be so willing to go on record with such a declaration, when the Democratic press is constantly assuring us that the Republicans in Ohio have dropped the tariff question entirely, and are conducting the campaign on the silver issue." But if the News assertion is true, it follows that the converse proposition is true, and that the defeat of Campbell in Ohio would be biggest bucket that the theory of free trade has received in many a long day. Will the supporters of Governor Campbell be content to accept the result on these terms?

A special committee of eminent Michigan Masons met at Grand Rapids to do so ways and means for the support of the Masonic Home. A plan was finally outlined for the control of the masonic home by the craft, and it is to be drawn up by Past Grand Master Durand and submitted for ratification at a subsequent meeting. There was a point raised of fundamental masonic law, one faction contending the law as forbidding arbitrary taxation of masons for the support of the home and the other favoring it. Past Grand Master Henry Chamberlain and Chairman George H. Durand considered of voluntary contributions as the plan of support, and, though the report has been kept secret, for the present, it is safe to say that the anti-taxationists were victorious, and the arbitrary tax of fifty cents will not be levied on the members of the fraternity. The grand lodge will contribute annually as much money as it can spare from its regular expenses, and the members of the order will be called upon to make up the balance. The home will remain in the hands of the association, with two or three grand lodge officers as members of the board of trustees. This was the outcome of a fight as to the legality of the home association having a right to transfer the home to the grand lodge or any other lodge, which was decided against such transfer.

DID THE HUSBAND REFORM?

Method of a Wife to Destroy the Liquor and Tobacco Habits.

That women of refinement do not wage war against liquor and tobacco as a mere matter of taste, to say nothing of moral aspect of the habits, is simply another proof of the marvelous patience of the gentler sex, says the Chicago Herald. "I like the smell of a good cigar," said a young married woman at an informal gathering the other day. "Like you?" referred a wife of twenty years. "Well, I don't believe it. The fresh smoke of a cigar is not particularly unpleasant, but I can't understand how any healthy person can enter a room in which tobacco smoke has grown stale and escape a nausea. And the breath of a smoker is something to which I simply cannot become accustomed. Some years ago my husband complimented me upon the tolerance for tobacco which I had acquired. I told him it wasn't tolerance, but merely that sort of martyrdom which accepts the inevitable in silence. That made him angry, and we had a few words which are seldom seen in romantic novels. That night and before his time to return from the office I ate a good, hearty, strong onion. When he came I smiled, put my arms around his neck, kissed him and asked his forgiveness for my previous impatience. I noticed on his face a struggle between a look of disappointed and one of kindness, but he is a generous man, and he kissed me and didn't say anything about the onion. The next afternoon I boiled cabbage and purposely left the doors open between the kitchen and the sitting room. When he came in the air was dense with the odor. I had on my prettiest dress and welcomed him with a true Italian-like tenderness, but the cabbage was too much for his patience, and he crossly inquired whether I hadn't better move my cooking there. However, I was all patience and sweetness, and shifted responsibility for the vegetable atmosphere upon the carelessness of the cook. The day after this my husband sent home a mess of frogs' legs, a dish of which he is especially fond. I saw that the cook prepared them exactly to his liking, and when he entered the dining room they were on a big dish near his plate, crisp and brown and garnished with water-cresses. But he didn't eat any of the frogs' legs. Why? Well, at great inconvenience I had secured from the grocer a packet of German cheese, which was so rankly odorous that one could almost see the odor. That cheese resposed in a pretty glass dish in the center of the table. The poor man got as far as 'Whisk in the same of ——' when I spirted out laughing. When I was able to control myself I explained to him. "I've just been trying to give you a little object lesson," I said, "in the punishment a woman has to endure with a husband who uses liquor and tobacco. At present I am not very fond of onions, cabbage or Limburger cheese, but the ladies of men teach me that one can acquire a taste for anything that is naturally objectionable if the ladies are devoted to the task. I hope that you'll get used to it, dear, and that in a month or two we may enjoy our tobacco and beer and onions and cheese together, and create a home atmosphere which will be the envy of all the neighbors." I suppose he gave up liquor and tobacco then," said the young woman, cheerfully.

The married woman of twenty years did not answer directly. "After you have been married ten years," she said, "you try to break your husband of something. However, nothing so irretrievably destroys the romance with which every bride regards the man of her choice as the recognition of the fact that he is the slave of habits which render his presence unpleasant in the extreme. Such a man wouldn't think it strange if his wife would object to his constant appearance in dirt and rags, and yet in the matter of household happiness and content the sense of smell is about as important a factor to a woman as that of sight.

REAGAN AND THE TERROR.

How the Future Senator Threw a Ball Out of a Window.

The resignation of Senator Reagan, of Texas, recalls a story of how he chanced to remove to the state that is now his home, and which has so signally honored him. He was living in Sevier county, Tenn., in 1859, and was sent by his father to a grist mill to have a sack of wheat converted into flour. He was a big, raw-boned, strapping country boy.

According to custom, he hitched his horse at the mill, took the sack of grain from the shoulders of the miller, placed it on his own shoulders and toted it up three flights of stairs, and took his place in the line, as people are wont to do still at country post-offices, waiting for his turn to have his wheat ground. Half an hour or so after Reagan arrived at the mill a well-known local character came bringing a sack of grain to be ground also. This last character was a local terror, fond of brawls and fighting, and in the habit of having his own way.

He had to take his place in line with the rest, but when it got to be Reagan's turn he gave his grain ground "the terror" said.

"See here, Reagan, I am in a hurry. You let me get in your place and you come back here when I am."

Reagan demurred, stalled that he was in a hurry, too; that he was entitled to his place and meant to keep it. This angered the brawler. He cursed young Reagan, and said he would fling him through the window and stilling the critter to the wars, made a rush for the future statesman. Reagan, like all the rage at the people in the neighborhood, was more or less terrorized by this desperado, and in fear of his life rushed for him, met him half way, butted him in the stomach with his head, and literally lifted him off his feet and threw him through the window.

When the desperado disappeared through the window the consciousness of his act flashed upon young Reagan's mind. He instantly supposed that he had killed a man, that he would be hanged for it, and stared almost to death, he rushed down stairs, unhitched his horse, and it not across the country for home. The man was not killed, but got a bad shaking up. He soon moved to Texas, and was a friend of Reagan's to after life.—Chicago Mail.

THE WHY OF IT.

Reasons For the Existence of Two Familiar Objects.

We all know that a wooden Indian is set up in front of a cigar or tobacco store, three balls at a pawnbroker's door and a striped pole immovably fixed somewhere near to the entrance to a barbers shop, says the St. Louis Republic. But why?

Antiquarians tell us that the wooden Indian is a tobacco sign, because tobacco is an American weed and that it was originally used by the Indians. But the same antiquarian gets tangled occasionally and tells you that tobacco has been in use for over 3,000 years among the Chinese. Moyes, in his "Geography of Plants," is of the opinion that the smoking of tobacco is of great antiquity among the Chinese, because he has observed carvings of tobacco pipes upon monuments whose ages run back into the thousands of years, and they are exactly like the Celestial tobacco pipe to-day, too. If this is a fact it would be much more appropriate to use the figure of a Chinaman in place of the wooden Indian now used by dealers in the "filthy weed."

Three reasons are given to account for the origin of the pawnbroker's sign. One says that the balls are used because they were the emblems of St. Nicholas, who is said to have given three purses of gold to three virgin sisters to enable them to marry. Another legend attributes the use of the three balls to the members of the Lombard family, the first great money-lenders of England. They were drugists before they became capitalists, and used the three golden pills in summer of their calling. Still another story attributes their original use to the Medici family of France. The Medicis were money-lenders, who used the three pills as a pun on their medical-sounding name.

Last, but not least, the barbers of long ago were barber-surgeons, but the rapid advance of surgical science has caused them to fall from their high estate. The gilt knob at the end of the barber pole of to-day represents a brass basin, which but a few decades since was actually suspended from the pole. The basin had a notch cut in it to fit the throat, and was used in letting the customer, preparatory to shaving him. The pole represents the staff held by the patient who came to the barber-surgeon to be bled. The two spiral stripes painted around it signify the two bandages, one for twisting around the arm previous to the act of phlebotomy, or blood-letting, the other for binding when the operation was completed.

HOW HE WAITED.

The Poor Hod-Carrier Exhibited the Sublimest Philosophy.

A hod-carrier was badly crushed, a fortnight ago in New York, by the fall of a scaffolding while he was at work on a tall building, says the Argonaut. His fellows picked him up and bore him, bleeding and dusty, to a shady spot to wait for the ambulance. People were being prostrated by the heat all over the city, and the ambulance had been on the run all day. After about half an hour of suspense, a doctor, who was passing, was called over. He knelt down by the man, felt his crushed-in side, and examined his fractured limb. Then he shook his head and asked, softly: "Has he any friends among you?" "None of us knows him, sir," said the foreman. "Well, if any of you can get any information from him about his people, you'd better do so at once. Nothing can save him. It's only a question of a few hours." Beastly was present and seemed to revive him, and he opened his eyes and looked around, but to all questions as to his name, his home, his parents, his wife, his children, etc., he gave no answer. "Well, old man," said the foreman at last, tenderly, "we can't do nothing at all for you, the doctor says, though you know we would if we could. The day is wearing on and our job must be finished. The ambulance will soon be here, so you won't take it hard if we leave you now, will you?" The hod-carrier looked up at him slowly and spoke with a great effort: "I've got to die, eh?" "Doctor says so." "How soon?" Before sundown, my boy." "No help for it?" "No." "Well," with a long sigh, "you go on with your work and I'll go on with my dying," and he turned his head—shut his eyes—and—waited.

The Bicycle Again.

In one section of Brooklyn messenger boys may be seen flying through the streets at the rate of ten miles an hour. This is especially the case in the vicinity of Pierrepont avenue and Prospect Park. They start from the office of the Brooklyn district telegraph company, Flatbush avenue, and start about in all directions, responding to calls with such celerity as to astonish those who fling them up. The boys use bicycles, and they purchase them themselves on the instalment plan. The boys who ride them receive from 50 cents to $1 a week more than the others, and they are worth it. The bicycle riders respond to calls in one-fourth the time it required by the old method.

Wedding the Sea.

At a forthcoming vessel launching in Venice the ancient custom of christening of the Venetian Bucentaur is to be revived. It consists in attaching a gilt ring to the vessel's prow in such a way by the gun-mother that when the ship is launched the ring shall be the first thing to touch the water, thus fulfilling the "wedding of the sea."

London as It Was.

Hayden's "Dictionary of Dates" makes the statement that the old name of the city of London was written Lyndon or Lyndin, meaning "the city on the lake." An old tradition gives up to understand that London was founded by Brute, a descendant of Æneas, and called New Troy or Troynovant, until the time of Lud, who surrounded the town with walls, and named it Caer-Lud or Lud's town. This latter is probably the correct version of the story, if for no other reason, because it is an easy matter to detect a similarity between the expression Lud's town and London. It is claimed by some writers that there was a city on the same spot 1,107 years B. C., and it is known that the Romans founded a city there called Londinium. A. D. 61.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat.

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Fall and Winter OPENING!

COMMENCING Thursday, Friday and Saturday, SEPT. 17, 18 and 19

FRENCH PATTERN HATS & BONNETS

AND

MILLINERY NOVELTIES

ALL ARE INVITED.

Giving a call to see what Charlevoix Jersey can do in the millinery line, and purchase their millinery.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

Call and see

A FULL LINE OF WATCHES, CLOCKS, CHAINS, CHARMS, PINS.

SILVER TABLE WARE, UNABRIDGED SOUVENIR SPOONS.

AGATE JEWELRY, PATIN BEAD JEWELRY, GOLD AND PURE JEWELRY.

ALSO A FULL LINE OF GOODS USUALLY KEPT IN WRITE AND STATIONERY.

Especial attention given to all repairs. All goods subject to sale after six months.

C. R. Bellinger.

T. J. CANNON, Proprietor.

NEW BAKERY.

Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a supply of

BAKED GOODS,

always on hand.

Orders taken and goods promptly delivered.

I solicit a share of your patronage, and will guarantee satisfaction, low prices, convenient fruit and well baked bakery.

T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Baby Live.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

STRAYED:

Came into my enclosure in the township of Norwood on or about the 20th day of July, 1881, one red and white steer, about 2 or 3 years old, ears slit and no ends. The owner can have the same by the payment of all charges.

THOMAS WARDROP.

Take The Sentinel

BEING THANKFUL

TO THE PEOPLE

For past patronage and soliciting further favors, I am prepared to help my customers by selling:

21 lbs. Granulated Sugar for $1.

I also retail 3 lbs. 50c tea for $1.

3 lbs. best Mocha & Java Coffee $1.

CANNED GOODS AT COST

To make room for our large stock, already ordered.

We have also a large stock of

MILLINERY,

of which a portion is beginning to arrive. They will be sold at very lowest possible prices.

My store is also headquarters for finest CALIFORNIA AND DOMESTIC FRUITS.

Crockery will also be sold at cost for next 30 days.

G. W. PAUL.

GREAT!

That is what our big book offer is. We have been giving away glassware with every ten dollars traded with us. Now we are going to give you something better. We will give F. T. Barnum's great work,

"Wild Beasts, Birds and Reptiles of the World, a Story of their Capture."

with every $20 traded with us. This book is profusely illustrated with about 400 engravings by the best artists in Europe and America, and should be in every house. This is an expensive advertisement and cannot last long. You will want winter goods and shoes soon, come and get them now.

Those who have glassware coming, please get it now.

SHERWOOD

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are scattered in lots to suit purchasers and where wood and timber accessible to best markets.

By Water and Rail

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It provides a population of 20,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Read for Pamphlet or Address W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner, GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

TITLE PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCO, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Ever in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We will cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

PROF. O. M. RICE, Escanaba, Mich.

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE

Short and best line to Chicago and all points west and South-west.

Trains leave as present schedule as follows:

Leave Traverse City, 7:00 a.m. 12:20 p.m. 6:15 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 12:15 p.m. 7:30 p.m. 10:05 p.m.
Arrive Grand Rapids, 4:50 a.m. 10:05 a.m. 3:45 p.m.
Arrive Chicago, 9.30 p.m. 5.00 a.m. 12.00 m.

Every day. Others each days only.

10.00 a.m. leaves Grand rapids daily except Sundays, arrives Chicago 7.00 p.m.

1.45 p.m. has Wagner parlor car to Chicago.

7.00 p.m. has Wagner sleeping car to Chicago.

Trains leave Chicago at 9.00 a.m. 5.45 p.m. and 10.15 p.m., arrive Grand Rapids 2.40 p.m. 10.05 p.m. and 6.35 a.m. Arriving at Traverse City 10.00 p.m. and 12.05 p.m.

DETROIT.

The Favorite is the Grand Rapids, Lansing & Northern R. R.

From Grand Rapids:

Leave Detroit (By G.R. & I.) 7.15 a.m. and 3.50 p.m.

Leave Detroit (By L.S.) 10.40 a.m. and 8.00 p.m.

Arrive Lansing 9.50 a.m. 5.50 p.m. 2.55 p.m. and 10.40 p.m.

Arrive Howard City 11 a.m. 7.15 p.m. 4.17 p.m. and 1.05 a.m.

Arrive Reed City 11.10 a.m. 6.30 p.m. 4.05 p.m. and 10.55 p.m.

Connections at Howard City for Petoskey and points north.

Close connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.

GEO. DERAYER, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD D. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED. W. SMITH, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MORGAN & WETHERBY Have full abstracts of Charlevoix County. Title examined, taxes negotiated, Farms and village property for sale and homes to rent. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. DANA, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

I. O. O. F.—Tuscarora Lodge No. 117, meets Saturday evening, in Masonic hall, Charlevoix hall.

G. A. R.—Butler Post No. 119, meets second Monday of each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 72, O. E. S., meets on the third Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Cecile Hills, W. M. Ellen Hills, Secretary.

FOREST CHAPTER, No. 108 R. A. M. meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 369, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 382, F. & A. M. Meeting on or before full moon. Hall over Stone, office.

CHARLEVOIX COMMANDERY No. 116, K. T., meets at Union Block in Petoskey on the Tuesday after each month.

PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY, No. 1041, K. of L., meets every Monday evening, at 7:00, at Dowdle Hall.

EASTER RELIEF CORPS, No. 175, meets at I. O. O. F. Hall, Second Saturday of each month. Fanny Gale, President.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, N. P., Physician and Surgeon. Office in the Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. A. MCKEE, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Supply Gaines' Surveyors Calculations ready.]

The "New Charlevoix."

M. S. QUACKENBUSH, Prop.

(Known as the "FREIGHT HOUSE.")

Beautifully located on the Beach, Terms, moderate. Rooms clean and comfortable.

LAKE GENEVA AND EVERY CONVENIENCE.

Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated throughout.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only line adjacent from the Union Depot.

Cable Cars pass the door.

New house with all modern improvements, newly furnished. Its American and European plans. Rooms $1.00 weekly; two rooms (for each and upward) Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents. Restaurant for Food Connoisseurs, one block from Chicago and Union Lumber Clubs. Table d'Hote Dinner, 50 cents and up for future use.

DR. G. W. CROUTER, Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert.

FOUNDREYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER

SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $36.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL, Merchant Tailor.

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton St., and in good shape, with nice house, cistern finished on outside. Inquire of

E. J. GELLICK & CO.

SCHNEERMANN & GUIDEBECK.

NEW STORE

DRY GOODS AND

CLOAKS.

A full and complete line of Dry Goods can be found at our store in the LEWIS BLOCK. Come, examine our Goods and GET OUR PRICES.

Schneermann & Guidebeck.

A CANADIAN FARM.

An Interesting Description of The Largest Fruit Farms in Ontario.

A good many of our citizens came here from Canada, and they tell us the following regarding the Ponthill nursery farm will be especially interesting. It will also interest the large number of farmers who are every year becoming more interested in what is bound to be a new leading industry—fruit growing.

Fruit raising, on the whole, has not been a success in the Canadian provinces, and Messrs. Stone & Wellington say it is owing to the planting of the varieties too tender to stand the climate, and pasturing stock brought from the south instead of getting it from the north.

Messrs. Stone & Wellington, a few years ago, imported about 250 varieties of apples from Russia. These with a few of the hardiest native varieties of Canada give them the list of apples which they claim will stand the most severe climate in Canada; so they have no hesitation in offering them as well adapted to this country. They claim that the most hardy varieties of stock, when raised south and then brought north and planted, as a natural consequence, are tender and easily winter-killed; while, even the tender varieties, if raised in the north, where the trees grow slowly and make tough wood, will do well when brought here.

Their nursery was recently visited by a reporter for the Toronto Globe, and we print his descriptions of the big farm, omitting some portions not of general interest:

"Arriving at Welland, cordial greeting was extended me by H. Harcourt Ing, of the farm of Stone & Wellington, the well known nurserymen. A half hour was spent in seeing the new aquarium in course of construction on a cost of $1,000,000 or more. Pelham was originally settled by Quakers, and though not all the present inhabitants have forsaken the simplicity of attire and phraseology of speech of early days, yet the thrift of their industry and good taste in every where seen. It is no uncommon thing to see farm houses worth $5000 or $10,000 and the surroundings correspondingly luxurious. One noticeable feature is the lovely landscape—on the magnificent fields of wheat and corn, a failure in these staple crops being almost unknown. When half way to Fonthill a pause was made in order to inspect some fine fields of choice young apple, pear, cherry and other nursery stock. The first impression was that these constituted the whole block of Messrs. Stone & Wellington, but we soon learned that this was only an outlying portion, and that the home acres packing houses, conservatories, etc., were on a greater scale. These were not reached, and the whole vast area of seven hundred acres made up a landscape so inspiring as to thrill the heart with pleasure.

No more description can give an adequate conception of the magnitude of the operation carried on. From 100 to 150 men are employed, twenty working horses are kept busy as the land must be in the highest possible state of cultivation to produce healthy growth. This seven hundred acres are said to contain more nursery stock than all other nurseries in Canada combined. Over 1,500,000 apple and pear trees are in stock, and 300,000 apple trees and 50,000 pear trees are placed in the market each year.

Six hundred bearing apple trees are devoted to testing new varieties before planting in large numbers. Up to the present time over 300 kinds have been grafted and fruited. The advantage of this can hardly be overestimated, as it prevents mistakes on the part of Canada give thrifts, like the apples which they claim will stand the most severe climate in Canada; so they have no hesitation in offering them as well adapted to this country. They claim that the most hardy varieties of stock, when raised south and then brought north and planted, as a natural consequence, are tender and easily winter-killed; while, even the tender varieties, if raised in the north, where the trees grow slowly and make tough wood, will do well when brought here.

Their nursery was recently visited by a reporter for the Toronto Globe, and we print his descriptions of the big farm, omitting some portions not of general interest:

"Arriving at Welland, cordial greeting was extended me by H. Harcourt Ing, of the farm of Stone & Wellington, the well known nurserymen. A half hour was spent in seeing the new aquarium in course of construction on a cost of $1,000,000 or more. Pelham was originally settled by Quakers, and though not all the present inhabitants have forsaken the simplicity of attire and phraseology of speech of early days, yet the thrift of their industry and good taste in every where seen. It is no uncommon thing to see farm houses worth $5000 or $10,000 and the surroundings correspondingly luxurious. One noticeable feature is the lovely landscape—on the magnificent fields of wheat and corn, a failure in these staple crops being almost unknown. When half way to Fonthill a pause was made in order to inspect some fine fields of choice young apple, pear, cherry and other nursery stock. The first impression was that these constituted the whole block of Messrs. Stone & Wellington, but we soon learned that this was only an outlying portion, and that the home acres packing houses, conservatories, etc., were on a greater scale. These were not reached, and the whole vast area of seven hundred acres made up a landscape so inspiring as to thrill the heart with pleasure.

No more description can give an adequate conception of the magnitude of the operation carried on. From 100 to 150 men are employed, twenty working horses are kept busy as the land must be in the highest possible state of cultivation to produce healthy growth. This seven hundred acres are said to contain more nursery stock than all other nurseries in Canada combined. Over 1,500,000 apple and pear trees are in stock, and 300,000 apple trees and 50,000 pear trees are placed in the market each year.

Six hundred bearing apple trees are devoted to testing new varieties before planting in large numbers. Up to the present time over 300 kinds have been grafted and fruited. The advantage of this can hardly be overestimated, as it prevents mistakes on the part of Canada give thrifts

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN

HER NEVERIE.

BY TOM HALL.

Bells sounded from an alien belfry
Ringing a wedding song of joy and pain
The glad air carried her dimpled cheek,
Her lovely lips and her eyes of jet
Had the white bells troubled.

And she was thinking (say, I know
Of one who is a whipped one,
Who is a fool, I know)
Had she for one moment sat under barbs
Like those white pale crazy pieces the dark
Who I wish to be like,

Across a lofty mille parade for five
And seven years, I know I would be
Not quite so blue as I am now.
And then a quick fragrance flung
Another pattern in her brown hair
And perched upon her brows

Also she was thinking when, I know,
Of a poor, abject fellow in love
Who is a fool, I know,
Who sits in a dark and lone attic
Her hours chiefly
Who is a fool, I know.

"Dear Lord and Father of Mankind
Forgive our foolish ways!
Reclothe us in our rightful mind
In purer lives and holier days."
Amen! I know I am a fool.

BROWN'S GREAT PERIL.

Nathan Brown was a prosperous, elderly spinster, of the old school. He was a bachelor. A well crinoled family friend, Miss Grimsby, supplied him with the necessary feminine, domestic touch. Nathan Brown's great pleasure was the study of humanity, keeping up the close acquaintance with all sorts in the same street with a fellow-creature in both fortune and station, but much so knowing them by sight.

Among the fellow-creatures Nathan was a neighbor most. But he did not think the same of them, people in the inner-middle, but on the early spring, Regis, and in the first week in March, planned a trip to Southern France, Italy, and the Riviera, to escape the cold, fickle, fashionable east wind, the fogs of travel, the steamers and trains and lodging at palatial hotels, the Nathan Brown's ever broken the uneasiness feeling of these trips, the unexpected meeting of century, no more exciting incident than an unusual exchange of a few polite bows and smiles. Perhaps Brown's personal experience

In the week March came around, he made the usual preparations for the trip, yearly, when the usual day, was the evening before the departure an air drive, Mr. Chalmers, drove up with a fine at his house in Harley street, Regis. Mr. Chalmers, Nathan Brown's small case from his pocket.

"I brought this with me in the chance that you were going to Genoa." Mr. Chalmers said, "I mean, of course, if you happen to be going."

"Not a soul," the young fellow, the matter is entirely between you and me. My friend, I believe, of the existence of the brilliant."

"What is the brilliant?"

"Like you—like me. Respectability. Brain? What are you thinking of?"

"Has he blue eyes?"

"Gray as a badger—white everything, blue, my son, and, what is the use? What do you mean? Have you seen me?"

"A man was standing there by the Tempestini Gallery, a man in your case. He was apparently looking at us, and might have heard what we said."

"Then he must be in the street Hill," said Goldsmith, then rushed the window and putting his head out, Brown did the same. The night was bright. Not a soul was to be seen anywhere. Mr. Chalmers spoke, as he asserted.

"A neighbor or a neighbor's better. He has gone into some house." Goldsmith withdrew from the window. "In any case, no one could have heard, son, I should think, have seen us. As for my work, Travers, I boast myself an honest man, but I don't boast to a stranger that I am the honester of the two. Your Tempestini is paying you trebles. I didn't know you were given that way. Perhaps you would rather not take charge of the brilliant?"

But Brown would not hear to this. Already disconcerted over his hasty and somewhat ridiculous suspicions he had taken attempts.

"Not for worlds would I give up the trip," he said. "I'm not early a fool as I seem. The man probably is one of the neighbors there, are a good many newcomers in the street.

Nathan Brown set out next morning for Lucerne via Brussels and the Rhine, starting a few days at Ostend on the way. He took his place in the conveyance, the counterpart of a first-class carriage in the express to Brussels with a friend and two from cars and sensations as utterly gentlemen ever possessed. A life of plain, unfitness grew had up to this time, the imaginings of his families in complete abeyance, fantastic, improbable, monstrous, except possible fellow-travelers had never entered his mind. As a rule, indeed, his fellow-travelers no more called attention to or notice than his near neighbors at home. On this occasion the was just conscious in having the station at Ostend that an elderly couple were the other occupants of the carriage. He pretty gave a passing glance from his newspaper at the man, a stranger, who got in at Bruges and sat down on the opposite seat.

Nearly an hour had passed before Brown laid down his paper and glanced around the carriage. He was thinking of the Parliamentary debate he had been reading and of the last bulletin about the wounded in the House of Commons, and not at all of his fellow-companions. As he did so, his eye caught that of the man opposite curiously fixed on him. Such becoming aware of the other, alarm, witnesses his answer, not, however, before Brown's attention had been engaged. Was the man a complete stranger, as he had supposed? Had he not seen the face before? And which? Which of it was it merely a case of chance likeness to some acquaintance? Parliamentary shorthand, ruddy, jovial face, and well-to-do naked his brain on the subject. The face was peculiar, with straight, black whiskers. During Brown's fascinated gaze, the man turned his head. Times the stranger turned his head sharply and the light from the window struck full on his face. With the sudden shock, Brown's flesh literally crawled. The man opposite was the same who had stood in the lamp-light outside his house in Harley street. There was no doubt of it—no remarking the unusual face and remarkable whiskers. In a sudden dizzy spasm Brown put up his hand to feel the pomegranate in his tassel. Was he the victim of the same, those of the stranger, fixed on him with a peculiar expression.

In a blow of consciousness which he felt admonished Brown, before recovering himself, he was in the Grand hotel, the Interne, for the less, the Lucerne. Brown had not the latter, he lost sight of his fellow-travels on the crowded platform of the station.

Having of that of a crowd can not be lightly dismissed. Brown was more like at the Nassau, simply as he was, on the occasion of the accidental business. Discomfort with himself and overthrown the sense of the result.

What an ass I have made of my self! I feel that I have given away half of my thoughts while smoking his cigar—that I have let slip the result the train was a mere nonsense, the probable loss so not cost a thought, so not worth a thought. Is this more one of my brain.

Nathan Brown set out next morning for Lucerne via Brussels and the Rhine, starting a few days at Ostend on the way. He took his place in the conveyance, the counterpart of a first-class carriage in the express to Brussels with a friend and two from cars and sensations as utterly gentlemen ever possessed. A life of plain, unfitness grew had up to this time, the imaginings of his families in complete abeyance, fantastic, improbable, monstrous, except possible fellow-travelers had never entered his mind. As a rule, indeed, his fellow-travelers no more called attention to or notice than his near neighbors at home. On this occasion the was just conscious in having the station at Ostend that an elderly couple were the other occupants of the carriage. He pretty gave a passing glance from his newspaper at the man, a stranger, who got in at Bruges and sat down on the opposite seat.

Nearly an hour had passed before Brown laid down his paper and glanced around the carriage. He was thinking of the Parliamentary debate he had been reading and of the last bulletin about the wounded in the House of Commons, and not at all of his fellow-companions. As he did so, his eye caught that of the man opposite curiously fixed on him. Such becoming aware of the other, alarm, witnesses his answer, not, however, before Brown's attention had been engaged. Was the man a complete stranger, as he had supposed? Had he not seen the face before? And which? Which of it was it merely a case of chance likeness to some acquaintance? Parliamentary shorthand, ruddy, jovial face, and well-to-do naked his brain on the subject. The face was peculiar, with straight, black whiskers. During Brown's fascinated gaze, the man turned his head sharply and the light from the window struck full on his face. With the sudden shock, Brown's flesh literally crawled. The man opposite was the same who had stood in the lamp-light outside his house in Harley street. There was no doubt of it—no remarking the unusual face and remarkable whiskers. In a sudden dizzy spasm Brown put up his hand to feel the pomegranate in his tassel. Was he the victim of the same, those of the stranger, fixed on him with a peculiar expression.

In a blow of consciousness which he felt admonished Brown, before recovering himself, he was in the Grand hotel, the Interne, for the less, the Lucerne. Brown had not the latter, he lost sight of his fellow-travels on the crowded platform of the station.

Having of that of a crowd can not be lightly dismissed. Brown was more like at the Nassau, simply as he was, on the occasion of the accidental business. Discomfort with himself and overthrown the sense of the result.

What an ass I have made of my self! I feel that I have given away half of my thoughts while smoking his cigar—that I have let slip the result the train was a mere nonsense, the probable loss so not cost a thought, so not worth a thought. Is this more one of my brain.

The tension was terrible to remain in

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.

CHARLEVOIX, SEPT. 30, 1891.

—Col. Dunbar returned to Kalamazoo to-day.

—Miss Blanche Bartholomew left today for a visit in Milwaukee.

—There were some pretty girls on the fair ground on Wednesday and Thursday than were ever collected together before in northern Michigan. —Petoskey Record. That is because there was a large delegation of Charlevoix beauties there.

—Rev. Mr. Wood who recently assumed ownership and editorial management of the Boyne Citizen is well known here, having many years ago been a Congregational minister here. He announces that the Citizen will be independent in politics. The Charlevoix Democrat says Mr. Wood is a democrat.

—A special, private car was attached to the south bound Lake Shore train this morning. The car contained J. T. H. McKay, general freight agent of the Lake Shore lines, and his family. The party were en route home to Cleveland, from Petoskey, where they have been sojourning. —Kalamazoo Telegraph. Mr. McKay is a Charlevoix summer resident of several years standing, and only remains in Petoskey long enough to get a boat for here.

—Evidently the East Jordan Enterprise is as badly frightened over trotting course agitation in Charlevoix, as the little Boyne Citizen was when the board of supervisors met here this summer. We should judge that the editor sees a ghost with bony finger and grim visage hovering about the county fair grounds at East Jordan, and predicts that East Jordan is the only good place to hold the fair Possibly so. East Jordan used to be the only good place for the county seat, and up to quite recently was the only proper place for a railroad outlet for the county. Verily, «the wicked flee when no man pursueth."

—Game Warden Hampton says we cannot get away from the fish laws any longer. He says: "Considerable doubt has been expressed as to whether navigable lakes, such as Black lake Ottawa county, Muskegon lake, Muskegon county, and Pine lake, Charlevoix county, connecting with the great lakes, come under the law governing inland lakes, or are subject to the laws regulating fishing in the great lakes. There is no question but but that they are inland lakes, within the meaning of the law, and the fact that they are subject to the maritime jurisdiction of the United States does not preclude the state from regulating the manner of fishing in such waters, nor officers from enforcing such laws."

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The schooner Mediterranean foundered off Cheboygan Friday. Her crew was rescued; boat valued at $5,000; was loaded with rock plaster.

Capt. Will Franklin, who commanded the Gazelle this summer, after laying up his boat in Detroit has resumed his old position on the City of Charlevoix.

The steamer Soo City has made a great record this season. From the 15th of June until she stopped ranking over trips per week she averaged 1,700 miles per week and was never over two hours late at any port on her route. Forty-eight hours of each week was spent in port. It is claimed she ran more miles than any passenger steamer running out of Chicago in the same length of time. This speaks well for Capt Armstrong and his efficient staff of officers. Both they and the boat proved popular with the people.

A Hot Fire Monday.

About 10 o'clock Monday, Nicholls, Lewis & Bates' barn on the north side was discovered to be on fire—in fact was entirely ablaze inside before the alarm was given. It was consumed, with twenty tons of hay, and some other property stored there.

The band engine being on the ground, got the best location for water, and the steamer was slow in getting located, being compelled to back down behind a stab-pile. The barn was entirely consumed, and, for a time the residences of James and Geo. Pappin were in serious danger. Indeed that of the latter did ignite, and the house and contents were badly damaged by water. But the fire department did good service in saving surrounding property.

A fierce south-west wind was blowing, which greatly enhanced the danger and the ferocity of the flames. We tremble when we contemplate what the outcome would have been, had the wind been from the north.

Notice to Mariners.

By direction of the Light House Board. Notice is hereby given that in the Buoy lists and Lists of Lights and Fog-signals for the Ninth Light House District for 1891, Lexington North Pier-head Light. The color of this light should read White and not red as printed.

CON. NICOLL LUDLOW, U. S. N.
Inspector 9th Light House Dist.

We direct your attention to those elegant

FUR CAPES in all POPULAR STYLES

Also the finest line of JACKETS ever displayed here, at prices that cannot be beaten ANYWHERE.

MUFFS TO MATCH EITHER CAPES OR JACKETS.
EVERYTHING ELSE IN THE DRY GOODS LINE, FULL AND COMPLETE.

MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

CAUSES OF WAR.

Brought About by the Most Trifling Circumstances.

Among the curiosities of history is the well-repeated fact that many of the great wars of the past have been inadvertently brought about by trifling circumstances. One of the wars between the Turkish empire in the zenith of its splendor and the Venetian republic was brought about by the desire of the sultan's physician to marry a rich Spanish heiress. The lady and her mother escaped to Venice and the sultan sent an official after them to bring them back to Constantinople. The Venetian republic was at first willing to comply with the sultan's request, but the ladies succeeded in making their escape to Ferrara, and from there to Lyons, in France. The Porte complained that the Venetian officials had not used due diligence, and ultimately a terrible war broke out over this trivial circumstance. A contemporary historian says: "The agent of the Venetian government at Constantinople informed the council that the reason of the dispatch of the Turkish Envoy to Venice was to requisition the part of the Grand Seignior that a Spanish lady, named Mendes, with her daughters, should be delivered up to the Envoy, and by him brought to Constantinople. The common rumor was, that the lady Mendes had promised to marry one of her daughters to the son of a man named Rodrigo, doctor to the Grand Seignior. The lady, however, changed her mind, and fled with her daughters to Ferrara, where they remained under the protection of the duke for some time. It is now said that they have gone from Ferrara to Lyons in order to realize fresh interest there by the late husband of Lady Mendes. The emissary of the Grand seignior was by no means content with the loss of his prey, and there was trouble in consequence." This information is contained in a letter written from Venice in July, 1548, by M. Morillier to Henry II. of France, the object being to induce the king to use his authority for the purpose of sending the Lady Mendes and her daughter to Constantinople. The king sent to Lyons for this purpose, but found that the ladies had again taken flight, and were supposed to be at Ancoeyn.—American Register.

A Bird's Peculiarity.

There is a curious peculiarity of the stormy petrel which has caused it to be styled the lamp-bird of the fishermen of the island of St. Kilda. The fresh of the bird is very oily, and the inhabitants of the island, who kill it by thousands, utilize this property for domestic purposes. They insert a wick in the bird's bill, and obtain for an hour a light that is sufficiently bright to serve their purpose.

—R. A. Emery has moved and placed a foundation under his house.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

Pastor Barnes is giving a brief series of Sunday evening discourses on the inhabitants of the spirit world. The subject for next Sunday evening will be "Wicked Spirits."

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Melhenson, pastor. Morning service at 10:30, subject, "The parable of the Lost Sheep." Evening service at 7:30, subject, "Excuses."

Unitarian.

Wallace Whitford's little girl Ella is very sick with Cholera infantum.

Mrs. R. Cram and Maurice Cram went Monday to the north shore to look for a mill site.

Joel Weaver spent Saturday and Sunday with friends and relatives at Ludington.

Mrs Bacot left for Detroit Monday.

Frank Ackert has gone to Detroit on the excursion.

Elmer Knapp has moved back to Horton's Bay.

Marriage from Hayes.

D. F. Fish of Harry county is visiting his brother, John Fish.

Hank Ostrom is the owner of a new horse and cart.

Delos Compton lost one of his horses last week from the effects of eating wheat.

Geo. W. VanSchoick has had an 8-rder for part of his farm for resort grounds.

A. R. Strothers started for New Mexico Sunday, and will revel in the Pecos Valley the next six or seven months.

Work has been resumed upon the Rocky Beach Orphan's Home. An architect from Lansing with a force of carpenters are burrying the building along. Religious services were held in the basement last Sunday morning, and will be continued in the future. Services beginning at 10:45 a. m. each Sunday, by Rev. W. S. Sly.

We are going to have a depot at the county line. The Kanouse farm in Hayes will be platted into lots. E. R. Sly will erect a building and put in a stock of merchandise this fall. A gentleman from southern Michigan is talking of opening a drug store. Mills and factories are coming and we will make surrounding towns hustle to keep up with us.

Banks Items.

A number of Banks citizens are making preparations to attend the county Fair at Bellaire provided it doesn't rain.

Mrs. Wm. Blistt started Monday for Hillsdale where she will visit the home or childhood.

A Mr. Block Jr., arrived at the home of Mr. Block last Wednesday.

Mrs. W. A. Smith and her mother, Mrs. Bagley of Charlevoix, have been visiting at Wm. Coulter's for a week past.

The Bay View ball team went to Sutton's Bay Saturday and did the Indians up. The score stood 33 to 21 in favor of Bay View.

A new comer at Harry Keoman's Sunday. A boy.

Northern Michigan News.

The Traverse Bay Milling Company, of Traverse City, has increased its capital stock from $6,000 to $50,000.

The Boyne City band has thum, off away with earnestness and precision for a long time and yet a benefit ball for the musicians brought in only $9.

Rev. Arney, formerly of Northport, has again been hauled over the coals in reference to horse racing. The subject waxed hot at the recent conference in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. A. J. Stroud of Horton's Bay was thrown from her buggy on the way to church, Sunday, and her left fore-arm broken. A dog frightened the horse and he shied and tipped the buggy over.

The famous Inland Route 1 S Odes through Crooked Lake, Crooked River, Burt Lake, Indian River, Mullet Lake, Cheboygan River and the straits to Mackinac Island has been a failure this season.

The Daily Reporter, published at Petoskey, has been issued for the last time this season. Mr. Hampton says it has come to stay, that this season has been its most successful one and promises to make it better next year.

Work on the railroad is progressing in good shape. The dirt is beginning to find the bottom of the stink hole and instead of slumping out of sight in a single night, it settles gradually a few inches a day, and it now looks as if the greatest trouble lay in the past.

Surveyor Church expects to finish platting the town site at Ellsworth, in a few days when Messrs. Parks and Show, for a small consideration, will furnish to all the fortunates who wish to come in on the ground floor) with a warranty deed for a piece of land 50 by 125.

Father Marach, the Austrian priest who has for more than thirty-five years held the Indian Catholic mission at Pabahatawa near Northport, has at last, at the age of 82, left his "poor children," as he pathetically calls them, and entered a house for aged priests at Marquette.

HAVE YOU SEEN THEM.

The Ladies are all talking about it. Those camel hair Stripes Plaids and Boucle effects in dress goods. THE PATTERNS

CANNOT BE DUPLICATED.

I am constantly receiving new novelties in Dress Goods, Trimmings and Notions which are bound to sell.

Attention is Again Called to a New Line of Corsets, Namely: "Adelaide," "A La Sprite," "P. C." and "C. B. La Sprite" The Manufacturers of these have won and were Awarded Gold Medals at Paris Exposition 89.

CLOAKS AND JACKETS.

For Ladies Misses and Children, a big stock now open.

I SHALL OFFER SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS FOR YOUR PATRONAGE BY DISCOUNTS.

A. T. WASHBURNE.

The Polish Catholic Church at Mullet Lake will be consecrated to-day Sept. 30, at 10 o'clock, by Bishop Richter, of Grand Rapids.

Petoskey Record: George Blain, living a few miles southeast of town, has killed a number of bear within a few weeks. Last week he caught one in a trap and brain pulled up the stake and dragged the trap into Blain's door yard to be dispatched by the latter's rifle. The bears have destroyed a good deal of corn for Mr. Charles Johnson and others in that neighborhood in the past fortnight.

The unusually hot weather of the last two weeks is doing a fine thing for Grand Traverse crops. Corn, potatoes and all fall crops have felt the effects, and we heard one man say that a few days more would give him a second crop of hay far better than the first. Of course the fall is now turning handsomely and will be a large source of revenue to many farmers. Altogether this has been the finest September Northern Michigan has known for many years.

Lost Strayed or Stolen.—Mare pony weighing about 750, is spotted brown and white, white face and four white feet. Reward given for information of her whereabouts.

H. S. HARSHA,
Charlevoix, Mich.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix 3-6-y

Hucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "La Grippe" has left you weak and weary use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding these organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with Sick Headache you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c. at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store. 6

AN ELEPHANT LARGER THAN JUMBO was recently captured in Africa. Bigger than this Jumbo No. 2 are the Bargains in Hardware found daily by glad people at our store.

There are many articles which you will need before "the beautiful" begins to fall. Our tin shop is equipped for turning out the best sheet iron and metal work.

PRICES ALWAYS the LOWEST.

Attentive and Courteous Treatment.

Satisfaction Guarenteed.

Yours truly,

H. L. IDDINGS.

Sep. 30, '91.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO—14. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 7, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,138.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO., The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER

AND BORDERS AT COST.

....AT....

CALKINS & WARNE.

Down Went McGinty to the Bottom of the

Peach Market.

PEACHES THAT ARE PEACHES. Only early Crawfords on sale. Now I just wish to say, that I am in daily receipt of the finest, largest and best Crawford Peaches that ever came to this county, and they all come direct from the orchard, and are Strictly Fresh and Sound. EVERY ONE, look at them and you will say this is strictly true. Bartlett Pears by the peck or bushel. Low. Now is your time to buy these fruits for canning, they will be no better or lower than now.

at O. W. SMITH'S.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA,

BERT MASON.

MASON JARS,

Prices Way Down LOWER than can be bought at WHOLESALE.

1 Quart Mason Jars, per dozen, $.90

SPECIAL PRICES ON FULL CASES.

BERT MASON.

REMEMBER.

S. M. See & Sons Carry the largest and best stock of FURNITURE in Charlevoix County at lowest prices and also sell the Western Cottage Organ. And when you want a Sewing Machine you can get a New Home of us for Thirty Dollars. Guaranteed the best. S. M. SEE & SONS.

REMEMBER REMEMBER REMEMBER REMEMBER

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

ISSUED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

WILLARD A. SMITH, Charlevoix, Michigan.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year $1.00 | six months .75 | Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Council meeting Friday night.

—Joe Beauvais, Jr., left Saturday for Milwaukee.

—Don't forget the school meeting Friday evening.

—W. H. Downer is in Grand Rapids, attending the races.

—Mrs. E. M. Clark left Thursday for her home in Chicago.

—A. D. Crukshank will occupy his new residence next week.

—Hugh Vaughan and Ben Grey go to Chicago for a week's outing.

—Dr. Mixer will be at the Pountain City House Oct 15 and 16th.

—The Board of Supervisors met in annual session next Tuesday.

—Mrs. Capt. H. G. Edwards is at Manistique, visiting her daughter.

—Fred Cochrai goes to Chicago this week, to be absent some time.

—Seventeen track layers arrived Monday on the City of Grand Rapids.

—Rev. D. O. Hall, of Mackinac City, was in town yesterday and today.

—Editor Will Hampton leaves today for Grand Rapids, to attend the races.

—Tom Kelly has a two week's furlough, and is back from the Soldier's Home.

—S. M. See & Sons, the furniture men have a new advertisement this week.

—S. B. Calkins goes to Grand Rapids to attend the wedding of a niece and the races.

—Uncle Richard Cooper, of the Fountain City House, is laid up with a very sore hand.

—Capt. Berdan went to Detroit last week, and still lingers about the City of the Straits.

—C. A. Barker, of Chicago, was in town Sunday and Monday. He leaves today for the Heavens.

—H. A. Emery has made marked improvement in his house and premises on Clinton street.

—Harrison Bedford and family have occupied their recently purchased home on Main street.

—Miss Blanche Bartholomew is visiting friends in Milwaukee, and attending the Exposition.

—Mr. and Mrs. I. Z. Merriam, of Watertown, Wis., are visiting Charlevoix friends for a few days.

—Mr. David Hutsara, of East Austin, is here visiting his brother, Hon. A. Hutsara, and his son, Archie.

—It is quite important that every citizen attend the special school meeting at the village hall Friday evening.

—W. S. Spencer, of Petoskey, called on the SENTINEL last week during the temporary absence of the editor.

—We gave the name of the locomotive engineer last week as Frank Owen. It should have been Frank O'Neill.

—Capt. Wm. Lennox, of Ironton, brings us two Beauty of Hebron potatoes, weighing four pounds and six ounces.

—The ladies of the M. E. church give a fifteen cent pumpkin pie social at the church, next Tuesday evening, October 13th.

—There will be a meeting of the township board at the office of the township clerk at 2 o'clock p. m. Thursday, of this week.

—The county Superintendents of the Poor and County Agent Hon. John S. Dixon made their annual inspection of the jail Monday. They found very little to criticise.

—Capt. Tom Palmer is back from the Soldier's Home. He is mentally in a deplorable condition—memory gone, totally unable to recognize his acquaintances.

—John A. Auld, who has so satisfactorily conducted Dr. Cloutier's dental rooms the past year, left Monday for Cincinnati, where he enters the dental college for a course of study.

—Dr. Mixer, the eminent specialist, will be at the Fountain City House October 15 and 16. Heed his column of testimonials, including that of Hon. W. A. Hunsberger, well known in this county.

—Charlevoix made no mistake in electing John W. Kirby Street Commissioner. He has exercised excellent judgment, and secured good results with the highway money.

—Fox & Miller have a change of advertisement this week. They are having a run on the "Electric Age Shoe," a great article of foot wear.

—John C. Miller brings in two branches of a raspberry bush, loaded with full grown berries. Mr. Miller also reports that strawberries are in blossom in his garden. What is the matter with Northern Michigan climate?

—Preparations for rebuilding the furnace at Ironton are progressing rapidly, and it expected that it will go into blast June 1st. with increased capacity. A large amount of wood will be got out this winter by the company.

—The statements which Dr. Mixer publishes on the 4th page from reliable people and physicians, prove beyond doubt his great success in the treatment of catarrh, salt rheum, fever sores and all forms of blood diseases.

—Mr. Harris Carpenter is here as the resident manager of the Connecticut fishing interests, and Mr. James Gibson, from Manistique, arrived last week to look after A. Booth & Co.'s work of buying fish. The catch continues large.

—The many friends and acquaintances of Miss Maude Loveday, of East Jordan, will rejoice to learn that recent treatment in Chicago has entirely restored her mind. After physical recuperation, Mr. Loveday will take her on a European trip.

—The great increase of pupils this year in the Charlevoix schools has necessitated opening another room, and the first primary has been divided, with Miss Alice Cochran as the new teacher. The furniture for the new room has been ordered of the Sidney (Ohio) School Furniture Co., through their agent, S. M. See & Sons.

—The Boyne Citizen of last week has a scholarly editorial on "hosiery," and the tariff. Hon. Wood thinks "socks" are an important commodity; that will not be within the reach of the Democracy until we have free trade. This question of "socks" is a chief issue and must be met. We are glad Hon. Wood sees up this question of "socks."

—Last Thursday, Ben Coatta, who, with his brother William was cutting ties south of here in the township of Norwood, met with a painful accident. A tree which they were falling, fell upon his foot, smashing it badly, and imprisoning him for fully an hour before he could be released. It is brought that his foot will be saved, but the injury will be permanent.

—The village of Coloma, Berrien county, has a newspaper called the Boomer, the "official organ" of the county. The following is an item from its columns: "There is all sort of rumors flying in the air about railroad, starting at some point in Ohio, striking Coloma, Benton Harbor thence to Saginaw. If this is so it would be a big thing for this village. But railroad rumors cannot be much truth put in such. Hope the above is true, and will happen."

—Geo. Furance, of this township, is devoting considerable attention to the sugar beet, on which subject, and its possibilities, he is an enthusiast. He recently sent one of his raising to the Agricultural Department. The returns show a yield of 28.2 tons per acre, and the analysis shows 11.80 per cent in juice coefficient of purity, 79.5, and a probable yield of sugar per acre, of 4,673 pounds. Mr. Durance is confident that there is money for the farmer in the sugar beet.

—We call the attention of our readers to the big advertisement of Dr. Mixer & Sons, of Hastings, to be found on the 8th page. While living in Hastings some years ago we made the acquaintance of the Mixer's, and we not only know them to be reliable gentlemen but we also know of cases that have been cured by their wonderful remedies that were considered incurable. The Dr. will be at the Pountain City House, Oct. 15 and 16. Those who are afflicted with scrofula or other blood diseases should call on him. —Harbor Springs Inquirer.—Dr. Mixer will be at the Fountain City House October 15 and 16th.

—According to all accounts the fair at East Jordan this year fell lower than of any previous year, in its exhibits, and in its receipts. We are sincere in expressing our regret that such is the case. The East Jordan people have deserved success. They have made an honest effort, to place the Agricultural Society upon a solid and substantial basis. Their purpose in so doing may have been tinctured with selfishness, or to be charitable, with real for the welfare of their own town. But nevertheless, they earned a liberal measure of success, and we regret their failure. They have made a brave effort, now let Charlevoix try and test the truth of the Enterprise's statement that Charlevoix is no place for it. Now is our opportunity.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

The Steel Creeping Northward at the Rate of More Than a mile a day.

Saturday last, work on track-laying in the yard was suspended for the present. The track is laid to the outer end of the dock, and the siding east of the main track is in; and three switches in place. The west siding is yet to be put in.

Monday morning track-laying north was begun with vigor. The force numbers fo men and the steel is creeping toward Petoskey at the rate of more than a mile a day. To-night the outfit will be in Hayes Township four miles from the railroad dock. As soon as the gravel bed is reached, about ten miles down the line, ballasting will begin.

A force of men are at work putting the finishing touches on the dock, and the pile-driving for the bridge approaches is again progressing.

The vessel with dimension stone for the bridge piers is expected daily; also a cargo of coal for the locomotive.

Special School Meeting.

There will be a special school meeting at the village hall on Friday evening, Oct. 9, to consider the question of raising the standard of the Charlevoix Schools to the Union graded system. There is no good reason why this should not be done, and there are many reasons why it should. That the system of a common district school should have existed here so long is not creditable to our town. Our objection to the change to a graded school, which we have heard offered, is that it will make the administration of our school affairs more expensive. There is no real foundation for such an objection. The members of the board of education are paid nothing for their services, with the exception of the director, who, we believe, receives a small pittance for the large amount of work done, and who is not likely to get more from a board of five, than from one of three men, because he will have no more to do in that case than at present. Again there is not likely to be any increase in the expense of the schools so far as the work of instruction is concerned, for they are now, and have been for several years, worked on the plan of the best graded schools in the state, and have a course of study almost identical with theirs, and provision is fully made for carrying it out, so that a change in the organization is not likely, of itself, to affect the expense. A board of five might do many things that a board of three have not done; but there is no more likely to do so because of the increase in the number of members. A graded school board have powers slightly enlarged, as compared with a common school, but they must so fully represent the people, and it can not be feared that they will use those powers to the injury of their constituents. Those powers are granted simply to facilitate the business of the corporation; certainly a very desirable object when the school have reached the rank which ours hold at the present time.

We hope that every citizen, and especially every school patron, will attend the meeting.

Unitas.

A young son at F. H. Whitford's the 6th.

Fred Willis is having his house plastered.

Wallace Whitford's little girl is better.

Mr. Cram & Son returned Wednesday and say there are great deal worse places than Charlevoix county.

Ezra Ferguson has gone to Indian Ferry to take up a piece of the Government land.

—Now the question is, shall we have winter railroad service to Petoskey? The road will be in running operation the first of next month, and fuel are here. Give us something; If it is only a caboose and a flat car. General Manager Hoals will please us immensely if he will provide for some sort of train service this winter.

The largest cargo of grain ever carried on the great lakes is now on board the steamer E. C. Pope, en route from Chicago to Cleveland. It consists of 125,000 bushels of corn.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, — MICHIGAN

NORTH DAKOTA WHEAT.

IT WILL REACH THE 50,000,000 POINT.

Discussing Calmly as a Stenographer—Fire—White Goods Prices Cut—Infantine Food Fashions Stilled—Wisconsin Factories Burning Up—Bought Sweetheart on Credit.

Fifty Million Bushels of Wheat.

This heat in North Dakota has been almost unprecedented for this time of the year. It is, however, only one damage to crops for the reason that there are all harvested and in process of threshing. Rain is needed to assist in late growth, but for nothing else the western part of the State, the central settling section, had a heavy fall of rain, and danger from the immense grasshoppers that have threatened depredation in the grass is avoided. Threshing in the central section of the State show unprecedented averages of grain of the highest grade. A member of Agriculture Hyde's staff says the yield will be 50,000,000 bushels of wheat, and no damage from the elements at present. Help is badly needed. Men in Dakota are busy harvesting the trouble there is absolutely nothing to complain of.

New Army Tactics.

MAJOR GENERAL SCHOFIELD has approved the new army tactics, and when they receive the approval of the Secretary of War, steps will be taken at once to put them in operation. Briefly described, the system is a development of the Prussian tactics, and the dynamite will be in line of battle belongs to a body constituting a unit of force to be handled with many others as a whole. There is to be no such thing as "crying in the skirmish line," but on the contrary, with the advance of the opposing forces the skirmish line is to be strengthened, the line of battle is to grow by accretion and is to advance at all times until the whole army is engaged. The men are expected to be short, sharp, decisive engagements, and fighting is to be done and lost by the first onslaught.

Unmistable Immigrants.

Four immigrants arrived in New York on the steamer Normandie are found to be more confident than ever the Thomas cool mines in West Virginia. They are from Sicily. The Italian immigrant who arrived on the steamer La Champagne, when questioned, said he had lived here five years and was a miner in Thomas, Va. When cross-questioned, however, he could not tell how long he was he could not speak a word of English, and finally admitted that he had never been in the country before. He said he had bought the ticket for his wife in Hayti.

Wear Out Whatever Pasture.

Farmers in the Agricultural Bureau of Wisconsin, from all sections of the State say that the season has not dry spell has already reduced fall pasturage. Pastures were short during the spring, summer, but indications were that they would pick up before fall, which, if it did, would have caused a loss, which, in backward because of rain at planting time, has promised considerably duty the last two weeks. In the central and northern portions of the state it has suffered some from frosts.

Eighteen Brave Men Badly Injured.

FIRE in Minneapolis caused about $200,000, worth of property, and was the cause of the injury of eighteen brave firemen, three of whom are in a precarious condition and may die. The fire building destroyed was that of the Moore Wood-Working Machine Company. Elevator C stood close behind, and to protect it the firemen had to go on the roof of the "annex." An explosion forced them to jump from the roof, with the above result.

Diamond Dust.

FOLLOWING is a showing of the standing of each of the teams of the different associations:

National League.				American League.
	W.	L.	P.C.		W.	L.	P.C.
Chicago	49	21	.700	Cleveland	38	22	.633
Pittsburg	45	22	.672	Chicago	35	22	.614
New York	41	27	.603	Boston	32	25	.561
Philadelphia	41	28	.594	Detroit	31	27	.534
Boston	37	31	.544	Milwaukee	27	31	.466
St. Louis	31	37	.456	Philadelphia	25	34	.424
Brooklyn	27	41	.397	New York	23	36	.390
Cincinnati	21	48	.304	St. Louis	21	38	.356
Louisville	17	52	.246	Baltimore	17	42	.288

Deadly Dynamite Explosion.

AT Newark N. J., four Italians were killed and fifty wounded by reason of the explosion of a piece of gas pipe lifted with dynamite in the Italian quarter. A lot of fireworks were stored in the house in question, and the dynamite man, who no doubt had been one of the fireworks. The cause of the premature explosion is unknown.

Lashed by White-Caps.

NEAR Hudson, Mich., a four acre—Hiel Jacobs, Dick Webb, John Grier, and Benjamin Thomas—was taken from Widow Bradley's house and given twenty five lashes upon the bare back. Jacobs is a class leader in the Methodist Episcopal church. Webb is a notorious character. The White-Caps mistook the men.

Will Egan Be Recalled?

CAMPBELL, locally in official circles fails to reveal any confirmation of the published report that ex-Senator Hayt is to succeed Egan as Minister to Chili. It is not believed that the report is true, although it is quite probable that Egan will be recalled, and, of course there has not be a entirely satisfactory.

Fire Screen Tests.

IN Cass, a Saunders County (Neb.) farmer, has just received at the Omaha postoffice a letter written by a former sweetheart May 8, 1875. The letter was sixteen years four months and thirteen days in reaching its destination.

Sedulous Texas in Nebraska.

THE Democratic party of Nebraska have nominated the following ticket. A. M. Post, Omaha, Justice Supreme Court; Charles Marple, H. P. Shumway, Regents State University.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

THOMAS HORAN and wife, of South Boston, gave a christening party at their home. The twin boys, the first babe, aged two weeks, was suffocated, evidently by somebody lying upon it. The Horans have been arrested.

An exciting hunt for a wild man occupied the people of the western part of Connecticut the second days. Frank Kelly, of East Canaan, a raving maniac, was the object of the hunt. He was at large for some time and he is a man of tremendous strength the greatest fear had been felt for the safety of children were not allowed to go to school alone, and when the men went to work they always left the women folks some weapon of defence. Kelly was crazed by hard cider.

The assignee of the Winona Paper Company have attached the property of the Cedarvale Paper Company No 2, at Holyoke, Mass., for $28,000. The Cedarvale Company refuses to pay $18,000 claim the assignee said a $5,000 claim of theirs is untied.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

Two convicts escaped from Jackson, of Chicago, bound over for assault, and Samuel Smith, of Walworth County, South Dakota, serving a term for assaulting a 14-year-old girl, broke from the jail and are now at large. With the Sheriff in hot pursuit.

The United States has bought 18,000 acres of land in Indian Territory of the Indians for 20 cents an acre.

AT Marysville, Mo., ex-Governor Albert P. Morehouse committed suicide. His mind had become deranged.

JAMES HART, a stockman at Oswego, Kan., was murdered in his bed. Mr. Hart's first husband was murdered a few years ago.

AT the meeting of the Supreme Lodge of Odd Fellows at Toledo, it was proposed to reduce the age of initiation from 21 to 18 years.

CHARLES CLARK, a leading farmer and prominent member of the Farmers' Alliance, committed suicide near Ada, Mo., by shooting himself. Cause, business trouble.

Fire destroyed the business portion of Ionia, Mich., Friday, a loss of twelve. The chemical works of Goldsmith & Parsons, at Brooklyn, N. Y., burned. The loss is $25,000.

Downwards have been made at San Luis Obispo, Cal., with intent to prove that Martin Heines, who disappeared last June, was murdered by John Gularte and the body fed to hogs.

AT St. Louis, Friday, a major has begun a $20,000 damage suit in the circuit court against a lawyer who, when he charges with alienating the affections of the opposing lady.

CHANNING BARNS and Burt Miles, of Beatrice, Neb., both editors of Miss Zalda Barnes for the possession of their sweetheart, in which Miles' skull was fractured. The country is considered doubtful.

H. Clem, a Saunders County (Neb.) farmer, just received at the Omaha postoffice a letter written by a former sweetheart May 8, 1875. The letter was sixteen years four months and thirteen days in reaching its destination.

The three debaucherers sent from Indian jail were convicted at Guthrie, Oklahoma Territory, and sentenced to imprisonment. They will come a crack of bunco-steerers, so great a number of people flocked to the opening of Oklahoma Territory, and the men of the country will be pleased to hear that life ed owed

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 7, 1891.

The largest cargo of grain ever carried on the great lakes is now on board the steamer H. C. Pope, en route from Chicago to Cleveland. It consists of 125,000 bushels of corn.

More rational surveying is said to have been done during the past summer than for several years, which would seem to indicate the possibility of a revival of railroad building next year.

It is reported that cordon of soldiers have been placed around the house of the American minister by order of the Chilian Junta and a demand made for the surrender of refugees lodged therein. It is feared a serious result will follow.

October ought to give us some pleasant weather, including Indian Summer; but there's no telling. Things have become so mixed in the weather department that we are just as likely to have alternate thunder and lightning and snow storms as anything else.

Senator Sherman in his library at Mansfield has a large fire-proof vault containing his enormous private correspondence with prominent men and women. There is material for a magnificent autograph collection in this mass of letters. Among the most interesting, it is said, are the long, confidential and affectionate personal missives of the senator's martial brother.

The postmaster-general's project to have the postmaster at every county seat in the United States make a personal visit to every office in his county at his own expense and report its condition to the post office department is now being carried out, and all the reports are to be in by the 15 of October. The plan decided innovation and is an experiment the success of which has yet to be demonstrated.

The true protectionist policy is to admit free of duty every useful article which can not be produced here, and to put a duty on needed articles which can be produced here in important quantities and at reasonable prices after a little fostering care by the Government. This is the Republican policy. This is why there is a duty on woolen, cotton, iron and steel manufactures, and why sugar, tea and coffee are on the free list.

John Bull is losing his grip on the trade of the world and, of course the loss is charged to the Democratic free trade tariff. But the British merchants who have investigated find that they have lost in their business with other countries just as seriously as with the United States. In the meantime the United States, under the wise and beneficent policy of protection, is steadily increasing its trade with nearly all the nations of the earth.

The demand for iron is distinctly better in all the commercial centers. It is not higher in price, but there is a stronger demand, which must always precede a rise; and there is now more hope in the iron market than there has been for the past nine months. The vast crops have also given the railroad companies more courage to buy, and as a consequence 20,000 tons of railroad bars have been sold during the past week. The demand for structural and plate iron is so marked that it indicates a steady improvement in every branch of business.

The suicide of General Boulanger, which occurred in Belgium last week, brought to an end a romantic, sensational career. But a man who had been false to his family, false to his party, and who placed his own interests above those of his country was the sort of a man to take his own life. Boulanger, it is said, was brave to recklessness; had enough of genuine military genius to lead among a nation of soldiers; was enough of a politician to win the support of those naturally inclined to intrigue, and was bold enough to play the Napoleon game, but even in the broad political atmosphere of France he failed—failed as utterly as any Frenchman of his generation.

Under a law passed by the last congress the secretary of the treasury is now conducting a series of experiments with such line carrying properties and the means of propelling them as may be submitted. By these trials the authorities are to determine the safety of guns, rockets and other means of propelling projectiles, their practicability for use by stranded crews as well as by the life-savers, and whether as an auxiliary to the existing machinery they will be a real advantage in saving life. There is no branch of the public service which deserves all the money it can use or can get more usefully than does the life-saving bureau.

NO CAR TRACKS IN LONDON.

There Are 8,000 Hansoms, 4,000 Four-Wheelers and 2,000 Buses.

There are no street cars run by the trolley, storage or any other electric system; no cable cars, no horse cars, not a track laid for a surface road in the city proper. Many Americans leave London without ever seeing a street car of any kind, and yet in the metropolis 1,000 street cars run daily over 120 miles of track, but they are not permitted in crowded thoroughfares, they are confined to the outlying districts.

I have only seen them in the East End, says Morris Phillips in the Home Journal. The street cars are "double deckers," and, like the buses, they carry more outside than inside passengers, but the number of passengers is limited. When the car has reached its limit it will take up no more passengers. Every passenger has the right to a seat, and so use a paradoxical phrase, every Englishman stands up for his right to a seat.

Street cars are not needed in the city. Nearly all London streets are in as good condition for driving as our Central Park roads. There are 8,000 hansoms, 4,000 four-wheelers and 2,000 omnibuses, so that you are not obliged to wait on account of the absence of the cars. The four-wheeled cabs or "growlers" as they term them, are dilapidated, uncomfortable vehicles, which lack new springs and are dirty both inside and out.

The horses and the drivers are old and superannuated. They have all seen better days in private carriages or hansom cabs. You never take a four-wheeler if you are alone or if the party consists of only two persons. You must engage one if you have a trunk, but if you are going to catch a train or boat you had better allow a half hour's margin.

The London cab service is the best and cheapest in the world. The writer says this, notwithstanding that he remembers that you can hire a cab in New York for a dime.

But such cabs and such horses! The fare in a hansom for a reasonable drive is 1s. (25 cents); by the hour, 2s 6d. (62 cents). There no such smart horses for public hire anywhere as the London cab horses. They go like the wind if by the course, and they go at a similar gait by the hour if you promise an extra 6d.

TEMPERATURE OF THE EARTH.

A Common Still must Concerning It Not to Be Unexpected Upon.

The common assumption, made in text books as well as elsewhere, that the temperature of the earth toward the center increases in the ratio of one degree for about every sixty feet in depth, would appear to be far from a universal fact. Investigations show that the assumption does not hold good in California nor in the Sierra Nevada mountains. Thus at Virginia, Nev., in the Comstock mines, the temperature in some cases has been found to increase one degree for each twenty feet up to 1,000 feet in depth, or for 2,500 feet, one degree for each thirty and one-half feet or twice as fast as the rate first named. At Manchester, England, in a shaft 2,000 feet deep, the temperature is stated to be only seventy-five degrees, while in a copper mine at Cornwall, 2,400 feet deep, the temperature is eighty-eight degrees. Attempts therefore, to infer from these two data the rate of increase of heat at the first case a change of one degree in sixty-five feet, and in the second, one degree in forty-five feet, from which data it is to be inferred that an uniformity exists in the matter.—New York Sun.

A Fish in a Jug.

The tenacious hold of America usually boasts the creation of rocks, which it lays its eggs; but there is now on view in the Aquarium of the United States Fish Commission at Washington an ordinary jug, in which one of these curious fish has made its home. The jug was picked up from the bottom of Great Harbor, Wood's Holl, Mass., with a male toad-fish inside and a quantity of spawn adhering to the walls. Toad-fish have also been found at home in old boots, pieces of bottle and bottomless beer bottles. In the Aquarium at Washington there are stern bottles for the freehold of these tenements, but the fish in possession is generally able to hold its own.

The Oldest Town.

The oldest town in Texas and it is believed in the United States is Ysleta, situated on the Rio Grande, and near El Paso, the chief town in the county by that name. It has a population of 2,600 souls.

The place is one of peculiar interest, alike from its age, its people, its architecture, its agriculture and its general products. It is a well-established historical fact that a Spanish military adventurer named Coronado visited the town in 1540, and found it then a populous and prosperous civilized Indian community. He was immediately followed by the Franciscan friars, who erected a church and established schools.

Ysleta is believed to have been a considerable center of population centuries before the visit of Coronado. It is not a little curious, considering the advance of civilization from Europe, that the same race of people exists in the town today as existed three hundred and fifty years ago, and that they are engaged in the same agricultural and mechanical pursuits as their forefathers at that period, and for ages before.

Nine in the Clouds.

An absent-minded German professor was one day observed walking down the street with one foot continually in the gutter and the other on the pavement. A rapid meeting him saluted him with "Good evening, Herr Professor! How are you?" "I was very well, I thought," answered the professor; "but now I don't know what's the matter with me; I have been limping for the last half hour.

J. W. Dodds, of Medina, Ga., is sixty-one years old and has been using the same razor since forty-three years. It is the only one he ever owned, and is almost as good as new, never having the mark of a razor on it until one day recently when while sharpening his razor, Mr. Dodds cut a very small piece of the strop.

Dr. MIXER

will be at the

Fountain City House

Thursday to Friday noon,

October 15 and 16.

THE POSITIVE PROOF

Of Dr. Mixer's Great Success as a Specialist may be seen in the following testimonials from many of Grand Rapids' reliable citizens.

REV. W. A. HUNSBERGER, NOW PASTOR 1ST M. E. CHURCH AT 24 GRANDVILLE AVE., WRITES AS FOLLOWS:

I take pleasure in saying to all who may be interested that I was cured of Catarrh by treatment with Dr. N. Mixer, of Ann, the proprietor of "Mixer's Cancer and Scrofula Specific." During the three years I suffered at times I was very much prostrated by the disease, and congregations and churches I had charge of did know them and their "comedy." I believe there is no doubt but what I would have contracted consumption if I could not get rid of the disease. I was troubled with the disease for about twenty years, and I am fully convinced I am cured. I feel like a new man, and I do all the work I can do, and I feel as well as I ever did before I took sick. I feel that I owe my life to the Specific, and I do not think I can do too much to recommend it to the world. I am ready at any time to give testimony to the above, and will keep you informed as to my condition when I return to my home, which will be about the middle of next month. Yours very truly,

REV. W. A. HUNSBERGER, Box 27, Vineyard, Mich.

Grand Rapids, Nov. 29, 1890.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 29, 1890.

DR. N. MIXER, Ann Arbor, Mich.:

Dear Sir—About two months ago I became aware that my health was gradually giving way, and I was induced to try your treatment for Catarrh. I was very bad deafness in both ears, and had quite a bad cough. I am happy to say that my health is now perfectly good, the cough has left me, and I can hear as well as ever in both ears. I cheerfully recommend it to any friends. Yours truly,

W. H. BECK,
Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 21, 1890.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

Fremont, Mich., April 28, '90.

This is to certify that I have been troubled with a tumor for the longer by the use of Dr. Mixer's C. & S. S. Specific I am entirely free from the tumor, and I feel that I could cut out a tumor on any person in the same condition I was in before I used the Specific. Dr. Mixer, another case of a tumor cured with one of his Specifics. I was in a miserable condition for months. I had the best medical attendance available, but received no benefit. My condition was recommended to me by a friend and I tried the Specific. I am now in good health and can recommend any person suffering as I was to make use of the Specific. I feel like I could do anything I know how to do. I am a hearty man, and feel like working, as all who know me can testify. Very respectfully, MR. MOORE.

Fremont, Mich., Aug. 25, 1891.

DR. MIXER & SON—I became acquainted with your Specifics in the year 1888, when I was afflicted with a tumor on my left breast, which had grown to the size of a hen's egg. I had tried all the medical skill I could find without any benefit, and I was fully convinced that it was a cancer. I then commenced to use your Specifics, and after using two bottles of the Specific the tumor was gone, and I was in a condition for months. I had the best medical attendance available, but received no benefit. My condition was recommended to me by a friend and I tried the Specific. I am now in good health and can recommend any person suffering as I was to make use of the Specific. I feel like I could do anything I know how to do. I am a hearty man, and feel like working, as all who know me can testify. Very respectfully, MR. MOORE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 21, 1890.

DR. MIXER & SON—I have been troubled with a tumor on my nose, which been going three years ago. I came to you for treatment, eight months ago and it has now entirely disappeared. The treatment has been very mild and painless, the most inconvenience and no pain. I am now fully convinced that your treatment is a permanent cure. Respectfully, JOHN VAN DEN BERG, 1 Ionia Ave.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 21, 1890.

DR. MIXER—Dear Sir: I have used your Specific for Cancer, Scrofula, Eczema, Tumors, Ulcers, Goiter, Salt Rheum, Eczema, Scald Head, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Piles, Rheumatism, Blotches, Pimples and other diseases arising from the impurities of the blood.

WILL BE AT THE

Fountain City House.

October 15 and 16.

CONSULTATION FREE.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows, with grain and Grass Seeder,	33 00
	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only,	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only for the Money	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wag ons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL.

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat.

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Fall and Winter OPENING!

COMMENCING Thursday, Friday and Saturday, SEPT. 17, 18 and 19

FRENCH PATTERN HATS & BONNETS

Also a Choice Selection of MILLINERY NOVELTIES

ALL THE NEWEST STYLES

Giving this notice I shall expect Charlevoix ladies to purchase their millinery.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

Call and see

A Full line of CANDIES, CLOCKS, CHINA, CHARMS, PINS.

SILVER PLATED WARE Suitable for a Souvenir SPOON.

GOLD JEWELRY, BATH PINS, JEWELRY, YOUTH AND TURK JEWELRY.

Also a Few Pieces of OPTICAL GOODS left. WRITE AND SEE.

Especial attention given to all Repairing. All goods subject to sale clear six months

O. B. Bellinger.

T. J. CANNON,

Has opened a

NEW BAKERY.

Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of

BAKED GOODS,

always on hand.

Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered.

I solicit a share of your patronage, and will guarantee you good goods, low prices, courteous treatment and square dealing.

T. J. CANNON.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Drivers furnished if desired. Horse Line.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

STRAYED.

Came into my enclosure in the township of Norwood on or about the 20th day of July, 1891, the spotted black and white steer, about 2 or 3 years old. The owner can have the same by the payment of all charges. THOMAS WARNOCK.

Take The Sentinel

BEING THANKFUL

TO THE PEOPLE

For past patronage and soliciting further favors, I am prepared to help my customers by selling:

21 lbs. Granulated Sugar for $1.

I also retail 3 lbs. 50c tea for $1.

3 lbs. best Mocha & Java Coffee $1.

CANNED GOODS AT COST

To make room for our large stock, already ordered.

We have also a large stock of

MILLINERY,

of which a portion is beginning to arrive. They will be sold at very lowest possible prices.

My store is also headquarters for finest CALIFORNIA AND DOMESTIC FRUITS.

Crockery will also be sold at cost for next 30 days.

G. W. PAUL.

GREAT!

That is what our big look offer is. We have been giving away glassware with every ten dollars traded with us. Now we are going to give you something better. We will give T. P. Barnum's great work, with every $20 traded with us This book is profusely illustrated with about 400 engravings by the best artists in Europe and America, and should in every case sell for an expensive advertisement and cannot last long. You will want winter goods soon, come and get them now.

"Wild Beasts, Birds and Reptiles of the World, a Story of their Capture."

Those who have glassware coming, please get it now.

SHERWOOD

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We Keep constantly on hand the Finest and Largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. A trial does satisfy of continual office.

We will charge for such.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple pine and hemlock, and are in a healthy and productive section.

By Water and Rail

and are in a state unequalled for health, well water, of and contiguous to the great fruit raising belts of Western Michigan.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the middle of the grant. The part of Mich. Lake Shore line has lands for sale.

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 100,000 souls and is dotted over with villages from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.

TITLE PERFECT.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL

of all Foot Covering,

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD S. GREEN, Attorney and Counsel at Law and Real Estate Agent. Office Bay St.

CHAS. W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON open full abstracts for Charlevoix County. Titles examined, loans negotiated, Farms and village property for sale, and houses to rent. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. HANE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Hunter Post No. 112, meets second Monday each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 75, O. E. S., meets on the third Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Cecile Ellis, W. M. Bessie McLeod, Secretary.

EMMET TRIBE, No. 188, I. O. R. M., meets at Palmsky on the last Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Bear Lake Lodge No. 195, meets every Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall.

MACKINAC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 244, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Bank.

CHARLEVOIX COMMANDERY No. 116, K. T., meets at Mount Avalon on Tuesday on the first Thursday of each month.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 1211, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

BAYNES BELIEF CORPS, No. 112, meets at G. A. R. hall on second Saturday of each month, at 2 o'clock p. m.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office—Park Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. S. MOORE, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Deputy County surveyors Cheboygan county.]

The "New Charlevoix."

M. S. GAUNON, Prop.

(Known as the "CUTHBERT HOUSE")

Beautifully located on the Bluff Terrace, overlooking the Lake.

Large Comfortable and Airy Guest Chambers.

Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.

47-47-1f

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only one block from the Court House. Cable Cars pass the door.

Parlors with all Modern Improvements, newly furnished. The American and European plans. Rooms, single or double, $1.00 and upward. Turkish Bath, for ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents. Restaurant by Fred Gampenrieder, late chief Chicago and Union League Clubs. Rates of Hotel reduced. 42-26 Skip one for future use

41-1y

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental • Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert.

FOUNDREYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

And Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER

SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $ 30.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,

Merchant Tailor.

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 50 feet front each on Clinton St., and in one block, with three houses, nicely finished on outside. Inquire of

PROF. G. M. PICE,

Roanoke, Mich

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE

Market and Harbor to Chicago and all points west and South-west.

Table Leave Charlevoix as follows:

Leave Charlevoix 7:45 a. m. 12:30 p. m. 5:25 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids 10:05 a. m. 3:05 p. m. 10:20 p. m.
Leave Muskegon 10:00 a. m. 1:45 p. m. 9:15 p. m.
Arrive Chicago 7:30 p. m. 7:30 a. m. 2:00 a. m.

*Every day. †Sundays only.

10.00 a. m. train runs only to Chicago.

1.15 p. m. Sat Wagner parlor car to Chicago.

*9.15 p. m. Sat Wagner sleeping car to Chicago.

Trains leave Chicago at 8:00 a. m., 4.45 p. m., and 11.15 p. m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 1.30 p. m., 10.35 p. m., and 6.05 a. m. Arriving at Charlevoix 4.40 p. m., 2.00 a. m., and 9.15 a. m.

DETROIT

The Favorite to the Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R. from Grand City and Grand Rapids

In effect June 28, 1891.

Leave Grand City 4.45 a. m., 11.15 a. m., and 5.45 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids 5.00 a. m., 1.00 p. m. and *7.35 p. m.
Arrive at Lansing 7.15 a. m., 3.00 p. m., and 9.35 p. m.
Arrive at Detroit 11.15 a. m., 6.50 p. m., 2.15 a. m. and 10.25 p. m.

Parlor car on all trains from Grand Rapids to Detroit. Sunday only.

Close connections at Detroit with Lake Shore and Michigan Southern.

GEO. DEHAVEN,
Gen'l Pass. Agent.

SCHNEERMANN & GUIDEBECK.

NEW STORE

DRY GOODS AND CLOAKS.

A full and complete line of Dry Goods can be found at our store in the LEWIS BLOCK. Come examine our Goods and GET OUR PRICES.

Schneermann AND Guidebeck.

BURNED FOR LYING.

Inhuman Method of Punishment Adopted by a Lonely Woman.

Recently, in one of the London police courts, a married woman was charged with cruelly ill-treating her son, aged about 10, by forcing a red poker in his mouth. A lodger in the same house as the prisoner stated that one afternoon the prisoner sent her boy on an errand to a baker's shop, and that the child came back and said that he had lost the money. It pence. Shortly afterward the prisoner came out, and on her return she told witness that she did not believe her son's story, and that she had gone to see the swearing at the baker's shop, who told her the best way of curing a child of telling falsehoods was to burn its tongue with hot earthen ware. The prisoner added that she had not the brass, but she would use a poker, and then went upstairs to her rooms. Witness did not believe that prisoner would do such a thing, but soon afterward she heard the boy screaming and running upstairs to the prisoner's sitting room she saw a small poker in the fire. The prisoner admitted that she had used it the way she had threatened to do, and witness on examining the child found the tongue and the side of his mouth were burned. She was amazed at the cruel conduct of the mother and communicated with the police. The prisoner was taken into custody soon afterward.

A doctor who had examined the child said that the front of his tongue was burned, though not very seriously, and also the side of his mouth. The prisoner, in defence, said that her son had on two or three occasions, when sent on errands stolen some of the money and afterward told lies about it. He had also told lies about other matters, and in consequence of the advice given her by the woman at the baker's shop, she determined to break him once for all of the habit. The woman told her that the best cure was to burn curling irons or skewer. It would cure the boy of telling falsehoods, adding that she must not make the instrument too hot, but hot enough to make the child feel it. The woman said she had known cases of two or three children to be cured in this way.

CENTRIFUGAL FORCE.

A simple but Interesting Fact Which Illustrates a Great Natural Law.

You may often see at the circus or elsewhere a juggler place a glass of water in a long cord and rapidly swing it round and round till it makes you giddy to look at it, without a drop of water escaping. The fact is based, as most people know, on the law of centrifugal force.

Here is a method of performing a similar feat not less startling says the Chicago Times, with the glass of water alone, or other apparatus being employed. The glass, standing before you on the table, you are to take in your hand to describe with it, at arm's length, a complete circle in the air and to replace it on the table without having spilled a drop of the liquid.

The secret lies in only in the manner of holding the glass. Instead of grasping it as if you were about to drink, take it with the palm outward and upward. Swing the arm boldly around and describe a circle without a single jar, but without a single hitch. By beginning with the glass half filled with water and impressing the quaking as skill improves, one will be able after a little practice to perform the experiment easily. It is desirable to make the first attempts in the open air. An important point to observe is that things should be no location or uncomfortable in the direction.

Napoleon.

What a proud watch this would be if every man lived up to his little sayings! Napoleon said that he judged by its chin city in whose eyes his ownership failed to see the quality of a good world. His mother, who is a great student of history, recently reminded for Napoleon Bonaparte is almost equal to the Napoleon Bonaparte for his father, delights in telling the boy the wonderful stories of the great conqueror. The prisoner admitted that sorrow in the child's face when he heard the story of Napoleon, and the eyes suffused with tears when he said—"Watch it no bad, mamma! Oh, if papa had only been there!"—New York Sun.

Doctors in China.

European doctors in China find the Celestials somewhat trying patients. John Chinaman cares always the instructions how to take his medicine, but consults with his friends on the subject, and follows the advice of the majority. As the native practitioners fortish very large doses, John is apt to think that the stranger has been mean in giving him a small quantity, and so takes two or three doses at once.

VICTORIA'S FATHER.

The Duke of Kent Lived in Nova Scotia for Seven Years.

About seven miles west of the center of Halifax, near the head of Bedford basin, is a beautiful spot, now much used as a picnic ground, which every Haligonian knows as "The Princess Lodge," says Harper's Bazar. It is part of the estate in old times leased by Sir John Wentworth to the duke of Kent for his royal residence during the seven years that princess, the father of Queen Victoria, lived in Nova Scotia. Sir John Wentworth had his country residence there, and called it, in allusion to "Romeo and Juliet," "Prince Charles's Cell." The duke enlarged the original house until it was a fine two-storied villa somewhat in the Italian style, with extensive wings at the north and south and a great hall and drawing-rooms in the center.

Back of the house were stables for his horses, and the grounds, though rustic, and having all the marks that nature had originally put upon them, contained many charming surprises. His royal highness who was at this time commander of all the forces in North America, had a telegraph battery on an adjoining hill, by means of which he could send his orders to the citadel in town. In the neighborhood of the lodge, were artificial caves, or grots, so that the place was like a little fairy land. Indeed, the prince himself used to put his hand in the jackpiano, or drive the cross-cut saw, and I fancy there was little that went on that he did not personally oversee.

He was a strict disciplinarian, but was very kind and affable in social life, and especially interested in young men, for whom he often did much. His life had been a laborious one, and he inherited many of the simple tastes of his father, the old "Farmer George," which, on the whole, compared favorably with Queen Victoria's in Halifax in those days was very gay. He was in all his habits a pattern of moderation in the use of wine, and by abstaining entirely from cards, had a good influence over the young men of the town. To cure intemperance among them, it is said, he used to make them turn out at 5 o'clock in the morning for drill, which, of course, made late hours away from barracks impossible.

His punishments were very severe. For one poor soldier he ordered 1,000 lashes on his bare back, and on the grounds of the lodge is shown a cave where a man was confined for over three years, until he died. Once or twice it is said, he was committed suicide from fear of his punishments. Prince Edward's friend and companion during his Nova Scotia life was a clever French woman, Mme. Alphonse. Thomas Barnaby, Julie de Montgenet de St. Laurent, baronne de Fortineau, whom he first met in Martinique and who, when he married the queen's mother, retired to a convent.

The Halifax people were dazzled by the presence of royalty among them, and when the prince's seven years term had expired it took society a long time to settle down to its normal condition. In 1800 the duke of Kent began the erection of the present citadel in Halifax, first removing the old, insecure fortifications and then building the massive walls that now include the fort. A conspicuous monument of his royal highness still remaining in the public square wooden clock tower below the clock, directly above the middle of the town.

Tantrums Old.

A clock that bespoke the limers to John Knox, of Scotland, three centuries ago has come into view in the town of Hamilton, Ont., where it remains the property of a local dissenchant of the Scottish reformer. The clock was built in 1560 for Knox in Dalkeyr, Scotland, and is was handed down from generation to generation for 150 years before it finally came into the possession of John Wishbonepoint, No. 2, took the old relic home to Scotland, and presented it to the Presbyterian College. This figure of the Declaration of Independence stipulated that the clock should always go an hour fast lest at such one time the present ownership of John Knox's eighty feet time-piece.

It Depended.

Antonio (wishing to buy street fruit steady—And how much do you make in a day?

Jacopo—Well—that depends—on how often the policeman takes a free lunch.

Tramp vs. Fogle.

Judge—They are charged with being a tramp. This is the third time in six months.

Tramp—Great heavens! How time does slip away.

To reduce our stock, we make the following low prices for September:

Open Buggies	$38.
Top Buggies	$55.
Spiral Spring Buggies, the BEST	$85.
Two Seat Platform Spring Wagons	$70.
Two Seat Combination Spring Wagons	$70,
Two Seat Duplex Spring Wagons	$55.
Sulky Harrows	$32.
16 Tooth Spring Tooth Harrow	$14.
16 Tooth Spring Tooth Steel Frame Harrow	$16.
Double Harpoon Hay Fork	$1.

Our $8 Single and $25 Double Work Harness are "World Beaters."

Special low prices on Belknap Wagons, Land Rollers, Stone Boats, Seed Harrows &c.

S. BAKER & SON,

Charlevoix, Mich.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

O. C. HOLLISTER,

ST. JOHNS, MICH.

Has Good Farms to Sell on Easy Terms. Northern Cultivated, Unoccupied Lands. Write him.

BUY'S FOUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL

ALLEN B. WRISLEY'S OLD COUNTRY SOAP

OIL OF MALE NERVINE OPTICAL MARVELOUS!

DR. MILES' NERVINE

Whose is healthy like the RESTORATIVE NERVINE? Who is free from pain, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, fits, nervous twitching, St. Vitus dance, and the thousand and one ills that follow in their train? Who are the people who wonder at it? We have hundreds of letters from people who have been cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine. Sleeplessness, fits, nervous prostration, St. Vitus dance, twitching, etc., yield to its influence. Dr. Miles' Nervine is not a cure-all, but a nerve medicine, and does its work well. Sold by druggists, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5. Free Book on Nervous Diseases, and testimonials free.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE.

Sold by F. G. HINES & CO.

FREE CONSULTATION

—DR. A. B. SPINNEY,—

of Detroit, for the purpose of accommodating his friends and patients that cannot visit or consult him at Detroit, has opened an office at Petoskey, and will be found at the Bay View House on that day. The Doctor has been thirty-six years in practice—thirteen years in general practice, eighteen years in the study and treatment of Chronic Diseases, for two years was Medical Superintendent of Asylum and Vice Pres't Sanitarium, was two years Professor in Anatomy and Physiology in Medical College in Detroit—has given hundreds of lectures upon Physiology in different parts of Michigan. If you have Catarrh, Throat, Lung Eye, Ear, Liver, Stomach, Kidney or Nervous Diseases, improve this opportunity for a careful examination. If your case is curable he will tell you so. If you can be cured at home he will do so. If not, he will tell you what it will cost and how long it will take to be cured, which is often all the time and experienced physicians in the same.

GLASSES fitted to all cases needing them. Special attention given to Rectal, Uterine and Private Diseases.

At FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE, CHARLEVOIX, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 3d and 4th.

[First Publication Sept. 7, 1891.]

MORTGAGE SALE.

A mortgage dated October 15th, 1890, made and executed by Harriet A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, of the Village of Charlevoix, County of Emmet, and the Register of Deeds for the said county State of Michigan, December 18th, then, in liber 5 of mortgages at page 152, on the 20th day of Marion Ralphy, duly assigned to Charles Ashley Ralphy, of the City of Detroit, State of Michigan, by written assignment, dated December 18th, then, in liber 5 of mortgages at page 153, on the 20th day of Marion Ralphy, duly assigned to Charles Ashley Ralphy, of the City of Detroit, State of Michigan, by written assignment, dated December 18th, then, in liber 5 of mortgages at page 154, in the said Register's office, upon which mortgage there is due and unpaid the sum of eighty-five dollars.

Also a mortgage dated November 1, 1887, executed by Harriet A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, his wife to Charles Ferguson and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the said County of Emmet liber 3, 189 of mortgages, on the 1 day of November, 1887, which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of eighty-five dollars.

Also a mortgage for $500 executed by said Harriet A. Thompson and Mary Thompson, to the said Charles Ferguson, dated January 20th, 1888, and recorded Feb. 20th, 1888, in Liber 4, of mortgages on page 189 in the office of the Register of Deeds for said County of Emmet, which mortgage there is now due and unpaid the sum of $500 for the recovery of which sum or any part thereof, the said Charles Ferguson, the assignee thereof, is now entitled to foreclose by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgages by standing sale of the premises described in said mortgages to wit: The south half of the south east quarter of the south west quarter of section 25 in town 34 north of range 6 west, and the south west quarter of the south west quarter of section quarter and lot one, all in section 25 in township 34 north of range 6 west, at the front door of the court house in Boyne City, that being the place of holding the circuit court for Charlevoix county, on Friday, December 4, 1891, at 10 o'clock noon.

Dated, Sept. 8th, 1891.

CHARLES FERGUSON,
Mortgagee and Assignee of Mortgage.

CLAY E. CALL,
Attorney for Mortgagee.

FOR SALE.

Forty acres of land situated in S. of S. E. quarter of S. E. quarter of section 34, township of Hayes, Charlevoix County, Michigan. Address

W. H. HUSS, CHAS. A. LUMBER CO.,
Chicago, Ill.

NOTICE.

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., Sept. 25th, 1891.

To whom it may concern:

The partnership heretofore existing by and between Frank Langlois and Jos. Langlois, doing business at Charlevoix, Mich., under the firm name of J. Langlois, who will collect all accounts and pay all indebtedness contracted by said firm.

(27-NOV THANKER.
L. F. GORDON.

Dissolution of Co-partnership.

Notice is hereby given that the copartnership heretofore existing between Jos. Langlois and Frank Langlois, under the firm name of Sawmill Langlois, doing business at Charlevoix, Mich., is dissolved by mutual consent, all the assets of said Sawmill Langlois, who will continue the business, at the old stand under the firm name of Sawmill Langlois.

Dated Sept. 16, 1891.

FRANK LANGLOIS.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,

—proprietor of—

NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN.

Good Teamsters at

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

FOR SALE.

Farm for sale—

Consisting 120 acres eighty acres improvement, plenty of good water, good buildings, a good variety of fruit, one mile from Ironton station, on the road to Boyne City, a good new house and well and plenty of wood, and a bargain will be given if taken at once.

Also on same section—

300 cords, with the access of improvements, good house and barn, cheap.

The above land will pay itself off in the wood. Inquire of or address

REV. E. WHITNEY,
East Jordan, Mich.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE.

Sold by F. G. HINES & CO.

He who sells that which is best of its kind finds his best advertisement in what he sells.

OUR ADVERTISEMENTS ARE;

Chase & Sanbourn's Coffees.
Jaxon Anti Washboard Soap.
New York Prize Cream Cheese.
Indiana Creamery Butter.
Our 50c Tea; too good to mention.
Pratt's Food, the best thing in the world, for horses, cattle sheep and fowls.

These are the best in the city and sold only by

AMOS FOX & CO

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER XXI.

JOE MEETS MR. PRATTY, GOAT.

"I have been thinking about Uncle Dufiar's bell case.

"Who? It's Mister Brown—or that how? said Mookina Dufiar. "I know it—I feel it."

Mooni-ca Dufiar sniffed the clean, bits cheerful air, and then into the room a minute later. Mrs. Brown was quick to perceive anything, and she said:

"Are you not well, Madame Dufiar? she said.

"Oy, Monsieur must tell you—I can tell nit."

"It's a very strange affair," said Monsieur Dufiar to his wife.

"Incomprehensible," said Madame, "inexplicable," added her husband moreover.

"It is pour lou—the child has disappeared."

"What? exclaimed Dick. "She loses?"

"Sheez, it will be time enough when we need one," said Madame Dufiar.

"And which way do the—see—they asked the—eyes, with a serious face.

"If I was just a little wiser—only five minutes wuk. She hasn'tbin relapsed in fifteen minutes," said Madame.

There was a profound silence. Then they spoke together:

"Whatever is done must be done quickly."

"What can I do? Tell me. I will do anything, I will do anything, but tell me! cry on his knees.

"You—the—go to the police."

"I have been to see the police—I have told the police discribed the girl."

"Well—did you tell them it carry thousand—a little diamond?"

"I have said to them—Sparz are pretty—I have discribed the girl."

"What more can I do? Yes, I can go—I can go—I can go—

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 7, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Hunter was in port Sunday morning collecting A. Booth & Co.'s fish.

The steamer Lucile has been sold to a man from Duluth, and her new owner left with her for that port.

The wreck of the old schooner Evaline Bates, now lying at St. James, Beaver Island, will be sold by the United States Marshal at Petoskey.

The schooner White Cloud loaded at Torch Lake last week with lumber for Tonawanda. From there she goes to Quebec, where she loads with lumber for Philadelphia.

The schooner Mont Blanc, loaded with pig iron is at Kneal's dock in a bad condition. She lost her main topmast, booms and all her canvass excepting two jibs, anchors, chains, etc. in the gale Monday night. The Mont Blanc recently brought a cargo of coal for Tullock.

Musings from Hayes.

Ezra Ferguson has returned from Oklahoma satisfied that Hayes is ahead yet.

L. D. Garmire is visiting friends in Indiana.

Several thousand feet of lumber has been placed on the right-of-way near the gravel pit. It will be used in building camps for the workmen while ballasting the railroad.

School commenced for the year in three districts last Monday. At Maple Grove, D. C. Gormire teacher; Fairgrove, Miss Nellie Burnett; and at the Hopyard, Miss Lena Cooper.

The Oyster Bay mill is now ready for operation and business at that point will soon be humming.

H. Ostrum has moved from the Spread Eagle farm to the Hanson place recently purchased by him.

Forest fires have been doing considerable damage lately. Some of these fires originate from sheer carelessness and the parties responsible should be prosecuted.

Geo. Foundfeller has taken down one of his buildings at Burgess, and removed it to Oyster Bay.

Thomas Sunderland is selling his property, and will remove to the vicinity of Detroit.

Henry Hair has been confined to the house with sickness for over a month, and on Tuesday, the neighbors turned out en masse and put in a field of wheat for him.

Norwood Notes.

The Norwood ball nine (Kids) play the Eastport nine next Saturday at Eastport.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Amos Richardson entertained the Norwood band boys in right royal style, chicken pies, hot coffee, cake and lots of other good things were done up by the boys in short order.

Horse trading is lively around here now days.

C. W. Brown will move to Mancelona next week.

Edd Stafford is working at Charlevoix this week.

Mrs. Russel, Mr. Thomas Muirhead laughter left left Tuesday for Battle Creek, Mich.

We can almost hear the new "log" engine at Charlevoix go choo-choo choo-choo-choo-choo.

Northern Michigan News.

It is said that Northport is to have a newspaper.

Cameron Bros., of Torch Lake, have located a site at Central Lake for a new saw mill.

The decent people of Leland broke up a plain joint by throwing cold water on the players.

Large hunting parties are horrying northward in quest of deer. Doomed dogs accompany them

T. L. Behring has been appointed Grand Rapids & Indiana agent in Clarion vice C. J. Mise, resigned.

There are nearly scarlet cases of diphtheria in Cheboygan. There have been many deaths and the schools are closed.

One-half the village of Onekama, lying ten miles northeast of Manistee, was wiped out by fire on the night of the 1st.

About twenty-five families are still living in cottages in Bay View, and the resort is fairly well populated with hay fever patients.

We direct your attention to those elegant

FUR CAPES in all POPULAR STYLES

Also the finest line of JACKETS ever displayed here, at prices that cannot be beaten ANYWHERE.

MUFFS TO MATCH EITHER CAPES OR JACKETS.
EVERYTHING ELSE IN THE DRY GOODS LINE, FULL AND COMPLETE.

MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

Elk Rapid's, new savings bank has a capital of $30,000.

A ladies' dress made 70 years ago is one of the entries made for the Antrim county fair. We would give a quarter to see it worn by a modern belle.

The deer-killing season opened in the upper peninsula last Friday and before noon 15 deer had been delivered at the Munising express office for shipment.

Traverse Bay Eagle: J. E. Daniels of Elk Rapids, passed through town this morning on his way to Lansing, where he accepts the position as chorister in the Presbyterian church.

Kalkaska people feel like drawing a hack and woolly mantle of silence about themselves when any one mentions building boom. Only one new house has been built in the town this season.

W. P. Davoll, formerly of Boyne Falls, but now of Harbor Springs, has been granted a pension. He will draw $12 per month to date, from July 1890. He is at present sojourning in Ohio.

The election held in East Jordan Monday, to bond that town for $10,000 water works; or rather railroad works, was carried by a vote of nearly four to one. That town can now offer Mr. Ward something substantial.

Last week B. P. Wilkinson bought Dan Flanagin's store at Atwood, including the buildings and lot south of the town hall. He has removed his goods from the store where he lives into the one recently purchased.

Wm. Henry of Eveline twp., this county, thrashed from less than forty acres of land 560 bushels of grain this season. This is a sample of Northern Michigan farming, and taking into consideration it was the dryest season in its history.

H. I. Page, an east Jordan hardware dealer, has sold out to Wm. H. Haley, of that place. Mr. Page will soon leave East Jordan. Mr. Haley has just returned from the state of Washington where he has been for the past two years or more.

Traverse City has carried the question of bonding for a city park by a vote 394 to 28. The question of bonding for street opening, which practically settles the obtaining of the Manistee & Northeastern railroad, was carried by a vote of 384 to 51. The Mancelona oval dish factory secures a site by the "park" deal.

The Oval Wood Dish Company, the concern which Traverse City is endeavoring to entice away from Mancelona, lost 200,000 feet of seasoned lumber worth $14 per thousand, by fire Sept. 28, and had a close call from losing the factory and still more lumber. A passing locomotive furnished the spark to start the blaze.

A special from Northport, dated Oct. 2nd, says: The citizens of Northport have organized a building and loan association and appointed committees on streets and sidewalks, roads, hotels, telephones, and railroads. The first improvement bee was held today, and the entire community, including clergymen, worked on the streets. Money has been raised for telephone and large subscriptions are being taken for the erection of a new hotel.

East Jordan Enterprise: D. C. Leonard returned from Chicago on Tuesday. He came across the lake and had a rather rough passage. He left Max Maude entirely well except physical weakness. She will remain some longer in Chicago visiting friends.——Malyneux Bros., of this place have bought the engine and machinery of the box saw mill of Ironton and brought the same here by the Wilson on Saturday of last week. They will put the machinery in perfect repair and sell the same when opportunity offers.

The waterworks committee at Elk Rapids is composed of N. K. Fairbank, H. H. and E. S. Noble, and they will spend $15,000 on the works. Elk River and a 50-horse power wheel furnish the push, and three miles of iron piping has been ordered.

Boyne Citizen: W. H. White & Co. have shipped 8,000,000 ft. of lumber this season; of which 6,000,000 ft. were sawed in their mill here, 1,200,000 at Boyne Falls, and 700,000 were bought from mills on the shores of Pine Lake and Lake Michigan. They are figuring on sawing 10,000,000 ft. next season: 7,000,000 ft. of hardwood and 3,000,000 of hemlock. They expect to saw 7,000,000 ft. here and the rest at their new mill on Deer Lake, and another mill that they are not at liberty to name yet.

The Garden City Company of Chicago owns a large tract of the most desirable land on South Manitou island, and for the last three weeks has had an engineer engaged in surveying it. They have laid out thirty acres into lots which will unquestionably make as fine a resort as can be found in Michigan. This is the initial step of a plan to make the island as accessible as any of the great northern resorts, and as it is sure of water freezes from every point it is destined in particular to be a hay fever mecca. The island is eighteen miles southeast of Leland and contains 5,280 acres. It is three and one-half miles in length by two and a half miles in width and is finely wooded. The island is already well settled by a hardy, genial and hospitable people.

Elgin National Watch Co's watches in screw cases for $8.00. A full line of watches, clocks and jewelry at equally low prices.

C. H. BELLINGER.

Keep Your House Warm, And Why Not.

Charlevoix Boiler Works announce that they have steel boiler plate, furnaces right in stock. Built new. Prices way down. Only $37.50 each, and are building more every day. Guaranteed first class.

14-4t. H. BARTH, Prop.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS.

Sale of Lands for Unpaid Taxes of the Year 1890.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
County of Charlevoix, } ss.
Village of Charlevoix,

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to law there will be sold at public auction, on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1891, commencing at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the office of the Village Treasurer of the Village of Charlevoix, in said Village, Monday, the 9th day of November, A. D. 1891, commencing at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the said office, the following lands and tenements situated within the corporate limits of said village of Charlevoix, to wit:

	Amount of Tax Due	Amount of Interest	Amount of Fees	Amount of Total Tax
Lot 6, block 17.
1 piece of land commencing at the 3 stake at Round Lake at a point 17 chains and 17 links from the corner of lots 5 and 6 in said block, thence s. 3 10-100 chains, thence w. 2 10-100 chains, thence n. 3 10-100 chains, thence e. 2 10-100 chains to the place of beginning, except four rods in width off the east side.	$1 00	15	50	$1 65
Lot 10, block 21.	1 00	15	50	1 65
N ½ of lot 11, block 21.	1 00	15	50	1 65
Lot 1 and s ½ lot 2 blk 8.	4 00	60	50	5 10
Lot 3, block 8.	1 00	15	50	1 65
1 piece of land commencing 70 ft w of the ne corner of lot 1 block 19 on Michigan avenue, thence w 20 ft, thence s 100 ft, thence e 20 ft, thence n 100 ft to place of beginning.
Lot 13 block 1	15 00	90	50	16 40
" 7 " " 3	15 00	90	50	16 40
" 8 " " 3	15 00	90	50	16 40
" 9 " " 3	15 00	90	50	16 40
N ½ lot 10, block 13	7 00	45	50	8 45
W 20 ft lot 6 block 7, rds 19	1 00	15	50	1 65
Lot 10, block 19	7 50	45	50	8 45
W ½ lot 14, block 11	7 50	45	50	8 45
CLIFFORD'S ADDITION.
Lot 7	2 00	30	50	2 80
MANDY'S ADDITION.
W ½ of lots 5, blk 3	10 00	60	50	11 10
Lot 1, block 5	10 00	60	50	11 10
Lot 19, block 4	10 00	60	50	11 10
Lot 20, block 4	10 00	60	50	11 10
Lot 1, block 6	10 00	60	50	11 10
Lot 2, block 6	10 00	60	50	11 10
Lot 3, block 6	10 00	60	50	11 10
NEWMAN'S ADDITION.
Lot 1, block 20	1 50	15	50	2 15
Lot 19, block 20	1 50	15	50	2 15
CURRIER & BURDETT'S ADDITION.
Lot 10	25	00	50	75
Lot 11	25	00	50	75
Lot 12	25	00	50	75
Lots 27 and 28	75	00	50	1 25
Lot 29	25	00	50	75
Lots 30 and 31	50	00	50	1 00
Lot 32	25	00	50	75
Lots 33 and 34	50	00	50	1 00

FRANK E. WOOD,
Village Treasurer.

HAVE YOU SEEN THEM.

The Ladies are all talking about it. Those camel hair Stripes Plaids and Boucle effects in dress goods. THE PATTERNS

CANNOT BE DUPLICATED.

I am constantly receiving new novelties in Dress Goods, Trimmings and Notions which are bound to sell.

Attention is Again Called to a New Line of Corsets, Namely: "Adelaide," "A La Sprite," "P. C." and "C. B. La Sprite" The Manufacturers of these have won and were Awarded Gold Medals at Paris Exposition 89.

CLOAKS AND JACKETS.

For Ladies Misses and Children, a big stock now open.

I SHALL OFFER SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS FOR YOUR PATRONAGE BY DISCOUNTS.

A. T. WASHBURNE.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, Pastor. Morning service at 10:30; subject, "The Lost Coin." Evening service at 7:30; subject, "Mantlines."

Methodist.

"Wicked Spirits." Pastor Barnes will tell about them Sunday evening. You are cordially invited.

Judge Aldrich says Kalakaska county must build a better jail or he will send her prisoners to Traverse City for safe keeping.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists. 1

English Sparin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweenys, ring bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Great by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 2-19

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Lost Strayed or Stolen.—Mare pony weighing about 750, is spotted brown and white, white face and four white feet. Reward given for information of her whereabouts.

10-2 R. S. SHAFTON, Charlevoix, Mich.

A Safe Investment.

In cure which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or in case of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of throat, lungs or chest, such as consumption, inflamation of lungs, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s drug store. 1

E. H. Gunan offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

AN ELEPHANT LARGER THAN JUMBO was recently captured in Africa. Bigger than this Jumbo No. 2 are the Bargains in Hardware found daily by glad people at our store.

There are many articles which you will need before "the beautiful" begins to fall. Our tin shop is equipped for turning out the best sheet iron and metal work.

PRICES ALWAYS the LOWEST.

Attentive and Courteous Treatment.

Satisfaction Guarenteed.

Yours truly,

Sep. 30, '91. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO--15. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY OCTOBER 14, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,139.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO., The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1865.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS

And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Stucco, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a first-class general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER
WALL PAPER

AND BORDERS AT COST.

....AT....

CALKINS & WARNE.

Down Went McGinty to the Bottom of the

Peach Market.

PEACHES THAT ARE PEACHES. Only early Crawfords on sale. Now I just wish to say, that I am in daily receipt of the finest, largest and best Crawford Peaches that ever came to this county, and they all come direct from the orchard, and are Strictly Fresh and Sound. EVERY ONE, look at them and you will say this is strictly true. Bartlett Pears by the peck or bushel. Low. Now is your time to buy these fruits for canning, they will be no better or lower than now.

at O. W. SMITH'S.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

MASON JARS,

Prices Way Down

LOWER

than can be bought at WHOLESALE.

1 Quart Mason Jars, per dozen, $.90

SPECIAL PRICES ON FULL CASES.

BERT MASON.

REMEMBER.

S. M. See & Sons Carry the largest and best stock of FURNITURE in Charlevoix County at lowest prices and also sell the Western Cottage Organ. And when you want a Sewing Machine, you can get a New Home of us for Thirty Dollars. Guaranteed the best. S. M. See & SONS.

REMEMBER REMEMBER REMEMBER

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One Year - - - $1 50 (Six months - - - $1 00) Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Bellinger has a new ad. this week

—S. M. See & Sons have a new safe.

—The Iron Duke was in Oden over Sunday.

—Mark Westgate, of East Jordan, was in town yesterday.

—Alton G. Cook returned Saturday from a trip to Hillsdale.

—The Enterprise says Charlevoix has sand. Bet your life!

—Will Sears, of Saginaw, is here visiting his brother Frank.

—John Baker brings hay scales back with him from Grand Rapids.

—Boyne City to the Board of Supervisors: "No monkey business, now!"

—Mrs. H. A. Carr has an announcement in her space this week. Look it over.

—Judge Mayne went to Beaver Isl and yesterday on business for C. A. Harker.

—R. J. McNeill went to the Beaver Isl and yesterday on business for C. A. Harker.

—Mason & Berdan have a lot to say about ladies hosiery this week. Read and profit.

—Mrs. A. J. Mudge left today for Antioch, Ill., to visit her daughter, Mrs. G. W. Bell.

—F. E. Fogg and James A. Kent passed through Charlevoix Wednesday on their trip west.

—Geo. Sherwood and wife are moving into their new apartments over Mason & Berdan's store.

—Miss Weldon and the children of the 4th Department, had a fine picnic at Mr. Metcalfe Saturday.

—The Epworth League of the M. E. Church will give an old fashioned Cassola tea party, Oct. 28th.

—M. J. Stockton, who accompanied the steamer Lucile as far as the Soo, returned home Saturday.

—The Board of Supervisors are in session at Boyne City this week; right where they can be watched.

—Schaemann & Guidebeck, the Lewis Grand Opera House dry goods firm, have a new ad. in this week.

—When Mrs. F. M. Sears returns home from Fort Huron, she will find a fine Steinway piano in the house.

—Mr. L. A. West has bought the Hollow residence on the north side, and will take possession next spring.

—Rev. C. T. Stout, of Petoskey, was here yesterday and held Episcopal services in Odd Fellows hall last evening.

—John T. Kirkpatrick is making plans for a house for Wm. Woods; also for R. N. Faulkner's proposed residence on Main street.

—Railroad crossing; look out for the cars." Also look out for A. T. Washburne's new advertisement in this week's SENTINEL.

—C. A. Barker still lingers about these parts, settling up business matters at the Beaver. He went over today with the tug Martin.

—Some unscrupulous person last week poisoned Byron W. Miller's large dog. The man who would kill that dog would steal sheep.

—Jas. R. Hogue has accepted a position in the C. & W. M. Engineer corps, and left Monday for Sparta, where he will be stationed.

—The elegant panel oil painting on ground glass by Mrs. F. A. Smith, will be raffled. The tickets are now on sale at Mason & Berdan's.

—The C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. G. S. Barnes Friday evening, Oct. 16th. Roll call will be responded to with quotations on America.

—Mrs. A. L. Jones, of Hastings, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. A. Hawkins, for the past three months, returned to her home last Thursday.

—The many friends of Mr. Jacob Reed will be glad to know that he is granted a pension of $12 per month, dating from July 16th 1890. Jacob deserves it.

—Geo. W. Miller has a live coyote from the prairies of Kansas. It arrived last week, a gift from Dwight H. Bennett. It is of standard bred Kansas stock, about the size of a large fox, playful as a puppy, and as amiable and smiling as his owner.

—Master Stewart, the young son of Will N. Moore, is back from Oakland county, where he has been visiting.

—Clinton Whitmoyer, a graduate of the Charlevoix High School has been elected to the position of Principal of a school at Platte Center, Nebraska, at a salary of $750 per year.

—John Cook has sold his residence and lot on Mason street to James Huntington, and bought Mr. Huntington's farm just south of town. Mr. Cook occupied his new place yesterday. H. S. Harsha reports these transfers.

—Mr. Cherrie says the Ironton branch route has been located, and the road will be done as soon as the main line is in operation. He says they will keep a locomotive for their own use.

—The steel will be laid to Petoskey next week Saturday. Now will the Petoskey people unite with us in an effort to get train service between the two towns this winter? The road will be in shape for use Dec. 1st, the locomotive is here, and the people want railroad transit. Speak out, neighbors.

—We are sending out statements of subscription accounts, and everybody gets one who is in arrears one year or more. This is the time of year when duns are necessary in preparation for winter. Anybody can spare $1.50, and a good many of them, now due, will come handy to us. So please come to the front and oblige yours truly.

—We would remind our truly good brother of the East Jordan Enterprise of the sentiments to which he gave utterance on assuming editorial control of that paper: In language that could only come from the heart of a congregational elder, he deprecated the unrighteous habit of disrespectful sling at neighboring towns. And yet the dirtiest sling this town ever received was from his pen last week. If the truly pious editor wants water he can find all the sand down this way that he cares to shovel.

—A special to the Detroit Tribune from Battle Creek, the 7th, says: "At the meeting of the common council last night City Attorney Clapp stated that he had applied to the county prosecuting attorney for a warrant for arrest of Clark Stillman, ex-City treasurer. Shipman's term of office expired two years ago, soon after which he moved to Georgia where he now resides. He was one of the deacons of the first Baptist church here. He is now charged with having defrauded the city out of $200 during his official term. If necessary requisition papers will be taken out." Mr. Shipman is well known in this county, having formerly been a resident of Norwood.

—The township of Evelina is again all shaken up over another case of cattle-killing. On Sunday or Monday last two head of cattle belonging to Supervisor Ava Smith, and two owned by Henry Nowland were shot and killed. Smith was attending the session of the board at Boyne City, but was sent for and immediately swore out a warrant for a near neighbor named Wilkinson who was arrested before he got up yesterday morning, and taken to East Jordan jail. There has been trouble between the accused and his neighbors for some time past. Smith held land adjoining his land, and Wilkinson has been heard to make dire threats against him and other neighbors. Wilkinson's house was burned some time ago and he accuses certain of his neighbors of burning it. In short matters have been boiling hot in the neighborhood for a long time. They claim to have a good case against Wilkinson.

—We have never met the editor of the East Jordan Enterprise, and do not know him even by sight. We learn that he is one of the very good sort of men, not given to bad language, and a valuable man in a Sunday school. But with all his virtues, he has one fault. He prevaricates. That is a very bad fault, and one that looms up in a good man like Mr. Lorraine. This is what he says about Charlevoix:

"Look at Charlevoix. Strike a circle of 20 miles diameter around a center in Charlevoix and about three-fifths of the surface will be in Lake Michigan and Pine Lake. This is about as noted an area for Agricultural products as the Sandy, man is for his veracity. Of the remaining two-fifths fully two-thirds we should judge to be sand wastes, which are as barren of visible agricultural products as the sanctum," portions of manufacturing enterprise locating in this burg."

Mr. Lorraine never was in Charlevoix more than three times in his life, and then only at the docks, or along the most public streets. It is well for some down, we will send him out and force him to acknowledge that the above extract is a slanderous lie.

A STEP HIGHER.

The Charlevoix Schools Raised to the Union Graded System.

At the special school meeting held Friday evening last, the proposition to adopt the union graded system was carried by almost a unanimous vote.

The following Board of Trustees was elected as required by law: one year, O. S. Washburn; two years, John Nicholls and H. S. Harsha; three years, H. Lee Iddings and D. C. Nettleton.

The new system goes into effect at once.

DAVID WARD.

The Grand Rapids Democrat recently had an extended interview with with your uncle David Ward, and writes as follows. In personal appearance there was nothing in the distinguished guest to indicate his prominence in the financial world. His attire was simple and inexpensive; a plain suit of gray clothing, a low cut pair of shoes a well worn hat, white shirt and black cravat. No jewelry of any kind was visible on his person. He walked with a quick, elastic step and bore himself as erect as though a man of middle age.

David A. Ward, for such is the full name of the man, is 70 years of age. He has a large round head, fine facial lineaments and large blue eyes. He wears his hair, now somewhat thin and gray, short cropped. His face is smoothly shaven. In conversation he speaks quickly and thoughtfully and has a scholarly acquaintance with philosophy and literature. In his room last evening he chatted pleasantly with a reporter of the Democrat, recalling many instances of his early life in Michigan.

"My particular occupation at the present time," said Mr. Ward, "is the development of my timber tracts in Michigan. I have in one piece 160,000 acres. It is forty-seven miles in length and from five to seven miles in width, and the beauty of it is its compactness and timber growth. Nature seems to have been making an effort to see how much good timber she could crowd upon a given space in producing it. The tract is contiguous to many lines of railway, is crossed by many streams and contains many towns and villages. Its northwest boundary is Pine Lake, and at lake boats can enter and close at my docks. Upon that tract of land I am engaged in building a railway from Frederick, upon the southeast corner, to East Jordan on the northwest, upon Pine Lake. Along this road 1,240,000,000 feet of timber, hard and soft, of which 500,000,000 is pine and the rest in maple, elm, basswood, hemlock, birch and white ash, in relative quantities as in the order mentioned. I have sixty miles of my railway, which is broad gauge and equal to any in the country, already graded and ready for iron. When finished, two years later, I will have 100 miles of road. Upon all of this vast tract not a single stick has been cut, and I do not contemplate touching it for many years. I own it, am not in debt and am not in a hurry. I am looking it for my boys when I am gone. You asked me what I am chiefly engaged in. There has been trouble between the accused and his neighbors for some time past. Smith held land adjoining his land, and Wilkinson has been heard to make dire threats against him and other neighbors. Wilkinson's house was burned some time ago and he accuses certain of his neighbors of burning it. In short matters have been boiling hot in the neighborhood for a long time. They claim to have a good case against Wilkinson.

—We have never met the editor of the East Jordan Enterprise, and do not know him even by sight. We learn that he is one of the very good sort of men, not given to bad language, and a valuable man in a Sunday school. But with all his virtues, he has one fault. He prevaricates. That is a very bad fault, and one that looms up in a good man like Mr. Lorraine. This is what he says about Charlevoix:

"Look at Charlevoix. Strike a circle of 20 miles diameter around a center in Charlevoix and about three-fifths of the surface will be in Lake Michigan and Pine Lake. This is about as noted an area for Agricultural products as the Sandy, man is for his veracity. Of the remaining two-fifths fully two-thirds we should judge to be sand wastes, which are as barren of visible agricultural products as the sanctum," portions of manufacturing enterprise locating in this burg."

Mr. Lorraine never was in Charlevoix more than three times in his life, and then only at the docks, or along the most public streets. It is well for some down, we will send him out and force him to acknowledge that the above extract is a slanderous lie.

The contract for building the foundations for the railroad bridge has been awarded J. M. Allmendinger, of Manistee, who is on the ground with his apparatus, and will begin work at once.

—Read McCarthy's new ad.

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued.

"Do you think I'm a fool?" he demanded. "Do you think I'm the man to be taken in by a trick like that? Do you think I'm the man to be cajoled into a false sense of security, and then, when I am off my guard, to be knocked on the head and robbed? I know what I want, and I know how to get it, and I know how to take it when I get it. I'm not a fool, I tell you, and I don't like to be treated as if I were a fool. Why, I'm smarter than you are, and you know it! I'm smarter than you are, and you know it! I'm smarter than you are, and you know it! I'm smarter than you are, and you know it!"

"Why, I don't think you are fool," said the boy, with a smile that was not with a sense of fearless and jocoseness.

"Oh, I don't, don't I? Well, I'm fool, I may learn something."

"That's a fact, that's a fact. Well, I'll tell you how you can't find out about the wedding ring in the city. There's a fool for you, I know you. You go—see hyperbole—what's your name?"

"Dick—Richard, I suppose—my father called me Dick. Dick is a good enough Dick sometimes."

The boy stopped. He "took" to Double Dick at once.

"Well, you go round to Mother Pitcher's little shop, you'll find it near square. Your father you will see a lot of men loafing, there's a tavern. And around there you'll see a lot of men, too, and ask you who yer are—that Tony Gerald sent you. That's all. Then know enough to—mention to you that you can find out what you want for the asking. There's a young lady there—the young lady—that knows everything. Ask her what's your name."

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 14, 1891.

Charles Stewart Parnell, the ex-"uncrowned King of Ireland," died suddenly at his home in Brighton, on the 6th.

Campbell, of Ohio, is a straddler. So far he has managed to get on both sides of every question involved in the present campaign. There is one side that he will be forced to remain on after election—the defeated side.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland are the parents of a girl baby. It seems that the American newspapers are running mad over the very commonplace affair. In fact they are making three times the stir over it that the event justifies. Grover is not a god, neither is Francis a fairy—and yet the newspapers accord to their baby more glory than would be accorded to the birth of an angel. It is a pretty, sweet baby, doubtless, and as such and as the offspring of the ex-President is entitled to more than passing notice; but this avalanche of gush is sickening.

In the city of Glasgow alone 41,000 out of every 100,000 live in houses having only one room, and, future, nearly one-third of the whole people dwell in houses of only one room, and more that two-thirds of the people of Scotland dwell in rooms of not more than two rooms. * * * And so on in all our great towns, and not a little in our small towns, there are misery and helplessness, much as I have described. In fact looking at the past, it is a melancholy thing to look at; there is much of it which exists in me not answerable, but horror. The fact is there pushes before my eyes a vision of millions of families—fathers, mothers, children—passing, ghastly, sorrow stricken, in never ending procession, from their cradles to their graves.—John Bright.

A person connected with the police department is quoted as saying that as soon as the people get hold of the point that the same care exercised over a special-delivery letter that is given a registered letter very few of the latter will be sent. He adds: "You can have a letter delivered by special messenger without any delay for ten cents. It costs the same to register a letter. The government does not insure the delivery of a registered letter. It only promises to exercise the greatest possible care in delivering it to the person to whom it is addressed. It is put in a special pouch. "The same is true of a special delivery letter or package. The cost and care are identically the same, with the advantage of having the special delivery delivered sooner than the registered package."

Detroit Journal: The interest and enthusiasm shown by the American people in the youthful heiress of high Cleveland house is an expression of the chivalrous and affectionate temper of the American people towards her sex. Even the best friends of the ex-president will hardly claim for him any of those personal traits that warm the blood, possessed by men like Henry Clay, Andrew Jackson and Blaine. But the people, without distinction of party, were quick to respond to the gracious gentleness, tact and good sense with which his wife illuminated his career. It is for her sake chiefly that the public endure, where they do not relish the superfluous gush, with which the young heiress presumptative to the presidency is greeted. For, like all heirs presumptative she may be the daughter of a president, provided somebody else does not ascend the throne. At any rate, for her mother's sake at least, the country wishes health and beauty and long life to her and happiness to her parents on account of her.

The object and the effect of protective duties is to enable the home producer to furnish the manufactured goods more plentifully and cheaper than before the duty was imposed. "Though it were true," says Alexander Hamilton, "that the immediate and certain effect of regulations controlling the competition of foreign with domestic fabrics was an increase of price, it is universally true that the contrary is the ultimate effect of every successful manufacture. When a domestic manufacture has attained to perfection and has engaged in the prosecution of it a competent number of persons, it invariably becomes cheaper. Being free from the heavy charges which attend the importation of foreign commodities, it can be afforded cheaper, and accordingly seldom or never fails to be afforded cheaper in process of time than was the foreign article for which it is the substitute. The internal competition which takes place soon does away with everything like monopoly, and by degrees reduces the price of the article to the minimum of a reasonable profit on the capital employed."—Social Science.

MONSTERS OF THE DEEP.

Manner of Building the Modern Ocean Steamer.

Perhaps the finest illustration of the inventive and constructive genius of man to be found in the world today, is one of the superb steamships which have of late years reduced the vast Atlantic Ocean to little more than an Anglo-American lake. Take for instance, any one of the most recent additions to the splendid fleet of "ocean greyhounds," it hardly seems possible for even the most brilliant imagination to conceive a more structure more perfect in all those details that go-pther constitute the sense of safety, speed and luxury. If other steamers may with sufficient accuracy be called floating hotels, this one might with equal propriety be termed a floating club-house as well as a hotel of the highest class. For the purpose of this article a brief survey of the dimensions and equipment of such a steamer will make a good starting point.

Her length is say 560 feet breadth, 58 feet, depth, 42 feet. She is by far one of the largest vessels in the world, her displacement, when fully loaded, being not less than 18,000 tons, a figure surpassed, if at all, only by one or two of the huge Italian ironclads recently launched. It is not easy to give any just conception of what the above dimensions mean, or to help those who have never seen one of these floating palaces to realize the enormous amount of constructive talent, adaptive skill and artistic feeling, as well as money, that they represent. In the words of the Engineer, it is perhaps because it seemed almost impossible to do so gigantic a subject justice that the Britons, if we may use the word of Atlantic passenger steamships is deplorably meager."

Nothing than art and science can do to render the ship beautiful without and within, luxurious, safe and swift is left out of account. In addition to being minutely subdivided by athwartship bulkheads there is a longitudinal bulkhead running fore and aft and forming a mighty backbone that gives additional rigidity to the whole structure, greatly increasing the security in event of accident. Furthermore the decks, dividing the different compartments are so shut instantly from the rest by one day pulling small wire ropes while there are automatic arrangements by which these doors will close of themselves if the water rises unduly in the bilges.

As to the fittings and furnishings that contribute to the ease and comfort of the human passengers it would require volumes to describe them. The chief architectural feature in such steamers, of course, the saloon, is in all becomes a fascinating ball-room of unusual proportions. The saloon often consists sixty feet, and is usually the full ship in width. Fancy an apartment being at one's disposal for an evening. Standing upon the lofty dais of dazzling colors you see a gay throng, dotted in the multitude, whirling, the golden figures of light and moveable dancers. Yet, on the richly [illegible] work of English skill, and about twenty feet in their rear rise rich brass opposite [illegible] quickly grasp the [illegible] that splendor is simply [illegible] the old and avoid the new [illegible] bring more property to [illegible] of short mighty moments [illegible] feeling is produced by the [illegible] with their wide [illegible] of gleaming brass, [illegible] abounding in [illegible] gorgeous smoking-rooms [illegible] and the new [illegible] of the [illegible] of which the population of a [illegible] town might stay comfortably, for her normal carrying capacity is 1,500 saloon passengers, 175 second class and 450 steerage passengers, up with the 168 engineers, etc., in discharge from the 40 stokers in the forward, the 23 cooks in the galley and the 60 stewards in the pantry, nearly 1,600 souls; 3,000 tons of food and 1,000 tons of cargo being carried besides.

Here then we have excellently illustrated the utmost that man, so far at least, has achieved in the line of naval architecture for the passenger service. Competing lines will no doubt make it their business to see the latest addition to the fleet and go one better. They will perhaps succeed in creating some further improvements, but it is not likely that such amounts as those in Bellamy's A. D. 2000, at all events as will have any such marine monarch as that outlined in the following words. She will be some quarter of a mile in length, and will do the passage from Sandy Hook to Liverpool in thirty-six hours, being one day and one night out. She will be driven by electricity, and in such a fashion as to keep railway time, despite fog or storm. Passages can be secured by flash photographs. Edison's patent and the theater will include an organ still as a concert ticket or a seat in a church pew—the opera house cement hall, and church being all in fashion. A covered ring for horse exercise will also be provided, and a perfect track for fast trotters. A baseball ground and tennis courts will also form a portion of the attractions. For business men a stock exchange will be opened, the quotations being posted from the tickers every two minutes on the elevation system. The leading papers of all countries will be reprinted each morning by the electric reflection system. A spacious conservatory, containing the choicest flowers of all climates, will afford an agreeable lounging place, and the bouquets will be provided gratis."

BULWER'S REPARTEE.

Wits Passed Between the Novelist and Lord Palmerston.

In reading in last Sunday's Times Richard B. Kimball's interesting account of Bulwer, I was reminded of an incident that happened in parliament in July, 1855, which illustrates the great adaptive good humor and quickness of repartee. A nice man, Mr. Hilliard Bedonaby, a member of parliament for the North Riding of York from 1852 to 1868, had taken me into the house—stranger's gallery—and was showing me the celebrities. Of course I was anxious to see the author of "Pelham"—I was only a boy then—and I was fortunate to hear him, too. It happened thus. The debate was on Lord John (afterward earl) Russell's ignominious failure during his mission at Vienna to bring the Crimean war to an end, and the opposition was very hot against the party in power. At last Lord Palmerston, then prime minister, rose and got to talking in a hectoring way about "this unnecessary and unprovoked attack upon the government," and ended by saying in a loud voice and looking straight at the two literary members—Bulwer and Disraeli—who were sitting together in the front of the opposition bench—"The gentlemen are making Much Ado About Nothing."

He sat down amid loud cheers from his own side, but in an instant Bulwer was up, and with exquisite grace and sarcasm said:

"Mr. Speaker"—then turning to low slightly toward the treasury bench—"I beg to remind the noble lord that in cromnicgiendcr Much Ado About Nothing comes after the Comedy of Errors."

I have readers of Shakespeare to imagine the tumultuous roar—"Hear! Hear!" from the conservative side and the laughter all over the house.—New York Times.

MARRIAGE NOT A FAILURE.

The Husband Found the Value of a Wife Before he Paid for Her.

A Fall River clergyman tells an interesting story of a wedding fee. He was settled in New York city and one day had a church wedding. After the ceremony the groom handed him from his pocket-book a wad which the pastor subsequently found to be wrapers of paper to the mouth of about a dozen, inside of which was a bright cent. He didn't know how to regard this token, whether as a joke or in earnest. The bride's father, however, the minister wondering what has become of the pair, of whom he only knew that they were intending to live in New York.

One day, the first anniversary of the marriage, a letter came from the man enclosing a check for $50, which he wished the pastor to accept as his proper wedding fee. No explanation was given of the original compression, and the clergyman was left to construe it as best he could; he was, however, inclined to believe, after the receipt of the $50 that the man must have been poor at the time of the ceremony, and (though why one cent was chosen remains a mystery) folded the sum so effectually that others seeing the paper might have no idea of what was in it, and curiously that the bride might not know the amount. It is evident that the man had prospered during the year, and that he considered he had got his money's worth.—Fall River News.

A Diamond Neck-Lace.

A diamond necklace was possessed by Mme. Geoffrey de St. Hilaire, the wife of the famous French naturalist. It was one of the chiefest of her ornaments, as Hindoo women spoil term their jewels. One day, madame missed her necklace. There was a terrible turmoil in the house, and all the servants, down to the foolish, fat scullers, were suspected, but in turn proved their innocence. At last it was remembered that M. de St. Hilaire had a pet monkey, and, on a search being made in the "glory hole" of the quadrumane, the precious bauble was discovered hidden away, with a white satin shoe, several cigar ends, a pencil case, and a decomposed apple. The renowned naturalist calmly observed that he had frequently seen the monkey playing with the necklace. "Why did you not take it from him?" indignantly asked his spouse. "I thought it belonged to him," replied M. de St. Hilaire. He evidently thought there was nothing nonsensical in an ape possessing a diamond necklace as his personal property.—Argonaut.

It is the Law.

Here is a little incident which may happen in San Francisco almost any time under the operation of the Chinese exclusion law:

Officer—"I hear a new Chinaman has arrived at your house without accounting for himself to the emigration officer."

Ah Wang—"There he."

"Is he a returned merchant? Has he ever been in the country before?"

"He has not."

"Then I suppose you know it is against the law for him to stay here."

"I did not know it."

"Well, it is so. Produce him."

"But he is only a baby. He was born this morning."

"That makes no difference. Unless he can prove a previous residence in the United States he will have to be sent back to the country where he came from. The law is explicit."

To Make Fabrics Fireproof.

Get some tungstate of soda, which is prepared expressly for rendering fabrics fire-proof. It can be had of any chemist. The directions for use are as follows: To three parts of dry starch add one part of tungstate of soda, and use the starch in the ordinary way. If the material does not require starching, mix in the proportion of one pound of tungstate of soda to two gallons of water, saturate the fabric well in this solution, and dry.

Railway Speed.

The best speed of a railway train is only a little more than half the velocity of the golden eagle, the flight of which is often at the rate of one hundred and forty miles an hour. Of all birds the condor mounts the highest into the atmosphere. Humboldt describes the flight of this bird to be so active to be at least twenty thousand feet above the level of the sea.

Good Advice.

A tinted Parisian, after wasting much time in the Louvre in vain endeavoring to hire a model, by hook or crook, to be properly arranged as a pupil of Gerome, Day after day the unhappy artist came into his place before the model, and sketched as best he could. Finally Gerome paused before the new pupil, one day, and said: "You come here in the morning what do you do in the afternoon?" "Oh," said the nobleman, "I ride in the Bois, see a few my friends, and then dress for dinner." "You do," mused the master; "don't you think you'd bother do the same things in the morning also?" The next week a new pupil had the nobleman's place in front of the model.—Argonaut.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows, with grain and Grass Seeder,	33 00
	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State for the Money) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wire rds. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GREAT!

That is what our big book offer is. We have been giving away glassware with every tea dollar traded with us. Now we are going to give you something better. We will give P. T. Barnum's great work, with every $20 traded with us. This book is profusely illustrated with about 400 engravings by the best artists in Europe and America, and should be in every house. This is an expensive advertisement and cannot last long. You will want winter boots and shoes soon, come and get them now.

"Wild Beasts, Birds and Reptiles of the World, a Story of their Capture."

Those who have glassware coming, please get it now.

SHERWOOD

The Electric Age SHOE

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering, THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK, Dealer in Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

Call and Sample Goods.

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continuously on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES Of Splendid MICHIGAN LANDS For Sale By The G. R. & I. R. R. 30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are situated with beech and maple and other valuable hardwood timber.

By Water and Rail

And are in a state unequalled for health, well watered, with good markets at the door for all kinds of farm products.

The Great Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 150,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Of those who have purchased we can refer to over 1,000 who have made payments on their lands and have received their titles.

Over 100,000 acres have been cleared and are now in a good state of cultivation.

Over 1,000 miles of roads have been opened in the territory.

Over 100 miles of railroad have been built in the territory.

Over 1,000 settlers have located in the territory.

Over 500 dwellings have been built by settlers.

Over 300 families have located in the territory.

Over 400 families have located on the lands.

Over 1,000 families have located in the territory.

Over 1,000 families have located in the territory.

Over 1,000 families have located in the territory

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

CHILI MUST TAKE CARE.

An Ohio Gravel Train Rolls Down a Bank—Auburn Thirteen in Peril—Brakeman Red Hot Bullets—Killed by His Friends in the Dismount.

[illegible]

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

[illegible]

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

[illegible]

GENERAL NOTES.

[illegible]

SOUTHERN INCIDENTS.

[illegible]

STOCKS TO HIGHER WAGES

[illegible]

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

[illegible]

JOSEPH BALES' CRIME.

He Coolly Stabs a Civilian Laborer in the Brave.

[illegible]

"LE BRAVE" LAST MORT!

BOULANGER PUTS A BULLET IN HIS BRAIN.

With Boots and Gloves On—Theatrical Ending of the Great Impostor's Life—Story of His Successes and His Disgraceful Ending.

[illegible]

GUATEMALANS REVOLT.

THE POPULACE SEEK BARILLAS' BLOOD.

Soldiers Defied on the National Holiday and Show Their Power—Military Used to Suppress the Rioters—The Opening of an International Railroad—Other Foreign Items.

[illegible]

CURRENT COMMENT.

Gauge Signals.

England seems determined that the Behring Sea question shall rest in suspense until as long as she can find any obstacles to throw in the way of a satisfactory solution of a very simple problem.—Baltimore American.

The Times seems to be that Great Britain has serious misgivings of some time Fourth-of-July celebration in the most important island belonging to China, and that she is anxious for calling hungry eye—St. Norman.—Detroit Free Press.

Out of all the contradictions of recent "news," and the mere fortunate fact of a jolly war between sovereign authorities, the fact is apparent that the harmony of the European world has not during recent years been in greater peril than it is at this hour.—New York Sun.

[illegible]

THE BOOMING CANNON.

RECITALS OF STIRRING CAMP AND BATTLE INCIDENTS.

Survivors of the Rebellion Relate Amusing and Thrilling Incidents of Weary Marches, Long Hits, Foraging Experiences, and Battle Scenes.

The Old Canteen.

There are hosts of all sorts in this world of mine
Lovers of friendship and lovers of flowers,
And one young house I sound
The girl and the boy, the lad and the lass
But there's never a hand, old friend, like this,
We have drank from the same canteen!

It was sometimes a pale and sweetness bills,
And sometimes sagebrush, but as old
But whatever the liquid that we drank
We shared it together in home or bliss
And I make a toast, friend, when I drink of the
We have drank from the same canteen!

The rich and the great sit down to dine,
And they quaff to each other a sparkling wine
Possessions of coveted and green,
But I prefer to their golden potations tiny
The warm water of the canteen!

We have drank from the same canteen!

We have shared our blankets and tents in
And kept each other from harm
And have sworn to stand or fall together
We have drank from the same canteen!

[illegible]

THE MARKET QUESTION.

FOREIGN MARKETS AND THOSE AT HOME.

Shall Our Markets Be Opened to Other Nations in Order that We Secure Markets in Foreign Markets?—Democrats Talk of an Obliquitous Tariff Commission—Ben Franklin's Belief in Buying at Home.

Let Free-Trade Speak.

The relative value of home and foreign articles, says Joseph Nimmo, ex-chief of the bureau of statistics, "is the chief factor in the tariff policy and as it leads, is conclusive of the wisdom of the protective system." Mr. Nimmo, ex-Democrat, has continued, prepared for him a most valuable table from which it appears:

1. That the total value of the exports of merchandise from the countries of Europe in foreign commerce was for the latest year of commercial statistics $2,000,000,000.

2. That the total value of such exports to countries other than Europe in foreign commerce was $1,934,330,347, of which $337,000,000 was to the United States. The trade between the different countries of Europe, and especially between neighboring countries, corresponds with our interstate commerce and is the natural outlet for the surplus of the state. Thus the total value of exports from Europe to Europe in foreign commerce was for the latest year of commercial statistics $2,000,000,000.

2. That the total value of such exports to countries other than Europe in foreign commerce was for the latest year of commercial statistics $1,934,330,347, of which $337,000,000 was to the United States. The trade between the different countries of Europe, and especially between neighboring countries, corresponds with our interstate commerce and is the natural outlet for the surplus of the state. Thus the total value of exports from Europe to Europe in foreign commerce was for the latest year of commercial statistics $2,000,000,000.

[illegible]

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

SERIOUS SUBJECTS CAREFULLY CONSIDERED.

A Scholarly Exposition of the Lesson—Thoughts Worthy of Close Reflection—Hint as Show's Study of the Scriptures—Time Well Spent.

Christ Foretelling His Death.

The lesson for Sunday, June 17, may be found in John 12: 20-36.

Christ is now crucified as the tribe of Judah, and the Jews, and the Greeks, and the Romans, and the Gentiles, and the Christians, and the Mohammedans, and the Jews, and the Christians, and the Jews, and the Christians, and the Jews, and the Christians

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 14, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The schooner Florence Smith is still at the shipyard in the hands of the carpenters.

The tug Avery has been chartered by Connable & Sons, for fall fishing from this port.

Geo. Weaver has sold his half interest in the schooner Winnie Weaver to Patty Flanigan.

The schooner Peoria has been chartered to bring two cargoes of ties from Traverse City for the railroad company.

The tug Parks went to Manistee after Allmendinger's pile-driver for the railroad bridge job. She arrived yesterday morning.

Commodore Webb, of the Traverse Bay line, is to be build another boat at Grand Haven this winter, to carry 400 passengers, and run 18 miles an hour.

The schooner Eveline Bates that was sunk in Beaver Harbor the last of August was sold at Petoskey last Monday by the U. S. Marshal to Capt. Nell Gallagher for $225.00.

The report comes from the Detroit Dry Dock company, says the Chicago Trebune, that the Delta Transportation company has experts at work on the plans for a couple of modern fast sailing propellers to be built during the coming winter. The boats are to be run from Chicago to Mackinac Island and Cheboygan, and will make two round trips a week. The Soo City, owned by this line, is said to have made lots of money this season.

Beech nuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel. F. E. Woon & Co.

Norwood Notes.

Potatoes are 15 cents a bushel, why don't someone start a starch factory.

The Norwood Band were invited up to Wm. Knight's house in Banks last Friday night, and—well—there's no use in trying to tell about all the good things that were eaten, but as Fred Jackson said if he could get out with the band once or twice more he fatten up like a Thanksgiving turkey.

Miss Nillie Pearl was married at East Jordan Saturday to Mr. Nelson Nesseu.

The County fairs as they are located and run are about played out. What the farmers need is a Farmers' Fair centrally located so the farmers can easily reach and get home again the same night. A fair of this kind we believe can be carried on successfully. Let the townships of Norwood, Marion and Banks organize such a fair.

The Norwood kids got beaten at Eastport last Saturday.

Chas. Brown and family have moved back to Mancelona for the winter.

Harm Wilson has the stallion owned by Wm. Nelson, of Boyne Falls, over here. He is a fine looking animal.

Wm. Harris went to Boyne City Monday to attend Supervisors meeting.

G. V. Nash went to Traverse City Tuesday.

Prof. Westgate was over from East Jordan last Sunday.

Beech nuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel. F. E. Woon & Co.

Hastings from Hayes.

Alex Ross has moved to Charlevoix and will engage in fishing.

Walter Ford has been visiting at Waterloo, Canada, and returned last Friday.

Ben Ostrum has moved his fishing outfit to Big Rock Point.

Geo. Hendee and wife have been visiting in Indiana.

M. Plank and family returned from La Grange, Ind., last Saturday.

Willis Fox, of Carpenter, has been visiting in southern Michigan.

The railroad iron will be laid to the gravel pit near the county line by the time you read this.

—Connable & Sons have purchased the Pat O'Neill fishing outfit.

—The board of Supervisors have fixed the salary of the Deputy Clerk and Fish Warden at $10 per month. Orville D. Hilton, of Norwood, is the gentleman who receives this princely salary.

—J. H. Millin, the new Lewis Grand Opera House clothier, arrives to-day with his goods. Mrs. Millin has been here a week, and has already occupied the lawood residence, on the north side.

—John Cummings, one of Fireman J. W. Markey's men, at work on the railroad coal dock, was seriously hurt yesterday. A heavy timber fell on his breast. He was brought to the Fountain City House, and will be laid up two weeks or more.

LADIES:
This Vitally Interests You.
LISTEN!
We have a full line of Cashmere, Spanish and Fleece-Lined
HOSIERY.
At prices that will surprise you. We call your especial attention to our 25 cent all wool hose.
MASON & BERDAN.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning service, 11:30, subject, Doctrine and Life. Evening, 7:30, subject, A Contrast.

Methodist.

Next Sunday sermons by the pastor. Morning, "God's Law;" evening "Angels."

Northern Michigan News.

Rev. C. F. Van Auken is holding a series of revival meetings at Central Lake.

Elk Rapids will have a big celebration when the first train enters the town.

H. Hammond, father of W. L. Hammond, cashier of the First National bank at Traverse City is dead.

The Antrim county fair in Mancelona was an unqualified success. All the old officers of the society were elected.

So far this season, Messrs. Redenbaugh, of Mancelona, have shipped over $1,000 worth of ginseng root for exportation to China.

Nell Gallager says that there is a prospect of Chicago parties establishing a summer resort on Beaver Island in the near future.

The survey of the projected Cheboygan & East Michigan railroad has been completed. Construction will not begin until next spring.

A Traverse City man has secured the contract to manufacture certain poles, rings and brackets for a Chicago firm, and the new industry will give employment to forty hands.

While digging for a rabbit in a hollow log at Cheboyganing creek, Sunday, W. M. Guisin, of Saginaw, found a real curiosity. It is petrified rabbit and is in a good state of preservation.

Northport is making great improvements. The sound of the hammer and saw can be heard on every side, and the sidewalks and roads are being nicely repaired. It will soon throw its neighbor towns in the shade. Hurrah, for Northport!

Elder Moors, formerly presiding elder of the Grand Traverse district, has returned with his family to his farm in Montcalm county. It seems that the church at Three Rivers, where he was appointed protested against it, and when he came closed the doors of the church against him. They think he is a good man but they do not want him.

Woodard, the Grand Traverse man whose hired man fired his winchester into a crowd of neighbors because they protested against the public sale of their cattle that had broken into Woodard's fields, is likely to acquire a large amount of court experience. The carcasses of seventeen cattle have been found on his farm, and the whole neighborhood is vibrating with excitement.

A Hacker Springs man wrote a confidential letter to Game Warden Hampton asking permission to hang over a few deer that were getting fat on his buckwheat, and promising the warden large juicy slices of the venison. The warden sternly retorted that if he found out that a deer had been near he would "hang" the farmer a $50 fine regardless of the offer to divide the spoils.

At the election of officers for the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society on Friday last, Wm. Mears, of Boyne Falls, was re-elected President; J. H. Stone of this place was elected Secretary and H. B. Hipp re-elected Treasurer. Ransom Jones, of South Arm, was elected Director to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Jas. L. Campbell; and Messrs. Hubert Trimble and John Ward, of Charlevoix, M. J. Staley, of Ironton, and Geo. W. Allen, of South Arm, were elected Directors for the full term.

WHEN YOU COME TO TOWN
LOOK OUT FOR THE
CARS AT THE CROSSINGS.

New Bedford Cords, 60c.
New Cashmeres, 20, 35 and 40.
New Linens, 25, 35 and 50.
Heaviest Kersy Pants Cloth, 48c.
Sovereign Serges, 12 1-2 Cents.
Celluloid Collars, 15c.

FROM OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS. WE WILL GIVE ALL CASH PURCHASERS A DISCOUNT ON ALL BILLS THAT WILL BE WORTH LOOKING AFTER.
ENQUIRE!

Ladies' Gray Natural Wool UNDERWEAR, 65c.
Ladies Ribbed, 25c.
Wool Hose, 25, 35 and 50.
You can't help but find something useful on our NOTION TABLE.
CLOAKS,
JACKETS,
WRAPS.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Where Did You Get That Hat?
at GEO. W. MILLER'S
And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A
BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that my son is emancipated and I will not pay any debts of their contracting. CHAS. CHAMPNEY.
Charlevoix, Oct. 14, 1891. 1-1t

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Sale of Lands for Unpaid Taxes of the Year 1890.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
County of Charlevoix, } ss.
Village of Charlevoix, }

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to law there will be sold for delinquent tax so of the year of 1890, the following lands, on the 3rd day of Nov. 1891, at the Village of Charlevoix, in said County and State, Monday, the 9th day of November, A. D. 1891, commencing at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, and continuing until such sale is completed, the following described lands, or so much thereof as may be necessary, lying and being within the corporate limits of said village of Charlevoix, to wit:

	Name.	Taxes.	Interest.	Total.
Lots 1 & block 17		$7 75	50	$8 25
Lots 1 & 2 block 1 (used as a school house)		11 00	70	11 70
Lots 3 & 4 block 24 (office and 1½ lots in rear of same)		10 00	65	10 65
Lots 5, 6, 7, 8 block 24 (Hotel Charlevoix)		50 00	3 00	53 00
Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 block 4 (Dr. Sherman's residence)		15 00	90	15 90
Lots 5, 6, 7, 8 block 4 (Dr. Sherman's office)		15 00	90	15 90
Lots 1 and 2 block 5		10 00	65	10 65
Lots 3 and 4 block 5		10 00	65	10 65
Lots 5, 6, 7, 8 block 5 (used as a school house)		20 00	1 20	21 20
Lots 1 and 2 block 6		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 3 and 4 block 6		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 5, 6, 7, 8 block 6		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 block 11		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 5, 6, 7, 8 block 11		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 block 17		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 5, 6, 7, 8 block 17		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 block 23		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 5, 6, 7, 8 block 23		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition to the village of Charlevoix		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 1		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 2		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 3		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 4		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 5		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 6		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 7		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 8		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 9		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 10		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 11		1 00	10	1 10
W. H. Gale's addition block 12		1 00	10	1 10
CLEVENHAM'S ADDITION.
Lots 1, 2, block 10		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 3, 4, block 10		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 5, 6, block 10		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 7, 8, block 10		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 1, 2, block 11		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 3, 4, block 11		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 5, 6, block 11		1 00	10	1 10
Lots 7, 8, block 11		1 00	10	1 10
SAWYER'S ADDITION.
Lot 1, block 27		2 75	30	2 05
Lot 2, block 27		2 75	30	2 05
Lot 3, block 27		2 75	30	2 05
STRONG'S & ELLIOTT'S ADDITION
Lot 10		50	05	55
Lot 11		50	05	55
Lot 12		50	05	55
Lots 20 and 21		1 00	10	1 10
Lot 27		50	05	55
Lots 196 and 197		1 00	10	1 10
Lot 198		50	05	55
Lots 199 and 200		50	05	55

FRANK E. WOOD,
Village Treasurer.

Traverse City Methodists reopened their church lately. The building has been in the hands of the workmen during the past three months and has been greatly improved.

A guileless female agent sold a large amount of rock ribbed flint pottery to Elk Rapids ladies, and the aforesaid pottery went to pieces the moment it was placed upon the stove. The ladies were unable to fully express their feelings but their husbands said it for them.

Beech nuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel. F. E. Woon & Co.

Guaranteed Cure.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a Cough, Cold or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co's drugstore.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, stockman and farmer, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or does;" he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at F. G. Hines & Co's. 2

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-1f

W. H. McCARTNEY.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES, a new stock, cheap as the cheapest.

STATIONERY, the best stock and lowest prices in the county.

CHARCOL SKIN PAPER, the finest paper for ladies' use in town.

GOOD WRITING PAPER 5, 8, 10, 12, and 15 cents per quire.

ENVELOPES FROM 5 to 15 cents per bunch

TYPE WRITER PAPER.

PENS, INKS, PENCILS, TABLETS and all the STOCKING of a first-class Stationery line.

BOOKS of all kinds.

POSTAGE STAMP CASE, carries 96 stamps. Cannot stick together.

THOMPSON'S PICKET SPELLER, containing a dictionary, rules in common use, memoranda, etc. Can be carried in vest pocket, only 50c.

W. H. McCARTNEY.

Keep Your House Warm. And Why Not.

Charlevoix Boiler Works announce that they have steel boiler plate furnaces right in stock. Built now. Prices way down. Only $27.50 each, and are building more every day. Guaranteed first class.
H. BARTH, Prop. 14-4t

FOR SALE.

Large scale of part enlarged Map of E. Jordan and E. quarter of section 16, township of Charlevoix, showing the following subdivisions: Hill's addition, Hill's addition to the village of Charlevoix, Clement's addition, Chamberlain's addition, Hill's addition to the village of Charlevoix, Hill's addition to the village of Charlevoix, Hill's addition to the village of Charlevoix

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

TWO MIGHTY RACERS.

THE IOWA WONDER WINS FROM THE EAST.

Serious Accident at an Indiana Crossing—Disastrous Blaze in the South Canoe of Pullman's Finest New Map of Alaska—Escaped Lepers.

[COPYRIGHTED, 1891 AND 1892.]

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa, was insane with joy last night. Word came that Alfred Smith, in his match 50-hoss-at-stroud Rapids, Mich., was a mile and a half behind the secretary, entire with a walk, stop and wave a handkerchief and. The fourth office, American Express office and bulletin boards of the politics were besieged in a hospital on a dozen such wishing with lectures instead for reports of the great stalling race. The news that Smith had won the first heat was received so nearly by reports of Auburn's success that the disappointment was in a fall. Three brass bands blared merrily, and every man chant contributed his week of pocket for before and thought was 40 to with Lilliput buttles.

Second Heat Was Slow Work.

LIBERTY, Schuyler has not returned to Victoria, B. C., from Alaska, and in the account of his trip says: "Occupied about 500 or ten miles of tonsilly on known country, and, of course, a good deal on each side. We have secured a thousand, maps, which was taken the last days of the geological survey at Washington. Also thousands of bulletins of specimens was made, and photographs taken of everything of interest. The most important feature of the whole trip was the successful breaking through of the St. Elias ranges a feat never before accomplished by man. All the party are well. The women was hoodwinked in the extreme and full of great danger at times."

Stumped—Four the Crisis.

EDGEWATER Iowa, goes out as the cause of the death of Mr. Farmel, but a post-mortem examination will be held in order to decide conflicts. The pressure of the first reins on overtaking grave of Farmel is less encouraging. The news from Fairville announces, both in City at Britain and Ireland, continue the same action that although will be made to keep up the organizations with the same motives and aims as heretofore. Much depends upon a meeting of the Farmel's month red at Dublin city, which takes place soon after the burying of Farmel. Great shand reaches to give up the moment is thought that the various Irelands will follow suit.

Tree Lemon Mowing.

A sensation was that occurred here. Thirteen inches in sawing. Wing lost board of the, car, found for New York, was found cut out of Lawrence. The board were trouble, with a crack of water and a barrel of board. The car door was sealed. The car should have reached New York a week ago. If the thousand Farmel's friend is related in getting a card the authorities on the United States issued Friends of the forgers would like to know what kind be cause of Thousand to world. Dr. New York Health Board.

Amalgamating Coming.

WHITE HAVEN, Pa., also Jim Hawkins and Mrs. Mary Welch, of Scranton, Iowa, were hurled from the track in a buggy, their unhoods was attach to the rear platform of a passenger engine. Mrs. Welch suffered a broken leg and a fracture of the skull, but is rational beyond all doubt. "I knew he was drunk," said the buggy driver into knowing word.

Jones by Fire.

Fire destroyed the mansion occupied by August Bennett and family in New York, completely ruining its entry contents and leaving a loss estimated at $20,000. Mrs. Fellmann, two children and the servants had narrow escapes from death. The fire started on the second floor and was caused by a defective wire.

Tree Lemon Mowing.

A sensation was that occurred here. Thirteen inches in sawing. Wing lost board of the, car, found for New York, was found cut out of Lawrence. The board were trouble, with a crack of water and a barrel of board. The car door was sealed. The car should have reached New York a week ago. If the thousand Farmel's friend is related in getting a card the authorities on the United States issued Friends of the forgers would like to know what kind because

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.

CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 21, 1891.

Battles of the Future.

The most Diabolical and Military inventions injected new blood into the aged and infirm European war rumor, set military men to thinking of arms and implements of their sanguinary business, and caused lovers of peace to review with dread the probable consequences of collisions between large bodies of men armed and equipped with the terrible weapons and war materials which have been invented during recent years.

Battles of the future will undoubtedly be attended by awful carnage, and the frightful efficacy of some of the new weapons of war has probably had no small influence in maintaining the present peaceful condition of things in the Old World. Even so warlike a sovereign as the young Emperor of Germany is moved to entertain hope of continuous peace by the heaviness of European armaments, the potency of newly-discovered explosives, and the efficiency of newly invented rifles and cannon.

Smokeless powder will be used in the battles of the future, and no farseeing clouds of vapor and gas will shield combatants from the marksmen of the enemy. There are now hundreds of varieties of the smokeless ammunition, and no nation will have a monopoly of its use. Dynamite will be used, in bombs fired from pneumatic and other guns, and terrorize, which is said to be ten times more forceful than dynamite, will cause frightful havoc on land and sea.

Artillery has been improved to such an extent that the slaughter of the battle field will be augmented, and the country miles to the rear of contending armies made uninhabitable. Archibald Forbes, the famous foreign war correspondent, said in one of his lectures that the improvement in the efficacy of rifles had made it impossible for a correspondent to do field service without sharing the danger of the combatants. The modern rifle kills with neatness and dispatch at a distance of two miles, and big siege guns can drop a shot into a camp fifteen miles away.

Thus far the armorer has been unable to keep pace with the increasing efficacy of the big guns for use on men-of-war, although he has made marked improvement in the methods of making and hardening armor plates. And the torpedo has made the biggest and most heavily armed vessels of war as vulnerable as toys.

What noise and what slaughter there will be when the general unloosing of the war dogs in Europe occurs! Cannon balls will pierce walls of steel and oak, dynamite and terrorite will drop from the skies in the midst of brigades and bullets will pour in torrents from rifles which are notoriously loaded after each discharge. No wonder the inventors of war material and weapons are coming to be regarded as conservers of peace.

HUMAN SHARKS.

Nothing is more distressing than the discovery that one you have trusted as a friend, and one in whom you have reposed confidence, is no more nor less than a human shark; that friendship has been professed solely in order to get near enough to you to rob you. The world has altogether too many of these "friends" of both sexes. When they are women they are oily, soft-voiced, but cold, calculating, unsexed pirates, engaged before the public in "good works," but with as little real heart as East Indian thugs or Silician bandits. They accept all your kindness and aid with protestations of unself regard and, when they go from you, you discover your heavy worldly loss, though there is a compensating gain in being rid of such slimy associates.

Twenty-six members of the British Parliament, belonging to what is known as the Parnell branch of the Irish party, have issued a manifesto to the people of Ireland, in which they declare that there can be no union with the Justice McCarthy wing of the party, which numbers forty members, unless the McCarthyites come to their terms and bow their heads to the Parnell yoke. This is an unfortunate manifesto, as it is sure to continue the factional quarrels in the Irish party and prevent the Irish members of Parliament from forming a solidly with the advanced Liberals of Great Britain. But the Irish patriots, the world over, is known to be so unreasoning that he prefers an alternative to a condition of concord and amity; and therefore when he has no real grievance his imagination or his passions will conjure one to keep apart men whose interests are alike, and who would largely gain by mutual good will.

Northern Michigan News.

Traverse City's $200,000 bonus captured Manceloua's oval wood dish factory.

Water is so low in Cheboygan river that even the smaller tugs run aground.

By a vote of 115 to 28 Manceloua has decided to bond the town for $1,000 for waterworks system.

Charles Werner, a Manceloua carpenter, fell into an eight-foot well lately and was instantly killed.

Wm. H. White & Co., of Boyne City, have bought over 400 acres of timbered land within two weeks.

A Bay City taxidermist has a white deer for mounting. It was killed by Prof. Swift of the St. Ignace high school.

W. H. White, of Boyne City, has purchased the Mears water mill. It will be stocked and operated to its fullest capacity.

Beer are reported more plentiful in the upper peninsula this fall than at any other time since the oldest inhabitant settled there.

Isaac Shipman, formerly of Norwood, and well known in this part of the county, died at Traverse City last week, aged 61 years.

A Traverse City man reports that the Toledo & Ann Arbor folks are coming to Traverse City, then to Elk Rapids and up the shore.

The boats of the Northern Michigan line and the Seymour line carried 5,000 passengers out of Petoskey and brought about the same number in, making 10,000 passengers carried by the two during the season.

The editor of the Elk "apids Progress formally announced that he counted sixty cows in front of the town hall one day last week, and the pasturage on that street was not as good as on some others either.

The Mackinaw Lumber Co. is quietly closing out all its business about St. Ignace. The company has sold nearly all its standing timber, and its heretofore extensive dealings are dwindling down to "business on a small scale."

J. L. Handy, the Boyne City drug gist, is building a new store, 60x22ft, on the corner of Lake and Water sts. White & Co. are building an addition to their store, and G. M. Kerry is closing up the lot next to his shop with a view of building a new one.

The County Treasurer paid poor orders to the sum of $4,751.34 during the fiscal year ending September 30. Last year they amounted to $5,407.81.

——During the year the mortgage on the Poor Farm has been paid an Antrim county is entirely out of debt. The amount of cash on hand October 1st, 1891 was $13,523.48.

DIFFERENT WAYS OF SLEEPING.

Europeans Like Soft Pillows, but Eastern Races Like Blocks.

Though it is true, as the author of a school composition once asserted, that "sleeping is a universal practice among all nations," it is also true that there is a great diversity in the methods of sleeping among people of different nations and different ways of life, says the Youth's Companion. The things that one needs to make him sleep are precisely the things which would keep another awake all night. Even the sedative medicines which put one person immediately into a heavy slumber excite another into a condition of nervous restlessness.

The European or American, in order to sleep well, ordinarily requires a downy pillow under his head; but the Japanese, stretching himself upon a rush-mat on the floor, puts a hard, square block of wood under his head, and does not sleep well if he does not have it.

The Chinese makes great account of his bed, which is very low, indeed—scarcely rising from the floor—but is often carved exquisitely of wood; but it never occurs to him to make it any softer than rush-mats will render it.

While the people of northern countries can not sleep unless they have plenty of room to stretch out their legs, the inhabitants of the tropics often curl themselves up like monkeys at the lower angle of a suspended hammock, and sleep soundly in that position.

The robust American often covers himself with a pair of blankets and throws his window wide open to the air, even in the winter time, and he does not complain if he finds a little drift of snow across the top of his bed in the morning.

The Russian, on the contrary, likes no sleeping-place so well as the top of the big soapstone stove in his dwelling. Crawling out of this blistering bed in the morning he likes to take a plunge in a cold stream, even if he has to break through the ice to get into it.

The Laplander crawls, head and all, into a bag made of reindeer skin and sleeps warm and comfortable within it. The East Indian, at the other end of the world, also has a sleeping-bag, but it is more porous than the Laplander's. Its purpose is to keep out mosquitoes more than to keep the sleeper warm.

While the American still clings to his feather pillow he is steadily discarding his old-fashioned feather bed in favor of the hair or straw mattress. The feather bed is relegated to the country and many people who slept upon it all through their childhood find themselves uncomfortable upon it in their maturity.

The German not only sleep upon a feather bed, but underneath one. The feather covering used in Germany, however, is not so large or thick as the one which is used as a mattress, and the foreigner who undertakes to sleep beneath it often finds his feet suffering from cold, while his shoulders are suffering from heat.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

The Dreary, Monotonous, Tread-Mill Round in Her Face.

Every day of her life she goes through the dreary, monotonous round. At an early hour, every morning through the hot summer, she prepares the same black coffee and fried pork (perhaps hot biscuits), and before she can clear away the breakfast things and make the bed she hears the calves bleating, the milk-cow stamping, both impatient to have the morning's business done with. Then comes the dreary routine of the forenoon's work, the baking of bread, the washing, and the like, until the meridian sun warns her that the everlasting milking time is due and must be ready at once. To round up the duties and responsibilities of the day her labors are carried far into the night, and often, very often, they continue long after those of the male portion have ended. Sleep has long since ceased to think about her personal appearance. A tender kiss from her husband would almost surprise her. Once she grieved that her little girls were so homely; children, she sorrowfully thinks of it. That she should have a spare hour every day to read never enters her head and the bare suggestion that on a very Sunday she should "dress up" is of severe herself, during the rest of the day to social intercourse would rise as a sham of incredulity. For be it understood that Sunday for the farmer's wife is a sort of a clearance day to all last odds and ends of the previous week's cares and labors, to be in readiness for the renewed labors of the coming week.—John W. Bookwalter in the Forum.

Quizzed by Lincoln.

Judge Gleason W. Schofield was a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln. A Warren county private, having knocked down his captain, was tried, convicted and sentenced to the Dry Tortugas. His friends up and Schofield to have him released, as he went to see the president and told his story. Listening attentively, Lincoln replied: "I tell you, judge, you go right down to the capitol and get a express to pass an act authorizing a private soldier to knock down his captain. Then come back here and I will pardon your man." The judge says there was such an air of spiritual exhaustion about the president's manner that they both broke out in an outburst of laughter. The judge did not press the case further.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Saved! Saved!

"Well, but Maud ——" The astonishment youth was interrupted by the horse-stricken girl.

"Maud? My name is not Maud!"

The situation was desperate, yet fortune did not desert him.

"But, my darling Louise, what am I coming around here for if it is not to eventually change your name?"

She thought, of course, he had prearranged the joke, and he thus was saved.—Philadelphia Times.

THE DEATH OF A PIONEER.

Mrs. Dorothy Moulthrop, Found Still Rooted in Her Face.

J. W. Dodds, of Melton, Ga., is sixty-one years old and has been using the same razor for forty-forty-three years. It is the only one he ever owned, and he almost as good as new, never having had any of a razor on it until one day recently when, while sharpening his razor, Mr. Dodds cut a very small piece off the strop.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows, with grain and Grass Seeder,	33 00
	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only for the Money	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, dust harrows, grain drills and Harrison wire pins. Satisfaction guaranteed.

GORDON & PAUL

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GREAT!

That is what our big book offer is. We have been giving away glassware with every ten dollars traded with us. Now we are going to give away Bicycles free. We will give P. T. Barnum's great work,

"Wild Beasts, Birds and Reptiles of the World, a Story of their Capture."

with every $20 traded with us This book is profusely illustrated with about 400 engravings by the best artists in Europe and America, and should be in every house. This is an expensive advertisement and cannot last long. You will want winter boots and shoes soon, come and get them now.

Those who have glassware coming, please get it now.

SHERWOOD

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL, of all Foot Covering, THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK, Dealer in Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, HAMMOCKS, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel Office We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES Of Splendid MICHIGAN LANDS For Sale By The G. R. & I. R. R. 30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are blanketed with beech and maple and are in the best fruit and stock region of Michigan.

By Water and Rail

And are for a state unequalled for health, well watered and contiguous to the great lumbering region of Michigan.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana, Railroad, runs through the centre of the grant. The port of Michigan is within three miles of the grant.

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 60,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

And for Sixpence or Millions

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.

TITLES PERFECT.

Mrs. H. A. Carr, Fashionable Millinery, BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX.

FRENCH PATTERN HATS & BONNETS

Also a Choice Selection of MILLINERY NOVELTIES

ALL ARE INVITED. To call and examine our superb stock and get our prices.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN? He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.

He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-silver cases for $5.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW FALL & WINTER SAMPLES Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

Ck. D.Ds'l but to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL, Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE, GROCER, State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh GROCERIES Always in Stock.

Country produce especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

GEORGE BURN'S LIVERY STABLE CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Horses furnished if desired. Horse Line.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

T. J. CANNON, Successor to NEW BAKERY, Charlevoix Street, Charlevoix, will keep a fresh supply of BAKED GOODS always on hand.

Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered. Bread 5 cts—Fine pastry and all goods at the lowest possible prices. Patronage solicited.

T. J. CANNON.

ROBERT MILLER, Dealer in Rifenburg Milling Co.'s FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC. IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS, —Proprietor of— NORTH SIDE RIVERY BARN

Good Turnouts at Lowest rates.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER, Dental Parlors At Central Telephone Office. OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m. 1 to 5 p. m.

Washburn & Ackert, FOUNDREYMEN, MACHINISTS, And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD D. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Second Door Dexter Mansion, Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED W. HAYES, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for Charlevoix County. Titles examined, loans negotiated. Farms and village property for sale, and houses to rent. Charlevoix, Mich.

H. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Lemon Block, Charlevoix, Mich. Office North of Chatfield's.

SOCIETIES.

I. O. O. F.—Tuscarora Lodge No. 182, meets Saturday evening on or before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

G. A. R.—Harrison Post No. 419, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

FATHERS TRIBE OF ADAM, No. 70, of K. O. E. meets on the first third Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Charles Brown, N. M. Hugh McLeod, Secretary.

FOREST TRIBE OF ADAM, No. 101, of K. O. E. meets on the third Wednesday of each month. Fred Sherman, S. S. Hugh McLeod, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. & A. M. Regular meetings on or before each full moon. Geo. Gaskill, Secretary.

CHARLEVOIX DAIRY NO. 1, K. T., meets at Masonic Temple on the 2nd Thursday of each month.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 2111, K. of L., meets every Monday evening in Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTER RELIEF CORPS, No. 173, meets at G. A. R. hall second Saturday of each month, at 2:30 p. m. Ione Hall.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

I. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. S. GRAY, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. Deputy County surveyors. Satisfaction guaranteed.

The "New Jewel" M. B. GAGNON, Prop. (Known as the "PURDY JEWEL") Beautifully located on Pine River, overlooking the village and three lakes. Large lodging rooms. Best of accommodations. Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated. 29-27-1y.

Grand Palace Hotel. 81 to 183 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only first class hotel in the Great Home Cable Cars pass the door.

New house throughout. Modern improvements among latest in the American and European plans. Rooms, $1.00 and up. Rooms with bath, $1.50 and upward. Turkish Bath in connection. Ladies' Turkish Bath rooms for ladies and gentlemen, separate. Restaurant, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Cafe. Cuisine and Service unexcelled. Special rates to families. Special offers to home seekers.

41-1y

CHICAGO VIA THE Chicago & West Michigan Railway. THE FAVORITE

Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points west and southwest.

Time Card, taking effect June 28, 1891.

Leave Ludington 6.30 a. m., 2.00 p. m., 7.40 p. m. and 11.45 p. m.

Leave Grand Rapids 6.30 a. m., 12.40 p. m., 5.45 p. m. and 10.15 p. m.

Leave Muskegon 7.00 a. m., 1.15 p. m., 6.15 p. m. and 11.00 p. m.

Leave Grand Haven 7.45 a. m., 2.00 p. m., 6.55 p. m. and 11.45 p. m.

Arrive Howell 9.14 a. m., 4.12 p. m., 8.31 p. m. and 1.30 a. m.

Arrive Detroit 11.45 a. m., 6.00 p. m., 9.55 p. m. and 4.00 a. m.

Connections at Howell with trains for all points east.

GEO. DERAMUS, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

FOR SALE.

Farm for sale—

Containing 120 acres, eighty acres improvement, nearly all level, well fenced, well timbered, plenty of good water, good buildings, a good variety of fruit, entirely free from frost. Suitable for stock farm or fruit farm. Will sell cheap for cash or on Easy Pay. Also one acre and one-half acres, fronting and other machinery within half mile of the premises.

Also on same section—

Two acres with 20 acres of improvements, a orchard and young orchard.

The above land and farm thereon will be sold very cheap and on easy terms.

Inquire of REV. R. H. WHITNEY, East Jordan, Mich.

Dr. McLean's Celebrated Prescription Sealed Box Guaranteed to Cure Nervous Debility, Lost Manhood, Impotency, Sexual Weakness, Wasting Diseases, Effects of Abuse or Excess, Loss of Power, Lost Vitality, Nightly Emissions, Premature Decay, Impotency, Lost Manhood

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER XVIII.—Continued.

"Now here, young fellow—this is a square deal.

"Perhaps I guess," said Dick quietly.

"Why, I'ain't the thing right away as soon as the gal's found."

"Why, I'ain't the thing right away," mocked Dick, in a high falsetto, which discovered through your self-conceit.

"That's the choice. Now then. There's a bunch of money in the city for—somebody—maybe, we'll show you where it is. If it's the one we think, why, the gal's half there. Bit are here, young fellow, if don't you to go to it? Is you be helped—if the place is pulled?"

"Police?"

"Yes—scrabbed."

"Police?"

"Yes—never through as soon as a bunkie."

"Your throughs?"

"Yes—throughs are fresh. Tom, let me tackle this fellow. He means the bobbies."

"The bobbies?"

"Yes—you don't know anything at all? Ain't the bobbies—your friends? The police? Look here—I'm to get you, then I blame me—

"I understand you—you want to find out—is I—bilkus?"—and Dick grinned.

"Yes, I want you and to be square."

"No. And if you don't let me go you'll go—bedfo'."

"Yes, I'm—just that man. But what do you know about Joe?"

"Joe—I don't know nothin' at all—I'm—Mommer Infantry—sickin."

"Yes, I'm in trouble. Tom—Tom—I'm—I'm—I'm

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 21, 1891.

—Mrs. Geo. E. Bond, who has been the guest of Mrs. H. A. Haney for a few days, went to Chicago yesterday on the Lawrence.

—Hemlock, which was much despised a few years ago is advancing rapidly in rank among the different kinds of lumber. It is not been long since any person who talked of harvesting hemlock logs was looked at with suspicion and his sanity doubted. At present hemlock is coming into favor, many lumbermen who absolutely sacrificed their lands loaded heavily with hemlock, permitting them to revert to the state for taxes or sold them for a song, are regretting their hasty and ill-advised action. They now perceive where they permitted thousands of dollars to slip through their fingers.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The schooner T. Y. Avery is laid up at Chicago.

The steamer Lucile reached Duluth Thursday night, after a stormy passage.

The tug Martin went to Frankfort yesterday to tow the schooner Ingleheming to East Jordan.

The schooner Lottie Wolfe was sunk in Georgian bay last week. The Wolfe has loaded here several times.

The old propeller Van Raalte, well known here, has been rebuilt at Chicago and covered with iron for winter use.

In the U. S. Court at Grand Rapids, Saturday, Judge Severance issued a decree dismissing the libel in the case of the schooner Peoria against the tug J. L. Higgie.

The U. S. engineers were here last week making a survey of the harbor upon which to base estimates for the coming year. Careful soundings were made, and the channel found in fairly satisfactory condition, although vessels should not load deeper than eleven feet.

The Grand Traverse Herald confirms the report of a new steamer for the Traverse Bay line, and says: It will be a "clipper," and will make the round trip daily, between Traverse City and Petoskey. If arrangements are perfected, as they probably will be, this will be one of the finest and fastest boats on the lakes, and will make this line more popular than ever.

Norwood Notes.

Mrs. Daniel Stafford and Mrs. Ezra Meech attended the district meeting of the W. C. T. U. at East Jordan last week.

Chas. Brown and attorney Meseck of Mancelona were in town Saturday on business.

Mr. Burt Eddy, J. C. Vaughn's potato buyer is in town this week looking after the seed potatoes raised here this year. The fellows that took seed potatoes to raise this year at 35c a bushel are feeling first rate just now, with other potatoes bringing 25c a bushel.

We see in a Traverse City paper that Isaac Shipman, a well known resident of this place some years ago, is dead.

Lots of nice winter apples are being shipped from this port this fall.

Everybody is getting ready to go into good long winter quarters. Everything from corn husks to musk-rat houses indicate the longest, coldest, snowiest, blowiest winter we have had since last winter.

Get ready for a pumpkin pie social pretty soon.

Mrs. John Clements is visiting in Traverse City.

Fred Stafford's little girl fell out of an up stairs window the other day with her doll in her arms. Her first words on regaining consciousness were to know if her dolly was smashed.

Northern Michigan News.

The editor of the Traverse Herald dreams of a line of big boats from Cincinnati or Escanaba to Traverse City, and sees in the shadowy future immense elevators and ore docks along the shores of the big bay town. He draws the inspiration for his dreams from the fact that arrangements are already being made for a passenger line between the points mentioned, and elevator men were there last summer.

Matters are still in an unsettled condition at Leland. The Enterprise says: The Spirit Gun Club have continued on the trail of the Twenty-five Cent Limit Poker Club, for the week ending Saturday, Sept. 26th. Several encounters have taken place, a bombardment of water being returned by fresh hen fruit from the back door. Let the good work go on! Skirmishers from both sides lurk on the dark side of the streets nightly. The Sprinkling Club met Tuesday evening for new methods, etc.

The Rev. D. O. Hall, of Mackinaw, held a quarterly meeting in an Indian church near Petoskey last week, and among the pastorate duties was to baptize an aboriginal babe. He got the first syllable of the name as given by the interpreter all right, but after that wandered off on a combination of his own, and now Indian society circles are "all torn up" because neither the pastor, the interpreter, nor the mother can tell what the cherub was really christened. Brother Hall says that if he ever baptizes another Indian baby he shall require the name to be submitted in writing and divided into syllables at least two weeks before the service.

Now you have them—at Smith's. Fresh and Bulk Oysters direct from the Sl ickers. Look at them.

THE BUDDHIST SATAN.

A Terrible Being Having Three Red and White Eyes and Like Attributes.

Most Buddhistic temples in Corea, China and Japan are filled up with a representation of hell according to Oriental ideas, especially is this true of the temples and pagodas known as the "Abode of the Five Hundred Gods." To make this hellish idea more real it is always placed at the end of a long, dark hall, dimly lighted, the certain flicker of the lamps giving Yama, the god of hell, whose black image towers above the supposed horrors in the attitude of one whose way is absolute, the most horrid aspect imaginable. Yama sits upon a massive throne, with his pencil in hand, ready to write out the sentence of the condemned. His grim visage is of the saddest of sable hues; his eyes are as large as saucers, their color being mainly red and white, their hideous, stony stare not detracting in the least from the dreadful picture, even though your struggle to convince yourself that the whole scene is fanciful and ideal. But, as if general dreariness of surroundings were not enough to cause the Buddhists devotee to realize the terrors of this ideal hell, Yama's features are horribly distorted and malformed. His monster eyes of red and white are three in number, his nails are long and fiend-like, he has tusks, horns and hair, and is in many other particulars like the Christian devil, with the exception of a spiked tail. On either side on this god of hell sit two figures supposed to keep records of the misdeeds of men, and, in front, says the St. Louis Republic, sits the executioner, ready to cast the condemned into perdition. Hell itself, according to the Buddists, is even more terrible than Christian nations suppose it to be. First the wicked are beaten into a jelly; secondly, they are dragged limb from limb, chopped to pieces, pounded in a mortar, nails, tongue and eyes are gouged out and the body sawn or planed into various shapes. In the third stage they are supposed to be beaten like animals in a pen; the fourth is the stage of great weeping, and the fifth that of "sorrowful lamentation." In the sixth stage the body is partly roasted. In the seventh the unfortunate victim of Yama is forced to walk for ages over hill's covered with long needles. At the end of this long and painful march the candidate for hell is thrown into the bottomless pit of perdition.

Queer Things in China.

It is the custom in many parts of China to tie a white cock to a coffin and then sacrifice it on the grave. Beggars are an organized guild in China. They abound everywhere, and in the main their only garment, if any, is a tattered sheepskin. In Shanghai and in many other places in China the crows build and raise their broods in the trees of the city. On account of the Buddhist reverence for all life, no one harms them. The junks whether at sea or on the river, are a perpetual terror to the steamer captains. The masters of the junks believe that if they can cross a moving steamer's bows close at hand it will bring them good luck for the year.—Saturday Evening Post.

LADIES:
This Vitally Interests You.
LISTEN!
We have a full line of Cashmere, Spanish and Fleece-Lined
HOSIERY.
At prices that will surprise you. We call your especial attention to our 25 cent all wool hose.
MASON & BERDAN.

Where Did You Get That Hat?
at GEO. W. MILLER'S
And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.
I AM MAKING A RUN ON A
BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

Guaranteed Cure.
We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a Cough, Cold or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s drugstore. 2

Happy Hoosiers.
Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Lentz, stockman and farmer, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies." He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at F. G. Hines & Co.'s. 2

What's Yonder?
Familiar sound, that, isn't it? The pedro season is now open and will continue until next spring. Or, perhaps you like whist, seven up, or some other game better than pedro. This is to remind you that the playing cards issued by the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. railways ("The Favorites" of Michigan) are the latest novelty in that line and the price is not "out of sight" either,—only 15 cents. Send for a pack.
GEO. DEHAVEN,
Gen'l Passenger Agt.
16-28 Grand Rapids.

E. H. Green offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

NOTICE.
Grandy Lacher, my wife, having left my bed and board without just cause or lawful given to enter upon her ministrations, notice is hereby given to all concerned that I will not pay any debts of her contracting.
GILBERT LACLAIR.
Forest, Sept. 19, 1891. Antrim, Mich.

NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given to all not to trust any of my family on my account, as I will not pay any debts of their contracting.
ISAAC CHALOUPKA.
Charlevoix, Oct. 14, 1891. 17-3m

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS
Sale of Lands for Unpaid Taxes of the Year 1890.
STATE OF MICHIGAN }
County of Charlevoix, } ss.
Township of Charlevoix, }
Notice is hereby given that pursuant to law there will be offered for sale at public vendue, at the usual place of sale, at the office of the Village Treasurer of the Village of Charlevoix, in said township, on the first Monday in November, 1891, commencing at two o'clock in the forenoon of said day, and continuing until such sale is made, the following lands and tenements, or so much thereof as may be necessary, situated and being in said township, and described as follows, viz:

Lot 1, block 17	1	15	00
A parcel of land commencing at the s e corner of Bangs' and Mitchell streets, thence n 100 ft, thence w 150 ft, thence s 100 ft, thence e 150 ft to the place of beginning	2	50	00
Lot 1, block 2	1	00	00
" 2, " 2	1	00	00
" 3, " 2	1	00	00
" 4, " 2	1	00	00
"

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER XXV—Continued.

Mr. Hodges had a paper which a police man scanned closely, saying as he passed it to the officer on the left, "Is this the person? It is the clown, "Why, it looks like Joe."

"Yes—we were married this night—here in this very room—married by a justice."

The notary bowed assent, and Madame Dufarch again vociferated in her native tongue as she held her hands up deprecating, "It is impossible—it cannot be!"

"Is it true, tell me?" said Monsieur Dufarge turning to Joe.

"It is true. We wanted me to marry him. He said Mr. Viper and Mr. Wonder been who paid them to bring me here.

"Who did that? Who said it? Job could not reveal his temper. His face grew red as he turned to Joe.

"He said we you planned it—and Mr. Viper was to prosecute you did."

He said it. And he said you and Mr. Viper would take me to Mexico when I—I—why—that the only way to keep me from going to Dolmonville. You want to marry him."

"Why, what a lying—you—ornery rascal!" interrupted Job, making a rush for him, but an officer intercepted him.

"Why, what is wrong this, some where else. Don't fret, old man. You look a clear sky among this young man, by the looks of things."

"I'm going you all warning—I'll use force to prevent imprisonment—and for abducting me without my consent. Mr. Jesus disgracefully, as the officers proceeded to handcuff the young man.

"Yes," said the notary, who, influenced by the sight of money, was heart and soul for the difficulty. It was two to one, he argued, until Mr. Viper appeared, "and I tell you, gentlemen, gradually opened order as he pushed and tackled aside at the office door.

"You are—"

"Then Viper's fraud was bent, and his scheme was in his head.

"Who's fraud are you? Certain, sure! Well, I'm sorry for you, young man, if you are—I'm sorry for you.

He motioned the officer and stood waiting for the young man's handcuffs, coolly. The officer did not move.

"Somebody's lost their wits, I think."

"Why, what's the matter?"

"Why, what's the matter? Why, what's the matter? Why, what's the matter? Why, what's the matter?

"Why, what's the matter? Why, what's the matter? Why, what's the matter?

"Why, what's the matter? Why, what's the matter? Why, what's the matter?

"

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 29, 1891.

PROCEEDINGS

Of the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors, October Session, 1891.

(Official)

The Board of Supervisors, of Charlevoix county, met at the Court House in the Village of Hoyne City, on Monday, October 12th, 1891. Board called to order by Chairman, Hall called, and the several Townships were represented as follows:

Hey.....A. J. Stroud.
Bear Lake.....John Kilborn.
Hoyne Valley.....J. D. Mitchell.
Chandler.....F. H. Adkins.
Charlevoix.....S. M. See.
Evelina.....Ava Smith.
Evangeline.....F. M. Chase.
Hayes.....Wm. Gray.
Hudson.....D. M. Hoffman.
Marion.....J. R. O'Neil.
Melrose.....A. K. Smith.
Norwood.....Wm. Harris.
Resort.....J. B. Williams.
South Arm.....Hansom Jones.
Springvale.....W. W. Whitman.
Wilson.....Zach. Morgan.

Moved by Harris, supported by Jones, that the Board adjourn until to-morrow at 10 o'clock. Motion carried.

Tuesday, Oct. 13, 1891.

Board met pursuant to adjournment, Roll called. Quorum present.

Moved by Harris, supported by See, that O. D. Hilton, Deputy Game and Fish Warden, be allowed Thirty dollars for his services from March 12th, 1891 to present date. Motion carried.

Moved by Kilborn, supported by Chase that the Board adjourn until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Motion carried.

Wednesday, Oct. 14, 1891.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Roll called, all Supervisors present. Minutes of yesterday's session read by Clerk and approved.

Resolution by Harris, supported by See:

RESOLVED— That the County Treasurer and the Supervisor of Hayes Township inspect the land owned by the county in Hayes Township, and make an estimate of the amount of timber on it, and dispose of it for what they consider it to be worth and have the County Superintendents of the Poor convey title for the same and place the amount to the credit of the County. Motion carried.

Moved by Harris, supported by Jones, that the salary of Deputy Game and Fish Warden be fixed at ten dollars for the ensuing year. Motion carried.

Moved by Chase and supported that Board adjourn until 10 o'clock a. m. to-morrow. Motion carried.

Thursday, Oct. 15, 1891.

Board met at 10 o'clock, a. m., pursuant to adjournment. Roll called, all Supervisors present. Minutes of yesterday's session of Board read and approved.

The committee to settle with the County Treasurer reported as follows:

BOYNE CITY, MICH., OCT. 15, 1891.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County:

Your committee to settle with the County Treasurer would respectfully report that they have examined the books and compared them with the vouchers and find them correct. Attached you will find the treasurer's report for the past year, showing the financial condition of the county.

S. F. STEVENS,
JOHN W. GOODMAN, Committee.
JOHN H. CORNELL,

[Treasurer's report on 5th page]

Moved by Ava Smith, supported by Chase, that the report be accepted and adopted. Motion carried.

Moved by Harris, supported by Jones that the old vouchers be burned in presence of the Board. Motion carried.

Account of Detective Agency in Sherwood case, amounting to $667.05, presented and filed.

Moved by Kilborn, supported by Stroud, that the county pay one-third of the account of the Detective Agency, employed in the Sherwood case, after the Charlevoix Savings Bank and the Village of Charlevoix or either of them, pay the other two-thirds of said account.

Moved by A. K. Smith and supported that the Board adjourn until 2 o'clock p. m. Motion carried.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Board called to order at 2 p. m. Roll called, full Board present.

Moved, as an amendment to the Motion of Kilborn, by O'Neill supported by See, that the county pay the whole of the account of the Detective Agency employed in Sherwood case.

Amendment lost by Ayes and Nays as follows:

Ayes—Mitchell, See, Ava Smith, Gray, O'Neill, Harris, Morgan—7.

Nays—Stroud, Kilborn, Adkins, Chase, Hoffman, A. K. Smith, William, Whitman, Jones—9.

The original motion was then carried by Ayes and Nays as follows:

Ayes—Stroud, Kilborn, Mitchell, Adkins, See, Ava Smith, Chase, Gray, Hoffman, A. K. Smith, Harris, Williams, Whitman, Jones and Morgan—15.

Nays—O'Neill—1.

Moved by Kilborn, supported by Stroud that Board adjourn until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. Carried.

Friday, Oct. 16.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Roll called. All Supervisors present. Minutes of yesterday's proceedings read and approved.

Petition of Louis N. Moloch asking damages from the county by reason of his confinement in county jail in the year 1889, read by Clerk, and, on motion of A. K. Smith, supported by Jones, was referred to Pros. attorney, with instructions to report on same to-morrow at 8 o'clock a. m.

The Committee on Claims reported as follows:

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
County of Charlevoix.
Board of Supervisors for said County.

BOYNE CITY, MICH., OCT. 16, 1891.
To the Honorable, the said Board of supervisors:

Your Committee on Claims would respectfully report that we have examined the claims presented that we recommend approval of all claims allowed, but that the Clerk of this Board be authorized to draw Orders on the County Treasurer for the amount.

CLAIMANT	Amount Claimed	Allowed
W A Smith, expense of jail	$ 7 00	$ 7 00
W A Smith, tuition of school	1 25	1 25
Chas Hoffman, Sup. Pros.	15 00	15 00
S J Lewis, drawing Jury	2 00	2 00
Geo W Bailey services as Supt.	11 40	11 40
" " " " "	11 40	11 40
John S Dixon, expense	1 00	1 00
D Fisher, Inquest Sarah Kessler	10 00	10 00
Hansom Wormal witness	75	75
John Brown "	75	75
Jos Kamprath "	75	75
John H Breyer "	75	75
Frank Lalonde "	75	75
Jos Lalonde "	75	75
Jesse J Berry, "	75	75
Geo W Gaskill, Juror	9 00	9 00
Isaac Bennett "	9 00	9 00
W E Hampton, expense	2 00	2 00
Hansom Jones, expense	2 00	2 00
Willis Kerns ship to asylum	2 50	2 50
Chas Hoffman, Sup. Pros.	15 00	15 00
Daniel Salmon sec Pro. Court	1 00	1 00
Mrs. Nicholas Hettinger "	1 00	1 00
Louis Bruno "	1 00	1 00
Jos Kamprath "	1 00	1 00
Elmer Newman "	1 00	1 00
Elmer Stroud constable to Bucher case	2 00	2 00
" " " " "	2 00	2 00
" " " " "	2 00	2 00
" " " " "	2 00	2 00
A. A. Foote justice Bucher case	4 00	4 00
" " " " "	4 00	4 00
" " " " "	4 00	4 00
" " " " "	4 00	4 00
George Wagtbrod on Nina E Green	1 00	1 00
Dr. J. Sheldon, Examination	2 00	Not signed
" " " " "	2 00	"
C C Mathews expr of M and ass	47 00	47 00
Mrs. A Beach maintenance and pros	50 00	50 00
Mrs. A Beach maintenance and pros	50 00	50 00
John Vertalle sight watch Harper	10 00	not allowed
Simon L Corbett, medical aid pauper	10 00	10 00
F. F. McIntyre Hilbert aid of	12 00	12 00
" " " Gaskill " "	12 00	12 00
" " " Bergeron "	12 00	12 00
" " " Ferguson "	12 00	12 00
" " " Bergeron "	12 00	12 00
" " " Gaskill "	12 00	12 00
" " " Sullivan "	12 00	12 00
" " " Ferguson "	12 00	12 00
A B Schlosser, Hilbert aid	12 00	12 00
" " " Ferguson "	12 00	12 00
Elmer Mayne day after Hel trip	50 00	50 00
Wm Lyons, Hilbert aid to Hel trip	50 00	50 00
Jos Kamprath sec to Hel trip	50 00	50 00
W C Wise Jr, Bobbins v Isaac case	4 00	4 00
W H Webster with Bobbins case	4 00	4 00
Chas Kimball Jury on case	1 00	1 00
" " " " "	1 00	1 00
Chas Kimball Jury on case	1 00	1 00
Willis E. Hurd, stamps	50	50
" " " "	50	50
" " " "	50	50
Leading Hardware, Pauper	75 40	75 40
Leading Hardware, Pauper	2 40	2 40
Leading Hardware, Pauper	3 40	3 40
Elmer Mayne day after Hel trip	50 00	50 00
Wm Lyons sec to Hel trip	50 00	50 00
Jos Kamprath sec to Hel trip	50 00	50 00
W C Wise Jr, Bobbins v Isaac case	4 00	4 00
W H Webster with Bobbins case	4 00	4 00
Chas Kimball Jury on case	1 00	1 00
" " " " "	1 00	1 00
Chas Kimball Jury on case	1 00	1 00
Willis E. Hurd, stamps	50	50
" " " "	50	50
" " " "	50	50
Leading Hardware, Pauper	75 40	75 40
Leading Hardware, Pauper	2 40	2 40
Leading Hardware, Pauper	3 40	3 40

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County:

Your committee on Insurance would beg leave to submit the following report, viz: The Court House and furniture are insured for Three Thousand dollars. The insurance being divided in three different companies as follows: by North British & Mercantile, on building, $450, on furniture and fixtures, $300; Union of San Francisco, on building, $450, on furniture and fixtures, $300; Ohio Farmers Ins. Co., on building, $900, on furniture and fixtures, $600. Total insurance, $3,000.

Said policies will expire Feb. 13th, and your committee would recommend that the county treasurer be authorized to see that county property is insured upon the expiration of the above mentioned policies, all of which is respectfully submitted.

J. L. SMITH,
F. M. CHASE, Committee.
W. MORGAN.

Moved by Kilborn, supported by A. K. Smith, the Report be accepted and adopted. Motion carried;

The Committee on rejected and charged back taxes, reported as follows:

To the Board of Supervisors Charlevoix Co.

We the undersigned committee on rejected and charged back taxes, find the following amount charged to the several townships as follows:

Townships.	State.	County.
Hey	$ 2 70	$ 2 70
Bear Lake	3 24	3 24
Evelina	7 14	10 07
Hayes	1 08	1 08
Hudson	3 24	3 24
Marion	4 32	4 32
Norwood	1 08	1 08
Resort	2 16	2 16
South Arm	4 32	2 16
Wilson	1 08	1 08
Springvale	36	36
Chandler	36	36
Melrose	1 08	1 08
Total	$ 32 40	$ 32 40

Also would recommend that Lots No. 110 and 111 of village of Hoyne City, be re-assessed for the year 1890.

SAMUEL SNYDER,
JOHN W. GOODMAN, Committee.
FRANK D. ADKIN.

Moved by Kilborn, supported by A. K. Smith, that the Report of the Committee be accepted and adopted. Motion carried.

The Committee on Ways and Means reported as follows:

BOYNE CITY, MICH., Oct. 16th, 1891.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County:

We, your Committee on Ways and Means, would respectfully report as follows: A careful estimate shows that it will be necessary to levy the sum of Eleven thousand, seven hundred and fifty-nine dollars and forty-three cents ($11,759.43) to meet the expenses of the county, for the ensuing year and we recommend that that amount be spread upon the taxable property of the county as a county-tax. Five mills on the dollar being the rate necessary to raise the same. All of which is respectfully submitted.

WM. GRAY,
W. H. WEBSTER,
JOHN W. GOODMAN, Committee.

Motion by Harris, supported by Jones, that the Report be accepted and adopted. Motion carried.

The Committee on Printing made the following report.

BOYNE CITY, MICH., OCT. 16th, 1891.
To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County:

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of official printing of the county, would recommend that the printing for the ensuing year, be awarded the CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL at seventy-five dollars, for which amount the SENTINEL agrees to do all the official printing for one year. All of which is respectfully submitted.

WARREN WHITMAN
WILLIAM HURD,
A. N. HOFFMAN. Committee.

Moved by A. K. Smith, supported by Ava Smith that the report be accepted and adopted. Motion carried.

Moved by Harris, supported by Chase, that John H. O'Neill be appointed to fill the vacancy on the Ironton Ferry Committee. Carried.

Moved by Ava Smith, supported by Harris, that the Prosecuting Attorney be authorized to employ legal assistance in Aggravated Criminal Cases. Motion carried.

Resolution, by Harris: Resolved that the valuation of the several Townships of the County, remain as equalized by the Board, at the Session held in June, for the purpose of State Equalization.

Resolution carried.

Moved by Stroud, supported by Gray, that the contract with Detroit House of Correction, for care of convicts, be executed and signed by Chairman and Clerk of this Board.

Motion carried.

Motion by Kilborn that Board adjourn until 9 o'clock a. m. Carried.

Unadjourned next week.

STAMPED TO DEATH.

Harry Reynolds Takes the Life of an Unsuspecting Stranger.

A terrible tragedy was enacted on Walnut street in an early hour this morning. A friendless stranger, seeking redress in a court of justice, was brutally stamped to death before the eyes of the horrified spectators.

At 8 o'clock a well dressed stranger entered Squire Gaus' court and quietly approached the clerk's desk. None of the person's present had seen him before, but he wore an air of utter respectability. He was dressed in a neat, mouse-colored suit of well-fitting clothes, wore a soft fur cap and a pair of magnificent mustachios with short chin whiskers. He glanced about nervously as he approached the desk and only lately he moved that scarcely audibly noticed him.

He was about to take a seat when Clerk Harry Reynolds caught sight of him. The two glared at each other for a moment and it was clear that they had met before, but no one suspected the terrible finale. It is well known that Harry has had numerous escapades and it was evident at a glance that there was bad blood between the two on account of a former meeting. Without saying a word and before the startled spectators could interpose, the muscular clerk sprang upon the stranger and bore him to the floor. Then leaping on top of him he stamped him out of all semblance of humanity.

It was all done so quickly that the poor victim had ground his last before Harry was pulled off. He at once gave himself up and was taken in charge by Constable Bailey, who chanced to be present. Upon examination of the mangled remains life was found to be extinct and a shout was spread tendrily over the bleeding corpse until Coroner Bauge could be summoned.

Reynolds is well known about town, and is the Adonis-like commander of Company I, First Regiment.

The coroner claimed to be outside and the remains were viewed, after which they were gathered up and removed to the sink. Harry says he proposes to kill every corpse in the office.—Cincinnati Weekly Times.

The Last Stage.

Mrs. De Fashion—My dear, late hours, late suppers and general social dissipation have ruined your constitution.

Miss De Fashion (belle of six seasons)—I know it, ma.

"And your health is miserable."

"Yes, ma."

"And you are losing your beauty."

"It's all gone, ma.

"Broadly!" And so is your plumpness.

"I'm nothing but skin and bones."

"There's no use denying it, my dear. You are a mere wreck of your former self."

"Too true."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"Get married."—New York Weekly.

Queer Things in China.

It is the custom in many parts of China to tie a white cloth to a coffin and then sacrifice it on the grave. Beggars are an organized guild in China. They abound everywhere, and in the north their only garment, if any, is a tattered sheepskin. In Shanghai and in many other places in China the crews build and raise their breeds in the trees of the city. On account of the Buddhist reverence for all life, one barons them. The junks, whether at sea or on the river, are a perpetual terror to the steamer captains. The masters of the junks believe that if they can cross a moving steamer's bows close at hand it will bring them good luck for the year.—Saturday Evening Post.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Buck Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL.

OLD PENSION HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:
IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.
SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,
L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GREAT!

That is what our big book offer is. We have been giving away glassware with every ten dollars traded with us. Now we are going to give you something better. We will give P. T. Barnum's great work.

"Wild Beasts, Birds and Reptiles of the World, a Story of their Capture."

with every $20 traded with us! This book is profusely illustrated with about 400 engravings by the best artists in Europe and America, and should be in every house. This is an expensive advertisement and cannot last long. You will want winter boots and shoes soon, come and get them now.

Those who have glassware coming, please get it now.

SHERWOOD

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering.

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines, Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Bucheser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest assortment of STOCK OF TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale by The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are finished with land, and maple ash and other valuable timber, and are in the best of farming country.

By Water and Rail

And are in a state unsurpassed for health, will equal in all respects the great fruit-growing section of Western Michigan.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad crosses through the center of the grant. The part of Manistee is a thick clover lands are situated in

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 300,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
TITLES PERFECT.

Mrs. H. A. Carr,
Fashionable Millinery.
BRIDGE STREET. CHARLEVOIX.

FRENCH PATTERN HATS & BONNETS
Also a Choice Selection of
MILLINERY NOVELTIES
ALL ARE INVITED.
To call and examine our superb stock and get our prices.

Mrs. H. A. Carr.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.

It is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-silver cases for $5.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW
FALL & WINTER
SAMPLES
Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,
Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A fill line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Drivers furnished if desired. Rates low.
GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

T. J. CANNON,
Has opened a
NEW BAKERY,
Corner State and Mason Streets, and will keep a fresh supply of
BAKED GOODS,
always on hand.
Orders taken and Goods promptly delivered.
I solicit a share of your patronage, and will guarantee you good goods, low prices, courteous treatment and square dealing.
T. J. CANNON.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.
IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
Proprietor of
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN
Good Turnouts at Reasonable Rates.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Ashburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The Charlevoix Plow.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD D. SHEGE, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Solicitor in Chancery. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for Charlevoix County. Titles examined, Taxes negotiated, Farms and Village property for sale, and houses to rent. Charlevoix, Mich.

W. MARK, Attorney-at-Law, Claims, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix

SOCIETIES.

I. O. O. F.—Tree Hives No. 187, meets Saturday after each full moon. Jos. Kamprath, Secy.

G. A. R.—Butler Post No. 119, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER, No. 72, O. E. S., meets on the first Monday of each month at Masonic Hall. Clarie Hill, W. M. Sarah McLeod, Secretary.

ROMEO CHAPTER, No. 108 R. A. M. meets at Masonic Hall on Friday on or before full moon in each month.

I. O. O. F.—Pearl Lake Lodge No. 383, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MARCHE—Charlevoix Lodge No. 192, F. & A. M. Meets on or before full moon. Hall over drug store, office.

PARSHORNING MERKS No. 156, K. T., meets at Knights Templar's rooms in Bos Block, Tuesday of each month.

UNITED ASSEMBLY, No. 3341, K. of L. meets every Monday evening at 7:30, at Lefferts' Hall.

HANNAH RELIEF LODGE, No. 175, meets at I. O. O. F. hall every other Saturday evening. Mrs. Ida Gaskill, Secretary.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Long Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. R. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.)

Statement of receipts and disbursements at the County Treasurer's office for the year beginning October 1st, 1890, and ending October 1st, 1891.

JOHN WARD, County Treasurer, in account with Charlevoix County.

Date.	DR.	Date.	CR.
1890.		1890.
Oct. 1.	To balance from old account	Oct. 1.	By balance from old account
	Delinquent Taxes collected		Primary School fund
	Primary School fund		County tax
	County tax		Interest tax
	Interest tax		State tax
	Teachers Institute fund		Teachers Institute fund
	Primary School fund		Primary School fund
	Interest tax		Interest

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

AN ENGINE EXPLODES.

BURSTING OF A LOCOMOTIVE BOILER AT ST. PAUL.

Awful Railroad Wreck in Ohio—Homes for Hooks—Minnesota Politicians and Money—Lynch Wrecked and Missing—Stones in Engines.

Over a Dozen Victims.

A TERRIBLE explosion occurred at South Park, a manufacturing suburb of St. Paul, and shops headquarters of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City road, by which thirteen persons were injured and scalded and probably four of them fatally injured. A large engine had been taken from the shops and laid up for use as a switch engine. With 120 pounds of steam on, it was standing on a side track preparatory to start out and was surrounded by a group of workmen, when suddenly, with a terrific roar, the crown sheet of the boiler gave way. The huge piece of machinery was hurled from the track, a distance of 100 feet, and was filled with dense volumes of scalding steam. Two men standing near it were thrown over a hedge and carried a distance and both fatally injured. Nobody within a radius of twenty feet escaped uninjured. The sound of the explosion was distinctly heard five miles away.

Complete Statement of a Gee.

At Hinkelbein, Ark., a partisan case of cruelty due to a crazy willfulness or ignorance was discovered. The victim was Mary Goodman, a French girl, 24 years old, who found herself in a small tenement near cotton mills, where she had been confined by her parents since May March. There is only one small window in the room, and the place was littered with shell hoards. Miss Goodman's parents are Catholics in name, but have having been affected by the death of her brother in Canada. Local physicians admit that the girl's mind is some what affected, but they agree that it is proper cruelty to keep her locked up without an opportunity to see the sun, or daylight, or get a breath of pure air.

Memorial of a Sagacious.

At Lansing, N. Y., on the shore of Seneca Lake, on the spot where Red Jacket, chief of the Nations of the Iroquois was born, was unveiled the grande monument to an Indian erected by the Waterloo library and Historical Society. A delegation of Indians from the Tonawanda survivors of the 5th. Nations was present. Red Jacket, who came from his dress. His eminence as the successor of chief Hiram in the Six Nations, his services to the crown in the Revolution and to the United States in 1812 are all recorded in history. Red Jacket's remains lie in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Buffalo, and within a few weeks a monument will be erected over his grave there.

Tragic Fate of Two Sons.

THOMAS WELLINGTON is a New York thief of immense cunning and ambition. To make honest by Heroes fed impossible he has begun to rob him. The celebrated Wellington bank robbery of two years ago, in which of half a million in gold and silver. In eight months Wellington, with his accomplice, Thomas Byrnes, lives. Some time ago the bank was robbed under the Lexington Avenue Hotel, and that was captured. He is thought to be the man who robbed the Mechanics' Bank of Newark. There is only one small window in the room, and the vault was filled

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, OCT. 28, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The schooner Quickstep, loaded with stone for the railroad bridge, arrived this morning.

The new drydock at Onekama is almost completed, and the company has already secured a large number of boats to rebuild.

One of the large scows which brought the railroad outfit here, in tow of the tug Jesse Spaulding, was lost in the recent gale, loaded with stone.

The schooner Evening Star cleared from Milwaukee Sunday, with supplies for the Parks Lumber Co. She encountered the big gale of Monday and was driven back with some of her sails and rigging carried away.

The schooner Florence M. Smith went into commission again last week, and loaded for Milwaukee. The Florence has had a thorough rebuild, and is again as good as new. She has been refastened, replanked all around above the water line, and has received a large number of new frames and a new stern.

The schooner Franz Sigel has been moored for a week in the upper river, unloading heavy stone for the railroad bridge. Friday morning the schooner Ispeming went up in tow of the tug Martin. She shifted into the Sigel and her anchor hanging over the bow, caught the lattice main rigging, carrying it away, giving the mainmast a close call.

Many Charlevoix people will remember the schooner Owasco, that loaded with lumber at Nicholls, Lewis & Bates the past summer. An interesting letter has been received by the owners from the captain, detailing his experience in making the run from Portland, Me., to New York during the recent gales. The little vessel behaved splendidly, reaching New York with a cargo of paving stone a week ago last Sunday. The captain had no mate, his only help being a few of what he calls "lake-rats." He wants the owners to send him a good, temperate, fresh-water mate. At Portland the salt-water sailors refused to go "in that old tub without a figurehead." The captain tells of beating up Vineyard Sound in company with twenty vessels. "They all beat us; but one didn't beat us very much," he writes. When we anchored, her captain came aboard of us, made himself very agreeable, and invited me to go ashore and get something at his expense, saying he had sailed his vessel ten years, and this was the first time she had ever beat anything." The Owasco will probably go into the lumber trade between Virginia ports and New York.

—The ladies of the Baptist Church will serve a corn social at the church parlors, Wednesday evening, Nov. 4. Many delicacies of corn foundation will be served on the bill of fare. Coffee out. The following is the bill of fare, to be served from 5 until 9:

"He that withholdeth corn, the people shall curse him, but blessings shall be upon the head of him that selleth it."—Prov. xi, 27.

Corn hulled with milk, 05c. "Corn maketh men cheerful."—Zach ix, 17.

Corn hash, with milk 05c. "They did eat of the old corn of the land."—Josh. v, 1.

Corn bread, 5c. "Eat bread and let thy heart be merry."—1 Kings xxi, 7.

Corn pepper, 5c. "And he reached her parched corn and she did eat."—Ruth ii, 14.

Corn Baked Indian Pudding, 10c. "So job sent very corn for the famine of your house."—Gen. xlii, 19.

Corn Johnny Cake, 5c. "David dealt to every one a cake of bread."—2 Sam. vi, 18.

Corn Starch Cake, 5c. "Baked it in pans and made cakes of it."—Num. xi, 9.

Corn Starch Pie, 5c. "Eat, O, friends, eat abundantly."—Sol. v, 1.

Corned Beef, 5c. "And he took the calf which he had dressed, and set it before them."—Gen. xviii, 8.

Coffee, 5c. "Do not drink wine or strong drink, lest ye die."

Cudlue.

The J. L. Green is taking her twenty-second load from Chain Whitford & Sons for this season. She will make one more trip.

The Hamlin boys have the job of taking the timber off of 120 Acres for C. W. & Sons.

Philip Howe's little one has been quite sick but is getting better.

Frank Sweathen is selling out with the intension of moving to Ionia Co., where his father lives.

Our Tallapoosa friends are having quite a duel with the fever. Ben Nowland is getting better now and will try and work some, but his brother Frank Nowland is down with the fever now, and Mrs. Adell Nowland isn't well.

School begins next Monday with Miss Lizzie Willits at teacher.

LADIES:
This Vitally Interests You.
LISTEN!
We have a full line of Cashmere, Spanish and Fleece-Lined
HOSIERY.
At prices that will surprise you. We call your especial attention to our 25 cent all wool hose.
MASON & BERDAN.

Hastings Items. Hayes.

E. K. Robinson, county surveyor has been surveying section ten the past week.

J. M. Garmire has received letters patent for his method of preserving potatoes and cabbage by the cold storeage process.

Wild geese have been flying southward for several days past.

Geo. Long and wife of Bay were visiting friends in Hayes Sunday.

There will be a concert at the Orphan's Home next Sunday evening.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

Themes for Sunday. 10:30 a. m., Followers of God; 7 p. m., Our Place in Heaven. League, 6 p. m.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning Service at 10:30, subject, "Some of our privileges." Communion Service will be held immediately following the morning service. Evening service at 7. Subject, "The Lord's Hand."

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

Masonic.

Special meeting of Charlevoix Chapter O. E. S., No. 72, Wednesday evening, Nov. 11. Special business to be transacted. A full attendance desired.
CLARIE GILTON, W. M.
BERT MASON, Sec.

Northern Michigan News.

The harvest of beechnuts in northern Michigan is great this fall.

Frankfort is to have a new hub, door, blind and furniture factory from Vassar.

The Elk Rapids Progress says that Miss Mamie Dougherty has returned from a trip to Washington, D. C.

East Jordan Enterprise: Messrs. Fogg and Keat have arrived in Lewiston, Idaho, and speak but fairly of the country. They intend to stop there for a time at least, or may locate at or near there.

Hoy Sparling, the Grand Traverse blacksmith, who who made a few hundred dollars, not for circulation, but as an experiment, was yesterday sentenced to two years in the Detroit House of Correction.

A. W. Watt, of Traverse City, has secured the contract for making all the signs, posts and signals to be used on the northern extension of the C. & W. M. railroad between Traverse City and Petoskey.

The Dutch Reform church at Atwood, has bought two acres A. E. Carlisle, just north of the Moore school house, for a building site for their new church, which they expect to erect within a year or two.

A Cheboygan young man of correct habits has a double of proclivities so different that the matter is causing the y. m. c. e. h. He is thinking seriously of employing a companion to accompany him night and day, and prove an alibi in case of trouble.

Northport is on the point of burning into a boom. A stock company has been formed to enlarge and improve the Forest house, the Grand Traverse hotel is to be transferred into a resort hostelry, and D. A. Woodworth, a Kansas City newspaper man, will establish a weekly paper there.

Chas. Wright, the Benzie county murderer, has tired of prison life and his friends have about perfected arrangements for carrying the case to the Supreme Court and engaged Attorney T. A. Wilson, of Jackson, to assist in prosecuting it. It is said that twenty all of Wright's money has already been spent in defending him. He takes prison life hard and is gloomy and sullen all the time.

Cheboygan Tribune: Some day since a rat strayed in to the pump room at the water works. George Adams, assistant engineer, threw the nozzle of the hose at it. It took the nozzle for a rat hole and rushed in to escape and before it could back out Mr. Adams placed his hand over the large end of the nozzle and attached it to the hose, ran the pump up to eighty pounds pressure and turned on water. Soon a dead rat, but somewhat attenuated come out of the small end of the nozzle under the heavy pressure.

Wall Moss.

In the Bible (1 Samuel, xvii, 4) it is said that the height of Goliath, the Philistine champion, was six cubits and a span. Josephus reckons the Hebrew cubit to be equal to two spans (that is something less than 18 inches, or about 17 inches and a half). On this estimate, Goliath was nearly nine feet six inches high. This makes him so tall, that very few authentic accounts can be found of men who can be compared with him. "The tallest man that hath been seen in our days," says Pliny, "was one named Gabara, who, in the days of Claudius, the late emperor, was brought out of Arabia, he was nine feet nine inches high." Josephus says that "Vitellius sent Darius, the son of Artabanus, as hostage to Rome, with divers presents, among which there was a man seven cubits, or ten feet two inches high, a Jew born; he was called a giant by reason of his greatness." Mevoin, who succeeding Jodoin Lipsius as professor of history in the university of Leyden, asserts that in the year 1583, he himself saw in France a Fleming who exceeded nine feet in height. "Dolcio," says Calmet, "affirms that, in 1572, he saw, at Rohan, a native of Piedmont, above nine feet high." And again, "In the year 1719, near Saltbury, in England a human skeleton was found which was nine feet four inches long."—Saturday Evening Post.

A Bat's Power.

It seems extraordinary to observe a number of bats in the evening flying back and forth through the trees with remarkable rapidity, but without ever coming in contact with the branches or hurting themselves. Spallanzani, the Italian naturalist, placed a bat in a dark enclosure, across which were stretched a number of threads, crossing and recrossing each other. The bat flew rapidly back and forth trying to effect its escape, but avoided the threads with as much ease as if they had not been in its way in the least. To other this curious power was the result of a sixth and unknown sense was long a puzzle to naturalists. To decide this knotty point Spallanzani resorted to the cruel expedient of blinding a bat, and found that it still flew among the threads without being to all appearances, any more incommoded than if it still had its eyesight.

I succeeded this year in raising my potatoes without the use of Paris Green or any other poison. Will furnish the same to customers at 25 cts. per bushel delivered. J. G. HERR.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming extent, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co.

What's Troop?

Familiar sound, that, isn't it? The pedro season is now open and will continue until next spring. Or, perhaps you like euchre, seven up, or some other game better than pedro. This is to remind you that the playing cards issued by the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. railways ("The Favorites" of Michigan) are the latest novelty in that line and the price is not "out of sight" either,—only 15 cents. Send for a pack.
GEO. DEHAYES,
Gen'l Passenger Agt.
16-3t Grand Rapids.

WHEN YOU COME TO TOWN
LOOK OUT FOR THE
CARS AT THE CROSSINGS.

New Bedford Cords, 60c.
New Cashmeres, 20, 35 and 40.
New Linens, 25, 35 and 50.
Heaviest Kersy Pants Cloth, 48c.
Sovereign Serges, 12 1-2 Cents.
Celluloid Collars, 15c.

FROM OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS. WE WILL GIVE ALL CASH PURCHASERS A DISCOUNT ON ALL BILLS THAT WILL BE WORTH LOOKING AFTER.
ENQUIRE!

Ladies' Gray Natural Wool UNDERWEAR, 65c.
Ladies Ribbed, 25c.
Wool Hose, 25, 35 and 50.
You can't hlep but find something useful on our NOTION TABLE.
CLOAKS, JACKETS, WRAPS.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Now Try This.
It will cost you nothing and will surely you good, if you have a cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines Co's Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.

Keep Your House Warm. And Why Not.
Charlevoix Boiler Works announce that they have steel boiler plate furnaces right in stock. Built now. Prices way down. Only $37.50 each, and are building more every day. Guaranteed first class.
14-4t H. BARTH, Prop.

W. H. McCARTNEY.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND SCHOOL SUPPLIES, a new stock, cheap as the cheapest.

STATIONERY, the best stock and lowest prices in the county.

CHAMOIS SKIN PAPER, the finest paper for ladies' use in town.

GOOD WRITING PAPER 5, 8, 10, 12, and 15 cents per quire.

ENVELOPES from 5 to 15 cents per bunch.

TYPE WRITER PAPER.

PENS, INKS, PENCILS, TABLETS and all the stationery of a first-class stationery line.

BOOKS of all kinds.

POSTAGE STAMP CASE, carries 96 stamps. Cannot stick together.

THOMPSON'S POCKET SPELLER, containing a dictionary, rules in common use, synonyms, etc. Can be carried in vest pocket, only 50c.

W. H. McCARTNEY.

AN ELEPHANT LARGER THAN JUMBO was recently captured in Africa. Bigger than this Jumbo No. 2 are the Bargains in Hardware found daily by glad people at our store.

There are many articles which you will need before "the beautiful" begins to fall. Our tin shop is equipped for turning out the best sheet iron and metal work.

PRICES ALWAYS the LOWEST.

Attentive and Courteous Treatment.
Satisfaction Guarenteed.
Yours truly,
Sep. 30, '91. H. L. IDDINGS.

Where Did You Get That Hat?
at GEO. W. MILLER'S
And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lackinglis that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A
BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
VOL XXIII. NO--18. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 4, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,142.

School Books & School Supplies
We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.
We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.
F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

MOSEL STONE,
FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.
FOR SALE AT . . . .
CALKINS & WARNE'S
. . . DRUG STORE.

All Hands Around!
Sally go down the middle!
OYSTERS Large.
OYSTERS Fat.
OYSTERS Fresh.
No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle, I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.
O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.
Watch This Space
NEXT WEEK.
Watch This Space
BERT MASON.

BLANKETS. BLANKETS. BLANKETS.
Good Blankets . . . . . .
. . . . . Better Blankets . . . . .
. . . . . Best Blankets
Can be bought at
S. M. SEE & SONS
Furniture Store.
REASONABLE PRICES.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year . . . $1 00 | Six months . . . $ 75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Miss Lovie Kastner arrived home from Chicago Monday.

—Albert Brown has purchased the Cannon Bakery business.

—We regret to learn that Mrs. Myron Gore, of Marion, is very ill.

—R. N. Faulkner and family left for Chicago yesterday. They will return again in the spring.

—Seymour, the C. & W. M. bridgeman, lost a valuable horse here Monday. Colic.

—Mrs. Ellen Harry leaves to-morrow for New Haven, Mich., to visit her son Thomas.

—John Newman's apiary in Marion is turning out a large quantity of the finest quality of honey.

—R. M. McKeil and wife left yesterday for Jacksonville, Fla., where they will spend the winter.

—Mrs. A. Fox left yesterday for Fort Huron, called there by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Campbell.

—Mason & Berdan this week in their advertising space, have something to say about sacks and last s.s.

—Schneermann & Gildebeck, thirty-ninth folks, have a change of advertisement in this issue, that should be read.

—The Charlevoix Hardware Co. call attention to their complete stock of seasonable hardware and house furnishing goods.

—W. G. Newman has sold his bridge street property, occupied by Hitchcock as a saloon, to Mr. Richards, Cooley, Gillett, & Co.

—W. J. McGough of Norwood township, shipped from a Northern trip last week 1 bear, 1 lynx, through Montana, Dakota and Manitoba.

—An error in the notice of Eastern Star meeting, as published last week, makes the date of the Nov. 11 The meeting is tonight, Nov. 4th. A full attendance is desired.

—Chas. S. Hampton made a speech in a Detroit political meeting lately, and the Detroit News gives him a new name—"The Pog Horn of Skillagalee." Very good, indeed.

—The controversy which has raged for some time regarding the site of the new Government Indian industrial School has been settled by Secretary Noble approving the Mt. Pleasant site.

—J. H. Mullen, the new Lewis Grand Opera House clerkhe, has an advertisement on our editorial page. Mr. Mullen wants to get acquainted with everybody, so read his ad. and call on him.

—Information comes that Peter O'Grady was drowned at Beaver Harbor one day last week. He was going in a yawl from shore to the flat. He Fisher, lying at anchor, when he fell overboard.

—G. W. Freeman, successor to F. A. Cochran & Co., has a new advertisement in this issue. Mr. Freeman is well known here, having before been in business here. He proposes to merit a share of the patronage of Charlevoix and vicinity.

—A Norwood hunting party, consisting of N. Shores, E. H. Harris, and young M. VanDeb, and another from here consisting of Geo. Burns, C. Y. Cook, E. Carpenter, Hubert Ackert, Will Tillotson, Len Mudge and Chas. Vosburg, left Monday morning for the Black River country.

—The SENTINEL this week completes the publication of the official matter incident to the annual session of the Board of Supervisors, including the table of State equalization. Never since the organization of the county has this amount of official matter been published in two issues of any paper, and never has such publication been given such general circulation.

—The social dance given at Lewis Grand Opera House last Friday evening, by Bert Jarvis and Ed. Newman, was one of the best conducted and most enjoyable events of the season. Their next dance will be given on the night of Friday the 12th inst., and will be followed by one every alternate Friday night. Besides this they will give grand balls on the Holidday nights and two or three masque balls will be part of their seasons program.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

Harry Newman has shipped as cook on the schooner Quickstep.

W. G. Newman has bought A. Richard's one-half interest in the steamer Gordon.

The schooner City of Erie stranded at Leland last Wednesday, and will go to pieces.

Capt. M. Halverson succeeds Capt. D. Buchanan as master of the schooner Seamen.

The schooner Bob Roy went ashore north of Frankfort in last week's gale, and is probably a total wreck.

Joe Swails put a new rudder in the schooner Dewey yesterday. He is making a fore-hatch for the same vessel, and will put two new spars in the schooner L. M. Mason.

The steamer Hackley leaves some time this week for Muskegon, where she will lay up and undergo thorough repairs. Capt. Pillow says he will return here with the boat as soon as he can get here in the spring.

The largest dry dock on the great lakes, capable of accomodating any vessel now navigating those waters, has just been completed at a cost of upward of $200,000. The dock is located at Detroit, and a circular of the company operating it says that loaded ships carrying cargoes of 2,000 tons can be safely docked, and those of the largest dimensions easily taken in. Large valves and sumps allow of the dock being flooded in twenty minutes and of being pumped out in one and one-half hours. Oil is used for fuel in the pumping plant. The inside dimensions of the dock are: length, 338 feet; width on top, 91 feet; width on floor, 55 feet; width at entrance, 78 feet; depth of water in dock when flooded, 30 ft. 6 in.

The captain of the schooner Quickstep, put here with stone for the railroad company, shipped a female cook in Cleveland, named Delia Anderson. When the vessel was well out, the captain discovered that Delia was the word kind of a morphine-eater. The old lady was all right while the drug lasted, but it was a long trip, and the morphine gave out. She soon began making life miserable for the captain and crew. In this shape they reached this port, when Delia secured morphine. Then she made up for lost time, and laid herself out in a condition almost moribund. She was turned over to the poor authorities and Superintendent Miller took her to the county house at Ironton on a stretcher, nearer dead than alive.

Railroad Notes.

Tracklaying is suspended for a time—probably until next spring—the steel being laid now to the big cut just this side of Petoskey. About fifty men are now ballasting, and the force will be increased soon.

The driving for the stone bridge piers began Monday, and the work is being pushed.

Sibley & McCracken, sub-contractors, made an assignment last week to Will N. Moore, Contractor McLane is at this writing at work with a force of men on the unfinished grade. The affairs of the firm are in process of adjustment, and Mr. Sibley says all claims will be paid in full as soon as matters are adjusted.

A very unpleasant state of affairs developed last night. For some cause the steel gang, which has just finished work near Petoskey, became dissatisfied with the situation, and came to town. They demanded their pay of Mr Scott McLane, but not being able to get it, there themselves on the town, and the authorities were compelled to domicil them at the hotels. There was considerable warmth between McLane and the men. The force numbered 35 men. The village will look to Mr. McLane to adjust the matter. It seems to us that a system that compels laborers to resort to such a measure, is defective and wrong, to say the least.

A tug and two large scow loads of stone for the railroad bridge arrived from Sturgeon Bay, Wis., this morning.

Religious Items.

Rev. J. N. Rippey will hold divine services on this Wednesday evening, at the residence of W. P. Brown. A cordial invitation to all.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning at 10:30, subject, "The great Preparation." Evening at 7, subject, "His Departure," the first of a series of sermons on the prodigal son.

Methodist.

Quarterly meeting and reception of Members and Holy Sacrament. The Presiding Elder will preach in the evening.

THE ELECTION.

McKinley Triumphant in Ohio—Democrats Carry New York and Iowa.

Hastings, in the Fifth District Elected.

Returns this morning by wire give McKinley's majority in Ohio as 10,000.

The Democrats have carried New York and Iowa, in the latter state by increased majority over last election.

Belknap, in the fifth district of Michigan, is elected by 900 majority.

The triumph of McKinley in Ohio is a national victory for Republicans, and the redemption of the fifth congressional district of Michigan is something to make Republicans joyful.

Hastings from Hayes.

Loren Hamlin will move into Geo. Willis' house for the winter, while engaged in lumbering for Crane, Whitford & Sons.

School commenced at Burgess Monday morning with A. W. Chen teacher.

Rev. Miller, of Montcalm county will preach at Fair View the ensuing year.

Farmers, who let their cattle run at large near the railroad, are running their chances for cheap beef.

Fall wheat looks well for the season, and the acreage is very much greater than usual.

After various disputes in regard to naming the new station in Hayes the authorities at Grand Rapids have sent up a name and the signboard displays the following: Although eight miles from Petoskey. It will be quite easy for the brakemen to sing the changes on it.

Mrs. Jericho accompanied her son arrived Tuesday from Milwaukee to visit Mrs. Loren Hamlin, for two weeks. Mrs. Jericho was detained by the late gale, having started from Milwaukee last Wednesday.

Cudlue.

Tom Sunderland has gone to Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whitley visited at Wallace Whitfords last week.

Mr. Nalley Cram has purchased Bliss a new top buggy.

The Sea Gem loaded with wood for the Howes Saturday.

A spark from the tug Parks set fire to Chain Whitford & Sons' dock on Saturday, but was discovered in time, so there was not much damage done. It would be a wise plan for them to have the exhaust outside when around docks.

Mrs. Willis who has been very sick with dropsy and heart trouble is much better.

What I Like and What I Don't Like.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

I like the SENTINEL because it speaks out with boldness and decision on important subjects. I like the way the walks in Charlevoix are being cared for, only the crossing in front of S. M. See's dwelling is too low, so that in wet weather the mud is two inches deep for the people with shiny shoes to wade through.

I don't like a cow with a bell tinglling all day and the most of the night, around a dwelling where there are sick members of the family.

I don't like to see my neighbor's cow, that has no bell go to many people, confined, while another man's goes free with one on.

These are a few things I dont like.
YOU NO HOO.

Historical Society.

The Charlevoix Historical Society will hold its regular meeting for the election of officers, on Friday evening of this week, at the home of Mrs. O. D. Wood.

The Grand Traverse District Methodist Ministerial Association, will be held at the Methodist church in Cadillac on Thursday and Friday, November 12 and 13. The program for the two days' session contains the names of sixteen Methodist ministers of the district, who will present papers and addresses on as many different features of their work. A district Epworth League convention will follow the sessions of the Ministerial Association, commencing on Friday evening and concluding Sunday evening.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ORANGES PLENTIFUL.

LOUISIANA HAS THE LARGEST CROP KNOWN.

Suicide of a Prominent Chicago Physician—Mr. Morton Says Money Was to Help Him—Francis Lifts the Embargo from the Hog.

The Luscious Fruit Plentiful.

THE orange crop of Louisiana, which is rapidly approaching maturity in this state, is larger, one of the largest ever gathered. For years it has been the fashion to say that the branches have to be propped with crutches to carry their burdens. The crop will be picked in the end of October and is now about past any danger of damage. The orange farms are valued at $1,500 or more per acre, yielding also in $500 in oranges. There is little or no cultivation. The crop is sold on the trees, to be gathered by the purchaser and frequently the sale is made on the bud. The Louisiana orange, a cross between the sweet and the sour orange, has suffer from competition with the Florida product, which has long by because it was roughly handled in the picking, but the Louisiana has now been thoroughly remedied and it is generally have equal.

A Sensational Suicide.

THOMAS A. WILKINSON, the Salem John, who shot himself at the Morton father and son, who is to be hanged at Sedalia Mo., on Nov. 14, has sent in the following note to his lawyer Francis.

Dear Sir—Please to tell the Governor I wish you for a favor. Will you let me hang in public?

"People have expressed the fear that I will break down and confess my guilt. Now, I can say that the idea has no chance for me and I will accept as fate has ordained like a man who is willing and ready to die. I have given the greatest part of my life behind iron bars and shine no more. I am not in the be a very short time at most. I would have on this party confession if I thought it would prefer hanging. I believe I am put out of the way for the good of the people of the treasury. I do not blame any one for my death. I only wish it was to stay by me to the end.

Pilgrimage to Rome Forbidden.

THE indignation of the pirates against the recent order of Leo XIII. hence, French Minister of Public Worship for taking them to Rome for the purpose of frightening the Pope into granting the demands made by them. The French Government has decided to stop the pilgrimage, and it is probable that the Pope will be saved from the necessity of granting the demands made by the pirates.

Ex-Francis Lifts the Embargo from the Hog.

SOMETIME after the custom zone at Jackson's Theatre, New York, the other night, a carriage drove up to the side door and four people alighted. The men to leave the carriage was a man whose head was covered with long dark locks, and who was led out feebly, as if for support, leaning on the arm of a companion, he walk, almost tottered, through the door to the box office. At the close of the play the party waited until the audience had cleared, and the great tragedian walked slowly to the waiting carriage, which was driven to the Fifth Avenue. It cannot be denied that the tragedian looked very weak and ill. He walked with a halting, almost tottering step, and his features were pale and drawn.

HERMAN LUDY, a salesman for Herman Landsberg and William Rosebert, tobacco, cigars and pipes, New York, has been arrested, charged with passing printing signs which he colored. Lady asked the tailor sensory, but says he said if a lady on parade, suggested, ladies, and the danger of losing liberty issue money more. Mr. Gough said that Lady had admitted taking $4.20, but it might be $4.40. He said she was charged with them on consideration for the last two years and a half, and he could find no accounts where he had sold goods, and he work and he could find no such person as Herman Landsberg. Lady threatened to have the warrant for the man taken to jail in default of $1,500 bail.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

GEORGE W. WEBB, the San Francisco lumber king, is expected to be arraigned on a charge of embezzlement. Webb has been in ill-health for some time.

FATHER CHIMANSKI arrived at Helena, Mont., on Monday, and will at once go to work on a mission among the Indians. Father Chimanski is a Jesuit, and has had their arrival a mind of white men drove them from their homes.

RESIGNATIONS of thirty two Missouri lodges of Indian Knights of America are reported to the office of the Supreme Council. A recent decision of the Supreme Council has caused the disruption.

THE Indian express and a freight train on the Panhandle Railroad were together last night near Ashley, Ohio, ten miles Southeast of Delaware. Two men were killed, and the fireman and engineer of the freight train, the engineer of the Indian express, and the fireman of the Indian express, and the fireman of the Indian express, and the fireman

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 4, 1891.

PROCEEDINGS.

Of the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors, October Session, 1891.

Official.

[Continued from last week.]

Friday, Oct. 30th, 1891.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Board met at 3 o'clock. Roll called, all Supervisors present.

The committee to settle with the County Superintendents of Poor reported as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County:

Your committee to settle with the Superintendents of Poor would respectfully submit the following report, viz:

We have carefully examined the Stub-books and Journal and find they agree in number, day and amount, also, as to the posting to the several accounts in the ledger. We have also carefully examined the bills and accounts for which orders have been drawn, and find with two or three exceptions, the bills are regular and the orders drawn for the proper amounts and to the proper persons. In two or three cases, we find the bills amount to a little more than the order calls for, which is of course in the county's favor.

We also find the orders, drawn Oct. 5, 1889, were in settlement of accts up to Sept. 30, 1889, and orders of Oct. 5, 1891, were in settlement of accts to sept. 30, 1891, so that in point of fact, the report is only for twelve months instead of thirteen as has been suggested.

The total amounts as posted to the Ledger in the several accounts, for the year ending Sept. 30, 1891, are as follows:

Food	$1,072 [illegible]
Clothing	22 [illegible]
Medicines and medical attendance	40 [illegible]
Funeral expenses	124 [illegible]
Superintendent's salary	600 [illegible]
Fuel	9 [illegible]
Miscellaneous	944 [illegible]
Total	$2,812 [illegible]

Less order No. 59, which was withdrawn and cancelled unpaid $7.05, making the total amount of expenditures for all purposes, $4,151.57.

Your committee respectfully suggest to the Superintendents, that in future all bills and accounts presented for payment show definitely for and to whom the items therein, were furnished; and that said bills and accounts be properly certified to, and said that no order or orders be drawn in payment thereof until such certificate be made thereon. And, when the orders are drawn the number and date of said order be written, printed or stamped on the back of said bill and the bill properly filed.

We also request that the above suggestion, by motion, be spread on the minutes and be part and parcel of the proceedings of this Board.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

F. M. CHASE,
WARREN SMITH, } Committee.
WARREN WHITNEY,

Moved by Stroud, supported by Morgan, that the report be accepted and adopted. Motion carried.

The Secretary of Board of Superintendents of the Poor made the following report:

The Board of Superintendents of the Poor of this county respectfully report to you the expenditures for the year ending Oct. 6, 1891:

Food, clothing and board	$1,017 [illegible]
Fuel	9 [illegible]
Clothing	22 [illegible]
Medicines and medical attendance	40 [illegible]
Funeral expenses	124 [illegible]
Transportation	9 [illegible]
Repairs on grounds	15 [illegible]
Repairs on buildings and furniture	39 [illegible]
Horse for poor house	144 [illegible]
Taxes on Hart's land	20 [illegible]
Taxes on Clear Lake Estate	4 [illegible]
Furniture, stoves and Bedding	207 [illegible]
Miscellaneous	944 [illegible]
Total	$2,812 [illegible]
By 40 acres land in South Arm Twp	400 [illegible]
By 40 acres of land in Hayes Township	800 [illegible]
Furniture, stoves and bedding in poor house	207 [illegible]
Garden, lease of river house	12 [illegible]
Hay, Harris farm, cut 1891	20 [illegible]
Miscellaneous furniture on furniture do	5 [illegible]
	$1,445 [illegible]
Expenditures	$2,812 [illegible]
Total credit	1,445 [illegible]
Total expenditure	$1,367 [illegible]

E. A. MILLER, Pres.
GEO. W. BAILEY,
L. C. MADISON, Sec.

Moved by Harris and supported that the report be accepted. Carried.

Moved by Ava Smith, supported by Jones, that the Board proceed to the election of a County Superintendent of the Poor. Motion carried.

Ava Smith and Chase appointed tellers. Result of ballot: Whole no. of votes cast, 15; Loran C. Madison received 9 votes; Frank Hanney, 1; John Stevens, 3; Ava Smith, 1, and John Nicholls, 1. L. C. Madison declared elected.

The committee on Apportionment reported as follows:

NORTH TWP., Mich., Oct. 19th, 1891.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County:

Your committee on Apportionment has apportioned the State and County tax to the several townships as follows:

	State	County
Bear Lake	[illegible]	[illegible]
Boyne Valley	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chandler	[illegible]	[illegible]
Charlevoix	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chester	[illegible]	[illegible]
Evangeline	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hayes	[illegible]	[illegible]
Hayes	[illegible]	[illegible]
Marion	[illegible]	[illegible]
Melrose	[illegible]	[illegible]
Norwood	[illegible]	[illegible]
Peninsula	[illegible]	[illegible]
Springvale	[illegible]	[illegible]
Wilson	[illegible]	[illegible]
	$[illegible]	$[illegible]

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. S. SMITH
JOHN KILBURN
S. H. BUFFALO.

Moved by Jones, supported by Aldrich, that the report be accepted and adopted. Motion carried.

Moved by Chase, supported by Morgan, that when the land in Hayes township has been sold and the expenses of making the sale and of taking care of John Harris, the former owner of said property, have been paid, any surplus remaining shall be paid to the mother of said John Harris. Motion carried.

The Township Clerk's certificate of the amount of taxes to be raised in the several township road as follows:

For Township Road Fund	$[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
BEAR LAKE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4 and judgment	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
BOYNE VALLEY.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 5	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 6	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CHANDLER.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
Highway tax	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
Two expected tax	[illegible]
Building fund	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CHARLEVOIX.
For School purposes	[illegible]
Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special bridge fund	[illegible]
Bridge fund	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
EVELINE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6 fdd	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
EVANGELINE.
For Township purposes	[illegible]
Expected taxes	[illegible]
School purposes	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
HAYES.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
Highway tax	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
HURON.
For Contingent purposes	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
MARION.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
MELROSE.
For contingent fund	[illegible]
Highway fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3 fdd	[illegible]
Sch'l Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
NORWOOD.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
PENINSULA.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Highway fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
SPRINGVALE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6 fdd	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
WILSON.
For Town Hall	[illegible]
Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund Dist. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6	[illegible]
School Dist. number 7	[illegible]
School Dist. number 8 (Dougalas	[illegible]
School Dist. number 8 (Ed Rankin	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1 South Arm	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

Moved by Chase, supported by Morgan, that the Supervisors of the several townships be authorized to spread the several amounts on their respective rolls. Motion carried.

Moved by Stroud that Board adjourn until 8 o'clock a. m. tomorrow. Saturday, Oct. 17.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Roll called, full Board present. Minutes of yesterday's session of the Board read by Clerk and approved.

The Prosecuting Attorney asked that further time be given him to investigate and report upon the petition of L. N. Maisels.

Moved by Ava Smith, supported Kilborn, that Pros. Attorney be given until the next meeting of this Board to make his report. Motion carried.

Moved by Stroud, supported by Sweet that after the expiration of the present contract with County Physician, that Medical attendance for the poor shall be employed by the Supervisor of each township and bills for same paid on certificate of such Supervisor. Motion carried.

Moved by Harris, supported by Kilborn, that the Board proceed to audit their bills. Motion carried.

The bills of the several Supervisors for services attending Special Session at Charlevoix, July 16, and present session, were then read by Clerk as follows:

S. W. H. Gaus, Supervisor	[illegible]
Ava Smith "	[illegible]
W. W. Whitney "	[illegible]
John B. O'Neill "	[illegible]
A. S. Smith "	[illegible]
F. M. Chase "	[illegible]
William Gray "	[illegible]
A. E. Aldrich "	[illegible]
A. J. Stroud "	[illegible]
William Harris "	[illegible]
J. S. Jones "	[illegible]
J. S. Williams "	[illegible]
F. H. Aldrich "	[illegible]
J. Morgan "	[illegible]
John Kilborn "	[illegible]

Moved by Kilborn, supported by Ava Smith, that the bills be allowed as read. Carried.

The following bills of the Superintendents of Poor, were read:

Charlevoix County } ss.
Oct. 16, 1891. To 7 days with Board of Sup. $[illegible]

Charlevoix County } ss.
Oct. 16, 1891. To 7 days with Board of Sup. $[illegible]

To GEORGE W. BAILEY, Dr.

BAY TOWNSHIP.

For Contingent fund	$[illegible]
Food, board	[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3 and judgment	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CLEAR LAKE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
BOYNE VALLEY.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 5	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 6	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CHANDLER
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
Highway tax	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
Two expected tax	[illegible]
Building fund	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CHARLEVOIX
For School purposes	[illegible]
Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special bridge fund	[illegible]
Bridge fund	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
EVELINE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6 fdd	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
EVANGELINE.
For Township purposes	[illegible]
Expected taxes	[illegible]
School purposes	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
HAYES
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
Highway tax	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
HURON.
For Contingent purposes	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
MARION.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
MELROSE.
For contingent fund	[illegible]
Highway fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3 fdd	[illegible]
Sch'l Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
NORWOOD.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
PENINSULA.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Highway fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
SPRINGVALE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6 fdd	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
WILSON.
For Town Hall	[illegible]
Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund Dist. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6	[illegible]
School Dist. number 7	[illegible]
School Dist. number 8 (Douglas	[illegible]
School Dist. number 8 (Ed Rankin	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1 South Arm	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

Moved by Chase, supported by Morgan, that the Supervisors of the several townships be authorized to spread the several amounts on their respective rolls. Motion carried.

Moved by Stroud that Board adjourn until 8 o'clock a. m. tomorrow. Saturday, Oct. 17.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Roll called, full Board present. Minutes of yesterday's session of the Board read by Clerk and approved.

The Prosecuting Attorney asked that further time be given him to investigate and report upon the petition of L. N. Maisels.

Moved by Ava Smith, supported Kilborn, that Pros. Attorney be given until the next meeting of this Board to make his report. Motion carried.

Moved by Stroud, supported by Sweet that after the expiration of the present contract with County Physician, that Medical attendance for the poor shall be employed by the Supervisor of each township and bills for same paid on certificate of such Supervisor. Motion carried.

Moved by Harris, supported by Kilborn, that the Board proceed to audit their bills. Motion carried.

The bills of the several Supervisors for services attending Special Session at Charlevoix, July 16, and present session, were then read by Clerk as follows:

S. W. H. Gaus, Supervisor	[illegible]
Ava Smith "	[illegible]
W. W. Whitney "	[illegible]
John B. O'Neill "	[illegible]
A. S. Smith "	[illegible]
F. M. Chase "	[illegible]
William Gray "	[illegible]
A. E. Aldrich "	[illegible]
A. J. Stroud "	[illegible]
William Harris "	[illegible]
J. S. Jones "	[illegible]
J. S. Williams "	[illegible]
F. H. Aldrich "	[illegible]
J. Morgan "	[illegible]
John Kilborn "	[illegible]

Moved by Kilborn, supported by Ava Smith, that the bills be allowed as read. Carried.

The following bills of the Superintendents of Poor, were read:

Charlevoix County } ss.
Oct. 16, 1891. To 7 days with Board of Sup. $[illegible]

Charlevoix County } ss.
Oct. 16, 1891. To 7 days with Board of Sup. $[illegible]

To GEORGE W. BAILEY, Dr.

BAY TOWNSHIP.

For Contingent fund	$[illegible]
Food, board	[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4 and judgment	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CLEAR LAKE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
BOYNE VALLEY.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 4 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 5	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 6	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CHANDLER
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
Highway tax	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 2	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 3	[illegible]
Two expected tax	[illegible]
Building fund	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
CHARLEVOIX
For School purposes	[illegible]
Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special bridge fund	[illegible]
Bridge fund	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
EVELINE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. No. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6 fdd	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
EVANGELINE.
For Township purposes	[illegible]
Expected taxes	[illegible]
School purposes	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
HAYES
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
Highway tax	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
HURON.
For Contingent purposes	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
MARION.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
MELROSE.
For contingent fund	[illegible]
Highway fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3 fdd	[illegible]
Sch'l Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
NORWOOD.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
PENINSULA.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
Highway fund	[illegible]
Special highway fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
SPRINGVALE.
For Contingent fund	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6 fdd	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
WILSON.
For Town Hall	[illegible]
Contingent fund	[illegible]
Special Highway fund Dist. 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1	[illegible]
School Dist. number 2	[illegible]
School Dist. number 3	[illegible]
School Dist. number 4 fdd	[illegible]
School Dist. number 5	[illegible]
School Dist. number 6	[illegible]
School Dist. number 7	[illegible]
School Dist. number 8 (Douglas	[illegible]
School Dist. number 8 (Ed Rankin	[illegible]
School Dist. number 1 South Arm	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

Boechunts wanted @ $2.00 a bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise—a purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure Malarial fevers. For cure of headache, Constipation and indigestion, try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price $1.00 and $1.50 per bottle.

Boechunts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

What's Trumpy?

Familiar sound, that, isn't it? The pedro season is now open and will continue until next spring. Or, perhaps you like whist, seven up, or some other game better than pedro. This is to remind you that the playing cards issued by the C. & W. M. and D. L. & N. railways ("The Favorites" of Michigan) are the latest novelty in that line and the price is not "out of sight" either,—only 15 cents. Send for a pack.

GEO. DEHAVEN,
Gen'l Passenger Agt.,
16-3t Grand Rapids.

Boechunts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

GREAT!

That is what our big book offer is. We have been giving away glassware with every ten dollars traded with us. Now we are going to give you something better. We will give 1-T. Barnum's great work,

"Wild Beasts, Birds and Reptiles of the World, a Story of their Capture."

with every $20 traded with us. This book is profusely illustrated with about 400 engravings by the best artists in Europe and America, and should be in every house. This is an expensive advertisement and cannot last long. You will want winter books and shoes soon, come and get them now.

Those who have glassware coming, please get it now.

SHERWOOD

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Horses purchased if desired. Horse Line.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

Washburn & Ackert,
FOUNDREYMEN,
MACHINISTS,
And Manufacturers of The
Charlevoix Plow.

5 BUY'S POUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL
ALLEN B. WRISLEY'S OLD COUNTRY SOAP.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) for the Money only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracte Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:
IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.
SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,
L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,
Saw and Planing Mill,
Dealers in
HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.
Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,
J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for. Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering.

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Milier.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
I call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
I also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer
and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & CO.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc. in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS.

First door south of Sentinel Office

We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple and other wood and are available for farming purposes.

By Water and Rail

And are a mile removed for beech, and valuable for farming purposes. Rich soil and contiguous to the great fish railway station of Milwaukee.

Good Roads and Lakes, Railroad runs through the center of the grant. The parcel which you to which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of thirty souls and supplies filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

500,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
TITLE PERFECT.

Mrs. H. A. Carr,
Fashionable Millinery.
BRIDGE STREET. CHARLEVOIX.

FRENCH PATTERN HATS & BONNETS
Also a Choice Selection of
MILLINERY NOVELTIES
ALL ARE INVITED.
To call and examine our superb stock and get our prices.
MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. If he has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Hallinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.

He is also selling a first class watch a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-silver cases for $5.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW
FALL & WINTER
SAMPLES
Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $36.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,
Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER,
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
Proprietor of
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN.
Good Teams at reasonable rates.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental Parlors
Cor. Bridge and Mitchell Sts.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

WM. W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON Law and Abstract Office. Abstracts of Title to all lands in Charlevoix County compiled. Patents and Deeds for sale and houses to rent. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. EARL, Attorney at Law, Insurance and Collection Office, Corner Bank of Charlevoix

SOCIETIES.

L. O. O. F.—Iron Hose No. 12, meet Saturday evenings at Odd Fellows' Hall.

G. A. R.—Rankin Post No. 112, mustered monthly on Saturday evenings at Odd Fellows' Hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 72, O. E. S. Regular meetings on the third Wednesday of each month. Mrs. Carrie Hallinger, W. M. Minnie Malcolm, Secretary.

WHITE TENT, No. 186 R. A. M. meets at Masonic Lodge the first Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 299, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

LADIES'—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. A. A. M. Meeting on or before full moon. Hall over Bennett's office.

TRANSCONTINENTAL No. 190, K. T., meets at Masonic Lodge, Charlevoix, on the Thursday of each month.

PYTHIAN ASSEMBLY, No. 2111, K. of L., meets every Saturday evening at 7:00, at Bellinger Hall.

HANNA SELLEY CORPS, No. 113, meets at G. A. R. second Saturday of each month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

I. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office over Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. S. DILLON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. [Deputy County Surveyors Charlevoix county.]

The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. GAUGNON, Prop.
Corner Bridge and Mitchell Streets.
Beautifully located on the South Terrace, overlooking Lake Michigan and the village.
LARGE GROUNDS AND BOAT CONVENIENCE.
Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated.
40-1y.

Grand Palace Hotel.
84 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.
Only four minutes from the Court-House. Cable Cars pass the door.
Rooms with use of Bath, Impressionistic, newly furnished. An American and European plan. Rooms $1.00 weekly; one dollar and up per day. Turkish Bath in the hotel and gymnasium free to guests. Restaurant by Fred Thompson, late chief Chicago and Union League Clubs. Table d'Hote served. Special this and our future use.
42-1y

CHICAGO
VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE
Sleeping and Dining Cars between Chicago and all points west and North-west.
Trains leave as follows, subject to alteration:
Leave Traverse City, 6.00 a.m. 1.45 p.m. 5.45 p.m.
Leave Petoskey, 7.00 a.m. 2.45 p.m. 6.45 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 10.00 a.m. 7.35 p.m. 12.01 a.m.
Arrive Chicago, 3.35 p.m. 2.30 a.m. 7.05 a.m.
Fast day, Chicago with Sleeping Car:
10.00 a.m. for Traverse City and Petoskey.
3.35 p.m. for Wagner parlor car to Chicago.
*11.35 p.m. for Wagner Sleeping car to Chicago.
Trains leave Chicago at 9.00 a.m. 4.40 p.m. and 11.15 p.m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 3.35 p.m., 8.17 p.m. and 6.00 a.m. Arriving at Traverse City 10.00 p.m. and 10.00 a.m.
DETROIT.
The Favorite is the
Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.
From Howard City and Grand Rapids.
In effect Sept. 20, 1891.
Leave Howard City 9.05 a.m., 10.15 a.m., and 5.35 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids 9.00 a.m., 1

DOUBLE DICK AND JOE;

The Poorhouse Waifs.

BY DAVID LOWRY.

CHAPTER XVII.
JOE'S SUMMONS.

Jeremiah Cakes directed the driver of the cab to take him speedily to a fashionable clothing store.

He was thus half an hour he gave out down to fame for a fashionable mourner. A modest of a servant admitted the person and after wanting him to dress in his own clothes he led him to his mistress.

A very handsome lady, with clear eyes and a firm mouth, sat in a military attitude in her drawing room. Her hair was of a dark brown, and her complexion was very fair. The lady arose, and, with a slight inclination of the head, motioned to Jeremiah Cakes to be seated.

"Sir," said the lady, "I have sent for you on a matter of business, and I hope you will be able to assist me."

"Madam—Lady—Marchioness—Duchess—Princess—I am at your service!"

"Sir, I am a lady, and I do not speak. She was giving directions in Spanish.

"Madame—Lady—Marford I mean—I am the universal adopter of orphans—and—"

"Sir, I do not speak. Except a few words of Spanish, I know no other language."

Jeremiah Cakes gave an oath.

"I want you to find a boy, Lady Marford, and he has deceived me grossly deceived me."

"In what manner does it concern me, sir?"

"Why, madam, very much. He has deceived me, I say, and I have spent a fortune—a fortune! he has stolen diamonds!"

"Sir, I can not talk with you six hours without a lawyer present. Tell me what I should be informed of a matter of business, and I will see if I can assist you."

"Madam, I am only an humble man, but I have been deceived, and I have lost my money."

"Sir, I can not talk in my manner that would interest me. Speak fast, sir, and speak quick."

"My name is Jeremiah Cakes, I suppose you have heard of me. I am a well-known man, madam, and I have lost my money."

"Sir, I can not talk in my manner that would interest me. Speak fast, sir, and speak quick."

"Madam, I am a well-known man, and I have lost my money."

"Sir, I can not talk in my manner that would interest me. Speak fast, sir, and speak quick."

"Madam—Lady—Marford I mean—I am the universal adopter of orphans—and—"

"Sir, I can not talk in my manner that would interest me. Speak fast, sir, and speak quick."

"Madam—Lady—Marford,

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 4, 1891.

Northern Michigan News.

Cheboygan is to have a last factory and a creamery.

Frankfort will soon have a factory for the manufacture of umbrella handles and the like.

November 5th, St. Ignace will vote upon the proposition to borrow $7,000 to put in an electric light plant.

Joseph Wisler, of Mancelona, after shipping several carloads of potatoes has still 9,000 bushels stored in his cellar.

Boyne City is to have a licensed saloon, the bonds of J. A. Pauli having been approved by the council last week.

The East Jordan Enterprise: The debate between Elder Blair and Watson on the Strang question which commenced Thursday evening of last week is continued over Sunday. There is a large attendance at the meetings, many coming some distance to hear the arguments.

Belding Banner: Rev. C. F. Van Aitken closed the special meetings at Central Lake on Tuesday evening, when the church was crowded. Good fellowship was manifested, and all the meetings were well attended. Over twenty persons rose for prayers, and many others were deeply impressed.

A writer in the Elk Rapids Democrat suggests that a monument be erected over Judge Dunsby's grave by popular subscription—some greater than a half dollar—and that these sums be sent to H. H. Noble. This is a very good move. Though Mr. Dunsby left an abundance to provide a suitable monument, still there are many who would like to do something to show their respect for their dead friend. The SENTINEL would like to be counted in.

Petoskey Record: The other morning a pheasant lit upon the telephone pole in front of McOmber's bazaar on Mitchell street. Mack rushed into the store, popped a cartridge into a gun and running out shot the bird. Complaint was made against him before Justice Barnum and McOmber was assessed $25 and costs—say $27.70 in all. The pheasant dressed one pound, so that Mack's dinner costs him $27.50 per pound that day. The C. & W. M. will this week complete the new channel for the river, and hereafter the water, after plunging over the water works dam, will run into the bay. Walls of solid masonry will be built from the dam on both sides to confine the water, and the old channel running parallel to the beach will be filed in. Every dollar of the public money and from $6,000 to $12,000 more will be expended in converting the water front from the water works to the dock, and from bay street to the bay into a handsome park.

A specialty deserving the attention of all are those

$12 AND $16 PLUSH SACKS.

POSITIVELY A GREAT DEAL.

Still a few of those

$18 FUR TRIMMED PLUSH JACKETS.

MASON & BERDAN.

Oct. 24, 1891, at his home near Atwood, Mr. Thomas Flanagin, in the seventy-seventh year of his age. Mr. Flanagin was one of the earliest settlers in this region, having lived here about thirty years. He moved from New York State to Illinois in search of health, thence to northern Michigan, where he lived the remainder of his life. He was an earnest Christian and has a large circle of friends. He leaves two sons and two daughters, all of whom live at Atwood, except Mrs. Rachael Hubbell, whose home is at Lincoln, Neb.

Grand Traverse Herald: Capt. Wm. Hulme of Charlevoix was here this week with his schooner, "Peoria," after ties for the C. & W. M. extention. Capt. Hulme has led a life of varied experience, following the sea for many years, sailing in all parts of the world. In 1861 he came to Grand Traverse, pre-empting a piece of land in what is now Kansas township, Leelanaw county, and when the homestead law went into effect taking it under that act. He helped to build the first road from Traverse City to Burdickville. For some years past he has lived in Charlevoix, and run his own boat on the lakes. He has a great fund of interesting information regarding his adventures in different parts of the world, and has the faculty of telling a good story.

Notice to Lake Mariners.

A new work, the need of which has long been felt by navigators of the great lakes, is to appear within a short time entitled "A Manual of Navigation for the Lakes."

"The Manual" is designed for a practical instructor to prepare masters, mates, pilots, etc., for their duties on the chain of lakes. The aim has been to unit the discussion of astronomical subjects, (as the nautical work has already been done by the Government in a thorough manner) and devote the entire pages to practical teachings. The "Manual" will have, among others, chapters on the following subjects—Hight Plane Trigonometry; The Mariner's Compass; Plane Sailing; Middle Latitude Sailing; Parallel Sailing; Traverse Sailing; Current Sailing; Oblique Sailing; Mercator's Sailing; Construction of Charts; Finding Compass Errors; Magnetism, effect on Compass; Terrestral Magnetism; and, fifty-three pages of tables designed especially for the lakes. A novel and interesting portion of the work is the chapter on Propeller Wheels, an analysis of their work, finding of the pitch, proportion of the size to the power. The author, H. C. Pearson, the well known Surveyor, Civil Engineer and Compass Adjuster, of Perrysburg, Mich., is one of the most competent writers connected with the lake navigation, and the years he has spent studying the needs of lake mariners especially fits him for the compilation of such a work. The popularity of the articles written by him for "The Marine Record" is evidence of his ability in his chosen field.

The work is being printed from new clear type, on an excellent quality of paper, bound in leather, and in of the "handy" size and nothing has been spared to make the book complete, attractive and durable in every way.

The price has been placed as low as good workmanship will allow, viz., $2.00 per copy, postage paid. Orders are already being booked for the work, and we predict for it an immense sale. Any further information can be had by addressing the publishers, HUSSEL & SCRIVENS, Cleveland, O., or orders may be sent to the office of this paper.

First class hubbard squashes $1.00 a dozen; Red heads, 60c. Leave orders with C. H. & Co.
18-2t. E. H. NEWMAN.

—A. Fox & Co. the popular grocers, suggest a few ideas to the general public in their space this week

Where Did You Get That Hat?

at GEO. W. MILLER'S

And YOU BET, where he keeps everything in style, and has just received a new stock including the finest line of Boy's Hats that was ever kept in town, the thing lacking is that my stock is so large that I lack room to show it.

I AM MAKING A RUN ON A

BOY'S HAT Including a Base Ball for 50 cents.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

THE PRINCE IMPERIAL.

The True Story of His Tragic Death in Zululand.

The Prince Imperial's determination to volunteer for service in the Zulu War, says Wide Awake, was due in a sudden impulse born of the excitement of seeing his brother cadets from Woolwich set out for the seat of war. At the same time he had long been eager to distinguish himself in the hereditary profession of his family. He was brave to rashness and being very young he was stung by the taunts of his political foes in France, who were forever sneering at his life of cloth.

He left Camden House in February and sailed the same day from Southampton. During the voyage to the Cape both his horses, well-trained animals that Prince Napoleon had given him, died, and at Durban he bought the one that failed him so disastrously at the fatal moment.

On joining Lord Chelmsford's army, then just entering Zululand, the Prince was employed in various light duties, and he was also allowed to take part in some reconnoitering expeditions. On the first day of June the Prince, along with Lieutenant Carey, six troopers and a Kafir guide, started out to make a reconnoissance, during which they intended to complete certain sketches and maps.

The party rested awhile in an abandoned Zulu kraal, where they unsaddled their horses. The prince, who was in command of the party, seems not to have used any of those precautions that are necessary to the safety of small parties in the enemy's country. He probably did not understand the stratagems of savage warfare, at all events there are no scouts posted, as while they sat sketching the Zulus crept softly up concealed by the long grass.

Just as the prince gave the order to mount, the hidden foe poured a volley among them and then rushed up, the trooper fell, but the others got into their saddles, all except one—that one was the prince imperial, the best rider in Woolich.

No one will ever know how it happened, but probably the ill-trained horse swerved from his hand, as it is inconceivable how, if the animal had remained under control, so expert a rider as the prince could have failed to gain his saddle. He caught hold of the wallet of the saddle as the horse sprang forward, but it gave way in his hand and with it vanished his last hope of life. The rest of the party were far ahead, the riderless horse galloped on, and the son of Frederick was left alone to face death.

He met it bravely, and fell at last covered with wounds—there were seventeen of them, and all in front.

The enthusiasts resolved to be somewhat born at Windsor and at Woolwich, show how deeply England deplored his tragic end, but neither monument covers his mortal remains. He lies beside his father, the Emperor Louis Napoleon, in the mausoleum at Farnborough, built by the Empress Eugenie, near there, near them, she dwells amid her recollections.

In faraway Zululand there stands a white cross on the spot where the prince imperial fell, and the savages that dwell there have sworn to forever respect this monument of his mother's love.

Hypnotism.

"Can a hypnotized person be made to commit a crime?" was very emphatically answered in the affirmative by Dr. Voisin, of Paris, in a paper delivered before the British Association. He suggested to a subject under his influence to commit acts of incendiarism, while hypnotically asleep, and there was obedience in each case. More than that, a woman was recently sentenced in Paris for a succession of acts of robbery. It was ascertained that she had been habitually hypnotized, and upon investigation it was discovered that she had robbed under the suggestion of out-side parties.

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Hoffman, a young man of Burlington, O., states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any cough, lung or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s.

WHEN YOU COME TO TOWN

LOOK OUT FOR THE

CARS AT THE CROSSINGS.

New Bedford Cords, 60c.

New Cashmeres, 20, 35 and 40.

New Linens, 25, 35 and 50.

Heaviest Kersy Pants Cloth, 48c.

Sovereign Serges, 12 1-2 Cents.

Celluloid Collars, 15c.

FROM OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS. WE WILL GIVE ALL CASH PURCHASERS A DISCOUNT ON ALL BILLS THAT WILL BE WORTH LOOKING AFTER.

ENQUIRE!

Ladies' Gray Natural Wool UNDERWEAR, 65c.

Ladies Ribbed, 25c.

Wool Hose, 25, 35 and 50.

You can't help but find something useful on our NOTION TABLE.

CLOAKS, JACKETS, WRAPS.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Beaman's Pharmacy.

I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.

GEO. W. BEAMAN,
Dispenser.

If you buy your supplies for winter from

THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

you will not be disappointed.

A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.

Yours truly,

Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Jas C Miller

VOL. XXIII. NO.-19. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 11, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,143.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1866.

Law and Real Estate

OFFICE OF

EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS

And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

MOSEL STONE,

FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.

FOR SALE AT . . .

CALKINS & WARNE'S

. . . DRUG STORE.

All Hands Around!

Sally go down the middle!

OYSTERS Large.

OYSTERS Fat.

OYSTERS Fresh.

No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.

O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

FEES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

Watch This Space

NEXT WEEK.

Watch This Space

BERT MASON.

One Third of Your Life is Spent IN BED!

Bed-Springs, Matresses, Pillows, Blankets & Comforters

Can be bought at

S. M. See & Sons.

More Elegant New Blankets In Stock.

Get Our Prices on Blankets Before Buying.

Local News.

—Read Geo. W. Miller's new advertisement in this issue.

—Miss Katie Smith spent Sunday with friends at Harbor Springs.

—Mrs. "Dr." Sweetland left yesterday for Boston, for the winter.

—Full and complete line of hoods and facinators, at Mason & Berdan's.

—Still a few more tickets left for that oil painting at Mason & Berdan's.

—The churches were complelled to light up during the Sunday morning service.

—John C. Miller adds to our big potato collection by a tuber weighing 3¼ pounds.

—Baker & Son have this week received 45 sets of Bethnap farm and logging sleighs.

—Attention is called to the new advertisement of J. Z. Linton, in another column.

—Ben Weaver, of Chicago, was in town a few days last week, among his many friends.

—The holiday windows of A. T. Washburne's are the perfection of artistic decoration.

—S. M. See & Sons have something to say of mattresses, blankets, pillows, etc., this week.

—Mrs. F. M. Sears left Monday for Port Huron, called there by the serious illness of her mother.

—M. J. Stockman will leave for Florida early in December. Mr. Carpenter will not go until late in the winter.

—Miss Dean, one of our corps of teachers, has been at Petoskey as a witness in the Graves libel suit. Mrs. Flora Harry took her place.

—Jos. H. Dixon was here attending the funeral of his father, but returned to his C. & W. M. position with the engineer corps near Sparta, Monday.

—Julius S. Dixon arrived here Saturday night to attend his father's funeral. He is connected the city civil engineering department at Davenport, Iowa. He returned this week.

—The ladies of the Cong. and M. E churches will give a social consisting of a commodious lunch and supper at the Cong. church. Refreshments served from 5.30 until 8, price, 15 cents.

—Nicholls, Lewis & Bates' factory has taken a contract to furnish a large number of hardwood frames for woven-wire mattresses, from a Milwaukee concern, with prospects of a much larger order.

—Two notable weddings occurred in Bank last week. Mr. Daniel Flanagin to Mrs. Marshall, widow of the late Chas. Marshall, and Geo. Rogers to Miss Olive Stebbins, daughter of Christopher H. Stebbins.

—Melvin Monty, of this place, has been notified that he has been granted a pension of $10 a month, and $261 back allowance. Mr. Monty did good service throughout the entire war, and deserves this recognition.

—Geo. Durance has received another certificate of chemical analysis, from the Department of Agriculture, of a consignment of sugar beets, raised by him, showing 11.1 per cent. sugar, 10.2 tons per acre yield, coefficient of purity, 72.4, probable yield of sugar per acre, 1,759.

—Charlevoix Chapter, O. E. S., will begin its series of winter entertainments, by giving a ball at Lew Grand Opera House on Friday night of next week. Invitations will be issued in a day or two. Supper will be served by the ladies on the stage. They propose to make the occasion an enjoyable one.

—Tourists are a great crop throughout this region. At Norwood, Northport and other bay points, large sales have been made at 15 and 18 cents, in Charlevoix, family lots have sold readily at 25, some large lots for shipping having been delivered at 20 cents. A large proportion of the crop has been buried for spring sale.

—Although country editors are nearly all poor, there are plenty of persons who believe that half the paragraphs in a county newspaper are paid for with numerous bribes, writes the author of "A County Town" in the Century. There are always two sides to every question, and whatever side the editor takes on the premises of the other side has of being "bought." It is time, wonder, therefore, that the editor is put down a popular man; I never knew one who was, and I never knew one who was not when assessed majority. Probably the people believe in bribes to editors because it is a very rare editor who does not accuse his opponent of being a bribe taker, creating a prejudice against themselves and their calling. Lazy and incompetent editors nearly always explain the success of their more vigorous opponents by declaring that they carry on a system of blackmail.

—Jas. A. Gellick, who has been quite sick the past three weeks, is out again.

—The W. R. C. surprised Baxter Post, G. A. R., last Monday evening, while they were in session, bringing with things an abundance of refreshments. The old vets received the ladies with open arms—in a figurative sense—and the evening was enjoyed immensely by all concerned.

—The C. L. S. C. program for Friday evening, Nov. 13, 1891, will be rendered as follows: C. L. S. C. Song, No. 1. Devotional. Roll call, responded to by quotations from Will Carleton. Table talk—World's Fair at Chicago. Paper, Rain-making. Recitation, Mrs. Dr. Carlotch. Scotch song by Rev. W. H. Macpherson. Game, The Thirteen Colonies. Questions on American Facts and Fancies. C. L. S. C. song, No. 81.

—The county poor house at Ironton, under the management of Mrs. H. A. Miller, has, thus far proven an unqualified success, both in point of economy and the proper care of inmates. An inspection of the premises reflects credit upon the matron, and those in authority over her, viz: Messrs. Miller, Madison and Bailey. A county official, not connected with the poor department, recently had occasion to look over the building, and is enthusiastic in his praise of every feature connected with it. The Board did the proper thing when they adopted the present method, and a very wise thing when they selected the matron.

Railroad Notes.

Concerning the Silsby & McCrackin assignment, the matter remains much as it was last week. Assignee Moore is proceeding through the legal channels, but it is impossible to predict what the final result will be. There are so many stories afloat of the cause of the failure, that we do not care to refer to them until the true cause comes to the surface. We take very little stock in the theory that the company can in any way force an adjustment of claims against an insolvent sub-contractor. We are not a lawyer, but fail to see how Charlevoix bonds, already in escrow, under an agreement between the corporation and the company, can possibly be made to reach this contingency. We hope it may be true. Meantime, the business men interested will endeavor to compare the liability by an appeal to the company. Mr. Silsby remains on the ground, meeting every feature of the complication in a manly and honorable manner. We have faith that the ultimate outcome will be satisfactory.

About fifty men are ballasting on the north end. Mr. Sullivan and the steel gang went to Williamsburg last week.

Grand Rapids Democrat: "I will have my work on the Chicago & North Michigan done within the contract time," said J. H. McLane, railroad contractor, yesterday. He would have had rather more leveling done by this time had it not been for the delay in getting engines. We are now ballasting with two engines and tracklaying with a third. We began from the Petoskey end of Will Immaburg. There are now upward of thirty-three miles of steel laid, and I don't know how many miles of surface ready for more. I'll leave that grading done in time, and it will make a pretty road, too."

Major Sullivan, who had charge of the track-laying here, has gone to Atlanta, Ga.

The rock-cut, this side of Petoskey, will be completed in two weeks, when the steel gang will be brought back from Williamsburg, and the steel laid in to Petoskey.

Historical Society.

The meeting of the Historical Society, for the election of officers was held last Friday evening at the residence of Mrs. O. D. Wood. The following officers were elected: President, Prof. H. M. Rowe; 1st vice, Mrs. O. D. Wood; 2nd vice, Mrs. C. Y. Cook; Secy., A. T. Washburn; Treas., Mrs. O. S. Washburn, Librarian, C. Y. Cook. The Executive Committee as follows: E. H. Green, Chairman; A. T. Washburne, Delia Wood, Mrs. L. Dunbar Kanaga and Miss Alice Cochran.

The Society decided to meet once a month during ensuing year. The next meeting will be at the call of the Executive Committee.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, Pastor. Morning service at 10.30, subject, Paul at Mars Hill.

Sabbath-school at 12 m. Epworth League at 6 p. m.

Union Temperance meeting at the Baptist church in the evening.

MORTUARY.

Sudden Death of Hon. John S. Dixon, Last Thursday Afternoon.

Hon. John S. Dixon died very suddenly last Thursday from heart failure. Although his death was sudden, it was not wholly unexpected. He had been comparatively well, and was in the SENTINEL office on the morning of the day of his death; but, as is well known, by Charlevoix people, the paralytic stroke of a few years ago left its effects upon him, and many warning indications of recurrence. That he died painlessly there is no doubt, but that he died alone, probably an hour before his discovery, gives poignancy to the sorrow of his wife and children.

The funeral occurred Sunday afternoon at the Congregational church, Rev. Mr. Macpherson preaching the sermon, from the following text:

JOB. Now our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God, even our Father, which hath loved us, and hath given us everlasting consolation and good hope through grace.

III. Comfort your hearts, and establish you in every good word and work.—II Thessalonians, Chapter 2.

Although the weather was bad, the church was packed to the vestibule by those who desired to add their last tribute to him whom they had known and respected in life. The discourse was worthy of the occasion—spoken by a scholar of a scholar, between whom but a brief acquaintance had ripened into a friendship born of intellectual kinship. But a short time before being called upon to pronounce these obsequies, the minister had, in the presence of the writer, expressed the enjoyment that came to him through converse with Mr. Dixon. Yet to those who knew the deceased, there had been of late years a perceptible decline of that vigorous intellect with which he was endowed.

In the death of Mr. Dixon, a most conspicuous figure in the history of the Pine Lake region has passed away. Among the citizens of the region no man was more widely known or more generally respected than he. He was the personification of integrity and the soul of honor.

John Sergeant Dixon was born in Mexico, N. Y., August 24, 1818. His father, David K. Dixon, was a Yale graduate, and a clergyman of the Presbyterian church. In 1837 the deceased was graduated from the Oneida Institute, and later from Oberlin College. At twenty years of age he removed to Lenawee county, this State. July 1, 1846, he was married to Phoebe S. Pratt, at Orwell, Ohio. In 1854 they removed to the Grand Traverse region, locating at Old Mission. The following year they removed to Pine River, (now Charlevoix,) and lived for some years in a log house near where the Nicholls mill now stands.

Their life here for many years is well known in local history as a period of deprivation, and, for a time, of persecution—the Mormon reign coming upon them with a force that threatened to drive them from their possessions.

Mr. Dixon has filled many offices of trust and responsibility. He was the first Clerk of Charlevoix county, and was conspicuous in the the "Ieneneciine strife" that separated us from old Emmet and the Downing sway. He has been County Superintendent of Schools, and in 1863-4 represented the Grand Traverse region in the Legislature. About five years ago the faithful helpmeet of those years departed hence, followed closely by their eldest daughter, Mrs. Francis Nettleton, the other living children by the first union are Joseph R., of this place, Charles, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Junius S., of Davenport, Iowa.

Mr. Dixon leaves a second wife, to whom he was married about three years ago, and an infant son.

The writer of this has personally known every one of the first settlers of Charlevoix county. One by one he has seen them fall out of the ranks—Seth F. Mason, Philo Beers, Medad Thompson, James Inwood,—losing sight of them in the busy whirl, but remembering their personality with a vividness intensified by the memory of pioneer trials common to all. There are but a few of these old landmarks left; soon they, too, will go hence, and some of the rest of us, low in the hey-day of life, will step into their places as the "oldest living settlers."

ROYAL RANGER RALPH;

—OR—

The Waif of the Western Prairies.

BY WELDON J. COBB.

CHAPTER I.

THE WOLF-HUNTERS.

"Fire!"

"Who is it?"

"A wolf—of the vigilantes. Throw him, or the game is lost."

These scarcely-whispered words rapidly and excitedly, broke the silence of a weird and tragic scene in one of the lonelinest valleys of the far West.

They were addressed toward a man who had suddenly appeared upon a landscape with a fig-ever as her hand held half a dozen human forms, who had been lurking in the vicinity of a lonely stretch of railroad.

The time was night, relieved by the refulgence of a September moon, its rays just beginning to illumine mountain and valley with a rare crystalline beauty.

Half a mile distant, where the river stretched a dim silver thread of radiance, a lonely station showed, from which glimmered the light of a single lantern.

At the spot where the story opens, the single railway track curved over a high trestle and then descended from an almost grade toward the station and the stream.

For years, the section, especially the part crossed by the railroad, which was a lonely mountain branch of the great Pacific system, had been known as the Lone Canyon trail. The stakes was called Tempest, and the nearest settlement was Hawkins, a little village, mainly at Major's ranch.

Beyond that, there was an alternation of plain and hill and valley, informed even at the time of the narrative by marauding bands of savages.

The region was one in which a rough, uncultured set of miners and rangers resided, and outlaws and bands found in a fortnite field for their operations.

As has been stated, one long previous to the utterance of the words that begin this chapter, had Lone Canyon, prior to the scene, dismounted silently, let their horses in a thicket near by, and then became massed together near the railroad.

Here for some moments they were engaged in some mysterious movement, about the rails. One of their number went down the tracks to the station, returned, muttered an customs "All right," and then their deeds figures moved hither and thither. No, an noticible, would was spectator and a full, fully bearded man, evidently the leader of the party, started his companions with the exclamation:

"Hello, there! Someone is coming!"

Someone was coming straight down the tracks—a man just middle age, stalwart, rugged, and settled in the garb of a frontiersman.

His air was a careless and leisurely one, as if he had got tired of waiting for the train at the point where he stood, within about to kill time until it arrived.

All unknown to the persons who made that lay in wait for him, he was one coming of the presence of a band of outlaws ready to the rails and fell back with a startled cry:

"What's this? An obstruction on the road! They've got against Dashes or outlaws; there's danger afoot for the night-hawks!"

He turned to hasten back to the station. At that moment, six dark forms arose from the bushes that lined the side of the tracks

"Fire!"

"Who is he?"

"A spy—one of the vigilantes! Down him, or the game is lost."

"Stop!" cries a blinding blaze of light, and six resolvers flashed in the moonlight

"Missed him—after him! He must not escape and give the alarm!" cried the leader of the crew.

"The stranger had indeed been missed. He must have been mighty skirt, for the fusiliers wildfired past him he dropped to the ground and they flew over his head.

"You scoundrels! Come on, whoever you are!

His voice, clear and stentorian, rang out like an indignant roar of defiance and challenge.

He had again sprung to his feet and had drawn his revolver.

A dozen men were coming down unbidden from the station where he was He was force to retreat, but he did so. A opening the outnumbered his foe, and he fell back, cursing.

"Take that!"

The words were spoken by the leader, as he reached the prostrate man.

"Shoot! Shoot! Don't be cowards! I know you. Coward! villain! If I was a fair odds with you!"

The words were silenced suddenly. The leader of the band had struck a blow had rallied Dagard—had raised a cord and tied one to his hand. It descended with terrific force, cutting a crimson gash in the forehead of the courageous stranger, stunning him to insensibility.

Dagard's eyes swam a haunted, frightened expression, and his face was deeply pale as he surveyed his unconscious foe.

"You've settled him, Dagard," spoke one of the men as he crowded to his side. "What does it mean?"

Dagard spoke in an awed tone.

"What mean?"

"That man?"

"Who is he?"

"Know him! Look again, fool! Who else? I thought you would recognize him!"

Dagard's companion peered close at the face of the prostrate form.

"Ranger Ralph!" he gasped out.

"He has returned—from where, last we saw him, and we left him to die a prisoner in a cave in the Utah hills! I had crossed our trail, determined, to bring on his justice for a stage robbery. He escaped—that he was to be avenged. He escaped! What does this mean? Have men been but disaster to our plans? He—or is he the same as our own—meet the girl who stands between me and success? Dagard, it is an ill omen. Disaster. I fear, I tremble."

"For a dead man" scoffed Dashes, jeeringly. "He is to certainly dead this time."

"He may have friends near at hand."

"We was sent that man out. Bunny, my he would not walk to his fate that way if he knew we were around or suspect we were."

"Hush! I hear—I see—I see! Hark! Hark! Hark! I hear the voice of the men."

"Hush!" he called to one of the men. "What is it?" asked the person addressed.

"Two people on the station?"

"Yes."

"There was no one there?"

"No one but—I dropped again."

"You are sure—"

"I notice."

"Go there to see and reconnoiter. If there are any others arrived alone we cause, return and report at once."

"All right."

Dashes returned to the leader's side, who had not yet waken from the place where Ranger Ralph lay.

"Everything is arranged for the work, Captain," he said to Dagard. "As to yonder enemy—Ranger, decline and Captain—this time he will not rise. Say he settled him. You are sure the girl will be on the train?"

"Good"

"Yes."

"Of course she will. I received positive information. Remember, Dashes, that she is of more value to us than the men of the tracks

"That's all right. You and I will look out for the girl, and the others for the booty. But if she should be killed?"

"Then I should be sorry for—that's all," replied Dagard, coolly. "What makes the interest in Ranger Ralph's appearance now?"

"Dagard—"

"Dagard—"

"Dagard—

ROYAL RANGER RALPH;

OR

The Waif of the Western Prairies.

BY WELDON J. COBB.

CHAPTER I.

THE TRAIN WRECKERS.

"Fire!"

"Where is it?"

"A spy—one of the vigilantes. Down him, or he will be lost!"

These ejaculations, spoken quickly and excitedly, broke the silence of the weird and lonely place, and the scene was one of terror.

They were directed toward a man who had suddenly appeared upon a landscape which lay over an hour had held half a dozen human figures, who had been lurking in the vicinity of a lonely stretch of railroad.

The time was night, relieved by the refulgence of a September moon, its rays just beginning to illumine mountain and valley with a rare crystalline beauty.

Half a mile distant, where the river stretched a dim silver thread of radiance, a lonely station showed, from which glimmered the light of a single lantern.

At the spot where the story opens, the single railway track curved over a high trestle-work and then descended in a sharp grade toward the station and the stream.

For years this section, especially the course pursued by the railroad, which was a recently constructed branch of the great Pacific system, had been known as the lawless region trail. The settlers, the miners, the cattle men, had suffered so much at the hands of the men in Mother Grotch.

Beyond that stretched an alternation of plain and hill and valley, infested even at the time of our narrative by marauding bands of savages.

The region was one in which a rough, uncultured set of miners and rangers prowled, and outlaws found in it a fertile field for their operations.

As has been stated, it was not premature to the utterance of the words that begin this chapter, that a group of men, prone to the scene, dismounted silently, led their horses in a thicket near by, and then became massed together near the railroad.

Here for some moments they were engaged in some mysterious movements about the rails. One of their number went down the track to the station, returned, muttered an ominous "All right," and then their dusky figures moved thither and thither. Not an audible word was spoken, and a keen, half-leaded man, evidently the leader of the party, studied his companions with the exclamation:

"Get to cover! Someone is coming!"

Someone was coming straight down the track—a man past middle age, stalwart, rugged, and attired in the garb of a frontiersman.

His gaze was careless and leisurely enough, as he had the deed of waiting for the train at the depot and was strolling about in the time until it arrived.

All unaware of the perilous ambushes that lay in wait for him, he was oblivious of the presence of a few nuts be-

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY

BRAVE MEN WHO MET UPON THE FIELD OF BATTLE.

Thrilling Stories of the Rebellion—Old Soldiers and Sailors Recite Interesting Reminiscences of Life in Camp and on the Field.

Closed Up the Court.

GEN. FITZ LEE Hamilton, the veteran of three wars, is one of the most picturesque figures in the military history of the United States. His record as a soldier dates from his youth, as he was called for the special duty of raising a company of Rifles in the Second Regiment of Illinois volunteers, which was mustered in 1853 on the Island No. 10, one at a time, and he was called on to do the duty of the Illinois and Mississippi Rifles, "Decatur," to use Secretary Stanton's words, "in the service of his country, wherein he was highly distinguished for ability and good conduct."

Although during his long military career this Hamilton had been interspersed with a lance and his shield fractured by a bullet, he had his long self now at nearly seventy years of age in the possession of all his mental and physical faculties. His bearing is as sedately and as full of spirit as when he led his command to battle. The General often recalls incidents in his military service.

Perhaps the most remarkable events in his military career occurred in Washington in 1862, when the Capital of the United States was temporarily closed. This story, the General has told in part before appeared in print. He recalled it yesterday while in conversation with some friends, and subsequently related it to a reporter of the World. Substantially he follows:

"It was in the early days of the rebellion, and I was then a sort of between times was issued by Justice Wayne, of the United States Supreme Court, in the matter of a private in Colonel Wills Gorman's regiment of Minnesota Volunteers. The point involved in the case was practically the right of the President to call out the volunteer militia to aid in the suppression of the rebellion. The writ was finally served upon General Winfield Scott, and the importance attaching to the subject may be imagined from the fact that a Cabinet meeting was called to consider the matter. The Attorney General was appointed General Scott's legal adviser.

"I was absent at the moment, giving liberty to a collateral descendant of Washington's estate, I mean. Then I returned General Scott asked: 'Colonel, is your horse saddled?' My reply was 'My horse is always saddled; only drop the bit in his mouth.' He then told me the matter, with which was deemed defective. He strip where tobacco is, and an officer seated at a table told him to hand over all his valuables, and he was then ordered to follow him to the place where he was liberated. When it came to my turn I had a little more difficulty in coming through a crack in the wall, saying: 'Don't pull my whiskers, they'll never return it.' This I afterwards found to be one of the stages of war. 'Who is that?' I asked, and the voice answered some name, and then in the Fifth Illinois Cavalry. I had six silver on me, and this I slipped into his hand, for I had no other offer. Some time after a man came up to the shed and said 'I was Orcutt. He returned me the $15 I had given him, and I thanked him. 'Such attempts at escape,' continued Capt. Orcutt, 'were often made at Andersonville. I remember on one occasion, we had succeeded in digging a hole big enough for a man to crawl through about fifty yards. We dug it with our fingers and made a lark knife for want of better tools. We had to carry the dirt out in our coats. Enough of the whole thing was given to a young fellow for a piece of tobacco."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

LIBERTY PRISON.

Cutting the Knot.

The renowned Merrimac which battled the Union fleet, and had to herself finally divided by the Monitor, made during her first unpopularity troubles a victim of the frigate Congress. After the battle had continued for some time, the Merrimac was in estimate as to take such a position relative to her enemy that the destruction of the Congress became only a matter of moments.

Her commander was slain, she had been repeatedly set on fire, and her decks were covered with dead and wounded. She was accordingly run ashore, and there isolated the white flag.

The Merrimac now sent alongside two tugs, to take possession and remove the prisoners, but these were driven back by sharp firing from the Congress.

General Mansfield had directed the prisoners to be brought back among the beach, behind a sand ridge, and was going over wheeled into position to prevent the enemy making way with his prize.

Captain Reid, who was as good a player as soldier, raised a question of military law.

"Since the ship has surrendered," said he, "has not the enemy the right to take possession of her?"

Then General Mansfield uttered one of the shortest and most conclusive orders on record.

"I know the old ship has surrendered," said he, "but we haven't. I want that settled in Hell's Half Acre."

Then he turned to his men, and then without.

Then the Union officers, who had surrendered, were brought back, and the Union crew were brought ashore, and that night, when the fire reached her magazine, the Congress blew up. That lightning decision had at least saved her crew.—Youth's Companion.

Tin.

The only proper way to keep a gun barrel in good order is to wash it out with boiling hot water, dry with linen swabs, and oil with vaseline or sylimber oil, every time that it is used. It should never be laid down unattended to for a day or two after firing.

SCALING HERRINGS.

The Work Is Performed in a Somewhat Peculiar Manner.

A peculiar feature of the smoked herring industry in this country is the method by which the fish are scaled. Enormous quantities of them are captured in weirs and gill-nets and the entire throng then begins. When a load has been secured the fishermen have entered at the head of his regiment—for he was then a colonel—the hold of the Sedan, the bloodshed struck him, exploded, and he fell dead at his feet. And the story of what followed in those simple words, written, it will be seen, and Jerusalem to his physical suffering.

"I was not wounded, but my entrenches were cut. Our army was in retreat. Two soldiers passed and saw me. They thought I was dead, and I called the soldiers, 'Boys,' I said, 'I am not dead, but I am in pain, and my pocketbook. I should rather they'd go to my countrymen than the Prussians.' After they had done so I asked them to have me up against the hedge, with my face to the enemy and then leave me. They objected, but I said, 'It will make things look better.' Two soldiers came back again. We dug it with our fingers and made a lark knife for want of better tools. We had to carry the dirt out in our coats. Enough of the whole thing was given to a young fellow for a piece of tobacco."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Cutting the Knot.

The renowned Merrimac which battled the Union fleet, and had to herself finally divided by the Monitor, made during her first unpopularity troubles a victim of the frigate Congress. After the battle had continued for some time, the Merrimac was in estimate as to take such a position relative to her enemy that the destruction of the Congress became only a matter of moments.

Her commander was slain, she had been repeatedly set on fire, and her decks were covered with dead and wounded. She was accordingly run ashore, and there isolated the white flag.

The Merrimac now sent alongside two tugs, to take possession and remove the prisoners, but these were driven back by sharp firing from the Congress.

General Mansfield had directed the prisoners to be brought back among the beach, behind a sand ridge, and was going over wheeled into position to prevent the enemy making way with his prize.

Captain Reid, who was as good a player as soldier, raised a question of military law.

"Since the ship has surrendered," said he, "has not the enemy the right to take possession of her?"

Then General Mansfield uttered one of the shortest and most conclusive orders on record.

"I know the old ship has surrendered," said he, "but we haven't. I want that settled in Hell's Half Acre."

Then he turned to his men, and then without.

Then the Union officers, who had surrendered, were brought back, and the Union crew were brought ashore, and that night, when the fire reached her magazine, the Congress blew up. That lightning decision had at least saved her crew.—Youth's Companion.

Tin.

The only proper way to keep a gun barrel in good order is to wash it out with boiling hot water, dry with linen swabs, and oil with vaseline or sylimber oil, every time that it is used. It should never be laid down unattended to for a day or two after firing.

OLD MEMORIES.

BY LUCILA ARGONNE.

In the twilight of the twilight
Of the dreamy, dreamy day,
When the heart of the poet
Plays the music of the lay,
When the soul of the poet
Wakes the music of the lay,
With the pensive-eyed dreamy
Filling the chalice of its grace.

And the tones of sweetness
Vibrating in the chalice of
Its throbbing life music
Are the memories of days
Gone by, and of years
Gone by, and of years
Gone by, and of years
Filled the cup of life and
Filled the cup of life and
Filled the cup of life and.

In the tones come of the music
Mystic echoes the and bell,
Mystic echoes the and bell,
Echoes the and bell,
Echoes the and bell,

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 11, 1891.

A GLIMPSE AT SCHOOL LIFE.

From the Pulpit to the Gridiron—The Different Studies and the Facts They Play in Developing the Mind.

Harper's Bazar.

School life in all its varied phases is a strange problem. The one object sought to be accomplished by the school is the training of the youth for the active duties of life.

Our early school life which lies in the dim, half-forgotten past, was a time when youthful habits of industry or idleness were formed. Unconscious of it all, as we were, while learning to read and spell, or making rude likenesses of letters and figures, yet it was a time when the impressions made upon our minds by the school-room and the teacher were strongly interwoven with our lives to form a part of our individuality.

The manner in which we were taught the first few years fixed upon us a like or a dislike for study. How many there are who cherish fond memories of some teacher whom they loved in their childhood, and to win whose smile of approval they early acquired the habit of having good lessons. The mind of a child who is beginning school is as a blank page; the first impressions are the most lasting.

As passing, each year to higher grades, there was a certain feeling of satisfaction in being promoted, and in being able to read items in the newspaper—the latter proving quite an incentive to better scholarship. But, as advancement continues, all the stimulus received in any way is needed, for application to study becomes necessary.

Writing and reading numbers from the board has broadened into arithmetic, a book full of problems which require careful reasoning for their solution. No longer will random figuring give the result; it must be reached by the process of reasoning. Language, too, has emerged into grammar, and abounds in rules and definitions. The sentences to be parsed or analyzed present ever-changing arrangements. The only way to prevent becoming confused and discouraged is to master each lesson. A slip-shod or slight the work will cause serious trouble in time to come. At any period of life in school, things not well learned are quite sure to appear examination days.

Gradually does the pupil realize the value of what he is learning. The study of descriptive and physical geography gives the learner a truer conception of the world as it exists than he has previously entertained. In degrees does the student become able to arrive at correct conclusions in regard to many questions arising in class. This is unmistakable evidence of mental development.

Occasionally learners have too high an estimation of their ability, or what is commonly termed "big-head." As ambition usually accompanies or follows such mental growth, we may consider it as does the poet who wrote:

"He who knows what write should to no fall Ambition follows knowledge."

If the outgrowth of it all is to aim at a mark in life, censure ought to be spared. Those who aspire to continue in school and some day graduate, enter the high school with a studious turn of mind and a noble object in view.

Advanced studies continue the development of the reasoning faculties. Algebra and geometry bring forth intellectual acumen and mental process of reasoning. General history furnishes a comparison of the people of today and those of past ages. Zoology and geology give food for thought and deepen the capacity for thinking. Rhetoric and literature cultivate the æsthetic nature, and some, each branch serving to unfold certain latent properties of the mind. The result is, the thinking faculties are more evenly developed.

At last the golden gate of graduating, which has been the goal of the student's ambition, is near at hand. The ordeal is carefully prepared, ready for the time of delivery. Failing to reflect upon the discipline received during his school career, the graduate now knows it will be of lasting benefit to him, and he holds no thoughts of revenge on the teachers who whipped him for disorderly conduct. The use he will make of the education acquired will depend upon inherent energy. Plans for the oration having at last arrived, it is delivered, and thus ends the school life.

—Cecil F. Warwicker.

The Traverse City high school pupils have organized themselves into a Students' Scientific Society.

The libel suit of M. O. Graves against Messrs Miller, Hankey and Wiley, of Petoskey, tried at Harbor Springs last week, resulted in a verdict of no cause of action.

SURGERY'S LATEST TRIUMPH.

A Remarkable Operation Performed at a Hospital.

A remarkable surgical operation was performed recently at the Howard Hospital, Broad and Cathcrine streets, says the Phila. Press. Joseph S. Ball, a veteran of the late civil war, and who has passed his 60th year, visited Dr. Edward Martin, who is surgeon-in-chief of the institution, several days ago for malignant cancer at the base of his tongue. He was in a pitiable condition when examined by the doctor. The cancer had been slowly but surely eating the flesh away. The tongue was performed from the effects of the disease. Ball could articulate only with great difficulty, and could not eat solid food of any kind.

The doctor after consultation with the rest of the staff, concluded to make an operation as it was the only way to save the man's life. The patient was informed of the extremely hazardous nature of the operation, as the destruction of the fractional part of an inch almost would cause instant death. After some hesitation Ball consented to submit to the ordeal.

Several days later the patient was laid on the operating table and anæthetized by Dr. Wood. Dr. Martin's assistant. Dr. Martin then carefully made two longitudinal incisions in the patient's throat, one on each side of the maxillary bone, and then secured with silk thread both lingual arteries. This was a necessary process to prevent the patient bleeding to death.

The patient's head was then firmly fastened and Dr. Martin sawed completely in two the inferior maxillary, or lower jawbone. Each half was separated gradually, but surely, until the gaping aperture was big enough to place two clenched hands within.

Even the impassive physicians were now thoroughly on nettles over the spectacle presented. At this moment the patient showed signs of heart failure, and the operation was suspended for a moment while hypodermic injections were administered.

Dr. Martin grasped the patient's tongue firmly with his left hand and drew it through the aperture in the left side of his throat. The tongue was then entirely removed at the hyoid bone, together with a number of diseased glands and tissue. After the bleeding was stopped by the usual medicants and an antiseptic dressing applied the two halves of the jaw were brought together and fastened with silver wire.

The wounds on the neck were then sewed up, after which the patient was gradually resuscitated, while the assembled physicians watched with anxious interest for any signs of a surgical shock, but to the surprise of all Ball's temperature and pulse were about normal.

The patient was removed to a room specially prepared for his reception, and two nurses and the physicians alternated on noting the symptoms. He is now doing well, and the physicians express confidence on his complete recovery.

As the tongue has been entirely removed, the patient will never again be able to utter a sound or partake of any solid food. Liquid nourishment will be administered by means of a large silver tube, which will be inserted in his throat through the mouth. In taking his meals therefore the tube will be compelled to throw his head far back on his shoulders while the food is poured down the tube.

The operation lasted two hours, and is said to be only second on record in medical science.

THE LOCO HABIT.

As Deadly Among Horses as the Opium Habit Among Men.

"We have on the plains of Texas and New Mexico what might appropriately be called natural opium fields, where horses and mules metaphorically slit the pipe and become regular fiends," said a former Texas rancheman to a N. Y. Sun reporter. "As a matter of fact there is no opium nor any pipe, but no joint ever offered better facilities for its habitues to become moral and physical wrecks than certain localities on the plains do to the horses and mules which are there exposed to the temptation of the loco weed.

"Now a good many Easterners outside the idea that the loco weed loads a man down with molten astray, and soon makes wrecks of them, and I have heard men say that they have turned their horses to pasture regularly on what they call the loco weed and thrive on it. If that is so, the loco weed of California is not the same as what we call the loco weed of Texas and New Mexico. The California loco is what we call the rattle weed. I guess, because it has a pod with seeds that make a noise in the wind like a live rattlesnake. Some people out there call it the vegetable rattlesnake and declare that its juice is deadly poison. Now the loco weed of Texas and Mexico is different, and I never knew a horse or a mule to go away with it except in the winter time. It has a light green bunchy growth, and will have its fresh-looking leaves above the snow when no other vegetation is to be tempting, and it is then the unsuspecting animals are fascinated by it. After a horse or a mule has taken six first cops of loco he will give every thing else the go by to get more of it, and soon becomes a confirmed loco eater. No opium fiend ever longed for or sought more persistently for his pipe than a horse or a mule will long and seek for the last loco branches. If the animals can not obtain the plant they will fall into a state of abject nervous collapse. They see things as the drunkard suffering from delirium tremens sees things. They will plunge and rear and tumble at imaginary things, and become utterly unmanageable and irrepressible. A few leaves of loco will restore them to placidity so far as their nervous system is concerned, but they gradually lose in physical vigor and intelligence until at the end of two or three months they are virtually imbeciles and physical wrecks. They become thin and weak and die in evident debilitation.

"Many an excellent horse, of the best breeding and previous irreproachable reputation as a gentleman's nag, have I known to be led to such by the insidious loco weed, and die as probable a wreck as any human being who ever fell a victim to the fascinating force of opium."

WILLING TO PLEASE.

The Druggist Had All Kinds of Poisons, but He Only Sold them.

A weary-looking young woman came into a Second avenue drug store when I was waiting for the shower to pass over, says M. Quad in the New York Evening World, and plaintively said to the druggist:

"I have had another quarrel with Mike, and I don't care to live any longer."

"Yes, just as you, ma'am," he replied as he briskly rubbed his hands together. "Anything I can do for you today?"

"I think I will take strychnine," she slowly replied as she cast her eyes along the shelves.

"Exactly, ma'am, finest strychnine in New York. I suppose you want about a dime's worth?"

"Would arsenic be better?" she asked, as he held the jar in his hands.

"No better, but fully as good, ma'am. I have a fine lot of arsenic on hand just now and can warrant it full strength. Just make a ham sandwich and spread on about 15 cents' worth?"

"Maybe," she dreamily replied as he waited, "maybe Rough on Rats would be better."

"Just as you think, ma'am. Give you a selection from two dozen boxes, all fresh, stock only yesterday. It's a little shorter than the other poisons, but perhaps you won't mind that. Can be sprinkled on bread and butter or taken in milk. One box, ma'am?"

He took down a box and held it ready to dump, and she looked around the shop as if about to tear one of her kyes, and asked:

"How long does it take paris green to kill?"

"Not long ma'am—only a few hours. Many prefer it to any other poison, as they want to write a farewell letter after taking it. I can warrant my stock as fresh and pure. Should it fail to kill, come right back and your money will be refunded. My object is to satisfy customers. Half a pound, ma'am?"

She wiped her nose. Then she sighed. Then she fished up two pennies out of her pocket, walked over to the chewing-gum machine, and dropped them in, and as she stuffed two slabs of gum into her mouth she turned and said:

"I guess I won't take any to-day, but if Mike comes in tell him I was here inquiring for poison."

"Certainly—certainly—with the greatest of pleasure. Nothing else to-day? Thank call again!"

THE TEST.

Standing Before a Wheelbarrow and Before Cannon.

Three or four of us on the car were talking about General Sherman's death, says a writer in the N. Y. Clipper, and as night have been expected one of the group zealously admitted that he was with the lamented general in his famous march to the sea. There was a woman in the seat ahead, surrounded by bundles and baskets and evidently going somewhere on a visit. The car talk soon stirred her up and she turned to the veteran and queried:

"Were you right in the battle?"

"Yes'm."

"Dead men all around?"

"Yes'm."

"Wounded crying for water?"

"Yes'm."

"Bombshells and cannon balls falling around you like hail?"

"Yes'm."

And you didn't run?"

"No'm, I should?—no ma'am," he modestly replied.

"Stood right there and never got scart, eh?"

"Yes'm."

"Well now, I don't believe it!" she exclaimed. "It ain't human nature. It ain't accordin' to things."

"I hope you do not doubt my word, madam?"

"Yes I do," she sharply replied. "I don't believe you have got any more nerve than my Sam has, and Sam can't stand the sight."

"Then you have a—"

"Yes I have. You just get off at Scottdale, where I am going to stop. There'll be a wheelbarrow somewhere around there, and you just stand off about thirty feet and let me bombard on you with it. If you don't jump or dodge or climb a telegraph pole I'll give in that you are the brave est man I ever saw."

"I—I'm afraid I haven't time," he stammered.

"I know you wouldn't have," she dryly replied. "They never do. They talk about bombshells and food men and slaughter pens, and make out that they charged up to the roaring cannon, but the moment I talk wheelbarrow they skedaddle. You needn't say no more. You've admitted."

And he hadn't another word to utter.

Railroads in Switzerland.

A great amount of railroad building is going on all over Switzerland, spanning no mountain, no valley, and it is surprising to find that this most difficult of all countries for railroad engineering should possess relatively more railways than the New England states. In the latter there is one kilometer of railway to every 17 square kilometers of land; in Switzerland, one to every 13 square kilometers; in other words, the New England states are four and a half times larger than Switzerland, and have but three times more railways, although in Switzerland one-half the country is occupied by the highest mountain ranges of Europe. The receipts average in the New England states about $5000 a year per kilometer; in Switzerland, $6000, which difference is mainly due to summer travel.

The Catholic Church.

At a Roman Catholic conference in Wigan Father Power declared that "never since Elizabeth's reign had the prospects of the Catholic church been darker in England. In most parts of the country it was not only losing numbers relatively but absolutely. Liverpool was the only diocese which showed an increase of Catholics, and that was not in proportion to the increase of population. Emigration to America, apostacy and the aversion of young men to matrimony were the reasons."

Nothing to Do.

It is said that $600,000 has been spent on the empress of Austria's new palace at Corfu. But that is nothing in comparison with the late Mrs. Hopkins' $1,000,000 castle.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL.

Old Perkinson House.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,

J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for, Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering,

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We sell special attention to our IMPORTED AND WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel Office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are disbursed with beech and maple (the best timber and land combined) for sale by

O. L. ROLLISTER

ST. JOHNS, MICH.

Buckles's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt-rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Mrs. H. A. Carr,

Fashionable Millinery.

BRIDGE STREET. CHARLEVOIX.

FRENCH PATTERN HATS & BONNETS

Also a Choice Selection of

MILLINERY NOVELTIES

ALL ARE INVITED.

To call and examine our superb stock and get our prices.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School.

The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.

He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time-keeper, in stem-winder for $8.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

. . . . . C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

We Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,

Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,

Dealer in—

Rifenburg Milling Co.'s

FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.

IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,

proprietor of—

NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN

Good Teams at Reasonable Rates.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD D. OBERS, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Real Estate Agent, Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON (late Fell) Attorneys for all Charlevoix County. Office examined, loans negotiated, and all other business promptly attended to and business done. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 119, meets second Monday each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 74, O. E. S., meets on the first Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Castile Hitts, W. M. Hettie McLeod, Secretary.

EMMET CHAPTER No. 108 R. A. M. meets at Masonic rooms on the second Wednesday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Round Lake Lodge No. 191, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 321, F. & A. M. Saturday on or before full moon. Hall over Bennett office.

TANGUEDOMMA NIGHT No. 195, K. T., meets at Masonic hall on the second Tuesday of each month.

PYTHIAN ASSEMBLY, No. 1911, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall.

BAXTER ELCHO LODGE, No. 152, meets 1st Tuesday evening of each month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

J. WILLIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. W. DAVIS, surveyors and Engineers. Office Lewis Block. Inquire Dennis Davis, Charlevoix county.

The "New Charlevoix."

M. N. BAGNOR, Prop.

(Formerly the "FRENCH HOUSE")

Beautifully located on the North Terrace, overlooking the Lake and Village.

LARGE ROOMS AND EVERY CONVENIENCE.

Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated throughout.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only first honors from the Court House Clerks Case on site.

Rooms Single $1 and Modern Improvements. New Turkish and Russian Bath Rooms. Rooms Single and Suites Turkish Bath Rooms. Rooms Single and Suites, $50 per week. Restaurant Free to Passengers, per our Free Omnibus from Union Depots. Table d'Hote Dinner. Open day and Sabbath.

Moody

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE.

Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points west and north-west.

Trains leave as follows (central time):

Leave Traverse City, 7:05 a.m. 12:40 p.m. 4:15 p.m.

Arrive Grand Rapids, 11:35 a.m. 5:40 p.m. 10:10 p.m.

Leave Grand Rapids, 7:00 a.m. 12:45 p.m. 5:00 p.m.

Arrive Chicago, 4:35 p.m. 5:40 p.m. 7:05 a.m.

Every day. Others week days only.

10:00 a.m. train from Chicago to Grand Rapids 1:35 p.m. has Wagner parlor car to Chicago.

7:05 a.m. train has Wagner parlor car Traverse City to Chicago.

Trains leave Chicago at 9:00 a.m. 4:45 p.m. and 11:10 p.m. arriving at Grand Rapids 3:15 p.m. 9:55 p.m. and 7:05 a.m. Meeting at Traverse City 10:00 p.m. and 4:15 p.m.

Schneermann & Guidebeck.

We call your especial attention to a line of samples of Ingrain and Brussels Carpets in the latest designs, which we have on exhibition for a short time only. Call if in need of a carpet come in and see us. We can satisfy the public in prices and designs. Don't forget the place. The new Dry Goods House, Lewis Block.

Schneermann & Guidebeck.

LEWIS BLOCK. Charlevoix, Mich.

A PRISONER SIXTY YEARS.

An Italian Brigand Liberated After a Long Confinement.

Recently after sixty years of imprisonment, part of which was passed in the dungeons of Naples, the Italian brigand chief, Domenico Neochia was released and passed through Naples to Rome, where he was met by his relative, he was placed in an asylum for he suffers from sclerosis and a disease of the leg.

This chief of brigand chief was born eighty-three years ago near Viterbo, Italy, and at an early age killed the uncle and his brother, a priest, because he had heard they wanted to have him arrested. After the murder he fled and joined a band of brigands, leading the life of a highwayman and house-breaker for some years, during which, he assert, murdered a million francs passed through his hands.

When he was at school previously at Montefiascone he had been the companion of Pope Leo, says the Phila. Telegraph, and, being a good arithmetician, was at that early age made to teach his fellow-scholars. When he became a brigand he used to dress like a superior officer and quietly frequent the towns of Piedmont, Tuscany, &c. Of the Neapolitan provinces only the Abruzzi were favored by his visits. It was a sweetness of his who finally enabled the gendarmes to arrest him without shedding of blood. The price that had been set on his head was 35,000 francs, which the gendarmes gained.

He was taken, together with five companions, who were all beheaded, but Neochia was saved by Prince Orsini, president of the Roman Senate, who when the prince had one evening been stopped and robbed by the band, Neochia had set him free and restored all that had been taken. Neochia was however condemned to prison for life, but he did not cease to commit crimes. In 1841, being traced with the approaches of the chaplain because he refused to kneel and kiss the crucifix, Neochia killed the priest by a strangle.

On July 1, 1855, he had been irritated by a dentist failing to extract a torturing tooth, and had treacherously sharpened a large nail and killed the dentist with blows of it. In 1866, having made a complicated calculation of all the expenses of the Crimean war within ten days, while his prison companions had been able to manage it in a month, he gained a prize of 50 scudi from the commanding colonel. Twelve hours after he committed suicide at Fossano, "I were he swallowed a sponge that had been given to a companion's arm, but, he said, without malice, as it was one of the best he ever eaten a pastry. The second time he had cut a rope in his arm, but this too, failed.

A Practical Horse.

There was recently taken from a small creek near Springtown, Tex., a genuine curiosity in the shape of a petrified horse, which had been no doubt, been lying in the bed of the stream for many years. The creek which is known as Mesquite Creek has been dwindling away for some time, owing to the failure of the springs by which it is fed and is now but a shallow rivulet, and a number of Indian relics, human bones, etc., have been taken from its bed.

The horse was nearly covered by a deposit of loose limestone and was discovered only by chance some horse wading in the creek catching sight of a portion of one leg. Examining the leg it was found to have turned entirely into stone, which led to the whole being dug out and carried to shows. The horse, in large one seems to be a work of a cunning sculptor, so complete is the petrification, even down to the hairs of the mane and tail being converted into stone. In the cool and quiet waters of the largest venue in America, in all probability the cause of its death, and which probably saved it as it stood on the banks of the creek, into which it rolled in deep agony. Its side still show the marks of a saddle, and its flanks are cut as by spurs used with desperation but no bridal or other mark gives a clew to its race.

In reasoning it from the stone one had was unfortunately broken off, but with this exception it is in good, it is as so preserved as the most scalae Institution. Nearly every tooth is perfect and some have been used to secure it for their enterprise.—Philadelphia Times.

A POOR TEACHER.

An Incident So Common That Its Reality Will Be Doubted.

Jonathan Briggs is the father of a bright little boy, five years of age, and he naturally takes a great deal of pride in the child and has a deep affection for the little fellow. About a week ago the idea got into Briggs' head that it was time for the child to commence on the foundation for an education.

"Marie," said Briggs to his wife, "I think Willie should know the alphabet."

"What letters do you mean?" asked his wife innocently.

"The alphabet—does he know the alphabet? Can he say the letters a, b, c, d, and so on. Like I could when I was his age?"

"No of course he doesn't know the alphabet, he's never been taught it, the little dear."

"I am surprised my dear, that his education has been neglected. I shall commence at once this evening, when I come home, to teach him the alphabet."

That evening after tea, Briggs called the child to him.

"Now, Henri, papa's going to teach you the alphabet, so that you can learn to read pretty stories. Here is a pretty book, and all these are the letters of the alphabet. This is A," pointing to one, and this is B, and this is C, and this is D. Now, remember them as I tell them to you." He named over the balance of the letters and returned to a.

"Now what is that?"

Henri looked at it a moment, dubiously. "I don't know."

"What! Don't know?"

"No, I don't know."

"Why! forgotten that too? Don't you know what this is, boy?"

"No-o-o."

"If that don't beat all! Here I've just told you what that letter is twenty times, and he doesn't know one of them."

"My dear, did you expect him to learn the alphabet at one sitting?"

"Well, no, not exactly, but I expect him to remember what I tell him. I begin to fear that the child has no memory for figures. I shall tell you what each of these letters are, and I want you to remember their names."

Briggs repeated the alphabet over and then turned to A. "Now, sir, what letter is that?"

"I don't know. Boo-hoo-oo."

"Now look here, Jonathan Briggs," cried his wife, "you've made the child cry, and you know nothing surprising him this minute and let him come to me!"

"Mrs. Briggs," said Jonathan, firmly, "this child's education, if he is capable of learning it, and I do not want you to interfere."

Henri wept.

"Now, sir, do nothing of the kind, you big brute! Let me have that child!"

"Mrs. Briggs!"

"Mr. Briggs!"

Henri wept.

"You give me that child this minute, Jonathan Briggs! and I shall at once go home to my mother, and perhaps my father will have something to say to you, sir, about treating his daughter so."

"Hang your father! Take the yowling brat, but like your folks, anyhow," and Mr. Briggs relinquished the now screaming child put on his hat and went out, slamming the door so hard that it woke up a policeman.

In about half an hour Briggs cooled off sufficiently to see that he had made a fool of himself. He stealthily took home his wife and child both bore traces of weeping, and he did not dare to notice him. A very humble apology said a promise to buy a chum settled it with her, and some candy was back to the child.

Henri now attends a select school where for five dollars per term a well-educated gentleman teaches the alphabet.

The Devil's Table.

Many readers of Notes for "the benefit of those who have been interested in or who or travelers allude to the Tentel rock and the Devil's Table without the a lot of ideas of the interesting whether or not it is possible to come to the point we would like to know the indicator is a few years since I told you that was A. Now what is the next one?

"Dunno."

"Why! forgotten that too? Don't you know what this is, boy?"

"No-o-o."

"If that don't beat all! Here I've just told you what that letter is twenty times, and he doesn't know one of them."

"My dear, did you expect him to learn the alphabet at one sitting?"

"Well, no, not exactly, but I expect him to remember what I tell him. I begin to fear that the child has no memory for figures. I shall tell you what each of these letters are, and I want you to remember their names."

Briggs repeated the alphabet over and then turned to A. "Now, sir, what letter is that?"

"I don't know. Boo-hoo-oo."

"Now look here, Jonathan Briggs," cried his wife, "you've made the child cry, and you know nothing surprising him this minute and let him come to me!"

"Mrs. Briggs," said Jonathan, firmly, "this child's education, if he is capable of learning it, and I do not want you to interfere.

Henri wept.

"Now, sir, do nothing of the kind, you big brute! Let me have that child!"

"Mrs. Briggs!"

"Mr. Briggs!"

Henri wept.

"You give me that child this minute, Jonathan Briggs! and I shall at once go home to my mother, and perhaps my father will have something to say to you, sir, about treating his daughter so."

"Hang your father! Take the yowling brat, but like your folks, anyhow," and Mr. Briggs relinquished the now screaming child put on his hat and went out, slamming the door so hard that it woke up a policeman.

In about half an hour Briggs cooled off sufficiently to see that he had made a fool of himself. He stealthily took home. His wife and child both bore traces of weeping, and he did not dare to notice him. A very humble apology said a promise to buy a chum settled it with her, and some candy was back to the child.

Henri now attends a select school where for five dollars per term a well-educated gentleman teaches the alphabet.

The Devil's Table.

Many readers of Notes for "the benefit of those who have been interested in or who or travelers allude to the Tentel rock and the Devil's Table without the a lot of ideas of the interesting whether or not it is possible to come to the point we would like to know the indicator is a few years since I told you that was A. Now what is the next one?

"Dunno."

"Why! forgotten that too? Don't you know what this is, boy?"

"No-o-o."

"If that don't beat all! Here I've just told you what that letter is twenty times, and he doesn't know one of them."

"My dear, did you expect him to learn the alphabet at one sitting?"

"Well, no, not exactly, but I expect him to remember what I tell him. I begin to fear that the child has no memory for figures. I shall tell you what each of these letters are, and I want you to remember their names."

Briggs repeated the alphabet over and then turned to A. "Now, sir, what letter is that?"

"I don't know. Boo-hoo-oo."

"Now look here, Jonathan Briggs," cried his wife, "you've made the child cry, and you know nothing surprising him this minute and let him come to me!"

"Mrs. Briggs," said Jonathan, firmly, "this child's education, if he is capable of learning it, and I do not want you to interfere.

Henri wept.

"Now, sir, do nothing of the kind, you big brute! Let me have that child!"

"Mrs. Briggs!"

"Mr. Briggs!"

Henri wept.

"You give me that child this minute, Jonathan Briggs! and I shall at once go home to my mother, and perhaps my father will have something to say to you, sir, about treating his daughter so."

"Hang your father! Take the yowling brat, but like your folks, anyhow," and Mr. Briggs relinquished the now screaming child put on his hat and went out, slamming the door so hard that it woke up a policeman.

In about half an hour Briggs cooled off sufficiently to see that he had made a fool of himself. He stealthily took home. His wife and child both bore traces of weeping, and he did not dare to notice him. A very humble apology said a promise to buy a chum settled it with her, and some candy was back to the child.

Henri now attends a select school where for five dollars per term a well-educated gentleman teaches the alphabet.

"19 MINUTES PAST 10."

How the Farmer Got Ahead of a Sharp Lawyer.

A case was being tried in a country court. A horse had been stolen from a peddler named Phila. Times, and the evidence all pointed to a certain doubtful character of the neighborhood as the culprit. Though his guilt seemed clear, he had found a lawyer to undertake his defense. At the trial, the defendant's attorney expounded his energy in trying to confuse and frighten the opposing witnesses, especially a certain farmer whose testimony was particularly damaging. The lawyer kept up a fire of questions, asking many foolish ones and repeating himself again and again, in the hope of decoying the witness into a contradiction.

"You say," the lawyer went on "that you can swear to having seen this man drive a horse past your farm on the day in question?"

"I can," replied the witness, warily, for he had already answered the question a dozen times.

"What time was this?"

"I told you it was about the middle of the forenoon.

"But I don't want any 'abouts' or any 'middles.' I want you to tell the jury exactly the time."

"Why," said the farmer, "I don't always carry a gold watch with me when I'm digging potatoes.

"But you have a clock in the house, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, what time was it by that?"

"Why, by that clock it was just nineteen minutes past ten."

"You were in the field all the morning?" went on the lawyer sailing suggestively.

"I was."

"How far from the house is this field?"

"About half a mile."

"You swear, do you, that by the clock in your house it was exactly nineteen minutes past 10?"

"I do."

The lawyer paused and looked triumphantly at the jury, at last he had trapped the witness into a contradictory statement that would greatly weaken his testimony. "I think that will do," he said, with a wave of his hand. "I am quite through with you."

The farmer leisurely picked up his hat and started to leave the witness stand, then turning slowly about, he added. "I ought perhaps to say that too much reliance should not be placed on that clock, as it gets out of gear about six months ago, and it has been nineteen minutes past ten ever since."

HEART

DISEASE, palpitation, pain in side, shoulder and arm, short breath, oppression, asthma, sweating, weak, weak and smothering spells, hunger, wind in stomach, etc., are cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. A new discovery by the eminent Indiana Specialist. Free illustrated book of cures FREE at druggists or address Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

Sold by F. G. HINES & CO.

THE SONG OF THE "No. 9."

My train is of the pulmonary sort,
As clear as any factory whistle,
And to Consumption dealer
You just should see some

Chorus.

I'm tattooed by the poor and the rich,
Pertinacity I operate,
Its the natural thing,
In the mention I'm fine.

No. 9, No. 9.

I always go right over blood,
With what always are the 3,
To land with I suffice,
For one I never please.

No. 9, No. 9.

Consumption I pulverize the rich,
Who consumption stay monthly do day
Ten dollars I can wrestle
Who I'm better than

No. 9, No. 9.

Tis the Pain diminishing I work,
I can pulling the cutting Pilot cement
Tis the Pain I'm fine
The cement Pilot wins it blind.

No. 9, No. 9.

The Cutting Pilot wins it blind.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If the "grippe" has left you weak and weary use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are affected with sick Headache you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c. at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store. 6

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, sitfast, spavins, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 3m-39

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 3m-39

A Little Girl's Experience in A Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit tried her best but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere ripple of lowness." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold yet you may get a trial bottle free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store. 6

(First Publication Sept. 5, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

A mortgage dated December 15th, 1887, made and executed by Charles Peterson, of Charlevoix, Michigan, to William Naylor and Samuel Naylor, of the city of Brighton, of Detroit, Michigan, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix County, Michigan, on the 15th day of Dec. A. D. 1887, in Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 232, 233 and 234, and which said mortgage was assigned by said William Naylor and Samuel Naylor, to Charles Peterson, of Detroit, Michigan, on the 15th day of Dec. A. D. 1887, in Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 235, and which said mortgage was assigned by said Charles Peterson, dated January 6th, 1891, and recorded in Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 236, and which said mortgage was assigned by said Charles Peterson, dated January

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

DOINGS OF THE DAY.

SUMMARY OF LATE NEWS BY WIRE

Events of Importance in Every Known Civilized Country, Condensed and Arranged for Easy Reading—Accidents and Casualties—Political Notes, Religious, Commercial and Congressional Doings.

LOOKS LIKE WAR.

The Chilian Government has replied to Minister Egan's demand for an explanation of the present attack upon American sailors. The reply is couched in strong language and it is made clear about that it amounts to a refusal. The reply, dispatches say, is in the hands of the Department at Washington but has not been published. Secretary Blaine and President Harrison have consulted together and it is thought that decisive action will be taken upon the State Department's understanding of the matter are strong. The attitude of Valparaiso has refused to guarantee the safety of marine leave ashore for fear of trouble in the morning from the United States sailors, by the name or the safety, of officers of that vessel coming ashore at night. There is a practical boycott on the Baltimore, by American merchants and pilots.

CHOLERA.

Cholera, that wholesale arrests in quarantine with the government and wholesale are being made. Eight or ten warrants have been issued and officers are hunting for contractors owen T. Morgan, Robert H. Morris, Jr., and Thomas McEvoy. The latter, who was promptly expelled from Congress for complicity in the bonding pool, is supposed to be in Canada. Other offenders include civil servants who coupled with the local tradesmen to defraud the government by making up false bills for the Hitchman and Wheeling tracks (Cassville, where firm defrauded the Ordnance Department on July received $1,000,000, was arrested on a charge of conspiring to commit a felony, forgery, and the foundation of his fortune in Pennsylvania Ave.)

MORE PERSONAL BUREAU.

A Lonsdale dispatch brings news of a terrible tragedy in Tonk, during a heavy rain a high wall in course of process to be built, caved in, and came down. The debris crushed an Arab, house in which were two wedding parties, the guests, including thirty-five women and children. The left arm appalling totes and the wreck of the building was complete. Eighteen corpses have been taken from the ruins, but it is feared that there are still a portion of the killed, as but few of the women or children survived. The wedding feast was quite sumptuous, and the dishes which were spread on the floor, were all smashed and the dishes have been laid out in the shade. The wedding was a very and presents a heartrending spectacle, the children being mangled beyond all recognition.

TWO FAMILIES DROWNED.

St. Louis, Billiken, a wife, and husband were drowned in the Mississippi, E. Koest, a prominent carpenter, and Mrs. Harlie Fitch, wife of the latter, a fellow-workman with Koest, eloped West Louis Ancell, and left a wife four children, and Mrs. Fitch left a husband and three little children. Ancell's money for departure. Koest is 40 years old, a Freemason, and has been married about a year. Mrs. Fitch left a husband and three little children. Ancell's money for departure. Koest is 40 years old, a Freemason, and has been married about a year. Mrs. Fitch formerly lived at Alton, Ill. Mrs. Fitch is 30 years old, and has been married ten years.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION.

Governor Hill, of New York, has issued a full pardon to Edward Kobbert, who has been in Sing Sing six years for a crime of which he is innocent. Kobbert and his brother were convicted of firing a tenement, and both were sentenced to imprisonment for life. Kobbert's brother confessed that he and another man were guilty, but that Edward was innocent.

ROCKED HIS RELIGIOUS OWN.

Jack Bates and Joe Dane fought in Danbury, conn. Both began fooling in the fourth round. In the eighth round, after several ineffectual blows, Dane, in a rage, jumped from the referee down and ran out of the ring, and he fight was awarded to Bates.

THE INGRAHAM TESTAMENT.

The Rev Samuel Cotton, manager of an orphanage at Cavanagh, County Kilkenny, Ireland, was committed for trial for criminal treatment of the children under his care.

A DESPONDENT CORRESPONDENT.

P. J. Hoffman, a correspondent of newspapers in New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago and Pittsburgh, committed suicide in Washington, W. Va.

RED COATS ON THE RAMPAGE.

A company of British grenadier guards on duty in Windsor Castle was recently locked up for alleged mutinous conduct caused by poor and insufficient food.

SENTENCED TO HANG.

Jeremy Bowers, convicted at Trenton, Mo, of the murder of Miss Maude Hall and her four children, was sentenced to be hanged.

CARRIED AWAY THE SAFE.

An unguarded express car on the Central Branch at Lenexa, Kan., was robbed of the safe, which contained a large sum of money.

ROBBED GREENBACKER DEAD.

Rickory King, a leader in the greenback movement in Maine, was found dead in bed in his house at Portland.

JUDGE THOMAS IS DEAD.

U. S. Circuit Judge Thomas, of North Dakota, is very seriously ill at Duluth, Minn. Judge Thomas is one of the most prominent of the younger United States judges and was formerly attorney of the Great Northern Road.

KIDNAPPED BY HER STEPMOTHER.

At Marine City Mich., Lettie Elton, Page, aged 15 years, the adopted child of Timothy and Mary Elton, was kidnapped and her foster parents are unable to learn her whereabouts.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

Provisioner business men of Portland, Augusta, Bangor and Lewiston, Me., have organized a corporation known as the New England Transportation Company, the object of which is to provide transportation to Chicago during the Fair, which shall include dressing car service, board in Chicago and accident insurance.

The Porterville distillery of the Sons of Temperance, Butterville, Pa., has expelled Rev. Amelia Stewart and Lydia McGlery for drinking a glass of new cider, while Sis others are on the list for similar punishment at the next meeting. Mr. Bowers has been especially on one in denunciation of the traffic, and that he should be imprisoned for drinking a glass of apple cider. Temperance men have no question, inasmuch as matters in the little town that over half of the members of the order have dropped out in the last two weeks.

THE NEW YORK HERALD PUBLISHES a shocking story of cruelties said to have been imposed on patients of the Presbyterian Hospital, one of the most prominent places of the kind in the city. Lawyer Rubenscoper, of Lancaster, Pa., who was recently discharged from the hospital, alleges that he saw the blood gushing beneath, bound and curbed during a stay at the place. The prisoners were usually inflicted by the nurses in charge, and with the part of the institution.

ON THE COURTESY RUN BETWEEN Springfield, Ohio, and Dunreith three dwellings and a building of many people, chiefly from Ireland are to the effect that the Irish are decreased in all thirty-nine the present outbreak in Italy. Hitherto cholera has visited Italy only twice, coming from Russia, where they were confined and began in the Italy. This only was needed to complete the panic into which the unfortunate Italians already had been thrown, as they were unable to wrest from the Italian.

IT IS REPORTED THAT THE CHINESE GOVERNMENT, in view of the threatening condition of its foreign affairs, especially with Russia, is anxious to procure Engineers officers of experience to take command of the Chinese navy. This, it is believed, will be difficult, in consequence of the bad treatment accorded to Lyon, Lang, Tyler and others who went to China in the service of the Celestial empire, and who, on their return to America, have had no authority to employ men of their profession. President Harrison is reported to have no power to assist in the matter.

WOMEN HAVE BEEN RECEIVED OF THE Killing of Mrs. Jane Stone in the Reformation of the Great Northern, in Minneapolis. They were the most determined and desperate of Hinn, whose number is 1,000 and 1,000 women. Some instances of the cruelty of the Reds. The force of the mob was so great that they had to use the fire hose to disperse them. Many were injured, and the foundation of his fortune in Pennsylvania Ave.)

MORE PERSONAL BUREAU.

A London dispatch brings news of a terrible tragedy in Tonk, during a heavy rain a high wall in course of process to be built, caved in, and came down. The debris crushed an Arab, house in which were two wedding parties, the guests, including thirty-five women and children. The left arm appalling totes and the wreck of the building wasconsiderable

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 11, 1891.

Northern Michigan News.

William R. Bennett has been appointed second assistant keeper of the light station at Manitou, Mich.

Billy Jones Petoskey, a degenerate relative of the famous Indian chief, has been convicted of forgery at Osego.

Mackinac Island regulars are preparing to go into winter quarters, and they want cast-off reading matter. All novels in which scenes are laid upon the island are barred.

The Chicago & West Michigan has taken its maiden consignment of freight out of Elk Rapids. The line has not yet been accepted by the company from the contractors, and ordinary shipments are not being received, but this consignment of five carloads of acetate of lime was for export and it was necessary to rush it.

Bellaire Breeze: One of our citizens has received a letter from J. M. Ashley stating that it was the original plan to have Toledo & Ann Arbor allowed run by way of Lake City and Frankfort, but that if "sufficient inducements" are offered, it will in all probability pass through Kalkaska and Bellaire.——It is stated here that the railroad iron is being laid from Williamsburg this way and that it will reach Bellaire inside of six weeks. Elk Rapids has already seen cars and made shipments by rail.

Petoskey Democrat: There has been a wonderful sight of pulling and hauling over the half-way station between Petoskey and Charlevoix. It is asserted that Col. Booth used a season's crop of docks and no end of spring chickens to get the station located at his place, but Uncle Isaac Stauffer's winning smile and guileless manner outpointed the prize. It is said that, notwithstanding his well known modesty the embryo city would also have been named for him had it not been for fear that the festive brakeman would call it "Stuffer station." For weeks the railroad officials have been worried by appeals to name the station this and that, until they decided, as the only safe way out of the difficulty, to give it a name of their own. As a consequence, when you go out on the new railroad to get lime at 89½, or to buy a lot at Hog Side, or to visit Orphan's Home, or to steal one of Col. Booth's chickens, or to sway pans with Stauffer, you will get off when the brakeman yells, "Algoma."

Marquette Herald: The C. & W. M. grade is nearly completed from Bellaire to a point several miles beyond Central Lake, barring three miles near Sno-wake, and this will be done in four weeks. From Elkworth south, several gangs of men are at work. Contractor Newville has six miles. The ground is mostly clay or shale and is very stony in some places. Dynamite had to be used to disturb it. For a considerable distance south of Ellsworth a steep hill skirts the edge of the lake in one place forcing survey into the water. The line runs along the base of the hill and at the waters' edge for a mile or more. There are several places where there are a few rods of level land between the foot-hills and the water, and almost every instance as the fill is made on these places they disappear, and become what are known as "sink holes." There are several on Newville's contract, and he says that from present indications it will take him a year to complete his work. We saw six large car loads of dirt dropped off over one perpendicular bank into the water, and into the same place where dirt had been dumped for over a week, on a haul of ten rods, with ten cars. The six loads left a foot of dirt above the water. The scow sink appeared, and bubbles arose to the surface as it went on and down into the lake. Its progress could not be noticed for upwards of fifty feet out into the lake. In another place the road bed along the hill side was made by cutting down the upper side and throwing the dirt over toward the lake. When completed, the uphill side of the cut was 40 or 50 feet from the top to the road bed, and the embankment towards the lake was largely of waste dirt. Suddenly a large portion of this embankment dropped straight down out of sight. The road bed trembled and the bank cracked across nearly at the top and separated a foot. Whether the whole will go down is a query. As Cory built out into these fat places the ground sinks and they then run a track out around it and fill the hole. Some cars and tools have been swallowed up. The village of Ellsworth is good born. It is not want one who has visited what was called Elkworth in anti railroad days would suppose, but is way south, nearly, or quite, half a mile. It is planted by Saxe, Parks and Meech and is destined to be quite a pretty little burg. The plat has gone down to Lansing for examination.

A specialty deserving the attention of all are those

$12 AND $16 PLUSH SACKS.

POSITIVELY A GREAT DEAL.

Still a few of those

$18 FUR TRIMMED PLUSH JACKETS.

MASON & BERDAN.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I asklis for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A Review of the Elections.

The state elections last week Tuesday were not by and means one-sided as a whole, but a careful analysis of the results should be satisfactory to Republicans. The first and the most prominent fact is the decisive defeat of the Democratic party in the state of Ohio. In that commonwealth national questions were directly the issues than in any other of the eleven states where elections were held. Maj. McKinley is the so-called father of the tariff bill of 1890, which is denounced by the Democrats as the most monstrous iniquity that ever passed Congress. By nominating him the Republicans made a fair, square issue on protection; and as the Democrat convention which nominated Campbell for governor had committed the party to the free and unlimited coinage of the 70 cent silver dollar, that was the other national issue on which the two great parties divided.

Boswell P. Flower was elected governor of New York by 40,500 plurality over Fassett. His majority is so large—more than double that of Hill in 1888—that it will render him a formidable candidate before the Democratic convention. Flower is a much superior man to Hill, and since the Democrats are to have the governor, he will be an immense improvement over the small politician who has ruled New York for the past six years.

The old Keystone State has surprised everybody. She has given the enormous Republican majority of from 47,000 to 50,000, though one year ago Pattison, Democrat, was elected governor by the large plurality of 16,554. The change in that shows that in 1892 Pennsylvania may be relied upon as the keystone of the Republican arch.

In Iowa the Democrats elected their Governor, but the Republicans secured both branches of the Legislature.

The Republican victory in the fifth Congressional district of the state, is a significant one. Last fall the Democrats elected Ford to Congress by a plurality of 2,288. Yet John S. Lawrence, Democrat, is now defeated by 1,600 plurality by Helgmap, Republican. The result has surprised politicians, because Mr. Lawrence was personally very popular, an educated man, wealthy, and spent his money very freely for the Democratic party.

In Detroit the Republicans swept the field, electing every man on their ticket. In Chicago the result was the same. Of course the issues in these cities were local, but the fights were against the whiskey element and corrupt methods, and law and order, as represented in the Republican canvas, triumphed overwhelmingly.

South or West.

Many who live in the interior towns and villages have the notion that to buy railroad tickets to far distant points, it is necessary to go to the larger cities. Others, that by some or design they may, by going off from home somewhere and first paying local fare to this somewhere or other, they will be able to save something in the price. Now in all other business matters you will rather deal with those at home and with those whom you have acquaintance and in whom you have confidence. Buying railroad tickets is business. The trip may be pleasure—full of pleasure—but the purchase is business. It is more than likely, therefore, if you will only try, that you can buy just as satisfactorily and certainly as economically at your nearest station. The agent may not have the particular ticket that you want but if you will allow him a day or so he will get it, coming from your station to where you are going. This is the method on the Chicago & West Michigan and also on the Detroit, Lansing & Northern. If it so happens that you reach this and find it inconvenient to reach the agent drop him a note of inquiry; or, write stating your proposed trip, to

Yours very truly,
GEO. DEHAVEN, G. P. A.,

Dated Chicago, Oct. 1, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

U. S. Deputy Marshall H. C. Cooper on Saturday tied up the steamer North Star on a claim for wages.

Many vessels are laying up in Milwaukee and Chicago, owing to the increase of sailors' wages from $2.50 to $3.00 per day. The J. L. Gerrans is among the number.

The steamer Lawrence, which left for Chicago Saturday, will make two more trips.

Grand Traverse Bay has lowered so that the docks cannot always be used in safety. The City of Grand Rapids was aground at Kehl's dock Northport, lately for half a day. The strong off land wind lowered the water after she landed and left her hard on the bottom.

Captain J. Van Atter of the fishing tug Onward has been fined $500 at Northport, for violating marine laws. He has been carrying on a regular business on the lake without captain's papers or an engineer, and added to this his engine cannot pass inspection.

The small steamer Gazelle, of St. Ignace, has been chartered by Connable & Sons to pick up fish around the fishing grounds. She was here Monday.

Musings from Hayes.

Frank Garmire, who has been spending the summer at St. Clair near Chicago, returned home a few days ago.

Durell Horton has moved to Algonah.

The record for digging potatoes is kept up by our Hayes boys. One day last week Arthur Wheeler dug sixty bushels in five hours and Morris Chew dug forty bushels in three and a half hours.

Elmer Eldred, of Van Buren Co., is visiting his aunts, Mrs. I. S. Webster and Mrs. Moses Cooper.

Mrs. Trowbridge and daughter, of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting at Moses Cooper's. Mrs. Trowbridge is Mrs. Co-per's eldest daughter and was formerly a teacher in Hayes.

Grand Rapids.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 a bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

First class hubbard squashes $1.00 a dozen; Red heads, 60c. Leave orders with C. B. & Co.
18-2t. E. H. NEWMAN.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

WHEN YOU COME TO TOWN
LOOK OUT FOR THE
CARS AT THE CROSSINGS.

New Bedford Cords, 60c.
New Cashmeres, 20, 35 and 40.
New Linens, 25, 35 and 50.
Heaviest Kersy Pants Cloth, 48c.
Sovereign Serges, 12 1-2 Cents.
Celluloid Collars, 15c.

FROM OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS. WE WILL GIVE ALL CASH PURCHASERS A DISCOUNT ON ALL BILLS THAT WILL BE WORTH LOOKING AFTER.
ENQUIRE!

Ladies' Gray Natural Wool UNDERWEAR, 65c.
Ladies Ribbed, 25c.
Wool Hose, 25, 35 and 50.
You can't hlep but find something useful on our NOTION TABLE.
CLOAKS, JACKETS, WRAPS.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Beaman's Pharmacy.

I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.

GEO. W. BEAMAN,
Dispenser.

Ho! ho! For Ninety-two!
the to
J. Z. LINTON'S
and see the Black Baby cigar, also fine tobaccos of all kinds and many other nice things, such as:
Grapes, Apples, Potatoes and Canned Goods of all kinds and a good assortment of Candy, Nuts, Cakes and Cheese, just the kind that's sure to please. Give him a call and buy it all in order to save him from ogotall. You will find a nice line of both large and small that will give perfect satisfaction to one and all. Now if you don't believe it's so, just give us a call and we will prove it all.
BOOTH'S OYSTERS
J. Z. LINTON.

NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given to all whom it may concern that my wife Hattie is not responsible for any debts of my contracting.
GEO. HAYES.
Hayes, Nov. 10, 1891.

If you buy your supplies for winter from
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.
you will not be disappointed.
A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.
Yours truly,
Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XXIII. NO-20. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,144.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

MOSEL STONE,
FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.
FOR SALE AT - - -
CALKINS & WARNE'S
- - - DRUG STORE.

All Hands Around!
Sally go down the middle!
OYSTERS Large.
OYSTERS Fat.
OYSTERS Fresh.
No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.
O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.
Watch This Space
NEXT WEEK.
Watch This Space
BERT MASON.

More Elegant New Blankets In Stock.
One Third of Your Life is Spent IN BED!
Bed-Springs, Matresses, Pillows, Blankets & Comforters
Can be bought at
S. M. See & Sons.
Get Out Your Overcoats Before Buying.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year, $1.00 (No month in advance) $.75

Local News.

To Delinquents.

We are compelled to make an unusual effort to collect delinquent subscription accounts. Call in and pay up and save us trouble and postage. Let the response be prompt, please.

—Dr. Crouter has a new Everett piano.

—This is a bad fall for railroad building.

—Mrs. H. A. Carr has a new ad. this week.

—Frank Sears returned from Port Huron today.

—Thanksgiving next week Thursday, the 26th.

—Mrs. Lewis Miller returned from Cadillac last week.

—Fred Cochran returned from Illinois much improved in health.

—The Ferguson House will be closed up Dec. 1st for the winter.

—Sherwood advertises a closing out sale in this week's issue. Read it.

—Mason & Berdan have something new to say in their advertising space this week.

—Antiman is not nestling "in the lap of winter" this year, to any alarming extent.

—Jarvis and Newman are to give a good Thanksgiving ball. Bills will soon be out.

—J. W. Honsberger last week set a fine granite monument at the cemetery on the High Miller lot.

—Schneeweiss & Guidebeck, the Opera House block dry goods firm have a new ad. this week. Read it.

—Circuit Court is now on at Boyne City, and every Charlevoix lawyer, and several of the "common herd" are there.

—Baker & Son advertise their celebrated Belknap sleighs this week. Like their cooker, the Belknap sleighs "get there."

—Prof Arthur Nelson will teach the Norwood band this winter, and next spring we won't be able to touch them with a forty rod pole.

—On Saturday Adamsbringer's steam pile driver, working on the railroad bridge, was run into by a vessel, breaking her safety valve, laying her up for several days.

—Next week we shall send out statements to delinquent subscribers receiving their paper in Charlevoix postoffice. Save us the trouble and postage by paying up promptly. Call in and settle.

—We learn over the wires this morning, that a freight and passenger train collided about six miles north of Cadillac, on the G. R. & I. yesterday. Three persons were killed and several injured.

—Last week Geo. Burns bought out the stage outfit and mail contract of Geo. W. Cook, and began carrying the mail Monday. L. E. Smith, manager for Burns, in the latter's absence, consummated the purchase.

—The Township Board have at last done a sensible thing in erecting a building at the cemetery for the use of the sexton, and others who may be compelled to wait for a funeral in bad weather. It should have been done before.

—C. A. Barker will continue the Beaver Island mingle and shipping business, Mr. Sweet having retired from the concern. Mr. D. Ford will have personal supervision of the business. Mr. Barker will also erect a saw mill at the head of East Bay.

—Northern Michigan is enjoying a "spell of weather." Last Thursday night snow fell to a depth of eight inches, Saturday and Sunday it disappeared under the influence of a warm rain, and Tuesday morning he day opened up with a northwest blizzard.

—Bellaire correspondence of East Jordan Enterprise: "Yes, Mr. Editor the inmates thus take a local paper do not like to read such truth as was published in the SENTINEL two weeks ago. There is nothing elevating for those families. Some time ago we knew of parties that would not take such a paper on account of such truth and slander. It would serve him right if the world stopped his pay at once and take up one that is free of such actuals."

Railroad News.

The paymaster is expected here this week.

Work has been seriously obstructed the past week by bad weather.

Geo. D. Sibley, the insolvent subcontractor, has gone to his home, in Ohio.

Sub-contractor Lewis has moved his outfit to a point north of Central Lake, and announces that the big sink hole is filled and settled.

About 10 men are loading north bound freight at Mel[illegible] Co. have a force of men [illegible] at work setting the ste[illegible] McCracken's south of here.

A week ago it was reported from reliable authority that the naming of the railroad station between Charlevoix and Petoskey was only a joke perpetrated by some person who painted the "Algoshy" sign and put it up. The name of the station will be "Hay Side." This is official.

The following is the list of new stations, in their order, that will become regular stops upon the C. & W. M. extension when completed: Traverse City, Acme, Williamsburg, Elk Rapids, Barker Creek, Spencer Creek, Bellaire, Central Lake, Ellsworth, Chandlerville, Hay Side and Petoskey. The official distance of the extension is 77.7 miles.

Bellaire Breeze: A. J. Dole is home from a trip over the new railroad. He reports that steel rails are being brought to Williamsburg, so that track laying between that place and this can be rapidly pushed. The contractor at Rapid Birse will have to struggle with a clay bank for about two weeks yet, and then nothing will interfere with the putting down of the iron, unless winter sets in for good.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

Beach Items.

(Entered too late for last issue.)

Lots of rain and mud.

Wm. E. Ingersoll has gone to Tampa, Fla., to spend the winter with his sister Ida.

Mrs. F. Imper delivered an address at the Antrim school group last week in behalf of the W. C. T. U.

Miss May Kanagy is recovering quite rapidly from a severe run of Typhoid fever.

Let Smith has gone west to seek his fortune.

A little boy of Wm. Smith got his face badly disfigured a few days ago by running against a horse's hind leg.

There has been a Union Sunday School organized at the Antrim school house.

Rev. J. C. Holliday is holding revival meetings in the Atwood M. E. church.

Wm. Stigara is doing quite a fishing business this season. Monday he caught a large loon in one of his pound nets.

Joseph Mason has rented J. N. Sickles farm at Antrim for one year.

Primary School Money.

The following is the semi-annual apportionment of Primary School Interest Fund for Charlevoix County:

Township	No. Children	Am.
Charlevoix	47	$ 47 00
East Jordan	108	108 00
Bryant Valley	19	19 00
Wilson Valley	17	17 00
Charlevoix	61	61 00
Evangeline	151	151 00
Eveline	64	64 00
Hudson	37	37 00
Norwood	90	90 00
Marion	19	19 00
Melrose	19	19 00
Peaine	19	19 00
Bohemian	19	19 00
South Arbor	19	19 00
South Arm	19	19 00
Wilson	19	19 00

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 a bushel.
F. E. Wood & Co.

Judge Hammell has done a heap of hard thinking lately, and has finally disposed of a vexed question. For several terms a case against T. J. Mitchell, of Kewadin, Antrim county, for selling liquor without a license has dragged its way wearidly along, the claim being that Mitchell sold Wine of Life, a proprietary medicine, as a beverage. Mitchell admitted the charge, and the court decided that no saloon, restaurant or temperance saloon has any right to sell Wine of Life and other so-called patent medicines as a beverage any more than they have to sell, whiskey; that the remedies are not patent medicine; that while they pass through the patent office it is merely for classification and are not patented, only classified, and the so-called patent is only a trade mark. Mitchell was held as guilty of violating the liquor law.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The schooner Peoria will make another Milwaukee trip.

The schooner Evening Star is loading lumber for Nicholls, Lewis & Bates.

The scow Lottie Mason, in the heavy south east gale of Sunday afternoon, ran into Sturgeon Bay canal, minus her main-sail, where she is now under repairs.

The steamer City of Charlevoix arrived here this morning from the north, on her last trip. The Lawrence will leave Chicago Saturday evening on her last trip.

The Inter-Ocean says extensive improvements will be made to both boats of the Northern Michigan line this winter, and that probably another boat will be added to the line next season.

The propeller Hunter, owned by the Booth Packing Co., is making semi-weekly trips between Manitoulin and here, stopping at the Beavers, and will run as long as fishing continues.

The steamer City of Grand Rapids was wind-bound yesterday and last night, leaving to day for Traverse City and then to Grand Haven, where she will lay up and undergo an overhauling this winter.

Last Saturday a two-masted, 20 foot keel boat, named "The Winslow" came ashore in the bay on north side of the north point at this place. The boat has a square stern and is painted white. Her sails are of heavy sheeting instead of canvas.

The schooner L. M. Mason, owned by Mueller & Rahm, of Chicago, with a cargo of cedar posts from Albion Island, at the head of Lake Huron, to Chicago, was towed into port at Manistee, Wednesday in a water-logged condition. She had six feet of water in her hold.

The fishing tug Babcock, owned by Connable & Sons, carrying a crew of eight men went aground at Bowers Harbor, in Grand Traverse Bay, Sunday night. Ralph Connable succeeded in reaching Traverse City, and being unable to secure assistance there sent to Pentackey for two of his tugs, which released her.

Herbert Holme, one of the crew of the schooner Peoria, and a son of the captain, was seriously hurt Monday morning. An eye-bolt at the mast-head pulled out, letting the main-boom down, striking Mr. Holme across the hips, and fastening him to the cabin-roof. It took four men with handspikes to release him. He will recover.

The Grand Haven Ship Building Company has closed a contract to build a passenger steamer the coming winter for H. J. Webb, of Kasapolis, Mich. She is designed to run between Traverse City and Petoskey, and will be an eighteen mile boat, 125 feet over all, with a twenty foot beam. She will have a cabin on the main deck aft, and pilot house, texas and promenade on the promenade deck. Her engine will be built by H. Bleecker, and her boiler will be built by Johnson Brothers of this city. She will carry 130 pounds of steam.

Who Is The Liar Now?

We had decided to pay no further attention to the letters of the East Jordan Enterprise, but cannot forbear showing the gentleman up on one of his statements in the last Enterprise, viz:

"The SENTINEL last week, dated Wednesday, says that it gives Election returns that come by wire that morning. Wednesday evening Smith told the manager of the telephone here that he had got no reports of the election. Did he lie in the paper or did he lie by voice over the wire? He surely did one time, and doubtless did in both."

Smith did not tell the telephone manager any such thing, and the telephone manager did not tell Mr. Lorraine that he did. In short it is Mr. Lorraine that is the liar. Dr. Watne, telephone manager at East Jordan, authorizes us to say that no such information was given as the above item states.

Don't forget that Linton's is the place to get your fresh oysters, apples and nuts for Thanksgiving. Also oysters served in various ways. Call and try them.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Rev. T. H. Macpherson, Pastor. Morning service at 10:30, subject, "Righteousness, Man's True Nature." Evening, "The Prodigal Son—His Departure."

Methodist.

Sermon by the pastor at 10:30. Sunday school at 12. Epworth League at 6. At regular evening hour, song service led by William A. Smith. Come and sing. "Sing unto the Lord a new song."

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 11, 1891.

Northern Michigan News.

William R. Bennett has been appointed second assistant keeper of the light station at Manitou, Mich.

Billy Jones Petoskey, a degenerate relative of the famous Indian chief, has been convicted of forgery at Chicago.

Mackinac island regulars are preparing to go into winter quarters, and they want cast-off reading matter. All novels in which scenes are laid upon the island are barred.

The Chicago & West Michigan has taken its maiden consignment of freight out of Elk Rapids. The line has not yet been accepted by the company from the contractors, and ordinary shipments are not being received, but this consignment of five carloads of acetate of lime was for export and it was necessary to rush it.

Bellaire Record:—One of our citizens has received a letter from J. M. Ashley stating that it was the original plan to have Toledo & Ann Arbor railroad run by way of Lake City and Frankfort, but that it "sufficient inducements" are offered, it will in all probability pass through Kalkaska and Bellaire.——It is stated here that the railroad iron is being laid from Williamsburg this way and that it will reach Bellaire inside of six weeks. Elk Rapids has already received ties and made shipments by rail.

Petoskey Democrat: There has been a wonderful sight of pulling and hauling over the bad way stretch between Petoskey and Charlevoix. It is asserted that Col. Booth used a season's crop of ducks and no end of spring chickens to get the station located at his place, but Uncle Isaac Stauffer's winning smile and guileless manner captured the prize. It is said that, notwithstanding his well known modesty, the embryo city would also have been named for him had it not been for fear that the festive brakeman would call it "Stauffer station." Ten weeks his railroad officials have been worried by appeals to name the station thus and that, until they decided, as the only safe way out of the difficulty, to give it a name of their own. As a consequence, when you go out on the new railroad to get time at Sly's, or to buy a lot at Bay Side, or to visit Orphan's Home, or to steal one of Col. Booth's chickens, or to swap yarns with Stauffer, you will get off when the brakeman yells, "Algonah."

Manistee Herald: The C. & W. M. grade is nearly completed from Bellaire to a point several miles beyond Central Lake, barring three miles near Sno Walk, and this will be done in four weeks. From Ellsworth south, several gangs of men are at work. Contractor Newville has six miles. The ground is mostly clay or shale and is very steep in some places. Dynamite had to be used to disturb it. For a considerable distance south of Ellsworth a steep hill skirts the edge of the lake, in one place forcing survey into the water. The line runs along the base of the hill and at the waters' edge for a mile or more. There are several places where there are a few rods of level land between the foot-hills and the water, and almost every instance as the fill is made on these places they disappear, and become what are known as "sink holes." There are several on Newville's contract, and he says that from present indications it will take him a year to complete his work. We saw six large car loads of dirt dropped off over one perpendicular bank into the water, and into the same place where dirt had been dumped for over a week, on a haul of ten rods, with ten cents. The six loads left a foot of dirt above the water. This soon disappeared, and bubbles arose to the surface as it went on and down into the lake. Its progress could not be noticed for upwards of fifty feet out into the lake. In another place the road bed along the hill-side was made by cutting down the upper side and throwing the dirt over toward the lake. When completed, the uphill side of the cut was 40 or 50 feet from the top to the road bed, and the embankment towards the lake was largely of waste dirt. Suddenly a large portion of this embankment dropped straight down out of sight. The road bed trembled and the track crossed across nearly at the top and separated a foot. Whether the whole will go down is a query. As they build out onto these flat places the ground sinks and they then run a track out around it and fill the hole. Some cars and tools have been swallowed up. The village of Ellsworth is now been. It is not what one who has visited what was called Ellsworth in anticipated days would suppose, but a way south, nearly or quite, half a mile. It is placed by Skow, Parks and Meech and is destined to be quite a pretty little burg. The just has gone down to Lansing for examination.

A specialty deserving the attention of all are those

$12 AND $16 PLUSH SACKS.

POSITIVELY A GREAT DEAL.

Still a few of those

$18 FUR TRIMMED PLUSH JACKETS.

MASON & BERDAN.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I asks for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A Review of the Elections.

The state elections last week Tuesday were not by and means one-sided, as a whole, but a careful analysis of the results should be satisfactory to Republicans. The first and the most prominent fact is the decisive defeat of the Democratic party in the state of Ohio. In that commonwealth national questions were directly the issues than in any other of the eleven states where elections were held. Maj. McKinley is the so-called father of the tariff bill of 1890, which is denounced by the Democrats as the most monstrous iniquity that ever passed Congress. By nominating him the Republicans made a fair square issue on protection, and as the Democrat convention which nominated Campbell for governor had committed the party to the free and unlimited coinage of the 75-cent silver dollar, that was the other national issue on which the two great parties divided.

Roswell P. Flower was elected governor of New York by 10,956 plurality over Fassett. His majority is so large—more than double that of Hill in 1888—that it will render him a formidable candidate before the Democratic convention. Flower is a much superior man to Hill, and since the Democrats seem to have the governor, he will be an immense improvement over the small politicians who has ruled New York for the past six years.

The old Keystone State has surprised everybody. She has given the enormous Republican majority of from 47,000 to 50,000, though one year ago Pattison, Democrat, was elected governor by the large plurality of 16,574. The change in that shows that in 1892 Pennsylvania may be relied upon as the keystone of the Republican arch.

In Iowa the Democrats elected their Governor, but the Republicans secured both branches of the Legislature.

The Republican victory in the fifth Congressional district of the state, is a surprisingly one. Last fall the Democrats elected Ford to Congress by a plurality of 2,286. Yet John S. Lawrence, Democrat, is now defeated by 1,900 plurality by Belknap, Republican. The result has surprised politicians, because Mr. Lawrence was personally very popular, an educated man, wealthy, and spent his money very freely for the Democratic party.

In Detroit the Republicans swept the field, electing every man on their ticket. In Chicago the result was the same. Of course the issues in these cities were local, but the fights were against the whiskey element and corrupt methods, and law and order, as represented in the Republican canvass, triumphed overwhelmingly.

South or West.

Many who live in the interior towns and villages have the notion that to buy railroad tickets to far distant points, it is necessary to go to the larger cities. Others, that by some or design they may, by going off from home somewhere and first paying local fare to this station or other, they will be able to save something in the price. Now in all other business matters you will rather deal with those at home and with those whom you have acquaintance and in whom you have confidence. Buying railroad tickets is business. The trip may be pleasure—full of pleasure—but the purchase is business. It is more than likely, therefore, if you will only try, that you can buy just as satisfactorily and certainly as economically at your nearest station. The agent may not have the particular ticket that you want but if you will allow him a day or so he will get it, reading from your station to where you are going. This is the method on the Chicago & West Michigan and also on the Detroit, Lansing & Northern. If it so happens that you read this and find it inconvenient to reach the agent drop him a note of inquiry; or, write stating your proposed trip, to

Yours very truly,
GEO. DEHAVEN, G. P. A.,

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

U. S. Deputy Marshall H. C. Cooper on Saturday tied up the steamer North Star on a claim for wages.

Many vessels are laying up in Milwaukee and Chicago, owing to the increase of sailors' wages from $2.50 to $3.00 per day. The J. I. Green is among the number.

The steamer Lawrence, which left for Chicago Saturday, will make two more trips.

Grand Traverse Bay has lowered so that the docks cannot always be used in safety. The City of Grand Rapids was aground at Kohl's dock Northport, lately for half a day. The strong off land wind lowered the water after she landed and left her hard on the bottom.

Captain J. Van Ater of the fishing tug Onward has been fined $500 at Northport, for violating marine laws. He has been carrying on a regular business on the lake without captain's papers or an engineer, and added to this his engine cannot pass inspection.

The small steamer Gazelle, of St. Ignace, has been chartered by Connable & Sons to pick up fish around the fishing grounds. She was here Monday.

Hastings from Hayes.

Frank Garmire, who has been spending the summer at St. Clair near Chicago, returned home a few days ago.

Durell Horton has moved to Algonac.

The record for digging potatoes is kept up by our Hayes boys. One day last week Arthur Wheeler dug sixty bushels in five hours and Morris Chew dug forty bushels in three and a half hours.

Elmer Eldred, of Van Buren Co., is visiting his aunts, Mrs. I. S. Webster and Mrs. Moses Cooper.

Mrs. Trowbridge and daughter, of Cleveland, Ohio, are visiting at Moses Cooper's. Mrs. Trowbridge is Mrs. Cooper's oldest daughter and was formerly a teacher in Hayes.

41 Grand Rapids.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 a bushel.
F. E. Wixom & Co.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wixom & Co.

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wixom & Co.

First class hubbard squashes $1.00 a dozen; Red heads, 60c. Leave orders with G. H. A Co.
18-2t. E. H. NEWMAN.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

WHEN YOU COME TO TOWN
LOOK OUT FOR THE
CARS AT THE CROSSINGS.

New Bedford Cords, 60c.

New Cashmeres, 20, 35 and 40.

New Linens, 25, 35 and 50.

Heaviest Kersy Pants Cloth, 48c.

Sovereign Serges, 12 1-2 Cents.

Celluloid Collars, 15c.

FROM OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS. WE WILL GIVE ALL CASH PURCHASERS A DISCOUNT ON ALL BILLS THAT WILL BE WORTH LOOKING AFTER.

ENQUIRE!

Ladies' Gray Natural Wool UNDERWEAR, 65c.

Ladies Ribbed, 25c.

Wool Hose, 25, 35 and 50.

You can't hlep but find something useful on our NOTION TABLE.

CLOAKS,
JACKETS,
WRAPS.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Beaman's Pharmacy.

I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.

GEO. W. BEAMAN,
Dispenser.

Ho! ho! For Ninety-two!
Be he is

J. Z. LINTON'S

and see the Black Baby cigar, also fine tobaccos of all kinds and many other nice things, such as:

Oranges, Apples, Potatoes and Cranberries, Canned Goods of all kinds and a good assortment of Candy, Nuts, Cakes and Cheese, just the kind that's says to please. Give him a call and buy it all in order to save him from spoiling. You will find a nice line of both large and small that will give perfect satisfaction to one and all.

BOOTH'S OYSTERS

Now if you don't believe it's as just give us a call and we will prove it all.

J. Z. LINTON.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all world to trust my wife Ida Gandy on my account, as I will pay no debts of her contracting.
Hayes, Nov. 10, 1891. GEO. GANDY. 3t

If you buy your supplies for winter from
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.
you will not be disappointed.
A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.
Yours truly,
Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL. XXIII. NO-20. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 18, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,144.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, - - Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

MOSEL STONE,
FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.
FOR SALE AT - - -
CALKINS & WARNE'S
- - - DRUG STORE.

All Hands Around!
Sally go down the middle!
OYSTERS Large.
OYSTERS Fat.
OYSTERS Fresh.

No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.

C. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prces and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

Watch This Space

NEXT WEEK.

Watch This Space

BERT MASON.

More Elegant New Blankets In Stock

One Third of Your Life is Spent IN BED!

Bed-Springs, Matresses, Pillows, Blankets & Comforters

Can be bought at

S. M. See & Sons.

Get Our Prices on Blankets Before Buying.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year . . $1.50 (if paid within advance) . . $1.75
Intentionally in Advance.

Local News.

To Delinquents.

We are compelled to make an unusual effort to collect delinquent subscription accounts. Call in and pay up and save us trouble and postage. Let the response be prompt, please.

—Dr. Cromer has a new Everett piano.

—This is a bad fall for railroad building.

—Mrs. H. A. Carr has a new ad. this week.

—Frank Sears returned from Port Huron today.

—Thanksgiving next week Thursday, the 26th.

—Mrs. Lewis Miller returned from Cadillac last week.

—Fred Cochran returned from Illinois much improved in health.

—The Ferguson House will be closed up Dec. 1st for the winter.

—Sherwood advertises a closing out sale in this week's issue. Read it.

—Mason & Berdan have something new to say in their advertising space this week.

—Autumn is not nestling "in the lap of winter" this year, to any alarming extent.

—Jarvis and Newman are to give a grand Thanksgiving ball. Bills will soon be out.

—J. W. Hunsberger last week set a fine granite monument at the cemetery on the Hugh Miller lot.

—Schoenmann & Gunzebeck, the Opera House block dry goods firm, have a new ad. this week. Read it.

—Circuit Court is now on at Boyne City, and every Charlevoix lawyer, and several of the "common herd" as, there.

—Baker & Son advertise their celebrated Belknap sleighs this week. Like their maker, the Belknap Sleigh "get there."

—Prof Arthur Nelson will teach the Norwood band this winter, and next spring we won't be able to touch them with a forty rod pole.

—This Monday Albacombinger's steam pile driver, working on the railroad bridge, was run into by a vessel, breaking her safety valve, laying her up for several days.

—Next week we shall send out statements to delinquent subscribers receiving their paper in Charlevoix gratuitous. Save us the trouble and postage by paying promptly. Call in and settle.

—We learn over the wires this morning, that a freight and passenger train collided about six miles north of Cadillac, on the G. R. & I. yesterday. Three persons were killed and several injured.

—Last week Geo. Burns bought out the stage outfit and mail contract of Geo. W. Cook, and began carrying the mail Monday. L. E. Smith, manager for Burns, in the latter's absence, negotiated the purchase.

—The Township Board have at last done a sensible thing in erecting a building at the cemetery for the use of the sexton, and others who may be compelled to wait for a funeral in bad weather. It should have been done before.

—L. A. Barker will continue the Beaver Island sleigh and shipping business, Mr. Sweet having retired from the concern. Mr. D. Ford will have charge of Barker's end of the business. Mr Barker will also erect a saw mill at the head of East Bay.

—Northern Michigan is enjoying a "spell of weather." Last Thursday night snow fell to a depth of eight inches, Saturday and Sunday it disappeared under the influence of a warm rain, and Tuesday morning the lay opened up with a northwest blizzard.

—Eveline correspondence of East Jordan Enterprise:—"On a Mr. Elliot for the families that take a local paper do not like to read such trash as was published in the SENTINEL two weeks ago. There is nothing elevating for those families. A week time ago we knew of parties that would not take such a paper on account of such trash and abuse. It would serve him right if the world stop his paper at once and take up one that is free of such articals."

Railroad Notes.

The paymaster is expected here this week.

Geo. D. Silsby, the insolvent subcontractor, has gone to his home, in Ohio.

Sub-contractor Leach has moved his outfit to a point north of Central Lake, and announces that the big sink hole is filled and pushed.

About 80 men are building north of Bay View and McLain's. Co. have a force of men at work at the south end of the McCracken bridge.

We have it from reliable authority that the running of the railroad trains between Charlevoix and Petoskey was only a joke perpetrated by some person who painted the "Algonac" sign and put it up. The name of the station will be "Bay Side." This is official.

The following is the list of new stations, in their order, that will become regular stops upon the C. & W. M. extension when completed: Traverse City, Acme, Williamsburg, Elk Rapids, Harker Creek, Spencer Creek, Bellaire, Central Lake, Ellsworth, Ozannawa, Bay Side and Petoskey. The official distance of the extension is 77.7 miles.

Bellaire Record:—A. J. Dole is home from a trip over the new railroad. He reports that steel rails are being brought to Williamsburg, so that track laying between that place and this can be rapidly pushed. The contractor at Rapid River will have to struggle with a clay bank for, yet, two weeks yet, and then nothing will interfere with the putting down of the iron, unless winter sets in for good.

Broomhulls wanted @ $2.00 per bushel.
F. E. Wixom & Co.

Banks Items.

[If road be here by last issue.]

Lots of rain and mud.

Wm. E. Byers has gone to Tampa, Fla., to spend the winter with his sister 1da.

Mrs. F. Bixby delivered an address in the Antrim school house last week in behalf of the W. C. T. U.

Miss May Kanagy is recovering quite rapidly from a severe run of Typhoid fever.

Last week has gone west to seek his fortune.

A little boy of Wm. Smith got his face badly disfigured a few days ago by running against a horse's hind foot.

There has been a Union Sunday School organized at the Antrim school house.

Rev. J. G. Holliday is holding revival meetings in the Atwood M. E. church.

Wm Shigars is doing quite a fishing business this season. Monday he caught a large lean in one of his pound nets.

Joseph Mason has rented J. N. Sackett farm at Antrim for one year.

Primary School Money.

The following is the semi-annual apportionment of Primary School interest Fund for Charlevoix County:

Townships.	No. Children.	Amount.
Bear Creek	97	$ 97 00
Bay Lake	52	52 00
Boyne Valley	55	55 00
Charlevoix	161	161 00
Chandler	42	42 00
Evangeline	31	31 00
Hayes	54	54 00
Hudson	41	41 00
Marion	31	31 00
Melrose	100	100 00
Norwood	87	87 00
South Arbor	56	56 00
Wilson	100	100 00
Total	887	$887 00

Beechnuts wanted @ $2.00 a bushel.
F. E. Wixom & Co.

Judge Rossdell has done a heap of hard thinking lately, and has finally disposed of a hard question. For several terms a case against T. J. Mitchell, of Kewadin, Antrim county for selling liquor without a license has dragged its way wearidly along, the claim being that Mitchell sold Wine of Life, a proprietary medicine, as a beverage. Mitchell admitted the charge, and the court decided that no saloon, restaurant or temperance saloon has any right to sell Wine of Life and other so-called patent medicine as a beverage any more than they have to sell, whiskey, that the remedies are not patent medicine; that while they pass through the patent office it is merely for classification and are not patented, only classified, and the so-called patent is only a trade mark. Mitchell was held as guilty of violating the liquor law.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The schooner Peoria will make another Milwaukee trip.

The schooner Evening Star is loading lumber for Nicholls, Lewis & Bates.

The scow Lottie Mason, in the heavy south east gale of Sunday afternoon, ran into Sturgeon Bay canal, minus her main-sail, where she is now under repairs.

The steamer City of Charlevoix arrived here this morning from the north, on her last trip. The Lawrence will leave Chicago Saturday evening on her last trip.

The Inter-Ocean says extensive improvements will be made to both boats of the Northern Michigan line this winter, and that probably another boat will be added to the line next season.

The propeller Hunter, owned by the Booth Packing Co., is making semi-weekly trips between Manistique and here, stopping at the Beavers, and will run as long as fishing continues.

The steamer City of Grand Rapids was wind-bound yesterday and last night, leaving to-day for Traverse City and thence to Grand Haven, where she will lay up and undergo an overhauling this winter.

Last Saturday a two-masted, 40 foot keel boat, named "The Winslow" came ashore in the bay on north side of the north point at this place. The boat has a square stern and is painted white. Her sails are of heavy sheeting instead of canvas.

The schooner L. M. Mason, owned by Moeller & Kaber, of Chicago, with a cargo of cedar posts from Albion island, at the head of Lake Huron, to Chicago, was towed into port at Manistee, Wednesday in a water-logged condition. She had six feet of water in her hold.

The fishing tug Babcock, owned by Connable & Sons, carrying a crew of eight men went aground at Higgins Harbor, in Grand Traverse Bay, Sunday night. Ralph Connable succeeded in reaching Traverse City, and being unable to secure assistance there sent to Petoskey for two of his tugs, which released her.

Herbert Holme, one of the crew of the schooner Peoria, and a son of the captain, was seriously hurt Monday morning. An eye-bolt at the mast-head pulled out, letting the main boom down, striking Mr. Holme across the hips, and fastening him to the cabin roof. It took four men with handspikes to release him. He will recover.

The Grand Haven Ship Building Company has closed a contract to build a passenger steamer the coming winter for H. J. Welsh, of Cassopolis, Mich. She is designed to run between Traverse City and Petoskey, and will be an eighteen mile boat, nine feet over all, with a twenty foot beam. She will have a cabin on the main deck aft, and pilot house, and a small awnings on the promenade deck. Her engine will be built by H. Blocker, and her boiler will be built by Thomas Brothers of this city. She will carry 130 pounds of steam.

Who Is The Liar Now?

We had decided to pay no further attention to the editor of the East Jordan Enterprise, but cannot forbear showing the gentleman up on his statements in the last Enterprise, viz:

"The SENTINEL last week, dated Wednesday, says that it gives Election returns that came by wire that morning. Wednesday evening Smith told the manager of the telephone that he had got no reports of the election. Did he lie in the paper or did he lie by voice over the wire? He surely did in one place. Perhaps he did in both."

Smith did not tell the telephone manager any such thing, and the telephone manager did not tell Mr. Lorraine that he did. In short it is Mr. Lorraine that is the liar. Dr Warne, telephone manager at East Jordan, authorizes us to say that the information was given as the above item states.

Don't forget that Linton's is the place to get your fresh oysters and nuts for Thanksgiving. Also oysters served in various ways. Call and try them.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Rev. H. H. Macpherson, Pastor. Morning service at 10.30, subject, "Righteousness, Man's True Nature." Evening,—"The Prodigal Son—His Departure."

Methodist.

Sermon by the pastor at 10.30. Sunday school at 12. Epworth League at 6. At regular evening hour, song service led by Willard A. Smith. Come and sing. "Sing unto the Lord a new song."

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

HER REVERIE.

BY TOM HALL.

A lady crushed her silken hat
Upon the floor in a mad pique
To get at a little pearl button
The Mission Dresser her trimpled cheek,
Then she sat down and pulled off her boots
And the white cloth took between.

And she was thinking then, I trow,
Of one who is a whipped one;
Of one who is a whipped one,
Had told her tears and then sayings
On lakes where pale stars pierce the dark,
With Cupid's darts.

Above a blind middle gossed her lips
And above her dainty nostrils
Her dreamy shades the brow
Of a lady who is thinking of lovers
Were pathetic, tender and sad.
And perhaps her lips were
And perhaps her lips were
Ah! she was thinking then, I wish,
Of a giant chamber dance who saw
Her, in her mind, dancing
Her waltzed, her polked, her schottised
Her lancers, faced him—that was all
He left a stamper.

"Dance I and call I fall her: "Dream
Of love go with the tender
Of smiles and sweet kisses
Of a lady who is thinking of lovers,
I dream of love, dainty love
Just to have that love queen."
—Minneapolis Times.

HOW JIM SAVED DOLLY.

Dolly and he were friends. How or why in the friendship was first struck up is unknown. But this much is certain, that the first advances came from Dolly herself. For a friendship of any kind, much less a friendship in a cheerless, dingy little maiden, was not much in Jim's line.

There was nothing attractive about Jim—quite the reverse. A great bulking fellow, with a sullen face and eyes, which, long as he was had dipped more freely into life's back than it was his way into its pit. And Jim had not enough of the cerebral faculty. It was a rough place, that Jim Weston. The camp in which he worked—a rough place, first and foremost, with men, moreover, he was no favorite.

"I can't tell you why," says Bemis, who was taking his case entirely after a hard day's work and talking in a gentle, meditative sort of way the darling smoke-wreaths upon—"I make latterly a more thoughtfulness previously concerned than that Jim don't walk the earth—dismal if he do.

His sentiments as to the enlarging the views of the camp, was received with nods of assent. "And yet," said the Judge, taking the pipe from his mouth, the better to endorse the remark, "Dolly there seems sort of struck with him."

"That's so," said Big Bill thoughtfully.

The camp entered a great or two of protest. What, and Dolly see in him? was what the camp wanted to know—a question which easily dazed and then answered.

Pretty little Dolly! with her dimpled face and brown eyes—darling baby Dolly! the dark-haired, dark-eyed, which was dissolving in the midst of that band of strong, hard-living, hard-drinking fellows, not one of whom at his wildest and worst would have dare laughed in their face.

"Just look at him," said the Judge, raising himself up on his elbow from the soft grass.

The men followed his gaze, and almost twenty yards away, appearing over the prairie ridge, their way the two, Dolly seated on Jim's beautiful horse, and Jim himself, one of Jim's strong arms thrown indulgently around her, the other carrying her basket of berries, full to an extent that showed the berries were large. Little hands had never gathered them alone.

Dolly herself was regarding the ludicrous from an—single—side. "Like you, Jim, wouldn't her? they heard her remark.

"Well," said Jim savagely, seeing as it is dolly, I've no doubt he will. Dolly's ready for most, all he can offer."

There was a sufficient amount of truth in the statement to cause a somewhat uneasy shuffle among the listeners, in which dolly, glancing up the ridge, good humorily jolted.

Dolly did not laugh. Instead her brown eyes grew thoughtful, as she marked that strained expression of disloyalty in Dolly, and feeling to dolly sense of Dolly's slumbrous mood. "Sadness she brightened. "So am I," she announced.

"Are you, now?" asked Jim.

"Yes," said Dolly. "Aren't you?"

Jim seemed to regret. Catching sight of the spectators, he turned to Dolly and the berries roughly to the ground and went on his way to his customary mossy sleep.

Dolly, apparently quite used to such treatment from her strange friend, picked up her baskets and trotted contentedly by her father's side.

"Where you from with, Dolly?" said Big Bill, as she came to the top of the rise and looking for in the distance.

"Jim," said Dolly from Bea's shoulder. "Jim sent me home."

"Well, I am surprised," said Big Bill, notably "a little glad too you taking up with such as him. I wonder at you, I will."

The answer Dolly buried her hands in Big Bill's shaggy locks, and gently, Whose, upon a goodness game of rough around.

However, this happened that Jim was to offer a practical answer to Dolly's question as to whether he was friend, for all so good, yet, by comparing a little more than usual, he had by no means his foot, although for the time being, he was.

"Dolly's friend," said Big Bill, "and Dolly's friend, and Big Bill, the man—that's the sum of it."

"That's so," said Big Bill thoughtfully.

The camp uttered a great or two of protest. What, and Dolly see in him? was what the camp wanted to know—a question which easily dazed and then answered.

Pretty little Dolly! with her dimpled face and brown eyes—darling baby Dolly! the dark-haired, dark-eyed, which was dissolving in the midst of that band of strong, hard-living, hard-drinking fellows, not one of whom at his wildest and worst would have dare laughed in their face.

"Just look at him," said the Judge, raising himself up on his elbow from the soft grass.

The men followed his gaze, and almost twenty yards away, appearing over the prairie ridge, their way the two, Dolly seated on Jim's beautiful horse, and Jim himself, one of Jim's strong arms thrown indulgently around her, the other carrying her basket of berries, full to an extent that showed the berries were large. Little hands had never gathered them alone.

Dolly herself was regarding the ludicrous from an—single—side. "Like you, Jim, wouldn't her?"

THE VASSAR HAMMER.

Women May Use It on Ledges Worth Examination.

One of the most famous mineralogical cabinets in the country is that of Mr. Rensselaer Smith, of Jersey City, and those in the collection in Brooklyn and Miss Rosie Meeker has made for herself and by herself, in some sense, become one for in that direction. The curators of the New York Mineralogical Club and the mineralogical department of the Brooklyn Institute in questions of interest in the neighborhood of the metropolis are always accompanied by wives, sisters, daughters, cousins and aunts of the members who not unfrequently form a majority of the party, and they climb the ledges as quickly and go at them with hammers as vigorously as the men.

The pursuit of minerals, if it is fair to talk of pursuing things that have in the remotest notion of running away, has every bit the fascination of fashionable research, and the surprises are even livelier. It is, of course, delightful to run to earth and then to pull out of it the flower or wood or iron that you have been wanting for the year month to get hold of, but think of the pleasure there is in tapping a curious or dirty rock, or seeing it crack and splinter—there is a dusty, a lusty quivering up of skirts and a stepping aside to avoid the descending mass and there is the newly acquired face of stuff is a "cracker" of flowing crystals, shining in the sun like diamonds or stained by metallic stains with beautiful reds, browns and yellows. Next to finding money or sentiments there is no pleasure of discovery that is keener.

The common objection raised by men of those who would like to engage in this employment is that they know nothing about minerals." But that is the way to learn—to take a rock and hammer and break minerals and look at them. An hour of that practice is better than a week with text books. The outfit is slight enough—a basket or satchel, several sheets of paper or small grocery bags or wrapping the specimens a note book and a pencil for jotting down names and localities and a small hammer.

There is a hammer commonly known as the Vassar hammer because it is alleged it was designed for use by the students of Vassar college, that is just the thing. It is light but strong, with a hammer surface at one end and a chisel edge at the other. The specimen specimen need not weigh over two or three pounds, and if a party is organized it can be less for each member, so one can carry a heavy hammer, a second a light one, a third a hatchet, a fourth wrapping paper, a fifth a note for setting, and so on, while an inevitable photographer, if he or she chooses to go along, will find new uses and subjects plenty.

NAMING THE BABY.

Odd Ways Of Doing Important Ceremony In Different Areas.

In some countries curious customs exist in regard to selecting a name for the baby.

A Hindoo baby is named when it is five days old, and usually by the father. Sometimes the father wishes another name than that selected by his mother; in that case two lamps are placed over the two names, and the name over which the lamps burn the brightest is the one given to the child.

In Egyptian family the priest chooses a name for their baby by lighting three wax candles, to each of these he gives a name, one of the three names belonging to some deified personage. The candle that burns the brightest bestows the name upon the boy.

The Mohammedans sometimes write divide names on five slips of paper, of these they place in the Koran. The name upon the first slip drawn out gives to the child.

The children of the Aines a people living in northern Japan, do not have their names until they are five years old. It is the father who then chooses the name by which the child afterwards called.

The Chinese give their boy babies a name in addition to their surnames, but must call themselves by these names, if they are twenty years old, that age the father gives his son a name.

The Chinese care so little for their baby babies that they do not give them baby names, but just call them Number One Number Two, Number Three, according to their birth.

Boys are thought so much more of than those girls are that if you ask a Chinese father who has a boy and a girl how many children he has, he will say reply, "Only one child." German parents sometimes charge a name of the baby if it is ill, and a Japanese are said to change the name of a child four times.—Wide Awake.

Justice! Oh, Justice!

Once, while Mascagni was conversing with one of the most famous musicians in his realm, a woman claimed an interview. "Justice, O, priest! Justice, I implore! My brother left a hundred pieces of gold and his wife have given me but a single one." "That was only proper," replied the priest; "each of your brother's two sisters is entitled to one-third of his property, or four hundred in all. The widow's share is twenty, or one hundred pieces. Your brother's mother should receive one-eighth, or twenty-five pieces. You and your sister brother are entitled to receive twenty-five; but as the estate is a double portion to the male, you have each two pieces of gold and one."—Argonaut.

Bitter Experience.

He is a writer of a book of stories. What does he know about the "game of polite society?"

He knows what has kept him out of it.—Puck.

To Enlighten the Masses.

In Yasten, in the Congo state, the only newspaper she recently made its appearance under the name of Sekumanu (the Daily Light). Its editor is "to enlighten the sons of the dark colonies." It is printed in the native dialect of the country in the Latin alphabet. The first issue of the paper was edited by two educated negro women, who did their own type setting. Recently a lengthy article "The Natural History of the Elephant" from the pen of a learned negro.

SOAPSTONE.

A Mineral Which Has Lately Been Used in Fingerpost Paints.

An industry of which there is but little said excepting in a general way, but which is, however, none the less important is the production of soapstone. There are but comparatively few people who are familiar with the various features of this commodity, and some facts treating upon the history still, doubtless, prove of interest.

In the first place, soapstone, or, more technically speaking, steatite is a mineral of a soft and flexible nature, and consisting principally of silica, magnesia and more or less alumina and water. It has an oily feeling quite suggestive of a piece of wet soap, and is of three or four different colors, although mostly of a whitish cast. Large quantities are quarried in parts of New England and the middle states, the surplus coming from Pennsylvania and New Hampshire. Its applications are numerous and varied. Cotton manufacturers use it extensively on the sizing of rollers. Its great durability in withstanding excessive heat renders it valuable in lining furnaces for the reduction of ore by fluxes, and in lining ranges, etc. Lately it has been used in the manufacture of a fireproof, waterproof and acidproof paint, where it gives much satisfaction. For the preservation of limestone or sandstone buildings during atmospheric changes it also proves beneficial. It may be stated here that in China some of the soft stone buildings covered with a paint made from powdered soapstone have been kept intact for centuries. In its powdered form it is also largely used as a lubricant, and as an ingredient in the manufacture of some kinds of steam packing. Some other of its instances of usefulness are in the manufacture of cooking utensils and sinks, in the preparation of bibles in the millennium of clean paper and rubber, in use where a hot box is occurring, in polishing glass, marble, etc., and in a thousand other ways. So we can see what a prominent position it occupies among American industries.

During the year, 1880, says the American Gilmanite, there were 12,715 tons of this mineral produced at a value of $211,700. It is authentically stated that the birth of this industry dates back to the time of the American aboriginals. Doubtless the use of soapstone in cooking vessels was an idea of this race, as all along the Cabinet coast, and, in fact, in nearly all productive parts of the country, have been found unmistakable evidences of a previous existence of the industry. The natives had a much more difficult time in shaping the various articles than we are aware, as notwithstanding the soft and flexible nature of the material, it must be remembered that they had to perform their work with tools of stone, parts of antlers and sometimes even of wood. Probably the most elaborate of these conscious manufactures were pipes, which are said to have been very beautiful in shape and of a most exquisite finish.

At a place in New York state called Gouverneur is found a specie of soapstone known as the talc which is especially valuable as a filler in the manufacture of the medium grades of paper. This talc is crushed into small particles, ground with hard stones, and then placed in a large log cylinder together with a quantity of fine apples, which while revolving reduce the talc to a required degree of fineness by friction.

THE PLEIADES.

Their Glory Is Thousand Times Greater Than Our Own Sun Is Brilliant.

The Pleiades are visible a group. Throughout modern history they are represented as seven stars, wanting one. In our own day that small square of sky space over which this cluster of half a dozen is scattered has been found to be occupied by many more than 2,000 suns. The distance of the group from us is estimated as at least fifteen hundred millions of millions of miles, and it is calculated that Alcyone, the chief of its sisters, must a thousand times excel our own sun in brilliancy. Now, in regard to this goodly company there is evidence that the majority have an apparent motion in common. But that which is true of most of this wonderful crowd of worlds is not true of all the individuals that at first sight seem to belong to it. A few are found to lag behind, while two at least hurry on in advance of the general progress. These seem, then, do not in fact belong to the cluster, but being situated far beyond or far in front, take their places in the same apparent plane only through the effect of perspective. The question may naturally be asked, What can produce this appearance of motion either in the stars of the group or in the stars before and behind it? It must be produced by reality of motion somewhere, either on the part of the stars themselves or one of another, the sun with which we are conversant identified, or else on the part of both combined. It is obvious that if our solar system is in motion the other solar systems of the sky are likely to be in motion also, and vice versa. Thus we might expect that the apparent movements referred to would be a mixed result, and this is found to be the case.—Edinburg Review.

Says a Physician.

"It is best," says a Toledo physician, "that pills be in the dentist, and when coming down to take the stairs. Like going up hill, walking upstairs is hard work, and sometimes risky, especially for people with weak lungs. In active respiratory organs or heart disease, going downstairs hurts asparagus, but is good exercise; going down on a brick can be easily a good thing—it shakes up the accidents without incurring the danger of physical overexertion, this shaking up is good for one's internal mechanism, which it accelerates, especially the liver, the kidneys and the blood circulation.

A Settled Rebuke.

Great Hotel Clerk: Well, what seem to be the trouble?

Flinky Guest: This towel is—is not very clean.

Clerk: Well, now, fifty people have used that towel, and you're the first one that raised any fault with it.—Boston Courier.

MEXICAN GHOSTS.

The Mysterious Experiences of a United States Sailor.

A. L. Chatfield, of the Indianapolis Drug Company, was in the United States Navy several years, and cruised in every sea.

"The experience that left the most lasting impression on me was one I had with ghosts," said he to an Indianapolis News reporter. "Now, I do not believe in ghosts for one minute, but the experience I had is one I am not able to explain away. There is hardly a day of my life that I do not think of it. We stopped at a Mexican port and hadn't been there very long before we learned that the natives were very much excited over a haunted house that stood off by itself in a lonely part of the town.

"All the brave men in the place had visited the house to hear the ghosts, and the experience was such that no one could be induced to go back the second time. The second mate of our ship and I decided to investigate the ghosts. We firmly believed that some one in the place was slipping into the house and making the strange noises that every one reported as being heard. The mate was a man who did not know fear and we agreed that we would go prepared to kill the first ghost that made its appearance.

"We prepared for the expedition by cleaning and loading four good revolvers and by providing a dark lantern. In the afternoon we went to the house and examined it carefully for secret entrances. Every foot of floor and wall was examined, and we saw that the doors were all securely bolted on the inside, except the one to which we had a key. Soon after dark we went to the house and made a second examination, and found it as we had left it in the afternoon. We then took our seats in the front room, with our faces toward an open door leading into another room. The house was quiet as death.

"The mate held the dark lantern, with the slide in, and we each held revolvers in our hands. After we had been there perhaps a half an hour we heard a noise like one makes in slightly pulling a chair nearer the table. A moment later the chair in the room which we were facing seemed to be picked up and set down again. Then we heard footsteps, and pretty soon the room resounded with noises. The scant furniture, it seemed, was being thrown pell mell, and the racket became insanity.

"Now is our time," said the mate in a whisper. At that he turned on the dark-lantern and sprang into the room. The moment we entered it the noises ceased and it was vacant. More than that, the furniture stood just as we had left it. We examined the doors and windows, and then once as we had left them. The floor and walls examined, and no opening was there. Before we had finished our examination noises began upstairs, and in other rooms. A dozen men with heavy boots seemed to be running up and down the stairway. With our dark-lantern we ran upstairs and through the several rooms, but could see nothing.

"Whenever we would enter a room the noises would seem to be in the next room—all over the house, for that matter, except in that one room. To make the story short we remained in the house until daylight, and the noises continued all night. We chased from one room to another until we were almost completely exhausted, and not once did we catch sight of any living object. We couldn't have been mistaken in the noises. It couldn't have been imagination, for neither of us was excited or frightened. Those noises were made in the house, but what by is the greatest mystery of my life."

A MINE OF HONEY.

Bleaching With Giant Powder and Scooping Several Hundred Pounds.

Down in Tennessee, San Bernardino county, Cal., near the famous San Jacinto tin mine, there is a veritable mine of honey. There is a large force of men employed at the tin mine and they put in their idle time in prospecting in the hills in the vicinity. One Sunday half a dozen of the miners applied to Col. Robinson, the superintendent, for the privilege of using some giant powder and a few tools. He asked what they wanted to do and they replied that they had found a honey mine and proposed to run it. Laughing, he gave his consent and an order on the storekeeper for the desired articles, and with a supply of pails and tubs the men set out on their expedition.

They were gone all day and along toward sundown a sorry-looking procession came over the hill and made its way to the employes' headquarters. They had lapped the mine there could be no question about that. Their clothes were liberally plastered with a mixture of honey and mud; there was honey everywhere. But the tubs and buckets were full of honey as well, for a rich load had indeed been struck.

The men, it appeared, had found a crevice in the rocks whence issued a constant stream of bees, and from this they judged that there must be a large quantity of honey in the recesses of the cliff. The opening used by the bees was too small to admit of the passage of a human being, and after carefully examining the place a tunnel was commenced a little way from the entrance, and after this had been run the right distance an upraise was cut in, which by good luck struck the ledge of honey in its center. After a hot contest with the bees several hundred pounds of comb honey were taken out and the tunnel was then closed up. Several times since additional supplies of the sweet material have been taken from the cave.—Chicago News.

A Cure for Cobra Poisoning.

It is well known that about 25,000 people are killed every year in India by wild beasts and reptiles, the larger number falling victims to poisonous snakes. It was recently discovered that the injection of permanganate of potash was a specific cure for cobra poisoning. The government discussed the project of furnishing the natives with hypodermic syringes and a quantity of permanganate of potash, but the scheme had to be rejected because it was found that it would entail an expense of $10,000,000.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wag ns. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,

J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for. Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block. Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering,

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK, Dealer in Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & CO.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WESTCIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES Of Splendid MICHIGAN LANDS For Sale By The C. R. & I. R. R. 30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

Thirty Years for Payment, Interest Only Required Annually. Its American and European Money Represents Money Advanced to Farmers and Spared. Turkish Bath in Connection. Rates Reduced. Apply to Fred Dangelmayer, 1400 Chicago Avenue, Evanston, Cook County, Illinois.

Mrs. H. A. Carr, Fashionable Millinery, BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX.

NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS, and all the latest novelties in Millinery. Also a new line of Corsets including the MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST

Wait time of goods for the Holiday Trade now on hand.

Call and see for yourselves.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.

He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time keeper, in nickle silver cases for $8.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW FALL & WINTER SAMPLES Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

We Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWEKI, Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE, GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER, Dealer in Rifenburg Milling Co.'s FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC. IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS, —proprietor of— NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN

Good Turnouts at lowest rates.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER, Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—9 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

ERASTUS WATTLE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for all lands in Charlevoix county, and have organized a Title and Abstract company for sale, and loans to rent. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix

SOCIETIES.

I. O. L.—Tent Hiawatha, 157, meets Saturday evenings in Masonic Hall. Visitors welcome.

G. A. R.—Sanford Post No. 119, meets second Monday evening of each month in Grand Army Hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 72, O. E. S., meets on the third Wednesday of each month in Masonic Hall. Carrie Bates, W. M. Hettie Sidney, Secretary.

DORMET CHAPTER, No. 103 R. A. M., meets at Masonic Hall the first Monday in each month. Jas. Sutherland, H. P. Wm. Bates, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.—Sheridan Lodge No. 207, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. & A. M., meets on or before full moon. Hall over Bank office.

VANBURE COMMANDERY No. 19, K. T., meets at Masonic Hall on Thursday on the first Thursday in each month.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 1911, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at 7:30, in Gidbert Hall.

EASTER BELLES LODGE, No. 175, meets at I. O. O. F. Hall, every second Saturday of each month, at 6:00 P. M.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Pine Lake Hotel, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. S. DENON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix, Mich. Deputy County Surveyors (Charlevoix county.)

Schneermann & Guidebeck,

The Opera House Block Dry Goods Store.

We call your attention to a few of OUR PRICES, and everything is equally as cheap:

A fancy silk-lettered Handkerchief, on fine lawn, at 5 cents.

Children's Bordered Handkerchiefs from 3 cents upward.

Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Vests, regular price, 50 cents, our price, 33 cts.

We carry a genuine camel's hair Underwear, in ladies, all sizes, and none better, at $1.00.

A good line of Gents' Underwear at prices that cannot be beat.

Gents' red felt Mittens at 18 cents.

Boys Mittens from 10 cents upwards.

Special bargains in Shawls; great attractions in Cloaks, Newmarkets and big-seam Coats. You can buy a garment of us at less than wholesale price. Come in and see us.

We are Leaders of Low Prices.

Schneermann & Guidebeck.

LEWIS BLOCK. Charlevoix, Mich.

Which One Was Kept.

There were two little kittens, a black and a gray,

And Grandmamma said with a frown: "It will never do for us to keep both. The black one we'll better down

"Don't cry my dear," to her they flew, "One kitten's enough to keep. Now run in home, for 'tis growing late. And then you were fast asleep."

The morrow dawned, and rosy and sweet Came little Bess from her cot, The warm sun shone into mamma's room And look in grandma's spot.

"Come here," said grandmamma, with a smile, From the rocking-chair where she sat. "Glad kit sent you two little sisters. Now, what do you think of that?"

Bess looked at the tables a moment With their wee heads yellow and brown And then in grandmamma solemly said, "Which one are you going to drown?"—Sudden Guest.

DOMESTIC DISCIPLINE.

How a Washington Husband Gave his Wife a Lesson.

A certain woman of fashion conspicuous in Washington society, whose infirmity of temper has given rise to very interesting gossip occasionally, says the Press, figures in a quiet little story.

A short time ago she was entertaining at her house a party of her acquaintance, when it chanced that there was a little quiet game on over the supper chocolate. The hostess of the occasion is very fond of the game in question, partaking of it every evening of her life. Unfortunately, the servant had neglected to make some after the usual quantity, which was just sufficient for a small party. Accordingly, when the guest was asked if she would have another, she hesitated a moment and said no. Whereupon her entertainer flushed with anger at the contretemps, and rising from her seat, deliberately poured the contents of the chocolate pot out of the window.

This was embarrassing for the lady entertained, to say the least of it. Of course, however, she pressed to take no notice, merely glancing slyly at her host, who made the third throw at the pigeon, to see if he behaved any consciousness respecting the proceeding. But he only smiled beneath his mustache and made no remark.

Presently he asked her if she would have some chicken salad, of which a big dish had made its appearance in among the visitals.

"I thank you, no," she replied, merely because she had a preference for something else.

Immediately, as if it were a contest of courtesy, the host picked up the salad and threw it, dish and all, out through the window into the garden.

"It's a way we have here," he remarked calmly.

Nobody said anything for quite five minutes afterward, but the extreme sociability exhibited by the hostess for the rest of the evening, led the visitor to imagine that the lesson thus given was not without a certain domestic usefulness.

The Blackness of Stupid Persons.

The unconscious coldness of stupid persons is one of the most annoying of social vexations, and yet has a thing which must be endured as part of the discipline of life.

A lady who had had her house done over in the most recent fashion was asked by every intimate friend who called to exhibit it from top to bottom. As she was one of the persons who have numerous intimate friends she filled the office of exhibitor pretty often, and of course each time friend to whom she showed the house went away and made intimate friend comments upon it. One day a lady who was not of the inner circle of intimate friends called and before leaving asked to be taken over the house. The hostess showed her silent and affable attention, and then led her back to the parlor.

"But you have not showed me all the chambers," the guest said.

"Yes, I have seen them all," was the reply.

"No," the caller insisted, "there is certainly one which I have not seen.

"I have shown you all the chambers there are," the hostess answered.

"Well," the caller said, "I do not understand it, but I remember morning the footmen' most intimate friend told me that there was one chamber that she saw the most unique paper on it that she ever saw, and I wanted to see that."

To which the hostess could only reply that whatever there was had been shown, and that the caller might decide for herself when chamber Mrs. Smith had meant.—Boston Courier.

Burkhen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt-rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Before purchasing Sleighs, Cutters, Harness, Robes, Blankets, & etc, Don't fail to see our stock, get the prices, and save money.

We are selling them away down cheap.

Baker & Son. Charlevoix.

Rich on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

A Safe Investment.

In one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or cause of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of throat, lungs or chest, such as consumption, inflammation of lungs, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s drug store. 1

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavin, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stiffes, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

Merit Wins.

We doubt to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity entirely on their merits. F. G. Hines & Co., Druggists.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all who may treat my wife Ida Gidbert, not to trust her on my account, as I will pay no debts of her contracting. GIDBERT SAMUEL.

(First Publication Sept. 8, 1894.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

A mortgage made and dated the 19th day of April, 1890, and recorded in Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 175 in the office of the Register of Deeds for Charlevoix county, Michigan, on the 19th day of April, 1890, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and duly assigned by Warren Scott, duly assigned to Charles Toms by assignment dated the 19th day of April, 1890, and recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 176 in the said Register's office, on the 19th day of April, 1890, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and duly assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 177 in said Register's office, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 178 of Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 179 of Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 180 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 181 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 182 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 183 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 184 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 185 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 186 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 187 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 188 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 189 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 190 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 191 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 192 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 193 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 194 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 195 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 196 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 197 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 198 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 199 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 200 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 201 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 202 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 203 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 204 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 205 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 206 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 207 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 208 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 209 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 210 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 211 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 212 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 213 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 214 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 215 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Charles Toms to Mary A. Scott, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 216 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Mary A. Scott to Jacob Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 217 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st day of November, 1891, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and assigned by said Jacob Toms to Charles Toms, by assignment dated November 1, 1891, recorded in said Liber 3 of Mortgages on page 218 of said Liber 3 of Mortgages, on the 1st

THE VASSAR HAMMER.

Women May Use It on Legan Wants Examination.

One of the most famous mineralogical cabinets in the country is that of Francis Smith, of Jersey City. It there is the collection in Brooklyn Miss Anna Shonker has made for herself and, by herself, to show what women can do in that direction. The collection of the New York Mineralogical Club and the mineralogical department of the Brooklyn Institute contribute of interest in the neighborhood of the metropolis are always accompanied by wives, sisters, daughters, cousins and aunts of the members who not unfrequently form a majority of the party; and they climb the ledges as quickly and go at them with hammers as vigorously as the men.

The pursuit of minerals, if it is fair to talk of pursuing things that have not the common notion of running away, has every bit the fascination of criminal research, and the surprises are even fleetier. It is, of course, delightful to run to earth and then to pull out of its lair some rare or even that you have been wanting for the last month to get hold of, but think of the pleasure there is in tapping a surface, of dirty rock, or seeing it crack and splinter—there is a dusty, to a lively gathering up of shards and a stopping aside to avoid the descending mass, and there is the newly exposed face of stone to a "pocket" of glittering crystals, shining in the sun like diamonds or stained by metallic oxides with beautiful reds, browns and yellows. Next to finding money or continuous there is no pleasure of discovery that is keener.

The common objection raised by those of them who would like to engage in this employment is that they make nothing about minerals. But not to the way to learn—to take a pocket and hammer and break minerals and look at them. An hour of that practice is better than a week with text books. The outfit is slight enough—a basket or satchel, several dozens of paper or small grocery bags or wrapping the specimens, a note-book and a pencil for jotting down names and localities and a small hammer.

There is a hammer commonly known as the Vassar because it is alleged that it was designed for use by the students of Vassar college, that is just the thing. It is light but strong with a breaking surface at one end and a chipping edge at the other. The whole equipment need not weigh over two or three pounds and if a party is organized it can be less for each member so one may carry a heavy hammer, a second a light one, a third a hatchet, a fourth wrapping paper, a fifth pads for testing, and so on, while an inevitable photographer, if he or she chooses to go along, will find new sets and subjects plenty.

NAMING THE BABY.

Time and Where the Important Ceremony Is Performed Abroad.

In some countries curious customs prevail in regard to selecting a name for the baby.

A Hindoo baby is named when it is five days old, and usually by the father. Sometimes the father wishes another name than that selected by the mother; in that case two lamps are placed over the two names, and the one over which the lamp burn the highest is the one given to the child.

In Egypt the family the parents give a name for their baby by lighting three wax candles; to each of these they assign a name, one of the three names belonging to some deified personages. The candle that burns the most brilliant bears the name upon the spot.

The Mohammedans sometimes write suitable names on five slips of paper, at times they place in the Koran. Some open the first slip drawn out given to the child.

The children of the Ainos a people living in northern Japan, do not receive their names until they are five or seven years old. It is the father who then gives the name by which the child afterwards called.

The Chinese give their boy babies a name in addition to their surnames, of these must call themselves by these names until they are twenty years old. That age the father gives his son a proper name.

The Chinese care so little for their babies that they do not give them any name, but just call them Number One, Number Two, Number Three, according to their birth.

Boys are thought so much more of Chinese than girls are that if you ask Chinese father who has a boy and a girl how many children he has, he will says reply, "Only one child." German parents sometimes change name of their baby if it is ill; and Japanese are said to change the name of a child four times—Wilmaka.

Justice! Oh, Justice!

Once, while Mamoro was conversing with one of the most famous jewelers in his realm, a woman claimed an interview. "Justice, O, prince!" she cried. I purchased of my brother ten hundred pieces of gold and his wife have given me but a singlenon. I That was only proper," replied the prince, "each of your brother's two brothers is entitled to one-third of his property, or four hundred in all, so wife's share is one-fifth, or one hundred pieces. Your brother's mother should receive one-eighth, or twenty-five pieces. You and your three brothers are entitled to the remaining two-fifths; but, as the law gives a double portion to the male, you have each ten pieces of gold and one."—Argonaut.

Other Experience.

Harkins has written a book of stories. What does he know about the subject of polite society?

"He knows what has kept him out of it."—Puck.

To Relight an the Blaze.

In Yasten, in the Congo state, the local newspaper has recently made its appearance under the name of Sekanaa (the Daily Light). Its editor is to enlighten the souls of the "dark colored." It is printed in the vernacular dialect of the country in the Latin alphabet. The first issue of the paper was edited by two educated native women, who did their own type setting. Heathendom is laughing at the "Modern Historical History of Eve" from the pen of a learned Boston Courier.

SOAPSTONE.

A Mineral Which Has Lately Been Used in Fireproof Paints.

An industry of which there is but little said excepting in a general way, but which is, however, none the less important is the production of soapstone. There are but comparatively few people who are familiar with the various features of this commodity, and some facts treating upon the history still, doubtless, prove of interest.

In the first place, soapstone, or, more technically speaking, steatite is a mineral of a soft and flexible nature, and consisting principally of silica, magnesia and more or less alumina and water. It has an oily feeling, quite suggestive of a piece of soap, and is of three or four different colors, although mostly of a whitish cast. Large quantities are quarried in parts of New England and the middle states, the surplus coming from Pennsylvania and New Hampshire. Its applications are numerous and varied. Cotton manufacturers use it extensively on the sizing of rollers. Its great durability in withstanding excessive heat renders it valuable in lining furnaces for the reduction of ore by fusion, and in lining magma, etc. Lately it has been used in the manufacture of a fireproof, waterproof and acidproof paint, where it gives much satisfaction. For the preservation of limestone or sandstone buildings during atmospheric changes it also proves beneficial. It may be stated here that in China some of the soft stone buildings removed with a metal tissue from powdered soapstone have been kept intact for centuries. In the powdered form it is also largely used as a lubricant, and an ingredient in the manufacture of some kinds of steam packing. Some other of its substances of usefulness are in the manufacture of cold decks, crayons and sticks in the preparation of tailors in the whitewashing of soap, paper and rubber, in use where a hot box is occurring, in polishing glass, marble, etc., and in a thousand other ways. So we can see what a prominent position it occupies among American industries.

During the year, 1880, says the Philadelphia Ledger, there were 12,713 tons of this mineral produced at a value of $211,706. It is authentically stated that the birth of this industry dates back to the time of the American aboriginals. Doubtless the use of soapstone in cooking vessels was an idea of this race, as all along the California coast, and, in fact, in nearly all productive parts of the country, have been found unmistakable evidence of a previous existence of the industry. The native had a much more difficult time in shaping the various articles than we are aware, as notwithstanding the soft and flexible nature of the material, it must be remembered that they had to perform their work with tools of stone, parts of antlers and sometimes even of wood. Probably the most elaborate of these soapstone manufactures were pipes, which are said to have been very beautiful in shape and of a not unpleasant finish.

At a place in New York state called Gouverneur is found a species of soapstone known as fibrous talc, which is readily sawed into blocks, and usually by the "gang" system, which has proved a great saving of labor. Some of the best quality of soapstone is found in Vermont, and, by hand, to shape and dress the blocks for the fireplaces, ovens, etc., for which purpose it is largely used. Some of the finer specimens are sawed into slabs, polished and used for mantels, etc., and, when so used, are very beautiful in appearance. Some of the finer specimens are also used for ornamental purposes, such as vases, etc., and, when so used, are very beautiful in appearance. Some of the finer specimens are also used for ornamental purposes, such as vases, etc., and, when so used, are very beautiful in appearance.

MEXICAN GHOSTS.

The Mysterious Experience of a United States Sailor.

A. L. Chatfield, of the Indianapolis Drug Company, was in the United States Navy several years, and cruised in every sea.

"The experience that left the most lasting impression on me was one I had with ghosts," said he to an Indianapolis News reporter. "Now, I do not believe in ghosts for one minute, but the experience I had is one I am not able to explain away. There is hardly a day of my life that I do not think of it. We stopped at a Mexican port and hadn't been there very long before we learned that the natives were very much excited over a haunted house that stood off by itself in a lonely part of the town.

"All the brave men in the place had visited the house to hear the ghosts, and the experience was such that no one could be induced to go back the second time. The second mate of our ship and I decided to investigate the ghosts. We firmly believed that some one in the place was slipping into the house and making the strange noises that were reported as being heard. The mate was a man who did not scare easy, and we agreed that we would go prepared to kill the first ghost that made its appearance.

"We prepared for the expedition by cleaning and loading four good revolvers and by providing a dark lantern. In the afternoon we went to the house and examined it carefully for secret entrances. Every foot of floor and wall was examined, and we saw that the doors were all securely bolted on the inside, except the one to which we had a key. Soon after dark we went to the house and made a second examination, and found it as we had left it in the afternoon. We then took our seats in the front room, with all faces toward an open door leading into another room. The house was quiet as death.

"The mate held the dark lantern, with the slide in, and we each held revolvers in our hands. After we had been there perhaps a half an hour we heard a noise like one makes in slightly pulling a chair nearer the table. A moment later the chair in the room which we were facing seemed to be picked up and set down again. Then we heard footsteps, and pretty soon the room resounded with noises. The seat furniture, it seemed, was being thrown pell mell, and the racket became insanity.

"'Now is our time,' said the mate in a whisper. At that he turned on the dark-lantern and sprang into the room. The moment we entered it the noises ceased and it was quiet. More than that, the furniture stood just as we had left it. We examined the doors and windows, and two more as we had left them. The floor was swept, and, on opening our eyes there. Before we had finished our examination noises began upstairs, and in other rooms. A dozen men with heavy boots seemed to be running up and down the stairway. With our dark-lanterns we ran upstairs and through the several rooms, but could see nothing.

"Whenever we would enter a room the noises would seem to be in the next room or in the house, for that matter, except in that one room. To make the story short we remained in the house until daylight, and the noises continued all night. We chased from one room to another until we were almost completely exhausted, and we did we catch sight of any living object. We couldn't have been mistaken in the noises. It couldn't have been imagination, for neither of us was excited or frightened. Those noises were made in the house, but what is the greatest mystery of my life."

A MINE OF HONEY.

Blasting With Giant Powder and Securing Several Hundred Pounds.

Down at Tomesna, San Bernardino county, Cal., near the famous San Jacinto tin mine, there is a veritable mine of honey. There is a large tree of men employed at the tin mine and they put a their idle time in prospecting in the hills in the vicinity. One Saturday half a dozen of the miners applied to Col. Robinson, the superintendent for the privilege of using some giant powder and a few rods. He asked what they wanted to do and they replied that they had found a honey mine and proposed to tap it. Laughing, he gave his consent and an order on the storekeeper for the desired articles and with a supply of pails and tubs the men set out on their expedition.

They were gone all day and along toward sundown a sorry-looking procession came over the hill and made its way to the employes' headquarters. They had tapped the mine there could be no question about that. Their clothes were liberally plastered with mixture of honey and mud; there was honey everywhere. But the tubs and buckets were full of honey as well, for a rich load had indeed been struck.

The men, it appeared, had found a crevice in the rocks whence issued a constant stream of bees, and from this they judged that there must be a large quantity of honey in the recesses of the cliff. The opening used by the bees was too small to admit of the passage of a human being, and after carefully examining the place a tunnel was commenced a little way from the entrance, and after this had been run the right distance an upraise was put in, which by good luck struck the lodge of honey in its center. After a hot contest with the bees several hundred pounds of comb honey were taken out and the tunnel was then closed up. Several times since additional supplies of the sweet material have been taken from the cave.—Chicago News.

A Cure for Cobra Poisoning.

It is well known that about 25,000 people are killed every year in India by wild beasts and reptiles, the larger number falling victims to poisonous snakes. It was recently discovered that the injection of permanganate of potash was a specific cure for cobra poisoning. The government discussed the project of furnishing the natives with hypodermic syringes and a quantity of permanganate of potash, but the scheme had to be rejected because it was found that it would entail an expense of £183,000,000.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Full Roller Mills.

Manufacture the following brands of Flour:

IRON DUKE. WHITE ROSE.

SILVER SPRAY.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR IT.

FEED, MEAL, BRAN, OATS, CORN, HAY, BOLTED MEAL, GRAHAM, ETC.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

CUSTOM AND EXCHANGE A SPECIALTY.

Cash Paid for Good Milling Wheat

Store always Stocked with our goods at East Jordan.

RIFENBURG MILLING CO.,

L. A. WEST, Supt. Props.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,

J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for, Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering,

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCO, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel Office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

OF Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

C. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are diversified with hardwood and maple sugar groves, and are adapted to all kinds of farming in Michigan.

Lands in Grand Rapids and Indiana, Railroad crossing through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 20,000 souls, and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

TITLE PERFECT.

Mrs. H. A. Carr, Fashionable Millinery.

BRIDGE STREET. CHARLEVOIX.

THE "New Charlevoix."

M. S. GAGNON, Prop.

(Known as the "Old Commercial House.")

Beautifully located on the South Terrace, overlooking the Lake. Rates reasonable. Large Grounds and Fruit Conveniences. Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated. 40-52-1y.

NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.

and all the latest novelties in Millinery. Also a new line of Corsets including the

MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST

Wire line of goods for the

Holiday Trade

now on hand.

Call and see for yourselves.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.

He is also selling a first-class watch, a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-silver cases for $8.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense.

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits for cash from $24 to $30.

We don't fail to sell and you know it.

JOHN ZWECKL, Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE, GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,

Dealer in—

Rifenburg Milling Co.'s

FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,

—proprietor of—

NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN

Good Turnouts at lowest rates.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER, Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD D. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

ERASTUS N. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for organized and unorganized townships, and will loan money on farm mortgages, property for sale, and houses to rent. Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. RANE, Attorney at Law. Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

L. O. L.—Tom Hamilton No. 157, meets Saturday evening before full moon in Odd Fellows' hall.

G. A. R.—Baxter Post No. 419, meets second Monday every month, in Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER, No. 70, O. E. S., meets on the first Thursday of each month, in Masonic hall. Curtis Hills, W. M. Edith Nelson, Secretary.

ORIENT CHAPTER, No. 108, R. A. M., meets at Pentoskey on the first Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Hotel Dixon Lodge No. 236, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 182, F. & A. M. Regular communication Saturday on or before full moon. Office.

CHARLEVOIX LODGE No. 195, K. T., meets at Knights Templar in Pentoskey on the first Thursday of each month.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 3211, K. of L., meets every Friday night in Knights of Labor hall.

BAXTER RELIEF CORPS, No. 173, meets at I. O. O. F. rooms on second Saturday of each month, at 2 o'clock p. m.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

F. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Bridge Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. Bond J. D. HENRY, Surveyors and Engineers. Charlevoix, Mich. (Deputy County surveyors Charlevoix county.)

Schneermann & Guidebeck,

The Opera House Block Dry Goods Store.

We call your attention to a few of OUR PRICES, and everything is equally as cheap:

A fancy silk-lettered Handkerchief, on fine lawn, at 5 cents.

Children's Bordered Handkerchiefs from 3 cents upward.

Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Vests, regular price, 50 cents, our price, 33 cts.

We carry a genuine camel's hair Underwear, in ladies, all sizes, and none better, at $1.00.

A good line of Gents' Underwear at prices that cannot be beat.

Gents' red felt Mittens at 18 cents.

Boys Mittens from 10 cents upwards.

Special bargains in Shawls; great attractions in Cloaks, Newmarkets and hip-length Coats. You can buy a garment of us at less than wholesale price. Come in and see us.

We are Leaders of Low Prices.

Schneermann & Guidebeck.

LEWIS BLOCK. Charlevoix, Mich.

Which One Was Kept.

There were two little kittens, a black and a gray,
And grandmamma said with a frown:
"I will have to drown one of you, I am sorry to say,
The black one we'd better drown."

"Don't cry our dear," to her Sue,
"One kitten's enough to keep.
Now run in some, for its growing late,
And time you were fast asleep."

Then Sue, tearful, and rosy and sweet
Climbed into her little cot beside the stove and "Go into mamma's room
And look in her bed," said she.

"Come here," said grandmamma, with a smile,
From the rocking-chair where she sat
"And tell me can you two little kittens,
Now, which do you think of that?"

Sue looked at the kittens a moment
With their wee heads yellow and brown,
And then to grandmamma soberly said,
"Which one are you going to drown?"

—Sabine Bazar.

DOMESTIC DISCIPLINE.

How a Washington Husband Gave his Wife a Lesson.

A certain woman of fashion conspicuous in Washington society, whose infirmity of temper has given rise to very interesting gossip occasionally, says the Phila. Press, figures in a quiet little story.

A short time ago she was entertaining at supper a party of her acquaintance, when it changed that there was placed upon the table a small pot of chocolate. The hostess of the occasion is very fond of the beverage in question, partaking of it every evening of her life. Unfortunately, the servant had neglected to make more than the usual quantity, which was just about sufficient for enough to go, accordingly, when the guest was asked if she would take some, she hesitated a moment and said so. Whereupon her entertainer flushed with anger at the countretemps, and, rising from her seat, deliberately poured the contents of the chocolate pot out of the window. This was embarrassing for the lady entertained. Of course, she presumed to take no notice, merely glancing slyly at her host, who made the third present, in order to see if he was enhanced any nonchalanceness respecting the proceeding. But he only smiled beneath his mustache and made no remark.

Presently he asked her if she would have some chicken salad, of which a big dishful stood invitingly temptuous among the visands.

"I thank you, no," she replied, merely because she had a preference for chicken salad.

Immediately, as if it were a matter of course, the host picked up the salad and threw it dish and all out through the window into the garden.

"It's a way we have here," he remarked calmly.

Nobody said anything for quite five minutes afterward, but the extreme suitability exhibited by the hostess for the rest of the evening, led the visitor to imagine that the lesson thus given was not without a certain domestic usefulness.

The Hardness of Stupid Persons.

The unconscious evidence of stupid persons is one of the most amusing of social vexations, and yet it is a thing which must be endured as part of the discipline of life.

A lady who had had her house done over in the most recent fashion was asked by every friend upon whom she called to exhibit it from top to bottom. As she was one of the persons who have numerous intimate friends she filled the office of exhibitor pretty often, and of course each four-friend to whom she showed her house went away and lauded intimate friend concerning upon the house. Day a lady who was not of the inner circle of intimate friends called and before leaving asked to be taken over the house. The hostess showed her about and after all had been seen she led the way back to the parlor.

"But you have not showed me all the chambers," the guest said.

"Yes, you have seen them all," was the reply.

"Oh," the caller insisted, "there is certainly one which I have not seen.

"I have shown you all the chambers there are," the hostess answered.

"Well," the other said, "I do not understand. Mrs. Smith" naming the hostess' most intimate friend, told me that there was one chamber that had the most vulgar paper on it that she ever saw, and I wanted to see that."

To which the hostess could only reply that whatever there was had been shown, and that the caller might decide for herself what character Mrs. Smith had meant.—Boston Courier.

Hockley's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Before purchasing Sleighs, Cutters, Harness, Robes, Blankets, & etc, Don't fail to see our stock, get the prices, and save money.

The Belknap is positively the Best Sleigh made in the Market.

We are selling them away down cheap.

Baker & Son.

Charlevoix.

Heb on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

DR. MILES' NERVINE

DR. MILES' NERVINE

A SPECIFIC FOR HYSTERIA, DIZZINESS, SLEEPLESSNESS, NERVOUS PROSTRATION, NERVOUS HEADACHE, FITS, SPASMS, CONVULSIONS, NEURALGIA, NERVOUS IRRITABILITY, PROSTRATION CAUSED BY THE USE OF ALCOHOL OR TOBACCO, MENTAL DEPRESSION, LOSS OF MEMORY, PREMATURE OLD AGE, EXHAUSTING DISCHARGES, LOSS OF POWER, ETC. Book on Nervine and its wonderful cures sent free. Nervine is sold by druggists at $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, or will be sent by express on receipt of price, if druggists do not keep it. Nervine is sold by druggists everywhere. Dr. Miles' Specific for Fits, Epilepsy, etc., is sold by druggists everywhere. Dr. Miles' Pain Pills are sold everywhere. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold everywhere. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are sold everywhere. Dr. Miles' Anti-

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

MONTANA MINE'S DIE.

SEVENTEEN ARE INSTANTLY KILLED.

An Old-fashioned Hold-Up Near Irondale—Two Desperate Tragedies Reported—Lowlaham Murderer Lynched—Another Desperado in Sheriff—Indians Want Land.

Week of Highwaymen.

KANSAS CITY and St. Joseph passengers on the Missouri Pacific train from Omaha were treated to an old-fashioned hold up at Wayside, a suburb of Omaha. Four masked men took charge of the train when it stopped at the station. One covered the engineer and fireman with a Winchester rifle, while the others proceeded to plunder the train. With drawn revolvers they approached the coaches and ordered the passengers to throw up their hands. The mail car was also plundered. Officers refuse to give any information as to the amount of booty secured, but it is said that large sums for Kansas City and St. Louis banks were taken. Officers are chasing the robbers in the river bottoms.

An Old-fashioned Hold-Up Near Irondale.

HANNIBAL, MO., STARTED A SENSATION when Dr. Hall, of Hannibal, Mo., oil dealer, was arrested on charges of bigamy and having married his first wife, Marguerite Staples, arrived from Harrisburg, Pa., having learned that her husband, who had left her thirteen years ago, was in Harrisburg. She was married that 12 to Mary L. Brand. The secret of that time is now already out, and thus preserved the honor. The Alamanzo who says that Dr. Hall lived in New York for ten years after their marriage, that one day he disappeared, aged and, falling to return, she recovered in Harrisburg, to reside with relatives.

Huge Mount for Dewey.

A VALPARAISO dispatch confirms the news that Admiral Jorge Montt is the choice of all parties for President of the Chilean republic. Montt is somewhat backward in accepting the honor and declares that he is a sailor and not a politician. It is nevertheless, the general opinion that he will accede to the demand that he accept the Presidency. His acceptance would unite all the political factions.

Texas Ranger's Captured.

THE principal actor in the Turkey Creek, Colo., train robbery of the Rio Grande Express, near Canyon, has been captured. The prisoner is Tom Jones, one of the men who "Pug-Leg" Bill, Jones and a man named Hoover. Other arrests are reported, as the outlaws numbered about a dozen. Jones is a nephew of McCoy, the leader of the gang. It is already in prize serving an eighteen years' sentence.

Seamen Doomed to Death.

SEVENTEEN men were instantly killed in an accident at the Ansonia mine, near Butte, Mont. Two men were injured when the shifts were being changed. Nineteen men were in the cage, and it was crowded with the rope snapped, and the men were precipitated to the bottom. Seventeen were killed outright, and the two others were badly bruised.

Revolution in Brazil.

A DISPATCH which has been received from Rio Janeiro the capital of Brazil, brings news of what seems to be little less than another revolution. The dispatch says, has been dissolved, and martial law has been proclaimed in Rio Janeiro and throughout the province. Dr. Lauro Muller has been appointed that a dictatorship has been established in Brazil.

Charged with Taking Commissions.

G. A. HENRY, agent of the Lake Shore Railroad at La Porte, Ind., was discharged. It is charged that he accepted a share in the commissions received for selling tickets over other roads contrary to orders. The Lake Shore Ticket Agent Hall was recently discharged.

Lynched Suspected Murderers.

A MAN named Hynes was waylaid and killed near Mel Bennett, in Lowlaham county, two men named Smith and Ferguson suspected of the crime, arrested and locked in jail. Friends of the murdered man broke down the door in the jail and lynched the prisoners.

Double Murder and Suicide.

SINGAPORE, Dowie, a big Frederick German laborer, murdered his wife and young as at their cottage on the Sac River road, cutting their skulls open with a hatchet, and then committed suicide by hanging himself in the yard. It is supposed the man was insane.

Six Aged Couple Killed with Axes.

AT Georgiana, Ala., Thomas Sheppard and his wife, aged 80 and 78, were the victims of an unknown murder. The old couple were killed with axes and their bodies horribly butchered. There is no clew to the murderers.

Shot His Wife and Hanged Himself.

JOHN RAUSER, 41 years old, a New York janitor, shot his wife Mary in the right temple with a revolver, causing a serious wound. Krauer committed suicide by hanging himself in the dumbwaiter shaft.

A Land Sale for $632,000 Alive.

AT Muskogee, I.T., a number of Cherokee Indians have filed a petition asking a partition and allotment of nearly a nearly 18,000,000 acres of land. This is the largest land suit ever instituted in this country.

The Pope's Religious Will.

A Paris correspondent says: "The Pope prepared his religious will in October. It is written in Latin. The Pope declares his personal faith and his adhesion to the choice of his successor. He dwells upon his infallibility, which was decided in the papacy of Pius IX. The Pope's temporal will is being drafted by four Cardinals in secret."

A Tornado Kills Two.

RESTORATION ALBERT S. MARKS died suddenly in his room in the Maxwell House, at Nashville, Tenn.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

At Jackson, Miss., three colored murderers, Jones, Tomson, Jones, Jones and Wiley Ewing were sentenced by the Supreme Court to hang Dec. 9, one each at Greenville, Forest and Lexington.

At Albany, N. Y., Grand Master P. P. Sargent, in addressing a public meeting of the Incomes Tax-made said: "No step is taken into the Congress's consideration but now who have had nine months' actual experience on a income tax. Another graduation for whom is to pretty much everything."

At Cincinnati, Ohio, Mrs. Mary Williams, aged 70, and her daughter, Mrs. Jerry Williams, aged 40, were found in their cottage in the suburbs of Cincinnati, with their throats cut. Mrs. Williams's husband and son-in-law, Jerry Williams, are in the penitentiary for the murder of Jerome.

At Lewiston, Me., Mrs. Mary Ann Dunn, a widow, aged 70, was found in her house with her throat cut. Her son, Frank Dunn, was found in the house. Dunn is a man of 40 years, and is said to be a dangerous character.

At Ogdensburg, N. Y

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV 18, 1891

Inter-Ocean. On the occasion of the recent unveiling of the Grady monument at Atlanta, Ga., some post of the Grand Army of the Republic, carrying, of course, the American flag, paraded in the same column with a number of Confederate veterans who displayed the "stars and bars" under which they fought during the war. Having this incident as a text, Mr. Palmer, Commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, has issued an order which is such only in form, and in its text is hardly more than an admonition to the members of the Grand Army not to march in processions in which the emblem of the dead rebellion is borne. The advice of the Commander is couched in such terms that it can hardly give offense, even in the South, and it should certainly be heeded by those to whom it was addressed. A few more months than twenty-six years have elapsed since the Confederate flag ceased to represent anything but robbery and foolish hopes; it is time it should be laid away as a relic of trying and heroic times, perhaps as a reminder of what might have been. It is certainly out of place among the emblems of the live ideas and patriotic hopes of the present day.

• • •

The comparative insignificance of the Alliance vote and the overwhelming majority for the Republican ticket in Ohio, places "sound money" in the vast of political issues for 1892. Major McKinley fought for protection and sound money—as much for one as for the other, and the result places Ohio on the sound money platform; and the Republican party in '92 will stand on a similar platform. The Democratic party will doubtless be forced to adopt a free silver plank or lose the great western states. This will place the money question alongside protection as one of the great issues to be fought out next year. The Republican party accepted the issue in Ohio and won; it will accept the issue in '92.

• • •

Inter-Ocean: Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll wants every one to have the liberty to think as he pleases. The Colonel was no doubt gratified to see several thousand Chicagoans turn out in the rain yesterday to hear the young revivalist Mills at Union Park Congregational Church, in addition to the many thousands who continue the old habit of attending divine services at their own churches despite the Colonel's onslaughts on their religion. This is a liberty-loving country, and while Colonel Ingersoll has the liberty to ridicule Christianity the great mass of the people have not surrendered their own liberty to continue their belief in the greatest teacher the world has ever known.

• • •

The New York Sun suggests Blaine and McKinley as the Republican ticket for 1892. It would be a good ticket, but the National convention can be dependent on to select the candidates. The surest road to success on election day is the one selected by the Republicans of the country in their primaries and conventions, because those represent the great majority of the people in this country.

• • •

"Michigan's chief cities, Detroit and Grand Rapids," observes the Muskegon Chronicle, "appears to have sold out of the Democratic collusion when they went deposited some years ago. Both may now be regarded as being dependent upon the Republican party for good government. Their influence will be useful in redeeming the state from Democratic misrule at the next election."

• • •

It is the last month that Governor Hill can draw two salaries, one as Governor and the other as United States Senator. Like the calf that sucked two cows, the Governor has seemed to thrive under it, and grown in favor with the Democracy. But just imagine any Republican committing such a misdemeanor. The Democratic press would howl themselves hoarse over it.

• • •

The Democratic party is quick to scent danger. Since the Ohio election, some of the organs of that party have coupled the names of Blaine and Reed in a most complimentary manner. Democrats quake in their boots when they see these great names in conjunction, and think of the possibilities of the next presidential contest.

• • •

The London Globe sees in the results of recent elections a "reaction in favor of the McKinley bill." For once the London Globe has called the turn.

• • •

The Atlanta Constitution says: "The result in Ohio shows that it is useless to make a campaign of education among the ignorant and ungodly."

DRESS TRIMMING
Is Our Hobby These Days.
ALL THE NEW and LATEST DESIGNS.
THAT FEATHER TRIMMING WILL
Throw You Into Hysterics.
ELEGANT! ARTISTIC! BEAUTIFUL!
MASON & BERDAN.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

Where are the revenues to come from if not from a tariff? And if a tariff is to be levied, is it not better to have a tariff that shall protect American manufactories than a mere tariff for revenue, levied upon articles that cannot be produced in this country?

• • •

The Democratic editors are still striving heroically to extract comfort from the late elections. They are used to the task of deriving consolation from defeat, and are finding ample scope for the exercise of their talents in the present instance.

• • •

Northern Michigan News.

The Cheboygan Agricultural society has collapsed.

Last week O. D. Wood bought the Beach farm, in Banks, for $2,000.

The Antrim county fair association is paying up all back premiums and grangers are happy.

The Tonawanda Lumber Co. is talking of buying 10,000 acres of land along the C. & W. M.

The Bank of Bellaire is about to put in a fire-proof vault and a new burglar proof time lock safe, at an expense of about $2,000.

A Leland man is so methodical in his habits that he keeps a double entry ledger devoted solely to the record of his gains and losses at poker. But we can name the man.

St. Ignace carried the proposition for an electric light plant by a large majority last week. There will be 20 arc lights for the streets, and they will have 25 lights left to rent.

The proprietors of the Traverse City new opera house have ordered their scenery and curtains from the best house in the west on the ground that nothing is too good for the town.

The North Michigan School teachers' Club will meet in Cadillac Nov. 27 and 28. The papers to be read include one by Prof. H. M. Enos, Superintendent of the Charlevoix schools.

The Soo boom has busted. Cows broadcloth the streets according to their own sweet will and some of the people there are getting sick of it and threaten to sprinkle their lawns with paris green.

Emmet county farmers are to organize a Farmers' Institute, and a meeting is to be held at Harbor Springs Nov. 18th, under the direction of professors from the Agricultural College.

Elk Rapids Progress: Track laying is going on this week. The side tracks are being put in and it is stated that all work from Traverse City to Elk Rapids will be finished about the 20th.

Harbor Springs cor. Petoskey Democrat: O. C. Sweet, who went from East Jordan to Beaver Island two years ago and went into the lumber business, moved back from there last Monday a poorer but wiser man.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knight, of Hanks, expect to leave soon for a two weeks visit with relatives in Canada. On their return they will attend the meeting of the State Grange at Lansing, as delegates from Antrim Co.

Frank Leach, near South Boardman, raised 15,000 bushels of magnificent potatoes from five acres of ground, notwithstanding the lot was thickly covered with stumps. He planted one eye to the hill, the hills twelve inches apart.

Game Warden Hampton has caught a rapid gait and is going to make things easy for his successors if declarations will do it. He declares he will break up the practice of shooting deer out of season, which he knows is carried on in the upper peninsula to considerable extent. He has been up north and made arrests in Ogemaw and Gladwin counties.

Ike Brower was tried at Petoskey for chasing deer out of season, and two separate juries failed to convict him. David Crawford, of Jordan Township, was also tried at Mancelona recently for killing deer out of season, and the jury failed to find him guilty.

State Game Warden C. S. Hampton brought action against Geo. Gaskill, of Edwards, for shooting a deer Sept. 21, out of season. Gaskill pleaded guilty, and was fined $20. Gaskill is a good democrat, and it came to pass that Hampton forthwith appointed him deputy game warden.

The Boyne Falls News says that Wm. Mears is about to add new boilers and a 75 horse power engine to his shingle mill and attach saw mill machinery. Also that the new M. E. church is all ready for the roof, and an effort will be made to get the roof on before snow arrives.

Chicago parties are at the head of a project to open up and establish a beautiful summer resort on South Manitou Island. The project includes the building of a hotel at a cost of $200,000, for which an architect has prepared the plans, the improvement of a part of the beach and the erection of additional transportation facilities for reaching the island. A of the Chicagoans, including railroad officials and prominent business men, are interested in the enterprise. The hotel will have an east front of 264 feet, and will be three stories high. It is the desire to begin work on it in time to have it completed and in readiness for next season. Three railroad companies are now figuring on building lines of road to the resort point on the main land, while W. R. Owen of Chicago contemplates the building of a steamer at a cost of $175,000 to ply between Chicago and this and other points. The island comprises nearly 6000 acres, about 3,000 of which will be controlled by the company, and its numerous charms make it a delightful spot for a summer home. The tract will be subdivided into half acre lots and sold out to persons who will erect cottages, quite a number of which are already in prospect. There is also a beautiful inland lake for sailing and boating.

• • •

Beechnuts wanted at $2.00 per bushel. F. E. WOODS & CO.

• • •

First class billboard squeakers $1.00 a dozen; Red heads, 60c. Leave orders with C. H. & Co.
18-21. E. H. NEWMAN.

Ho! ho! For Ninety-two!
Relish the
J. Z. LINTON'S
and see the Black Baby cigar, also fine tobaccos of all kinds and many other nice things, such as Grapes, Apples, Potatoes and Cow, and Goods of all kinds and a good assortment of Candy, Nuts, Cakes and Cheese, just the kind that's sure to please. Give him a call and buy it all in order to save him from spoil. You will find a nice line of both large and small that will give perfect satisfaction to one and all. Now if you don't believe it's so, just give us a call and we will prove it all.
BOOTH'S OYSTERS
J. Z. LINTON.

WHEN YOU COME TO TOWN
LOOK OUT FOR THE
CARS AT THE CROSSINGS.

New Bedford Cords, 60c.
New Cashmeres, 20, 35 and 40.
New Linens, 25, 35 and 50.
Heaviest Kersy Pants Cloth, 48c.
Sovereign Serges, 12 1-2 Cents.
Celluloid Collars, 15c.

FROM OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES FOR THE NEXT 30 DAYS. WE WILL GIVE ALL CASH PURCHASERS A DISCOUNT ON ALL BILLS THAT WILL BE WORTH LOOKING AFTER.
ENQUIRE!

Ladies' Gray Natural Wool UNDERWEAR, 65c.
Ladies Ribbed, 25c.
Wool Hose, 25, 35 and 50.
You can't hlep but find something useful on our NOTION TABLE.
CLOAKS, JACKETS, WRAPS.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Beaman's Pharmacy.

I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.

GEO. W. BEAMAN,
Dispenser.

5 BUYS POUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL
ALLEN B. WRISLEY'S OLD COUNTRY SOAP.

If you buy your supplies for winter from
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.
you will not be disappointed.
A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.
Yours truly,
Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
Jas C Miller publisher.
VOL XXIII. NO-21. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY NOVEMBER 25, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,145.

School Books & School Supplies
We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.
We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.
F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate OFFICE OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

C. B. & CO.
We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

MOSEL, STONE,
FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.
FOR SALE AT . . .
CALKINS & WARNE'S
. . . DRUG STORE.

All Hands Around!
Sally go down the middle!
OYSTERS Large.
OYSTERS Fat.
OYSTERS Fresh.
No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.
O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.
Watch This Space
NEXT WEEK.
Watch This Space
BERT MASON.

One Third of Your Life is Spent IN BED!
Bed-Springs, Matresses, Pillows, Blankets & Comforters
Can be bought at
S. M. See & Sons.
More Elegant New Blankets In Stock.
Get Our Prices on Blankets Before Buying.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1.00 | Six months .75
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

An Apology.

By clinging a little too long to mossback transportation we are compelled this week to print a half sheet. We are sure our readers will bear with us.

• • •

—R. M. Cherrie went to Chicago Monday.

—Cash Hiffenlung was down from Alden over Sunday.

—Mrs. W. E. Hampton returned from Harbor Springs Friday.

—The family of L. A. West, arrive from Wisconsin this week.

—The Methodist Church is undergoing repairs—re-carpeting and calcimining.

—W. H. Downer left for Lake Geneva, Wis., yesterday, to be gone two weeks.

—Miss Lorena Alice Kanagy is improving and able to sit up each day some hours.

—E. A. Herdan has been appointed Assistant Postmaster at the Charlevoix postoffice.

—Mrs. J. S. Dixon and young son left Monday for Lilley, Newaygo Co., to visit relatives.

—Mrs W. A. Smith and Mrs. G. A. Sherwood spent two days in Petoskey last week.

—R. Connable & Sons have chartered the Anspach to pick up fish in Grand Traverse Bay.

—D. C. Loveday and daughter, of East Jordan, arrived in New York from Europe Monday.

—Austin C. Newman has been granted a pension of $10 per month, and $111 back pension.

—Capt. Fred Lorenz, of the schooner Florence Smith, left yesterday for his home in Wisconsin.

—Mrs. H. C. Dreyer, of Banks, has been granted a pension of $8 per month, and $320 back pension.

—L. D. Bartholomew leaves this week, or early next week, for Texas, where he will spend the winter.

—A. T. Washburne has a circular letter in his advertising space this week, addressed to his patrons. Read it.

—Thanksgiving services at the Congregational church at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Sermon by Rev. Macpherson.

—Fred A. Cochran has accepted a position as pharmacist in a drug store at Houghton, Mich., and left Monday.

—Dr Ford left yesterday for a short visit at his home in Geneva Lake, Wis., before going to Beaver Island for the winter.

—The Hiffenburg Milling Co. have a readable advertisement in their space this week. Read what they say about flour.

—Married, Nov. 18th, at the residence of Mrs. Wagner, on Mason street, Mr. John A. Webster and Miss Maggie O'Neill, both of Charlevoix by Rev. Mr. Haynes.

—The Historical Society meets at Hon. E. H. Green's on the first Friday in December. An excellent program has been arranged.

—Mrs. Myron Geer, of Marion, died last evening, at her home in Marion. Lack of time prevents a more extended notice this week.

—A horse jumped off the steamer Friant, just as she passed through the bridge coming in Saturday. The animal was fished at out Nicholls' dock.

—Nicholls, Lewis & Bate's saw mill and factory will start up again January 1st, the latter on a big contract for bed-spring frames for a Milwaukee concern.

—The generosity of your turkey tomorrow, but don't be reckless with your mince pie. There is more insanity in the average mince pie than there is in the business end of a mule.

—Hon. Richard Knight writes the SENTINEL from Woodstock, Ont., that the people there are troubled in spirit because of the effects of the McKinley bill, the farmers only receiving 35 cents per bushel for their barley. Last evening "Uncle Dick" was to attend a public meeting called to consider the future of Canada, and discuss the question of annexation.

—The largest lift of fish ever brought into this port by a fish tug, was brought in Friday night by the Chara Belle, her load being something over six tons. Her nets had been out two days.

—Messrs. Stanley Bush and A. D. Otis, of South Arm, and Reuben Gleason and Mr. Page, of East Jordan, and their ladies, were down to the Eastern Star dance Friday night. The event was a pronounced success.

—James Parsons has purchased F. E. Wood's interest in the Charlevoix candy factory, and will go it alone, in the philanthropic work of making sweetness for the ladies and children. Jim knows the business thoroughly, and has an ambition to build up the business to more extensive proportions.

—The C. L. S. C. will meet with Mrs. W. N. Moore Friday evening, Nov. 27th. The following program will be rendered: C. L. S. C. song No. 7. Devotional. Roll call, quotations from "Poor Richard." Table talk—Current events. Fifty questions and answers on Social Institutions. Solo, Selected—Miss Lillie Carpenter. Paper, Benjamin Franklin—Mrs. W. H. McCartney. Reading, "Pumpkin Pie"—Miss Josie Liteau. C. L. S. C. No. 19.

—Grand Rapids Democrat, Nov. 21: Another consignment of nineteen railroad laborers, en route for Traverse City, landed in this city last night and were lodged at the police station. This is the third party the past week to traverse the same route and submit to the same treatment. The men will have to resume their trip this morning on empty stomachs and the naturally fell indignant over the matter. Among them were several men who looked like intelligent mechanics. They seemed to feel keenly, the disgrace of being locked behind the bars. One man remarked: "We are not tramps or vagrants. We were told in Chicago, at the Iron Labor Agency, that we would be taken right through to Traverse, and arrive at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. All I could manage to raise was the amount of carfare and I know it is the same with most of my companions. I have a fault to find with the way the police have used us here, but J. H. McLane & Co., the railroad contractors, are very much to blame. Of course we can not complain to them, or we should lose the work, and if we did not need work, we would not be here."

• • •

Grand Haven celery, the best in the land, a nice stock for the holidays, at O. W. Smith's.

• • •

Hearings from Hayes.

Dan Durance and wife were the guests of Mrs. Mrs. Frank Kane the past week.

Charles Gannon, of Flint, is visiting friends and relatives in Hayes.

Mr. Partridge, of Flushing, will lecture at Burgess school house next Thursday evening.

Mrs. Frank Burnett was thrown from her horse while out riding Saturday, but fortunately escaped serious injury.

Moses Cooper, D. E. Scroggie and Chauncey Howe were attending court at Boyne City last week.

The Oyster Bay shingle mill is in operation with a double crew.

Three deer crossed Michael Plant's farm last Friday. The boys gave them chase but they are still at large.

Our station seems to puzzle everybody, and we do not know whether it is Algonah or Bayside, or both, or neither.

Rev. Miller, of the U. B. church, continued his protracted meeting at Fairgrove during this week.

Jack Saunby has a force of men cutting hemlock logs. He will deliver several hundred thousand feet to Nicholls, Lewis & Bates the coming winter.

While & Co., of Boyne City, have an advertisement in the last week's Michigan Tradesman, in which they claim to own most of Charlevoix county. A good portion of Hayes comes under their claim.

• • •

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning, Christ Mission. Evening, Prodigal Son—His Resolution.

Methodist.

No services next Sabbath.

• • •

Splendid new cider, made from sweet apples, at O. W. Smith's.

• • •

NOTICE.

The undersigned desires to acknowledge with thankfulness the kind and Christian work of the Ladies Aid Society of the Congregational Church, during the sick bed of their daughter.

J. J. & S. Kanagy.

Why We Are Thankful.

First of all, that Providence has smiled upon us, and that peace, plenty and happiness prevail as a rule.

That the SENTINEL has 18 columns of advertising, and a large and increasing subscription list.

That Charlevoix still reigns supreme as the Queen of the North.

That potatoes are only twenty-five cents per bushel.

That Capt. Bouteou, of the Petoskey Record, was reformed and thrown away his pipe and tobacco pouch.

That Charlevoix merchants are doing a prosperous business.

That the Chief of Engineers has asked for an appropriation of $46,000 for the improvement of Charlevoix harbor next year.

That Brother Lorraine, of the East Jordan Enterprise is enjoying good health.

That our distinguished fellow citizen, President Buttars, is on the road to recovery.

That, thus far this season, Charlevoix sailors have braved the elements without loss of life or property.

That this will be the last winter of staging to connect with a railroad train.

• • •

The Deer Slayers.

Most of the deer hunters that went to the Black River country have returned with their trophies.

Leo Modge brought in two, one of them being a buck of 240 pounds. Geo. Burns brought in one, E. R. Harris one, and N. A. Shores two.

Egbert Carpenter, C. Y. Cook and Hubert Ackert have not yet returned, but information from their camp does not speak well for Carpenter and Cook, old and experienced hunters that they are. Hube remained in camp while Egbert and C. Y. vainly scoured the woods for game. The cook kill 'd three within sight of the camp, without interrupting him in his camp labors in the least. We hope "old pap" and C. Y. will yet redeem themselves before they return.

• • •

Railroad Notes.

Track-laying north of Williamsburg was begun Monday morning of this week.

Fifty men are at work south of here completing the McCracken & Sibley sub-contract.

Track laying north to Petoskey will be resumed next week.

One hundred men are now engaged in ballasting north of here. Six miles, from Charlevoix north, is about about completed.

Chief Engineer McVean and Division Engineer Northrop, were here Saturday, looking over the work.

Work was begun on the foundation of the water-tank yesterday. Lamoreaux and Dagleton are doing the stone work.

• • •

Circuit Court.

The following was the disposition of the calendar of the Circuit Court, November term:

People vs. Calvin Holbrook; willfully cutting timber; not. pros., warrant not returned. Re-arrested on same charge; trial next term.

People vs. Henry Wilkinson; killing cattle; convicted; sentence suspended until question of insanity is passed upon.

People vs. Calvin Holbrook; obtaining money under false pretenses; continued.

D. C. Nettleton vs. Richard Cooper; assumpsit; judgment for defendant.

A. Chamberlain vs. Ben Campbell; replevin; settled.

W. P. Brown vs. J. Milo Eaton and Amos Fox; assumpsit; settled.

W. H. Horn vs. Geo. W. Crouter and J. M. H. Harris; trespass on case; judgment for defendant.

A. T. Hobse vs. C. C. Batchelor; replevin; judgment for plaintiff.

James Ingalls vs. David Brown; assumpsit; continued.

Geo. G. Boise vs. A. T. Hobse; assumpsit; settled.

Jacob Baker vs. W. H. White et al.; assumpsit; continued.

Loretta Webster vs. H. E. Newville; assumpsit; judgment for plaintiff.

John Galster vs. D. S. Judd; assumpsit; judgment for plaintiff.

Joseph Storsser vs. John Tencate; assumpsit; continued.

E. D. Voorhees vs. Wm. Mears; certiorari; further return called for.

David Brown vs. J. Wm. Burnland; motion to set aside granted.

James Ingalls vs. David Brown; motion for security for costs granted.

E. D. Voorhees vs. Wm. Mears; motion for further return granted.

Eva L. Bowen vs. Peter Bowen; divorce granted.

Josephine E. Dartt vs. Byron H. Dartt; divorce granted.

• • •

Splendid new cider, made from sweet apples, at O. W. Smith's.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1880.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 25, 1892.

Secretary Tracy in his forthcoming report, will recommend that the treaty between Great Britian and the United States whereby the rights of the United States on the great lakes is restricted to one war ship, be abrogated. There is no immediate danger of war between the two great nations, but in case of a disturbance the United States would be entirely at the mercy of Great Britain who could send ships of war to any lake city and find opposed to her only one ship of an obsolete pattern. Six months notice is required to abrogate the treaty and Secretary Tracy will recommend that proper action be taken at once.

The elections have changed somewhat the aspect of the democratic presidential chess board. They have given a question to the pretensions of Campbell of Ohio and Pattison of Pennsylvania, and swept them from the board. But they have emphasized New York with one more candidate and inaugurated a triangular contest between Cleveland, Hill and Flower. The prestige of success is now with Flower, but Cleveland knows that he is recognized as the head and front of the free-trade sentiment in this country, and if he succeeds in keeping the wind-mills of his foes in the air, it is nothing more natural than that he should lead the party in '92.

The banks of Detroit have discovered a hole in the law providing for the taxation of mortgages, through which they are easily able to crawl. The law can not prevent the making of any sort of a contract between the parties to a loan. If the borrower is willing to engage to pay the tax on his mortgage and relieve the bank from all liability he may do so. A man who wants badly is willing to do almost anything, and as a matter of fact borrowers are now compelled to assume all the burdens imposed by the law. The banks now insert in their real estate mortgages a clause binding the mortgage to pay the tax on the mortgage contemplated by the new law. And while it is not to be supposed the banks will not extend the rigor of interest, they may by combined action, which is already contemplated, charge such fees for executing a mortgage as will make the interest in the aggregate nine or ten per cent, depending somewhat on the condition of the money market. While the borrower is compelled to pay the taxes on the real estate and mortgage, he is not enabled to secure money at any less figure than under the old law. He will now have to pay a higher rate of interest and increased taxes.

Rev. Dr. Talmage said these things during his talk at the Tabernacle chapel: A faint light on the sky and a sky had made him think that morning was coming. Dr. Keeley, it was said had compounded a medicine that would cure alcoholism; over 800 inebriates have been saved, and not than 1 per cent of those who had graduated from his treatment had fallen. If an antidote to the poison of body, mind and soul has really been made, it is more important than Tanner's cure of hydrophobia, than Koch's cure of consumption. At the time when the world had begun to shout that at last the fiery thirst for strong drink might be extinguished by medical prescription, one of the chief advocates of the new mode of disenthralment dies of alcoholism on Hawkwell's Island. As a result multitudes are crying: "Humbug, nothing on all the shelves of pharmacy seek can conquer this appetite." Now, I am not in sympathy with this outcry. If a new discovery would take 800 cases in hand and lose 300 of them, the remaining 500 saved are a victory gained, enough to fill earth and heaven with celebration. People have died of small-pox after vaccination; but that is nothing against vaccination. People have died of ale after joining the church, but that is nothing against religion. Give the discoverer a chance. He proposes nothing but good, and let the good alone with his work. Of this one thing I am certain, if Dr. Keeley's bichloride of gold does not achieve the thing proposed, some one else will. It is high time that the whole medical profession of Christendom rose upon their might and put down this appetite which has taken so large a part of the human race by the throat. It is a disgrace to men of genius in this latter part of the nineteenth century that so little has been accomplished for the crippling of this monster of alcoholism, to say nothing of its extirpation. Medical science ought to provide something else beside three wan looking drugs in a pellet in purveyors of delirium tremens. For the sake of agonized humanity, client on the doctors rather than fill the air with shouts of "humbug," be I cause here and there may be a conspicuous failure. The doctor who shall demonstrate that this pauper of diseased thirst can be slain, ought to have a monument as high as Bartholdi's statue of liberty in New York harbor. And this doctor will yet be born; perhaps he is already born; perhaps he hears or reads this lecture.

THE GIANTS OF CANARIES.

A Race of Men Who Were Phenomenal and Morally Our Superiors.

The Canarios, the inhabitants of the Canary islands, are said to be the descendants of the ancient race, says the Cornhill Magazine, who 10,000 years ago, peopled the drowned continent of Atlantis. They are reported to have been strong and handsome and of extraordinary agility of movement, of remarkable endurance and of loyal disposition; but they showed the cerebality of children and the simple directness of shepherds. So tall were they that the Spaniards speak of them as giants, and their strength and endurance were so great that they were conquered by stratagem, but not force. They run as fast as horses and could leap over a pole held between two men five or six feet high; they could climb the highest mountains and jump the deepest ravines.

Their endurance as swimmers was so great that they were accustomed to swim across the nine mile strait between the Lancerote and Fuerteventura, having no boats their method of taking was to stalce the fish with sticks or catch them in their hands while swimming. Their skulls which are preserved in the museums of the island and of which I took photographs show marked cerebral development, the frontal and parietal bones being well developed and the facial angle good. In the early days of the conquest, before rapine and murder had done their vile work, the Canarios are spoken of as being musical and fond of dancing and singing. Though so strong physically, the Canarios were nevertheless a very gentle race, they rarely made war on one another, and when the Europeans left into their lands they did not kill them, but sent them to their sheep in the mountains. So tame were the birds in this happy land that when the Spaniards first landed they came and fed out of their hands. Yet still an animal degraded a man, the butcher was a recognized criminal and an outcast, and level apart, he and his family being supported by the state. No woman was allowed to approach the shambles, and in such horror was killing held by these gentle people that no man could be enrolled until he had publicly declared that he had not been guilty of killing any animal, not even a goat.

Their standard of morality was high; they were monogamists, and adultery was punished by imprisonment and death; robbery was almost unknown among them, and drunkenness not yet invented. The Canarios were bound by law to treat women with the greatest respect, and a man was obliged to make way for every woman he met, willing to bear her burdens, and deferentially to escort her home when she wish it. If a Canarios was convicted for any great deed the people were assembled on the occasion, and among the questions asked to which a negative answer must be given before the patent of nobility was granted, was: "Has he ever been disrespectful to women?" The women are not celebrated as having been beautiful, but they were almost as agile and strong as the men. Even in war the women and children were protected, and pillage was forbidden.

ABOUT AXES.

The Processes by Which an Axe is Evolved from an Iron Bar.

The first step in the operation of making an axe is the formation of the axe head without the blade. The glowing flat iron bars are withdrawn from the furnace and are taken to a powerful and somewhat complicated machine, which performs upon them four distinct operations—shaping the metal to form the upper and lower part of the axe, then the eye, and finally finishing the piece over so that the whole can be welded together. A workman stands by guiding the partially-fashioned pieces, one after another, with a pair of tongs and hammering the lower edges together. Next the iron is put in a powerful pneumatic furnace and heated to a white heat. Taken out, it goes under a 45 hammer and is welded together in a second. This done, one blow from the "drop," and the blade of the axe is completely and firmly welded on. When the axe leaves the drop, there is some superfluous metal still adhering to the edges and forming what is technically known as a "fin." To get rid of this fin the axe is again heated in a furnace, and then taken in hand by a swayer, who trims the ends and edges. The operator has a glass in front of him to protect his eyes from the sparks which fly off as the hot metal is pressed against the rapidly revolving saw. The iron part of the axe is now complete.

The steel for the blade, after being heated, is cut by machinery and shaped with a die. It is then ready for welding. A groove is cut in the edge of the iron, the steel for the blade inserted, and the whole firmly welded by machine hammers. Next comes the operation of tempering. The steel portion of the axe is heated by being inserted in pots of molten lead, the blade only being immersed. It is then sharpened by dipping in water, and goes to the hands of the inspector. An axe is subject to rigid tests before it is pronounced perfect. The steel must be of the required temper, the weight of all axes of the same sizes must be uniform, all must be ground alike, and be various other exact conditions an established standard. The inspector who tests the quality of the blade does so by hammering the blade and striking the edge to ascertain whether it be too brittle or soft. An axe that breaks during the process is thrown out to be made over.

Before the material of an axe is in the proper shape, it has been handled five times including the temperings and welds, and the axe, when completed, has passed through the hands of about forty workmen, each of whom has done something toward perfecting it. After passing inspection, the axes go to the grinding department, and from that to the polishers, who finish them upon emery wheels.—Manufacturer and Builder.

The Latest Walk.

Sparks: What a queer walk Goslin has!

Blowhumper: Yes, that's the latest—just come over. Mr. Kedy's limp.—Smith, Gray & Co.'s Monthly.

DINAH MULOCK CRAIK.

The Romance of the Life of the Author of "John Halifax."

I was walking along Regent street this morning when there was pointed out to me a young woman. There was nothing about her manner, dress or appearance to attract man's attention, and yet her life holds one of the prettiest little stories on record.

Many years ago three were united in marriage a far-famed nobleman and the man she loved. The man was a cripple, but the couple lived an idyllic life not far from London town. One day the literary woman heard, quite incidentally, that a baby had been found on a stoop at the cross roads, that it had been taken to the town hall, and that all the gossip about were going to look at it because it was such a sweet little child. So, following the example of her neighbors, she went too. Looking up into the stern, sympathetic face of the famed authoress the little baby smiled and put out its tiny hands. The woman could not resist this, so she determined to take the child for her very own. Quickly it was wrapped up and then it became her baby. Decided to it she was yet determined, as it grew older it should never have its heart hurt by being told the story of its birth and adoption. So, as soon as the little girl was able to understand it, it was lovingly whispered to her that she had been found on the large stone which stood in the center of the hall and which always was decorated with flowers, and that God had put her there that her mother might find her. As soon as she grew old enough, it became her daily duty to cut the flowers and arrange them to make beautiful this great rock that had been flung up from the cross roads and brought there. To her it represented the place where the angels had rolled away the stone that they had her down. Curiously enough, this child became very proud of the way in which she had reached the door mother, who cared for her so lovingly and as tenderly as if she was of her own flesh and blood. Her birthday was the day on which she was found, and when she tenth one came around, and a child's party was given her, she was heard asking one little girl, "How old are you?" The other one answered, "I was turn nine years ago." "O!" answered the baby "you were born like other children, but I am better than that; I was found, just where God had placed me." The childish pride was so amusing as it was pathetic. The years have gone by, the eyes of the good mother are closed forever to the sights of the world, but the child she cared for lives in the great town of London, and remembers. The child was the young woman I saw on Regent street this morning. The nobleman she was Dinah Mulock Craik, author of "John Halifax Gentleman."—London Letter.

THE COFFEE DRUNKARD.

Once Under the Influence of the Berry Relieve it Almost Impossible.

In the course of his studies Dr. Mendel found very few instances in which the confirmed coffee drunkard was ever cured, says the London Standard. The symptoms continually grow worse, and are only to be relieved by large quantities of the beverage the abuse of which has caused them. In this way the victims go from bad to worse, for, though well aware of the mischief being wrought, they suffer so severely that they are afraid to abandon the habit least death should end the agony they experience.

After beginning with the agreeable infusion of the roasted berries they are driven, in their search for something more powerful, to swallow the thirux, which, though it operates for a time in the direction desired, soon loses its efficacy and has to be swallowed in greater and greater quantities, the evil influence of the coffee being, of course, heightened by the alcohol used to extract its essential ingredients. When brandy is taken, only temporary relief follows, though not infrequently inoxication produced by the latter is eagerly welcomed in order to deaden the anguish caused by the inadequate indulgence in the forgiver.

The last stage of this peculiar disease shows itself in the sallow face and chilly hands and feet of the victims, coupled with an expression of dread and agony while a sensation over the countenance—a form of contractile, attended by hysteria, only to be temporarily relieved by repeated application to the coffee-pot or to a strong stimulant. Nothing can be more distressing in spirits of wine. Meantime the diseased state of the body is demonstrated by the acute inflammation, which is apt to supervene at any moment. A bruise, a cut, a prick or a sting, which in a healthy person would be scarcely noticed, is the starting point for inflammation of an erysipelatous character, so that it seldom happens that the coffee inebriate is long-lived.

Coffee-drunkards are more common among people of a nervous temperament than in the ranks of the stolid, phlegmatic folks, not easily moved by any stimulus or else, like many Germans, prefer eating to drinking.

Life Made Comfortable.

Boreen—Still living in Jersey, sh?

Hostler—Yes, I have no thought of coming back to the city.

Boreen—But it must be very inconvenient, forty miles to train and fifteen by boat every day, and you've got to catch both right on the minute.

Hostler—That's what I like about it. You see when people buttonhole me and got to talking all I have to do is to pull out my watch, mutter something about train time and I get away without giving offence. See?

Boreen—Ha, ha! That's good. That reminds me of a little thing Sapheed was telling just—

Hostler—By the way, it's train time now. Ta-ta.—New York Weekly.

Injured Mendacity.

There was a large bottle of scalding water over a fire in the yard and several black imps playing near it. Suddenly a shrill voice was heard from inside the shanty.

"You, Snagger Washington, keep away from that air boiler. D'reckly you'a gettin' yer upset de kettle and scald yerself to det an' w'en you is you'll be de fust one to say—'I wasn't the mammy.'"—Topsy Sifflings.

GORDON & & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only,	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wing rakes. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD PARSONS HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY
and
FARMING LANDS
For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

A WORD ABOUT THE STAFF OF LIFE.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S heavy forests are going and gone; large fields of wheat and other grains are springing forth in their place. So we do not have to go to other countries to supply us with bread for our families and food for our cattle. Charlevoix Roller Mills are located here, and are making as good flour as is made in the world. Farmers, bring in your wheat for exchange. Samples of the bread making qualities of our flour can be seen at the mill daily. We do not give premiums to parties coming 30 or 40 miles, but serve all alike, quality of wheat considered by standard test. Tom Duke cannot be beat; White Rose is the staff of life, supplied with an expression of dread and agony while a sensation over the countenance—a form of contractile, attended by hysteria, only to be temporarily relieved by repeated application to the coffee-pot or to a strong stimulant. Nothing can be more distressing in spirits of wine. Meantime the diseased state of the body is demonstrated by the acute inflammation, which is apt to supervene at any moment. A bruise, a cut, a prick or a sting, which in a healthy person would be scarcely noticed, is the starting point for inflammation of an erysipelatous character, so that it seldom happens that the coffee inebriate is long-lived.

Coffee-drunkards are more common among people of a nervous temperament than in the ranks of the stolid, phlegmatic folks, not easily moved by any stimulus or else, like many Germans, prefer eating to drinking.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,
Saw and Planing Mill,
Dealers in
HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.
Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,
J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for, Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block. Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.
Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.
THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering,
THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.
They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.
Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.
Fox & Miller.

Mrs. H. A. Carr,
Fashionable Milliner.
HOLIDAY STREET, CHARLEVOIX.
NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.
and all the latest novelties in Millinery. Also a new line of Corsets including the
MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST
Noiseless of pinch or rip
Holiday Trade
now opened
will look out for anything nice.
MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?
He is Late for School.
The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will now know enough to get up.
He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-active cases for $5.00. Just receiving an enlarged new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.
C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW
FALL & WINTER
SAMPLES
Have just arrived, and they are immense
DETROIT.
The Favorite is the
Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.
From Harbor Springs and Petoskey
Grand Rapids
Lv. Harbor Springs 7.00 a. m. 11.35 a. m. and 5.00 p. m.
Lv. Petoskey 7.30 a. m. 12.05 p. m. and 5.30 p. m.
Arr. Grand Rapids 5.50 a. m. 10.40 p. m. 5.00 p. m. and 10.40 p. m.
Lv. Grand Rapids 7.00 a. m. 12.00 p. m. 5.30 p. m. and 11.00 p. m.
Arr. Petoskey 4.40 a. m. 9.15 p. m. 3.45 p. m. and 9.15 p. m.
Arr. Harbor Springs 5.00 a. m. 9.45 p. m. 4.00 p. m. and 9.45 p. m.
Parlor cars on all trains from Grand Rapids to Harbor Springs.
Close connection at Detroit with trains for all points east.
GEO. DONTON, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

CHICAGO
VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE
Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points west and southwest.
Trains leave as follows:
Leave Traverse City, 7.50 a. m. 12.05 p. m. 10.40 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 10.05 a. m. 4.30 p. m. 10.40 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 10.05 a. m. 12.05 p. m. 11.00 p. m.
Arr. Chicago, 7.30 p. m. 7.30 a. m. 6.30 a. m.
Sleeping cars, chair cars and parlor cars.
Pullman sleeping cars Traverse City to Chicago.
1.15 p. m. the Wagner parlor car to Chicago.
*7.15 p. m. the Wagner sleeping car to Chicago.
Trains leave Chicago at 9.00 a. m. 1.45 p. m. and 10.00 p. m. and arrive at Grand Rapids 4.40 p. m. 10.45 p. m. and 6.45 a. m. and at Traverse City 10.10 p. m. and 12.50 p. m.
*Daily. All others except Sundays.
Close connections are made in Union Depots at Grand Rapids and Chicago with all lines for points beyond.
E. C. LEE, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Grand Rapids.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.
We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc. in Charlevoix.
We sell special attention to our IMPORTED VERY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.
B. J. Gellick & Co.

Rifenburg Milling Co., Charlevoix.

Farming Lands
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
C. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.
These lands are thickened with beech and maple and will be sold at reasonable prices and on long time.
By Water and Rail
And are in a state unequalled for health, well water and easy conditions to the great fruit raising section of Michigan.
The great Manistee railroad runs through these lands through the center of the given. The part of Michigan to which these lands are situated is
Not a Wilderness by any Means.
It contains a population of 200,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.
Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.
Send for Pamphlet or Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich
TITLE PERFECT.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS
I call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
I also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
—proprietor of—
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN
Good Teams at Reasonable Rates.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. C. W. CROUTER,
Dental Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS, 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 5 p. m.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
BUSINESS CARDS.
ATTORNEYS.
EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.
JOHN W. MAYNE, Attorney at law, Charlevoix, Mich.
M. A. NETTLETON Agent and Attorney, Office in Charlevoix Group. Time examined, loans negotiated. Farms and village property for sale and lease in town. Charlevoix, Mich.
H. K. SANK, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.
SOCIETIES.
I. O. O. F.—Tom Hoyo No. 197, meets Saturday evenings. Visiting brothers welcome. Geo. Gaskill, Secy.
G. A. R.—Stephen Pond Post, 149, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.
EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 72, of F. & A. M. meets on the first Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Charlotte Hills, W. M.
FOREST CHAPTER, No. 103, R. A. M. meets on Friday on the Monday of each month.
I. O. O. F.—Hospital Lodge No. 309, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.
MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 103, F. & A. M. Meetings are on before full moon. Hall over Sentinel office.
KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 69, K. of P. meets every Monday evening at 7:30 in Odd Fellows' Hall.
EASTERN BELIEF CORPS, No. 173, meets at Odd Fellows' hall on the second Saturday of each month.
PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.
L. L. GEYER, M. D. Physician and Surgeon. Office, Large Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.
SURVEYORS.
J. R. and J. S. DEAN, Surveyors and Engineers, Petoskey, Mich. Surveys county, village and lands.

The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. GAUSON, Prop.
Newly refitted and refurnished.
Beautifully located on the north lake front, overlooking the lake and Lake Michigan.
Large Sample Rooms and Rooms Convenient.
Very reasonable rates and thoroughly conducted in all its appointments.

Grand Palace Hotel.
81 to 105 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.
Only four minutes from the Court House. Cable Cars pass the door.
Rates $1.00 per day and a half thereafter.
Large rooms, well furnished, with Turkish Bath for individual use, free.
Restaurant in connection, under chief charge and Union Leagues Chicago. Table d'Hote Dinner, 60c. Table d'Hote Breakfast, 50c.
Special rates to Commercial Men.
CHAS. SEVERANCE, Proprietor.

LISTER,
...ICHIGAN.

Buckton's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt-rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

Schneermann & Guidebeck,
The Opera House Block Dry Goods Store.
We call your attention to a few of OUR PRICES, and everything is equally as cheap:
A fancy silk-lettered Handkerchief, on fine linen, at 5 cents.
Children's Bordered Handkerchiefs from 3 cents upward.
Ladies' heavy Rubber Waste, regular price, go cents, our price, 33 cts.
We carry a genuine camel's hair Underwear, in ladies, all sizes, and none better, at $1.00.
A good line of Gents' Underwear at prices that cannot be beat.
Gents' soft felt Mittens at 25 cents.
Boys Mittens from 10 cents upwards.
Special bargains in Shawls; great attractions in Cloaks, Newmarkets and lap seam Coats. You can buy a garment of us at less than wholesale price. Come in and see us.
We are Leaders of Low Prices.
Schneermann & Guidebeck.
LEWIS BLOCK. Charlevoix, Mich.

THE HORRORS OF ST. DOMINGO.
It Was Just a Hundred Years Ago That They Occurred.
An hundred years ago the island of St. Domingo was the fairest and richest of all the West Indian islands, and the Hartford Courant. For fifty years it had been growing in production and wealth more rapidly than any other European colony in America. It was the emporium of the Western world. It fitted the coffers of Europe from the unknown region of the south and well earned its title of "La Reine des Antilles."

The French portion—one third only of the island—was more productive, and the value of its products was estimated at $75,000,000 annually—an increase of $10,000,000 in a quarter of a century—a sum which represented the measure of toil exacted by human slavery. The population of the colony was 520,000. Of this number 30,000 were whites of all classes; 30,000 were mulattoes or free people of colors, 500,000 were negro slaves. Among the whites was a class of vagabonds scattered throughout the colony, a worthless set on which the mulattoes bestowed the epithet of "les petits blancs." The African slave trade was at its height at this period. More than 200 vessels left the coast of Africa laden with their human freight in a cholar, 15,000 annually perished on the passage, 20,000 yearly found their way into the slave courts of Saint Domingo.

The revolution in France created political disturbances and differences among the whites in the colony. The people of color claimed equal rights with the whites; their claims were rejected, their leaders were executed or fled, and put to death. They turned to the negroes for aid. Those had been told witnesses of this war of caste. They were now awakened by a sense of their own condition. They joined with the people of color, and insurrection began on the night of Aug. 21, 1791. Incendiary fires broke out in several plantations in the plains of the south. The negroes, under the lead of some of their number, a fearless giant named Boukman, took possession of the island in force bulletinmentally. By the 29th notice of the insurrection in the great plain were in salvos. In a week the whole plain was swept by fire. The desolation and ruin was almost complete from the sea to the mountains. The soil ran with the blood of the unhappy planters and their families. Thus began that series of events and disasters known in history as the Santo Domingo Benefaction, events and disasters which resulted in the establishment of the free black government of Hayti.

POOR JACK.
The Tossed Dead's Fearful Struggles to Escape Be Will Consumed.
A noted horseman of the West, one familiar with the wild horses of the plains, relates the following incident of which he was a witness and which, he said, made his hair stand on end. Some the backs of the North and South Dakota range spies about ten hundred wild horses in a drove.

I was mounted on my own mustang. He saw them and I had his head high into the air to the same time, feeling the earth with his free foot and snorting expectantly. Every one of those wild horses lifted his head on hearing the neighing of welcome from my steed, and they all stood still.

One magnificent black stallion, which appeared to be the leader of the troop, after looking at me for a moment came toward me with as some geese that strike and took position in front of his followers. He was the finest specimen of horseflesh I ever saw. His tail swept the ground, and his mane hung to his shoulders. His nostrils shone like a looking-glass by the morning sunlight.

My mustang became so excited that I made haste to let him go to a free. Soon after the black stallion gave his head a toss and started on a rapid trot across the prairies, the entire band following him in single file. After going about half a mile the band reversed, the magnificent black still leading. They came within about 100 yards of me, and the leader whinnied as if to call on my horse to join them.

My poor Jack! I pitied him. He seemed to know that he was in a fearfully tough bout, and as the leader whinnied he made the most frantic struggles for freedom. Sweat came from every pore, he wouldn't have been winter if he had done a thirty-mile race.

I was afraid he would break away, so I fired my rifle into the air to frighten the drove, and the leader took the hint and galloped off, followed by the others. Jid Jack calmed down after a while.—Youth's Companion.

THE LEARNED GROCER.
He Says There Is No Such Thing as Dried Currants.
Mother wants a pound of dried currants," said a little boy who came into the learned grocer's store on Eighth avenue, as reported in the N. Y. Sun.

"I hasn't got a dried currant in the store and there didn't ever come into the country," said the grocer.

"Why, mother said I must what you want, and I've got one."

The boy pulled a little piece of a box of the little sticky, sugary dried fruit out of his pocket and the dried currants and used in fruit cakes, plum puddings, mince pies, buns and the like.

"Why, them's 'em" said the little girl.

"Yes, them's 'em," assented the grocer, and if the Grecian maiden who found this particular lot of fruit into the package had used a little water on her foot before she began there would's be no more sand and grit in 'em so there is. She must have been having a rag-fair bonbons on the classic sands before she began to dance on this lot of currants."

"Mother said they ask for them," inquired the consumer.

"They ask for them ever since I have been in the business, and dead the grocery. She would not necessarily be a fool because she asks for them, for being a science. Dried currants is what you should call for when you want this little sugar-coated, gritty fruit, but there is no such thing as dried currants.

"How's that?" the consumer wanted to know.

"Because it was a grape before it dried, and if you call it a grape you can't call it dried grapes, can't you, when they are dried?"

"But you said there were dried currants," replied the grocer. "Dried currants are dried grapes, and grape sugar, because it was grape before it dried, and getting it any nearer the condition of a raisin, is impossible. The little grape grower all over the isles in of the Grecian archipelago, and was first sent from Corinth, and that's what gave it its name. The business don't pay much. Very few people call for dried currants, and they are so full of sugar that water they are stewed and dried in the sun they naturally seem to melt and run together, and it takes a good deal of care and time to separate them and make them look like dried currants. In the time when the Crusaders made gets her wrote in a dream for it is one of her pleasant dreams, jump on a heap of the sticky stuff with her toward sun with as some geese that enough of the little raisins to pile three bushels of them, and in the morning press could do it my better. If it were not for the fact that the Crusaders first brought the stuff simply with the name of raisins which no dried Corinth's are genuine.

"Well, I declare! Guess I'm going to leave and ask for dried currants. Is there any such thing?"

"Yes," said the grocer, "I'm sorry you asked me that. Dried currants! Dried currants, indeed! Dried currants! Dried currants, indeed! Dried currants, indeed! Dried currants, indeed

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
ROLLAND & DOTY, Editors.
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 25, 1891.

Secretary Tracy in his letter inviting report, will recommend that the treaty between Great Britain and the United States whereby the naval force of the United States on the great lakes is restricted to one war ship, be abrogated. There is no immediate danger of war between the two great nations, but in case of a disturbance the United States would be entirely at the mercy of Great Britain who could send ships of war to any lake over and find opposed to her only one ship of an obsolete pattern. Six months notice is required to abrogate the treaty and Secretary Tracy will recommend that proper action be taken at once.

The elections have changed somewhat the aspect of the democratic presidential chess board. They have given a pinion to the greatness of Campbell of Ohio and Pattison of Pennsylvania, and swept them from the board. But they have enriched New York with one more candidate and inaugurated a triangular contest between Cleveland, Hill and Flower. The prestige of success is now with Flower, but Cleveland knows that he is strongly rooted in the hand and heart of the free trade sentiment in this country, and if he succeeds in keeping the main issue led on the people there is nothing more natural than that he should lead the party in '92.

The banks of Detroit have discovered a hole in the law providing for the taxation of mortgages through which they are easily able to crawl. The tax can not prevent the making of any sort of a contract between the parties to a loan. If the borrower is willing to engage to pay the tax on his mortgages and relieve the bank from all liability he may do so. A man who wants badly is willing to do about anything, and as a matter of fact borrowers are now assumed to assume all the burdens imposed by the law. The banks now insert in their real estate mortgages a clause binding the mortgagor to pay the tax on the mortgage contemplated by the new law. And while it is not to be supposed the banks will not exceed the legal rate of interest, they may by combined action, which is already noticeable, charge such fees for examining a mortgage as will make the interest in the aggregate more or less per cent. depending somewhat on the condition of the money market. While the borrower is compelled to pay the taxes on the real estate and mortgage, he is not entitled to secure money at any less figure than under the old law. He will now have to pay a higher rate of interest and increased taxes.

Rev. Dr. Talmage said these things during his talk at the Tabernacle disaster. A faint light on the drunkard's sky had made him think that drinking was causing Dr. Keeley. It was said had compounded a medicine that would cure alcoholism; over 600 inebriates have been saved, and less than 1 per cent of those who had graduated from his treatment had fallen. If an antidote to this poison of body, mind and soul has really been made, it is more important than Pasteur's cure of hydrophobia, than Koch's cure of consumption. At the time when the world had begun to shout that at last the fiery fluid for strong drink might be extirpated by medical prescription, one of the chief advocates of the new mode of disease, inoculation, dies of alcoholism on Blackwell's Island. As a result multitudes are crying, "Humbug, nothing on all the shelves of pharmacy will can conquer this appetite." Now, I am not in sympathy with this outcry. I am a Keeley man myself, take not one drink in hand and lose few of them, the remaining 200 saved are a victory gained, enough to fill earth and heaven with celebration. Humble have died of small pox after vaccination, but that is nothing against vaccination. People have died of sin after joining the church, but that is nothing against religion. Give the discovery a chance. He proposes nothing but good, and let him go ahead with his work. Of this one thing I am certain. If Dr. Keeley's bi-chloride of gold does not achieve the thing proposed, some other medicine will. It is high time that the whole medical profession of Christendom rose upon their might and put down this appetite which has taken so large a part of the human race by the throat. It is a disgrace to men of genius in this latter part of the nineteenth century that so little has been accomplished for the crippling of this monster of alcoholism, to say nothing of its extirpation. Medical science ought to provide something else besides three men holding down a patient in paroxysms of delirium tremens. For the sake of agonized humanity cheer on the doctors rather than fill the air with shouts of "humbug," because now and then may be a noisy ignorant fellow. The doctor who shall demonstrate that this plague of diseased thirst can be slain, ought to have a monument as high as Bunkhill's statue of liberty in New York harbor. And this doctor will yet be seen; perhaps he is already born; perhaps he hears or reads this lecture.

THE GIANTS OF CANARIES.

A Race of Men Who Were Physically and Morally the Superiors.

The Guanches, the inhabitants of the Canary islands, are said to be the monarchs of the ancient isles, says the Cornhill Magazine, who thirty years ago, peopled the frowned ramparts of Atlantis. They are reported to have been strong and handsome, and of extraordinary agility of movement, of remarkable courage and of loyal disposition; but they showed the credulity of children and the simple directness of shepherds. So tall were they that the Spaniards speak of them as giants, and their strength and endurance were so great that they were compared by stranger, but not friends, to those of fiend as horses, and could leap over a pole held between two men five or six feet high; they could climb the highest mountains and jump the deepest ravines.

Their endurance as swimmers was so great that they were accustomed to swim across the nine mile strait between the Lancerote and Gracioso, having no boats, their method of fishing was to strike the fish with sticks or catch them in their hands while swimming. Their skulls which are preserved in the museums of the island and of which I note photographic shots marked cerebral development, the frontal and parietal bones being well developed and the facial angle good. In the early days of the conquest, before rapine and murder had done their vile work, the Guanches are spoken of as being amiable and fond of dancing and singing.

Though so strong physically, the Guanches were nevertheless a very gentle race; they rarely made war on one another, and when the Europeans fell into their hands they did not kill them, but sent them to feed sheep in the mountains. So tame were the birds in this happy land that when the Spaniards first landed they came and fed out of their hands. To kill a animal degraded a man; the butcher was a despised character and an outcast, and lived apart, he and his assistants being surrounded by the stone. No woman was allowed to approach the slaughter, and in each house was killing held by these gentle giants that no man should be enrobed until he had publicly declared that he had not been guilty of killing any animal, nor ever a goat.

Their standard of morality was high; they were monogamists, and adultery was punished by imprisonment and death; robbery was almost unknown among them and drunkenness not yet invented. The Guanches were bound by law to treat women with the greatest respect, and a man was obliged to make way for every woman he met walking, to bear her burdens, and deferentially to escort her home should she wish it. If a Guanche was enrobed for any great deed the people were assembled on the occasion, and among the questions asked, to which a negative answer must be given before the parent of infancy was granted, was: "Has he ever been disrespectful to women?" The women are not celebrated as having been beautiful, but they were almost as agile and strong as the men. Even in the women and children were protected, and pillage was forbidden.

ABOUT AXES.

The Processes by Which an Axe is Hammered Down to Iron Bar.

The first step in the operation of making an axe is the formation of the axe head without the blade. The glowing flat iron bars are withdrawn from the furnace and are taken to a powerful and somewhat complicated machine, which performs upon them four distinct operations—shaping the metal to form the upper and lower part of the axe, then the eye, and finally denting the piece over so that the whole can be welded together. A boy operator stands by seizing the partially-fashioned pieces, one after another, with a pair of tongs, and hammering the lower edges together. Next the iron is put in a powerful mangle-gas furnace and heated to a white heat. Taken out, it goes under a 10 hammer and is welded together in a seamless mass. This done, one blow from the "drop," and the pole of the axe is completely and firmly welded. When the axe leaves the drop there is a clean, spotless metal still white-hot, up to the edges and forging what is technically known as a "dia." To get rid of this the axe is again heated in a furnace and then taken in hand by a swager, who trims the ends and edges. The swager has a glass in front of him to protect his eyes from the sparks which fly off as the hot metal is pressed against the rapidly revolving saw. The iron part of the axe is now complete.

The axe for the blade, after being heated, is cut by machinery and shaped with a die. It is then ready for welding. A groove is cut in the edge of the iron, the steel for the blade inserted, and the whole firmly welded by machine hammers. Next comes the operation of tempering. The steel portion of the axe is heated by being inserted in pots of molten lead, the blade only being immersed. It is then grilled by dipping in water and again in the hands of the inspector. An axe is subject to eight tests before it is pronounced perfect. The steel must be of the required temper, the weight of all axes of the same size must be uniform, all must be ground alike, and in various sizes axes conform to an established standard. The inspector who tests the quality of the steel does so by hammering the blade and striking the edge to ascertain whether it is too brittle or not. An axe that breaks during the process is thrown aside to be made over.

Before the material of an axe is in the proper shape, it has been heated five times, including the tempering process, and the axe, when completed, has passed through the hands of about forty workmen, each of whom has done something toward perfecting it. After passing inspection, the axes go to the grinding department, and from that to the polishers, who finish them upon emery wheels.—Manufacturer and Builder.

DINAH MULOCK CRAIK.

The Romance of the Life of the Author of "John Halifax."

I was walking along Regent street this morning when there was pointed out to me a young woman. There was nothing about her manner, dress or appearance to attract one's attention, and yet her life holds one of the prettiest little stories on record.

Many years ago there were united in marriage a barbarous authoress and the man she loved. The man was a cripple, but the couple lived an idyllic life on far from London town. One day the literary woman found, quite incidentally, that a baby had been found on a stone at the cross roads; that it had been taken to the town hall, and that all the gentry about were going to look at it because it was such a sweet little child. So, following the example of her neighbors, she went too. Looking up into the sweet, sympathetic face of the female authoress the little lady smiled, and put out its two hands. The woman could not resist this, so she determined to take the child for her very own. Quickly it was wrapped up and then it became her baby. Devoted to it, she was yet determined, as it grew older it should never have its heart hurt by being told the story of its birth and adoption. So, as soon as the little girl was able to understand it, it was lovingly whispered to her that she had been found on the large stone which stood in the center of the hill and which always was decorated with flowers, and that God had put her there that her mother might find her. As soon as she grew old enough, it became her daily duty to cut the flowers and arrange them to make beautiful this great rock that had been dug up from the cross roads and brought there. To her it represented the place where the hands of the angels had rested when they had her done. Curiously enough, this child became very proud of the way in which she had reached the dear mother, who cared for her so lovingly and so tenderly as if she was of her own flesh and blood. Her birthday was the day on which she was found, and when the birth one came around, and a child's party was given her she was heard asking one little girl, "How old are you?" The other one answered, "I was born nine years ago." "Oh!" answered the baby, "you were born like other children, but I am better than that; I was found just where God had placed me." The childish pride was as amusing as it was pathetic. The years have gone by, the eyes of the good mother are closed forever to the sights of the world, but the child she cared for lives in the great town of London, and remembers. The child was the young woman I saw on Regent street this morning. The authoress was Dinah Mulock Craik, author of "John Halifax Gentleman."—London Letter.

THE COFFEE DRUNKARD.

Once Under the Influence of the Berry Reform is Almost Impossible.

In the course of his studies Dr. Mendel found very few instances in which the confirmed coffee drunkard was ever cured, says the London Standard. The symptoms constantly grow worse, and are only to be relieved by large quantities of the beverage the absence of which has caused them. In this way the victims go from bad to worse, for, though well aware of the mischief being wrought, they suffer so severely that they are afraid to abandon the habit least death should and the agony they experience.

After beginning with the agreeable infusion of the roasted berries they are driven, in their search for something more powerful, to swallow the tincture, which, though it operates for a time in the direction desired, soon loses its efficacy and has to be swallowed in greater and greater quantities, the evil influence of the coffee being of course heightened by the alcohol used to extract its essential ingredients. When treacly is taken, only temporary relief follows, though not infrequently inoxication produced by the latter is eagerly welcomed in order to deaden the anguish caused by the inopitious indulgence in the former.

The last stage of this peculiar disease shows itself in the sallow face and chilly hands and feet of the victim, coupled with an exposition of dread and agony while settles over the countenance—a form of melancholia, accompanied by hysteria, only to be temporarily relieved by repeated application to the coffee-pot or to a strong tincture formed by steeping the crushed berries in spirits of wine. Moulthus the diseased state of the body is demonstrated by the acute inflammation, which is apt to supervene at any moment. A bruise, a cut, a prick or a sting, which in a healthy person would be scarcely noticed, is the starting point for inflammation of an erysipelatous character, so that it seldom happens that the coffee inebriate is long-lived.

Coffee-drunkards are more common among people of a nervous temperament than in the ranks of the stolid, phlegmatic folks, not easily moved by any stimulus or who, like many Germans, prefer eating to drinking.

Life Made Comfortable.

Horem—Still living in Jersey, eh? Hostler—Yes. I have no thought of coming back to the city.

Horem—But it must be very inconvenient, forty minutes by train and fifteen by bus every day, and you've got to catch both right on the minute.

Hostler—That's what I like about it. You see when people hustlebile me and get to talking, all I have to do is to pick out my watch, mutter something about train time and I get away without giving offence. See?

Horem—Ha, ha! That's good. That reminds me of a little thing Sapbead was telling just—Hostler—By the way, it's train time now. Tuck.—New York Weekly.

Deserved Rendezvous.

There was a large bottle of sealing wax over a fire in the yard and several black imps playing near it. Suddenly a spirit voice was heard from inside the shanty.

"You, George Washington, keep away from that air bottle. D'reckly you is gittin' ready for upset de bilier and scald yerself to def, an' when you is, you'll be de fust one to say, "O Teach'n Ma Mammy!"—Texas Siftings.

The Latest Walk.

Sparks—What a queer walk Goslin has!

Doolittle—Yes, that's the latest—fast come over. Ex. Kodk's Imp.—Adams, Gray & Co's Monthly.

GORDON & PAUL
ARE AT THE FRONT,
And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only,	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The Bikes for the Money only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison Wire Fence. Satisfaction guaranteed, at
GORDON & PAUL.
OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.
Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.
Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.
MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

A WORD ABOUT THE STAFF OF LIFE.
NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S heavy forests are going and gone, large fields of wheat and other grains are springing forth in their place. So we do not have to go to other countries to supply us with bread for our families and food for our cattle. Charlevoix Roller Mills are located here, and are making as good flour as is made in the world. Farmers, bring in the wheat for exchange. Samples of the bread-making qualities of our flour can be seen at the mill daily. We do not give premiums to parties coming 30 or 40 miles, but sell all alike, quality of wheat considered by honest weight. Iron Duke cannot be beat; White Rose very close; Silver Spray, a good cheap family flour. Ask your grocer for them and take no other.
Rifenburg Milling Co., Charlevoix

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,
Saw and Planing Mill,
Dealers in
HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.
Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,
J. H. MULLIN, Prop.
Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.
We are here, and doing business. Business we came for. Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block. Charlevoix, Mich.
J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.
Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.
THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering.
THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.
They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.
Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.
Fox & Miller.

Mrs. H. A. Carr,
Fashionable Millinery,
BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX.
NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.
Also a new line of Crowns including the
MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST
Sole agent for the Holliday Trade now on hand.
Mrs. H. A. Carr.
WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?
He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $6.00.
He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time keeper, in nickle silver cases for $5.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.
C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW FALL & WINTER SAMPLES
Have just arrived, and they are GORGEOUS
The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.
Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.
Don't fail to call and see them.
JOHN ZWECKL, Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE, GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.,
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
—proprietor of—
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN
Good Turnouts at Reasonable Rates.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. C. W. CROUTER, Dental Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS, 9 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Farming Lands
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.
These lands are thickened with beech and maple and offer a rare chance for the good farmer and stockgrower in Michigan.
The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad crosses through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is
Not a Wilderness by any Means.
It contains a population of 70,000 souls and is supplied with all settlers from almost every state in the Union.
Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.
Send for Pamphlet or Address
W. C. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
TITLE PERFECT.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD H. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law. Charlevoix, Mich.

MILTON A. NETTLETON have hall abstracts for Charlevoix County. Office assistant, Isaac Bennett. Focus will within dispatch for sale, and money to loan. Charlevoix, Mich.

H. W. KANE, Attorney at Law. Loans, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

I. O. O. F.—Tuse Rives No. 137, meet Saturday evenings in Masonic hall. Visiting brothers cordially invited.

G. A. R.—Slocum Post No. 114, meets second Monday each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 76, O. E. S., meets at the first Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Jennie Hilton, W. M. Olive Nelson, Secretary.

ORMAT CHAPTER, No. 108 R. A. M., meets on Friday evening of full moon of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Hurst Lake Lodge No. 239, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 342, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hall over Stevens' office.

PYTHIAN CASTLES, No 213, K. of P., meets every Monday evening at 7:30, at Lewis' Hall.

BAXTER RELIEF CORPS, No. 175, meets at G. A. R. hall the second Saturday in each month. Lucy Wilson.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. E. WILKS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office Lewis block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. R. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers. Charlevoix, Mich. Property lines carefully ascertained.

The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. GAUNON, Prop.
(Late of the Central House, Detroit.)
Beautifully located on the South Side, near the Lake and Opposite the Public Park.
LARGE ROOMS AND CHOICE TABLE BOARD.
Newly Furnished and Thoroughly Renovated.
$1 PER DAY.

Grand Palace Hotel.
81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.
Only line running from the Central Depot. Cable Cars pass the door.
New throughout. Modern improvements, newly furnished, the Americans will find European rates. Rooms 50 cts. and $1 per day, meals 25 cents and upwards. Turkish Bath for Invalids and gentlemen. Reduced rates to Ministers, Students, Teachers and Young Ladies. Take Clark street cars from depot.
E. P. CHASE, Prop.

CHICAGO VIA THE Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE
Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points west and southwest.
Train leaves as follows:
Leave Traverse City, 7:05 a.m. 12:30 p.m. 4:15 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 12:15 p.m. 4:00 p.m. 10:40 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 10:00 a.m. 1:05 p.m. 11:40 p.m.
Leave Muskegon, 12:00 m. 5:00 p.m. 1:00 a.m.
Leave Ludington, 2:00 p.m. 7:00 p.m. 3:00 a.m.
Leave Manistee, 3:00 p.m. 8:00 p.m. 4:00 a.m.
Leave Traverse City, 7:05 a.m. 12:30 p.m. 4:15 p.m.
Leave Kalkaska, 8:45 a.m. 2:15 p.m. 5:55 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids, 12:15 p.m. 4:00 p.m. 10

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor
CHARLEVOIX, NOV 25, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

Capt. Duncan Buchanan is back in the schooner Seaman.

The schooner Franz Sigel did not go ashore at Manistee, as reported.

The schooner J. B. Newland lost her jib-boom and all her canvas in the late big gale.

The schooner Peoria left here Sunday noon with wood and bark, and arrived in Milwaukee before dark Monday evening.

The ever reliable steamer Friant still continues to bring big loads of freight, and will keep on running as long as the lake is open.

The schooner Helen Stephenson, well known here, is ashore and dismasted at Grand Haven. Her crew was taken off by the life-saving crew, after a terrible struggle for their lives.

The schooner Ida arrived here Saturday with a full load of hay and feed for the Pine Lake Iron Co., and will take a cargo of wood to Kenosha. This is the last vessel expected this fall. She came from Kenosha in twenty-seven hours.

The steamer Petoskey was in Chicago Monday, and was expecting to leave for the north as soon as the weather was favorable. The Charlevoix was at Milwaukee yesterday, bound north. She will take a full load of hoops at South Arm. The Lawrence arrived at noon today with a full load of freight.

The schooner John Mee dragged ashore last week Monday near the Elk Rapids dock, and lies broadside on the rocks. Her captain telegraphed Thursday for the tug Martin. Capt. Smith worked on her all day Friday, but could not move her. She is in a bad place, and if not released will go to pieces in the first northerly blow.

A boat in marine law comes about as near being a human being as can be reached. She has a husband, and is a distinct personage. The curious part of it is that the boat's husband, while he manages her, is not responsible for her debts. If law gets badly twisted up on land to the people who know nothing of it on water it is a veritable Chinese puzzle.

The new Canadian cruiser Constance is 125 feet long, 19 feet 8 inches beam, 11 feet 8 inches deep, and will draw 9½ feet of water. She carries two masts, with schooner rig, and will mount three guns. In many of her lines she resembles the typical British man-of-war. The saloon and officers' quarters are between decks aft and the crew's quarters are between decks forward. The new boat is expected to be a speedy craft, and will be used for the protection of the fisheries in Georgian Bay and Lake Huron.

One of the peculiar things in admiralty is that a boat can do no more damage than she is herself worth. This is called the limitation of liability. If tomorrow a little schooner worth $500 sinks a big steel steamer off Chicago the owners of the steamer could only recover the $500, although the loss might be a half million. In other the law allows the owner to say: "Take my boat; that is all you will get." This principle turns up at almost every corner in marine law. You will come upon it when you least expect to see it, and many a good attorney, well versed in law, has found himself out in the cold when he has tried a case in admiralty.

A kink in marine law is the fact that the bills that are made for a boat's repair and for the supplies which go to feed the crew are not against the owner, but against the boat. If a tug tows a boat up the Chicago river and the boat goes away without paying and is lost before she returns, that towing bill is at once robbed off the books, although the owner of the lost boat may be worth a million. So also are the bills for repairs and provisions. On the other hand, changes of ownership do not rub out the bills against the boat. The workman who does a day's work on a vessel today and is not paid for it, can collect ten years from now if the boat be still in existence, although she may have had a dozen owners in the meantime.

The schooner Hattie A. Estelle, which was wrecked at the piers off Manistee last Wednesday night, left Chicago Sunday with 20,000 bushels of wheat for Buffalo. The crew consisted of Capt. Estelle free seaman and a woman cook. Tuesday the weather became so severe it was determined to head for any port as the vessel could not withstand the storm many hours. The crew was unable to work owing to the severe cold and seas washing over the vessel continuously. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the woman went into the cabin and that was the last seen of her until her corpse was picked up two miles south of the piers. When the vessel struck, Seaman James Stone climbed into the fore rigging and by a tremendous jump gained the ice covered pier. Ropes were shot to the men in the forward rigging and Christian Wye, T. Severson and James Miller were safely landed. A member of the life saving crew boarded the vessel to reach the captain aft but found the vessel broken amidships and had to return. Lines were shot to the captain, but he was unable to catch them. He could be heard calling to the men on the beach, but the noise of wind and wave made his words inaudible, although but a hundred feet away. Late at night he slid from the rigging and a moment later was washed away. His body was found a mile south of the piers. Albert Davis was the name of the seaman drowned. The next morning nothing but a few timbers remained of the wreck. The vessel was owned by the captain's wife, who keeps a tea store in Chicago. The vessel was very rotten. The Estelle was formerly the Mary L. Higgie. She had had a remarkable record. The vessel was built in 1873 by Captain J. L. Higgie, of the Vessel Owners' Towing Company, who gave her the name of Mary L. Higgie, after his little daughter. Shortly after she was in commission she took a load of deals from Green Bay to England, returning with a cargo of coal to Quebec. After discharging her cargo, she left Quebec for Cape Town, Africa, with a load of deals. Leaving there she went to Natal during the African war, and brought back to Cape Town a boat load of prisoners. She then went back to Natal and brought a cargo of wool to Quebec. Her next trip was to Toulon, France, and Cadiz, Spain. At the latter port she took on a cargo of salt and brought it to Chicago, which was sold for $4.50 a ton. Captain Hatch, now master of the McDougall whaleback boat, which is making a cruise in the Pacific Ocean, commanded her, and he never had an accident of any kind. Captain Higgie sold her to the ill-fated Captain Estelle three years ago for $5,000, the captain renaming her after his wife, Hattie Estelle. For so small a craft she has gone through in her time successfully hundreds of ports. Capt. Estelle is a brother of Wm. Ferguson, of this place.

Splendid new cider, made from sweet apples, at O. W. Smith's.

A few very fine California Orange Quinces at O. W. Smith's.

Northern Michigan News.

The Mancelona Herald tells a yarn about a barber named Dodge killing a buck weighing 183 pounds, with double "b" shot the other day.

William Cushman of Petoskey fell into an open sewer and broke his leg. He sued for $5,000 and the jury awarded him $200.

The Tustenaw Republican has been moved from Leelanau county to Traverse City, and the name will be changed, we understand, to The Peoples' Advocate.

C. H. White, who is representing Shaw & Sons, the laundry firm, purchased last week from Senator Palmer 40,000 acres of hemlock lands, located in Cheboygan and Kalkaska counties. Terms private.

The statement that Charlevoix has the largest number of telephones per capita is disputed by Three Rivers, which claims that distinction with an instrument for every forty-six persons.

Hard cider and Indiana, when combined in proportion of a few drinks to one Indian, are producing the phenomenon known as "tanglefoot" nowadays in northern Michigan.—Kalamazoo Telegraph. Hard cider give a Northern Michigan Indian "tanglefoot!" Oh, no! Hard cider wouldn't even make him smile.

A new lumber town is being established at Lake Ann, near the headwaters of the Platte river and 40 miles from Traverse City. A company of Ohio men is putting in a large plant for the manufacture of hoops, heading, staves and lumber, and expect to use not less than ten million feet of logs annually, and employ from seventy-five to one hundred hands permanently. Several small mills have also sprung up into existence and other enterprises will follow.

Boyne Citizen: Work is progressing finely on Fred Smith's boat at Advance. He has the hull completed and is ready to begin laying deck as soon as the storm is over. Frank Bailey is assisting him and will run the engine next summer. With this force the boat will probably be completed in about four weeks. He intends to take her to Intermediate lake on sleighs, via East Jordan on the ice and then across the country five miles to the lake.

Especially for Thanksgiving—Extra Select Oysters in bulk, both commersial and solid meats; Standard selects and extra selects in cans. The price is low for the quality, and these oysters are strictly fresh. At O. W. Smith's.

E. H. Green offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1 tf

A few very fine California Orange Quinces, at O. W. Smith's.

Guaranteed Cure.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are affected with a Cough, Cold or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have money refunded. We which is making a cruise in the Pacific Ocean, commanded her, and he never had an accident of any kind. Captain Higgie sold her to the ill-fated Captain Estelle three years ago for $5,000, the captain renaming her after his wife, Hattie Estelle. For so small a craft she has gone through in her time successfully hundreds of ports. Capt. Estelle is a brother of Wm. Ferguson, of this place.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, Stockman and farmer, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies;" he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at F. G. Hines & Co's. 2

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-ly

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all not in time my order for family on my account, as I will pay no debts of their contracting. GEO. SAUNDERS.
Hines, Nov. 19, 1891.

FOR SALE.

Forty acres of partitioned land, S. E. quarter of S. E. quarter of section 19, township of Hayes, known as the Schwartz place. Address
W. A. Schwartz, Room 1, Chicago Co.
W. A. Schwartz, 1 Commercial Building, Chicago, Ill.
10 tf.

Ho! ho! For Ninety-two!

The out for

J. Z. LINTON'S

and see the Black Baby cigar, also fine tobaccos of all kinds and many other nice things, such as

Grapes, Apples, Potatoes and Canned Goods of all kinds and a good assortment of Candy, Nuts, Cakes and Cheese, just the kind that's sure to please. Give him a call and buy it all in order to save him from upsetting. You will find a nice line of both large and small that will give perfect satisfaction to one and all. Now if you don't believe it's so, just give us a call and we will prove it all.

BOOTH'S OYSTERS

J. Z. LINTON.

DRESS TRIMMING
Is Our Hobby These Days.
ALL THE NEW and LATEST DESIGNS.
THAT FEATHER TRIMMING WILL
Throw You Into Hysterics.
ELEGANT! ARTISTIC! BEAUTIFUL!
MASON & BERDAN.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A. T. WASHBURN, - - Green's Block.

Circular Letter.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS:

The winter season being now fairly upon us, I beg to call your attention to the advisability of securing CHOICE ARTICLES of wearing apparel at VERY LOW PRICES. I shall continue my 10 per cent discount on Dress Goods and Cloaks. Who could fail to find something pleasing among the great line to be seen here,

Dame Fashion says Bedford Cords and Camel Hair are leaders of all other styles in dress goods; and why shouldn't they? So soft, warm and genteel do they make up that one gets both comfort and elegance combined at a very low price. Narrow Gimps and nail-head Trimming seem to command the preference, and as they wear well, and are not expensive, it make a very economical trimming, and is adapted to our climate.

Buyers will consult their best interests by getting my prices and QUALITIES before purchasing elsewhere.

Truly yours,

Green Block. A. T. WASHBURN.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Beaman's Pharmacy.

I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.

GEO. W. BEAMAN,
Dispenser.

If you buy your supplies for winter from

THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

you will not be disappointed.

A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.

Yours truly,

Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

Jos C Miller

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO-22. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 2, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,146.

HAVE WE CAUGHT YOUR EYE?
THEN LEND US YOUR EAR!

THE HOLIDAY SEASON is upon us. What are you going to buy the dear ones? We appreciate your many past favors, and will make it an inducement for you to consult us regarding your Holiday purchases. Note our offer: WITH EACH PURCHASE AMOUNTING TO TEN DOLLARS we will give a

BEAUTIFUL MUFF
FREE!

Our stock is the largest and most complete in Northern Michigan. We make the prices right.

Silk Mufflers and Handkerchiefs.
Dress Goods and Trimmings.
Ice-Wool Fascinators.
Plushes, Silks and Satins.
Rugs and Chenille Portieres, big line.
Linens, elegant in fabric.

Mason & Berdan

Cloaks, greatly reduced in price.
Fancy Silk Hose and Silk Vests.
Elegant Fur Capes, still a few left
Kid Gloves in all styles and shades.
Notions, in great variety.
Artistic Chenille Table Scarfs.

MOSEL STONE,
FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.
FOR SALE AT . . .
CALKINS & WARNE'S
. . . DRUG STORE.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

Local News.

—Work on the railroad still goes on actively.

—Register of Deeds Blair was in town over Sunday.

—A. J. McLeod has been quite sick the past week.

—Hon. A. Butters was out for a sleigh ride Monday.

—Capt. Jim Carter returned home from St. Clair flats today.

—Sleighing enough for pleasure, but hardly enough for business.

—L. D. Bartholomew's dog has a new display in their advertising space this week.

—Mrs. J. A. West and daughter Lottie arrived from Wisconsin Wednesday last.

—M. J. Stockman leaves today for Florida, where he will remain until leeks are 15 again.

—Married, on the 29th, Mr. Isaac Hogan to Mrs. Josephine F. Dartt, both of Charlevoix.

—Baker & Son this week advertise great selections in cutters, robes and blankets. Look it over.

—Engineer Potter, in charge of the railroad work at the Central Lake residency, was in town yesterday.

—The Marine Engine Dec. Association meet tomorrow (Thursday) evening, at Knights of Labor hall.

—The Carpenter-Cook deer hunting party returned from the north woods Monday. Further deponent saith not.

—It was Mrs. Augustus Dreyer, of Banks, and not Mrs. H. C. Dreyer, as stated last week, that was granted a pension.

—We again request delinquent subscribers to call and liquidate, and save us the time and expense of mailing statements.

—Mason & Berdan have a holiday advertisement in this issue that will attract the attention of our readers at first glance. Read it.

—Schoenerman & Goldsheck, in their advertising space this week, give some marvelously low figures on various articles of wear.

—The Charlevoix Historical Society holds its regular meeting on Friday evening, December 4, 1891, at the house of Mrs. E. H. Green, on Bridge street. Subject, "Cleopatra."

—Mr. Gidley, of Eastport, has purchased the Eastport and Charlevoix stage outfit of Chas. Mason. Charlie goes to New Mexico again.

—The piles for the south abutment to the railroad bridge are about driven. The timber cribbing upon which the stone will rest is being built.

—Nichols, Lewis & Bates are putting in a Sturdevant hot blast drying kiln, at their factory, with a capacity of 15,000 feet of lumber per day.

—The many friends of Miss Maud Loveday, of East Jordan, will be glad to learn that she has returned from Europe entirely recovered from her mental trouble, and in good health.

—South Arm closed up with the Sunday night four miles down, and navigation to East Jordan is closed. The steamer City of Charlevoix went up Monday night and loaded with hoops, but nothing on her can get up.

—The SENTINEL and the Detroit Weekly Tribune one year for two dollars. This is open to new subscribers to the SENTINEL or renewals. The Tribune is the leading Republican paper of Michigan, the subscription price of which is one dollar per annum. Don't let the opportunity slip.

—Joseph Dyllegrove, an old settler of Antrim county, died at his home in Eastport Monday night. His funeral obtain this afternoon under the auspices of the Orangemen, of which institution he was an influential member. A large delegation of the order attended from here.

—Northern Michigan has for many years been a favorite field for the operation of wholesale seed pea dealers for reasons that are as obvious as that the sun shines upon this highly favored region. It is summed up in one word—adaptability. We have often marveled that Northern Michigan capital and knowledge has not reaped the profit from this industry that has gone to other parts, and now Charlevoix comes to the front with the "Northern Michigan Seed Company," with W. P. Brown as President and Quincy Thacker as Manager. The declared object of this organization is the "growing, importation and exportation of grain and seed, also the supply of farmers' articles of use. The idea carried out successfully, as it undoubtedly will, cannot fail to prove a benefit to the farmers of these northern counties.

—"Club Smith," an old time resident of Boyne City, and for some time master of the old west Michigan and later of the schooner Ruby, is a patrolman on the Chicago police force, and, we are told, has been for a number of years.

—The boiler and steam pump for the C. S. W. M. water-tank arrived yesterday, and a quantity of lumber for the structure. The boiler is of the upright tubular pattern, and the pump has a capacity of 5,000 gal. per hour. The foundation is about done, and the contractors will send men this week to put in the plant.

—At the meeting of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, K. P., held last night, the following officers were elected: C. W. E. Hampton; V. C., J. P. Partridge; Prelate, F. W. LeFevre, M. D.; M. of F., P. R. Lewis; M. of E., F. E. Wood; K. of R. and S., Harry Nicholls; M. of A., L. E. Smith; I. G., A. E. Jefferies; O. G., J. A. Beauvais. Representative to Grand Lodge, S. B. Calkins, P. C.

—Mr. Leo F. Hale, of Bear Lake, Manistee county, has taken an interest with the Parkes Lumber Co., of South Arm, and is now its President. Mr. Hale is an experienced backwood lumberman, and will prove a valuable acquisition to the Company. The Company will add to their former business the purchase of cedar, wood, bark, ties and posts, and contemplate putting in a shingle mill in the spring or this winter.

—Quincy Thacker, resident agent for the Fonthill Nurseries, has an advertisement in this issue. Mr. Thacker is an old resident of the Grand Traverse region, and knows thoroughly the wants of the farmers, in the matter of fruit growing, and known, as well, what will grow profitably and what will not. The growing of the hardier fruits in Northern Michigan has been proven successful, and every tree planted is money planted at interest.

—Miss Christina Frederickson, a young lady employed in the household of H. A. Haney, died Friday, after but a few days illness, of inflamation of the bowels. She was a Dane, and had an uncle and aunt named Nelson, at Ironton, and a cousin here, in the employ of F. W. Mayne. Although dying far from friends and native land, she was given every care and attention. Her funeral was from the Congregational church Sunday afternoon.

—Napoleon has returned from Elba. In other words Mr. Campbell has returned to Boyne City from Sand Beach, and thrown his arms about the Citizen, pressing its faithly throbbing heart to his own. At Sand Beach he published a Democratic paper. In Boyne City he will, as before, publish what he calls a Republican paper. Somebody has fired a hypodermic injection of bi-chloride of nerve into that man Campbell.

—Some time ago, in an editorial on the water-works question the SENTINEL expressed the opinion that franchises were dangerous to public good, and sounded a note of warning against too great haste in making concessions. The Democrat was thereupon pleased to characterize our observations as "screed." Last week the Democrat, after an interview with the Council committee on water-works, concedes that investigation proves just what we averred,—that public ownership of public works is preferable to private control of the same. What we wrote at that time the Council Committee has proven to be truth and not "screed." The longer our young friend of the Democrat lives, the more he is likely to know, if he is a careful observer.

From Marion.

Wm. Clark and wife will represent Marion in the State Grange.

Wm. Shallie has gone to Woodstock, Ont., to get his horse team.

Wm. Burns is repairing his mill dam.

Miss Ella Trimble is successfully teaching school near East Jordan.

Many of the farners are unprepared for winter, owing to the difficulty of securing help this fall.

Miss Etta Stevenson, of Boyne City, is teaching the Barnard school.

Wm. Meggison's farm residence is about completed.

Cynthia Bogart is quite sick; also, Geo. Anderson.

Rev. Mr. Holliday is much liked all over the circuit. He not only preaches but sings the gospel.

Our Township Board is being sharpened up on the road question.

Geo. Anderson has traded his oxen for horses.

The M. E. church is being disorganized and re-organized.

Hastings from Hayes.

Morris K. Chew has been spending a week at Clarion visiting friends.

Patrons of Industry organize a singing class at Maple Grove.

The Patrons of Industry have formed an association at Burgess.

Henry Ostman is putting a roof on his stable.

The first three days of December make the weather prophets busy. This is as true and reliable as most of the weather prognostications if you believe it.

Big road taxes, injudiciously expended is the curse of Hayes. The "King of the North" has now bridged over the sloughs and dangerous places, and we hope the roadmasters have instructed that one days work in June, grading roads, is worth as much done in the month of November.

Mrs. Myron Geer.

The funeral of Mrs. Myron Geer was held at the family residence in Marion on Thanksgiving morning, and was largely attended.

Mrs. Geer was born in Branch County, Mich., Oct. 16, 1841. During the summer of 1855, she removed with her parents to Beaver Island, the year after the Mormon evacuation. She was married to Mr. Geer Oct. 9, 1858, removing to Little Traverse the same year. In 1863 they removed to Marion, (then Emmet county) where they have since resided.

Mrs. Geer was universally respected by all who knew her, and will be sincerely mourned, not only by her immediate family, but by the entire neighborhood; in which she has so long resided.

Undine.

Mr. McNally is quite sick again.

Miss Maggie Bacot was visiting friends at Undine Sunday.

The first logs of the season came in Monday.

Nelley Crum presented us with a piece of venison Thanksgiving day.

Our Tallapoosa friends are still sick. Frank Newland is not expected to live yet Mrs. Adell Newland is very sick with fever. Still they call it a healthy place.

Dave Jerman of Petoskey, is moving out to the Hamlin boys camp and will haul logs for them this winter.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR
CHARLEVOIX, NOV. 25, 1891

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

Capt. Duncan Buchanan is back in the schooner Seaman.

The schooner Franz Sigel did not go ashore at Manistee, as reported.

The schooner J. B. Newland lost her jib-boom and all her canvas in the late big gale.

The schooner Peoria left here Sunday noon with wood and bark, and arrived in Milwaukee before dark Monday evening.

The ever reliable steamer Friant still continues to bring big loads of freight, and will keep on running as long as the lake is open.

The schooner Helen Stephenson, well known here, is ashore and dismasted at Grand Haven. Her crew was taken off by the life-saving crew, after a terrible struggle for their lives.

The schooner Ida arrived here Saturday with a full load of hay and feed for the Pine Lake Iron Co., and will take a cargo of wood to Kenosha. This is the last vessel expected this fall. She came from Kenosha in twenty-seven hours.

The steamer Petoskey was in Chicago Monday, and was expecting to leave for the north as soon as the weather was favorable. The Charlevoix was at Milwaukee yesterday, bound north. She will take a full load of hoops at South Arm. The Lawrence arrived at noon today with a full load of freight.

The schooner John Mee dragged ashore last week Monday near the Elk Rapids dock, and her broadside on the rocks. Her captain telegraphed Thursday for the tug Martin. Capt. Smith worked on her all day Friday, but could not move her. She is in a bad place, and if not released will go to pieces in the first northerly blow.

A boat in marine law comes about as near being a human being as can be reached. She has a husband, and is a distinct personage. The curious part of it is that the boat's husband, while he manages her, is not responsible for her debts. If law gets badly twisted up on land to the people who know nothing of it on water it is a veritable Chinese puzzle.

The new Canadian cruiser Constance is 125 feet long, 19 feet 8 inches beam, is feet 8 inches deep, and will draw 9½ feet of water. She carries two masts, with schooner rig, and will mount three guns. In many of her lines she resembles the royal British man-of-war. The saloon and officers' quarters are between decks aft and the crew's quarters are between decks forward. The new boat is expected to be a speedy craft, and will be used for the protection of the fisheries in Georgian Bay and Lake Huron.

One of the peculiar things in all morality is that a boat can do no more damage than she is herself worth. The law fixes the limitation of liability. If tomorrow a little schooner worth $500 sinks a big steel steamer off Chicago the owners of the steamer could only recover the $500, although the loss might be a half million, in effect the law allows the owner to say: "Take my boat; that is all you will get." This principle turns up at almost every corner in marine law. You will come upon it when you least expect to meet it, and many a good attorney, well versed in law, has found himself out in the cold when he has tried a case in admiralty.

A kink in marine law is the fact that the bills that are made for a boat's repair and for the supplies which go to feed the crew are not against the owner, but against the boat. If a tug tows a boat up the Chicago river and the boat goes away without paying and is lost before she returns, that towing bill is at once rubbed off the books, although the owner of the lost boat may be worth a million. So also are the bills for repairs and provisions. On the other hand, changes of ownership do not rub out the bills against the boat. The workman who does a day's work on a vessel today and is not paid for it, can collect ten years from now if the boat be still in existence, although she may have had a dozen owners in the meantime.

The schooner Hattie A. Estelle, which was wrecked at the piers off Manistee last Wednesday night, left Chicago Sunday with 30,000 bushels of wheat for Buffalo. The crew consisted of Capt. Estelle for seaman and a woman cook. Tuesday the weather became so severe it was determined to head for any port as the vessel could not withstand the storm many hours. The crew was unable to work owing to the severe cold and seas washing over the vessel continuously. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the woman went into the cabin and that was the last seen of her until her corpse was picked up two miles south of the piers. When the vessel struck, Seaman James Stone climbed into the fore rigging and by a tremendous jump gained the ice covered pier. Ropes were shot to the men in the forward rigging and Christian Wye, T. Severson and James Miller were safely landed. A member of the life saving crew boarded the vessel to reach the captain aft but found the vessel broken amidships and had to return. Lines were shot to the captain, but he was unable to catch them. He could be heard calling to the men on the beach, but the noise of wind and wave made his words inaudible, although but a hundred feet away. Late at night he slid from the rigging and a moment later was washed away. His body was found a mile south of the piers. Albert Davis was the name of the seaman drowned. The next morning nothing but a few timbers remained of the wreck. The vessel was owned by the captain's wife, who keeps a tea store in Chicago. The vessel was very rotten. The Estelle was formerly the Mary L. Higgie. She had had a remarkable record. The vessel was built in 1873 by Captain J. L. Higgie, of the Vessel Owners' Towing Company, who gave her the name of Mary L. Higgie, after his little daughter. Shortly after she was in commission she took a load of deals from Green Bay to England, returning with a cargo of coal to Quebec. After discharging her cargo, she left Quebec for Cape Town, Africa, with a load of deals. Leaving there she went to Natal during the African war, and brought back to Cape Town a boat load of prisoners. She then went back to Natal and brought a cargo of wood to Quebec. Her next trip was to Tonlon, France, and Cadiz, Spain. At the latter port she took on a cargo of salt and brought it to Chicago, which was sold for $4.50 a ton. Captain Hatch, now master of the McDougall whaleback boat, which is making a venise in the Pacific Ocean, commanded her, and he never had an accident of any kind. Captain Higgie sold her to the ill-fated Captain Estelle three years ago for $5,000, the captain remaining her after his wife, Hattie Estelle. For so small a craft she has gone through in her time successfully hundreds of ports. Capt. Estell was a nephew of Wm. Ferguson, of this place.

DRESS TRIMMING
Is Our Hobby These Days.
ALL THE NEW and LATEST DESIGNS.
THAT FEATHER TRIMMING WILL
Throw You Into Hysterics.
ELEGANT! ARTISTIC! BEAUTIFUL!
MASON & BERDAN.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I asks is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A. T. WASHBURN, - - Green's Block.

Circular Letter.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS:

The winter season being now fairly upon us, I beg to call your attention to the advisability of securing CHOICE ARTICLES of wearing apparel at VERY LOW PRICES. I shall continue my 10 per cent discount on Dress Goods and Cloaks. Who could fail to find something pleasing among the great line to be seen here.

Dame Fashion says Bedford Cords and Camel Hair are leaders of all other styles in dress goods; and why shouldn't they? So soft, warm and genteel do they make up that one gets both comfort and elegance combined at a very low price. Narrow Gimps and nail-head Trimming seem to command the preference, and as they wear well, and are not expensive, it make a very economical trimming, and is adapted to our climate.

Buyers will consult their best interests by getting my prices and QUALITIES before purchasing elsewhere.

Truly yours,

Green Block. A. T. WASHBURN.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Beaman's Pharmacy.

I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.

GEO. W. BEAMAN,
Dispenser.

Ho! ho! For Ninety-two!
THE NEW
J. Z. LINTON'S
and see the Black Baby cigar, also fine tobaccos of all kinds and many other nice things, such as:
Grapes, Apples, Potatoes and Candies of all kinds and a good assortment of Canty, Nuts, Cakes and Cheese, just the kind that's sure to please. Give him a call and buy it all in order to save him from upsetting. You will find it nice this fall.
BOOTH'S OYSTERS
left large and small that will give perfect satisfaction to one and all.
Now if you don't believe it we just give us a call and we will prove it all.
J. Z. LINTON.

NOTICE.
Notice is hereby given that I will not be liable for any debts or any account, as I will pay no debts contracted by my wife.
GEO. SAUNDERS.
Hayes, Nov. 19, 1891.

FOR SALE.
Forty acres of part timbered land, S. E. quarter of S. E. quarter of section 18, township 37 North, range 8 West, Michigan, 40 acres.
W. A. DUNCAN, Office 1120 Ashland Block, Chicago, Ill.
Nov. 11, 1891. 12-1f.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, stockman and farmer, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." A. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies." He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at F. G. Hines & Co.'s. 2

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or callonsed lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 2m-1y

Circular Letter.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS:

The winter season being now fairly upon us, I beg to call your attention to the advisability of securing CHOICE ARTICLES of wearing apparel at VERY LOW PRICES. I shall continue my 10 per cent discount on Dress Goods and Cloaks. Who could fail to find something pleasing among the great line to be seen here.

Dame Fashion says Bedford Cords and Camel Hair are leaders of all other styles in dress goods; and why shouldn't they? So soft, warm and genteel do they make up that one gets both comfort and elegance combined at a very low price. Narrow Gimps and nail-head Trimming seem to command the preference, and as they wear well, and are not expensive, it make a very economical trimming, and is adapted to our climate.

Buyers will consult their best interests by getting my prices and QUALITIES before purchasing elsewhere.

Truly yours,

Green Block. A. T. WASHBURN.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - GREEN BLOCK.

A Good Cure.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a Cough, Cold or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s druggists. 2

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, stockman and farmer, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." A. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies." He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at F. G. Hines & Co.'s. 2

Beaman's Pharmacy.

If you buy your supplies for winter from
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.
you will not be disappointed.
A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.
Yours truly,
Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

Jos C Miller may21 2

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO-22. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 2, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,146.

HAVE WE CAUGHT YOUR EYE?
THEN LEND US YOUR EAR!

THE HOLIDAY SEASON is upon us. What are you going to buy the dear ones? We appreciate your many past favors, and will make it an inducement for you to consult us regarding your Holiday purchases. Note our offer: WITH EACH PURCHASE AMOUNTING TO TEN DOLLARS we will give a

BEAUTIFUL MUFF
FREE!

Our stock is the largest and most complete in Northern Michigan. We make the prices right.

Silk Mufflers and Handkerchiefs.
Dress Goods and Trimmings.
Ice-Wool Fascinators.
Plushes, Silks and Satins.
Rugs and Chenille Portieres, big line.
Linens, elegant in fabric.

Mason & Berdan

Cloaks, greatly reduced in price.
Fancy Silk Hose and Silk Vests.
Elegant Fur Capes, still a few left
Kid Gloves in all styles and shades.
Notions, in great variety.
Artistic Chenille Table Scarfs.

MOSEL STONE,
FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.
FOR SALE AT . . .
CALKINS & WARNE'S
. . . DRUG STORE.

School Books & School Supplies

We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.

We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.

F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

Local News.

—Work on the railroad still goes on actively.

—Register of Deeds Blair was in town over Sunday.

—A. J. McLeod has been quite sick the past week.

—Hon. A. Buttars was out for a sleigh ride Monday.

—Capt. Jim Carter returned home from St. Clair flats today.

—Sleighing enough for pleasure, but hardly enough for business.

—L. D. Bartholomew & Co. have a new display in their advertising space this week.

—Mrs. I. A. West, and daughter Lettie arrived from Wisconsin Wednesday last.

—M. J. Stockman leaves today for Florida where he will remain until weeks are up again.

—Married, on the 29th, Mr. Isaac H. Jan to Mrs. Josephine E. Dattibell, Charlevoix.

—Baker & Son this week advertise great reductions in cutters, robes and blankets. Look it over.

—Engineer Potter, in charge of the railroad work at the Central Lake residency, was in town yesterday.

—The Marine Engineers in the Association meet tomorrow (Thursday) evening, at Knights of Labor hall.

—The Carpenter Cook deer hunting party returned from the north woods Monday. Further deponent saith not.

—It was Mrs. Augustus Dreyer, of Banks, and not Mrs. H. C. Dreyer, as stated last week, that was granted a pension.

—We again request delinquent subscribers to call and liquidate, and save us the trouble and expense of mailing statements.

—Mason & Berdan have a holiday advertisement in this issue that will attract the attention of our readers at first glance. Read it.

—Schneuerman & Guldebeck, in their advertising space this week, give some marvellously low figures on various articles of wear.

—The Charlevoix Historical Society holds its regular meeting on Friday evening, December 4, 1891, at the home of Mrs. E. H. Green, on Bridge street. Subject, "Cleopatra."

—Mr. Gidley, of Eastport, has purchased the Eastport and Charlevoix stage outfit of Chas. Mason. Charlie goes to New Mexico again.

—The piles for the south abutment to the railroad bridge are about driven. The timber cribbing upon which the stone will rest is being built.

—Nicholls, Lewis & Hakes are putting in a Sturdevant hot-blast dry kiln, at their factory, with a capacity of 15,000 feet of lumber per day.

—The many friends of Miss Maud Loveday, of East Jordan, will be glad to learn that she has returned from Europe entirely recovered from her spinal trouble, and in good health.

—South Arm closed up with few sunday night four miles down, and navigation to East Jordan is closed. The steamer City of Charlevoix went up Monday night and loaded with hoops, but nothing smaller can get up.

—The SENTINEL and the Detroit Weekly Tribune one year for two dollars. This is open to new subscribers to the SENTINEL or renewals. The Tribune is the leading Republican paper of Michigan, the subscription price of which is one dollar per annum. Don't let the opportunity slip.

—Joseph Pettigrove, an old settler of Antrim county, died at his home in Eastport Monday night. His funeral occurs this afternoon under the auspices of the Orangemen, of which institution he was an influential member. A large delegation of the order attended from here.

—Northern Michigan has for many years been a favorite field for the operation of wholesale seed pea dealers for reasons that are as obvious as that the sun shines upon this highly favored region. It is summed up in one word—adaptability. We have often marveled that Northern Michigan capital and knowledge has not reaped the profit from this industry that has gone to other parts, and now Charlevoix comes to the front with the "Northern Michigan Seed Company," with W. P. Brown as President and Quincy Thacker as Manager. The declared object of this organization is the growing, improving, and preservation of grain and seed, also the supply of farmers' articles of use. The idea carried out success fully, as it undoubtedly will, cannot fail to prove a benefit to the farmers of the northern counties.

—"Club Smith," an old-time resident of Hayes City, and for some time master of the old scow Hercules and later of the schooner Ruby, is patronizing on the Chicago police force, and, we are told, has been for a number of years.

—The boiler and steam pump for the C. A. W. M. water-tank arrived yesterday, and a quantity of lumber for the structure. The boiler is of the upright tubular pattern, and the pump has a capacity of 5,000 gal. per hour. The foundation is about done, and the contractors will send men this week to put in the plant.

—At the meeting of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, K. P., held last night, the following officers were elected: C. G. W. E. Hampton, V. C., J. P. Parker; Prelate, F. W. LePever, M. E.; M. of E., F. E. Lewis; M. of E., F. E. Wood; K. of R. and S., Harry Nichols; M. of A., I. E. Smith; I. G., A. E. Jefferies; O. G., J. A. Beaucais, Representative to Grand Lodge, S. B. Calkins, P. C.

—Mr. Leo F. Hale, of Bear Lake, Manistee county, has taken an interest with the Parker Lumber Co., of South Arm, and is now its President. Mr. Hale is an experienced hardwood lumberman, and will prove a valuable acquisition to the Company. The Company will add to their lumber business the purchase of cedar, wood, bark, ties and posts, and contemplate putting in a village mill in the spring or this winter.

—Quincy Thacker, resident agent for the Fentilli Sumerce, has an advertisement in this issue. Mr. Thacker is an old resident of the Grand Traverse region, and knows thoroughly the wants of the farmers, in the matter of fruit growing, and knows, as well, what will grow profitably and what will not. The growing of his hardier fruits in Northern Michigan has been proven successful and every tree planted is money placed at interest.

—Miss Christina Fredericson, a young lady employed in the household of R. A. Emrey, died Friday, after but a few days illness, of inflammation of the bowels. She was a Dane, and had an uncle and aunt named Nobest, at Ironton, and a cousin here, in the employ of F. W. Mayne. Although dying far from friends and native land, she was given every care and attention. Her funeral was from the Congregational church Sunday afternoon.

—Napoleon has returned from Elba. In other words Mr. Campbell has returned to Bayne City from Sand Beach, and there is a sigh from the Citizen, pressing its faintly throbbing heart to his own. At Sand Beach he published a Democratic paper. In Bayne City he will, as before, publish what he calls a Republican paper. Son-body has frightened him into injection of bi-chloride of nerve in so that man Campbell.

—Some time ago, in an editorial on the water works question the SENTINEL expressed the opinion that franchises were dangerous to public good, and sounded a note of warning against the great haste in making concessions. The Democrat was therefore pleased to characterize our observations as "screed." Last week the Democrat, after an interview with the Council Committee on water works, concedes that investigation proves just what we averred,—that public ownership of public works is preferable to private control of the same. What we wrote at that time the Council Committee has proven to be truth and not "screed." The longer our young friend of the Democrat lives, the more as is likely to know, if he is a careful observer.

From Marion.

Wm. Clark and wife will represent Marion in the State Grange.

Wm Shallie has gone to Woodstock, Ont., to get his horse team.

Mrs. Geer was universally respected by all who knew her, and will be sincerely mourned, not only by her immediate family, but by the entire neighborhood; in which she has so long resided.

Unclaimed.

Mr. McNally is quite sick again.

Miss Maggie Bacet was visiting friends at Ellsworth Sunday.

The first logs of the season came in Monday.

Nelley Crain presented us with a piece of venison Thanksgiving day.

Our Tallapoosa friends are still sick.

Frank Newland is not expected to live and Mrs. Adell Newland is very sick with fever. Still they call it a healthy place.

Dave Durham of Petoskey, is moving out to the Hamlin boye camp and will haul logs for them this winter.

Hastings From Hayes.

Morris K. Chew has been spending a week at Clarion visiting friends.

Prof. Coe will organize a singing class at Maple Grove.

The Patrons of Industry have formed an association at Hargess.

Harry Outman is putting a roof on his stable.

The first three days of December (the three worst months. This is as true and reliable as most of the weather prognostications if you believe it.

Mrs. Myron Geer.

The funeral of Mrs. Myron Geer was held at the family residence in Marion on Thanksgiving morning, and was largely attended.

Mrs. Geer was born in Branch County, Mich., Oct. 16, 1841. During the summer of 1855. She removed with her parents to Beaver Island, the year after the Mormon evacuation. She was married to Mr. Geer Oct. 9, 1858, removing to Little Traverse the same year. In 1865 they removed to Marion, (then Emmet county,) where they have since resided.

Mrs. Geer was universally respected by all who knew her, and will be sincerely mourned, not only by her immediate family, but by the entire neighborhood; in which she has so long resided.

Unclaimed.

Mr. McNally is quite sick again.

Miss Maggie Bacet was visiting friends at Ellsworth Sunday.

The first logs of the season came in Monday.

Nelley Crain presented us with a piece of venison Thanksgiving day.

Our Tallapoosa friends are still sick.

Frank Newland is not expected to live and Mrs. Adell Newland is very sick with fever. Still they call it a healthy place.

Dave Durham of Petoskey, is moving out to the Hamlin boye camp and will haul logs for them this winter.

—The M. E. church is being decorated and re-carpeted.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

QUEER LULLABIES.

Sleep, sleep, little mouse!
The field mouse plays
Its voice for hours and days
Sleep, sleep, little mouse, in the city
Sleep!

Hush, shell, come and be hid,
For my son hides and then finds
And the summer will give him nuts,
Hush, shell, close to me
Children.

The moon swims higher,
And the stars, far away, will light,
Sleep, sleep, little one,
Sleep and rest
Squirrel.

Sleep, my lamb,
Sleep at ease
Sleep at outer ease
Beneath cool, cool crooning lips,
My little lamb you are bright
Sleep.

Hush, thou tiny bird,
Hush, thou tiny bird, the monsoon gone
Thou sits calling the little goslings
And we prefer a fresh from the wing
—La Sentinel.

Now you at that nutlock,
Now you fish or caught in the net?
One for bribes and one for another,
Two for the lady under water
Sleep.

Hush, little baby, hush,
Hush, little baby, hush
Hush, little baby, hush, hush, hush
Father's off to the fishes gone
—Sowbish.

Sleep, baby, sleep
The Cradle Song
Sleep, baby, sleep, hush, hush
And baby, little sweet, hush, hush
Sleep, baby, sleep
—Thomas.

A SOUTHERN ROMANCE.

Unless some went about or be polite conversation by the unpleasantness and uncomfortable State, and, there were but two ways in which a person might travel from Dandyville to Brum.

One was by rail—taking either the 8 a. m. or the 1 p. m. train over a wide-gauge railroad, or rail-road, as the Sister line, running thence by stage over Sunset Mountain, a matter of 15 miles to Brum. The opportunity came frequently and unexpectedly, as I,

LONG TIME BETWEEN DRINKS.

The Incidents That Lead Up to the New Dakota Saying.

Henry, one in the United States is supposed to know what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina," but possibly some do not know when and under what circumstances the former remark was made, says the New York Sun explains. Nearly a century ago a man prominent in politics and affairs in North Carolina moved across the border and settled in South Carolina. He had been there only a short time when, for some political some small college or educational matter for which he was indicted, he escaped arrest by returned to his old home in North Carolina. In due course of time the governor of South Carolina issued his requisition on the governor of North Carolina for the fugitive criminal.

The fugitive had rich and influential friends in his native state, and they interceded with the governor until he refused to grant the requisition. A long official correspondence followed. Prominent men in South Carolina had the governor that he had not been treated with proper official courtesy by the governor of North Carolina. The result was that the South Carolina governor, accompanied by a large party of friends and officials, personally by stage to Raleigh, the capital of North Carolina, for a conference with the governor about the matter of giving up the criminal.

The governor of North Carolina, with a large party of distinguished friends, met the governor of South Carolina several miles from town and escorted them to the governor's mansion, with all the ceremony due such distinguished visitors. Before the object of the visit was stated the entire party sat down to an elaborate dinner. After dinner wine was served, and after wine, brandy—the apologetic for which the old north state is famous. After many rounds of drink the decanters and glasses were removed, and the governor of South Carolina stated the object of his visit. He demanded the surrender of the fugitive criminal. The governor of North Carolina refused. Then followed long and heated discussions, in which the attorney-generals of the two States took an active part.

Finally the governor of South Carolina grew angry, and, rising to his feet, he said: "Sir, you have refused my just demand and offended the dignity of my office and state. Unless you at once surrender the prisoner I will return to my capital, call out the militia of the state and, returning here with my army, will take the fugitive by force of arms. Governor, what do you say?"

All eyes were turned to the governor of North Carolina, and his answer was awaited with breathless interest. The governor rose slowly to his feet and beckoned to a servant who stood some distance away. His beckoning was firm and dignified, as became his position. He was slow about answering and again the governor of South Carolina demanded: "What do you say?"

"I say, governor, that it's a long time between drinks."

The reply restored good humor. Decanters and glasses were brought out again, and, while the visitors remained, if any one attempted to refer to the diplomatic object of the visit, he was cut short by the remark that it was a long time between drinks.

When the visiting governor was ready to return home he was escorted to the state line by the governor of North Carolina, and they parted the best of friends.

The fugitive was never surrendered.

He Dodged the Wedding.

"The recent departure of the Grenadier Guards from Bermuda did not cause many regrets among the islanders," said a well-known Bermudian on a visit to New York. "Though the officers of the Guards are the cream of the British military, they and all other well soldiery have fallen into disrepute down there owing to the treatment one of Bermuda's most popular young ladies received.

"When the officers of the Guards had secured their entree into the best island society this girl fell a victim to the blight and, and everybody, from Gibbs Hill Lighthouse to St. George, was glad to hear that a big wedding with an officer would result. The greatest of enthusiasm was secured at New York and all the arrangements for the ceremony were made with great elaboration. The bride's father is rich and of social position, and the affair was to be memorial in the social history of the islands.

"The night before the wedding the bridegroom gave a farewell dinner to his bachelor friends. In the morning he was gone. A ship that had weighed anchor during the night was supposed to have carried him off. He left no word and at first there was wonder.

"It was the first time such a trick had been played on a Bermuda belle, and it was something the natives could not forgive. Gradually indignation arose when came to manifest itself in social indifference to the entire body of soldiery. That was why no tears were shed when the guards left Bermuda."—N. Y. World.

A Quiet Townward.

A good citizen who was once what the Sioux term a considerable lumber remarked recently: "When I drank whisky I felt that it was incumbent upon me to take as much of it as possible, but when I quit I quit for good. I saw I had enough of it. Now strange as it may appear, I feel as if as confined is drudgery for six months after I quit as I was before, but I was a coffee drunkard. It appeared to me that I must have stimulant, and I drank coffee, sometimes drinking as many as fifteen and twenty cups a day. There could be no doubt that the coffee was doing me more harm than whisky, so I gave it up. I was a coffee drunkard—just as bad as a whisky drinkard.—Washington Post.

Thousands of Tons.

Meteors of various sizes reach the earth in many places. The largest known is that which fell on the plains of Iemmas, in South America, which weighed about fifteen tons. A recent calculation shows that the increase of the earth's weight annually, from meteoric sources, is about ninety thousand tons.

A RECENT DISCOVERY.

Massachusetts Need Not Fear Disease of its Numerous Spinsters.

Prof. W. E. Brooks has discovered that a favorable environment tends to predominate excess of females among both animals and plants, and unfavorable conditions an excess of the opposite sex. If this be true, and the professor has demonstrated that it is a law of species which is on the brink of extinction, will have an excess of males among its survivors. Take Australia as an illustration. The population consists of a small and rapidly decreasing number of aborigines and a prosperous and increasing population of foreigners and their descendants, amounting in all to about 3,000,000. As the native population is rapidly disappearing we should, according to Prof. Brooks, expect to find the males much more numerous among them, as compared with the females, than among the inhabitants of foreign origin, provided other conditions are equal. In the Province of Victoria, at the time of the last census, for each 100 females of native-born Australians there were 106.2 males and of foreigners, exclusive of Chinese, 129.1 males. The ratio of males to females in the population of foreign origin is therefore, much greater than it would be if it depended upon the birth rate alone, and as the modifying influence does not affect the aborigines, an excess of males among them, or a greater, or even a little less than that found among the inhabitants of foreign origin, would indicate that the excess of male births is much greater among them than among the people of foreign origin.

For all Australia there are 148.72 aboriginal males to each 100 females; there are only 114.61 males of foreign descent to each 100 females, notwithstanding the fact that 129 males settle in Australia for each 100 females. To those who wish to follow this subject further, it may be interesting to know that an enormous collection of statistics relative to male and female ratio among the Indian tribes of the United States has been made under the direction of Major J. W. Powell.—St. Louis Republic.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Carlisle, Ohio, was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming extent, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co. 3

A Try This.

It will cost you nothing and will prove you good, if you have a cough, Cold, or any trouble with Throat, Chest Lungs. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to give relief, or money will be paid back. Sufferers from La Grippe found it just the thing and under its use had a speedy and perfect recovery. Try a sample bottle at our expense and learn for yourself just how good a thing it is. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines Co's Drug Store. Large size 50c. and $1.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Sparvin Liniment removes all hard, soft or callous lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeny, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 3-5

E. H. Green offers for sale the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 3-5

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife, Ella Bates. GEO. BATES.
Hayes, Nov. 17, 1895. 51

FOR SALE.

Forty acres of part timbered land, S. E. quarter of S. W. quarter of section 10, township of Hayes. Inquire of W. B. BURK, CEDAR & LUMBER CO., 160 Chamber of Commerce Building, Chicago, Ill.

Ho! ho! For Ninety-two!

The box for

J. Z. LINTON'S

and see the Black Baby cigar, also fine tobacco of all kinds and many other nice things, such as:

Oranges, Apples, Potatoes and Canned Goods of all kinds and a good assortment of Candy, Nuts, Cakes and Cheese, just the kind that's sure to please. Give him a call and buy it all in order to save him from upsetting. You will find a nice line of both large and small that will give perfect satisfaction to one and all. Now if you don't believe it we just give us a call and we will prove it all.

BOOTH'S OYSTERS

J. Z. LINTON.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

Old Ferdinand House.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

QUINCY THACKER, Charlevoix, Mich

Agent for Stone & Wellington.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

TO REDUCE

A large stock of Blankets, Robes and Cutters, we will sell Goat Robes, Plush-lined, for

$3.50 AND UP.

Full clipped Knee Plush Trimmed CUTTERS for $20.00

And up. Quality is guaranteed. To appreciate these prices, call and look goods over.

Baker & Son.

Charlevoix.

A WORD ABOUT THE STAFF OF LIFE.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S heavy forests are going and gone; large fields of wheat and other grains are springing forth in their place. So we do not have to go to other countries to supply us with bread for our families and food for our cattle. Charlevoix Roller Mills are located here, and are making as good flour as is made in the world. Farmers, bring in your wheat for exchange. Samples of the bread-making qualities of our flour can be seen at the mill daily. We do not give premiums to parties coming 10 or 20 miles, but serve at alike, quality of wheat considered by standard test. Iron Duke cannot be beat; White Rose very close. Stock always on hand, a good cheap family flour. Ask your grocer for them and take no other.

Rifenburg Milling Co.
Charlevoix.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,

J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for. Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL, of all Foot Covering, THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES. They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines, Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Closing out sale!

Strictly for Cash!

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

I will for the next Sixty days, for the purpose of renewing stock, close out my stock of

Boots and Shoes

No such chance who ever gives here to get their You can

CHEAP

My stock embraces every line, dedicated to this country, and is of the best quality.

Don't let the opportunity slip.

SHERWOOD

Mrs. H. A. Carr,
Fashionable Millinery,
BRIDGE STREET,
CHARLEVOIX.

NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.

and we will warrant our corsetlines to Wear the Line of Corsets including the

MADAM DEVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST

Ribbons, Flowers, Feathers, Etc.

Holiday Trade now opened.

Mrs. H. A. Carr.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will pro ably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Hellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $7.00.

He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-silver cases for $3.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

Ladies, Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL, Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
Proprietor of
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN
Good Teams at lowest rates.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

BOOBIES SURE ENOUGH.

Birds that Catch Fish for the Negroes of the African Coast.

A number of interested spectators were standing at the seawall at North Beach watching a party of youngsters who were angling for good pickings through holes bored in the planking, says the San Francisco Examiner. The fish bit quite eagerly, and several were pulled through the holes and laid on the wharf within a few minutes. Finally one of the bystanders turning to a companion, said:

"The quercest way to catch fish that I ever saw was on the Algoa coast where the natives do it by proxy."

"How is that?" inquired the other.

"Did ye never hear of it, then? Well, I'll tell you. One day we were cruising just above St. Paul de Loanda and were quite close in shore, when the mate, who had the glass screwed up to his eye as he looked toward the land, said, 'I wonder what those native are doing in those canoes, sir?' pointing to a couple of canoes two or three miles off our lee bow.

"I took the glass, and after looking a minute I said, they were either fishing or catching boobies. Making boobies do their fishing, I guess, chimed in the second mate. I had heard about the natives making use of those stupid birds for such a purpose, but had never seen it, so I mentioned to the man at the wheel to keep the ship away and we ran down toward the canoes. It was a lovely day, and we had just a light breeze from the northward and westward, with a sea as smooth as a mill pond. We were soon near enough to see the fishing operation distinctly.

"There was a flock of boobies hovering around and now in a while one of them would dart into the water and seize a fish. As soon as he got to the surface he would give it a toss in the air and as it descended catch it in his open bill. It would then be part way down his throat with half the body and tail sticking out. If left alone the bird would gradually work it down the gullet and dispose of it, but this he was not permitted to do. The moment he appeared on the top of the water one of the canoes was alongside and the poor booby was seized and dragged on board. One of the negroes would catch him by the throat and applying pressure, compel him to disgorge his prey, when he was at once released with the request—I presume that is what it was, for the French jabbered something very fast—that he go and catch another.

"The natives had been quite successful, as each of the canoes were well loaded with fish. After a while I made signs to them to come alongside, and I bought about a bushel of the fish, giving them a ten pound chunk of salt horse in return. The fish were mostly sea bass, weighing four or five pounds apiece, with a few pike among them."

HE HAD FAITH.

Knew the Woman Would Come Back For the Baby.

A young man about 25 years old was sitting in the waiting room of the Erie depot the other day with a year-old baby on his knee and his alarm and helplessness when the young one suddenly began to howl was so marked as to attract attention. By and by a waiting passenger walked over to him with a smile of pity on his face and queried:

"A woman gave you that baby to hold while she went to see about her baggage, didn't she?"

"Yes."

"Ha! Ha! Ha! I tumbled to the fact as soon as I saw you. You expected her back, I suppose?"

"Of course.

"Ha! ha! ha! That is rich. Looking for her every minute, and you know it, aren't you?"

"I think she'll come back."

"Well, this makes me laugh—ha! ha! ha! I had a woman leave a baby on my lap in the Chicago depot once, but no one ever will again. Young man, you're stuck. You've been played for a hayseed. Better turn that thing over to a policeman and make a skip before some reporter gets on to you."

"Oh, she'll come back," replied the young man, as his looks began to turn around.

"Ha! ha! oh! Ho! ho! ha! ha! Joke grows richer and richer! What makes you think she'll come back?"

"Because she's my wife and this is our first baby!"

"Oh—um—I see", stuttered the fat man, who got over feeling tickled all at once, and in his vexation crossed the room and kicked a dog which a farmer had tied to one of the seats with a piece of clothes-line.—New York World.

The Greek Church.

The orthodox ecclesiastics have met in Moscow to discuss the method of checking the wandering from the Greek church. The increase of sects is so rapid as to constitute a danger not only to the church, but to the state. It was proposed that all sectarians should be forbidden to leave their own villages and be try all offenders against the faith not by an ordinary jury, but by a special judge, and furthermore that the orthodox missionaries should be increased in numbers who should "arrive in all the love and charity to bring back the lost sheep."—Chicago Times.

His Very Grandmother.

The grandmother of the late James Russell Lowell, although an immigrant to the New World, never seemed pardon the Americans for having chosen off the yoke of England. Every year when in the neighborhood of her residence at Elmwood, Mass., those festivities commenced which were intended to celebrate the Fourth of July, the noble old lady donned her heaviest mourning and fasted religiously while deploring in the midst of the joy of others, our recent and most unfortunate difficulties with the great gracious majesty, our own King George."

Even a Tombstone.

A merchant in Brattleboro, Vt., annoyed by the condition of the highway before his store, wrote to a subscriber during the latter's temporary absence from town as follows: "Two cords stock in the mud in front of the American House. Shall we attempt to get them out or erect tombstones?"

A COIN 1,800 YEARS OLD.

It is a Shekel Struck by the Hebrews to Commemorate a Victory.

There is in this city a relic of the days when the Hebrews were oppressed in Palestine by the Romans, says the New York World. It is a shekel struck in the year 131 A. D., nearly 1,800 years ago—in honor of the taking of Jerusalem and other places from the Romans by the Hebrews under the leader Simon Bar-Cochebas, who was then president-prince of the Hebrews.

The New York Coin and Stamp Company is the owner of this interesting antiquity. Manager Friedman interpreted its curious characters and symbols to a World reporter.

"On the obverse," he said, "is a conventional representation of the beautiful gate of Solomon's temple. It is perhaps the only picture of that edifice extant. The Hebrew characters signify Simon or Simeon. Above is a star, alluding to Simon's surname, Bar-Cochebas or Cochab, which signifies the son of a star.

"The reverse bears the inscription, second year of the deliverance of Israel." The two emblems are the lulang and lulab. The lulang is a citron. The lulab is a bundle of branches, in olden times was used in the temple in the Feast of Tabernacles when the Hallel psalms were recited and was seldom out of people's hands in the day time. About the base of the lulab is a basket. It is the golden basket with which wealthy Israelites used to adorn their lulab, much as rich church-goers now adorn their prayer-books. Of the four or five relics like this now known no two are exactly alike. Perhaps a separate die was used for each. No satisfactory explanation of the fact has yet been offered. This shekel was the last coin struck by the Hebrews as a nation.

Looking at the shekel closely a series of half effaced devices were found.

"That's another chapter of the coin's history," Mr. Dreskey said. "These coins were struck to carry the news of victory. Here is a proof of it. Under the palm branches and Hebrew letters you will find the device of a lion's paw crushed. The Israelites evidently had the money in their possession, but, rather as it to spread the news. It was really the first type of the newspaper, bearing the tidings of victory and deliverance to the oppressed.

BALDNESS.

Its Cause and How to Get Rid of It by a First Class Physician.

Baldness, like obesity, is one of those minor evils which could probably be much more thoroughly kept under control. If people would take more pains and begin earlier with their treatment. Dr. M. Joseph Tyson, who writes upon idiopathic and premature baldness in the Lancet, makes some observations which quite corroborate this view. Thus he sums up the causes of baldness as insufficient expansion of the hair to the sun and air, or, in the continued heat, excessive mental work and worry, the influence of heredity, alcoholic excesses, constant washing, and the neglect of using lotions or pomade. Children, he says, should as much as possible do without caps, and all persons should be careful of the light, not description. During the hot season a shower bath is necessary for the prevention of sunstroke. A head covering should never be worn indoors, in trains or in closed carriages. The kind of material employed is of importance. In summer and still weather stress appears to be the best, on account of its lightness and permeability. In winter, hats made of light felt, well ventilated and ordinal, are to be recommended. The contrary hat has of the thick, heavy, unventilated top hat can not be too strongly condemned.

In conclusion, he mentions a few minor points of government which should not be forgotten. Too constant washing of the hair is unnecessary, as well as harmful. Once a week is quite often enough for cleanliness, as well as maintaining the strength of the hair. The same remark applies to constant brushing for continual brushing, especially with hard brushes, should be avoided. There is a common notion that grooming the hair is religious, so many other persons fall into the other extreme, and never apply any pomade at all. After the hair has been washing it is certainly beneficial to apply some form of simple grease or oil. When the head hair is becoming rapidly thin some stimulating material, such as cantharidis and cantharides, added to the oil, will increase its good effects. Dr. Tyson does not take into account one powerful factor in causing baldness viz., contagion. It has been held on good authority that many cases of baldness are parasitic, and due to micro-organisms gathered from unclean brushes and combs.—Medical Record.

LA GRIPPE.

A Diagnosis of the Baffling, Persistent and Dangerous Malady.

A writer in the west facetiously writes: Nature with a lavish hand has endowed the human body with no less than a mean million of spots to which an ache or pain can be attached. When each one of these spots, both inside and out, is filled with a hard pointum tipped pain; when your head aches so that you are conscious of all the ruffles and scallops on your brain just as you see them in the pictures in your physiology; when your heart thumps and your stomach watches and you have the feeling that something is wallowing through your middle vacuum; when your sternum feels stove in and there is an uneasiness under your shoulder blades, as though your wings were beginning to sprout; when you are too anxious alive to tie finger tips with thinking of the things you must get up and do, and the most complete ly exhausted by even the thought of doing them; when your backbone has the sensation of being twisted with a monkey-wrench, when you are sitting that you can't see and your nose is red and eyes water, and your nose is in such a state that it is presumptious to lay aside your handkerchief for one short minute; when you cough and sneeze and groan in turn—in fine, when you feel like the very dickens—you can see it down that you have the grip.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

Watch This Space

NEXT WEEK.

Watch This Space

BERT MASON.

One Third of Your Life is Spent IN BED!

Bed-Springs, Matresses, Pillows, Blankets & Comforters

Can be bought at

S. M. See & Sons.

More Bargains Now Blankets in Stock.

Get Our Prices on Blankets Before Buying.

SCHNEERMANN AND GUIDEBECK,

The Leaders of Low Prices.

Come in and see our Gray Mixed Gent's Underwear at 50 cents a bargain at 50 cts. Also all-wool Scarlet Underwear, extra heavy, at 50 cents. A fine Lawn linen stitched Handkerchief, in hemmed and plain white, at 5 cents. All Linen Towels at 5 cts. and upward. We are still selling Indigo Blue Prints at 6 cts. Good Comforters for $1.00 and $1.50. Bargains in Shawls, bargains in Cloaks. Newmarkets from $5.50 upward. You can buy a $50 Garment of us for $5.98.

COME IN AND SEE US.

We are Leaders of Low Prices.

Schneermann & Guidebeck.

LEWIS BLOCK, Charlevoix, Mich.

Talk about Both Ends of town

6 Bars Celebrated Jaxon Soap, for 25c., to give 7 means "To burst." But, with every 6 bars we give a cake of our fine Glycerine Toilet Soap.

What is the use of paying 50c a lb. for Baking Powder when can get Alum as good for 25c? We are selling the Best 25c Powder in town for 22c. Call for Yeast Foam Baking Powder.

Sweet potatoes, 4c; cranberries, 10c. Bermuda onions, 6c; red Onions, $1.00 per bu., and snow apples, 50c.

Just a glance at our CROCKERY line:

Lamps that formerly sold for 15-17 and 18 dollars we are selling from 6 to 8 dollars.

Chambers sets, water sets, and glassware down to lowest figures.

What's the matter with the Center of the town.

Try our Sun Cured Cut Plug.

A. FOX & CO.

DIAMOND!

Something New

THE DIAMOND SAW

NEW STOCK OF SKATES and CUTLERY for the HOLIDAYS.

THE ROUND OAK STOVES

HARDWARE, TIN WARE, WOODEN WARE, BROOMS and NOTIONS

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

[First publication November 21, 1895.]

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Ira Davis and Ida Davis, his wife, of the township of Charlevoix, county of Emmet and State of Michigan, to Peter M. McNally, dated the 1st day of December, 1892, and recorded in the Register's office in the county of Emmet, in liber 3 of Deeds, on page 1, December, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, on the 1st day of December, in the county of Charlevoix, on the 1st day of December, 1892, and recorded in the Register's office in the county of Charlevoix, in liber 1 of Mortgages, on page 1, December, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, on the 1st day of December, 1892, and assigned by the mortgagee thereof, to Jacob Kotz, by an assignment dated the 1st day of December, 1892, and recorded in the Register's office in the county of Emmet, in liber 3 of Deeds, on page 1, December, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, on the 1st day of December, 1892, and

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

DOINGS OF THE DAY.

SUMMARY OF LATE NEWS BY WIRE

Breadth of Happenings in Every Room Embracing Fires, Accidents, Crimes, Politics, Religion, Commerce and Crops—Condensed with Minor Affairs.

Not Spent a Rehash

This legend spoke over brought in Abbana has been shot in the United States Court at Hancock. It is stated the United States against the Tennessee and Copper Company, and covers and includes 7,000 acres of land along that road from Calumet, Hancock, County, to Gregory's Landing, Marshall County, Ala. The Government claims that it never gave up the right to the land and will ask for a receiver. Much of the disputed property has been sold by the railroad company and mortgaged. It is now being operated by farmers and lumbermen who claim it by deed.

Lynch Spent a Rehash

Mrs. James Lynch, a widow, and her three children were murdered in their home in Pampkin County, Va., after the house was fired to conceal the crime. The body of Lynch was found buried before the house he estimated to be eighteen. There is no clue to the murderers.

Bird Buster Bogus

At Boston, a young man claimed the office of a bird buster, a minor under grabbed a roll of bills amounting to $100, and rushed into the street, and escaped capture.

Summer Out

Tinnie Ida, aged 18, escaped from the penitentiary at Waupun, Wis., through a window bar, it is said, must have required years to do that.

Snowstorm in Dakota

Snowstorms were reported throughout North Dakota, and the temperature steadily falling.

Bad Weather

Reports show that the corn crop of the past season was one of the best on record.

Four Killed

Four trainmen were killed in a wreck on the Illinois Central near Medina, Tenn.

Turned Legion Loose

Hayward neither the Government nor the Canadian Pacific Railway Company would do anything toward caring for the corpse of Thomas Ingram at Vancouver, B. C., the City Council set them free. It is the boy of three are coming to the United States.

Compelled to Display

Pearce Bros. Hardware Company compelled the display of the American flag on account of seeing in Ulmers the other night.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

A novelty suicide by drowning occurred in Lake Sunset at Bridgeport, Conn. Two persons, a man and a woman, took their own lives by jumping together from a boat. Who they were and why they committed the rash act has not yet been learned.

Sam Weaver, N. Y., for the third time in eight months Matthew Dugay has escaped with the attempted murder of his brother, John M. Dugay. The two stopped talking with them on the road and the woman and leaving the other for her husband to care for. This time the deserted husband has apparently given up his fa thoses suspicions forever and has made no effort to find her. John has decided to settle down his household goods and return to Montgomery, N. Y., and board with his brother Matthew's wife and her three small children.

Ellen was discovered in the large building 42,000 Market street, Philadelphia, occupied by Lippincott, Johnson & Co., dealers in museums and clothing. The Ellen spread rapidly and before the fire department reached the scene the whole building was in flames. Four firms occupied Lippincott, Johnson & Co., carried a full stock of goods and the damage to the building and contents is roughly estimated at $300,000. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the general supposition is that it originated from gas escaping from a leaky main in the street.

The directors of the Catskill Mountain Railway Company have decided to build a cable road between North and South Mountains. It will be only a mile and a quarter long, but in that distance the road will rise 1,000 feet in 5 miles. It will begin at the present station of the Catskill Mountain Railway at the foot of the mountain, and end at the summit of the mountain. The road will be the Catskill Mountain House one mile from the Kaaterskill Falls, and the Hotel Laurel House. Tourists will make the trip to the mountain top from the hotel by a horse and a half-city by stage-coach.

The farm owned by Mrs. Ann Lennon Taverin Massachusetts was returned back to her in the form of a check for a price court before Judge Hodges, at Boston, after the jury had disagreed. The suits conducted this case in a manner which is said to be unprecedented in the annals of our judge proceedings brought in the land, and have involved the Boston bar.

The trial of the partners Con. Ryan and Alex McNichol in Newark, N. Y., was ended by the jury in the Ontario County Court, which was almost a unique one. It was said that the firm's assets are between $60,000 and $100,000 and the liabilities are about $100,000.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

Two horses and white buggies on South Howard street, Akron, Ohio, runaway and smashed into each other. With no warning the men and their wives leaped from the buggies and escaped with only scratches and bruises. The horses were killed. The wives were the daughter Zerbia were leaving one of the horses behind them. The horse, though pinned down by heavy stones, managed to kick the life out of the other carriage. A horse, frightened from Sent away, ran to Mount Pleasant, Ohio, Miner, of Johnstown, Pa., happened to be in the Mount Pleasant. The frightening wagon finally crashed that auspicious event. Miner was obliged to leave his wife behind. Mrs. Miner, who was carrying on the third occasion, was thrown from the wagon, and in a half-dazed condition wandered into Pleasant Hill, Ohio, where she was found by her husband.

Dr. Ben Mor Mott of Kansas City, James, William, and Elmer Shadwell, brothers, on the farm of their father, near Independence, Mo., were startled to find the girl of a ladder. The picture frame established the fact that the ladder had been the ceiling and in a few minutes the building was ablaze. The loss on the employer caused Mott was in the cellar at the time of the fire, and he thought he was finally rescued by the firemen, who came to the rescue of the Mott. He was highly pleased at the head and the firemen were highly pleased.

The problem in the Morrow County Ohio, Democratic Convention was the nomination of a Congressman. The contest was between Sen. Jack Hoffman, of Ashland, and the Intimate received a majority of the delegates. The whereabouts of three of the tenth Congressional District.

SOUTHERN INCIDENTS.

Zach Wade, a prosperous and highly respected farmer living near Chapin, S. C., was murdered by his son, Ward is not dead, but he is so low that he is expected to die at any time. The prisoner used was strychnine and was put into a cup of coffee by his wife. Ward has parted improper relations between his wife and Dr. Fort Pope, and had taken out with his wife on account of her behavior. Both women are doting and missing.

Sherrod, days ago a leading merchant of Nashville, Tenn., received a letter from Jersey City, N. J., signed Winnie Davis and asking the immediate loan of $1,000 upon security of the Tennessee Confederate Pensioners. The letter was forwarded to Mrs. Davis at Richmond and a telegraphic answer received pronounced the signature a forgery.

Wesley Harris and Steve Brown, confined in jail at Wharton, Texas, had a quarrel, in which Wesley cut Brown's throat, resulting in a fatal wound. Harris then freed himself from a few months. A rescue party from Wharton, Harris was under sentence of five years for theft.

At Nashville, Tenn., the Health Clothing Manufacturing Company has made an assignment. The company lists its creditors. Nashville, $53,993, assets $60,000.

The New Orleans lottery people are worried over what they claim is a violation of the Sunday law by the postoffice authorities. For the first time in many years there was a delivery by carriers on Sunday. The first time claim that the delivery was for the purpose of disseminating literature to lottery people and not for the Democratic convention. It is said that Congressman Lassa will call Mr. Wanamaker's attention to the matter, and the lottery people will retaliate by using the Christian to show a combine between the antisaloon Republicans in Southern Iowa sling of the Republican party.

POLITICAL PORRIDGE.

The caucus of Willard Hess in the Second District of Jefferson makes the New York Assembly stand, according to the latest returns: Democrats, 65; Republicans, 65.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

Anarchist plots are of America, who a year ago gave up his life and position at court and contracted a morganatic marriage with Jenny Stubel, a beautiful young singer, has been heard from. After his marriage he hired a ship and sailed as its master. The ship was not again heard of and was given up for lost with all on board. Jenny Stubel's brother, Gustav, who is a player at New York, to the Lisson chorus, received a letter from his sister in Vienna in which she said that she had heard from Count Hoffmann. The vessel on which the Archduke and his bride sailed was wrecked off the South American coast and the pair were in Chili. He took part in the late revolution in Chili, but not known on which side he fought.

It is reported that the Kaiser has causes himself to be controlled that any subjects, which he has to do, must be connected with affairs of state during his reign in the Kaiser's Bureau for prompt arrest and prosecution. The Kaiser has been greatly in fear of the current statement that Bismarck intended to publish a book in which he will produce evidence as to the causes of his dismissal. The Kaiser is said to be in fear of the Bismarck's memoirs, which he has been warned by his friends, will be fatal.

The Kaiser is the greatest sufferer in singularly fortunate to be a victim of an anarchist plot. He is, however, not sensitive about so tradition than in Germany. Nobody knows how many attempts, such as assaulting Emperor Napoleon III, have been made on his life. Napoleon III was a great lover of republicanism gone until it became a bugbear to the rulers of Europe. With a precipitation that seemed a little ridiculous, he fled from Paris and sued to Spain. He found a Spanish Bourbon, and he was soon dethroned. The form of government he established was a Republic.

Turkishness marked the assassination of Ali Pasha, Turkish Minister of Marine, and Hussein Pasha, Minister of Justice, at Constantinople. Ali was shot by his son, Hussein Pasha, who was a lieutenant in the Turkish navy, and who had been dismissed from the service of his father's book. The latter was factional Mehmed Pasha at Redmond and a telegraphic answer received pronounced the shooting of the Pasha.

Mr. Gladstone's Cabinet is now complete. The latest appointment is that of Lord Rosebery, who succeeds Lord Kimberley as Secretary of State for India. The Cabinet is composed of the following: Premier, Lord Rosebery; Lord Chancellor, Lord Herschell; Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir William Harcourt; Home Secretary, Mr. Asquith; Foreign Secretary, Lord Kimberley; Colonial Secretary, Mr. Chamberlain; Secretary for War, Mr. Fowler; Secretary for India, Lord Rosebery; Secretary for Scotland, Mr. Asquith; President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Bryce; President of the Board of Agriculture, Mr. Gardner; First Lord of the Admiralty, Lord Spencer; Postmaster General, Mr. Arnold; Lord Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, Mr. Asquith; Chief Secretary for Ireland, Mr. Morley; Lord Chancellor of Ireland, Lord Ashbourne; Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Lord Houghton; Lord Advocate, Mr. Asquith; Solicitor General for Scotland, Mr. Asquith; Solicitor General for Ireland, Mr. Gibson.

GENERAL NOTES.

How Prevents Disease. Says writing of resignation as Secretary of War and placed on the hands of President Harrison, Mr. Proctor said: "I have left the Department to take effect, but I have not yet decided when. I shall not let friends by accepting it absolutely.

Mr. Proctor said that Mr. Harrison's appointment had the free twelve months ago, and that he had not made to changes, rose up in his study and walked out the door. Mr. Proctor said he was at the time of three miles an hour. The Secretary said that he had not the fire' counter and a brakeman went to the rescue. The Secretary was unconscious when found the smoking gas. He was taken to a hotel and after he had fallen off the train he was quite recovered and was able to be taken to the house, where, when he recovered, he was delirious. He said he was expiring in a manner that the Secretary said he was not strange. The Secretary said he was not strange. The Secretary said he was not strange. The

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 2, 1891.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Hunter was over from Manistique Sunday.

The schooner Sea Gem will be thoroughly rebuilt here this winter.

The steamers Cummings, Onekama and Crescent will all lay up here this winter.

The schooner Peoria was to leave Milwaukee this morning. She has a full cargo of mixed freight.

The fishing tug Peter Coates was here Sunday and Monday on her way from the Soo to Manitowoc.

The steamer Gracie Barker will lay up here this winter and undergo some repairs at Campbell's yard.

The famous wrecking tug Leviathan was totally destroyed by fire at Cheboygan Monday. She was the oldest wrecking tug on the lakes.

The schooner Franz Sigel, which brought stone for the railroad bridge this fall, is at Harbor Springs with her canvas blown away. She was bound for Elk Rapids after pig iron.

The schooner Morning Star, with a load of Suttons Bay wood, came in this morning on his way to Milwaukee. When asked what he was doing down here he replied that he was out of tobacco. The fact is, he met a big fat sou'-wester off Cat Head.

The steam barge Owegatchie foundered and went down off Sand Beach, Lake Huron, on the 26th. She was a relic of the old Northern Transportation Co.'s fleet, and was built at Ogdensburg in 1867. She was here once the past season.

The schooner Ebenezer was taken into Frankfort on the 27th in a waterlogged condition. The crew of five men had nothing to eat for forty-eight hours, and some had their hands and feet frozen. They were taken off by the Point Betsy life-saving crew before the tug took in the vessel.

The largest scow of the tug Temple Emery's tow, which outfit loaded with logs at South Arm the past summer, is high and dry in the sand at South Fox Island. The Emery came here Sunday after a smaller tug to dredge her off. The Anspach was secured, and both tug leave for the work when the wind changes.

The propeller City of Charlevoix arrived here from the straits yesterday, and unloaded a large amount of freight. She went to South Arm last night after a full load of hoops. As we went to press last week the Lawrence was this side of Norwood bound north, but passed by to the straits. She arrived back yesterday.

Loaded and wind-bound here—Schooners Fleetwing, Ida, Scove and Seaman. The Ida went out Sunday, but was driven back with some of her canvas badly torn. The Seaman is light, and waiting to go to Torch Lake for a load. The Fleetwing will lay up at Milwaukee. The Cascade is also tied up here for a fair wind.

When an accident happens to a vessel with a cargo of merchandise, in which a large amount is damaged or lost, matters become complicated. Here the law of "general average" comes in. And this, by the way, is about as hard a job to explain to non-marine people as there is under the sun. Merchants cannot understand why they should be called upon to pay a loss when their own goods are delivered without a scratch. Generally they flatly refuse to do anything of the kind until, finally, forced to yield, and they think ever afterward they have had a hanko game played upon them. Yet general average is a very simple thing. It is based upon the great principle that what is sacrificed to save the whole must be paid for by the whole. It were a manifest injustice that goods which happened to be handiest to the crew should go overboard to save the rest of the cargo, and their owner bear the entire loss. Most captains have instructions that if they strand on a dangerous spot, the cargo shall go overboard, or as much of it as will save the boat. When she next reaches port the value of the articles sacrificed is computed, and an assessment to cover the amount is levied upon the boat and the part of the cargo saved.

Northern Michigan News.

Marshall Magee of Boyne Falls, has been granted a pension under the late disability law, and will receive $10 per month.

A. G. Butler, of Frankfort, has let the contract for limbering 4,000,000 feet of hemlock, which will be cut at his mill in that place the coming season.

Peter O'Grady, was drowned at Beaver Island about three weeks ago, and the body has not yet been found. His hight was 5 feet 9½ inches; red mustache; a gold ring on the little finger of left hand; dressed in a black suit of clothes and white shirt; wore a silver watch. Any one finding the body will confer a great favor by addressing, Patrick O'Grady, St. James, Mich.

Two Frankfort fishermen recently gathered in 5,675 pounds of lake trout and other fish at a single catch.

Mrs. J. Martin, of St. Ignace, is 105 years old and so vigorous that she recently made the journey from St. Ignace to Depere all alone.

Petoskey women have a new industry. It is the making and mending of gill nets during the winter. An expert can easily make a dollar a day.

East Jordan Enterprise: Private letters from Judge Kent are to the effect that he and Mr. Fogg have located at Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, and are well suited with their location

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Campbell have settled in Cleveland, Ohio, for the winter. In the late spring however, they will open their hotel at Northport and try to build up a resort trade.

Sixty miles of David Ward's projected Grayling and Charlevoix railroad is ready for the iron. It is estimated that he has 1,500,000,000 feet of lumber on the line, there being 100,000 acres in one tract of pine.

At the spring election, the electors of Forest Home and Kearney townships will be given an opportunity to vote upon the proposition of bridges across Intermediate river on Bridge and River streets.—Bellaire.

About five hundred pounds of lead were cut out of Dahlmer's, Shreiver's and Van Atter's fish nets at Northport last week, entirely destroying the nets and entailing a heavy loss. No clue to perpetrators of the deed.

Grollik Bros., of Traverse City have one of the oldest and best known saw mill plants in the vicinity. Their straight cut of hardwood this season has been 6,000,000 feet with 75,000 feet of hemlock. They employ 40 men and ship 2 lake timber to Milwaukee and Sheboygan.

Boise & Carmichael, of Bay Springs expect to stock up with 5,000,000 ft. of logs for next season's cut, about 3,500,000 of this being hardwood, the balance hemlock.——G. Von Platten, of Advance, will stock up with 4,000,000 of logs for next season's cut, of these, 3,000,000 will be delivered in the yard.

The Elk Rapids Progress publishes the census returns of several neighboring northern Michigan counties in a comparative way, thus showing that Antrim county has made a larger per cent of increase in population since 1880 than any other county in this section of the state. And what is peculiar in the showing, is that Emmet county has made the least increase, in spite of all the prestige and assistance that county has had from the Petoskey and Bay View and Harbor Point summer resorts. Antrim county's precentage of increase was 98 per cent while Emmet's was but 31.

A very important transaction took place yesterday afternoon by which C. A. Barker of Chicago and Wm. H. White of Boyne City purchased the entire plant of J. J. Pay, Jr., & Co.'s late lumbering interes ts in this place, consisting of a large saw mill, shingle mill, land, docks horses and all camp equipage, etc. The new firm will be known as the Traverse City Lumber Company. It will open up and proceed to the manufacture of hardwood and hemlock lumber as soon as stock enough is on hand. Their work demands at once twenty mills a feet of logs, and ten million of hardwood and ten million of hemlock. Mr. White will be the resident manager.—Grand Traverse Herald.

Fine Boiled Cider at O. W. Smith's.

H. V. Hifenberg, Dr. LeFevre and Frank Sears have each purchased the "Art Garland" coal stove. These are the finest stoves ever brought into Charlevoix. L. D. Bartholomew & Co. have the sale of them here.

The National Republican Committee have designated Minneapolis as the place for holding the next Republican national convention, and June 7th as the date.

Norwood Notes.

Wm. H. Hiebardson left for Massachusetts Tuesday.

The boys at the camp say Ed. Stafford got lost and laid out in the woods the other night.

The City of Charlevoix was here last Friday ten hours unloading freight.

Remember the social entertainment at the hall this week Saturday night. Music, readings, recitations and apples. Only ten cents, come out.

Ben Pearl has traded and got a horse team and will lumber the hemlock on O. D. Woods land this winter.

Mrs. Hiram Carter is very low, not much chance of recovery.

Rev. J. G. Holliday is holding meetings at Atwood.

Religious Items.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning, 10.30. Subject, "The Atonement." Evening, 7.00. Subject, "The Prodigal Son. His Resolution."

Methodist.

Rev. G. S. Barnes, pastor. Services at 10.30 a.m., and 7.00 p.m. Sunday school, 12 m. Epworth League 6.00 p.m. Evening sermon, "Judas."

Episcopal.

Rev. C. T. Stout will hold divine service and preach at Odd Fellows hall, on Sunday evening next. All are cordially invited to attend.

The Ladies Guild will meet on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harrison Bedford, on Main street.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

All those wishing photographs this winter should come between now and the 10th of January, as the gallery will be closed for the winter. Cabinets, $1.00 per dozen.
12 BOWMAN & BEATTY.

All Hands Around!
Sally go down the middle!
OYSTERS Large.
OYSTERS Fat.
OYSTERS Fresh.
No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.
O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

As to Your Clothing
There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A. T. WASHBURN, - - Green's Block.

Circular Letter.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS:

The winter season being now fairly upon us, I beg to call your attention to the advisability of securing CHOICE ARTICLES of wearing apparel at VERY LOW PRICES. I shall continue my 10 per cent discount on Dress Goods and Cloaks. Who could fail to find something pleasing among the great line to be seen here.

Dame Fashion says Bedford Cords and Camel Hair are leaders of all other styles in dress goods; and why shouldn't they? So soft, warm and genteel do they make up that one gets both comfort and elegance combined at a very low price. Narrow Gimps and nail-head Trimming seem to command the preference, and as they wear well, and are not expensive, it make a very economical trimming, and is adapted to our climate.

Buyers will consult their best interests by getting my prices and QUALITIES before purchasing elsewhere.

Truly yours,

Green Block, A. T. WASHBURN.

TO THE FARMERS
OF Northern Michigan.
THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN SEED CO.
Have organized for the purpose of Importing, Growing and Exporting
SEED GRAINS, etc.
and operating in all kinds of
FARM SUPPLIES.
Many of our farmers realize the importance of a change in their Seed Grains, Vegetables etc. Growing 75 and 50 bus. demonstrated the quality, and reduced the quantity of crops raised. We purpose to furnish you with fresh stock of such varieties as have been tried and proven.
Profitable to Grow.
If you wish a change or supply of seed, place your orders with us, and it shall have our careful attention. Reply
The Northern Michigan Seed Company.
QUINCY THACKER, Manager.
(Office with Bank of Charlevoix.)

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - GREEN BLOCK.

Beaman's Pharmacy.
I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.
GEO. W. BEAMAN, Dispenser.

If you buy your supplies for winter from
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE Co.
you will not be disappointed.
A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.
Yours truly,
Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
VOL XXIII. NO-23. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 9, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,147.

HAVE WE CAUGHT YOUR EYE?
THEN LEND US YOUR EAR!
THE HOLIDAY SEASON is upon us. What are you going to buy the dear ones? We appreciate your many past favors, and will make it an inducement for you to consult us regarding your Holiday purchases. Note our offer: WITH EACH PURCHASE AMOUNTING TO TEN DOLLARS we will give a
BEAUTIFUL MUFF
FREE!
Our stock is the largest and most complete in Northern Michigan. We make the prices right.
Silk Mufflers and Handkerchiefs.
Dress Goods and Trimmings.
Ice-Wool Fascinators.
Plushes, Silks and Satins.
Rugs and Chenille Portieres, big line.
Linens, elegant in fabric.
Mason & Berdan
Cloaks, greatly reduced in price.
Fancy Silk Hose and Silk Vests.
Elegant Fur Capes, still a few left
Kid Gloves in all styles and shades.
Notions, in great variety.
Artistic Chenille Table Scarfs.

MOSEL STONE,
FOR TAKING OUT GREASE SPOTS.
FOR SALE AT - - -
CALKINS & WARNE'S
- - - DRUG STORE.

School Books & School Supplies
We can furnish everything used in the schools at the very lowest price.
We make this a special line in our business and you will find our stock complete. Give us a call before purchasing elsewhere, and you will save money.
F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

Local News.

—S. M. See & Sons have a change of ad this week.

—The Baptist church will have a tree Christmas eve.

—Gus Myers, the mason, is still confined to his room.

—Holt, McNell went to Chicago yesterday for a weeks absence.

—Angus Chalmers and Will Newman left Sunday for Grand Rapids.

—Mrs. O. A. Sears of East Saginaw, is visiting her son Frank and wife this week.

—The M. E. church is undergoing repairs, and will be ready for occupancy Sunday.

—Charles Barber, owner of the brick yard at East Jordan, was in town yesterday.

—A new boy took up his residence at the home of John Hogan last Thursday night.

—The pedro club will meet at the residence of Dr. L. B. Bartlett next Monday evening.

—Nicholls, Lewis & Bates will start up their mill on their season's cut in a few days.

—Mrs. Amos Fox returned from Port Huron last week, leaving her sister a little better.

—L. D. Bartholomew was in Chicago Friday and was about starting for San Antonio, Texas.

—Harry Nicholls returned Friday from a two weeks trip to Chicago and points in Wisconsin.

—A lot of shipping wood came ashore between the little island and the south point last Friday.

—The dressmakers are all busy, and the preachers look knowing and are wearing antediluvian smiles.

—A prize masquerade will be given at Lewis Grand opera house on Christmas eve. Particulars later.

—C. V. Cook and wife leaves this week for a two months visit among friends in the southern part of the state.

—It is said that McLane's men will be moved from this place to Petoskey as soon as the iron is laid into that town.

—The fishing industry is still being prosecuted vigorously, but its continuance will now depend on weather and "luck."

—Leo Thomas, of Petoskey, is operating the telegraph instrument during the vacation of operator Smith.

—The Northern Michigan Seed Co. has a new and artistic sign in its office window in the Brown building. The work of H. Jarvis.

—Capt. Wilber has moved with his family into the Cook house on the north terrace, which he recently purchased and greatly improved.

—Rev. J. J. Kanaay left today for Alma where he will be a delegate to the Cheboygan association of the Congregational church, in session there.

—Arch. Buttars is steadily improving, and hopes to be able to leave for Florida in a few days. Miss Esther will accompany him as far as Chicago.

—A chicken pie social will be given at the M. E. church on Wednesday evening, Dec. 9, to help liquidate the debt recently incurred in the church renovation.

—What ails the school house furnace? A deposit of coal soot on books, papers, and desks would not be an every day occurrence as it has come to be.

—Married, at East Jordan, last Wednesday evening at the M. E. parsonage by Rev. H. H. Whitman, Mr. Frank O'Neil and Miss Maggie Kirby, both of Charlevoix.

—James Smith, representing Shadduck Bros., was in town Tuesday to get men to go into lumber camps near East Jordan that will be operated by that firm this winter.

—In consequence of ill health Fred Cochrane has returned from Houghton where he went to take a position in a drug store. He states that the weather is much colder, with good sleighing at that place.

—The Friant continues to "saw wood" on her old route. She went up to East Jordan Monday morning, and the captain says he will stick until the end. Wise Yan ties up, others will do well to keep an eye out.

—Our forest products bid fair to move during the coming season. Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co. will prosecute the past and tie business with their usual vigor, and Bert Mason and Dolliver are both on deck as usual.

—John Hull has finished plastering his new home on the south terrace, and has moved into it for the winter.

—Wesson Bros., who have the contract for the railroad work, first south of the McCracken & Silsby job, have got on a larger force than ever, and expect to finish by the middle of next month.

—A man rolling a keg of nails on the sidewalk the morning frightened a double team attached to a top buggy, and they started up the street with much enthusiasm. A number of men endeavored to stop them, but to Rev. Mr. Macpherson belongs the honor of nipping the incipient runaway.

—The high school is a just source of pride to our people, and whatever funds to encourage the teachers and pupils should be cheerfully rendered. The school board have appointed a special committee to visit the school, and they desire that parents and others devote a small share of their time to this most important duty.

—Washburne & Ackert report business at their machine shop brisk, with good prospects for winter. They are at present engaged on repairs on an engine for Nicholls, Lewis & Bates, and will enlarge an engine for Will Francis who contemplates putting in additional machinery for more extensive manufacturing at an early date.

—Mrs. Gincow, who left this place on the 3d of last August for a visit to Ireland, has returned after a somewhat exciting homeward voyage. The ship left for New York on the 30th of October, but did not arrive until the 28th day of November, in consequence of the engine having become disabled, the vessel finally drifting into Halifax where they remained a week. The remainder of the voyage was without incident.

—The strong wind Friday caused a six-mile current to set into Pine and Round Lakes, and the young man who took the dinners to the bridge builders was carried into Pine lake and had a half hours hard rowing to get back. At night the smoke stack on the Bridge Street House was blown over, terrifying some of the inmates who thought the house was coming down, and the liberty pole near the town hall leaned over and rested on John McCabe's meat market.

—Storm doors have been put up at the Fountain City House.

—Jack Connor has built an addition to his shoe store, made necessary by a large increase of business.

—A burning chimney on Brown's bank, that was extinguished without damage, attracted the attention of pedestrians Saturday.

—The editor is taking his vacation which he is spending in the south part of the state, and in the office is temporary charge of the office.

—The students of rhetoric in the high school prepared what was one last week a miniature newspaper which contained news, editorial, and advertisements, and the reading of which was at once instructive and entertaining.

—Mills and Cameron did the carpenter work, and Frank Lamphere and John Cooper the calcsmining and painting in the M. E. church, and the work will compare favorably with any to be seen in much larger places.

—Sleighing has held off so long that we are in the midst of a wood famine. Complaint is made that good dry wood can not be got at any price. Damp dead wood and very green wood sell for a figure that makes one grey headed to contemplate.

—It is reported that the south approach to the bridge is sliding into the river, and that it will never be entirely safe until a stone abutment is built, as was recommended by D. C. Nettleton, who was the highway commissioner at the time the wood work was put in.

—A good lady in this town, whose husband is a mechanic and deft in wood work, has for a long time importuned him to make her a tool box. But on the principle of the old proverb that "shoemakers children go barefoot" she has never been able to get the work done. At last, after many wearying failures, she hit upon an expedient, and enlisting a joke loving neighbor in her scheme, she put it in operation. The neighbor went to the shop and ordered of the husband a wood-box for "a lady who wanted the work done immediately, and who would probably not be hard as to price." A most substantial and artistic article was speedily turned out, and sent to the house in charge of the neighbor. When the husband went up to dinner, and his eye fell upon the new article of furniture, and the true inwardness of the situation burst upon him in one maddening sweep, as he reflected upon the glint in the eye of the neighbor when he delivered himself of the carefully phrased order—well, we promised not to give this part of it away. And we don't have to mention. It can safely be intrusted to your imaginations.

—An example of what men will do for whiskey occurred here last week. One of the railroad hands, who had been money flush for a time, was observed to be without a fine new mackinaw shirt he had been wearing in the morning. At the same time it was noticed that he had become the possessor of a variegated and accentuated "jag." Later in the day his over shirt was gone, and he lay in the rear of one of the buildings on Bridge street, and oblivious to the fact that the only covering to his shoulders was a threadbare under wrap, cut extremely modest. The same day another man who had been furnished clothes, instead of money, sold a new pair of rubbers and stockings for a dollar, picked up an old pair of shoes in an alley, put them on, and walked into a saloon, and spent his money for whisky.

—George Honie, a Hungarian laborer, employed at the gravel pit fell from a car as the men were about to come to supper Wednesday night, and was run over by one of the truck wheels and escaped instant death by little less than a miracle. He had a jug of whisky in his hand, which, as he fell, struck directly in front of the wheel, which caused the truck over him somewhat, and throw the car from the track. The driver saw him fall, and succeeded in stopping before the next wheel got to him, or he would undoubtedly have been crushed. The injured man could not be extricated until the car was lifted with jack screws. He was taken to the Bridge Street House, where Dr. Bartlett examined him. It was found that no bones were broken, but that he was horribly bruised entirely around the body just above the hips. He has a wife in the old country, and sums up his experience here as follows: "This county year and a half, two brokes, an good, go back." By which it is explained he refers to a former accident by which he was confined to the hospital for some time.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The chief is in the tub, wife,
The cow is in the stock,
And we're on the dickey-bird
As sthiff as a clock;
The cat is in the cream, wife,
And Bridget is in the
With complaints (just again the general)
And we're minding them all.

There's one is pig in pickle, wife,
We have one in the pen,
And we're hoping it will stay there
A fortnight or ten days
The cat is in antagonist' with
The dog this time, I see,
Well, bad, and being up the fence
To knock a chance for him.

The chief's caught their fair, wife,
The turkey-gobbler's gone
We've given each a good chase
Before they could be shot
There's ripples round a sick wife,
Pies round a well wife,
There's cousins round in abundance
And theme that dare tackle.

The boys and girls will come, wife,
And bring their kids with them,
And long before the day is over
To feast and romp and play,
There'll be a good deal of talk, wife,
We'll never lack a theme
And I reckon I shall talk
Their manner than I do.

This is the day, I reckon,
And count our blessings, wife,
And we're as happy as any
We've had in our lives.
Yes, we will try to help, wife,
Give blessings they need
And we'll try to be thankful
For what we have had
We can't do more than that, wife,
We can't do less
Let us be thankful, wife,
And count our blessings.

"Thanksgiving Day," wife, the chief
Rob Roy approached, assuming humour, and, after exchanging salutes,
thus said:

"I have heard Rob Roy extolled as the late secretary of our Union, and have come a long journey to prove whether he or I deserve that crown as successor.

"Gentlemen of Intra," said Rob Roy, "I never sought a quarrel with any man yet, and I please you to think yourself the first exception I have to oppose in your opinion.

"Thank the language of fear," said Harry.

"Harry, I love to speak of fear to Rob Roy Macfiegar," said Macfiegar. "I'ken ye, lad, I'm no afraid."

The christmas encounter immediately commenced, and Rob Roy found Harry nearly his match, but after much dangerous play he wounded the chieftain in the sword arm, so that he was several months confined at Hudibras.

Proverbetics.

THANKSGIVING DINNER—Stuffing a turkey—New Hampshire.

Turkey is now an over-civilization of the barnyard—Railway Age.

The ruffle of the turkey is heard in the land—Turtle Dove.

Whoever undertakes to devour pumpkin pie undertakes a great deal, and if he does does it in the mouth—Whitney.

I don't know—Why didn't you ask to be one?—Second Turkey-gobbler, I am tormented, I quibble my head, in fact.

Cause for Thanksgiving.

Sunday-school Teacher—Children, have you had anything during the week to be thankful for?

Willie—Yes'm.

Teacher—What, Johnny Padgett, spunged his wife, and I asked first, as the lyre I am—Yesterday—Burlington Free Press.

Mr. Spinner Faints.

"Yes, this blessed Sabbath morning, there I am sound, there I am of an

In this case, I am sorry to say, I have lost and for the next hour planed think, and work with him. Some of the things he had to, but making a lively spring he stepped and fell, rendering a sickening sagging instead of the turkey.

"Well, if the early bird my cage," said he "don't know what Mr. Spinner's, but it's the proper of the humane Mission than turkeys in this year, I hold."

He was nearly exhausted when he ceased, and, giving a sigh, he sank in fashionable despair in and out among the grief of Intra to the amount of Spinner Spinner's standing after it. But warm the sympathy of the Intra leaders of sugar at the aggravating bird, and, sympathizing with the sufferer, a Thanksgiving turkey.

"Well, I'm very sorry," said the chief, "that you have lost your turkey. Bridget, you know I'm good at a bargain. Go and fetch the best turkey in the yard, and I'll give it to Mr. Spinner."

"Bridget, Bridget, I'm coming," said Mr. Spinner, with a cheerful voice, "I'm coming, I'm coming, I'm coming."

"Mirandy, I've brought you a Thanksgiving turkey."

top of the captured bird spoke a to, by the Bridget.

"Dear! So what a woman can do! A turkey, my husband and I, and I'm afraid."

"Yes, Bridget, I'm afraid." said Mr. Spinner, "I'm afraid I'm afraid."

"Mr. Spinner," said Bridget, "I'm sorry to say, I'm afraid."

"Oh, you are afraid," said Mr. Spinner, with his feet above and his head below, and the blessed light of the Spring Lamb, "I'm afraid, I'm afraid, I'm afraid."

"Yes, Bridget," said Mr. Spinner

Charlevoix Sentinel.

Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR

CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 9, 1891.

A newly-patented lumber-cutting machine has been operated at Greenpoint, L. I., which promises to revolutionize the lumber industry. It cuts or slices the logs instead of sawing them, and thus avoids the waste represented by saw dust. The machine cuts this boards and planks, and will slice logs into different thicknesses, from one-thirty-second of an inch to an inch. During a test the machine cut cherry, ash, birch and maple in thicknesses of a sixteenth to a half inch. The logs that were cut had been in a timber yard for ten years; and it is said that if they had been green they would have been cut up more readily than they were. The inventors of this machine claim that by the old sawing and planing process three-eights of a log is wasted; this waste is avoided almost entirely by the slicing process. The most important feature of the new system of lumber cutting forecast by this machine is the operation of the slicers in the woods, while the logs are green. This will serve lumbermakes a large part of the expense of hogging and do away with log-run and log rafting.

Persons in Michigan who hold warrants of swamp lands issued by the United States government since 1850 need to examine them to determine whether or not their title is clear. The grant of Congress made in 1850 to the state of all the swamp land within its borders was intended operative by reason of the failure of the general land office to make the transfer, and the government continued to issue warrants covering the same territory, which was illegal. The state has, within a year or two, succeeded in having the general land office take action, and tranfers have followed as fast as certifications could be made. Section 1,989a of Howell's statutes allows two years from the date of the transfer for parties holding such certificates to make application to the state land office for purchase, their claim taking precedence. They are required to pay $1.25 per acre to quiet the title, but the fee for homesteading, and the amount of all taxes paid, is deducted from the purchase price and allowed in offset. The state land office has no record of these warrants issued by the government, they are liable to be sold to other parties, and such cases frequently arising. It will be for the interest of parties holding warrants of the above description to correspond with the department of state at Lansing.

KEELEY'S DIPSOMANIA CURE.

The right to use Dr. Keeley's bichloride of gold treatment for dipsomania in Michigan has been bought by Detroit capitalists, who will establish a sanitarium at Northville. It is reported that $20,000 in cash was paid for this right, a circumstance going to show what enormous profits Dr. Keeley is making out of his alleged cure. Dr. Keeley's recent rise to fame is one of those commercial and professional romances with which our modern life abounds. A few months ago he was an obscure physician with a moderate practice and an unknown remedy for drunkenness. He was discovered by a great newspaper, puffed editorially and otherwise for weeks, his so-called cures heralded as the solution of the problem, what shall be done with our drunkards? There were glowing accounts of long rows of patients swallowing their turns to receive the marvelous injection, which was to restore them to sanity, start them anew in life and forever end the awful craving for drink. Newspapers and magazines discussed the Keeley cure pro and con, ministers of the gospel commended it as a great social renovator. Keeley's fame was made, and with fame came fortune. Before the popular craze over his cure ends he will be a millionaire.

No one knows the exact nature of the Keeley pharmacology. The same pathological effects follow remedies already well-known to the medical profession. There is no evidence that any of Dr. Keeley's cures are exceptional. His patients are isolated in the little town of Dwight, Illinois, where his office is located. They are separated from the surroundings which have hitherto allured them to stimulant. They are imbued with a desire to be cured of the drink habit. Under these circumstances the patients are subjected to a treatment designed to restore their normal physical condition. The craving for drink departs, but not the taste for it which every man has in a greater or less degree. After a cure is effected the patient returns to his home a changed and improved man. If he relapses his old habits, resumes his customary associations, or takes another drink or two, his old trouble is upon him again and diposmania once more possesses him.

There is nothing wonderful about the Keeley treatment. Any competent physician could do as well with the patients consent. For the pathological effect of treatment is second-hand to the psychological effects of a prospective cure. If a drunkard wills to stop drinking he can be helped in his resolution by medical advice. This is practically what Dr. Keeley does and no more. Hope plays a large part in thousands of cures, as any physician will testify. Dr. Keeley plays upon the imaginations of his patients with his reputation, and restores disordered digestion with his so-called cure. The net result is a reformed drunkard whose future depends wholly upon himself. This is the sum and substance of the Keeley treatment.—Detroit Tribune.

E. H. GREEN offers for sale ten of the best business lots on Bridge street and two on Antrim street. Also the best one hundred feet water front on Round Lake. 1-tf

All those wishing photographs this winter should come between now and the 15th of January, as the gallery will be closed for the winter. Cabinets, $3.00 per dozen.

12 BOWMAN & HEATON.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles, it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s. Regular size, 50 cents and $1.00. 4

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive, you have a bilious Look. If your stomach be disordered you have a Dyspeptic Look and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched Look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters are the great alterative and Tonic acts directly on these vital organs. Clear Complexion, Bright Eyes and Buoyant Spirits are the fruits of good health. Sold at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drugstore, 50c. per bottle. 4

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt-rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or callonsed lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-17

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-tf

Fine Bottled Cider at O. W. Smith's.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all not in usual my wife or her family on my account, as I will pay no debts of her contracting. GEO. SAUNDERS

Hayes, Nov. 27, 1891.

FOR SALE.

Forty acres of pure clothing land. S. E. quarter of S. E. quarter of section 10, township 7 North. Known as the Edwards place. Address,

W. B. HOBBS, GRAY & LYON BROS. CO.

300 Chamber of Commerce Building,

13-tf. Chicago, Ill.

Ho! ho! for Ninety-two!

Go to the

J. Z. LINTON'S

and see the black Baby cigar, also fine tobaccos of all kinds and many other nice things, such as:

Oranges, Apples, Potatoes and Canned Goods of all kinds and a good assortment of Candy. Nuts, Cakes and Chews, but the kind that's easy to please. Give him a call and buy it all in order to pave him from apoplexy. You will find a nice line of both large and small that will give perfect satisfaction to one and all.

BOOTH'S OYSTERS

Now if you don't believe it's so, just give us a call and we will prove it all.

J. Z. LINTON.

5 CENTS BUY'S POUND BAR BEST & MOST ECONOMICAL

ALLEN B. WRISLEY'S OLD BRIDGE SOAP

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The Black) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD FERDUSON HOUSE.

Do You Wish to Join the Procession?

Nothing better illustrates the progress of this country, than the greatly increased and continued demand for Nursery Stock, both fruit and ornamental. Many of our largest fruit growers are increasing their orchards; and all of our farmers are fast learning that there is much more money in fruit-growing, than in any other branch of farming. To the planter or purchaser of nursery stock, at least three things are indispensable: first, the stock should be adapted to the climate; second, the varieties should be true to name; third, the trees or plants should be well matured, vigorous and healthy. STONE & WELLINGTON, of Fonthill, Canada, one of the oldest and largest nurseries in America have long kept these things in view. The stock that I have placed for them in Northern Michigan for the last three years, has given the highest satisfaction. I am now receiving orders for this Canadian stock, having already a large delivery to make in the spring and purpose to make that of next fall, the largest ever known in this county.

Please look up this Nursery company and satisfy yourselves as to their reliability, and the quality of their stock. All orders placed with them through this agency, will receive the most scrupulous attention. Send me your name on a postal card, with five others, who will likely become customers, and get a valuable present free.

QUINCY THACKER,
Charlevoix, Mich

Agent for Stone & Wellington.

TO REDUCE

A large stock of Blankets, Robes and Cutters, we will sell Goat Robes, Plush-lined, for

$3.50 AND UP

Full clipped Knee Plush Trimmed CUTTERS for $20.00

And up. Quality is guaranteed. To appreciate these prices, call and look goods over.

Baker & Son.

Charlevoix.

VILLAGE PROPERTY and FARMING LANDS For Sale.

Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.

Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

A WORD ABOUT THE STAFF OF LIFE.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S heavy forests are going and gone; large fields of wheat and other grains are springing forth in their place. So we do not have to go to other countries to supply us with bread for our families and food for our cattle. Charlevoix Roller Mills are located here, and are making as good flour as is made in the world. Farmers, bring in your wheat for exchange. Samples of the bread-making qualities of our flour can be seen at the mill shortly. We do not give premiums to parties coming 30 or 40 miles, but serve all alike, quality of wheat considered by standard test. Iron Duke cannot be beat; White Rose very close; Silver Spray, a good cheap family flour. Ask your grocer for them and take no other.

Rifenburg Milling Co., Charlevoix.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,

J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for. Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering.

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Closing out sale!

Strictly for Cash!

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

I will for the next Sixty days, for the purpose of renewing stock, close out my stock of

Boots and Shoes

No such chance was ever given here to you (Page for) year

CHEAP

My stock embraces every line desired in this country, and is of the best quality.

Don't let the opportunity slip.

SHERWOOD

Mrs. H. A. Carr, Fashionable Millinery.

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX.

NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.

and all the latest novelties in Millinery. Also a new line of Corsets including the

MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST

Also Agent for sale of patterns of the Holliday Trade

Look out for something new.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.

He is also selling a first-class watch, a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-silver cases for $8.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

Call and see. C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW FALL & WINTER SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits all from $24 to $30.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL, Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE, GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,

Dealer in

Rifenburg Milling Co's FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.

IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,

Proprietor of

NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

DR. G. W. CROUTER, Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS: 8 to 12 a. m. 1 to 5 p.

THE BLACK FLAG.

Rev. Henry M. Field Republishes Stoddard's Startling Allegation.

JACK KIRKUP.

A Pen Portrait of the Typical Border Ruffian.

One chapter, however, furnished by another pen, is new and startling—that which ascribes to Jackson at one moment a proposal to raise the black flag! This is the last extremity of war, and its most horrible barbarity. The very word suggests slaughter without mercy. The black flag floats only at the mast-head of pirate ships, hailing by a sign that one not be misunderstood that quarter will neither be asked nor given. In warfare on land it would mean a massacre of prisoners, a thing unknown among the nations of the present day, and that would bring upon any man or any government that should attempt it, the execration of the whole civilized world. The very idea of such a thing is so alien to the character of Stonewall Jackson that a statement of this kind must be received with great reserve. It would not be deemed worthy of a moment's attention were it not that it is given on the authority of his own brother-in-law, General Rufus Barringer, of the confederate army, who details at considerable length a remarkable interview that took place after the battle. Days battle, while the army was still encamped near Richmond. But the statement is explicit, and leaves no doubt that Jackson believed in the Cromwellian way of carrying on war; that if war must be, the more tremendous the blows, the sooner will it come to an end, and he would push the war into the North, and make it felt in all its severity. But he would never have dealt with prisoners as Cromwell did with the Irish garrison of Drogheda, or Napoleon with the Turks at Jaffa. The best proofs of what he would do is in what he did do when the fortunes of war threw a whole garrison into his hands. At Harper's Ferry he captured eleven thousand men, and instead of treating them with great severity, he paroled them all; by which, instead of being sent to Southern prisons, they were transported to a camp near Chicago, where they were kept in comparative comfort till they were exchanged. Of course if they violated their parole they would be exposed to the utmost penalty of the war. But the policy, instead of being cruel, was the mildest that could have been adopted. It was not, however, on the ground of humanity, but to disencumber his army, that he might move it rapidly, which he could not do with thousands of prisoners dragging on its heels. If at Harper's Ferry he had stopped to look after them, it would have delayed his march to join Lee for the approaching battle. When he declined therefore, that he would "keep no prisoners," it was for a military reason. He had laid on a plan of campaign, which he believed, if vigorously pursued, would end the war. It was to form three or four great "movable columns" of forty thousand men each, which should be literally stripped for battle, leaving behind not only prisoners but even fortified posts, that the whole fighting force might be concentrated into a few compact bodies, which could be moved with great rapidity into the Northern states and against Northern cities. That this grand strategy would have succeeded, we do not believe, for the best of all reasons, that it was never attempted and failed—at Antietam and Gettysburg—in the first of which Jackson himself took part. But at the time of the interview the lead not been attempted, and he was very sanguine of success, even planning to himself how he would plant his guns within shelling distance of Philadelphia and New York.—Harper's Magazine.

A TALE OF TROUSERS.

From Which it Seems the Boy Is Father to the Man.

Harold Moulton, known in insurance circles, lives in a small suburban town in New Jersey, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. He is the proud father of a 6-year-old boy who was recently promoted from short dresses to diminutive trousers, which event, by the way, created much excitement among the juvenile population of Hackensack.

Another great attraction of Hackensack is its sand. In critical New York it would not be deemed worthy of a band, but across the river it is "origin in it," so to speak.

The day after Robbie Moulton made his debut in trousers the leader of the band received a full drum major's uniform. There was to be a parade in the afternoon, but the leader put his suit on about 9 a. m. and strutted around town.

He was quite a martial figure in the blue and gold suit with the fierce bearskin adorning his head, and he knew it. Furthermore he wanted the Moulton' servant girl to know it, so the two were what is called in the country "steady company." So he wandered by the house four times, but would not stop.

Little Robbie had been watching the performance with an interest second only to that he took in his own suit. Finally he could stand it no longer, and as the leader swaggered by for the fifth time piped out in a shrill voice that everybody could hear:

"Maamaa! maamaa! Johnny Hopper has got pants on, too."

And Mr. Hopper immediately fell under in his own estimation that he probably hurt himself.

Playing Cards.

Japanese playing cards have been the subject of a paper read at the Natural museum. They appear to have originated in Japan, and have no resemblance to those of China, India, or Europe. There are 49 in the pack, and these are divided into twelve suits of four cards each, with a plain white extra card, called the "joker." The designs on the cards represent the twelve months by flowers and vegetables or scenery, and each card is different from all the others.

The Silex Product.

In 1885 the silex product of the United States amounted to 148,410 pounds, worth $248,876, while that of 1889 was but 49,200 pounds, worth only $66,000. Since there is no decrease in demand for this article this decline in the home production can be attributed to no other cause than the large quantities imported from Canada and other foreign countries.

C. B. & CO.

We are now receiving our stock of goods for the fall trade, and prices were never more favorable for the buyer. Our stock comprises Staple Dry Goods, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Groceries, Provisions, Builder's Hardware, Furniture, Lime, Cement, Plastering Hair, Stucco, Hay, Feed and everything that goes to make up a firstclass general stock. Our prices will be found all right. We want your trade.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

BERT MASON.

SCHNEERMANN AND GUIDEBECK,

The Leaders of Low Prices.

Come in and see our Gray Mixed Gent's Underwear at 39 cents; a bargain at 50 cts. Also all-wool Scarlet Underwear, extra heavy, at 79 cents. A fine Lawn hem-stitched Handkerchief, in bordered and plain white, at 5 cents. All Linen Towels at 5 cts. and upward. We are still selling Indigo Blue Prints at 4 cts. Good Comforters for $1 or and $1.50. Bargains in Shawls; bargains in Cloaks. Newmarkets from $2.50 upward. You can buy a $10 Garment of us for $5.98.

COME IN AND SEE US.

We are Leaders of Low Prices.

Schneermann & Guidebeck.

LEWIS' BLOCK. Charlevoix, Mich.

A.

THE SONG OF THE "No. 9."

Mr. Jones is the president man,
As you see in coming the cinch;
And he manages things
I'm going to sing the song.

No. 9, No. 9.

I'm followed in the pass and the rush,
For with I frequently settle;
To the cashier I retire,
In the goodness I'm fine.

No. 9, No. 9.

I drink gin nearly once tired,
With much always so good;
The least work I increase,
For can I so be jolly.

No. 9, No. 9.

I am easily pass'd over by all,
With treasurer the majority do fail;
And when I am shine,
This life is benign.

No. 9, No. 9.

To the Paris Exposition I went,
Upon getting the grand Prize intent;
I left at home,
The Grand Prize was mine.

No. 9, No. 9.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889, at Paris, France, the best scales in the world were on exhibition, representing the United States in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the ablest mechanical engineers of the world, and were awarded the highest and most honorable recompense of France. THE JONES OF BINGHAMTON standard scales are sold, now, throughout the United States, at the same price as other scales of inferior quality. Ask your dealer for the JONES OF BINGHAMTON standard scales, and take no other. If your dealer does not keep them, we will ship you a set, on receipt of $5, and a world of fun comes with them. Our Fairbanks Standard Scales are the best of all, and a world of fun comes with them. Our Jones Scales are the best of all, and a world of fun comes with them. Our Jones Scales are the best of all, and a world of fun comes with them. Our Jones

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, — MICHIGAN.

AN OLD-TIME HORROR.

THREE MINNESOTA URCHINS DEVOURED BY WOLVES.

Sons of Life-of-man—Pennsylvania Hunters Killed by Bears—Captured a Wildcat—Fatal Wrestle in Nebraska—A Campfire Idle Chicagoan.

Chippewa Lake to Willows.

News reached St. Paul that wolves killed three children of Andrew Gopher at the town called Sons of Life-of-man, near New Ulm, Minn., on the road to the Paul Bunyan the great man in Pine County in September, years ago. Andrew Gopher, German southeastern Minn. farmer, and Anna Gopher, his wife, were busy subsisting on stolen or the forgotten food of the Twin Cities, capital of New Brighton. A mean or the mean wife were busy together in the shack, a shack thick as clover weather, only three home are the mean wife, one, and the and between Sylvia and mean. Their ranch was in the Indian country, rough country, with rocks and partially stone. Among the Indians who lived there was Jim Lone Wolf, two mixed-bloods in an a dugout, and lifted mean wife. Indian Jim was a raging bloodhound. Their neighbor mean wife. Andrew Gopher was in the hills at their ranch, and on the Andrew Gopher, Andrew Gopher, Andrew Gopher,

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 9, 1891.

Northern Michigan News.

H. O. Rose of Petoskey, ordered thirty-one turkeys last Wednesday for his employes' Thanksgiving dinner.

Since one year ago this month 70 postoffices were established in Michigan. Three were in Charlevoix county Afton, Jay and Raymond, but not one was established in Emmet or Antrim counties.

Boyne Citizen: The pile driver will remain here for the winter. On account of the cold weather Mr. Monroe finds it impossible to repair the vessel sufficiently to take it away before spring. The said we are to have another saison in town. At least, the village council at a special meeting held Saturday evening, accepted the bonds of Zimmerman and Talford.

Elk Rapids Progress: Dexter & Noble have sold the elegant side-wheel steamer, Queen of the Lakes, to Elk Rapids parties who will at once place her over in the lakes and get her ready for next season's business. The names of those purchasing and the contract price we purposely withhold for the present. Suffice it to say that the new owners know the wants of the people of the inland trade and will make the Queen a paying property. With the railroad running here and at Spencer Creek the inland route will become more popular every year. The Queen of the Lakes cost her former proprietors $25,000, is handsomely appointed and has always been a prime favorite with the traveling public.

The Boyne Citizen, in a well-written review of the lumbering interests at the head of the lake, among other things gives the following figures. White & Co. will cut at Boyne City seven to eight million feet of logs, and will operate the water mill at the Falls, which has a capacity of three million feet of hardwood, they will also buy at least ten thousand cords of bark and a quantity of shipping wood. Boise & Carmichael have thoroughly overhauled their mill at Bay Springs and expect that its output the coming season will not fall far short of three million feet of hardwood and one million feet of hemlock. The new firm of Jabenville & Goodman will operate on Deer Creek about 3½ miles south-east of Boyne City, and will stock up with two million feet, of which A. J. Beardsley will put in 500,000. Von Platten at Advance will stock with four to five million feet of logs, and the Richard Webster mill will be operated by Chas. Ward of Boyne City, who will stock it with at least one million feet of hardwood, and will ship its products from the docks of Boyne City. The little mill that has laid idle for a couple of years, will be operated by outside parties who will run it to its fullest capacity which is about three million.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Gordon has laid up for the winter and was pulled out at Washburn's yesterday.

The schooner Scove that went out with the first last week, was driven before the gale onto Gull Island.

The schooner Sea Gem is being hauled out on the south side, and will have entire new upper works put on, for which Jo Swain has the contract.

On Monday, the old W. M. Wright was released from Camp bell's yard and towed into Lake Michigan by the Higgie. Her bones are now at rest on shore, north of the piers.

The sidpioneer wrecking tug Leviatan was burned to the waters edge at Cheboygan, and the tug which is fishing for Connable & Sons at that place and lay alongside had a narrow escape.

The Peoria came in looking as if an elephant had walked into her, the result of an accident in towing. But mariners assure us the damage is not serious as it only concerns the gingerbread works.

The tug Anapach lost her anchor and was run ashore in the lee of the South Fox island last Friday morning, where she lies safely. Mr. Gerkee will attempt to bring her in as soon as the weather settles.

The schooner Peoria arrived home from Milliwaukee Thursday evening, having made the run in 64 hours. This is the best round trip, running time on record as the Peoria went over in about 56 hours. Will Huinnes, mate of the vessel made the run, and the old gentleman says the boy has beat his record. Albert E. Mason came over in the Peoria.

H. V. Hitselberg, Dr. LeFevre and Frank Sons have each purchased the "Art Garland" coal stove. These are the finest stoves ever brought into Charlevoix. L. D. Bartholomew & Co. have the sale of them here.

All Hands Around!
Sally go down the middle!
OYSTERS Large.
OYSTERS Fat.
OYSTERS Fresh.
No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.
O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.
MONEY TO LOAN ON REAL ESTATE SECURITY.

As to Your Clothing
There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

Historical Society.

At the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society, held at the residence of Maj. E. H. Green Friday evening, the following program was presented: Instrumental solo, Miss Lilian S. Green; Inaugural address, President H. M. Hose; Recitation "Little Christel," Miss May Gaylen; Discussion on "Cleopatra"; Instrumental solo, Mrs. E. H. Green; Vocal solo, Miss Lilian Carpenter; Recitation, "Miss Witch Hazel Thistledod," Miss Phia Wood; Instrumental solo, Mrs. E. H. Green. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18, '92, at the home of A. T. Washburne. Subject "Mohammed."

Religious News.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning service, 10:30, Subject, "The Realm of Faith." Evening, 7:00, "The Prodigal Son—His Reception." Sunday school, 12 m. Epworth League, 6:00 p. m. Subject, "Judas."

Masonic.

Regular Communication of A. F. & A. M. No. 282, next Tuesday evening, Dec. 15. Order of business, annual election of officers.

M. J. STORKMAN, W. M.
WM. B. VAUGHAN, Sec'y.

Hastings Town Hayes.

I. S. Webster returned home from Buffalo on Monday.

H. S. Newson will remove his saw and shingle mill to Burgess.

The town board will meet at the clerk's office next Friday to audit accounts.

The wind last Friday night did great havoc among the timber.

Mrs. John Newsted had a stroke of paralysis Saturday morning.

The wind blew W. B. Vaughan's barn door off the rollway Saturday morning.

Henry Ward has moved a portion of his household goods to Hayes and will soon be a Hayesite again.

Moses Cooper, town treasurer, has the tax roll and is ready to write out tax receipts.

J. M. Garmire has organized a writing school at Maple Grove.

Report of school district No. 2, for the month of November. Number of pupils enrolled, 21. Average standing:

5 Grade.		3 Grade.
Sally Dagsty	99	Tessie Barnes	95
Nina Nelson	98	Ella Bartholomew	95
4 Grade.		2nd Reader
Gideon Stockton	96	2 Grade.
Mary Adams	95	Robert Stockton	97
Cora Kennedy	95	Oliver Adams	96
Phebe Arnold	95	Georgie Arnold	95
Agnes Gaylord	95	Georgie Kopf	95
1st Reader
LAURA COOPER, Teacher.

Newton Notes.

Mrs. Carter remains about the same.

The Cathead light is still kept lighted.

Mr. Balsdock with the school children are getting ready to have an exhibition sometime this winter.

Christmas eve at the church the children, young and old, will meet Santa Claus and—well, be sure and be there.

The entertainment that was to have taken place last Saturday night was postponed on account of weather till this week Saturday night. A nice social time, only ten cents. Come out.

The band boys are making arrangements to have one of their pleasant dances on Friday evening Dec. 25th. See large bills.

Henry Superneau thinks of removing to East Jordan to live.

A. B. Meech went to South Arm Tuesday.

The Ladies' Aid Society met this week with Mrs. Bromley at Mrs. Alson Wood's.

C. L. S. C.

The C. L. S. C. will meet at the home of Miss Blanche Bartholomew, Friday evening, Dec. 11. The following program has been provided.

C. L. S. C. song No. 18.
Devotional.
Roll Call—Quotations from Tennyson.
Piano Solo—Miss Winnie Bartholomew.
Question Table in Nov. No. of Chautauquan.
Reading—Washington in English Fiction—Mrs. Burns.
Recitation, selected—Miss Pearl Dart.
Vocal Solo—Miss Lillie Carpenter.
Three letters from Washington, viz. 1st, During his boyhood. 2d, During the French and Indian War. 3d, During the Revolutionary War.
Domestic and Social Life of the Colonists—Mrs. Iddings.
Piano Solo—Miss Martin.
Battles of Trenton and Princeton—Mr. Thacker.
C. L. S. C. song No. 27.

The Editor of the Petoskey Record has for sale the staunch and fast little steamer "Ida May".

She is 26 feet keel, 6 feet beam, can make 9 miles an hour with passenger and baggage, and handles a quarter million feet of logs nicely. She can be bought for $500 cash.

J. C. BONTECOU,
Petoskey, Mich.

(First publication Dec. 9th.)

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, } ss
County of Charlevoix. }

At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the Probate Office, in the Village of Boyne City, on the 30th day of November in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one. Present, Frank D. Wayne, Judge of Probate. In the matter of Estate of Jeremy Emrey, deceased. Proving and filing the petition, duly verified, of Alice B. Green, praying that a certain instrument now on file in this Court purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of said deceased, be admitted to Probate and that E. H. Green, named in said Last Will and Testament may be appointed executor thereof. It appears to the satisfaction of the Court that the date of January 4, 1890, is the date when the said instrument, is assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the time allowed for the filing of claims against said deceased, and for all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, to be held in the Probate Office, in the Village of Boyne City in said County and show cause if any there be, why said petition should not be granted. It is ordered that it is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A true copy.) FRED. W. WAYNE,
Judge of Probate.

TO THE FARMERS
OF
Northern Michigan.
THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN SEED CO.
Have organized for the purpose of Importing, Growing and Exporting
SEED GRAINS, etc.
and operating in all kinds of
FARM SUPPLIES.
Many of our farmers realize the importance of a change in their seed grains. Vegetables are showing "up and in" has determined the quality and enhanced the quantity of crops raised. We purpose to furnish you with fresh stock of each variety at lowest cash and percent.
Profitable to Grow.
If you want a change, or supply of seeds, place your orders with us, and it shall have our careful attention.
The Northern Michigan Seed Company.
QUINCY THACKER, Manager.
Office with Bank of Charlevoix.

A. T. WASHBURN, - - - Green's Block.

Circular Letter.
TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS:
The winter season being now fairly upon us, I beg to call your attention to the advisability of securing CHOICE ARTICLES of wearing apparel at VERY LOW PRICES. I shall continue my 10 per cent discount on Dress Goods and Cloaks. Who could fail to find something pleasing among the great line to be seen here.
Dame Fashion says Bedford Cords and Camel Hair are leaders of all other styles in dress goods; and why shouldn't they? So soft, warm and genteel do they make up that one gets both comfort and elegance combined at a very low price. Narrow Gimps and nail-head Trimming seem to command the preference, and as they wear well, and are not expensive, it make a very economical trimming, and is adapted to our climate.
Buyers will consult their best interests by getting m. prices and QUALITIES before purchasing elsewhere.
Truly yours,
Green Block. A. T. WASHBURN.

A. T. WASHBURNE, - - - - - GREEN BLOCK

Beaman's Pharmacy.
I would respectfully announce to the public of Charlevoix and vicinity, that I have succeeded to the drug business of F. A. Cochran & Co., and propose to enlarge the stock to meet the most exacting demands of the trade. Drugs, Stationery and all goods connected with those lines always on hand. Prescriptions compounded at all hours. I would ask a share of your patronage.
GEO. W. BEAMAN,
Dispenser.

If you buy your supplies for winter from
THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.
you will not be disappointed.
A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.
Yours truly,
Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
Jos. C. Miller
VOL. XXIII. NO-24. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 16, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,148

HAVE WE CAUGHT YOUR EYE?
THEN LEND US YOUR EAR!
THE HOLIDAY SEASON is upon us. What are you going to buy the dear ones? We appreciate your many past favors, and will make it an inducement for you to consult us regarding your Holiday purchases. Note our offer: WITH EACH PURCHASE AMOUNTING TO TEN DOLLARS we will give a
BEAUTIFUL MUFF
FREE!
Our stock is the largest and most complete in Northern Michigan. We make the prices right.
Silk Mufflers and Handkerchiefs.
Dress Goods and Trimmings.
Ice-Wool Fascinators.
Plushes, Silks and Satins.
Rugs and Chenille Portieres, big line.
Linens, elegant in fabric.
Mason & Berdan
Cloaks, greatly reduced in price.
Fancy Silk Hose and Silk Vests.
Elegant Fur Capes, still a few left
Kid Gloves in all styles and shades.
Notions, in great variety.
Artistic Chenille Table Scarfs.

CALKINS & WARNE
EXTEND THEIR
GREETING,
And announce that they have opened an elegant line of Holiday Goods for the parlor or the boudoir, Toilet Cases and Albums in artistic styles, and numberless Christmas Gifts that will please. For every $10 in trade a beautiful Album is given away.
Make Your Selections.

You Will Make a Great Mistake
IF YOU PURCHASE
HOLIDAY GOODS
Before calling on us. For low prices and First-class goods you will find us at the head of the procession.
F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Druggists.

Local News.

—See Linton's new ad.

—Mrs. J. A. Carlstom goes to Chicago Monday.

—F. G. Hines & Co. call attention to holiday goods this week.

—Calkins & Warne make holiday goods the burden of their song this week.

—Hon. John Nicholls and wife leave Monday for Chicago and Whitewater, Wis.

—Jackson Ingalls, of Elk Rapids, was here Friday shaking hands with old friends.

—Bert Mason gives prices this week on several useful articles of household use.

—Corporal Tom Kelly left Monday for the Grand Rapids Soldiers Home for the winter.

—Mrs. McLeod and Hettie leave next Monday for Pontiac and Detroit to visit relatives, and will be absent a month.

—Dexter Barnes has a large chart from which he will give the first of a series of Sunday evening discourses next Sunday evening.

—A. T. Washburne has a fine new holiday ad on our eighth page, regarding holiday trade that will prove of interest.

—Antoine Richards has bought out the South Arm mail contract and engaged his son Andy partner at the barn on Clinton street.

—The Michigan State Teachers' Association holds its forty-first annual meeting in Grand Rapids, Dec. 28, 29 and 30. Special railroad rates are given.

—The Charlevoix Eastern Star Chapter has purchased an organ of S. M. Sou & Sons. Next to a gun, an organ is the most useful article of furniture in a lodge room.

—In their advertising spare this week, Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co. remark that "the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world," and make application that will interest our readers.

—Miss Weldon, teacher of the second intermediate department of the Charlevoix school, has been quite sick the past week at the residence of O. S. Washburn. She has resigned her position and will return to her home at Cato.

—Thursday the steel was laid into Petoskey, and the people turned out in large numbers to welcome the advent of the new road. The Democrat says the people are very enthusiastic, and will make a demonstration when the first passenger train arrives.

—Hon. A. Hutzen has so far recovered from his long and serious illness as to take an extended drive daily, when the weather is favorable. On Monday, accompanied by his sister Hetty, he will leave for California, where all spend the winter with his daughter.

—The Charlevoix candy factory is in full blast turning out goods for the holidays, at home and abroad. Mr. Parmon reports a largely increasing trade and a growing appreciation of the quality of his goods. Local dealers should encourage home institutions of this kind by keeping their money at home. Give Jim your orders for the holidays.

—The cigar manufactory of C. Barry, in this place, is fast growing into an industry of no insignificant proportions. Six hands are constantly employed in the factory, and its sales are on the increase to such an extent that Mr. Barry will soon have to increase his force. The justly celebrated "Bellvedere" is the pride of the product, and is found throughout Northern Michigan, wherever there are appreciative smokers. Other brands are made, and every brand turned out has all established objects in view for quality. See advertisement elsewhere.

—Don Jordan furnishes another first-class criminal case for the next term of Circuit Court. Mrs. Swanson of that place made complaint that Dr. Cole a veterinary surgeon, took her lower New. 16th, on pretense that he would treat them for the farcy. That is the old game but has sent of the wooed, and the lie which gives the assassinate. She therefore caused his arrest and entanglement before Justice McLeod, of that place, week before last, and he was bound over to the Circuit Court. The lie then makes disclosures which implicate Wm. Alexander, H. C. Bidwell and S. J. Randall, of East Jordan. Cole claims that the horses were taken from his barn at Boyne Falls, and from there taken by the trio to Empire. Saturday Sheriff Hard brought the trio down from Traverse City, and in Justice McLeod's court were released on bail, to appear for examination Dec. 26th, on a charge of horse stealing.

—Schneemann & Guidebeek being too late to change their ad this week, desire to call attention to great bargains in plush cloaks, sacks and newmarkets.

At a regular communication of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M., held last evening, the following officers were elected: W. M., W. A. Smith; S. W. John M. Ackerr; J. W., John W. Kirby; Treasurer, H. V. Hitselberg; Secretary, Geo. A. Sherwood; Trustee, full term, S. M. Sou.

The officers will be privately installed next Tuesday evening.

Sunday, Dec. 27, (St. John's Day) will be observed by religious services, which the Lodge will attend in a body.

G. A. R. Election.

Hatter Post, G. A. R., elected the following officers last Monday evening: Commander, Robert Miller; S. V. C., D. C. Nettleton; J. V. C., G. O. Scott; Surgeon, S. W. Salter; Chaplain, Jacob Steed; Q. M., S. M. See; O. D., H. Berdan; O. G., T. Hoak; Sergt., L. Whitmeyer; Delegate, E. H. Green, Alternate, Harrison Berdan.

Business Change.

Yesterday Capt. Oscar E. Wilber brought and took possession of the grocery business of Amos Fox, having leased the property, including dock and warehouses for a term of years.

Capt. Wilber is already a resident of Charlevoix, and has been, practically, all summer, and he has all along intended to make this his future permanent home. He is proud of Charlevoix, and will make a live and progressive citizen, and, we sincerely hope, a successful business man.

Religious News.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning, subject, "Christmas;" or "The Fullness of Time." Evening, "The Prodigal's Elder Brother."

Methodist.

Services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday school at 12. Epworth League at 6 p. m.

A Very Expert Gaoler.

In a reply to the SENTINEL's recent reference to the water-works question the Democrat very cunningly extracts four whole lines of our editorial upon which it bases a charge of inconsistency. The manifest unfairness of such garbling will appear by a reference to the following extract from our article:

"But we will not be the about it saying that the water-works question is one of the most important questions that will come before our people for decision. We do not hesitate to say that the prosperity of our village depends largely upon the decision we shall make. Pleasure resorters will not come to a place where they are charged from 25 to 50 per cent more than they can get the same thing for at other places. Manufacturers will not locate where fuel is dearer than at other places. Capitalists will not be induced to locate where they are charged more for water than at other places. Our village is now in a position to make a bid for the manufacturing business of Northern Michigan. We have the water power, we have the timber, we have the facilities for shipping, we have the best harbor on the lake shore, we have the best fishing grounds on the great lakes, we have the best farming lands in Northern Michigan, we have the best climate in Northern Michigan, we have the best people in Northern Michigan, we have the best village in Northern Michigan, we have the best prospects of any village in Northern Michigan, we have the best water-works system in Northern Michigan, we have the best water-works system in the world, we have the best water-works system that ever was, or ever will be, if we do not make a bid for the manufacturing business of Northern Michigan, we have the best water-works system that ever was, or ever will be, if we do not make a bid for the

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

ALL PEACE IN BRAZIL.

RIO GRANDE DO SUL SATISFIED WITH THE SITUATION.

Mail Steamer Fought in a Rebel Warship—Rebels Withdraw from the Speakership Contest—California Trade Soldiers Defied—Shermans, Private Art Gallery.

A La Gloria Style.

RIO JANEIRO advices say the city is still enthusiastic over the resignation of Diomedo Peixoto and the succession of the Presidency of Floriano Peixoto. Peixoto had no other alternative than to quit office. He says he. He was allowed to do his own fight and force just enough to make it possible to make an his mind. To celebrate his victory the signatures fired on the city and partially destroyed churches in Cabo Cambrida. Peixoto, as soon as he had resigned his office, issued a manifesto in which he said that he was indeed sorry to leave the office, but that he felt he has been a great injury if he should proceed his resignation. The proceedings, he said, were as quiet and as orderly as possible. Every one seems satisfied with the change. The military remaining quiet.

Caught on the Fly Wave.

THE Pacific Mail steamer Gaelic, which arrived at San Francisco from Hong Kong, was struck by a rebel shot while in the Rio Janeiro harbor. The steamer was at the time of the fight in the midst of the rebel warship Rio Janeiro, and was hit by a shot from the latter. The steamer was not damaged.

Mrs. Mary McNeal, of Braddock, Pa., has been substantially cured for 31 days. She had tuberculosis and had hemorrhagic, and no drugs but opium and cocaine. The medicine used Dr. Mott's delicate of cancer. Mrs. McNeal's case is peculiar in many respects. For forty-five years she was so incurable smoker. She invariably held the pipe in the same position between her teeth. The stem of the pipe from the mouth on the same spot, and finally caused cancer of the jaw.

WILLIAM J. FLORENCE, the actor, died at the Continental Hotel, in Philadelphia. Death came as a startling surprise to those in attendance upon the sick man for the reason that his condition had been considered so improving in the afternoon and early evening. Only Mr. Florence's sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Williams of Hoboken, his sister, Mrs. Norman Wood of Washington, and Dr. Patrick Donovan were with him when he passed away. He had been apparently getting better, and the physicians had no idea that the end was so near. Dr. Donovan, who had charge of the case, had left the hotel an hour and a half before, secure in the idea that his patient was out of danger. Mr. Florence's death was caused by a hemorrhage, dying the night were he was taken with the fatal illness, and from which he never recovered.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

BANKER THOMAS J. SHORT, of Edgerton, Wis., was accidentally shot in the head while hunting. He was found by a friend, who was hunting near by, and was taken to the Monroe House, where he died. Mr. Short was a son of the late Charles Poole, raised his pun to the—and at the same moment his dog, who was crouching near by, jumped, sudden's aroused by the sound, and the gun went off, the blank shot from Poole's gun in the head, and killed him on the spot.

At Richmond, Ind., Duke and Bessie Stevenson, aged 14 and 16, abandoned their home being a year since Duke's home and left him an artful home. Bessie dressed in a boy's clothes, cut her hair and went about from home. Bessie was a girl and was hunting for him when she was found. The boy said that Duke had no right to leave home. Bessie said she was tired of being a girl and wanted to be a boy. Duke said he was tired of being a boy and wanted to be a girl. The children were taken out of the wheeling car with his leg broken. The car was crowded and the brakes were not applied in time. Some little boy was in front of the car when it was stopped. The engine was demolished. The fireman jumped and escaped with a slight injury.

Close Call for Firemen.

Severe firemen were buried under falling walls at a fire in the Sentry Manufacturing Company's building in Cincinnati, and all but one escaped with slight injuries.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

Three several girls and a child lost their lives in a house fire at Jamestown, N. Y.

The Rev. Dr. Bishop Newton, of Bethlehem, Pa., has resigned his position as Bishop of the Episcopal Church of Georgia, has decided to accept.

At Syracuse, N. Y., the audience had two scares, directed at the Grand Theater when fire broke out in that part of the building occupied by Jakes & Sullivan's Bird Store. The Bazar Bazar, which broke out in the Spaulding cotton, in the Lake Shore Hotel, Buffalo, Mrs. Martin Martinez, a wax taper burned out her. It was discovered in time to prevent a conflagration.

Miss Mary McNeal, of Braddock, Pa., has been substantially cured for 31 days. She had tuberculosis and had hemorrhagic, and no drugs but opium and cocaine. The medicine used Dr. Mott's delicate of cancer. Mrs. McNeal's case is peculiar in many respects. For forty-five years she was an inveterate smoker. She invariably held the pipe in the same position between her teeth. The stem of the pipe from the mouth on the same spot, and finally caused cancer of the jaw.

WILLIAM J. FLORENCE, the actor, died at the Continental Hotel, in Philadelphia. Death came as a startling surprise to those in attendance upon the sick man for the reason that his condition had been considered so improving in the afternoon and early evening. Only Mr. Florence's sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Williams of Hoboken, his sister, Mrs. Norman Wood of Washington, and Dr. Patrick Donovan were with him when he passed away. He had been apparently getting better, and the physicians had no idea that the end was so near. Dr. Donovan, who had charge of the case, had left the hotel an hour and a half before, secure in the idea that his patient was out of danger. Mr. Florence's death was caused by a hemorrhage, dying the night were he was taken with the fatal illness, and from which he never recovered.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

A WATERSPOUT message at Baltimore, Md., from Washington reports that a cyclone and waterspout struck that city. Seven persons were killed and Motzer, at half was so-line. The storm struck Baltimore and communication with Washington was cut off. Says a dispatch from New York: A service wind and rain storm is advancing up the coast and all communication with points south of Washington was cut off. A dispatch from Washington said that the storm had not yet reached that city, but was thought to be in all directions.

SIMMONS GENERAL WYMAN, of the Marine Hospital Service, at Washington, received a telegram from Surgeon J. H. White, who was in charge of the sanitary work in the cholera epidemic at Hardie Neck, Va. He reported 7 new cases, 3 deaths, 3 convalescent 20, 47 all active. Problem more yet to be found. Fifteen boxes known to be infected. So far to avoid concentrating and distribution. Nine families, 56 persons, almost starving. Population infected district 1,000 white and 1,000 colored. Population scattered over 10 square miles. Unemployed was now remaining in small groups and feel the destitute. Use of rice rations with accompanied 11th of cases. Unsatisfactory, afraid of sharp early calm.

Close Without Failure.

The participants of an attempt at train robbery in California have met close to bafle. The train operatives stopped at Elkgrove on the way south. When about 15 short miles the trainmen were warned that the train, cracked and shattered in fragments. Upon inspection of the box found the contents of the safe had been blown out. The robbers had been interrupted after the afternoon and were gone when the last passenger left the station. The robbers had taken the train's baggage car, and had left the train, leaving a short distance from the station, and then left the train

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 16, 1891.

THE MESSAGE.

Of course it is customary for party papers to refer to the message of their President as "a statesmanlike document," and for the opposition to take it fore and aft. But Democrats can find little in President Harrison's message to criticise. It is full of neat and devoid of platitude. There is a dignified reserve in his treatment of the Chilean matter, and a suggestion of something to follow in a special message.

The Michigan gerrymander comes in for Presidential condemnation, as it should, and a remedy is asked for. English papers condemn the tone of the message, which is greatly in its favor.

Two new war-ships were launched the past month, and Chili is becoming more pacific.

La grippe is again ravaging Europe attended by a remarkable death rate. At many points in this country, also, it is prevalent.

The annual report of the Postmaster General again recommends a postal telegraph, and also favors a postal telephone system.

The election of Crisp, of Georgia, as Speaker, is only another illustration of the fact that the Southern end of Democracy in the party as much now as it ever did.

John Sherman's name will rank in history with that of Alexander Hamilton, and Ohio can not afford to retire such a man from the Senate so long as he cares to remain there.

A free coinage bill can not be passed over the President's veto, and the country may well be profoundly thankful that it has a President who stands ready to veto any Democratic attempt to depreciate and discredit the honest dollar.

The Democratic Congressman who first introduces a bill to reform the tariff by proceeding in the direction of free trade will receive the hearty thanks of the Republicans. They are anxious to have somebody act the fool in that way at the earliest convenient moment.

A New York paper, referring to Gov. Hill's attempt to steal the Legislature of the State, says that "the Democratic party can not afford to indorse such a proceeding" but then the Democratic party is always doing things that it cannot afford to do.

A year ago the free traders were daily calling attention to the "increased prices of Christmas presents" all on account of the McKinlay tariff. These free traders are now silent while the people crowd the stores to buy Christmas presents cheaper than ever before. The McKinley tariff is a very good Christmas present in itself for the American people.

As strange an alliance as that between France and Russia is the one which is now reported between England and China. The two latter countries are threatened by Russia's advance in Asia, and this consideration naturally brings together these nations which are of opposite poles in religion, civilization and aspiration. Before diplomatic exigencies sentiment has to give way.

The commercial agencies report a reduction during the past few days of five and ten cents per yard on carpet. And this reduction has come under the injurious McKinley tariff! Don's review for the week just closing states that ingrains are cheaper in the United States, under the robber tariff, than in England under free trade! There is a high tariff on carpets. Who pays it?

In the reorganization of the lower house of the 52d congress complications are liable to arise which will give genial and burly Tom Reed an opportunity for a lot of fun, and afford infinite scope for his fine sarcasm. A new house, immediately upon organization, has usually adopted the rules of its predecessor, pending the report of its committee on rules. It goes without saying that a majority of the present house will not be likely to follow this time-honored precedent by adopting "Czar" Reed's rules, which made them so raging mad last winter, but will probably adopt some general authority, like Cushing, until the new rules can be prepared, which will become time in January. Then it is likely that some of the older democratic members will not be prepared to reject everything in the rules of the last house, and a discussion will ensue, from which the ex-speaker may derive much amusement if he should feel that way.

J. Z. LINTON'S

Christmas is close at hand; New Year will soon follow. Now, if you see old Santa Claus, send him to

LINTON'S.

He has the very finest assortment of Candy and Nuts in Charlevoix.

GIVE HIM A CALL

He will try to please you all, both in goods and price. Oysters fresh, I have on hand, in the bulk or in the can.

J. Z. LINTON

A Wonder Worker.

Mr. Frank Huffman, a young man of Burlington, O., states that he had been under the care of two prominent physicians, and used their treatment until he was not able to get around. They pronounced his case to be Consumption and incurable. He was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds and at that time was not able to walk across the street without resting. He found, before he had used half of a dollar bottle, that he was much better; he continued to use it and is to-day enjoying good health. If you have any throat, lung or chest trouble try it. We guarantee satisfaction. Trial bottle free at F. G. Hines & Co's. 5

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise—a purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood.—Will drive Malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure Malarial fevers. For cure of headach, Constipation and indigestion, try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50.00 and $1.50 per bottle. 5

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 5-o-3

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 5-o-3

[First publication Dec. 9th.]

PROBATE NOTICE.

STATE OF MICHIGAN } ss.
County of Charlevoix }

At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the Probate office, in the village of Boyne City, on the twenty-ninth day of November, in the thousand eight hundred and ninety-one. Present, Fred W. Mayne, Judge of probate. In the matter of the estate of Jacob Wolfe, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Alex. S. Wolfe, praying that a certain instrument now on file in this Court purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, may be admitted to probate, and that the administration of said Estate and Testament may be granted to the petitioner thereof. Thereupon it ordered, that Monday, the fourth (4) day of January, A. D. 1892, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said Jacob Wolfe, deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden in the Probate office, in the village of Boyne City, and show cause why a license should not be granted to the petitioner thereof. And it is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

(A true copy.) FRED. W. MAYNE, Judge of Probate.

Statement of Liquor Tax Collections for Charlevoix County.

TREASURY DEPT. State Mich. 20, 1891.

Statement showing the amount of liquor tax collected in the office from February 1st, 1891, to November 20th, 1891, inclusive and reported to county. Also to Dec. 1st of all tax collected in the state of Michigan.

JOHN WARD, County Treasurer.

Name of County Treasurer, &c.	Township Tax	Charlevoix	Wards	Total	REMARKS.
Jos. Sherman	Boyne City
Jos. Sherman	Charlevoix
Jos. Sherman	Eveline
Jos. Sherman	Hayes
Jos. Sherman	Marion
Jos. Sherman	Melrose
Jos. Sherman	Norwood
Jos. Sherman	Peaine
Jos. Sherman	Wilson
Jos. Sherman	Wm. Ward
Jos. Sherman	Wm. Ward
Jos. Sherman	Wm. Ward

ROYAL RANGER RALPH;

The Waif of the Western Prairies.

BY WELDON J. COBB.

CHAPTER VII—Continued.

"Thirty minutes!" cried Jim, that glance at their resolute faces told that Dyke Durgard and James Gore for himself when these two men started upon his trail.

"Remember," spoke the Indian, "it is an ordinary sentence."

"If Frankie and Ann really die I'll be responsible, I guess."

"Already Durgard has pointed the dead line of civilization and is among the bad lands in the east."

"They can go where I can there."

"You only be a lame and among friends, where the white renegade and the red warrens will strike he hounded against us. Paramore, cowardly, and craft can alone overcome our enemies.

"I will take it all for the sake of the Imperial girl who took to save," cried Darrel enthusiastically. "I am sure Hi from the wound our brother—maybe he may yet live—I will can never be covered."

"Not so, Harrel," replied the scout. "The bullet I have taken have restored my sight."

"Show me start—"

"Alone!"

"Alone! Why, unmounted in two short stands and fully armed and equipped for the mountains, the old scout and the young companion set forth upon the most perilous and dangerous adventure of all the resistful lives.

CHAPTER VIII.

THE ALTAR FIRE.

The night was bright as day, as Darrel and Ranger Ralph rode from the little town at Mission Ridge toward the hills to the east in the moonlight.

As nearly as possible, the former reformed the story of the Indian girl's danger in carrying away the ranger's wounded and dying form.

They soon found themselves traversing a rocky ridge, the ranger always keeping eye of the scout discovered evidence of recent travel.

"They have come this way," he said to Darrel.

"How can you overtake them?"

"Not a week gone yet—"

"Why not?"

"They have a fair start of us, and once in the mountains I will be difficult to follow their trail."

"The hunting ground is wild, and at times a scout can see in there pre-ceded on their way. Although the Indian girl is a half-breed, she is always prudent and vigilant than early, and organ, be sure to make every trail."

"The meaning light brought them encamping traces of the parties they sought. They were hitting up a stony above, when Darrel found a piece of bridle rein. It evidently belonged to Dargard's horse, and they proceed on, confident that they were on the right trail.

"Beyond here the mountains come to a ken," remarked the scout.

"And beyond this?"

"Prairie and forest, and the camping grounds of the marauding bands of savages. Hal-ooo!"

As Ranger Ralph spoke, his companion, drew rein with a sudden and emotic emanating from some recess behind them.

They drove along as rapidly as the broken rocks and stony ascent, at times turn a scene of wondrous beauty and sublimity, and then monotonly spiritbound.

Amid a mountain of stone shot down above, and beyond it stretched a gorge, deep and beyond it stretched a gorge, deep and beyond it stretched a gorge, deep

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The tug Higgie is hauled out for the winter at Campbell's yard.

The remains of the old steamer Wright, which were towed out and sunk last week, have come ashore just north of the piers.

The tug Frank Giken went to Fox Island Sunday and released the tug Anspach, which was ashore there. The big scow that the tug went there to dredge off his been abandoned.

Fifty-seven sailors lost their lives on the great lakes during the past season—the largest number known during any one year. Nearly all the fatalities occurred during November. Not a passenger was lost during the entire season, however.

The recent fine weather has given navigation a new lease of life, and everything is open both sides of us. The Friant is still on her route, and the fish tugs are most of them in commission. The Cummings laid up Thursday, and the other boats of that line will follow her this week.

The remarkable round-trip of the schooner Peoria this fall, awakens the recollection of the quick run of the Lottie Mason from Milwaukee here the fall of 1886, when Capt. Orlando Blair was her master. It was the blow in which the Alpena was lost. With only the jawb of the foresail up, the Lottie made the run in 22 hours.

Simpson (Bay Advocate: The master of the schooner H. M. Scove arrived here from Detroit Island Sunday evening to obtain help, his vessel being ashore between that place and Pilot Island. The Scove was bound to Milwaukee from Blue Lake with lumber and ties, and was driven ashore. An expedition left here under command of Capt. John Leathem, but up to Thursday nothing was done owing to continued stormy weather.

Capt. James Carlisle, a veteran steamboat man, died at his home in Buffalo last week. Old residents of Charlevoix will remember Capt. Carlisle as one of the old Western Transportation Co's masters back in the '70s. In 1870 and several years previous, he sailed the propeller Potomac. That steamer was sold out of the line, and for a time he was mate in the Fountain City. He was then appointed to the command of the new propeller Milwaukee, which he sailed continuously for thirteen years, and up to the time of his last sickness. His death was caused by blood-poisoning, resulting from treatment of a corn on his toe.

Hastings Items. Hayes.

Chas. Gannon will return to his home in Genesee county this week.

Three of G. W. Ford's children have scarlet fever, but are now convalescent.

A. R. Struthers has been "under the weather" since his return from New Mexico. If it serves everybody as it does Mr. Struthers, it would be a good place for Under-Sheriff Frank Myers to go; he would come home a walking shadow.

Isaac Stauffer and wife will spend the winter visiting friends in southern Michigan, and will also visit the scenes of their childhood in Canada.

H. S. Newson & Sons have put in their mill on the ground at Burgess, and will soon have it in operation.

Several of our citizens took a car ride to Petoskey and Charlevoix last Sunday.

Rev. Adams, of Petoskey, supplied the place of the regular pastor last Sunday at Fairgrove.

Jack Sainsby is getting out timber for a barn.

Charlie Cole has moved into John Murrav's house.

J. M. Gammon has moved into the Gibson house for the winter.

Norwood Notes.

The school exhibition is next Wednesday fnight. Everyone ought to come out and hear the children.

The apple entertainment last Saturday night was a success. Receipts eight fifty.

G. V. Nash is in Milwaukee this week.

Mrs. A. S. Richardson returned home from West Cluzy, N. Y., last week.

Remember the band boys dance Christmas night at the hall.

The band boys have added a piccalo to their instruments and are getting in good shape for next summer.

The J. A. S. meet with Mrs. Hattie Brown this week.

Chester Denton and wife will spend the winter in New York.

Don't forget the Christmas tree at the church Christmas eve.

Mrs. Hiram Carter was buried Friday morning at ten o'clock from the residence of Wm. F. Pearl. Mrs. Carter has lived here for nearly twenty years and all that time had been a terrible sufferer with rheumatism. She was nearly 82 years old.

Geo. H. Van Pelt will be home this week to stay over the holidays.

Miss Ina Richardson is expected back from Canton this week.

Correction.

In a recent issue of this paper a note of thanks was tendered the Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church, and the W. R. C., to our sorrow, overlooked. Many thanks.

J. J. KANAVY.

The editor of the East Jordan Enterprise has been hobnobbing with millionaire Ward, over at the railroad camps.

Gaylord Notes.

The bridge building firm of Seymour & Hunter, doing the C. & W. M. work, has been dissolved, Mr. Hunter retiring from the firm.

Charlevoix and Petoskey are now connected by rail. The steel was laid into Petoskey Thursday, and the editor of this paper returned from Grand Rapids that day all the way by rail. Ballasting progresses rapidly, and the eighteen miles will in a few weeks be practically done if the weather continues favorable.

Petoskey Democrat: C. W. Caskey has received the contract for erecting forty-seven buildings for the new railroad. This includes all the stations, too-houses and other buildings for the C. & W. M. extension north of Elk Rapids, including Petoskey, and is a very large contract.

Mr. N. W. Van Lowe, an employe of the U. S. Wind Engine and Pump Co., of Batavia, Ills., with a force of men is making good headway erecting the pump house and water-tank in the Charlevoix yard. The pump house is completed and the machinery is being placed, and the frame work of the tank is done. Water is taken from the lake, to which the pipe is already laid. The tank will hold 50,000 gallons.

Railroad movements are lively this week. Breen & Hittler have a large force cutting down the rock face of the bluff between Petoskey and Bay View. On Monday morning ground was broken for the important spur on the C. & W. M. R. R. down Bear Creek valley, and the work will be pushed during the winter. Contractor McLane is showing some big teams at work on the stone abutments of the bridge at the mouth of Bear Creek, as fast as possible. With favorable weather the west abutment will be completed in two weeks, and then the bridge superstructure can be built. Our enastemned summer visitors will not know the bay front when they come back next year.—Record.

Track-laying is progressing between Williamsburg and Spencer Creek at the rate of about one and one-half miles a day. Seventy-five men are employed in one gang on the work and they are using a Harris track-layer. A gang of 150 men is following up with the ballasting. Track laying will be completed to Spencer Creek, twenty-six miles from Traverse City, by Jan. 15. The ballasting along that portion of the road will proceed slowly on account of frost. The roadbed will be ready for track laying into Bellaire about Jan. 15. Between Central Lake and Charlevoix the work is progressing as speedily as possible under the circumstances. A big slak hole at Elk Rapids promises to give the contractors a winter's job. Everything goes out of sight, so far.

Grand Traverse Herald: A. W. Watt, of this place, who had the big contract for all the buildings on the C. & W. from Harlwin to Traverse City, has now secured the contract for all the buildings on the Elk Rapids extension, between Traverse City and Elk Rapids. This contract includes the Elk Rapids depot, engine house, freight house and six other buildings at that point, the depots at Williamsburg and Acme, and all water tanks, freight houses and other buildings on the line between these two points. In addition to the large contract secured by A. W. Watt, for all the building on the C. & W. M. line between this place and Elk Rapids, Mr. Watt also secured the further contract of all the buildings on the main line between Williamsburg and Bellaire, with a good prospect of a still larger contract further up the line.

Speaker Wachtel, of the Michigan legislature, now has the open door every night and is liable to keep it all winter. The youngster is a bounding boy, and all the attempts of the genial speaker to make him "come to order" have failed miserably.

Northern Michigan News.

sailors relate that the rats deserted the tug Leviathan twenty four hours before her destruction by fire at Cheboygan.

L. S. Melosh has entered an action against Charlevoix county for $5,000 damages for imprisonment and injury to health.

Bellaire is talking of buying the water-works plant from Richardi & Herbfield. We learn that the owners want $8,000 for it.

East Jordan Enterprise: Captain Hanchard is reported to have sold his saw mill here to Mr. C. A. Barker of Chicago who has placed it in charge of Messrs. F. S. Yorks and Wm. Rabor who will stock it and operate the mill this season.

Died, at Hortons Bay, on the 8th, Margaret Willis, relict of the late J. Willis, in the 72nd year of her age. Deceased lady was one of the pioneer settlers of Charlevoix county, coming here together with her husband, from Thornhill, Ontario, years ago. She had a large circle of friends and was highly respected and beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

The city council of Petoskey has ordered the prosecution of Street Commissioner Herrick for drawing pay for men who never worked. The Council offered to settle for $150, but Herrick told them to jump on. He claims he is all right.

Call and see my stock of watches, jewelry and silverware for Christmas presents. Everything, "from a teaspoon to a tea-set. Chains, charms, rings, ear-rings, pins, beads, bracelets, and everything found in a jewelry store. Prices lower than ever.

C. R. BELLINGER.

C. BARRY,

Manufacturer of

FINE CIGARS,

CHARLEVOIX.

The Trade of Northern Michigan Solicited.

Factory Over Postoffice.

TO THE

FARMERS

OF

Northern Michigan.

THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN SEED CO

Has organized for the purpose of Importing, Cleaning and Jobbing

SEED GRAINS, etc.

and operating in all kinds of

FARM SUPPLIES.

Many of our farmers realize the importance of a change in their Seed Grains, Vegetables etc. Believing "a seed is" has deteriorated the quality and reduced the quantity, we organized We propose to furnish you with fresh stock of seeds varieties as have been tested and proven

Profitable to Grow.

If you wish a change or supply of seeds, place your orders with us, and it shall have our careful attention, Early

The Northern Michigan Seed Company.

QUINCY THACKER, Manager.

(Office with Bank of Charlevoix.)

BEAMAN

AT THE FRONT

Fine Line of Holiday Goods.

Elegant Presents for the Loved Ones.

Presents for the Old.

Presents for the Young.

Call and see them, at

BEAMAN'S.

TO ALL.

We extend you a greeting, and will welcome you to our store, where is

A Great Display

OF GOODS FOR THE

HOLIDAYS.

Such as elegant Imported VASES, from 25c to $5.00. Glove and Handkerchief SATCHELS, DOLLS, TOYS, Books, Bric-a-brac, etc.

LOW PRICES

Make the sales this year. We are, without doubt, now showing the most superb Line of Ladies' Gloves and Handkerchiefs ever opened in this section; in the latter, all silk-embroidered, at 25c to $1.50.

DRESS GOODS,

Cloaks, Jackets,

SOMETHING NEW EVERY DAY TO SELECT FROM.

Note My Premium Offer:

AN ELEGANT, MASSIVE FRAMED OIL LANDSCAPE

PAINTING, FREE!

WHEN YOUR PURCHASES AMOUNT TO $15. DON'T FAIL TO SECURE ONE OR MORE OF THESE VALUABLE PRESENTS.

A. T. Washburne.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate

OFF CE

OF

EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS

And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

All Hands Around!

Sally go down the middle!

OYSTERS Large.

OYSTERS Fat.

OYSTERS Fresh.

No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.

O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

If you buy your supplies for winter from

THE CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

you will not be disappointed.

A new lot of those superb Oak Stoves just received. Come to the old reliable Hardware Store and examine goods and prices.

Yours truly,

Nov. 4, 1891. H. L. IDDINGS.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO-27. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 23, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,142.

CALKINS & WARNE

EXTEND THEIR

GREETING,

And announce that they have opened an elegant line of Holiday Goods for the parlor or the boudoir, Toilet Cases and Albums in artistic styles, and numberless Christmas Gifts that will please. For every $10 in trade a beautiful Album is given away.

Make Your Selections.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate

OFFICE

OF

EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS

And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

C. B. & CO.

"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

NOTHING IS MORE TRUE THAN THIS. AND THERE IS ANOTHER THING THAT IS EQUALLY TRUE, AND THAT IS THAT C. B. & CO. HAVE A SPLENDID STOCK OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE FOR THE GENERAL TRADE.

And they are the boys that will attend to your wants in good shape, and they desire you to call early and often. Call and see their nice presents given away with each pound of Coffee, at 25 cents.

EVER YOURS FOR THE

LEADING GENERAL TRADE.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

You Will Make a Great Mistake

IF YOU PURCHASE

HOLIDAY GOODS

Before calling on us. For low prices and First-class goods you will find us at the head of the procession.

F. G. HINES & CO.,

The Druggists.

BERT MASON SELLS

Evaporated Apricots.	15c.
Pitted Cherries.	15c.
3 lbs Good Raisins.	25c.
4 lbs Jelly.	25c.
4 lbs Apple Butter.	30c
Walnuts, per pound.	16c.
Almonds.	20c.
Brazils, 10c, 3 lbs for	25c.

Holiday Goods now open. Corn Meal, Bran, Oats, Linseed Meal and Hay.

BERT MASON.

All Hands Around!

Sally go down the middle!

OYSTERS Large.

OYSTERS Fat.

OYSTERS Fresh.

No one can help but dance, without the help of a fiddle. I have made my arrangements for the season's OYSTER business and assure the OYSTER eating public that I shall be in it, and keep the best OYSTERS that are shucked in Baltimore. I am prepared to furnish hotels, private parties, socials and all public gatherings where OYSTERS are needed at low figures. You can rely on finding the stock always fresh. Don't forget to call at the right place.

O. W. SMITH'S Oyster Depot.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS — PRETTIEST ROCKERS

* LOOK OVER OUR STOCK *

Our Blankets are the cheapest.

Other Goods in proportion to these.

Yours,

S. M. SEE & SONS.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

WILLARD A. SMITH,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year $1.50 (Six months - $1.00 Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Merry Christmas to everybody!

—It is pay day in the railroad camps today.

—Farmers are finished up their fall plowing.

—Mrs. McLeod and Hettie are in Detroit.

—J. E. Carter moved yesterday to Carpenter P. O. for the winter.

—E. W. Bennett has gone to the Soldiers' Home for the winter.

—Mr Robert Mullen of Newaygo, is here visiting his uncle J. H. Mullen.

—Harry Widdefield left yesterday for Detroit and Canada, to visit relatives.

—H. L. Iddings greets his customers this week with holiday salutations.

—Schneermann & Guideleck have a change of advertisement that will interest.

—Mason & Berdan devote their regular space this week to holiday greetings.

—I. A. Hawkins arrived from Chicago yesterday and will remain for the winter.

—Mrs. J. H. Mullen, has gone to Monticello, Minn., to visit relatives during the holidays.

—Catholic services will be held by Rev. Fr. Bruno, at Odd Fellows' Hall, at 9 a. m. on Jan. 6th.

—Barney Schneermann, of the upper peninsula, has been here the past week visiting his brother.

—Prof. H. M. Haswell today for Brooklyn, Mich., where he goes by the sudden and serious illness of his mother.

—Robert J. McNeill left yesterday for Traverse City, where he will remain for the winter, in C. A. Harker's employ.

—Mrs. John Nicholls and Mrs. Montie Lewis left Monday for Chicago and Whitewater, Wis., for the holidays.

—Rev. W. H. Macpherson will be among the soldiers at Fort Custer, and preach on Sunday evening at the Congregational church.

—George W. Miller's Kansas jackrabbit has passed in his checks, but the coyote and the crow are still sojourning in this world of trouble.

—Chas. Milne, son of Capt. Harrison Miller, of the Point Betsy Life Saving Station, died at Frankfort last week Tuesday night, of consumption.

—Isaac Mills has just erected for Thos. Trimble of Marion, a 70x30 barn, that contains 24 tons of timber, if stretched in one continuous line.

—It is but fair to say that Mr. Campbell has greatly improved the Boyne Citizen since his return from Sand Beach. It is a credit to Boyne City and to the editor.

—Hon. A. Bittars left Petoskey Sunday night for California. He was somewhat tired after the ride over, but no serious results followed, as was expected by some of his friends.

—The C. & W. M. Ry. Co. is out with a tasty card which says: "We are now building a new line from our terminus at Traverse City to Petoskey, via Charlevoix, the Beautiful. Will be running in the spring."

—J. H. McWhorter, J. H. McLane & Co's manager here, has been transferred to Traverse City. He is succeeded by Mr. Ed. Fox. Mr. W. J. Garland, time keeper, has resigned to accept a position at Marlette.

—Miss Tracy, the High School assistant, is spending the holidays at her home in Ludington. Miss Dean, of the grammar department, is at her home in Petoskey, and Miss Merritt is spending this week with her sister at Petoskey.

—The iron has all been laid on the C. & W. M. extention between Charlevoix and Petoskey, but in all probability the ballasting process will not be undertaken before spring.—Menominee Herald. Dear brother, the ballasting is two-thirds done, and the work is going on now.

—Mr. Henry Oakley, of the lumber inspecting firm of Oakley & Christiansen, of Manistee, was here this week, looking up business for next season. They will continue their branch here, and will put an increased force of inspectors here next season.

—There are laid up in Charlevoix harbor for the winter, the following steam crafts—Lou A. Cummings, Crescent, Omaha, Gracie Barker, Chas Bello, Frank P. Giken, Anspach, Parmelee, Gordon, Babcock, Minnie Warren, Martin, Newsel Avery, J. L. Higgie and Wm. Parks, Schooners—Pioneers Smith, Peoria, Sea Gem, Lottie Mason, and Fleetwing. The Booth tugs, Anderson and Maxwell, will lay up here next week.

—Arthur Beattie, of Marion, has just moved into his new farm house, and congratulates himself on having one of the best in the Township. The upright is 16x28 and the wing 16x20 with cellar under the whole, and a seven foot wall. The building was erected by Isaac Mills, and Jarvis & Newsam did the painting. One good feature of it is, Mr. Beattie built the house with stone and lumber all taken from his own farm.

—At the last meeting of the W. R. C. auxiliary to Baxter Post No. 119, the following officers were elected. President, Mrs. Sarah Brown; S. V. P. Mrs. Lottie Stockmah; J. V. P. Mrs. Ruth Carpenter; Treas., Mrs. Ida Horne; Chaplain, Mrs. Elizabeth Hook; Conductor, Mrs. Jane Scott; Guard, Mrs. Martha Hook; Delegate, Mrs. Della Porter; Installing Officer, Della Porter. A public joint installation with the G. A. R. will occur at their next regular meeting.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

Rev. G. S. Barnes Pastor. Service at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School, 12 m. Epworth League, 6 p. m. Class meeting, 8 p. m.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning, "Becoming Sons of God." Evening, A song service. All cordially invited.

Hastings Items. Hayes.

Leroy Hamlin returned home from Milwaukee last Friday.

The train men of "No. 105" will make their headquarters at Col. O. T. Booth's for the next two or three months.

Clarence Hewitt has moved to his own farm in Hayes, and will build a new residence on the State road, west of the new station.

Surveyor Swift, of Emmet county, is plotting eighty acres here for village lots at the new station, and we will probably soon learn the name of the village.

A new mill is coming to the new town, at least the proprietor has made application to one of the landowners adjoining for a long time lease, and as soon as the deal can be closed the mill will be put in operation.

Willis Fox, of Carpenter, lost a valuable cow Saturday morning, from the effects of feeding herself from the meal tub.

H. S. Newson had a cow so badly gored by an ox last Thursday, that it had to be killed.

The Fairgrove Sunday school will have Christmas festivities at the school house Christmas eve.

Fred Worth has charge of the David Carpenter farm, formerly occupied by Clarence Hewitt.

Norwood Notes.

School is out for two weeks.

J. S. Stafford cut his foot the other day and is afraid he can't dance Friday night.

John Clements went to Traverse City Monday.

Henry Hanyan and wife are in town, going to spend the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. John Runyan.

A wood bee at E. A. Spaulding's last saturday, cut up a nice pile of wood for "Uncle Gene."

Just ask G. V. Nash how he got even with little Roy Stafford.

The I. A. S. had a special meeting this week at Mrs. P. McIntyres.

Will Superman arrived home for the holidays last Friday. Will is now in the top room at the business University at Detroit and doing nicely.

School exhibition at the hall Wednesday eve, Christmas tree Thursday night and Band boys dance Friday night.

The Rev. Mr. Thurston preached to us last Sunday morning.

Mr Holliday has finished his night meetings at Atwood, and began revival meetings at Barnard.

Trick Wheaton arrived in town Monday. He will stay over Christmas.

Miss Kate I. Mosch will arrive from Lake Forest, Ills., Thursday, to spend the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Enos Mosch.

The Cathead lighthouse ceased active operations on Dec. 20th, this year.

—One of the bridge caisons has been sunk, and the stone are being placed.

The Water Works Mass.

The Village Council is making the water-works question a matter of persistent and painstaking investigation, and the committee appointed to gather facts and figures, have done good work.

Last Saturday, as one result of their inquiries, Mr. M. Walker, of Fenton, Mich., a water-works engineer and contractor, came here to confer with the council. During the day, in company with the committee, he made a careful inspection of the territory to be covered, and in the evening met the council. By the aid of a village plat, he fully explained the workings of the direct pressure system, and submitted a plan for a plant, covering all the territory demanding water supply, with ample capacity for extension.

The plans of Mr. Walker places the pump-house on Lake Michigan, south of the south pier, with eight, six and four inch mains, a river-crossing near the bridge, and forty public hydrants; with ample capacity and pressure for fire protection, and absolutely pure water for domestic use.

Mr. Walker made estimates for every detail of the work, with a total of $19,000; but the committee, in certain details affected by local conditions, reduce the figures to almost $18,000. The gentleman is putting in the Elk Rapids plant, and is an expert authority on the subject of water supply. He demonstrated by figures taken from experience and record, that after the first two years, the revenue from such a system would pay running expenses, and go far toward paying interest on bonds. The committee will continue to investigate, and from time to time enlighted the public through the medium of the press.

Without reference to methods, it must be conceded that this question is a vital one, and is becoming more and more so. The SENTINEL has always regarded the sanitary phase of the project the most important of all, and in this opinion we are sustained by the most competent sanitary authorities of the State, after local examination into the subject. There can be no doubt that impure water is a crying evil in Charlevoix. While we hesitate the danger increases.

The need of better fire-protection is next place in the consideration of the question. In this particular, also, we know not what devastation is in store for us. The convenience of domestic water facilities afforded by such a system can only be appreciated by use; this benefit alone will not be inconsiderable.

The SENTINEL is for water-works.

Marriage.

At the residence of the bride's parents, in Banks, on the 17th, Mr. Albert E. Mason, of this place, and Miss Nettie Empey of Banks.

The SENTINEL joins a whole community, and a large surrounding territory, in heariest congratulations to both of them. Mr Mason is one of our most respected and most publicspirited citizens; raised on the original plat of Charlevoix, and in the growth and prosperity of which he has for many years been a zealous and honest factor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Ephriam Empey, one of the prosperous farmers, and pioneer settlers of Banks. She is well known in Charlevoix, and has many friends. We know from personal experience that Banks is a good locality from which to select a bride.

A Merry Christmas and many happy New Years to Mrs. and Mrs. A. E. Mason.

Business Change.

The papers are filed with the Secretary of State, incorporating the Charlevoix Lumber Co., of Charlevoix, Mich. The new corporation is but a reorganization of the firm of Nicholls, Lewis & Bates, with the addition of Hon. John Nicholls as a stockholder. The officers are as follows: President, John Nicholls; Vice President, Geo. Lewis; Secretary and Treasurer, Harry Nicholls. The management of the concern will remain practically as before.

Masonic.

The members of Charlevoix Lodge No. 262, F. & A. M. are requested to assemble at their lodge room at 9:30 a. m., sharp, Sunday morning Dec. 27, St. John's day, for the purpose of attending divine service at the M. E. Church in a body.

W. A. SMITH, W. M.

O. A. SHERWOOD Secy.

—The pump-house and water-tank were completed yesterday, and this morning the pump was started up. Everything worked with entire satisfaction. It will not be used this winter, however.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN

TERRIBLE FATALITIES.

EXPLOSIONS AND FIRES MAKE DREADFUL HAVOC.

Typhoid in an Ohio Asylum—Big Bank Robbery—The Cotton Crop Now Is a Big 'on—Iowa Farmers Have Woodchuck—Hole Day for Their Fladder.

Gas for Soda.

At Chicago, James Weedman was dazed for long enough to decide on the course of the man who, under the name of mysterious, was arrested at Sioux Falls. After expressing his opinion of the message, which recorded exactly what he had told the latter, he announced his name as of the "magnificent" were each Sent Sine for disorderly conduct, and the other the defendant's $10 fine. The other charges of resisting an officer carrying concealed weapons were dismissed, excepting in the case of Henry McGuire, who was assessed $10 for carrying a revolver.

A Pane Sale.

The lowest of a rare chest which was purchased in Europe as a Lawrence a Swedish gentleman, was received at the Custom House. The box, was in good air tight, sealed in the interior, but in a wooden exterior, so it cleared the Atlantic in safety. It is cleared for Sweden and the Indian and the Swedish minister who hired it to another, and it was assessed $10 for duty, and he was compelled to pay the freight. The chest will be sealed in a day or duty.

Mount Cotton.

THOMAS RYAN, United States Minister to Mexico, called on President Harrison and other Republicans yesterday. He says that the Mexican aspiration as the Fair will be all that is sought, and that President Diaz is very anxious to make his part of the war of Fair as grand as possible. The Mexican Congress, on Monday of Senor Dublan charged the Minister of Agriculture to make an appropriation for a Mexican exhibit at the Fair approximating $100,000. The Mexican Congress, on Monday of Senor Dublan charged the Minister of Agriculture to make an appropriation for a Mexican exhibit at the Fair approximating $100,000.

Liquid Grass of the Sea.

The general agent of New York designed to be the most formidable as well as the most powerful marine in the United States navy was launched at Chicago. A crowd assembled on the lake at the yard of William Cramp & Sons, and stood upon the water and the launching of steam schooles and the cheers of the people, who has gathered to witness the event.

Big Use insurance.

A. H. BLOOM, the man by Pittsburg petroleum gents on Monday, and was thrown from his horse and instantly killed. He had $1,000 insurance on his life.

EASTERN OCCURRENCES.

At Troy, Dev. Father Peter Hawe, was consecrated, at St. Mary's Church, the sixty-first anniversary of his ordination to a priesthood. He is the oldest priest in this country, having been born in Boston in 1805, and entering the ministry in the country twenty-five years later.

A PAPER that doubtless will have an important bearing upon the law-making litigation over the site of the famous Courtemarsh Furnace at Jamestown, Ind., was found recently. It is a deed, and was discovered lying in the bottom of a

The box of old coins dug up by some laborers excavating for a house in the Lawrenceville district. The deed was executed in the city of Pittsburg on Feb. 18, 1755.

The grip is becoming epidemic in Eastern Connecticut again. There were three deaths in Norwich one day. In many cases it is accompanied by rheumatism, dizziness or typhoid a sign. In the big village of Colchester twenty are laid down in bed with the grip, and 15 of scarlet fever, and the sickness has been almost universal in accounts of it.

MRS. JANNIE TROUT, of Reading, Pa., a delicate woman weighing 110 pounds, became the mother of triplets, all apparently in form. Daniel Trout, the husband of the mother, is a tailor. The triplets are all alive at 6. Much interest is manifested in the infants throughout the city, and a large subscription has been raised whereby to help them.

The protective building commerce with the contract of the Sherwood Mere, two miles north of Newborg, N. Y., was laid on Monday. The work will be a children sleeping in the building, but all good safety. The contractor was a fast story brick. Does about Sherwood the Hamilton, Mine, police and turned to the ground, with several feet of wind. Thirty-two cars of flour and several tons of rain and shorts. The loss is $25,000, with no insurance.

TOBY & Co., Filmgraphers and printers in Buffalo, are said to be financially embarrassed. An action has been begun against them by the Eastman Company of a mortgage for $18,000 on their property, which mortgage has gone about recent, and to assume possession of the property. The attorneys for the Co. say the trouble is not a business one, but the money demanded is to wise.

WESTERN HAPPENINGS.

A SPRING, in Columbus, Ohio, old, rich was asked to allow a fire hydrant to be sunk in front of his residence. He said "I don't want to be hoped to carry himself like a hoss to the fast car of his life. After the bun got forty telegrams and been seven sentenced was pleaded to a nonsensical, married in prison, enough the town.

AT Fort in a number of Dequoin, reminiscent country doctors, have colored a formal complaint to the Indian Department of the Indian Bureau. Dr. Jas. Van Dyke, Minister of the Interior, said that the Department of American jurisdiction the future would be more managed in such a way as to give the best and fair of them were used by a lot.

WILLIAM SMITH, living at 326 Park Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., was arrested with the freight train of burning off the head of his wife and daughter, Ella, who now lies at the County Hospital with a fatal wound received at the hands Smith gun crash and found his daughter in a cow shed. Smith was a landlord on the Northern Pacific track, and was discharged from the locality in repair, recent washouts on the Illinois and Chicago, and expected at the face of a high bluff extending for two miles, over several thousand yards of earth suddenly tumbled upon the railroad track. Two engines and freight, carrying 300 yards of railroad track, and tumbled into the river below, leaving several others, some of whom the blockade must be removed before the left trains were forthwith sent from both sides of the disaster, and were at last report working hard to rescue the buried men.

THE property twenty men were left buried out of sight, and fifty, under the earth and most of the landslide at Hancock, Mich., on the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. by the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. The report was confirmed and is considered true. An effort is made to prevent the tribute. Freeman Stout said shortly after the disaster that the bodies would be "dug out sandpaper if they were not in the ground." Thomas Ellis, a miner, said the convert. Foreman Murray, who fore the disaster, said the operation was indorsed to talk. He said "Men who are in the mine. Women are dreadfully anxious. The accident was caused from fire, including the dead and injured, and one eight for help. Fifty men were in the mine when the fire broke under the roof of tender and the fire spread to the timber, more or less, and it was soon fated for.

SOUTHERN INCIDENTS.

THE Louisiana Lottery managers also have lodged by the Grand Jury at Baton Rouge, in an indictment have been called to appear at the April term to show cause why the charter should be forfeited of $5,000, inconvenienting proof has been secured by the prosecution.

J. R. COLEMAN, an American engaged in business at Guanajuato, Mexico, surprised some, but brought pretty much of an accident which took place in that city, resulting in the killing of twelve people and the serious injury of nine others. Several hundred people had assembled in a hall to witness a fight between a bull and a bear, the latter being a part of the amphitheater, and gave way. The heavy timbers fell on the unlucky crowd, crushing men and women to death in a terrible way.

THERE was a serious wreck on the Cincinnati Southern Road Express train No. 9, which left Chattanooga for Cincinnati at 4:30 p. m., ran off the track six miles out of Chattanooga and the yards south of the Tennessee River. The engine tumbled down a big embankment, completely wrecking it and killing Fireman Tal Wolfe and injuring the engineer, Jim Hunter, badly. The engine smokes we jumped the track, but did not go down the embankment. The engineer was badly shaken up, but not seriously injured. No passengers were hurt. A crazy crawling ride was badly injured. The ladies' car and two sleepers did not leave the track, and were taken back to the city in a local train. The wreck was caused by a broken rail supposed to have been the cause of the accident.

POLITICAL PORRIDGE.

CHRIS MAGOE, of Pittsburg says that the Pennsylvania delegation to Minneapolis will be for Blaine. It was can have the combination if he wants it and the indications are that he is in the field.

BELGRADE information confirms the rumor that the President has decided to appoint Gen. Lewis A. Grant, Assistant Secretary of War, to the Secretaryship made vacant by the resignation of Redfield Proctor.

THE amount of the cotton crop brought into sight at New Orleans during the week is 62,847 bale, against 315,146 for corresponding seven days last year. The movement since Sept. 1 shows receipts at all ports of the United States 3,444,291 against 5,156,990 last year. Included stocks left over, the supply to date is 4,875,324 bales, against 6,166,207 for the same period last year.

STEPS are being taken by all the St. Louis commercial exchanges and business men generally to bring the Democratic National Convention to St. Louis. The Executive Committee of the Democratic National Committee will meet in Washington on December 10 to dispose of some important business, and through this committee will not pass upon the time and place for the national convention, yet it is expected that the cities seeking it will be represented in Washington during the meeting.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

THE influenza now so prevalent at Berlin, is of a much more virulent type than that which caused so much suffering in 1889. Thirty deaths from the affection during the eight days past are reported. Physicians estimate that about one-sixth have been attacked with the disease since November 1 in Berlin alone.

THE centennary of the birth of Thomas Wilmotte Sarsfield, who fought in the Sarsfield war of 1848, was celebrated at Brightlingsea, London, with a bust spot. The veteran sang the national anthem in his youth and in Sarsfield speech he said he hoped to carry himself like a hoss to the fast car of his life. After the bun got forty telegrams and been seven sentenced was pleaded to a nonsensical, married in prison, enough the town.

AT Paris a number of Deputies, representing country districts, have colored a formal complaint to the Indian Department of the Indian Bureau. Dr. Jas. Van Dyke, Minister of the Interior, said that the Department of American jurisdiction the future would be more managed in such a way as to give the best and fair of them were used by a lot.

WILLIAM SMITH, living at 326 Park Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., was arrested with the freight train of burning off the head of his wife and daughter, Ella, who now lies at the County Hospital with a fatal wound received at the hands Smith gun crash and found his daughter in a cow shed. Smith was a landlord on the Northern Pacific track, and was discharged from the locality in repair, recent washouts on the Illinois and Chicago, and expected at the face of a high bluff extending for two miles, over several thousand yards of earth suddenly tumbled upon the railroad track. Two engines and freight, carrying 300 yards of railroad track, and tumbled into the river below, leaving several others, some of whom the blockade must be removed before the left trains were forthwith sent from both sides of the disaster, and were at last report working hard to rescue the buried men.

THE property twenty men were left buried out of sight, and fifty, under the earth and most of the landslide at Hancock, Mich., on the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. by the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. The report was confirmed and is considered true. An effort is made to prevent the tribute. Freeman Stout said shortly after the disaster that the bodies would be "dug out sandpaper if they were not in the ground." Thomas Ellis, a miner, said the convert. Foreman Murray, who fore the disaster, said the operation was indorsed to talk. He said "Men who are in the mine. Women are dreadfully anxious. The accident was caused from fire, including the dead and injured, and one eight for help. Fifty men were in the mine when the fire broke under the roof of tender and the fire spread to the timber, more or less, and it was soon fated for.

MARKET REPORTS.

CHICAGO
Cattle—Common to Prime	$2.50 @ 4.50
Hogs—Shipping Grades	3.75 @ 4.00
Sheep—Common to Prime	3.00 @ 5.00
Wheat—No. 2 Red	1.00 @ 1.01
Corn—No. 2	.47 @ .48
Oats—No. 2	.32 @ .33
Rye—No. 2	.77 @ .78
Butter—Choice Creamery	.26 @ .28
Eggs—Fresh Stock	.21 @ .22
Potatoes—Per Bushel	.60 @ .70
INDIANAPOLIS
Cattle—Shipping Grades	3.50 @ 4.25
Hogs—Choice Light	3.80 @ 4.00
Sheep—Common to Prime	3.00 @ 4.50
Wheat—No. 2 Red	.97 @ .98
Corn—No. 2 White	.49 @ .50
Oats—No. 2 White	.34 @ .35
ST. LOUIS
Cattle	3.00 @ 4.50
Hogs	3.80 @ 4.00
Wheat—No. 2 Red	.94 @ .95
Corn—No. 2	.45 @ .46
Oats—No. 2	.31 @ .32
Rye—No. 2	.75 @ .76
CINCINNATI
Cattle	3.50 @ 4.50
Hogs	3.90 @ 4.00
Sheep	3.00 @ 5.00
Wheat—No. 2 Red	.97 @ .98
Corn—No. 2 Mixed	.47 @ .48
Oats—No. 2 Mixed	.34 @ .35
DETROIT
Cattle	3.00 @ 4.25
Hogs	3.80 @ 4.00
Sheep	3.00 @ 4.50
Wheat—No. 2 Red	.98 @ .99
Corn—No. 2 Yellow	.49 @ .50
Oats—No. 2 White	.36 @ .36
TOLEDO
Wheat—No. 2 Red	.98 @ .99
Corn—No. 2 Mixed	.49 @ .50
Oats—No. 2 White	.36 @ .36
BUFFALO
Cattle	3.00 @ 4.50
Hogs	3.90 @ 4.00
Sheep	3.00 @ 5.00
MILWAUKEE
Wheat—No. 2 Spring	.97 @ .98
Corn—No. 3	.45 @ .46
Oats—No. 2 White	.34 @ .35
Rye—No. 1	.77 @ .78
Barley—No. 2	.63 @ .65
NEW YORK
Cattle	3.00 @ 4.50
Hogs	3.90 @ 4.00
Sheep	3.00 @ 5.00
Wheat—No. 2 Red	.99 @ 1.00
Corn—No. 2	.52 @ .53
Oats—No. 2 White	.38 @ .39
Rye—Western	.80 @ .81
Butter—Creamery	.28 @ .30
Eggs—Per Dozen	.22 @ .23

AROUND THE CAMP-FIRE.

OLD SOLDIERS TALK OVER EXPERIENCES AND SPIN YARNS.

The Blue and the Gray Revive Incidents of the Late War, and is a Stirring and Interesting Manner Tell of Camp, March, and Battle

His a Sutlerian.

MCPLAIN in the New York Sun of Gen. Hooker was irreplaceable Jack-shin at Antietam. It was one of the mysteries of war that he did not annihilate Lee in that battle and then take Lee in the rear. We outmanoeuvred him, and we extended our lines until only a skirmish line of gray opposed us but could not get at us. The battle was over, but the Confederates fight so fiercely. It seemed as if every charge company had been told to hold its ground until the last man was wiped out. We charged up to the gray lines time and time again, but they would not give backs. They faced us and died. If they fled a rod of ground, they charged back and recovered it.

I remember how the corn waved and rustled as we pushed through it that day—how the silken tassels became clogged and dripping in our faces like spider-webs on a dewy morning. Sometimes, I can see the faces for me—the men who came up from Harper's Ferry, the men who fought sore, hungry, thirsty, but ready to die if need be. Lee's left wing. It made never a halt to retreat their parched throats at the wells of Shepherdstown, and they came back beaded by a numerous, marched in procession through the town.

AT Paris in a number of Deputies, representing country districts, have colored a formal complaint to the Indian Department of the Indian Bureau. Dr. Jas. Van Dyke, Minister of the Interior, said that the Department of American jurisdiction the future would be more managed in such a way as to give the best and fair of them were used by a lot.

WILLIAM SMITH, living at 326 Park Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., was arrested with the freight train of burning off the head of his wife and daughter, Ella, who now lies at the County Hospital with a fatal wound received at the hands Smith gun crash and found his daughter in a cow shed. Smith was a landlord on the Northern Pacific track, and was discharged from the locality in repair, recent washouts on the Illinois and Chicago, and expected at the face of a high bluff extending for two miles, over several thousand yards of earth suddenly tumbled upon the railroad track. Two engines and freight, carrying 300 yards of railroad track, and tumbled into the river below, leaving several others, some of whom the blockade must be removed before the left trains were forthwith sent from both sides of the disaster, and were at last report working hard to rescue the buried men.

THE property twenty men were left buried out of sight, and fifty, under the earth and most of the landslide at Hancock, Mich., on the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co. by the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. The report was confirmed and is considered true. An effort is made to prevent the tribute. Freeman Stout said shortly after the disaster that the bodies would be "dug out sandpaper if they were not in the ground." Thomas Ellis, a miner, said the convert. Foreman Murray, who fore the disaster, said the operation was indorsed to talk. He said "Men who are in the mine. Women are dreadfully anxious. The accident was caused from fire, including the dead and injured, and one eight for help. Fifty men were in the mine when the fire broke under the roof of tender and the fire spread to the timber, more or less, and it was soon fated for.

PRODUCT OF OUR SOIL.

IMPOSING FACTS OF INTEREST TO ALL.

Census Figures Relative to Viticulture, Floriculture and Agriculture that Are Both Broad and Surprising—Forecast of the Final Productions.

Auroraus Hoolumdoc.

It took 10,000 years to move the grapes of the United States to market the season before the vineyards yielded their fruitals. The vineyards of this country represent an investment of $135,000,000, furnish employment to 200,000 people, and cover 400,000 acres of ground. A season's product from about three-fourths of the planted area—the other fourth being by vines too young or bearing not yet in full vigor—is 1,000,000 tons of grapes and nearly 100,000,000 gallons of wine, worth at the vineyards, on an average, 3 cents a gallon, or $3,000,000 more than the country now imports.

The people who make a business of raising Scandinavian ginseng, 17,000 acres in extent, are Swedes. They also grind in from oral flowers, 1,000,000 tons, or 2,000,000,000 pounds, and feed it to horses of the florists of this country, who use it in place of hay. There are a section of land, which is a little larger than Rhode Island, devoted to cut flower gardens of the United States in which are 1,000,000 tons of cut flowers, rakes and trowels and watering pots and other implements of the trade, and employment to 16,837 men and 6,543 women. The cut flower gardens of the United States are in a single season is $1,000,000 in value.

Vegetable growing, truck farming the census calls it, employs 1,000,000 men, 400,000 women and employs 765,000 horses and mules. The garden products of the United States in 1890 were 6,000,000 tons, and 1,000,000 gallons of pickles, and 1,000,000 tons of fruit. There is scarcely an acre of land in the United States not devoted to truck farming. The "delivery" through the Mississippi Valley States is 1,000,000 tons, and the Ohio Valley States 1,000,000 tons, and the Mississippi Valley States

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor
CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 23, 1891.

The Democratic Secretary of State in Disgrace.

The great "party of reform" in Michigan is in trouble. Its great protagonist of official purity and and for the dear people have received a "manmer" from the hand of one of its own brightest lights.

At Lansing, on the 16th, in response to an emphatic demand from Governor Winans, Daniel E. Soper, Secretary of State, tendered his resignation, and it was promptly accepted.

The matter took shape by the filing of charges against the Secretary of State by a brother Democrat, the mayor of the city, the most important of which, was that of selling and appropriating to his own use the proceeds of fifty sets of Howell's Annotated Statutes; the giving away of several hundred copies of the Michigan Manual contrary to law; of demanding on penalty of a dismissal from office if refused the sum of $500 from his deputy as compensation for his appointment to the office, and extravagant purchases of supplies at a loss to the State.

When confronted with the charges by the Governor, he admitted their truthfulness, and the demand for his resignation followed or a public investigation would have ensued, with the above result.

Mr. Soper has been one of the most conspicuous members of the present Democratic State Administration and has cut a wide swath in Democratic official circles and as Chairman of the Board of State Auditors posed as a reformer.

Mr. Hampton, let us hope has about the corruption of the last State Republican administration.

Bank Commissioner Sherwood says that we need bank laws "because men are dishonest and selfish."

Leading iron men unite in the prediction that next year will be one of unexampled activity in the iron and steel business. The traits of the Mc Kinley bill are apparent in every industry. Times are exceedingly good at present and the promise of future is inspiring.

If Dan Soper had had the political experience of some of his democratic contemporaries, he would have never resigned. On the contrary he would have "doodled" seven hundred times as much, demanded an investigation when detected, and finally have been acquitted by a jury of his peers.—Tribune Herald.

Daniel E. Soper, secretary of state, has been caught following the dishonest practices of former republican office holders, and his immediate resignation demanded by Governor Winans.—Charlevoix Democrat. In more explicit, Mr. H. mpton, tell us of a few cases of misfeasance or malfeasance of Republican State officials. Name a few Republican Sipers and Friedlanders.

The state grange, through its executive committee, is arrayed against free coinage. The grangers are beginning to realize the folly of dallying in matters entirely foreign to their organization. The alliance may still learn the lesson so soon as they shall break away from the sharks who pose as leaders. In nine cases out of ten these leaders are selfish, sordid, tricky mountebanks who play upon the ignorance and prejudice of the farmers.

The Charlevoix Democrat says, with its usual recklessness that Dan Soper has "only followed the example of his Republican predecessors." There have been two cases of Republican malfeasance of State officers in forty years. One was a State Treasurer back before the war, who went to State prison, and the more recent case of Superintendent of Public Instruction Gass, who resigned when faced with the charge, only, of extorting a portion of his deputy's salary. Two cases in forty years! The Democrats have been in power a year, and they have made a good start already toward wiping out the Republican record.

There is a general state of alarm throughout the community concerning the near approach, if not the actual presence of the grip. Detroit alone reports 2,000 cases. But nothing is to be gained by a foolish terror of the disease and its effects. While in many cases it left its victims with some well-seated malady, still those souls were no worse off than if they had an acute cold. The experience of past years with the disease has taught physicians the very best medicine for those afflicted with it. Use plenty of quinine, and exercise care about unnecessary exposure, giving attention to warm clothing and careful diet.

J. Z. LINTON'S
Christmas is close at hand: New Year will soon follow. Now, if you see old Santa Claus, send him to
LINTON'S.
He has the very finest assortment of Candy and Nuts in Charlevoix.
GIVE HIM A CALL
He will try to please you all, both in goods and price. Oysters fresh. Cts are on hand, in the bulk or in the can.
J. Z. LINTON.

Strength and Health.
If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. "La Grippe" has left you weak and weary; use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with Sick Headache you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. Our trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c. at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store.

A Little Girl's Experience in A Lighthouse.
Mr. and Mrs. Loren Prescott are keepers of the five lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit, treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold yet you may get a trial bottle free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeny, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix.

FOR SALE.
Forty acres of part timbered land. E. quarter of S. E. quarter of section 31, township of Hayes, Charlevoix County, Michigan.
W. E. GILES, GILES & LUNDER CO.
203 Chamber of Commerce Building, Chicago, Ill.

(First publication Dec. 9th.)
PROBATE NOTICE.
State of Michigan } ss.
County of Charlevoix }
At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the Probate Office, in the village of Boyne City, on the 30th day of November in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one. Present, Alfred Harvey, Judge of probate. In the matter of the estate of Ann Eliza Bennett, deceased. Proof being filed in the petition, duly verified, of Anna A. Tilton, praying that a certain instrument now on file purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be admitted to probate, and that Hiram H. Brown, named in said last will and testament may be appointed executor thereof. It is ordered, that Monday, the Fourth day of January next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court then to be holden in the Probate office, in the Village of Boyne City, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.
(A true copy.) FRED W. MAYNE, Judge of Probate.

Farming Lands
500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.
These lands are timbered with beech and maple and other valuable hardwoods, and are located in the best portion of Northern Michigan.
By Water and Rail
And are in a state unequalled for health, well watered and contiguous to the grand fruit raising belt of Western Michigan.
The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is
Not a Wilderness by any Means.
It contains a population of 150,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers. Almost every acre is in the farm.
Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.
Send for Pamphlet or Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.
TITLE PERFECT.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.
The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.
Deliver Sentinel if desired. Raise Low.
GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

GORDON & PAUL
ARE AT THE FRONT,
And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder,	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only for the Money	9 00
A Good Open Buggy. only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at
GORDON & PAUL.
OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

VILLAGE PROPERTY
and
FARMING LANDS
For Sale.
Bargains in Residences, Building lots and Acreage Property.
Titles Examined and Abstracts Furnished.
MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

A WORD ABOUT THE STAFF OF LIFE.
NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S heavy forests are going and gone; large fields of wheat and other grains are springing forth in their place. So we do not have to go to other countries to supply of our bread for our families and food for our cattle. Charlevoix Roller Mills are located here, and are making as good flour as is made in the world. Farmers, bring in your wheat for exchange. Samples of the breadmaking qualities of our flour can be seen at the mill daily. We do not give premiums to parties coming 50 or 40 miles, but sell alike, quality of wheat considered by standard test. From Duluth to Dake Dakota, Rolle Roller Mill Flour very close; Silver Spray, a good cheap family flour. Ask your grocer for them and take no other.

TO REDUCE
A large stock of Blankets, Robes and Cutters, we will sell Goat Robes, Plush-lined, for $3.50
AND UP.
Full clipped Knee Plush Trimmed CUTTERS for $20.00
And up. Quality is guaranteed. To appreciate these prices, call and look goods over.
Baker & Son.
Charlevoix.

Rifenburg Milling Co., Charlevoix.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,
Saw and Planing Mill,
Dealers in
HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.
Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,
J. H. MULLIN, Prop.
Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.
We are here, and doing business. Business we came for. Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Opera House Block. Charlevoix, Mich.
J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.
Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.
THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering, THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.
They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.
Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.
Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines, Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.
I call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
I also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.
B. J. GELLICK & Co.
We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.
We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.
B. J. Gellick & Co.

Closing out sale!
Strictly for Cash!
AT GREFTLY
REDUCED PRICES!
I will for the next Sixty days, for the purpose of removing stock, close out my stock of
Boots and Shoes
No cash claims can ever come here to purchase at the low rates.
CHEAP
My stock embraces every line desired in the country, and is of the best quality.
Don't let the opportunity slip.
SHERWOOD

Mrs. H. A. Carr,
Fashionable Millinery.
BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX.
The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. DAUGHTON, Prop.
(Known as the "TYROLEAN HOTEL.)
Beautifully located on the South Terrace, overlooking the Lake and Village.
Lawn Sleighs and Boats Connected.
Meals Prepared and thoroughly cleansed.
Sept. 25-91.

NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.
and all the latest novelties in Millinery. Also a new line of Corsets in
MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST
Nice line of goods for the Holiday Trade
now on hand.
Call and see for something new.
MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?
He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up to ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.
He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time-keeper, in nickle-silver cases for $5.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.
C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW
FALL & WINTER
SAMPLES
Have just arrived, and they are immense
The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.
Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.
Don't fail to call and see them.
JOHN ZWECKL,
Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.
A full line of standard and fresh
GROCERIES
Always in Stock.
Country people especially invited to call.
MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
Dealer in
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
—proprietor of—
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN
Good Horses at Lowest Prices.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD D. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent, Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have full abstracts for all Charlevoix County. Office combined, Moore's Block, Bridge street, Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Insurance and Conveyancer, Office Second Block of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

O. E. L.—Tent Boyne No. 197, meets Saturday after L. O. T. M. meets in Jefferson hall.

G. A. R.—Walker Post No. 126, meets second Monday in each month, at Odd Fellows hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER, No. 72, O. E. S., meets on the first Wednesday of each month at Masonic Hall. Carrie Hilton, W. M. Hettie M. Lord, Secretary.

ST. MARY'S COMMANDERY, No. 56, K. T., meets at Masonic hall the third Monday in each month.

I. O. O. F.—Forest Lake Lodge No. 242, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows hall.

MASONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. & A. M. Regular meetings on before full moon. Hall over Spencer's.

CHARLEVOIX GRANGE No. 1076, P. of H., meets every Saturday in the Hall in Town.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 2915, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at 7 o'clock, at Jefferson Hall.

BAYSIDE LODGE, No. 115, meets every Saturday evening at each month, at Odd Fellows Hall.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. Scott, C. E., Surveyor and Engineer. Charlevoix, Mich. (Boyne Valley Surveying Company.)

Grand Palace Hotel.
St to 101 N. Clark St.,
CHICAGO.
Only four minutes from the Court House, Dearborn Cable Car to door.
Nice house with all Modern Improvements, newly furnished throughout. American and European plan. Rooms $0 50 nightly, transients $1 00 each night. Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents. Restaurant by Ford Brothers, unsurpassed. Cable and Elevated Lines. Cable, "Palace d'Hotel" Telephone call for Dearborn 1000.

CHICAGO
VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE
Shortest and best line by Chicago, with no ferry or omnibus transfer.
Trains leave as present scheduled as follows:
Leave Pentwater 7:00 a.m., 1:45 p.m., 4:55 p.m.
Arrive Grand Rapids 11:05 a.m., 5:45 p.m., 10:05 p.m.
Leave Grand Rapids 7:00 a.m., 1:45 p.m., 4:55 p.m.
Arrive Chicago 3:35 p.m., 9:30 p.m., 7:00 a.m.
*Every day. Others week days only.
10.05 a.m. has free chair car to Chicago.
1.45 p.m. has Wagner parlor car to Chicago.
*7:00 p.m. has Wagner Sleeping car to Chicago.
Trains on the Muskegon branch leave Muskegon 11.15 a.m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 12 40 p.m. Leave Grand Rapids 3.40 p.m. Arriving at Muskegon 5.05 p.m. and 12.35 a.m.
DETROIT,
The Favorite is the
Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.
From Howard City and Grand Rapids.
In effect June 21, 1891.
Leave Howard City 8.00 a. m., 11.55 a. m. and 3.50 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids 9.25 a. m., 1.45 p. m. and 5.15 p. m.
Arrive Leaving 9.50 a. m., 3.30 p. m., 7.00 p. m. and 9.30 p. m.
Arrive Howard 11.15 a. m., 4.55 p. m., 8.30 p. m. and 11.00 p. m.
Arrive Detroit 11.15 a. m., 8.00 p. m., 3.35 p. m. and 10.45 p. m.
Parlor cars on all trains from Grand Rapids to Detroit. Seats free.
Close connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.
GEO. DERAVEN,
Gen'l Pass. Agent.

FOR SALE.
Farm for sale—
Containing 170 acres, eighty acres improved, balance timber, good house and barn, and an orchard, plenty of good water, good buildings, situated variety of 3½ miles from Boyne City. Beautiful for stock raising and dairying. Also one mile and one-half to Boyne City. Adjoining the village and village factory and other machinery within half mile of the premises.
Also on same section—
100 acres with 30 acres of improvements, good house and barn, orchard.
The above land is any part thereof will be sold very cheap and on easy terms.
Inquire of REV. R. WEITHAN, East Jordan, Mich.

FOR SALE.
Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.
These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton St., and 132 feet deep, with two houses, nicely finished on outside. Inquire of PROF. G. M. RICE,
Pentwater, Mich.

Buckton's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, saltrheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

O. C. HOLLISTER,
ST. JOHNS, MICH.
Has Good Farms to Sell on Easy Terms through Clinton, Gratiot, Montcalm, Oceola, Wexford, and Other Counties.

SLIPS OF THE TONGUE.

Things That Would Have Been All Right If Said Differently.

Many persons have said a mistake precisely the reverse of what was in their thought. A workingman called on a country clergyman closely related to a doral house. The applicant wanted a letter of recommendation to a neighboring nobleman, from whom he hoped to obtain employment. "Why not go personally and see my lord?" the friend asked. "Well, you see," was the nervous answer, "I do not like speaking to Lord X—; he may be proud and not care to listen to the likes of me; it would be quite a different thing if I were yourself, for there's nothing of the gentleman in you."

Mr. Hancock has related that during a holiday point in Switzerland Sir Paul Hunter was lost. Had news flies spread and gathers as it goes. It was soon said that golden wave away up the mountain to find a missing man. Somebody had seen or heard signals of distress. Lady Hunter, safe in the hotel begun to tremble for her husband. But his gentlemanship was not so desperate after all. He was discovered and given the necessary help and blessed on one of the mountains, and I feared it might be you!" Considerate, kindly, but not quite—in its literal construction—a compliment.

Some comical slips of the tongue are due to doubtful or insufficient information. There may be lack of important knowledge about the person addressed. Victor Hugo once met a garrulous notary, who had talked to him on literary subjects. The lawyer belonged to the provinces, and he asked if his companion had heard any thing before he left Paris about "the author of Hugo's own plays. Hugo admitted the author was known to him. "It is a miserably stupid piece. Very stupid, likely," said the poet. "The author must be an abominable person. One of my friends saw him in the street not long ago, and in such a state, the wretched creature is nearly always drunk." The two passed into the same hotel, and what was the consternation of the man of the libelous tongue when Hugo wrote his name in the arrival register beneath his traducer's eye.—Cassell's Sunday Journal.

FOODS OF THE FUTURE.

Note One of the Most Valuable—Large Returns From Their Culture.

Learned men of the present day are much exercised about the kind of food necessary to produce the greatest amount of muscular health and strength, says Vick's Magazine and nuts of all kinds have been pronounced by them, par excellence as an article of diet. Besides the beauty of nut trees and the gastronomic utility of their fruits, and plantations seem to be rapidly assuming formidable size when we bear in mind that nut culture is now a fad.

Chief Van Deman, of the department of agriculture predicts that the production of nuts will soon become the greatest and most profitable industries of the United States. The large returns from individual trees and immense profits from established orchards have stimulated the farmers and our forestered enterprising fruit growers are planting out trees largely for market purposes. Others who enjoy nuts during the winter are thinking that they may be had in abundance for the asking, without planting.

The person is the nut of the future. Mr. Van Deman thinks, but he foresees large returns from walnuts, chestnuts, pine and hickory nuts, almonds, filberts, etc. A grower in Florida has now a grove of 4,000 pecan trees six years old, when they begin to bear their product will be worth $400,000 (?sic?) at wholesale. But this is a counting chickens too soon. Mr. H. Hamlin, of Georgia, has a pecan tree which bears annually from ten to fifty tons bushels of nuts, which sell readily at wholesale for $4 and $5 per bushel." Colonel Stuart, of Ocean Springs, Miss., who has made a wide reputation as a successful cultivator, says:

"I planted those large paper-shell pecan nuts when I was 57 years old, and now, at 67, I tell you they help me to live. I got 170 pounds from one tree last fall, sold 105 pounds for $105, and planned the remainder of them, and have raised a fine lot of young trees, which are for sale. Persons culture planting the very large nuts, I consider one of the safest and best paying industries a man can engage in." This combined chief of witnesses and figures certainly does make strange growing and tobacco growing much less tempting.

The pecan forests of Texas furnish large quantities of pecans to the markets of New Orleans, whence they are shipped to Europe, where they are sold to bring a higher price than any other nut.

A Christian's Oath.

The Gaelic children's oath before going into battle has been discovered in an Irish text of the second century and deciphered as follows: "The heavens are above us, the bed below us, the ocean around us—everything is circle about us. If the heavens do not fall, cutting from their high fortresses the stars like rain on the face of the earth, if docks from within do not shatter the land itself, if the ocean from its blue solitudes does not rise up over the brows of all living things, by virtue of a war, by conclave and battles, will bring back to the shields and the field the cattle and to the house and to their dwellings the women that have been stolen by the sea-ay.

A Wedding Out.

"I was very grieved to hear you have lost two of your little children, Mrs. Mulvaney," said a young clergyman, whose first parish lay among the thickly populated regions of Shantytown, to the afflicted mother of a very numerous progeny. "Shure, an I don't call it so much a loss o' thim," replied the Spartan parent, "as a weedin' of thim out."—Argonaut.

A NOBLE WOMAN.

A Friend of the Court and a Blessing to the Lowly.

She is Madame the Baroness Rothschild of Paris born of as well as wealthy parents. Madame Rothschild is the latest of the gay capital in a big world whose walled grounds are at least four times the size of Madison Square, says the New York Recorder. A dress is a matter of days, but which gown drifts to the castle between stretches of tried and trees and the rarest flowers. Widowed for years, Madame lives alone, save for her thirty-two servants. Yet she is never sullen. Her mode is cordon bleu, her dinner parties the despair of all Paris. Her way nothing of greater existence. Madame knows everybody worth knowing on three continents. All doors open to her. Royalty is not more exclusive or half so discriminating. Genius and good breeding combined make the surest open sesame to her favor. Though firm in the faith of her race you may meet in her salons all shades of belief or disbelief. Yet, though so exclusive, so aristocratic, madame cannot overlook everything. Her only child, a daughter, wedded a Christian and remains in the cold her mother's favor. Madame's jewels are simply fabulous in value—as much so, in fact, as in point of recent collections quite out of commissions. She has ropes of pearls, strings of diamonds, amphitrite as a queen might sigh for in value; pigeon-blood rubies whose worth would equip an army. One trusted man servant has charge of these all. Women-servants wore them—whenever she goes, he is behind. He is always at hand. It was once suggested to her that perhaps she ought to—the temptation might one day be too great for him. She answered, in great surprise, "Why, my jewels! Why should he? He could only turn them into money, and yet—yet he has not that money—he has—his own house, horses, carriage, his wife, children. He loves me, as he loves and trusts him."

Well may he love her—and many more as well. For this great lady—the gray-haired—yet—gentle dame, to her very finger tips—is a marvelous peerlessness to the poor and needy. Very much of her time and money are given to them especially the sick poor. Her name is known in every one of the hospitals. Once she found there a little being from the profanum dying of fever and delirously crawing the pure cider of her native village. The doctor said it could make no ultimate difference; death was a matter of hours at best, but that pear cider was something not to be found in the city. They had sent all about for it, but in vain. Madame looked at her a minute, then went home to her carriage and drove away. Six hours later she came back with just one quart of pear cider found in an outrage just outside the barriers. She had searched for it since she went away, and felt more than rewarded when the poor parched invalid drank and died content.

It is Said.

It is said that a French soldier, stationed at a picture-gallery had strict orders to allow no one to pass without his gun and bayonet walking-stick. A gentleman came with his hands in his pockets. The soldier, taking him by the arm, said—"Citizen, where is your stick?" "I have no stick!" "Then you will have to go back and get one before I can allow you to pass.—Argonaut.

THE LITTLE DARLING.

He Had His Own Way, but He Had No Play.

"Madam!" exclaimed the indignant neighbor, "your little boy has got a hatchet and he was using it up."

"O, well, its the little darling have it," replied the fond mother.

"But he's threatening to shout his hand and chopping the other children around the yard."

"He's crying. Ugh! Ugh! Whoop! Isn't he?"

"I don't exactly what he's doing."

"Yes, my pet likes to play Indian. Does he cry. Mo ewan pulefaw?"

"Yes, you hear dem you sun—"

"Oh, he little rascal—enjoy himself. He takes such pleasure in sport," said the fond mother.

"But he'll kill one of the others!" cries the indignant neighbor fruitfully.

"Yet intentionally," returned the fond mother. "He never means to hurt anyone."

"No, but he does sometimes, and it's dangerous, madam—its dangerous.

"Perhaps it is," said the fond mother, thoughtfully. Then she went to the window and called out

"Willie, if you kill any of the children with that hatchet I'll spank you and put you to bed."

"You need have no fear," she said to the indignant neighbor, as she resumed her seat. "I hate to punish Willie, but I promise you that I will if he hits one of the children."

And she cannot understand now why the neighbors will not allow their children to play with Willie.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Little Silver Cross.

"The best protection a young woman can have in this city," said a lady friend on Broadway, "is a cross. Yes, sir, the cross of those little silver crosses that the Kiss's Guardians wear. I've noticed that nowadays the professional women will look first at the bosom of a woman's dress and if that little cross is dangling from a buttonhole he passes her by without even a stare. It's the same way on the street cars or on the stoop. The young woman who wears one of those badges has got all the whole crowd of men to take care of her, and jump on be before that dares to insult her. The cross is getting to be looked on as the sacred symbol and decoration as a man's cane. As a safeguard it beats the average policeman all holler."

The Irrepressible Boy.

"You didn't bring your wife with you, Mr. Chase," said the small boy of the house addressing the guest.

"No my boy. Would you like to see her?"

"Yes. I wanna; I would like to see her thumb."

"See her thumb? What do you want to see her thumb for?"

"Well, mamma your wife hangs you under her thumb and I'd like to see it, for it must be a pretty big one.—New York Press.

Alaskan Rivers.

Lieutenant Schwatka only confirms what recent exposures have said concerning Alaska. The country is a broken one and the rivers are practically unnavigable. Alaska can only be opened up by railroads. It contains some magnificent forests and the gold appears to be well filled with mineralz. It may be a great country for mining and if so the development by railways is sure to come sooner or later.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

HARPER'S WEEKLY
JOURNAL OF CIVILIZATION
35TH YEAR
The accompanying offer is made to give readers an opportunity of ascertaining the merits of HARPER'S WEEKLY, a periodical that the public may well be proud of. All the resources of a great publishing house, with its complete equipment of writers, artists, and engravers, are taxed to produce an illustrated weekly that is without a peer.
In its columns may be found all the salient features of contemporary life, described by the best writers of the day, and illustrated by the most distinguished artists of our time.
It appeals to all classes and caters to every refined taste, and it is the constant aim of the publishers to produce a periodical that will find a welcome in every home.
By sending the sum of twenty-five cents to Messrs. HARPER & BROTHERS, New York, N. Y., you will receive the four numbers following the date of receipt of remittance, which will afford you an opportunity of judging of its merits. Subscription price for one year, four dollars, postage paid. Subscriptions may begin with any number.
SPECIAL OFFER
UNTIL JANUARY 1ST
4 NUMBERS FOR 25¢
POSTAGE FREE.

SCHNEERMANN AND GUIDEBECK,
CLOAKS!
Just received, a new line of Plush Saques and Newmarkets, which we offer to you at prices never known before. Come in and see what a handsome garment you can buy for the same price as a common cloth garment.
PRICES ARE NO OBJECT.
We also have a few CLOTH NEWMARKETS left, which we will sell at prices that cannot be beat. It will pay you a handsome margin on every purchase. Call on us.
Lewis Opera House Block.

O. E. WILBUR & CO.
SUCCESSORS TO A. FOX.
GROCERIES,
Provisions, Crockery and Glassware.
CHARLEVOIX.

DIAMOND!
Something New
THE DIAMOND SAW
NEW STOCK OF SKATES and CUTLERY for the HOLIDAYS.
THE ROUND OAK STOVES.
HARDWARE, TIN WARE, WOODEN WARE, BROOMS and NOTIONS.
L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

(First publication November 27, 1891.)
MORTGAGE SALE
Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Ira Ingersoll and Lucy Ingersoll, husband and wife, of Charlevoix County, Michigan, to Lewis Ingersoll, of Charlevoix County, Michigan, dated the twenty day of December eighteen hundred and eighty-one, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, in the State of Michigan, on the twenty day of December, A. D. 1881, in Liber "A" of mortgages, on page 179, which mortgage, as parts of the principal sum thereof, one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1882, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1883, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1884, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1885, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1886, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1887, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1888, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1889, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1890, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1891, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1892, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1893, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1894, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1895, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1896, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1897, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1898, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1899, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1900, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1901, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1902, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1903, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1904, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1905, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1906, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1907, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1908, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1909, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1910, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1911, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1912, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1913, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1914, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1915, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1916, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1917, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1918, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1919, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1920, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1921, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1922, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1923, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1924, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1925, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1926, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1927, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1928, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1929, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1930, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1931, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1932, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1933, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1934, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1935, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1936, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1937, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1938, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1939, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1940, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1941, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1942, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1943, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1944, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1945, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1946, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1947, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1948, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1949, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1950, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1951, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1952, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1953, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1954, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1955, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1956, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1957, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1958, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1959, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1960, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1961, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1962, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1963, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January, A. D. 1964, and one hundred dollars on the first day of January

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

BROKEN HEARTS.

Pale phantoms of a purposed day come gloaming
The twilight tolls, the moon is coming,
The night-owl hoots, the night-bird flies,
The night-mare rides on her victim's sighs.
Of a broken heart, of a broken heart,
Of false promises and blighting years,
Wrong upon wrong, and—the tree by doing
Bears the fruit of a broken heart.
And hide it as we may, or the fruit conceal,
And bury it in the depths of a cold, cold grave,
Yet it will rise at the call of a broken heart,
Who, who can tell the pangs of a broken heart?

Wild horses may drag, and the rack may torture,
They may do with us what they will,
But they can not, they can not, they can not,
They can not, they can not, they can not,
Wound as with cruel as we can, a broken heart.
Ah! the world is full of broken hearts,
Hearts of gold and lower ones for a sequel,
Hearts of gold and lower ones for a sequel,
Hearts of gold and lower ones for a sequel,
Hearts cold as ice, and—the world is full of broken hearts.

As the years roll on, the tangle and whirl
Of the world, and the world's whirlpool
Will bear us, and bear us, and bear us,
Yet, yet, yet,

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1868.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, DEC 23, 1891.

Northern Michigan News.

Petoskey has a flourishing young men's republican club.

Trains on the C. & W. M. will be running into Elk Rapids next week.

Cheboygan has now a company of the Michigan State troops, duly mustered into the service.

John Otis of Mancelona, netted $12,000 by the advance in the price of broom corn from $70 to $150 per ton.

That the M. & N. E. will be open for business to Traverse City by the first of June next appears to be pretty certain now.

Robert Roe & Sons have wound up their business for the season at Fox Island and returned to Harbor Springs with two cargoes of shingles.

The crew of the lighthships in the Straits of Mackinac grew mutinous at the cold weather and left their posts. They were peremptorily ordered back.

Traverse City has decided to follow Manistee's example and prosecute any dealer who sells the all pervading cigarette to youngsters under seventeen.

At least three companies will buy saw logs on the Intermediate lakes this winter. Among them are the old stand bys, the Elk Rapids Iron Company and Cameron Bros.

At Leland, Leelanaw county, pork purchases stake is five cents a pound, other qualities four and three cents. Wood to cut it with costs the price of cutting and hauling, and potatoes are worth twenty cents per bushel.

Mrs. Mary E. Franks, of Mackinac, who died recently, was 76 years of age, and had been for forty years proprietor of the Mission House. Her father died only a few months ago at the age of 100 years.

Now that the deer shooting season has closed the Boyne Falls citizens are hunting rabbits with an enthusiasm never displayed before, and it is said that whenever a deer happens along there is always a handy rabbit within range.

Petoskey Record: Mr. Horelle Hose was married on Thursday last in Grand Rapids to Mrs. Ella L. Hull of that city. Mrs. Hull spent some time here last summer, and made a number of friends. They will reside in Grand Rapids.

Counselor McLean has been down through the intermediate valley hurrying up the sub-contractors. He says the steel must be laid to Charlevoix this winter. Two bad sink-holes near Ellsworth are causing considerable delay in the work.

The village of Bellaire is the owner of a fine piece of imported steel, weighing 135 pounds, for which $20.00 was paid. This piece of steel is to be manufactured into a fire sharn and placed on the fire company's building, engine house No. 1.

Some one started a pleasant fiction to the effect that Wright, the lumberman murderer from Benzie county, was silently fading away in state prison on account of remorse or dyspepsia, or some other thing of the sort. The fact is, Mr. Wright is fat and sleek and takes in the khnilliest way to prison fare.

Village bonds to the amount of $21,000 have just been sold to the Wayne County Savings Bank of Detroit at a premium of $900. They are for twenty years at 6 per cent, with the privilege of being redeemed at the end of ten years. This means that Traverse City will have the Manceloua Oval Dish factory.

It is understood that the Michigan Central will take hold of the Traverse City, Kalkaska and Grayling railroad, which is partly built at the Grayling end, and complete the line to Traverse City, making direct connection for Traverse City to the Saginaw Valley and the whole eastern part of the State. This will give Traverse City six lines of railroad.

The East Jordan Enterprise expatiates on the domination of the thing element in that town, and says very properly, "If our courts have become so shamelessly corrupt that such crimes as that of Saturday night cannot be properly punished, then the sooner they are succeeded by virtuous committees the better for the people.

Cheboygan will once more ask the Treasury Department to erect a marine hospital in that city. The Cheboygan Democrat says "The treatment of sick sailors at this port the past three years has been shameful in the extreme, and at least one death may be attributed to it, and that, too, of an old sailor, who, in the days when sailors were forced to contribute to the Marine Hospital Service, probably paid in cash much more than his care would have cost when his time of need came."

MASON & BERDAN.

Greet all their Customers with

A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.

We still hold the lead in Ladies' Outer Wearing Apparel.

MAKE US A HOLIDAY CALL.

East Jordan Enterprise: At the regular communion of the Masonic Lodge here on Saturday evening last occurred the annual election of officers, with the following result: Frank Hankey, W. M; Wm. Parkes, S. W; Fred Haggett, J. W; Dr. F. A. Porter, Treas; M. M. Burnham, Secy; Wm. Simmons, S. D; P. Bowman, J. D. The installation is set for Monday evening, Dec. 28th.

Petoskey Democrat: An important survey has just been completed in connection with the new C. & W. M. road. A spur has been laid out, leaving the main line at Carpenter, about five miles west of Petoskey, and running in a south easterly direction to Bear Lake, a distance of about two miles. If this branch is built, as it undoubtedly will be, there will be two railroads to Bear Lake, one at such extremity, and the resort business on that beautiful sheet of water will take a "boom."

The doctors of Antrim county are mad as hornets at the treatment they receive from the Supervisors of Antrim county, who deem it their duty to cut all bills presented to them for medical services. The physicians have notified Clayton Bailey, Judge of Probate, that they will examine no more insane patients if the heavens fall in consequence. They will resist all proceedings instituted to compel them to testify in insanity cases, and will make all the trouble, generally, in their power. They charge the supervisors with dishonest dealing, refusing to allow adequate fees or mileage specified by law. They will sue the county for the bills presented and disallowed in the past, and if they cannot have their own way will at least know the reason why. Judge Bailey says he will bring doctors from abroad, and the local medical lights defy him to try it.

Boyne Falls News: Premature booms for political candidates are not usually healthy, but we rise to remark right here that ours is a particularly healthy one—he weighs 353 pounds. F. P. Myers is better fitted to fill the office of county sheriff, that will be vacated at the close of '92 by one of the lost sheriffs the county ever had, than any man we know of. By this time his aspirant friends will have disappeared and with it that disturbing snore and he will be able to present himself to the people as slim as a spring shad. No one outside of a law office has had an equal amount of experience in legal formalities, and all his legal business has been remarkably successful. Granting that all his fish should stay by him his experience and ability is valuable to the county. No criminal is cunning enough to out-general Frank in any way.

A man giving his name as Holden has been working in the vicinity of Boyne Falls for several weeks and had made for himself quite a local reputation as a dead beat. On Monday of last week, in company with two companions, he became intoxicate, and showed very marked attention to one of the trio, who was possessed of between $190 and $200. The watch of the third party kept him from appropriating the funds of his companion, but in the evening Holden decoyed with the horse of one of his companions and the baggy of the other. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Under-Sheriff Myers, but he stuffed the warrant in his pocket and went to bed. On Tuesday Myers started out and had some into town Wednesday evening, towing his shad-like companion whom he had captured at Gaylord the night previous. A preliminary hearing was held before Justice Mann and holden was bound over to the next term of the Circuit Court.

A report comes from Mackinac Island that some boys there recently discovered a wonderful hole near the middle of the island, that is now being thoroughly explored to a considerable depth with the aid of ropes, but thus far no end has been found to the curious subterranean passage that is clearly a natural formation.

Banks Items.

Antrim school commenced last week with D. H. Stebbins as teacher.

The revival meetings at the M. E. church closed Sunday. Rev. Mr. Holliday goes to Barnard on Monday evening to commence a revival at that place.

Simeon Blow has gone to New York state to spend the winter.

Married, on Thursday, Dec. 17th, Mr. Chas. F. Mason, of Eastport, to Miss Clara E. Wood, of Atwood.

The fishermen here are very much dissatisfied with their catch this fall, and have taken in their nets.

The Democratic papers give great credit to Gov. Winans for promptly demanding Mr. Soper's resignation. What else could he do. It was a ground-hog case. But Soper himself was a "reformer" with a big "R."

NOTICE.

Parties having accounts unsettled will oblige me by doing so immediately either by note or cash.

12 A. T. WASHBURNE.

Holiday Rates.

For Christmas and New Years, the Chicago & West Michigan and Detroit, Lansing & Northern Rys. will sell on Dec. 24, 25, 31 and Jan 1st, excursion tickets to nearly all points on these and connecting lines, including Chicago. Rate will be one and one third fare for the round trip, all tickets good to return until Jan. 4th 1892.

GEO. DE HANES, G. P. A.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned under the firm name of Beaman & Bartholomew is mutually dissolved. A Merry Christmas to all. The firm will pay no bills after date.

Charlevoix, Mich., Dec. 19, 1891. W. BEAMAN, BARTHOLOMEW BEAMAN.

C. BARRY,
Manufacturer of
FINE CIGARS,
CHARLEVOIX.
The Trade of Northern Michigan Solicited.
Factory Over Postoffice.

TO THE FARMERS
OF Northern Michigan.
THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN SEED CO.
If not acquainted for the purpose of Importing, Growing and Exporting
SEED GRAINS, etc.
and operating in all kinds of
FARM SUPPLIES.
Many of our farmers realize the importance of a change in their seed grains. Vegetables also showing "fits and ly" has determined the quality, and reduced the quantity. If of crop mind. We propose to furnish you with fresh stock of such varieties as have been tested and proven.
Profitable to Grow.
If you wish a change or supply of seeds, place your orders with us, and it shall have our careful attention.
Yours,
The Northern Michigan Seed Company.
QUINCY THACKER, Manager.
Office with Bank of Charlevoix.

MERRY CHRISTMAS
TO ALL, AND
A Happy New Year,
WITH JUST ENOUGH OF WHATEVER YOU NEED, MOST TO MAKE YOU TRULY HAPPY AND CONTENTED, IS WISHED FOR ONE AND ALL, BIG AND SMALL, FOR OUR PATRONS and EVERYBODY ELSES.
Yours truly,
H. L. IDDINGS.
Dec. 22, 1891.

N. B. This is not an advertisement. Business announcements give way this week to Good King Christmas.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

BEAMAN
AT THE FRONT
Fine Line of Holiday Goods.
Elegant Presents for the Loved Ones.
Presents for the Old.
Presents for the Young.
Call and see them, at
BEAMAN'S.
BARTHOLOMEW'S BLOCK.

TO ALL.
We extend you a greeting, and will welcome you to our store, where is
A Great Display
OF GOODS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.
Such as elegant Imported VASES, from 25c to $5.00. Glove and Handkerchief SATCHELS, DOLLS, TOYS, Books, Bric-a-brac, etc.
LOW PRICES
Make the sales this year. We are, without doubt, now showing the most superb Line of Ladies' Gloves and Handkerchiefs ever opened in this section; in the latter, all silk-embroidered, at 25c to $1.50.
DRESS GOODS,
Cloaks, Jackets,
SOMETHING NEW EVERY DAY TO SELECT FROM.
Note My Premium Offer:
AN ELEGANT, MASSIVE FRAMED OIL LANDSCAPE
PAINTING,
FREE!
WHEN YOUR PURCHASES AMOUNT TO $15. DON'T FAIL TO SECURE ONE OR MORE OF THESE VALUABLE PRESENTS.
A. T. Washburne.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
Jas. C. Miller, Willard A. Smith.
VOL. XXIII. NO. 26. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 30, 1891. WHOLE NO. 1,150.

Wishing Everybody
A Happy and Prosperous
NEW YEAR,
We are yours for Trade.
F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Popular Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -- Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

C. B. & CO.
"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."
NOTHING IS MORE TRUE THAN THIS. AND THERE IS ANOTHER THING THAT IS EQUALLY TRUE, AND THAT IS THAT C. B. & CO. HAVE A SPLENDID STOCK OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE FOR THE GENERAL TRADE.
And they are the boys that will attend to your wants in good shape, and they desire you to call early and often. Call and see their nice presents given away with each pound of Coffee, at 25 cents.
EVER YOURS FOR THE
LEADING GENERAL TRADE.
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

CALKINS & WARNE
EXTEND THEIR
GREETING,
And announce that they have opened an elegant line of Holiday Goods for the parlor or the boudoir, Toilet Cases and Albums in artistic styles, and numberless Christmas Gifts that will please. For every $10 in trade a beautiful Album is given away.
Make Your Selections.

BERT MASON.
SELLS

Evaporated Apricots,	15c.
Pitted Cherries,	15c.
3 lbs Good Raisins,	25c.
4 lbs Jelly,	25c.
4 lbs Apple Butter,	30c.
Walnuts, per pound,	10c.
Almonds, "	20c.
Brazils, 10c, 3 lbs for	25c.

Holiday Goods now open. Corn Meal, Bran, Oats, Linseed Meal and Hay.
BERT MASON.

OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS and ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES
From this date until Jan. 15th, 1892, I shall sell the finest Saddle Rock and Cherry Stone Oysters at lower prices than ever before sold in Charlevoix. And in the matter of Oranges, I shall make a specialty of the finest Florida fruit, direct from the celebrated Hilyer Grove, on Indian River. Just call and let me prove all I say.
O. W. SMITH.

LOOK OVER OUR STOCK
CHRISTMAS GIFTS
PRETTIEST ROCKERS
Other Goods too numerous to mention, equally cute and the cheapest.
Our Blankets
Yours,
S. M. SEE & SONS.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One Year . . . $1 00 (If in advance) . . . $1 50

Local News.

—Happy New Year!

—R. A. Emrey went to Chicago Monday.

—O. W. Smith has a change of ad. this week.

—Dr. Crouter returns from Detroit to day.

—Judge Burch, of Grand Rapids, was in town yesterday.

—Geo. McCartney was home from Grand Rapids Christmas.

—C. R. Bellinger went to Grand Rapids Monday, on business.

—Mrs F. M. Sears returns home from Fort Huron next Sunday.

—A. J. McLeod left for Grand Rapids and Detroit yesterday.

—Monty Lewis left Sunday for Chicago and Whitewater, Wis., for a week.

—Mrs O. A. Sears and her daughter Miss Sue, left Monday for their home in Saginaw.

—Moore & Nettleton, the real estate men, advertise two farms for sale this week.

—Geo. Carr left Monday for Chicago, where he enters a business college for the winter.

—Ed. Shapton, of Marion, left Thursday for Canada to visit a sister and other relatives.

—Rev. G. S. Barnes will give the third lecture of his course, Sunday evening. All are invited.

—Prof. Arthur Nelson is down with la grippe, and Frank Wood is just recovering from it.

—Christmas was like a spring day, warm and sunny, and most everybody was out on the streets.

—W. B. Hadour, wife and children, of Grand Rapids, were here this week visiting relatives.

—Geo. Anderson, of Marion, left last week for Canada, called there by a serious injury to his father.

—R. J. McNeill is back again from Traverse City, and will probably remain here most of the winter.

—About fifty Maccna attended the Methodist church Sunday morning, in a body, in honor of St. John the Evangelist.

—Train service on the C. & W. M. railroad was begun to Elk Rapids Monday. They have three passenger trains, and the team is out of the woods.

—Mr. O. N. Ledin, of Toledo, general agent of the magnificent new 1 volume Century Edition of Johnson's History of the World, is at the New Charlevoix.

—Rev. J. S. Hood, formerly Congregational pastor here, was in town Monday night. Mrs. Hood, who has been in Petoskey since they left here, returns to Chicago with him.

—Mrs. A. E. Fessenden, (nee Mate Cooper,) was here over Christmas visiting her parents. She returned to her home in Boone, Mich., Saturday, taking her sister Minnie with her.

—Friday, while Mrs. John Bell stood just outside her back door, a sparrow-rifle bullet missed her head and buried itself in the door. It was probably a stray shot, but who fired it is not known.

—At the last regular meeting of Inward Grange the following officers were elected: Worthy Master, George Anderson; Overseer, Wm. Burns; Secretary, Thomas M egglson; Treasurer, John Smith.

—The historical society will be entertained at Mr. A. T. Washburne's residence, Friday evening, Jan. 1, '92. Historical subject to be discussed: "Michael Angelo. All are desired to furnish something interesting on the subject.

—Supervisor Sam See, on the water works question.—I am in favor of using the $25,000 talked of for water works, in securing a manufacturing enterprise here. When we have a bigger pay-roll we can better afford water-works."

—At the adjourned sale next Monday assignee W. N. Moore expects to sell all the remainder of the property assigned by McCracken & Sibley, and which consists of the camps, known as Howe's and the Clark camp, and the dump cars and track, together with a few shovels, mattocks and road scrapers.

—The song service at the Congregational church last Sabbath evening is said to have been a pronounced success. Rev. Mr. McPherson, besides being an eloquent preacher, is an able and pleasing singer, of the baritone class, and a vocal leader of ability.

—Those who have familiarized themselves with the general election law passed by the legislature, should also bear in mind the fact that a supplementary act applicable to municipal and township elections was also passed. It may be found on pages 274 and 275 of the public acts of 1891.

—The legislature last winter changed the school law so that a non-taxpaye taxes in a district can send his children to school in that district whether he lives there or not. He can be charged tuition, but the amount of his school tax shall be deducted from the bill of tuition.

—Geo. W. Millen's Kansas coyote is dead, and his hide adorns the fence. Yesterday, he was running about the store when a six-year old boy of Will Bedore's entered, and the animal seized him by the leg, only letting go when he was compelled to. The wound, which was quite an ugly one, was cauterized by Doc Calkins, and no serious result is apprehended. Frank Sears made quick work of the wolf.

—The "Iron Duke," H. V. Bifenning has a ballot as obtuse and incurable as his other peculiarity of smoking "Peerless" tobacco, and quarreling with the editor of this paper over the relative merits of that brand and "man cured," and that is the Christmas habit of sending to the clergy and the press a fifty-pound sack of the famous brand of flour from which he takes his nom de plume. Employes of the mill are also remembered in the same way. We hope he may live to bless humanity many years to come, but we doubt it, if he persists in ignoring our advice in this matter of tobacco.

—S. M. See was the victim of a runaway accident Monday afternoon. He had delivered a wagon-load of furniture at George Anderson's, in the country, and in his return, when near the Bell place, his horse took fright and started into a run. Mr. See leaned himself and held on for a time, but when his foot broke away and the wagon went into a ditch, he was thrown violently upon the frozen road. He was quite painfully hurt about the shoulders, and considerably bruised in his face, but his injuries are not serious. The wagon was almost demolished, but the horse turned into the woods unhipped. Mr. See was helped home by a passing farmer.

—There was to have been a meeting of the McCracken & Sibley creditors in this village last Monday evening, to discuss ways and means, but it did not come off. There is said to be a delay in the contract between the railroad company and J. H. McLane & Co., that anticipates such cases as the one in question, and that will compel liquidation. There is a deep-rooted opinion in the minds of the people that were the true inwardness of this failure uncovered, McLane would be found at the bottom of it. One thing is certain—the C. & W. M. R. R. Co. will enjoy its dividends better if it successfully adjudicates this case as it did that of D. C. & E. notoriety.

The Horse Stealing Case.

The examination of Renard, Alexander and Randall, the East Jordan gentlemen charged with appropriating a team of horses belonging to the widow Swanson, occurred before Justice McLeod Saturday and Monday, at the village hall.

The evidence against them was closed by the Court to be sufficiently strong, and they were bound over in the penal sum of $500 each for appearance in the Circuit Court.

Prosecuting Attorney Burnham and A. D. Drake shank appeared for the People, and B. L. Corbett defended the accused.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

Rev. G. S. Barnes, Pastor. Services at 10:30 a. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday School, 12. Epworth League, 6 day.

Congregational.

Rev. W. L. Macpherson, pastor. Morning, 10:30, subject, "The Influence of the Bible and Sunday School upon the nation." Community service will follow. Evening at 7, "Thankfulness of Christ."

Lost.

A pair of shoes between Charlevoix and Ironton last week Tuesday evening. Finder will please notify or send to E. J. Holden, Ironton.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Gracie Barker, on the ways at Campbell's yard, will receive a thorough rebuild this winter. Messrs. Hyland and Barth now doing work on her boiler.

The tug Parks will be hauled out out at Campbell's yard next week for considerable work during the winter.

The propeller City of Traverse have been placed on the route between Kewaunee and Manistee.

Capt. Ed. Coffey, who has charge of Booth's fishing tugs and outfit at Manistique, will spend most of the winter at Manitowoc, where the boats are to receive a general overhauling.

Owners of vessels claim to have made but very little money the past season. One vessel carrying about 200,000 feet of lumber, came out only $200 ahead, after paying all expenses, and she had made pretty good time too. That is very little profit on a piece of property worth $12,000 or $15 000.

Sturgeon Bay Advocate: The tug Nelson got back from the islands Saturday morning, having been unable to release the schooner H. M. Scove, which is ashore there. The wrecking master states that there is such a large hole in the bottom of the vessel that she fills in about twenty minutes. As the weather was likely to turn cold at any moment it was deemed advisable to suspend operations for the winter. The canvas and outfit of the Scove was brought to this port.

C. L. S. S.

The following is the program for the meeting of the circle to be held at the house of Mrs. John Burns, Jan. 7th, 1892: Quotations from Scott. Question Table in December number of Chautauqua. Thirty questions and answers from Social Institutions, in January number of Chautauqua.

All Hail to Elk Rapids.

Elk Rapids is now "out of the woods." The Chicago and West Michigan Ry having been extended to that point from Traverse City. Commencing Dec. 28th regular train service was established as follows: Leave Elk Rapids, 5:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. connecting at Traverse City with trains for Grand Rapids, Detroit, Chicago etc.

Leave Traverse City 12:55 p. m. and 11:10 p. m., upon arrival of train from Grand Rapids and south.

Other local trains leave Traverse City at 8:00 a. m. and Elk Rapids at 10:30 a. m. Distance from Traverse City is 20 miles.

GEO. DE HANES, G. P. A.

Banks Items.

Happy New Year!

Atwood school closed last Thursday for a two weeks vacation.

The tree in the M. E. Church Xmas night was a success, especially the children's part of the program.

Henry Brown is quite sick with La Grippe.

The young people will organize an Epworth League in the M. E. Church Sunday night.

Dr. L. M. Kanagy purchased a new driving team Monday.

M. D. McDonald moved his family to Central Lake last Saturday.

Mrs. Alem Wood is sick with La Grippe.

The Catholics will have a tree in their church New Year's eve.

Hastings from Hayes.

Fred Lawson returned from the Upper Peninsula last Friday.

Robbie Sharp of Charlevoix, was visiting last week with Frank Kane.

G. W. Ford's infant daughter was buried last Sunday in the Petoskey cemetery.

The name of our new station is Hayden and the contract for building a depot is let.

The conundrum, "How shall I get hay?" is a puzzler this winter.

J. M. Harris of Boyne City, was visiting the Hayes schools the past week.

The following is the report of Dist. No. 2, Township of Hayes for the month of December:

A. Grade.		B. Grade.
Lottie Hayden		Ella Bartlett
Nora Cooper		Willie Barnett
Ida Bartlett		Ella Bartlett
Ella Bartlett		Jessie Cooper
		Willie Cooper
A. Grade.		B. Grade.
Lottie Hayden		Ella Bartlett
Nora Cooper		Willie Barnett
Ida Bartlett		Ella Bartlett
Ella Bartlett		Jessie Cooper
		Willie Cooper
A. Grade.		B. Grade.
Lottie Hayden		Ella Bartlett
Nora Cooper		Willie Barnett
Ida Bartlett		Ella Bartlett
Ella Bartlett		Jessie Cooper
		Willie Cooper
A. Grade.		B. Grade.
Lottie Hayden		Ella Bartlett
Nora Cooper		Willie Barnett
Ida Bartlett		Ella Bartlett
Ella Bartlett		Jessie Cooper
		Willie Cooper

LENORA COOPER, Teacher.

C. A. Barker has the Barnland mill at East Jordan ready for operation as soon as there is sufficient sleighing to run in the logs.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

CREMATED ALIVE.

TWO FIRES CLAIM ELEVEN LOUISVILLE VICTIMS.

In Unique Scrounging Europe—New France Demands Infinmity from Brazil—The Weather, Top to Shoe Soles, Dull Alike on the Gulfers.

At Washington.

On the 8th, immediately after the reading of the Senate journal, the annual message of the President was laid before the Senate. It was read by Mr. McCook in the Secretary. The message was ordered to be laid on the table and printed, and 20,000 copies additional were ordered to be for the House, after the approval of the journal, Mr. Pendleton delivered the President's message, which was immediately read, referred to the committee of the whole, and ordered printed. The House then adjourned until the 12th, with the understanding that no other announcements should be then taken until the 19th.

Big Louisville Fire.

As I quietly, Ky., while the firemen were raining away the ruins of the Boone Paper Company's building there crowd the sound of a terrific explosion in the Bankerfight Stroup Co. two buildings the east of them. In an instant flames broke from every one of the four floors and through the roof. Five floor have been modernized for a long time in the cellar, and when the explosion occurred there was a quantity of with leather all and sundries in process. In lower and the building was one mass of flames. Before the fire could be extinguished of the wholesale hide and shoe house of Hendwood Brown, strong & Co., together with the stocks of Hess, Wilson & Co., furniture and stock of Hess; Wolfin, Falk & Payne, boots and shoes, and Johnson, Wilson & Co., hats, had been consumed. The losses and insurance were as follows: Bankerfight Stroug & Co., loss $125,000, insurance $100,000; Wilson & Co., loss $50,000, insurance $30,000; Wolfin, Falk & Payne, loss $75,000, insurance unknown; Johnson, Wilson & Co., loss unknown, insurance $15,000. It was not certain at first that Brown prevented the flames from spreading, but a number of people were seen up in the upper rooms of the building, and it was generally thought that the firemen had gone and have been crushed by a falling wall.

Influenza in Europe.

An idea of the extent of the ravages of influenza in Berlin may be gathered from an article which appears in the Medizinsch Wochenschrift. This medical authority states that during the past week there have been 6,000 cases of the disease in Berlin. The death rate from influenza is only 0.4, but thirty of the cases reported having resulted fatally. The residence of Hamburg has become almost under stricken at the wide prevalence of the disease in that city. The epidemic in Hamburg is particularly virulent in the matter. The statistics there show that during the past week the deaths have been 30 above the average.

Sick Lawyer of Brazil.

The French government has on hand a very serious question with the Brazilian government, and has been forced to take to bring Lavmaster to settlement. The action of the French government in that did not the troubles growing out of the action of the French consul at Pernambuco, Brazil, in granting asylum to some of the leaders of the Brazilian Congress and sending them to France. The French government has on hand a very serious question with the Brazilian government, and steps have been taken to bring Lavmaster to settlement. It is caused by the French consul at Pernambuco, Brazil, in granting asylum to some of the leaders of the Brazilian Congress and sending them to France. The French consul at Rio Janeiro has been instructed to give the French government a demand of the Peixoto government reparation for the killing of these men.

Convicts Confessed.

Sixty-three convicts in the cookies were confirmed at the State Prison in Trenton, N. J. Bishop O'Farrell confirmed the convicts, being assisted by his brother, Rev. William O'Farrell, Rev. Peter Archbold and Rev. Father Ebelle, the prison chaplain. About sixty guests were present, including Governor Abbett, State and city officials, both Catholic and Protestant. The ceremony was the first in the Rhine after the approval of the Journal, Mr. Pendleton delivered the President's message, which was immediately read, referred to the committee of the whole, and ordered printed. The House then adjourned until the 12th, with the understanding that no other announcements should be then taken until the 19th.

Big Louisville Fire.

As I quietly, Ky., while the firemen were raining away the ruins of the Boone Paper Company's building there crowd the sound of a terrific explosion in the Bankerfight Stroup Co. two buildings the east of them. In an instant flames broke from every one of the four floors and through the roof. Five floor have been modernized for a long time in the cellar, and when the explosion occurred there was a quantity of with leather all and sundries in process. In lower and the building was one mass of flames. Before the fire could be extinguished of the wholesale hide and shoe house of Hendwood Brown, strong & Co., together with the stocks of Hess, Wilson & Co., furniture and stock of Hess; Wolfin, Falk & Payne, boots and shoes, and Johnson, Wilson & Co., hats, had been consumed. The losses and insurance were as follows: Bankerfight Stroug & Co., loss $125,000, insurance $100,000; Wilson & Co., loss $50,000, insurance $30,000; Wolfin, Falk & Payne, loss $75,000, insurance unknown; Johnson, Wilson & Co., loss unknown, insurance $15,000. It was not certain at first that Brown prevented the flames from spreading, but a number of people were seen up in the upper rooms of the building, and it was generally thought that the firemen had gone and have been crushed by a falling wall.

Influenza in Europe.

An idea of the extent of the ravages of influenza in Berlin may be gathered from an article which appears in the Medizinsch Wochenschrift. This medical authority states that during the past week there have been 6,000 cases of the disease in Berlin. The death rate from influenza is only 0.4, but thirty of the cases reported having resulted fatally. The residence of Hamburg has become almost under stricken at the wide prevalence of the disease in that city. The epidemic in Hamburg is particularly virulent in the matter. The statistics there show that during the past week the deaths have been 30 above the average.

Sick Lawyer of Brazil.

The French government has on hand a very serious question with the Brazilian government, and has been forced to take

A TORTOISE'S QUEER WAYS.

How the Hardy Buccaneers Lived on These Reptiles.

The Central Park menagerie has received from Dr. G. Brazer, of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., a very interesting set of reptiles, says the N. Y. World. They are seven in number, and their size is something enormous for animals of their kind. Each one of them weighing in the neighborhood of 150 pounds. They are natives of the Galapagos Islands, in the Pacific ocean, where they thrive in great numbers.

Some of them are enormous, and, in spite of their slow movements, so established by the big shells in which their bodies are incased, they have been known to get up a pretty stiff fight against man.

The tortoises from the Galapagos Islands have been very serviceable to mariners in the times when ocean vessels were unknown and buccaneering was a science on the Pacific seas.

During this period it was a matter of great difficulty to provide sufficient food for a voyage between one port and another. Especially was this true of the hardy buccaneers, who found it inconvenient at times to put in for supplies at public places.

This is where the Galapagos tortoises came in.

In passing the islands the captains laid in a supply of them, and let them live until they were to be used as food. So large are these reptiles, and so compacted is the material of which they are made, that two tortoises are often found sufficient to last a crew of twelve buccaneers on a business voyage of a week. The tortoise was first killed and served up in steaks. When the steaks were all gone there were three

After this came hash, and finally the remnants, including the shell, were cast into a pot of boiling sea water, and the result was a tortoise soup. It made a rather bilgy, leathery dish, but it was regarded as better than nothing.

Mr. Conklin says that an ordinary man can eat a Galapagos island turtle. It requires a life of much hardship to fit the stomach for the reception of such lusty morsels. The buccaneers who ate these tortoises have all become bankrupt and gone out of the business, so that the chief function of these curious reptiles now is to back in menageries and be looked at.

Its twenty years since the menagerie has had any tortoises of this kind. Mr. Holmes, the keeper, remembers the time distinctly. He carries the animals every morning out into the enclosed yard, and every evening back into the antelope house. Two trips a day, seven tortoises, weighing on an average 150 pounds apiece, make the total effort required to be exerted by Mr. Holmes 2,100 pounds.

The Naval Officer's Title.

The title of naval officer as applied to one of the officials of the custom house has always been an enigma to most people, and very few have any idea of how it was created. The office dates back to the colonial days, when Charles II. was king of England and his brother, afterward James II., was duke of York. James received a percentage on all customs receipts in America, and was also lord high admiral of the English navy. He had had very little confidence in the men whom his brother selected as collectors of customs in this country, and in order to protect his own interests he insisted on appointing a man whose duty it would be to approve every permit issued by the collector before it would be valid. As lord high admiral he naturally selected these men from his own officers and placed a naval officer in every custom house in the British provinces in America. Both the office and the duties remain practically unchanged to this day, and the "naval officer" who is merely an auditor, must still countersign all permits.—Philadelphia Record.

Which Did He Eat.

A correspondent of the London Daily Graphic, writing upon the locust plague in North Africa, says: He referrers to the diet of St. John the Baptist, who lived on "locust and wild honey" in the wilderness, there are boneless-national teachers who cannot believe that any one would voluntarily live on such food, and, therefore, say that the "locust bean" the fruit of the carob tree, is meant by the writers of the New Testament. I can only reply that the locust cricket, the Acridium Peregrinum, order Orthoptera, variety Solitaria—the flying Sauterelle of Africa—is sold as a half penny per pound in the market place of Biskra (which is the second oasis from the north in the Sahara), and that there it is cooked by boiling with salt and water, as shrimps are boiled here. I myself have little doubt that it is more nutritious than the latter, because in March, when the insect is gathered and dried, it is as full of albumen as an egg."

Dry Goods.

An old lady from way-back regions came to the city to do some shopping. As she looked around the elegant store with vague wonder a dandy floorwalker approached her.

"What can I do for you to-day, madam?"

"I wanter to go to the place where you sell dry goods."

"It is right here, madam. What kind of dry goods do you want?"

"Dried apples, mister."

And for once a door-waiter was speechless.—Detroit Free Press.

In Africa.

A clergyman's wife now in the Transvaal writes thus: "It seems strange to think of what is going on in this dazzling city of six thousand people (Johannesburg), where five years ago were only a few scattered farm houses. Tonight there are fourteen prayer meetings in various churches, five or six missionary meetings, a congregational bazar, a grand temperance rally, lectures serious in the high church and Catholic cathedral, a skating ring entertainment, at which one of the novelties will be a race between native boys who never put on skates before, a rendering of passion music in Music Hall, the Jubilee Singers' concert and many theatrical performances."

J. Z. LINTON'S

Christmas is close at hand:

New Year will soon follow. Now, if you are old Santa Claus, send him to

LINTON'S.

He has the very finest assortment of Candy and Nuts in Charlevoix.

GIVE HIM A CALL

He will try to please you all, both in goods and price. Oysters fresh. I have on hand, in the bulk or in the can.

J. Z. LINTON.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "La Grippe" has left you weak and weary use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding these organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with Sick Headache you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c. at F. G. Hines & Co's Drug Store. 6

A Little Girl's Experience In A Lighthouse.

Mr and Mrs. Loren Truscott are keepers of the Nor. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning to Lung Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but to vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "shadow of a human." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold yet you may get a trial bottle free at F. G. Hines & Co's Drug Store. 6

English Spavin Liniment

removes all hard, soft or callonsed lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, sitfast, spavin, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-tf

Mange.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-tf

FOR SALE.

Forty acres of part timbered land. S. E. quarter of S. W. quarter section 24, town 34 north, range 6 west, Charlevoix county, Mich.

W. H. BURN, CHASE & LINDLEY CO.
Chamber of Commerce Building,
13-tf. Chicago, Ill.

[First publication Dec 5th.]

PROBATE NOTICE

STATE OF MICHIGAN } ss
County of Charlevoix }

At a session of the Probate Court for said County, held at the Probate office, in the village of Boyne City on the 30th day of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one. Present, Hon. Frank W. Nayne, Judge of Probate. In the matter of John S. Hight, deceased. Proof having and filing the petition, duly verified, of Nancy S. Hight, praying that a certain instrument now on file in this Court purporting to be the last Will and Testament of said deceased, be admitted to Probate and that the executor named therein be duly authorized and empowered to administer said Will and Testament and be empowered executor thereof. It is ordered that Monday, the 28th day of January A. D. 1892, next, at the opening of the Court room, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be held in the Probate office, in the Village of Boyne City in said County and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted. And it is further Ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

A true copy. FRANK W. NAYNE,
Judge of Probate.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are bestrewed with lakes and maple and other wood and are accessible to best markets.

By Water and Rail

And all in a state unsurpassed for health, with water and timber in abundance, and the best facilities for transportation.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 50,000 souls, and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every part of the world.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet to Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich
TITLE PERFECT.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Stores furnished if desired. Rates Low.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows, with grain and Grass Seeder,	33 00
	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies road wagons, float harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL,
OLD FERGUSON HOUSE.

TWO FARMS
AT A BARGAIN.

1st. The "McCARTNEY FARM," in Banks Township. Eighty acres; thirty acres under cultivation; forty acres good timber; good house, with stone cellar; fine fruit stream. Will sell cheap, and on easy terms.

2d. The "WHITMAN FARM," in Hayes Township. Exceptionally fine location, near town, and one of the best farms in the Pine Lake region. Contains 260 acres. Will sell all or part. Extra good buildings, fine orchard, good fences. Title perfect.

Also other Farms and residence property in Charlevoix and vicinity.

QUINCY THACKER,
Charlevoix, Mich
Agent for Stone & Wellington.

MOORE & NETTLETON.
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

TO REDUCE

A large stock of Blankets, Robes and Cutters we will sell Coat Robes, Plush-lined, for

$3.50 AND UP.

Full clipped Knee Plush Trimmed CUTTERS for $20.00

And up. Quality is guaranteed. To appreciate these prices, call and look goods over.

Baker & Son.
Charlevoix.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,
Saw and Planing Mill,
Dealers in
HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.
Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,
J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for, Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering, THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines, Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our
Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.
I also keep continually on draught
Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweser St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc. in Charlevoix.

We will special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First door south of Sentinel office. We sell cheap for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Closing out sale!

Strictly for Cash!
AT GREATLY
REDUCED PRICES!

I will for the next Sixty days, for the purpose of renewing stock, clean out my stock of

Boots and Shoes

No cash chance was ever given here to purchase for way

CHEAP

My stock embraces what is desired in this country, and is of the best quality.

Don't let the opportunity slip.

SHERWOOD

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD P. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor, at Law, Barnard Block Boyne City, Mich.

FRED W. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON Law, Loan and Real Estate Agents, Abstracts of Title, Loans Negotiated, Farms and Cottages Bought for Sale, and Rented. Charlevoix, Mich.

E. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Loans Negotiated, Real Estate Bought and Sold. Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

O. U. A.—Twin Shore No. 157, meet Saturday evening before full moon in Jedediah's hall.

G. A. R.—Charlevoix Post No. 389, meets second Monday in each month, at this Parlors' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 77.—O. E. S. meets at Masonic hall on the first Friday in each month at Boyne City.

FOREST CHAPTER, No. 103, R. A. M. meets on Friday after full Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Forest Lake Lodge No. 263, meets every Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

FRANK COURNEY POST No. 126, G. A. R., meets at their hall on Saturday on or after the full moon.

PYTHIAN SISTERS.—Meets at their hall every Thursday on or after the full moon.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 2317, K. of L., meets every Monday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall.

BAYER RELIEF CORPS, No. 112, meets at Parlors second Saturday of each month, at Odd Fellows' Hall.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, W. P., Physician and Surgeon. Office in Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. S. and J. N. Scott, Civil Engineers and Surveyors, Charlevoix, Mich. Boyne City, Gaylord. Calls promptly attended to.

THE MARVEL.

M. S. GAUNON, Prop.

Beautifully located on the "CHERRY HILL," Charlevoix, overlooking the village and Round Lake. Large Lodging rooms. Table supplied with the best the market affords. Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated. 26-tf

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 109 S. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only line running from the Depot Illinois Central Railroad.

Now house with all Modern Improvements, newly furnished throughout, with Elevator, Rooms from $1.00 weekly upwards. Rooms $3.00 weekly upwards with suite and upward. Turkish Bath for ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents. Restaurant by Fred Gossman, late of Grand Pacific and Palmer House Clubs. Table d'Hote served. Special business by future use.

41-ly

CHICAGO
VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE

Mixed train leaves Boyne City for Chicago and all points west, daily except Sunday.

Mixed train for Petoskey and intermediate points leaves Boyne City daily except Sunday, at 7.00 a.m. Ex. Sundays 8.45 a.m. Arrive Grand Rapids, 1.00 p.m. Ex. Sundays 3.45 p.m. Leave Grand Rapids, 7.00 a.m. Ex. Sundays 8.45 a.m. Arrive Petoskey, 1.00 p.m. Ex. Sundays 3.45 p.m. Arrive Chicago, 5.35 p.m. 6.00 p.m. 7.00 a.m.

Every day. †Every day except Sunday.

10.00 a.m. has free sleeper run to Chicago.

4.35 p.m. has Wagner sleeping car to Chicago.

†9.45 p.m. has Wagner sleeping car to Chicago.

Trains leave Chicago at 9.00 a.m., 4.00 p.m. and 11.15 p.m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 3.35 p.m., 10.30 p.m. and 6.30 a.m. Arrive at Petoskey 6.00 p.m. and 10.00 a.m.

C. L. LOCKWOOD, Agent, Boyne City.
C. H. MYRON, G. P. A., Chicago.

DETROIT.
The Favorite is the
Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.
From Howard City and Grand Rapids
Shortest Route to Detroit.

Leave Howard City 7.45 a. m., 11.15 a. m. and 3.30 p. m.

Leave Grand Rapids 8.00 a. m., 1.05 p. m. and 7.00 p. m.

Arrive Lansing 9.35 a. m., 2.40 p. m., 7.05 p. m. and 10.15 p. m.

Arrive Detroit 11.40 a. m., 4.45 p. m., 9.15 p. m. and 1.05 a. m.

Leave Detroit 7.00 a. m., 12.05 p. m., 5.10 p. m. and 10.00 p. m.

Arrive Lansing 8.35 a. m., 1.40 p. m., 6.40 p. m. and 9.35 p. m.

Arrive Howard City 10.45 a. m., 3.45 p. m., 8.45 p. m. and 12.45 a. m.

Close connections at Detroit with trains for all points east.

GEO. DERAMUS,
Asst. Pass. Agent.

FOR SALE.

Farm for sale--

Containing 75 acres, eighty acres improved, good house, barn and other buildings, good orchard of good varieties, good buildings, water enough at front, entirely from Grand Rapids, Ionia and Lansing, 1 mile from Portland on the main road to Boyne City, good new well and delightful factory and railroad machinery with land adjoining the premises.

Also on same section--

160 acres with 20 acres of improvements, good house, barn and other buildings.

These lots are all good farms and are in very cheap and an easy terms.

Inquire of REV. C. H. WHITMAN,
East Jordan, Mich.

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are 66 feet front each on Clinton St., and in one block with site nice house, nicely finished on outside. Inquire of

PROF. O. M. RICE,
Kewaunee, Mich.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt-rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

C. C. HOLLISTER,
ST. JOHNS, MICH.

Has Good Farms to Sell on Easy Terms through Clinton, Gratiot, Montcalm, Ionia, Oceana, Wexford, and Other Counties.

SHE STOPPED.

Mrs. Jenkyns Found That She Couldn't Stay Longer.

She was a mild-mannered little woman and she let Mrs. Jenkyns talk on, rambling along with her string of boundless stories, although she did not encourage their recital by word or look. She even looked no surprise when Mrs. Jenkyns told her that she had been informed by an intimate friend that the little woman's husband was extremely attentive to that terrible girl Miss Brown." Nor did she display any jealousy when she was further informed that Mrs. Jenkyns had accidentally learned that he had been seen at the theater several times with Miss Brown. She simply smiled serenely and said:

"A woman doesn't like to hear such stories about her husband, you know."

"No, indeed," responded Mrs. Jenkyns with emphasis.

"Especially," continued the little woman, "when she has confidence in her husband."

"That makes it so much harder to bear," said Mrs. Jenkyns. "I should take pains to have it stopped."

"Of course, of course," said the little woman pleasantly, and a moment later she changed the subject by asking in her quiet way: "Do you keep a cooking-stove?"

"Oh, yes; I have to," said the gossip, "and it's so hard to keep up."

The little woman got a book out of her dainty little writing desk.

"I have quite a system for mine," she said. "Perhaps you'd like to study it. See, there are the A's and there the B's." She turned rapidly over the A's. "Why, here any one calls on me I put a little dash after the name, and when I return the call I put a cross after that. I can even it at any name and know whether I owe a call or whether a call is owed me. Now there is your name. I haven't had time to make the proper entry on it yet."

She took up a little gold pencil that was attached to the book and drew a line across through the name.

"I'm sorry you have any longer," she said with a slight bow.—Chicago Tribune.

THE TACKEY.

Means of Defense Used Against Outsiders.

When the birds are ravage, or quit, as the tackey call it, they seem to be aggressive, and it is impossible to walk about the cages unless armed with a weapon of defense called a tackey. This is a long and stout branch of mimosa, with the thorns all left on at the end. It seems but a feeble protection against a foe, with only one stroke of his lance—any powerful leopard easily kill a man the kick, so less violent than that of a horse, being considered infinitely more dangerous by the formidable claw with which the foot is armed. Thus, however, who are well practiced in the use of the tackey have no difficulty in dealing with the most furious bird. They thrust the thorns in his face, and he shuts his eyes and is bewildered and the man goes on. Fortunately, one is never assailed by more than one origin at a time, for, in the large cages each one has his own domain, separated from those of the others by some imaginary boundary line of his own, within which he defends his claims with vigor. Any other outsider daring to invade his territory is at once attacked, and the human intruder is careful to keep out of his way as soon as he can. Immediately after thus speeding the pa ing guest, the most savage bird is quite harmless; he thinks he has put him in his place and walks quietly back, feeding as he goes. But if the intruder put one the head and long neck of his neighbor, whose domain he has now entered, and whose sharp eyes spied you out the instant your foot crossed his frontier. He now advances toward you with jerky spasmodic movements, as if he were trying to be a warrior, but this however, is far from his thoughts, and, after sitting down once or twice to give you his challenge—whereby he hopes you will be intimidated—he trots up defiantly, and the tackey's services are again required.—Popular Science Monthly.

NOTES FROM JAPAN.

Life in and Near Yokohama—Books and Art in the Mikado's Empire.

There are items of interest in every number of the Japanese Gazette, published in Yokohama, and some are to be found in a copy that has recently come to hand.

On the 1st page there is an advertisement in which Hong Sing, who is probably a Chinaman, announces to Yokohama that he has just "established himself as a portrait painter, and keeps a large stock of cigars at lowest prices."

The Yokohama and Kobe Association of Golfers are notice that its members belong to the Kaiyusha and are at the service of tourists.

There are many steamers advertised to run from Yokohama to Chinese and other ports.

In a fire at Anjer sixty houses of planks and bamboo with atap roofs were burned and "became a seething mass."

When Count Itagaki arrived in Shimbashi he had a triumphal reception and fifty men in armor welcomed him by shouting "Jiyu Banzai!"

The Jiji Shimpo gives the name of the seventeen members of the Japanese privy council. Two of them are under 70 years old, four of them are over 80 and the others are about 70.

The home minister, Shinagawa, publishes the census of the cities and towns of the Japanese empire. The capital city is Tokyo. In Tokyo there has a population of 1,141,591, and the next largest is Osaka, the population of which is 476,959.

During the month of June there were 5,575 persons who took books from the Tokyo free library, nearly all of them in the Japanese and Chinese languages. Among the 56,687 volumes drawn 7,482 were books of "history, biography and geography," 6,733 of "law and politics," 6,640 of "literature and language," 5,877 of "measure, philosophy, medicine and therapeutics," 4,124 of "engineering, the arts and industries," 3,067 of "philosophy and education" and the rest were of "miscellaneous kind.

USED THE WRONG WORD.

Bishop Cranberry Interesting Story of a Woman's Amazing Blunder.

The bishop's friend, the Rev. Mr. Blank had been a missionary in Brazil for some years with the bishop and both spoke Spanish, or the Brazilian Spanish, like native, says the Louisville Times. But they both forgot, to their amazement, that there was going to be trouble on the score of the language when Mr. Blank informed the prelate that he was coming home to the United States to get his bride and take her back to Brazil. But the bride, anticipating trouble, studied the Spanish diligently, and for a time there was some hesitation and embarrassment, but no trouble. Thinking she was getting along famously, she soon gained more confidence.

So all went well until the young couple set up an establishment and opened a little house with the usual measures of a Spanish grandee. The second gentleman's wife stood in awe of him from the start. And her greatest trial was that her husband would be detained from home during dinner hour, when she had to dine alone except for that grand man servant. One day that functionary was absent, elegant and impressive when she had occasion to ask him to hand her the cheese. The man stood immovable like a big figure in a clothing house, but she continued a curious twitching of the mouth. She detected that he had blushed her, and she began to get angry that he had dared to do her bidding.

She repeated her command as she thought: "Give me the cheese." His face grew more and more serious and perceptibly laughed, but was immovable. In indignation, supposing him to be impertinent or worse still, she rose from the front door to call assistance when she met her husband returning, her husband, and promptly explained the situation.

"What did you say, my dear?" was her husband's question.

"Give me the cheese," was what I said.

"Yes, but the word?" he insisted.

"I said queso," replied the wife, still puzzled.

Then the unfeeling missionary fairly roared with laughter. His wife had begun to think that he, too, had gone off, when he managed to keep calm long enough to explain. It was only a mistake in the second of one letter that she had made, but it was a fearfully fatal one that time. She should have said "queso" instead of "beso," and instead of asking the men servant for the "cheese" she had asked him without any qualification for a "kiss."

New Bathing.

Horse Tender exhibited the practice of sea bathing and said if any one of the sea species were sick it would be just as wise for a fish physician to order them to go on shore. Porson declared on bathing was only reckoned healthy because many persons have been known to survive it but Sheridan's objection to salt water was the most quaint—"Pickles," said he, "don't agree with me."

Dog and Elephant.

The dog is the only brute animal that groans, and he and the elephant are the only quadrupeds that understand "tickling." Elephant is the only animal that, besides man, feels sorrow; the dog is the only quadruped that has been brought to speak. Leibnitz knew a house in a hound in Saxony that could speak distinctly thirty words.—Sat. Evening Post.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans.

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

HARPER'S WEEKLY
JOURNAL OF CIVILIZATION

35TH YEAR

The accompanying offer is made to give readers an opportunity of ascertaining the merits of HARPER'S WEEKLY, a periodical that the public may well be proud of. All the resources of a great publishing house, with its complete equipment of writers, artists, and engravers, are taxed to produce an illustrated weekly that is without a peer.

In its columns may be found all the salient features of contemporary life, described by the best writers of the day, and illustrated by the most distinguished artists of our time.

It appeals to all classes and caters to every refined taste, and it is the constant aim of the publishers to produce a periodical that will find a welcome in every home.

By sending the sum of twenty-five cents to HARPER & BROTHERS, New York, N. Y., you will receive the four numbers following the date of receipt of remittance, which will afford you an opportunity of judging of its merits. Subscription price for one year, four dollars, postage paid. Subscriptions may begin with any number.

SPECIAL OFFER
UNTIL JANUARY 1ST
4 NUMBERS FOR 25¢
POSTAGE FREE

SCHNEERMANN AND GUIDEBECK,
CLOAKS!

Just received, a new line of Plush Saques and Newmarkets, which we offer to you at prices never known before. Come in and see what a handsome garment you can buy for the same price as a common cloth garment.

PRICES ARE NO OBJECT.

We also have a few CLOTH NEWMARKETS left which we will sell at prices that cannot be beat. It will pay you a handsome margin on every purchase. Call on us.

Lewis Opera House Block.

O. E. WILBUR & CO.
SUCCESSORS TO A. FOX.
GROCERIES,
Provisions, Crockery and Glassware.
CHARLEVOIX

HOW A PUZZLE WAS SOLVED.

When you want a certain article, you want the best name of that article, don't you? Do you have to determine which make is best in what position you won't be?

Well, when the puzzle is solved for you, by authority which cannot be questioned, you want to know it, don't you?

And you would like to hear of one puzzle that has been solved for the people of the whole world, wouldn't you?

Well, we will tell you about that very puzzle, and its solution.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889 at Paris, France, the last sewing machine of the world, including those of America, was in competition. They were grouped together by a jury composed of the best judges, practical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France. This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machines were the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered, the GRAND PRIZE, giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French Government, as a further recognition of experience, decorated Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the most prized honor of France.

That is how the puzzle of the best sewing machine in the world was fairly solved by the most competent judges, and it is in favor of the No. 9 and No. 12 Wheeler & Wilson machines.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing purposes, are the best in the world today.

Remember, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best, it will be your own fault.

Ask your sewing machine dealer for the No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson, and if he says he does not keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue, and we will tell you where Agents wanted in all unoccupied territory.

WHEELER & WILSON MFG. CO.,
142 and 147 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

TEACH $3000 A YEAR

YOU CAN EARN THIS SALARY

Teachers, students, young men and women, and others, can easily earn the above salary during their spare hours, or all the time, by the introduction of our new and wonderful specialties. Address, with stamp, for particulars, DRAWER 2, BOX 1, AUGUSTA, MAINE.

FREE CONSULTATION
—DR. A. B. SPINNEY,—

of Detroit, for the purpose of accommodating his friends and patrons that cannot visit Detroit, has opened an office at the point named below, and will be there on that day. The Doctor has been thirty-one years in practice—thirteen years in private practice, eighteen years in the study and treatment of Chronic Diseases, for two years was Medical Superintendent of Alma and Ypsilanti Sanitariums, for nine years Professor of Anatomy and Physiology on Medical College in Detroit—has given hundreds of lectures upon Physiology in different parts of the State. If you have Catarrh, Throat, Lung, Eye, Ear, Liver, Stomach, Kidney or Nervous Diseases, improve this opportunity for a careful examination. If your case is curable he will tell you so, if you can be treated at home he will do so, if not, he will tell you what it will cost, and how long it will take; his office, which is open all the time and at experienced prices, is at Charlevoix, Mich. Friday, December 18th.

Will be at the FOUNTAIN CITY HOUSE, Wednesday and Thursday, January 6th and 7th.

DIAMOND!
Something New
THE DIAMOND SAW

NEW STOCK OF SKATES AND CUTLERY for the HOLIDAYS.

THE ROUND OAK STOVES.

HARDWARE, TIN WARE, WOODEN WARE, BROOMS and NOTIONS.

L. D. Bartholomew & Co.

[First publication November 27, 1891.]

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage (whereby the power thereinafter contained to foreclose by sale of the premises hereinafter mentioned and described, executed by Lewis F. Durell and Ida J. Durell, his wife, of the Village of Boyne City, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, Mortgagors, dated the seventeenth day of April, A. D. 1890, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, in the State of Michigan, on the 29th day of April, A. D. 1890, in Liber 20 of Mortgages, on page 1, and assigned by said mortgagee, as part of the principal sum thereof, payable by the mortgagors, Herbert H. Hall, in the mortgagee of said mortgage in the terms thereof, and the sum of Twenty Dollars ($20) in the terms thereof, and paid by said mortgagee, Herbert H. Hall

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

MANY RECOMMENDATIONS OF PERIL TO LIBERTIES.

A Central Review of the Political Conspirations—Other Foreign Relations—Tariff Legislation—this Views on the Silver Question—Concerning Anarchy—Etc.

The Annual Document.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The reports of the heads of the several executive departments will be laid before you, and, without its use, which we believe, has entailed no hardship upon any interest, I shall, in this communication, confine the attention of Congress to a comprehensive view of the condition of our country with the hope that by bringing to bear upon the subjects thus presented the combined wisdom of the representatives of the people and of the states, we may be enabled to make such legislation as may be needed, and such recommendations to the several states as will tend to the amelioration of the lot of those who, with us, are sharers in the burdens of life, and who, in the performance of their allotted tasks, are working out the problem of how much a free government may be made to contribute to the happiness of those who are its subjects.

The reports will I believe, show that every Department of our government is administered with a fidelity and a regard for the public good which are creditable to those who are charged with the execution of the laws of their creation, and that the business of the country has prospered under the fostering care of the laws relating to it.

The work of the State Department during the past year has been unusually heavy, owing to the number of important negotiations and by reason of the many revolutions of a month and highly hazardous character. Among these are the continued revolutions in Central and South American states, the question of the protectorate over the Nicaragua Canal, the Chinese-Japanese war, the war between Japan and China, with the danger of a general war between the European powers, growing out of the Japanese war, the uprising in Corea, which, with other complications have been more or less dangerous in their character, the revolution of the year before leading to trade arrangements with Hawaii of a character to alarm us.

It has not been in the power of this Department to be the distributor of the war lands to the extent that it was before the passage of the Homestead Law, and the Land Office has been relieved of a great concern should its work be so far in arrear as to require the attention of Congress, and should the Department of Agriculture, which, although not a Department, yet, in the importance of its work, should be so, and should the Department of Justice

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, DEC. 30, 1891.

Northern Michigan News.

G. V. Nash will not run his saw mill in Alanka this winter.

The bids were opened at Manistee last week for constructing the new water works plant, and the job will probably be let for $11,350.50.

Kalkaska citizens are holding rousing meetings to devise ways and means for keeping the village up to its former standard of progression. New industries are wanted.

A telegram was received at Petoskey stating that David Carpenter, well known in Petoskey and to all frequenters of Bay View, died at Mt. Dora, Florida, the other day.

St. Ignace has a hearse, and the Republican denounces it as an old, rattlesackle affair, unsafe for any one to ride in. As yet none of the corpses have kicked.

A Cheboygan burglar presumably made a mistake. He entered a room and wasted costly chloroform on two Salvation Army girls. The only plunder he could find was a bonnet.

Patrick McGuire, of St. Ignace, has a novel scheme for drawing the sunk on wreck of the ill-fated wooden lake steamer Dewalsie into shallow water. It may be tried in the spring.

The following are the new masonic officers at Boyne City: R. M. Cadwell, W. M.; W. H. Hudd, S. W.; G. W. White, J. W.; J. M. Harris, Sec.; James McNeal, S. D.; A. F. Herron, J. D.; W. H. Rogers, Tyler.

Alex. Carmichael, of Boyne and Carmichael, informs the Boyne City Journal that the repairs to their grist at Ray Springs is nearly completed and will be ready to start cutting at a days notice.

What is probably the largest hog ever raised in Emmet county was brought in by Robert Henderson Saturday. It was a Poland China, raised by Mr. Henderson on his farm west of town, was two years old and weighed over 600 pounds dressed.

"We, for one," says the Petoskey Democrat, "are heartily sick of the modern Fourth of July celebration. They are gotten up solely for the money that somebody can make out of it, without any idea of patriotism or appreciation of the occasion and are a nuisance instead of a benefit."

C. W. Caskey, to whom the contract for forty seven buildings on the Chicago & West Michigan was awarded, between Petoskey and Elk Rapids, including the depot and hotel house in Petoskey, is getting the material on the ground preparatory to commencing work at an early day. A large force will be employed.

The people of Wexford are in a state of nervous anticipation over a mythical railroad which is said to be coming their way. The other day a party of lumbers struck the town, were promptly mistaken for surveyors locating the new line, and were dined on the fat of the land as long as they stayed.

Hon. E. R. Williams of Elk Rapids is one of the best natured men in the world. He had a pleasantly located office on one of the best corners in town, but the oddfellows wanted the spot for a hall, so he of cordially invited his office to another location, and settled down to business again. But now he is asked to move again because he finds his office out in the street.

Petoskey Herald. The railroad from Petoskey to Charlevoix is an accomplished fact. At present the terminus is at Kitty's dock. As soon as the iron arrives for the bridge and the approaches are filled, the track will be extended to the depot ground on Bay street. The contractor is putting in a water tank under the bluff, north of the Bay View house. The work of ballasting is being pushed, and the track will be in first class shape when spring opens.

Among the recent decisions of the Supreme Court is one affirming the conviction, in the court below, of the celebrated Wright murder case that was tried in Benzie county, on the ground that the trial judge refused to entertain a motion for a stay of sentence after the verdict was rendered, but upon the same day sentenced the respondent to the state prison during the term of his natural life, and the use of the word "natural" in the sentence was the second ground upon which a new trial was asked. Both objections were overruled.

Grand Traverse Herald: For many years Capt. O. E. Willner's sole reason for remaining on the lakes was to get the editor of the Herald out in a storm, and make him admit that all was not "smooth sailing." Capt. do you remember the day you hurried out of Charlevoix harbor to drive the writer away from the dinner table when the boat should should strike the high sea rolling outside the piers? It didn't work; and from that day to this the captain has freed only that he might catch us in rough water.

If the Ottawa River has now amounts of that that G. R. & I. will certainly this spur by way of Bear Lake from Claimore to this point. Fourth, fully realize that something must be done, and that immediately, to hold the Pine Lake trade. From what we can learn from officials, well up, and connected with the G. R. & I., grading will be commenced between Claimore and this place early next spring, and that the cars will enter Boyne City before midsummer. This will be joyful news to the residents of this section of the county, and in fact throughout the Pine Lake and South Arm region. Without this spur the G. R. & I. would lose the entire trade to the C. & W. M., which fact has no doubt been largely instrumental in their decision to extend the Bear Lake spur to this place. With a rail road here our population will double within six months and wood manufactories will spring into existence forthwith.

Norwood Notes.

Arthur and Jim Chase are up from Chicago for two weeks.

The Christmas dance netted the band boys twenty-two dollars.

The school exhibition was a decided success, everyone being surprised and delighted with the children's pieces. The school now has fifteen dollars as a starter for a library. Keep the ball rolling.

Will Superman leaves for Detroit next Monday.

Geo. H. VanPelt left for Chicago yesterday.

The grippe is working on a few hard subjects around here, and the doctors' faces wear broad smiles.

The Christmas exercises at the church this year were very entertaining. The speaking and music were good, the loaded trees and artistic decorations, and last but not least, Santa Claus himself was there. A very creditable affair.

Fifty dollars has been raised by private subscription which will keep Mrs. Babcock in charge of the smaller scholars in the second room of the Norwood school, which was a very nice thing to do.

VanPelt has sold his mustang team to Dr. Kanagy.

William Harris and G. V. Nash made a business trip to Ellsworth, Tuesday.

The young people attended a peanut party at H. S. Babcock's Tuesday evening.

The L. A. S. met with Mrs. Cowen this week.

The main building of the Pontiac Insane Asylum was destroyed by fire on the night of the 26th. The inmates were all saved.

A trim little steel steamer is to be built to ply between Grand Haven and Grand Rapids. She will draw three feet of water and carry six passengers.

Foraker's fool friends down in Ohio have begun a war of mudslinging on Senator Sherman. This to be regretted for the sake of the Republican party. However it is a satisfaction to know that none of the mud will stick to Sherman.

Come to think of it, the Democratic majority in the present lower house of congress is worse off for leaders than we had ever supposed. The Silvathon Army girls. The only plumber he could find was a lump.

Patrick McGuire, of St. Ignace, has a novel scheme for drawing the sunk on wreck of the ill-fated and wealth lakes steamer Dewalsie into shallow water. It may be tried in the spring.

The following are the new masonic officers at Boyne City: R. M. Cadwell, W. M.; W. H. Hudd, S. W.; G. W. White, J. W.; J. M. Harris, Sec.; James McNeal, S. D.; A. F. Herron, J. D.; W. H. Rogers, Tyler.

Alex. Carmichael, of Boyne and Carmichael, informs the Boyne City Journal that the repairs to their grist at Ray Springs is nearly completed and will be ready to start cutting at a days notice.

What is probably the largest hog ever raised in Emmet county was brought in by Robert Henderson Saturday. It was a Poland China, raised by Mr. Henderson on his farm west of town, was two years old and weighed over 600 pounds dressed.

"We, for one," says the Petoskey Democrat, "are heartily sick of the modern Fourth of July celebration. They are gotten up solely for the money that somebody can make out of it, without any idea of patriotism or appreciation of the occasion and are a nuisance instead of a benefit."

C. W. Caskey, to whom the contract for forty seven buildings on the Chicago & West Michigan was awarded, between Petoskey and Elk Rapids, including the depot and hotel house in Petoskey, is getting the material on the ground preparatory to commencing work at an early day. A large force will be employed.

The people of Wexford are in a state of nervous anticipation over a mythical railroad which is said to be coming their way. The other day a party of lumbers struck the town, were promptly mistaken for surveyors locating the new line, and were dined on the fat of the land as long as they stayed.

Hon. E. R. Williams of Elk Rapids is one of the best natured men in the world. He had a pleasantly located office on one of the best corners in town, but the oddfellows wanted the spot for a hall, so he of cordially invited his office to another location, and settled down to business again. But now he is asked to move again because he finds his office out in the street.

Petoskey Herald. The railroad from Petoskey to Charlevoix is an accomplished fact. At present the terminus is at Kitty's dock. As soon as the iron arrives for the bridge and the approaches are filled, the track will be extended to the depot ground on Bay street. The contractor is putting in a water tank under the bluff, north of the Bay View house. The work of ballasting is being pushed, and the track will be in first class shape when spring opens.

Among the recent decisions of the Supreme Court is one affirming the conviction, in the court below, of the celebrated Wright murder case that was tried in Benzie county, on the ground that the trial judge refused to entertain a motion for a stay of sentence after the verdict was rendered, but upon the same day sentenced the respondent to the state prison during the term of his natural life, and the use of the word "natural" in the sentence was the second ground upon which a new trial was asked. Both objections were overruled.

Grand Traverse Herald: For many years Capt. O. E. Willner's sole reason for remaining on the lakes was to get the editor of the Herald out in a storm, and make him admit that all was not "smooth sailing." Capt. do you remember the day you hurried out of Charlevoix harbor to drive the writer away from the dinner table when the boat should should strike the high sea rolling outside the piers? It didn't work; and from that day to

MASON & BERDAN.
Greet all their Customers with
A Merry Christmas and
A Happy New Year.
We still hold the lead in Ladies' Outer Wearing Apparel.
MAKE US A HOLIDAY CALL.

BENEFITS OF A CIRCUS TICKET.

How a Farmer Was Rewarded for Kindness to a Boy.

When Captain Alva Bradley was twenty years old he hoed it a circus at Elyria and determined to go, says the Cleveland Plaindealer. Money was scarce, but the temptation was so very strong that young Alva determined to go if he had to walk all the way. He went by a the pines, but when he reached his Marcia he found the admission to be 50 cents, and he had 25. He was too big to be admitted as a boy, and too proud to sneak his way in, so he stood outside disconsolately and looked at the flaming posters prodigiously displayed about the grounds. While watching aimlessly about he was found by an old farmer, a neighbor of his at home.

"Well, Alvy, my boy," said the farmer, "why? you going in?"

"Nop," he answered, "I just came to look at the posters."

But the old man was lonesome and wanted company, and on that plea succeeded in inducing the young man to enter the enclosed place. So "Alvy" saw the show and carried his quarter back home with him.

Long afterward, one winter evening when the boy Alva had grown to be a wealthy shipping merchant, he sat in his study in deep conversation with Captain Stone. The door bell rang and the servant admitted to their presence an old, white-haired, stoop-shouldered man.

"I wanted to see my boy Alvy once again," he began, "but you don't know me, do you, boy, you don't remember the old man who took you to the circus once?"

The tears came to the captain's eyes as he recognized in the aged man the kind benefactor of his youth. He extended to him a cordial welcome, and they sat together all the evening reviewing the years since last they met, for fortune had not been kind to the old man, his home had been removed to the far west and he had found it a hard struggle to get the necessaries of life. As he was about to leave an envelope was thrust into his hands and he heard the words in the capitalist's trembling voice, "Here's the money you took me to the circus with when I was a boy, and a little interest interest which it has gathered all these years."

The old man was overcome with surprise and could not express his thanks, but when he reached home he opened the paper and found it contained a check for $500—50 cents for the circus ticket and the rest for interest.

The Depth of Misery.

"The beggar" in an English canal tunnel has a hard time of it, says a traveler. "I went through two canal tunnels last summer. The tunnels are just the width of one of the small barges used, and but very little higher than the board which runs from the alleged cabin to the towline pole. As it is impossible for a horse to tow the barge the animal is led around or over the hill, and a beggar sits on his back on the board referred to, and, raising his legs from his hips pushes the boat along by pressing on the dilapidated roof of the tunnel. As I sat and watched the man in this unnatural position I felt the depth of human misery had been discovered at last. The work is arduous the light very sad, the atmosphere almost fetid, the labor distracting, and the effort almost equivalent to making a man a cripple. Yet the most the beggar can make is 75 cents a day, and when traffic is light or there is low on the canal he makes little or nothing. The old gal treadmill was bad enough in all conscience, but this is a thousand times worse."

Three Generations.

There is a little lad of ten years living in New York City whose father is so long passed the threescore-and-ten milestone in his life, and whose grandfather was present at Braddock's defeat, where George Washington first distinguished himself. The grandfather was a mere boy of some fourteen years, though hardy and well grown, when he received the king's commission and donned the red coat of a soldier. Afterward he held high rank in the army of the revolution, and died in this city at the ripe age of ninety-three. In his old age he married a second wife, and left a son who had not yet reached his majority, and who in turn married very late in life. If the little lad of ten lives to his father's age the three generations of this family will have spanned 200 years in this country's history, and he will be able to say at seventy-two: "My grandfather fought with Braddock and at the side of Washington 200 years ago to-day.

Dan Soper, the whilom Democratic secretary of state, evidently became tired of the appellation, "the great unwashed," as applied to his party, and mysteriously invested heavily in fine towels and toilet articles the day the state was to pay for. 'Tis said that he bought nothing but the best and most highly perfumed soap.

MERRY CHRISTMAS
TO ALL, AND
A Happy New Year,
WITH JUST ENOUGH OF WHATEVER YOU NEED MOST TO MAKE YOU TRULY HAPPY AND CONTENTED, IS WISHED FOR ONE AND ALL, BIG AND SMALL, FOR OUR PATRONS and EVERYBODY ELSE'S.
Yours truly,
H. L. IDDINGS.
Dec 22, 1891.
N. B. This is not an advertisement. Business announcements give way this week to Good King Christmas.

As to Your Clothing
There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.
Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A Happy and Prosperous
New Year to All
Secure both by buying drugs, stationery & all goods carried in our line, at
BEAMAN'S PHARMACY,
BARTHOLOMEW'S BLOCK.

STOP

QUARRELING,
Over Little Things,
AND GO TO THE STORE WHERE THEY GIVE A BIG, FINE OIL LANDSCAPE PAINTING FREE WITH EVERY $15 TRADED.
OR WHAT
Is Better Still
If you trade $10 all at one time, you have your pick without further ado.
If you suffer with cold feet buo some of
Those Wool Sox
Washburne sells at 15c per pair.
ARGUMENTS
THAT KNOCK
Cents-less!
Ladies' and Gents' All-Wool red or gray Underwear, reduced to $1.88 a Suit!
!!!!!!
Dress Serges, All Colors
5½ Cents.
Children's and Misses Cloaks almost at HALF PRICE. Our stock is too large and must be reduced. Come and help us.
Startle, startle, little wink,
How I wonder what you think;
At the bargains all so low;
Come and buy before they go.
Yours,
A. T. Washburne

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
VOL XXIII. NO-27. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1892. WHOLE NO. 1,151.

Wishing Everybody
A Happy and Prosperous
NEW YEAR,
We are yours for Trade.
F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Popular Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

C. B. & CO.
"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."
NOTHING IS MORE TRUE THAN THIS. AND THERE IS ANOTHER THING THAT IS EQUALLY TRUE, AND THAT IS THAT C. B. & CO. HAVE A SPLENDID STOCK OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE FOR THE GENERAL TRADE.
And they are the boys that will attend to your wants in good shape, and they desire you to call early and often. Call and see their nice presents given away with each pound of Coffee, at 25 cents.
EVER YOURS FOR THE LEADING GENERAL
TRADE.
Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

CALKINS & WARNE
EXTEND THEIR
GREETING,
And announce that they have opened an elegant line of Holiday Goods for the parlor or the boudoir, Toilet Cases and Albums in artistic styles, and numberless Christmas Gifts that will please. For every $10 in trade a beautiful Album is given away.
Make Your Selections.

BERT MASON.
Sells

Evaporated Apricots.	15c.
Pitted Cherries.	15c.
3 lbs Good Raisins.	25c.
4 lbs. Jelly.	25c.
4 lbs. Apple Butter.	30c.
Walnuts, per pound.	16c.
Almonds, "	20c.
Brazils, 10c, 3 lbs for	25c.

Holiday Goods now open. Corn Meal, Bran, Oats, Linseed Meal and Hay.
BERT MASON.

OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS and ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES
From this date until Jan. 15th, 1892, I shall sell the finest Standard Rock and Cherry Stone Oysters at lower prices than ever before sold in Charlevoix. And in the matter of Oranges, I shall make a specialty of the finest Florida fruit, direct from the celebrated Hilyer Grove, on Indian River. Just call and let me prove all I say.
O. W. SMITH.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Unimproved Lands for Sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

We have a few All-Wool
BLANKETS
Which we will close out at way-down prices.
Our Furniture is All Right.
S. M. SEE & SONS.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY AT
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1.50 | Six months 1.00
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

Wm. Francis goes to Canada this week to visit relatives.

L. M. McLean leaves today for a visit among relatives in Canada.

Wm. B. Vosburg and wife spent New Years with their son at Petoskey.

Hon. A. Buttars arrived safely at San Diego, Cal., and is steadily improving.

The grippe has had a number of Charlevoix victims lately, and quite a few are yet laid up with it.

Miss Etta Francis, of Wellston, Ohio, is the new teacher in the place of Miss Weldon, lately resigned.

Seth Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Reed, of Marion, died yesterday morning at his home, aged 18 years.

Married, on the 31st, by Rev. W. H. Mac ainsey, Mr. James Rogers and Miss Ruth Brown, both of Charlevoix.

Mrs. H. O. Cook returned to her home, Bayfield, Wis., yesterday. Her sister Emma and a friend accompanied her as far as Petoskey.

Miss Lottie Mason gave a very pleasant pedro party with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Sherwood Monday evening, which was largely attended by pedro enthusiasts.

—Petoskey Record: Mr. Willis Hurd has made a very fine record as sheriff of Charlevoix county, and he isn't a political hoss either. The people of that county regret that the law does not permit him to be re-elected.

The schooner Peerless, moored at Nothnagle's dock, broke loose during the gale Saturday night and made a clean across Round Lake, bringing up at a south side dock without damage. She was returned to her moorings Monday.

The SENTINEL built a barn last week for Tom Trimble, of Marion, to find some Mills build it. The talented correspondent of the Democrat very properly corrects us. The barn is yet to be built, and it is for Robert Trimble, of Norwood township, and not for Tom, of Marion.

The weather thus far has puzzled the oldest inhabitant. New Year's day it rained hard. Jan. 2d and 3d a continuous snow prevailed, and snow is piled up in spots, the sleighing is uncertain. Latest.—About six inches of snow fell last night, and sleighing is assured.

—Under the decisions of our Supreme Court it is a waste of time and money to procure a marriage license, have a preacher, have a "weddin' cake" and all that. The court holds that a man and woman who consent to live together as man and wife and do so, are as truly married as those done in the orthodox style, and no one has a right to kick.

The new postal cards will be ready for issue in a few days. The "A" card is similar to the one now in use—a manila card, with the printing on it in black ink. The new "C" card, for ladies' use, is of pearl gray printed in blue ink. It is smaller, being only about two-thirds the size of the "A" card, which is the size of the present one.

—Joseph McGuire, of Grand Haven, a brother of Chief Louis McGuire, of this place, died at his home in Grand Haven last week. He was born where Allegan village now stands, and it was the keen regret of the venerable chieftain's later years that he did not buy the village site when he had a chance to secure it for a gallon jug of liquid reason.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Wellman, of South Dakota, are to change their residence to Massachusetts, and will be in Charlevoix on their way east next Wednesday. Mrs Wellman, (nee Lizzie Washburn) will receive her friends at the residence of her parents on the following Thursday afternoon and Friday afternoon and evening, Jan. 14 and 15.

—It is said that six bushels of peas go'al to fattening qualities ten bushels of corn. If this is true, why would it not be a good thing for Northern Michigan farmers to raise more peas and give more attention to raising hogs for pork? Peas are a sure crop in this section, not only giving a large yield, but of the best quality. Pork will always sell readily at a good price.

—Round lake froze over Monday night.

S. M. See & Sons call your attention to blankets this week.

Mason & Berdan announce net prices this week, to clean up for annual inventory.

—Torch Lake Masons have erected a new hall, and will hold their next regular meeting in it.

—Mrs. Lindsay was called to Petoskey yesterday by a telephone message stating that her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Ross, was dying.

—Wm. Evans, of Norwood Township, is very low with the grippe, at his home, and cannot live many hours. His daughter, Mrs. Marion Beane, arrived from Chicago to-day. Mr. Evans is and old settler of this region, having settled in Banks in 1867. He was an industrious and honest man and good citizen.

—Geo. O. Poe, of the United States Engineers, reports that the waters of the great lakes are becoming lower every year, the depth of Lake Huron having decreased from 583.12 feet above the sea level in 1886 to 580.49 in June 1891. The water has become so low at the entrance of the Detroit river that many vessels have grounded during the season on account of low water. General Poe says that the rainfall in the lake country during the last five years has been been below the normal, and that this accounts for the low water in the lakes.

FOREST.—Yesterday, at the store of O. W. Smith, 48 well and honestly filled cans of oysters, by actual measurement, a good many of them measuring six inches in length. If there are those who doubt this statement, and will call, I will demonstrate the fact that they are fresh.
O. W. SMITH.

The City of Charlevoix.

Manager Burke writes us that the Northern Michigan Line has contracted with S. F. Hodge & Co., of Detroit, for a new fore-and-aft compound engine, of the most approved pattern, for the steamer City of Charlevoix. The cylinders will be 23x36, and 36x36. Two new boilers are also contracted for, to be 8x14 each.

This will give the City of Charlevoix ample power to compete with any of the "flyers," and Mr. Burke is confident that she will give us the best Chicago service we have ever had, and be an honor to the town from which she is named.

C. L. S. C.

Program for the C. L. S. C. meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. John Burns, Jan. 5th, 1892. Devotional. Song No. 27. Roll call, quotation from Scott. Question table in December number of Chautauquan, Reading, Miss Merritt. Thirty minutes and answers from social institutions, in December number of Chautauquan. Game, geographical. Song, No. 22.

Masonic.

Regular communication of Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. & A. M. next Tuesday evening, Jan 12. Business of importance, and work on first or second degree. A full attendance desired.
W. A. SMITH, W. M.
G. A. SHERWOOD, Sec.

List of Jurors.

The following is the list of petit jurors for the term of Circuit Court to be held Jan 26th.

Boyne Valley.—James O. Rogers, Daniel S. Reid.

Deer Lake.— Daniel Harrington Edward Kraus.

Bay.—Harmon Bath, F. Coleman.

Chandler.—Barius Bize.

Charlevoix.—Geo. W. Crouter, Joseph H. Dixon.

Eveline.—Robert Newson.

Evangeline.—V. G. Crane.

Hayes.—W. C. Gransby.

Hudson.—W. H. Claspill.

Marion.—J. G. Reed.

Melrose.—Sherman Wheeler.

Norwood.—William Wallace.

Resort.—J. Mertz, Gilbert Torry.

South Arm.—Geo. Whitford, Jas. Evans.

Springvale.—Alfred Hopper, F. W. Harrison.

Wilson.—Robert Shepard, S. M. Richardson.

From Boyne.

Miss Etta Stevenson is spending vacation at her home in Boyne.

The success of the Christmas tree entertainment, reflects much credit on the young ladies who had charge of the work.

Howard Grange is rapidly increasing in membership.

Rev. Halliday held revival services at Barnard last week.

REPORTS OF SCHOOLS.

Report of Charlevoix Public Schools for the Term Ending Dec. 18, 1891.

The following is the report of the Charlevoix public schools for the term ending Dec. 18th 1891, as furnished by Prof. H. M. Enos, superintendent.

NUMBER ENROLLED.

First department,	57
Second department,	47
Third department,	56
Fourth department,	41
Fifth department,	41
Sixth department	41
High school,	56
Total	343

AVERAGE NUMBER PRESENT.

First department,	51
Second department,	39
Third department,	47
Fourth department,	37
Fifth department,	38
Sixth department,	38
High school,	54
Average,	305

RATE ATTENDANCE.

First department,	93%
Second department,	84%
Third department,	84%
Fourth department,	90%
Fifth department,	94%
Sixth department,	94%
High school,	96%
Total,	90.14%

RATE TARDY BY MINUTES.

First department,	19
Second department,	17
Third department,	19%
Fourth department,	14%
Fifth department,	13%
Sixth department,	14%
High school,	8%
Total,	14.14%

AVERAGE ATTENDANCE.

First department,	49.60
Second department,	44.80
Third department,	45.60
Fourth department,	35.20
Fifth department,	36.86
Sixth department,	36.86
High school,	52.80
Total,	295.66

CLASS TARDY.

First department,	21
Second department,	16
Third department,	11
Fourth department,	11
Fifth department,	8
Sixth department,	8
High school,	4
Total,	79

AVERAGE NUMBER OF TIMES PRESENT.

First department,	19.91
Second department,	19.60
Third department,	17.46
Fourth department,	17.00
Fifth department,	17.00
Sixth department,	16.36
High school,	16.42
Average,	16.80

ROLL OF HONOR.

The following named pupils have been neither absent nor tardy during the entire term:

High School.—A. H. Buttars, Lillian Eaton, Ernest Pensley, Archie McNeill.

Sixth Department.—Ida Cook, Gertrude Green, Nellie Nettleton, Eddie McNeill, Jennie Lamphear, Edna Green, Grace Emrey, Minnie Graham, Katie Kirkpatrick.

Fifth Department.— Cora Lawrence, Willie Campbell, Rollin Praine.

Fourth Department.—Addie Holley, Lenia Sharrow, Guy Green, Willie Tooley, Charles Marshall, Willie Ackert, May Poole, George Thompson, Elmer Marshall.

Third Department.—Andy McCall, George Tooley, Karl Hines, Russ Stripp, Herbert Hamlin, Harry Beauvais, Earl Miller, Willie Harting, Bertie Heath, Lottie Cook, Mattie Bedford, Iris Carter, Katie Shores.

Second Department.—Mollie Shores, Mary Tooley, Jennie Sherwood, Myrtle Campbell, Fannie Simmons, Willie Heath, Arba Cameron, Byron Smith.

First Department.—Florence Gagnon, Vernia Davis.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

The "Intermediate State," or, Where are the spirits of the dead prior to the resurrection, will be the subject of Pastor Barnes discourse Sunday evening.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macphersons, pastor. Morning Service at 10:30. Subject, "What great men think of Christ." Evening at 7. Subject, "The gentleness of Christ."

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will give a supper and entertainment on Wednesday evening Jan. 13th. Supper at 6. Admission, 15c. All are cordially invited.

Annual meeting of Congregational church and society will be held on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Business of much importance to be transacted.

Undine.

Lots of snow now, which makes the log hamlliers smile.

Pine Lake froze over Monday.

Logs commenced to come in Monday.

Mr. Hamilton Nowland and wife, of Marion, stopped at E. H. Whitford's one night last week, on their way home from Boyne City, where they had been to have the knot tied which made them one. The happy bride was Miss Annie Cunningham, of Marion.

...TA SENTINEL.
Charlevoix ...NTY, MICHIGAN, Publisher.
Established 1... MICHIGAN

...LAVER COMING.

CHARLEVOIX ...
WILLARD A. SMI...

Sunrise

G. V. ... A Bills by His Lordship—Sympathies in Michigan—Official Vitches—Quite a Spread in Spending—Some North Dakota Members Are Elected.

At Washington.

In the House on the 16th the speaker announced the appointment of the following on Rules as follows: The Speaker, Chairman, Messrs. Reed, Cannon, Cutchen, Hooil, and Bowers, Mr. Hanbon, Nevada, who has been in charge of the business of the committee at the end of the House will take the mills of office, Mr. Taylor of Tennessee, announced the death of his colleague the Hon. Lenoir Rhyne, and pay a tribute to the deceased gentleman which was responded to by Mr. Ta. The House as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased adjourned until the day. In the Senate but little was done, except to confirm a lot of appointments, and adjourned was taken.

Morals of a Joke.

At Fairport, Ia., Judge J. Hiatt, a well known politician a few days ago, went to the church, Hosea at Mountain View to celebrate a victory gained by the faction of the party to which he belongs, of electing their candidate to the legislature in a contest with the Grangers. He was with a few friends conversing when a lady friend came up and said: "I hear you are a bachelor judge." He said he was. "Why don't you get married?" "I don't know I can get a wife." "Why don't you try?" "I don't know I can get one." "Why don't you try?" "I don't know I can get one." "Why don't you try?" "I don't know I can get one

THE STRANGE STORY OF PEPA.

A Girl Servant Who Exercised a Power. ful Influence.

Recently there died in France a woman who, although illiterate and living humbly, exercised a most powerful influence in the destinies of Europe, says the New York Recorder. Extraordinary though it may appear, she was nothing but a servant girl, with little education but she knew how to write her name which was Pepa. She was a Spaniard by birth and was the mild and confidential confidante of the Empress Eugenie both before and after her marriage to Napoleon.

It is generally admitted that the Empress Eugenie was principally responsible for many of the most disastrous of France's disasters. She was entirely under the control of her maid, who possessed all of the vices and some of the virtues of the Spanish character. The emperor and many of Eugenie's friends and relations repeatedly implored her to dismiss Pepa, but without avail, and it was current at the time that she owed her exceedingly strong position to some dangerous secret of her mistress, which the latter feared she would reveal.

Pepa commenced her career as a mere maid, with white apron and cap, in the service of the old countess of Montijo, taking her meals in the kitchen. She showed because the maid and confidante of Eugenie, being aware of all her flirtations and adventures prior to her marriage to Napoleon. On becoming empress, Eugenie appointed her first footman as chamberlain and subsequently gave her the place of treasurer of her household. Just before the latter promotion she married one of the imperial guard, whose good looks pleased her, and at the emperor's request the corporal was promoted to the rank of lieutenant on the wedding day.

Every purchase made by the empress passed through Pepa's hands—in only those of clothes, but also of diamonds, jewels, and other costly articles which she possessed a fortune of $5,000,000 in money and $80,000 worth in jewels deposited in the vaults of the Bank of France. The amount of her wealth became known just before the declaration of war, through the death of her husband, which rendered it necessary that an inventory should be taken of her property.

All the dresses, and in fact, the whole wardrobe of the empress, with the exception of certain valuable furs and laces, were included in Pepa's inventory. These dresses rarely were a dress more than once—or at the most twice—and accordingly they accumulated fast. Every month or two Pepa used to organize a regular auction sale of all these dresses in her apartment in the Tuileries which were stinted in the pavilion de Flore. Great ladies and demi-mondaines alike attended these extraordinary sales, when it was possible to obtain a dress worth many thousand francs at a cost of only a few hundred francs.

Pepa was small, swarthy and regular, her lips were thin and cruel, and her small eyes vicious and cunning. At the palace she was hated, but feared. Indeed, the familiars of the court were wont to regard her in much the same light as the courtiers of Richelieu looked upon the cardinal's confessor, l'Eminence Grise.

When the Ship Comes In.

An uncommonly interesting place in New York is the East Side dock where the ships from California sit, bringing with them, among other things, large quantities of California wine and taking back all sorts of manufactured articles. The wine is often sold on the wharf and those persons that go in anticipation of the chloroform of Zinfandel as advertised by the wine dealers would be even more astonished at the rains per barrel prevailing at the wharves. There is a vast amount of bustle on sale days, and bung starters and spirit testers are in constant demand. Many thousand gallons of the wine are stored in cellars either waiting sale or held as the convenience of purchasers.

Testing Strength.

A Bantam contractor has found out an original way to test the strength and alertness of the laborers he engages for his work. He comes to the market, where the workingmen are waiting for a job, and orders them to rise to wrestle and to lift each other. When "the boys have played" enough for him to make observations he engages those who have displayed the greatest strength and alertness.

Descendant of Emperors.

A Hindoo princess, the Begum Akmuder, has distinguished herself in London society as a singer of superior voice, talent and cultivation. She is a descendant of the emperors of Delhi, and possesses a mezzo soprano voice of extraordinary richness and power, which is used with very high artistic taste. She has also great personal beauty.

Advertising Himself.

The following advertisement recently appeared in an English paper: "A cultured, earnest, godly young man desires a pastorate. Vivid preacher, musical voice, brilliant organizer. Tall and of good appearance. Blameless life. Very highest references. Beloved by all. Salary, £170."

Voting.

Secret voting was practised by the ancient Greeks and Romans. The word "ballot" comes from the French "ballotte," a little ball. The first record of the use of a ballot-box is that of 1516, when sum was employed in the election of aldermen of London.

It Tells Fish Stories.

The Yuma (Cal.) Sentinel, when it relates story, tells one of magnitude. It asserts that at the mouth of the Colorado river and the upper end of the Gulf of California are to be found sea bass that weigh from 250 to 700 pounds each, clams as large as a common dinner plate, millions of sardines and smelt, oysters small but delicious, millions of soft-shelled crabs and other shell fish, myriads of wild geese, brants, ducks, cranes and other sea fowl and birds.

J. Z. LINTON'S

Christmas is close at hand; New Year will soon follow. Now, if you see old Santa Claus send him to

LINTON'S.

He has the very finest assortment of Candy and Nuts in Charlevoix.

GIVE HIM A CALL

He will try to please you all, both in goods and price. Oysters fresh, O. K. are on hand, in the bulk or in the can.

J. Z. LINTON.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If "life is tedious" you feel you need and want the Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with Sick Headache you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store.

A little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr and Mrs Lorem Tressott are keepers of the new Lighthouse on Sand Beach, Mich, and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last she was taken down with measles followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a Lung Fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold yet you may get a trial bottle free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s Drug Store.

English Sparin Liniment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stiffes, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 30-1y

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 30-1y

FOR SALE.

Forty acres of part timbered land, S E quarter of S E quarter of section 11 township 34 north, range 7 west, Lake county, Michigan. Inquire of or address

W. H. HORN, ORDER & TUTHILL CO.
Wholesale Lumber, 1 Chamber of Commerce, Chicago Ill.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Notice is hereby given that I will sell at public auction at the store of the undersigned in the village of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at 10 o'clock forenoon, all the stock, plant, shop, tools, machinery, stock-in-trade, chairs, and fixtures and appurtenances belonging to said assignee, in said Charlevoix, which on the 10th day of October, 1891 was in the possession of said assignee, for the purpose of satisfying the claims of the following purchasers.

WILL S. MORE,
Dated, this 4th day of November, A. D. 1891. Assignee.

The above sale has been postponed until Wednesday December 23 1891, at the same place and hour.

WILL S. MORE, Assignee
The above sale has been postponed until Monday, January 4th 1892, at the same place and hour.

WILL S. MORE, Assignee

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES
Of Splendid
MICHIGAN LANDS
For Sale By The
G. R. & I. R. R.
30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are flattered with lands and are also and other wood and are accessible to best markets.

By Water and Rail

And are in a state not pulled for health and settlement to the great fruit growing section of Michigan.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad runs through the center of the grant. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 250,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from almost every state in the Union.

Over 600,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet to Address
W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich
TITLE PERFECT.

GEORGE BURN'S
LIVERY STABLE
CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Horses furnished if desired. Rates Low.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

J. Z. LINTON'S

Do You Wish to Join the Procession?

Nothing better illustrates the progress of this country, than the gravity increased and continued demand for Nursery Stock, both fruit and ornamental. Many of our largest fruit growers are increasing their orchards, and all of our farmers are fast learning that there is much more money in fruit growing, than in any other branch of farming. To the planter or purchaser of nursery stock, at least three things are indispensable: first, the stock should be adapted to the climate; second, the varieties should be true to name; third, the trees or plants should be well matured, vigorous and healthy. STOCK A WELL-KNOWN, of Fonthill, Canada, one of the oldest and largest nurseries in America have long kept these things in view. The stock that I have placed for them in Northern Michigan for the last three years, has given the highest satisfaction. I am now receiving orders for this Canadian stock, having already a large delivery to make in the spring and purpose to make that of next fall, the largest ever known in this county.

Please look up this Nursery company and satisfy yourselves as to their reliability, and the quality of their stock. All orders placed with them through this agency, will receive the most scrupulous attention. Send me your name on a postal card, with five others, who will likely become customers, and get a valuable present free.

QUINCY THACKER,
Charlevoix, Mich

Agent for Stone & Wellington.

GORDON & PAUL

ARE AT THE FRONT,

And intend to lead both in prices and best goods

Chilled Plows with Clevice,	$10 00
Steel Plows with Clevice,	12 00
Gale Sulky Harrows,	33 00
with grain and Grass Seeder.	53 00
Ajax Cultivators,	5 00
Good Binder Twine per lb.	.10
Harpoon Hay Forks,	1 25
Neckyokes, only,	.75
Whiffletrees, only	.50
Single Harness (The Best in The State for the Money) only	9 00
A Good Open Buggy, only	40 00
Dick Feed Cutter	23 00

Which every farmer needs this season owing to the scarcity of feed. Also special prices on top buggies and wagons, boat harrows, grain drills and Harrison wagons. Satisfaction guaranteed, at

GORDON & PAUL

OLD PRESTON HOUSE

TWO FARMS
AT A BARGAIN.

1st. The "McCARTNEY FARM," in Banks Township. Eighty acres; thirty acres under cultivation; forty acres good timber; good house, with stone cellar; fine trout stream. Will sell cheap, and on easy terms.

2d. The "WHITMAN FARM," in Hayes Township. Exceptionally fine location, near town, and one of the best farms in the Pine Lake region. Contains 260 acres. Will sell all or part. Extra good buildings, fine orchard, good fences. Title perfect.

Also other Farms and residence property in Charlevoix and vicinity.

MOORE & NETTLETON,
Law and Abstract Office.
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

A WORD ABOUT THE STAFF OF LIFE.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S heavy forests are giving and gone; large fields of wheat and other grains are springing forth in their place. So we do not have to go to other countries to supply us with bread for our families and food for our cattle. Charlevoix Roller Mills are located here, and are making as good flour as is made in the world. Farmers, bring in your wheat for exchange. Samples of the bread-making qualities of our flour can be seen at the mill daily. We do not give premiums to parties coming 50 or 40 miles, but we give all alike, quality of wheat considered by standard test. Iron Duke cannot be beat; White Rose very close; Silver Spray, a good cheap family flour. Ask your grocer for them and take no other.

TO REDUCE

A large stock of Blankets, Robes and Cutters we will sell Goat Robes, Plush-lined, for $3.50

AND UP.

Full clipped Knee Plush Trimmed CUTTERS for $20.00

And up. Quality is guaranteed. To appreciate these prices, call and look goods over.

Baker & Son.
Charlevoix.

Rifenburg Milling Co.,
Charlevoix.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Deniers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK
And PINE
LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc,

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

GOOD LUCK CLOTHING HOUSE,

J. H. MULLIN, Prop.

Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Caps, and Gloves.

We are here, and doing business. Business we came for. Business we will do, and on Business principles. We cannot give you something for nothing, but we can and will give you good goods at as low prices as they can be sold for anywhere, and a choice, new stock to select from. Give us a call. At the Lewis Grand Opera House Block.

Charlevoix, Mich.

J. H. MULLIN.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering.

THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,
Dealer in
Choice Wines,
Fine Liquors
EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Bottled St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. GELLICK & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and legal stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS. First-class worth of Sunland office. We will chase for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Closing out sale!

Strictly for Cash!

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

I will for the next Sixty days, for the purpose of removing stock, close out my stock of

Boots and Shoes

No such chance was ever given here in the past.

CHEAP

My stock embraces every line desired in this country, and is of the best quality.

Don't let the opportunity slip.

SHERWOOD

Mrs. H. A. Carr,
Fashionable
Millinery.

BRIDGE STREET. CHARLEVOIX.

The "New Charlevoix."
M. S. GAUNON, Prop.
Dealer in Fine Millinery, Notions and Fancy Goods.

Beautifully located on the finest Business street in Northern Michigan.

LADIES HOODS AND EFFECTS CHEERFULLY TRIMMED and thoroughly warranted to fit.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $5.00.

He is also selling a first-class watch, a perfect time-keeper, in nickle silver cases for $8.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW
FALL & WINTER
SAMPLES
Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

We Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,
Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,
GROCER.
State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES
Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,
—Dealer in—
Rifenburg Milling Co.'s
FLOUR, FEED, BRAN
ETC.
IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,
—proprietor of—
NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN

Good Teamsters at lower rates.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN

DR. G. W. CROUTER,
Dental Parlors
At Central Telephone Office.
OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5 p. m.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS

EDWARD D. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix, Mich.

FRED. M. BAINES, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON have the attendance for Abstracts of Title, Loans, Collections, Conveyancing, Insurance, Real Estate and Money to Loan. Charlevoix, Mich.

W. K. SANE, Attorney at Law, Loans, Insurance, Abstracts of Title, Real Estate. Office Bank of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES

L. O. L.—Tyre Hives No. 107, meet saturday, each on Saturday evening. Visitors welcome.

G. A. R.—Stearns Post No. 119, meets another Monday evening in each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

STAR CHAPTER, No. 179, O. E. S.—Meets on the first Wednesday of each month. Visiting members welcome. M. Hines, Secretary.

FOREST CHAPTER, No. 103, R. A. M.—Meets at Petoskey on the first Monday of each month.

I. O. O. F.—Resort Lodge No. 280, meets every Wednesday evening at the Odd Fellows' hall.

MASONIC—Charlevoix Lodge No. 402, F. & A. M.—Meets at their hall on Bridge street, Charlevoix.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY GRANGE No. 1, P. of H.—Meets every Saturday on the first Tuesday of each month.

PIONEER GRANGE, No. 1181, K. of L.—Meets every Saturday on the first Tuesday of each month.

WANTED—BUSINESS MEN, 125, cures and prevents colds, coughs, sore throat, croup, whooping cough, asthma, bronchitis, and consumption. Sold by druggists.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon—Office and residence Bridge street.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. S. DIXON, Surveyors and Engineers—Charlevoix. Will promptly respond to all inquiries.

Grand Palace Hotel.
81 to 263 N. CLARK ST.,
CHICAGO.

Only five minutes from the Union Home Cabin Cars pass the door.

Rooms 50c and upwards. Improvements lately completed, the Annunciator and Electric Bell, Hot and Cold Water, Steam Heat, Gas, Electric Light, Tile Floors, Marble Wash Stands, Tile Bath Rooms, Elevator, Barber Shop, Restaurant by first class proprietor, the Grand Pacific and Palmer Houses, Taylor & Clark Proprietors.

81-tf

CHICAGO
VIA THE
Chicago & West Michigan Railway.
THE FAVORITE

Has now and has for 10 years, Chicago and all points in Illinois and Iowa.

Trains leave Charlevoix 7:00 a. m. 1:10 p. m. 10 p. m.
Leave Petoskey 7:50 a. m. 1:50 p. m. 10:40 p. m.
Arrive Grand Rapids 10:35 a. m. 4:35 p. m. 1:25 a. m.
Arrive Chicago 7:00 a. m. 7:00 p. m. 7:00 a. m.

Sleeping Cars on night trains. Parlor Cars on day trains. Dining Cars on all trains.

Ticket Office, Bridge Street, Opposite Postoffice.

J. H. HUNTLEY, Agent, Charlevoix.

E. W. COVERT, Gen'l Pass. Agent, Chicago.

O. C. HOLLISTER,
ST. JOHNS, MICH.

FOR SALE.

Farm for sale—

Consisting of sixty eight more improvements mostly cleared in good well fenced, with timbered pasture, good house, good barn, good water, on stone from Charlevoix on the main road to Boyne City. Inquire of the undersigned, farming and other machinery with the sale of the premises.

JOHN HARVEY
East Jordan, Mich.

FOR SALE.

Lots 4 and 5, Block 13, Clinton Street.

These lots are for best cash, on Clinton St., and in one block, with nice house, nicely finished on outside. Inquire at

PROF. G. M. BICE,
Roseville, Mich

Harlkin's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt-rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

(First publication November 13, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage bearing date the twelfth day of February A. D. 1889, executed by Ira Hopkins, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 14th day of February A. D. 1889, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 70, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Three Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication November 13, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage bearing date the twelfth day of February A. D. 1889, executed by Ira Hopkins, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 14th day of February A. D. 1889, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 71, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Three Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication November 20, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

A conveyance of real estate by which a mortgage was made on the 25th day of November A. D. 1890, by Harvey Rowe and Sarah E. Rowe, of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 25th day of November, A. D. 1890, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 72, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Two Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication November 20, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage bearing date the twelfth day of February A. D. 1889, executed by Ira Hopkins, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 14th day of February A. D. 1889, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 72, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Two Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication November 20, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage bearing date the twelfth day of February A. D. 1889, executed by Ira Hopkins, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 14th day of February A. D. 1889, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 73, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Two Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication November 20, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

A conveyance of real estate by which a mortgage made on the 25th day of November A. D. 1890, by Harvey Rowe and Sarah E. Rowe, of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 25th day of November, A. D. 1890, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 73, which mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of Two Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication November 20, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage bearing date the twelfth day of February A. D. 1889, executed by Ira Hopkins, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 14th day of February A. D. 1889, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 74, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Two Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

(First publication November 20, 1891.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

A conveyance of real estate by which a mortgage made on the 25th day of November A. D. 1890, by Harvey Rowe and Sarah E. Rowe, of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, party of the first part, to Ira Dow, of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, party of the second part, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 25th day of November, A. D. 1890, in Liber "A" of Mortgages, on page 74, which mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of Two Hundred Dollars and Twenty Cents, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof; Notice is therefore hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with the costs of sale and the attorney fee allowed by law, which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty (20) in Township Thirty-four (34) North of Range Ten (10) West, containing forty acres, according to the United States survey and government subdivisions of said lands, and situated in the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and that the sale of said premises will be made at the Front door of the Court House in the Village of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 16th day of December, A. D. 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, subject to the right of redemption in such case made and provided. Dated, Charlevoix, Michigan, October 16th, A. D. 1891.

WILLIAM A. WALKER, Mortgagee.
GEORGE GALLAGHER, Attorney for Mortgagee.

BOBBY IS A KNOWING DOG.

A True Account of Some Facts for Parents and Nurses.

A fat white terrier of good wagging his long tail on a Dearborn street owner, says the Washington Star. He looked up at his master as much as to say—"I'm in play at setting dog."

"Bobby knows more than many a human being," said his owner to the group of young men who whose he was talking. "Let me show you a few things that he can do. Bobby, go find a five-ping."

The shaggy terrier looked up and down the street for a minute before decidedly wagging his tail. Then he was a Fox-ping opposite and started for it.

"Bobby, go to the five-ping, Bobby," cried his master.

Bobby got up on the plug and sat there still wagging his tail. Presently he returned and his master told one of the other young men to put down a nickel and a penny on the sidewalk.

"How many cents are there on the pavement, Bobby?" asked his owner.

Bobby barked five times.

His master picked up the nickel and put down the penny, saying: "How many cents are there now, Bobby?" Bobby barked once.

His master picked up the penny and put down the nickel.

"Suppose I take 2 cents away from that, Bobby," he said, "how many will be left?"

Bobby barked three times.

"Suppose I take 1 cent away, how many will be left?"

Bobby barked four times.

"Suppose I take 3 cents away, how many would be left?"

Bobby barked once.

"Suppose I take 5 cents away how many will be left?"

Bobby looked up at his master, wagged his tail and was silent.

"That's correct, Bobby; nothing would be left," said the master. "You are a very good dog. Go into that shop and be careful to shut the door behind you, because the day is chilly. I will join you in a moment."

Bobby walked into the store on the corner, went behind the open door, pushed it to, and was not seen again. His master, who was formerly an accountant in the treasury, went in presently to buy a necktie. Possibly he sought advice from Bobby in selecting the article.

A Young Girl's Room.

A young girl's room may be as full of costly articles as wealth can make it; it may be the result of taste and ingenuity with but trifling expense. But one such piece takes in upon it can, if choosing to take the pains to do so, let on the character of the occupant by the mere arrangement or disarrangement of the pieces. There is of course, the great artistic consent that at first glance seems to be only confusion, but which presently resolves itself into a harmony of form and tint, any change in which would be discord, which tells something interesting concerning the artist in the arrangement, in the choice of pieces and prim manner, in which everything is at right angles, every book is exactly in place, every other book, no fetlocks are allowed; nothing just indicates a waste of time or a love of pleasure, and everything that makes mechanical, utilitarian, and exacting traits, with little love of comfort, indicates a character that will by-and-by possibly make life a burden to every one. There is no room for the confusion, again, which is due to order, where everything has been thrown at random; there is no place for anything, and nothing is in its place, this telling a lamentable tale of its first cause. And then there is the sketch of neatness without financial and pragmatical effort for it, of order without prissiness, of grace and spontaneous combined, a room where a touch of the artist is to be seen, a little of the prudent and something of the perfect love of order without its caricature.—Jenie's Diary.

A Wonderful Steam Engine.

It was in 1874, I believe, that D. A. A. Buck, an ingenious mechanic of Wor

CHRISTMAS DAY.

Good Will—fadeless
Gifts—gifts that last
Hours spent before a
Christmas fire
Jolly laughs and merry jests
Holly—mistletoe—and the inevitable gifted 'Uncle—
Good cheer and kindness
Love—peace—and good will
Merry Christmas!

Now comes the thing I'd like to say all in Plain English
That Christmas is the very best—it's different from the rest
With the classical boys—Christmas
Christmas—Christmas
And the poetic—Christmas—the stories gems that you know!

Oh, there's lovely poetry of it, and a tale of a star
Shining down on a stable—and a modern gift—and Santa
Why, I tell you that Christmas is a jolly—lump in one
Made up of a little—a little—a little—a chuck full of Christmas glue.

An "ancient" Christmas—and a "modern"
Christmas—and
Why, to hear people talk, Santa Claus lives in the Middle Ages
Or in some other dim—distant—
Christmas—Land!
Why, I'm sick of the stories—looked all the Christmas
Where—you couldn't come a Christmas tale from the worst—
Or a Christmas—tale—or a good yarn
—or a Christmas
Ah! but I'm tired of the Christmas tale—I'm tired of Christmas—Christmas—Christmas—
Christmas—Christmas!

I think my—and—other—neighbors—mean—Christmas
If I—and—my—Christmas—
Christmas—Christmas—
Could—but—for—a—little—
Christmas—Christmas—
Christmas—Christmas—
Christmas—Christmas

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

CHARLEVOIX, JAN. 6, 1892.

Northern Michigan News.

Boyne City's Santa Claus came on a bicycle.

A railroad from Trout Lake to Detour is talked of.

The saw-load three fires last week. All from sparks back off.

During the past year Traverse City has spent a quarter of a million dollars on new buildings.

About three carloads of hay per week are handled by Boyne Falls railroad at a very close margin.

The Hon. Perry Hannah of Traverse City gave his son, Judson T., a check for $50,000 as a Christmas present.

The Mackinac transportation Company will build another large boat for service between Mackinac City and St. Ignace.

Dr. J. DeVries, the Harbor Springs pharmacist, was found not guilty of the charge of selling drugs without being registered.

The supreme court has decided that lands on Bass Blanc Island are not subject to entry for upper peninsula improvements.

Nicholas Gardiner, an Antrim county pioneer and member of the 19th New York, was buried under the auspices of the G. A. R. at Bellaire Sunday.

Enthusiastic friends of the late Hon. Jerry Barnes, of Traverse City, attended the Christmas charity fund of that place by a handsome donation in his name.

The track of land near St. Ignace upon which there are gypsum crops for sale, was sold at a sheriff's sale for $5,000, and the mine is to be developed.

A. H. Nelson, of Newaygo, is the station agent for the C. & W. M. at Elk Rapids. The station at present is a beautiful box car. They are laying the foundation for the depot now however.

Rev. Wylie K. Wright of Mishawaka, Ind., has accepted the call extended to him by the Presbyterian church of Petoskey, and will be there to assume the duties of the pastorate on January 24th.

A telegram in the Detroit Journal from St. Ignace, announces that John Chambers, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Mackinac county, died at Colorado Springs, Sunday.

The two sons of Chas. Krohn of Kewaunee, broke through the ice while skating near Traverse City, Tuesday. The youngest, aged six years was drowned but the eldest aged twelve was saved.

William Edgar Tilley was born in 1837, on Long Island, New York, and died at Elk Rapids Dec. 22, 1891, his age being 54 years. Mr. Tilley was one of the early settlers of this region having settled in Northport many years ago.

The Antrim County Bank, of Mancelona, has been reorganized into the Antrim County Savings Bank. In other words the institution has been transformed from a private bank to a state bank, and will be under the supervision of the State bank examiner.

Two young friends from Northport made a Christmas trip to Sutton's Bay, and on their way home laughingly would say a great scheme to capture a big pig and drive into the town with piggy on the front seat. Piggy had his ride, and his owner is looking after the slippers.

Another of these "free trade" Democrats is after Republican protection. He is a Democratic member of the Petoskey council and has introduced an ordinance requiring farmers to pay a license of $1 per day for peddling meat in cuts smaller than quarters.

State Game Warden Hampton says he has conquered the lower peninsula but the upper peninsula is too much for him. He has given it up as a bad job. He says the sentiment of the people generally opposes violation of the game law and there is use trying.

Mrs. E. T. Ladd, one of the oldest pioneer women of the Grand Traverse region, died last week at her home at the Old Mission of the grip. She and her husband were among the very first settlers of this region, coming here in 1853. She was widely known and universally respected.

F. B. Morshaw & Co. of Kingsley, Grand Traverse county, shipped five car loads of maple logs last week from their mill at that place to James Kennedy & Co. Glascow, Scotland, to be used for manufacturing rolls with which to stamp prints and other kind of cloth. The freight will be $1 a thousand feet, and delivered in Glasgow the logs will represent $75 to $90 a thousand.

Wm. Sears, of Boyne Falls, has started his Oklahoma shingle mill running. He has put in a new engine and boiler and everything is in fine working shape for a season's work. Boyne Falls has three lumbering mills and one of the best flouring and shopping mills in this section of country.

Boyne City Herald: W. H. White & Co. informs us that they have now logs out and on the skids to keep their mill at this place running from the 1st of January to the 1st of December, 1892, including a four months run double time. They have consequently discontinued cutting logs for the season, and all that is wanted to start up the mill January 1st is a little more snow.

Everything looks bright for Frankfort in the spring. Grand Trunk officials have been there and looked over the harbor with officials of the Toledo, Ann Arbor & Northern railroad and new things are moving just as though a new freight line to the east had been established. The Frankfort & Southeastern railroad tracks are being constructed to the outlet of the harbor, where the water is from 12 to 20 feet deep, and a boat line from Kewaunee and Green bay points is contemplated.

The Manistee Coal Wood Dish Factory will, in the spring, remove its plant to Traverse City. Two years ago the president of the company expressed himself as being dissatisfied at the poor service he was receiving from the G. R. & I. road, and immediately began negotiating with Traverse City people regarding the removal of the plant to that city, having in getting cars to ship their product made it necessary for them to seek another location.

East Jordan Enterprise: D. C. Loveday returned from Chicago last Thursday evening where he has been with the exception of last week when he took a trip south with his daughter Maude, leaving her in southern Illinois for the winter. Mr. L. has been quite sick but is now improving though still quite weak.—It may not generally be known, but it is a fact nevertheless, that when the Ironton branch of the C. & W. M. road is completed there will be less than fifty miles of road to grade to complete a line clear across the state from Au Sable to Charlevoix.

Grand Rapids Democrat: Chief Engineer McVean of the Chicago & West Michigan, returned from the north end of the line yesterday morning. Speaking of the progress of work on his line at the present time he said that with a continuance of the prevailing pleasant weather the new track would be completed to Ludlaw within three weeks. The track is also complete from Charlevoix to Petoskey. The distance between Petoskey and Spencer Creek, fifty-four miles, is nearly all graded, and the prospect of the completion of the new road by June next is very flattering. Six hundred and fifty men are at work and track laying is progressing by the aid of a Harris track layer at the rate of one and one-quarter miles per day.

• • •

ORANGE DAY.—On Saturday Jan. 9 1892, at 11 W. Smith. Everybody knows what orange day is at smith's.

• • •

R. H. Blacker, of Manistee, is the new "reform" secretary of state.

• • •

In the Chilean matter, both governments seem to be killing time in order to get a good ready. While the powers at Washington talk peace, active naval preparations are going on, and, unless Chili comes to our terms soon, there is every probability that Uncle Sam will soundly thrash the saucy little republic.

• • •

Garza, the Mexican guerilla, is making us in trouble for President Diaz, and widespread insurrection in the northern provinces is reported. Regular Mexican troops have killed their general and deserted to the revolutionists. Operations extend to the Texas side of the line, and several engagements with our troops are reported.

• • •

The three Democratic members of the state supreme court, Champlin, Morrish and Moore, have bunded down an opinion declaring the validity of Frieslander's seat in the Senate, which was secured by the most morally corrupt political trick in the history of that body. Justices Long and Grant write a dissenting opinion. The array of facts which it presents is indisputable, and its conclusions, deduced from these facts, are logically unassailable. In this able paper, the flimsy sophistries advanced by the three partisan justices are swept away and destroyed in the clear light of logic and common sense. The completeness of the demolition of these sophistries make all the more apparent the flagrancy of the partisanship which inspired the majority opinion; and it emphasizes anew the necessity of selecting for the supreme court men who are above and beyond the dictation of political tricksters, or the pressure of partisan necessity.

For the next two weeks, to reduce our stock, we will give customers a chance for big bargains in

Dress Goods, Cloaks, Linens and

Fancy Dry Goods.

MASON & BERDAN.

The Super Investigation.

The committee to investigate the conduct of ex-Secretary Super has made an exhaustive report. He distributed contrary to law 701 legislative manuals, costing the state about $1,073; 125 volumes of Howell's statutes, $637.50; 113 copies of Public Acts, $100.70.

He made a purchase of folding beds, spring mattresses, rugs, towels, blankets, type-writer and desks, to the amount of $921, all of which is declared unnecessary and extravagant.

There is practically no evidence showing that he has profited personally by these purchases, or received any money for the distribution of books.

There are but few letters found showing that state funds have been misappropriated, but the committee find that Super took away with him at least 500 letters of that character, and say the amount of misappropriation can never be determined.

There is no evidence to show the receipt of a commission upon the purchases for the state, although correspondence shows that he could have $60 and a desk upon one purchase of paper.

He bought 63,199 pound of paper at a cost to the state of $3,112.89, which will not be used until after the legislature of 1893 meets.

He took $200 for expenses of a trip to the upper peninsula, as a member of the state board of equalization, while the other members drew but $88.20.

He charged and was wrongfully allowed per diem compensation while upon business of the state.

The demand upon deputy Rowley for $600 was in fact unadjusted.

Super, in a recent interview, states that the Governor, Auditor General and State Treasurer were cognizant of many of the acts charged, and there is war in the Democratic camp. The report uncovers a record of official rottenness without a precedent in the history of the state.

The people will pass upon it at the next election, and relegate democracy to the rear.

• • •

Hayings from Hayes.

"When the day-s begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen."

Mrs. Andrew Holmes died New Years' day from hemorrhage produced from a fit of coughing, and was buried Sunday in the Charlevoix cemetery.

Miss Maud Scott, of Charlevoix, was visiting friends in Hayes New Years.

George Saunby has the big-head caused from being dragged around the barn-yard by a two year old steer.

Mrs. Geo. Saunby will go to Alaska, Mich., to visit her mother.

Alexander Ross has moved back upon his farm.

We think the Inwood correspondent of the Democrat will have to admit that humbuk is a valuable commodity, after all; it keeps life in man and beast.

The storm Saturday piled what little snow we had in the middle of the road, making them almost impassable.

Mrs. Wm. Gray fell on the frozen ground Sunday evening, and broke her arm in two places.

Winter term of school commenced at Fairgrove on Monday.

Rev. Miller, of Petoskey, is holding special meetings at Maple Grove.

• • •

Norwood Notes.

Nothing much this week to interest you but the grippe.

The logs are beginning to come into the yard, but there will be no hauler from the Inwood mill this winter.

Mrs. Hattie Brown went to Elsworth Monday to visit Mrs Deline.

Mrs. Hutchins, of East Jordan, spent New Years at Henry Superneau's.

Charlie Brown of Mancelona, has been over for a few days visiting the band boys. He returned Thursday.

Historical Society.

On New Year's evening, notwithstanding a heavy rain was falling, a pleasant company gathered in Mr. A. T. Washburne's parlors. In the absence of the president, Mr. H. Lee Iddings was elected to fill the vacancy. The program was not complete but the parts rendered were thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Program:—Miss Winnifred Bartholomew, vocal solo; Miss Martin, piano solo; Rev. McPherson, biography of Michael Angelo. Impromptu. Violin solo by Mr. Fred Cochrane. Adjourned to meet at the residence of Mr. Levi Blanchard, Jan. 29, 1892. Historical subject, Mohammed.

Begin the Year Right

By getting the

SENTINEL

AND THE

Detroit Tribune

ONE YEAR FOR

$2.00.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that the copartnership heretofore existing between the undersigned under the firm name of Barry & Wheeler, is dissolved by mutual consent. A. Wheeler retires all claims due the firm and all debts against the firm are payable to C. Barry, who succeeds to the business of Barry & Wheeler.

C. BARRY,

Manufacturer of

FINE CIGARS,

CHARLEVOIX.

The Trade of Northern Michigan Solicited.

Factory Over Postoffice.

TO THE

FARMERS

OF

Northern Michigan.

THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN SEED CO.

Was organized by the aspirations of Importing, Growing and Exporting

SEED GRAINS, etc.

and operating in all kinds of

FARM SUPPLIES.

Many of our farmers realize the importance of a change in their seed barley. Vegetable seeds flowering "in and for" has determined the quality and extent the growth of our seed. We purpose to furnish you with fresh stock of such varieties as have been found most and prove Profitable to Grow.

If you wish a change or supply of seeds, place your orders with us and if what have not satisfied at trial, Reap!

The Northern Michigan Seed Company.

QUINCY THACKER, Manager.

(Office with Bank of Charlevoix.)

MERRY CHRISTMAS

TO ALL, AND

A Happy New Year,

WITH JUST ENOUGH OF WHATEVER YOU NEED MOST TO MAKE YOU TRULY HAPPY AND CONTENTED, IS WISHED FOR ONE AND ALL, BIG AND SMALL, FOR OUR PATRONS AND EVERYBODY ELSE'S.

Yours truly,

H. L. IDDINGS.

Dec. 22, 1891.

N. B. This is not an advertisement. Business announcements give way this week to Good King Christmas.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A Happy and Prosperous

New Year to All

Secure both by buying drugs, stationery & all goods carried in our line, at

BEAMAN'S PHARMACY,

BARTHOLOMEW'S BLOCK.

STOP

QUARRELING,

Over Little Things,

AND GO TO THE STORE WHERE THEY GIVE A BIG, FINE OIL LANDSCAPE PAINTING FREE WITH EVERY $15 TRADED.

OR WHAT

Is Better Still

If you trade $10 all at one time, you have your pick without further ado.

If you suffer with cold feet buo some of

Those Wool Sox

Washburne sells at 15c per pair.

ARGUMENTS

THAT KNOCK

Cents-less!

Ladies' and Gents' All-Wool red or gray Underwear, reduced to

$1.88 a Suit!

! ! ! ! ! !

Dress Serges, All Colors

5½ Cents.

Children's and Misses Cloaks almost at HALF PRICE. Our stock is too large and must be reduced. Come and help us.

Startle, startle, little wink;
How I wonder what you think;
At the bargains all so low;
Come and buy before they go.

Yours,

A. T. Washburne

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

Jos C Miller mar21 ‡

VOL. XXIII. NO-28. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1892. WHOLE NO. 1,152.

CAN YOU SING?

—OR—

DO YOU PLAY?

Just for fun, we will give you your choice of 200 pieces of Sheet Music for 10 Cts.

Regular Price from 25 to 75 cts. All first-class Music.

F. G. HINES & CO.,

The Popular Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1868.

Law and Real Estate

OFFICE

OF

EDWARD H. GREEN,

Charlevoix, -:- Michigan.

FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS

And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

C. B. & CO.

"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

NOTHING IS MORE TRUE THAN THIS. AND THERE IS ANOTHER THING THAT IS EQUALLY TRUE, AND THAT IS THAT C. B. & CO. HAVE A SPLENDID STOCK OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE FOR THE GENERAL TRADE.

And they are the boys that will attend to your wants in good shape, and they desire you to call early and often. Call and see their nice presents given away with each pound of Coffee, at 25 cents.

EVER YOURS FOR THE LEADING GENERAL TRADE.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY BY

WILLARD A. SMITH,

Charlevoix, Michigan.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One year $1.00; Six months 75c. Invariably in advance.

Local News.

—Sheriff Hurd was in town again Monday.

—A. J. McLeod returns from Detroit to-day.

—Q. Thacker is laid up at Traverse City with la grippe.

—A. T. Washburn advertises a ½ off sale this week.

—Mr. Elston went to Grand Haven Monday, to be absent a week.

—Capt. O. E. Wilbur is making a trip around Grand Traverse Bay.

—Dud. Arthur Nelson has outgripped the grippe and is out again.

—Regular meeting of the Eastern Star Chapter next week Wednesday evening.

—Next Sunday the M. E. Sunday school will have an orchestra of five pieces.

—Albert Bacon lost a valuable team through the ice on Bear Lake last week.

—F. G. Hines & Co., the druggists advertise sheet music this week at greatly reduced prices.

—The Bifenbung Milling Co., this week give prices on their products, that it will pay to read.

—C. Y. Cook writes from Ann Arbor that he and Mrs. Cook are well and enjoying themselves.

—The Charlevoix Hardware Co., in their space this week, call your attention to the hardware trade.

—Stephen H. Smith, of Marion, has been visiting relatives in Whitewater, Grand Traverse county.

—Major Hendershot, the "drummer Boy of the Rappahannock, at Lewis Grand Opera House, Jan. 20.

—County Treasurer Ward has been confined to his house in Marion the past week with a severe attack of the grippe.

—Geo. Heveridge, of Wayne county, accompanied by his family is a guest of Dr. LeFleur, his brother-in-law.

—Schneeman & Guldebleck, the Lewis Grand Opera House dry goods men, have a new ad. this week that will interest you.

—The grippe has among its victims this week, D. Sherwood, Geo. W. Beaman, Miss Emma Bennett, and a number of others.

—Superintendent Enos, of the public schools, was called to Brooklyn, Mich., Monday, by the death of his mother. Prof. J. B. Allen took his place.

—J. H. Mullen, the Good Luck Clothing House man, makes an announcement in his advertising space this week, that is worth your while to read.

—Jos. Hyland and Geo. Weaver went to Torch Lake Monday to convert the Cameron Bros. mill boilers from flume to tubular, and will be there some time.

—Mr. David Hutts's was in town over Sunday, visiting his son Archie. Since the departure of his brother for California he has been visiting in Lebanon county.

—Kalamazoo Telegraph: Edward Woodbury, of Kalamazoo, has been tendered the position of treasurer of the Michigan asylum for the insane, vice S. S. Cobb, deceased.

—San Diego (Cal.) Union: Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Heald and Mr. and Mrs. William Alden Smith, of Grand Rapids, Mich., are spending the winter at the Coronado.

—We forget to mention last week that W. H. Downer, C. A. Barker's "shorter" in this neck of the woods, is back here again from Wisconsin, and doing business at the old stand.

—James Reed, a pioneer settler of Eveline township, but now a resident of Tuscola county, was here over Sunday. He was down with the grippe two days at the Fountain City House.

—By paying for the SENTINEL a year in advance, and 50 cents additional, you can get the Detroit Weekly Tribune one year. If you don't take the SENTINEL, subscribe for it now, and avail yourself of the opportunity of getting the good, family papers at the low price of $2.00.

—$15,000 stock to select from, everything at ½ off. It's the sixth annual sale at Washburn's.

—The ladies of the Order of the Eastern Star will give a grand leap year ball at Lewis Grand Opera House next week Friday night, and arrangements are being perfected for making it the ball of the season. Remember the date.

—Mordanat J. Holben, the young son of Elijah Holben, of South Arm, died at his home on Dec. 28th, of quick consumption. Mr. Holben and wife are among the first settlers of this region, and have many friends who will deeply sympathize with them.

—The Charlevoix minstrels, an organization embracing the leading talent of the place, have been in rehearsal for several weeks, and announce that they will give an entertainment in about two weeks. Their bills will soon be out, and lovers of music and fun may expect a treat.

—We referred recently to the partiality shown by H. V. Bifenbung for the "peerless" smoking tobacco. It recently coming to the notice of the manufacturers of "peerless" that the "Iron Duke" had smoked that brand for twenty five years, they sent him a pound of it, with the compliments of the house.

—Railroad construction is progressing favorably. Ballasting on the north end is still going forward. The work will continue a week or two longer, and then the locomotive and outfit will be taken around by way of the G. R. & I., to work on the south end. The contractors are now driving the piles for the north bridge abutment.

—O. E. Wilbur & Co., the grocers, have a new advertisement this week Capt. Wilbur aims, as far as possible, to do a cash trade, and solicits a trial of his plan of dealing, and his goods. He will deal in cedar and like commodities, and do a general shipping and dock business. At the old A. Fox stand.

—Although hourly expected at the time of our going to press last week, the death of Mrs. Nellie Ross (née Lindsey) did not occur until Sunday. Her funeral took place from the M. E. church yesterday afternoon. Mrs Ross died in Petoskey, where her husband was in the employ of Connable & Sons. Her death was not a surprise, as she has been ill with consumption for more than a year. She was a Charlevoix girl, and will be mourned by a large circle of friends. The bereaved husband, who was called from bedside here, has the sympathy of all.

—The many friends of Capt. Edward Cunningham will read the following from the Detroit Tribune, with pleasure: The Wabash & Conneaughtan Transit Company filed articles of association yesterday. The purpose of the company is to engage in maritime commerce and navigation on the great lakes. The capital stock is $2,000 divided in 1,000 shares, valued into 1,000 shares, and is held as follows: James J. Wallace, 995 shares, Frank B. Wallace, 995 shares, and Captain Edward Cunningham 1, 230 shares. The office of the company for the transaction of business will be in Hamtramck. "The company is not a new one," said Frank B. Wallace at his residence, 845 Jefferson avenue, where he and his partners were busy arranging matters regarding the incorporation. We have been running for the past three years but we decide a short time ago to incorporate ourselves." The company owns the steamer New Orleans, gross tonnage 1,457, built in Marine City in 1885 by W. B. Morley, and next season they will continue to carry iron ore and other cargoes from Duluth and the other upper lake ports. If business warrants it, the company will build another boat next winter.

—Snow, snow, plenty of snow. We would promulgate a poem this week on the snow, the beautiful snow, if we did not so horribly dread the displeasure of our contemporary up the street. We have, waltzing around in the chambers of our editorial brain, a lovely, sparkling poem, that starts off something like this:

For the glittering, frozen tresses,
Falling gently on the shoulders
Of the maiden, fair and slender,
Love expresses no in charms
Half the ravishing—

But we reserve the rest of the production for future publication, after careful revision, and the addition of a few verses that are at this moment materializing in our thought-vault. Subscribe for the SENTINEL this week, and encourage budding talent.

• • •

¼ deducted from the amount you purchase at Washburn's.

• • •

Some of that best Silver Thread Sauer Kraut at O. W. Smith's.

• • •

25 cents for 19 cents at Washburn's ¼ off sale.

• • •

50 cents worth for 37½ at Washburn's ¼ off sale.

CURRENT MARINE NOTES.

The Montague Iron Works is building a fore-and-aft compound engine for the Endreas tug Coates, at Manitowoc, and one for a new Booth boat being built at Grand Haven.

The schooner Seaman took a load of hay from Chicago to Sheboygan last week.

Davidson & Holmes, the well known Chicago vessel agents, have dissolved partnership. Mr. Davidson continue the business.

The steamer City of Grand Rapids will probably be seen here no more, as she goes to another route next season—probably between Traverse City and Escanaba. Capt. Wilbur has resigned the command of her.

Capt. H. N. Young, of the steamer Crescent will come out next spring in the new boat being built for that line.

The Charlevoix Marine Engineers' Association is a live and progressive organization. They hold weekly meetings for the study of the science of their profession, occasionally relieving the monotony by proceedings that are not exactly scientific.

• • •

Religious Items.

Methodist.

"Parnalus" will be the theme of discourse at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. McPherson, pastor. Sabbath services as usual.

Baptist.

Gospel meetings continue at the Baptist church every evening except Saturday, at 7. All invited.

• • •

60 cts a week only costs you 45 cents at Washburn's ¼ off sale.

• • •

Masonic.

Special communication of Charlevoix Lodge No. 285, F. & A. M., next Tuesday evening, Jan. 19th, for work on second degree. General attendance desired.

W. A. SMITH, W. M.

S. A. SHERWOOD Sec'y

• • •

Banks Items.

Oh, that awful la grippe!

Log hauling has commenced, and it has the appearance of a Michigan winter.

D. H. Stebbins resumed his duties as teacher of the Antrim school Monday, after a week's vacation with la grippe.

M. E. Byers and family made a trip to Traverse City last week. Mr. Byers brought a wind-mill home with him.

D. Flanagin has put in a stock of groceries and tobacco at his mill.

Rev. Mr. Halliday has been sick with the grippe.

Cap Redford's father and mother, of Fort Huron, arrived here last week.

School commenced in the Atwood district Monday, with Mr. Green Abbott, of Bellaire, as the teacher.

Rev. Chamberlain, pastor of the Congregational church, tendered his resignation Sunday, to take effect in one week. Mr. Chamberlain is obliged to give up preaching on account of failing health, caused by la grippe.

Mr. Andrew Campbell is seriously ill with typhoid fever, and his wife with la grippe.

The deputy sheriff was in town Monday, inveigling the jurors to be present at the next term of court.

• • •

—Major Robert H. Hendershott, the original "Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock," will give an entertainment at Lewis Grand Opera House on Wednesday evening, Jan. 20, for the benefit of Baxter Post, G. A. R. and the W. R. C., assisted by local talent. Major Hendershott is not only a good drummer but he is possessed with sufficient ability in other respects to keep his audience well entertained. His skill with the drums is not related if equaled by anyone in this country. His imitation of a battle, commencing with the picket firing increasing the rapidity of the firing as the battle waxes hot until the rattle of musketry is almost as real as life. His imitation of an engine on the great Southern Pacific Railway is also very fine. The entertainment will well repay attending, and we hope to see the Opera House crowded.

CALKINS & WARNE

EXTEND THEIR

GREETING,

And announce that they have opened an elegant line of Holiday Goods for the parlor or the boudoir, Toilet Cases and Albums in artistic styles, and numberless Christmas Gifts that will please. For every $10 in trade a beautiful Album is given away.

Make Your Selections.

BERT MASON.

Sells

Evaporated Apricots,	15c.
Pitted Cherries,	15c.
3 lbs Good Raisins,	25c.
4 lbs Jelly,	25c.
4 lbs Apple Butter,	30c.
Walnuts, per pound,	16c.
Almonds,	20c.
Brazils, 10c, 3 lbs for	25c.

Holiday Goods now open. Corn Meal, Bran, Oats, Linseed Meal and Hay.

BERT MASON.

OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS and ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES

From this date until Jan. 15th, 1892, I shall sell the finest Saddle Rock and Cherry Stone Oysters at lower prices than ever before sold in Charlevoix. And in the matter of Oranges, I shall make a specialty of the finest Florida fruit, direct from the celebrated Hilyer Grove, on Indian River. Just call and let me prove all I say.

O. W. SMITH.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans

We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.

Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.

We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.

TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.

H. S. HARSHA.

We have a few All-Wool

BLANKETS

Which we will close out at way-down prices.

Our Furniture is All Right.

S. M. SEE & SONS.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN.

SLUMBER SONG

BY EUGENE FIELD.

The mill goes rolling slowly round
With winds and storms roar
All my children are safe in the land
Sweet dreams, my dear one!
While mother and father watch by the ships
Upon the stormy sea
My little one lies upon the soft soft ...
Sweet dreams, my dear one!

The sails are unrolled and the nets are drawn
The fishermen are gone
The fishes, spoke the mother's dream,
Swarm in the moonlight
My sweet one, I pray you
Place the fishes in your dream
Sweet dreams, my dear one!
Of Jesus and his disciples
Sleep, old Time is always sweet,
Sweet dreams, my dear one!
Ho mother has pleaded, half in a dream
Half in a prayer, for the fishes
And yet she has kept her blanket, meanwhile
Sweet dreams, my dear one!
And so the fishing ... begins
For now little ... sleep

A dream ... the mother's dream
That wisely drops and sinks
The wonderful fishes ... the dreaming ships
And sailors at the ... sea
Sweet dreams, my dear one!
Of the church ... the ... the ... ships
And ... the ... ship
Sweet dreams, my dear one!

A WOMAN SCORNED.

In the courtyard of Castle Gatteg, a gay company of guests were gazing at Count Zamoski, one of the magnates of Poland, who treated the nobles of the neighborhood to a festival. The guests were expecting the signal to sit down to the court-yard of the castle the curtain of an oriel window in the castle wall split before a huge pile of logs and a tolerably fine of Hungarian wine had been broached.

The sound prompted among the whole company wire count Sheldon, who was the only English gentleman. The young lady had was to make one of the party of hunters. Her courage was lionized as great as her beauty. The sound of the feud, the young Count Stanislaus Zamoski, attached himself to her side, and, when the signal was given and the company of the cottage was given, and the hunters, sixteen in number, had begun hoping packed hounds, had departed in the direction of the forest, it was into the sixty Count Stanislaus Constance was lifted by its owner, who, leaping in after her, took the reins of the fiery horses, harnessed three abreast, and, with a shout, drove swiftly off through the snow and sun.

Arrived at the spot where the hunters were drawn in a speculation of their game they disappeared, and, standing there side by side, silently awaited the coming of the bear. Fate that day smiled upon Constance. A large bear was driven by the beaters directly across the path where she and Stanislaus had taken their stand. At sight of them the monster reared himself up threateningly on his hind feet but the girl, sitting her ... mainly shot him through the heart.

Completely fascinated by her beauty and courage, Stanislaus pledged himself a willing captive to her charms. From that moment his passion grew apace. The Polish nobleman's courage had inspired was deepened and strengthened by the sight of her at home, and stood modestly before her splitting wheel. As the wheel revolved, and the bobbin hands of the maiden drew the thread from it, Stanislaus, sitting by her side, sometimes in her ear, to an accompaniment of the whirring of the wheel, his vows of love, and pledged her his troth.

The betrothal was publicly celebrated soon after at the house of Demetrius's father. The parents of the bridegroom, however, saw, with feeling sent disdain, his infatuation for the daughter of their impoverished neighbor, Mikhowski, and they persuaded their son, shortly after the celebration of the betrothal, to take a journey to Dresden, where August the Strong, King of Poland and Elector of Saxony, held his court. The Polish Ambassador at Dresden was early instructed by Demetrius's parents to lead the young nobleman into the gay and dissipated society of the capital.

To the beautiful young widow, Antonina, Countess of Oginski, the favorite duke of Saxony and his allpowerful minister, Brühl, was given the commission of rendering Stanislaus faithless to his absent fiancée. Distress in the arts of coquetry and intrigue, the fair countess soon accomplished this.

A letter, written to Constance only a few months after her arrival in Dresden from her uncle, upbraided her for neglect of her, and, at the same time, begged for forgiveness for his tardiness. Family interests and his duty to the State, and his King, he informed her, were, were the causes of his tracking his plighted wife. On receipt of this epistle, Constance sled a few angry tears but she was not the woman to mourn long over a lover's desertion. Plans of revenge for the slight upon her beauty. The sound the feud, the young Count Stanislaus Zamoski, attached himself to her side, and, when the signal was given and the company of the cottage was given, and the hunters, sixteen in number, had begun hoping packed hounds, had departed in the direction of the forest, it was into the sleigh Count Stanislaus Constance was lifted by its owner, who, leaping in after her, took the reins of the fiery horses, harnessed three abreast, and, with a shout, drove swiftly off through the snow and sun.

Arrived at the spot where the hunters were drawn in a speculation of their game they disappeared, and, standing there side by side, silently awaited the coming of the bear. Fate that day smiled upon Constance. A large bear was driven by the beaters directly across the path where she and Stanislaus had taken their stand. At sight of them the monster reared himself up threateningly on his hind feet but the girl, sitting her ... mainly shot him through the heart.

Completely fascinated by her beauty and courage, Stanislaus pledged himself a willing captive to her charms. From that moment his passion grew apace. The Polish nobleman's courage had inspired was deepened and strengthened by the sight of her at home, stood modestly before her splitting wheel. As the wheel revolved, and the bobbin hands of the maiden drew the thread from it, Stanislaus, sitting by her side, sometimes in her ear, to an accompaniment of the whirring of the wheel, his vows of love, and pledged her his troth.

The betrothal was publicly celebrated soon after at the house of Demetrius's father. The parents of the bridegroom, however, saw, with feeling sent disdain, his infatuation for the daughter of their impoverished neighbor, Mikhowski, and they persuaded their son, shortly after the celebration of the betrothal, to take a journey to Dresden, where August the Strong, King of Poland and Elector of Saxony, held his court. The Polish Ambassador at Dresden was early instructed by Demetrius's parents to lead the young nobleman into the gay and dissipated society of the capital.

To the beautiful young widow, Antonina, Countess of Oginski, the favorite duke of Saxony and his all-powerful minister, Brühl, was given the commission of rendering Stanislaus faithless to his absent fiancée. Distress in the arts of coquetry and intrigue, the fair countess soon accomplished this.

A letter, written to Constance only a few months after her arrival in Dresden from her uncle, upbraided her for neglect of her, and, at the same time, begged for forgiveness for his tardiness. Family interests and his duty to the State, and his King, he informed her wrote

A HUMANE MONTROSITY.

Death of the Dog Boy, Who Was Curious to All Our Farm.

It was a pathetic funeral that of Alfred H. George, in Oakland county, by men the San Francisco correspondent of the Detroit Democrat. The little house was surrounded by a quiet crowd of small children, from the neighborhood, who had come to get a glimpse of the strange being who had died. Three hacks stood outside of the door and a few friends gathered in the little front parlor, but it was more from curiosity than from any other cause, for there were few who lived in the neighborhood who had met board of Alfred H. George, the dog boy. The lad, though apparently not human, was given a Catholic burial. His father, a tressed Portuguese, stood by and watched the ceremony with scarcely a change of countenance. His mother, a little woman who showed signs of beauty was dressed in deep mourning, and her tears and eyes showed that she felt the death of this unfortunate child, but the broad and sisters of the unfortunate being in the coffin stood unmoved, as they hardly regarded the boy as that of their brother.

The boy was known all over the neighborhood as the dog boy, but few had ever seen him, as for eighteen years of his life he had not been out of the house but once. He was born dead, dumb and blind, and was utterly without mind. He resembled more than anything else a large dog or baboon. He could walk upright, but never did so, preferring to crawl around the room. Whenever he was crossed he bore the gamesters from his back. The only way his father could keep him clothed was to make a long garment of the Mother Hubbard shape on the frantic fits of bed-ticking that could not be torn. The unfortunate being could make no articulate sound except whine or snarl. He would sleep all day and remain awake all night. He would never rest in bed, but would crawl upon a large chest in the corner of the room and there he would lie all day. The features of the child resembled those of a monkey. The forehead was low and retreating, the eyes deeply sunken, caused by screwing his face into them and the jaw was large and protruding, three and only ones, was he taken outside the house, and that was when the place caught fire and he was carried out for safety. Then he cried and whined until he was taken back. The father is a hard-working cobbler and has eight children, all of whom are bright and active save this one.

INSANE ROYALTY.

Evil Effects of Consanguineous Marriages Exemplified in Europe's Rulers.

The advocates of marriage law reforms found a strong argument on the mental condition of hereditary princes, even in certain parts of Europe, where royal populace compels princes and nobles to restrict the choice of their matrimonial unions to a limited number of family. The French Duke of Bourbon, for instance, is said to trace his relationship in every reigning house of Christian Europe, the parent dynasty of Sweden alone excepted, and as a natural consequence that dynasty alone can boast its complete exemption from the taint of hereditary insanity. King Ludwig of Bavaria escaped a lunatic asylum only by suicide; his successor is an idiot. Crown Prince Rudolph, of Austria, was afflicted with eccentricities by to mention limited to his amours. George the Third had a large assortment of maladies, unfortunately not including that of zeleots. Frederic Wilhelm, the brother and predecessor of the conqueror of Sedan, was undoubtedly crazy, and both his present successor and the present Czar seem to have considerable loss in their helmets.—N. Y. Advertiser.

The Long to Wait.

A German peasant family had made all their arrangements to emigrate to the United States. The day before the family was to take its departure the eldest son, Hans, who was an enormous eater, intimated that he did not care to go West.

"Has some village maiden beguiled thee to remain behind?" asked the father.

"Nothing of the kind."

"Why, then, dost thou not wish to go with us?"

"I've been talking with the schoolmaster, and—"

"Well, what did he say?"

"He says that when it is 12 o'clock with us here in Germany that—"

"That what?"

"When it is 12 o'clock here with us that in America it is 9 o'clock in the evening."

"Well?"

"I don't want to go to a place where I have to wait that long for my dinner." And the poor fellow completely broke down at the mere thought of it.—Detroit Free Press.

True Feminine Delicacy of Feeling.

Emily (who has called to take Lizzie to the great murder trial)—What, deep black, dearest!

Lizzie—Yes I thought it would be only decent, as the poor wretch is sure to be found guilty.

Emily—Ah! Where I was dining last night it was even betting which way the verdict would go, so I only put on half mourning.—Buffalo Express.

Impeded by Spiders.

In sinking plumb lines down shafts the accuracy of the work is often seriously impaired by spiders attaching their webs to the lines and drawing them toward the wall, often with sufficient tension to introduce material errors in the position of the plumb bobs.

After a Difference.

Henry asked me to be his wife, last night." she told her chum.

"Oh, I'm so delighted, Gertrude. And how did it happen?"

"Well, he asked me and I said 'Yes,' and then he just stood up and folded his arms."

"What! He was no more liberated than this?"

"Oh, but you see I was in them when he folded them."—Philadelphia Times.

J. Z. LINTON'S

Christmas is close at hand; New Year will soon follow. Now, if you see old Santa Claus send him to

LINTON'S.

He has the very finest assortment of Candy and Nuts on Charlevoix. GIVE HIM A CALL.

He will try to please you all, both in goods and price. Oysters fresh. Cave on hand, in the bulk or in the can.

J. Z. LINTON.

A Safe Investment.

Is one which is guaranteed to bring you satisfactory results, or if none of failure a return of purchase price. On this safe plan you can buy from our advertised druggist a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It is guaranteed to bring relief in every case, when used for any affection of throat, lungs or chest, such as consumption, inflammation of lungs, bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, croup, etc. It is pleasant and agreeable to taste, perfectly safe and can always be depended upon. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co.'s drug store. 1

Much Wise.

We desire to say to our citizens that for years we have been getting Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled anything that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if such a very results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. 1 G. Hines & Co., Druggists.

English Spavin Liniment removes all hard, soft or callous lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, sprains, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 20-y

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 20-y

FOR SALE.

Every acre of improved land in N. E. quarter of S. E. quarter section 3, Township 33 North, Range 5 West, containing 40 acres. Address, W. C. HOBY, SHAW & CO WOOD CO. Ill. Chamber of Commerce Building, Chicago Ill. 1-tf

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are timbered with beech and maple (the best) and are accessible from market.

By Water and Rail

And are in a state unsurpassed for health, well water, good climate and close to the great lumbering section of Michigan.

The Great Sault Ste Marie Railway now passes through the center of the place. The part of Michigan in which these lands are situated is

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 250,000 souls and is rapidly filling up with settlers from adjacent states in the West.

Over 400,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address

W. O. HUGHART, Commissioner,

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich

TITLE PERFECT.

TWO FARMS

AT A BARGAIN.

1st. The "McCARTNEY FARM," in Banks Township. Eighty acres; thirty acres under cultivation; forty acres good timber; good house, with stone cellar; fine front stream. Will sell cheap, and on easy terms.

2d. The "WHITMAN FARM," in Hayes Township. Exceptionally fine location, near town, and one of the best farms in the Pine Lake region. Contains 250 acres. Will sell all or part. Extra good buildings, fine orchard, good fences. Title perfect.

Also other Farms and residence property in Charlevoix and vicinity.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Do You Wish to Join the Procession?

Nothing better illustrates the progress of this country, than the great, by increased and continued, demand for Nursery Stock, both fruit and ornamental. Many of our largest fruit growers are increasing their orchards; and all of our farmers are fast learning that there is much more money in fruit-growing than in any other branch of farming. To the planter or purchaser of nursery stock, at least three things are indispensable: first, the stock should be adapted to the climate; second, the varieties should be true to name; third, the trees or plants should be well matured, vigorous and healthy. STONE & WEBER, Dexter, of Fentilli, Canada, one of the oldest and largest nurseries in America have long kept these things in view. The stock that I have placed for them in Northern Michigan for the last three years, has given the highest satisfaction. I am now receiving orders for this Canadian Stock, having already a large delivery to make in the spring and purpose to make that of next fall, the largest ever known in this county.

Please look up this Nursery company and satisfy yourselves as to their reliability, and the quality of their stock. All orders placed with them through this agency, will receive the most scrupulous attention; send me your name on a postal card, with five others, who will likely be come customers, and get a valuable present free.

QUINCY THACKER.

Charlevoix, Mich

Agent for Stone & Wellington

Look at These Prices

AT THE

Charlevoix Roller Mills.

Iron Duke Flour, per sack. $1.50; per bbl	$6.00
White Rose, " " 1.25; " "	5.00
Silver Spray, " " 1.00; " "	4.00
Rolled Meal, per hundred.	2.00.
Coarse Meal, " "	1.45.
No. 1 Feed, corn and oats,	1.45.
No 2 Feed,	1.30.
Bran, per hundred.	1.00.
Middlings,	1.25.
Oats, per bushel.	48.
Corn,	70.

Rifenburg Milling Co., Charlevoix.

L. A. WEST, Supt.

TO REDUCE

A large stock of Blankets Robes and Cutters we will sell Goat Robes, Plush-lined, for $3.50

AND UP.

Full clipped Knee Plush Trimmed CUTTERS for $20.00

And up. Quality is guaranteed. To appreciate these prices, call and look goods over.

Baker & Son.

Charlevoix.

THE SENTINEL

AND THE

Detroit Tribune

For $2.00!

The DETROIT WEEKLY TRIBUNE is the Leading Family Paper of Michigan. Don't let the opportunity slip.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Great Clearing Sale!

AT

Good Luck Clothing Store.

Commencing at Once,

And continuing until the balance of our winter stock is sold.

CLOTHING, GENTS' FURNISHINGS. GLOVES. MITTS. MACKINAWS. LEATHER COATS. LUMBERMEN'S SOCKS, ETC.

All must go at the same uniform reduction. Now, when goods you desire are offered at a sacrifice, to procrastinate is to throw money away.

WHY HESITATE?

Don't make a mistake and go elsewhere looking for bargains, but come at once to headquarters. Every overcoat in the house has to go if prices will move them.

This is a chance of a lifetime to buy goods almost at your own price

J. H. MULLEN, Prop.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering, THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES.

They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Milier.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors

EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our

Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Bruenor's St. Louis EXPORT.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

We keep constantly on hand the finest and largest stock of TOBACCOS, CIGARS, CIGARETTES, Etc., in Charlevoix.

We call special attention to our IMPORTED KEY WEST CIGARS First door south of Sentinel Office. We will clump for cash.

B. J. Gellick & Co.

Closing out sale!

Strictly for Cash!

AT GREATLY

REDUCED PRICES!

I will for the next Sixty days, for the purpose of reducing stock, close out my stock of

Boots and Shoes

No such chance was ever given here to purchase low cash.

CHEAP

My stock embraces every one desired in the country, and is of the best quality.

Don't let the opportunity slip.

SHERWOOD

Mrs. H. A. Carr,

Fashionable Millinery.

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX.

NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.

and the latest styles in Bonnets. Dress and Cloak Making in connection.

MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST

Whether of goods for the

Holiday Trade

or for

Mrs. H. A. Carr.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School.

The old clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Hellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $2.00.

He is also selling a first-class watch a perfect time keeper, in nickle silver cases for $8.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

. . . . . C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER

SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are immense

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

Don't fail to call and see them.

JOHN ZWECKL,

Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,

Dealer in

Rifenburg Milling Co.'s

FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.

IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,

proprietor of the

NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN

Good Turnouts at lowest rates

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

BUSINESS CARD.

ATTORNEYS.

EDWARD C. VARNUM, Attorney and Counselor at Law and Real Estate Agent. Charlevoix Mich.

FRED W. MAINS, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON Agent and Attorney for Abstracts of Title, Loans and Real Estate. Office in Sentinel building, Charlevoix Mich.

R. W. KANE, Attorney at Law, Lawyer, Conveyancer and Real Estate Agent, Charlevoix, Mich.

SOCIETIES.

L. O. G. T.—Tree Blood No. 127, meets Saturday evenings in Good Templars' Hall.

G. A. R.—Hayes Post No. 118, meets second Monday evenings of each month, at Odd Fellows' hall.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER No. 70, O. E. S. meets at Masonic hall the third Wednesday of each month. Mrs. Ella Wilkinson, Secretary.

EMMET CHAPTER, No. 60, F. & A. M. meets Thursday on or before full moon. F. G. Hines W. M.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Lodge No. 292, F. & A. M. Tuesday on or before full moon. Hiram Sherman, Secretary.

TUANDAMO CAMP NO. 5, U. O. R. M., meets every 2nd and 4th Tuesday in each month. Wm. Bennett, Secretary.

PIONEER ASSEMBLY, No. 2911, K. of L., meets every Friday evening in Good Templars' Hall. Chas. Hoyt, Secretary.

BAYER RELIEF CORPS, No. 132, meets at G. A. R. Hall on second Saturday of each month. Mrs. Lou Wolf, President.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. ARNTS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, office on Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. N. and J. V. SINON, Surveyors and Engineers, Charlevoix. Improved Gunter surveying (patented county).

The "New Charlevoix."

M. S. GAGNON, Prop.

(Formerly the "Central House.")

Beautifully located on the Shore, Elegantly appointed, Cuisine and Table unsurpassed. Good Livery and Every Convenience. Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated. 49-tf-y.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

Only Five minutes from the Court House. Cable Cars pass the door.

Now home with all Modern Improvements, newly furnished. On American and European plans. Rooms, $1.00 upward, commodious for home and office. Turkish Bath in connection. Elevator. Restaurant. Rates, $2.00 per day. Table d'hôte service. Special rates are for better one.

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE

Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points west and northwest.

Trains leave as present schedule as follows:

Leave Charlevoix 7:00 a. m. and 4:45 p. m.

Leave Grand Rapids 11:40 a. m. and 10:00 p. m.

Arrive Chicago 7:00 a. m. and 6:30 a. m.

Sleepy day. Cabin (week days).

Without a change of cars between Grand Rapids and Chicago.

Call upon the Nearest Agent for Chicago.

Trains leave Chicago, arrive as follows: 12:01 a. m. and 12:00 noon. Leave Grand Rapids 7:00 a. m. and 8:00 p. m. Arrive at Charlevoix 10:30 a. m. and 11:30 p. m.

Sleepy day. Cabin (week days).

Without a change of cars between Chicago and Grand Rapids.

Call upon the Nearest Agent for Chicago.

Table d'hôte service. Special rates are for better one.

DETROIT.

The Favorite is the Detroit, Lansing & Northern R. R.

From Howard City and Grand Rapids

To other lines in the West.

Leave Howard City 8:00 a. m. and 3:00 p. m.

Leave Grand Rapids 6:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m.

Arrive Detroit 11:35 a. m. and 6:40 p. m.

Sleepy day. Cabin (week days).

Without a change of cars between Howard City and Detroit.

Call upon the Nearest Agent for Detroit.

Table d'hôte service. Special rates are for better one.

Trains marked thus ( ) do not run on Sundays.

Connections in Detroit with lines for all points East, South and Southwest.

Connections at Howard City with lines for all points north.

Connections at Ionia with lines for all points east.

For further information address the undersigned.

GEO. HUBBARD, Gen'l Pass. Agent.

FOR SALE.

Farm for sale--

Consisting of 80 acres, nearly entire Hardwood, mostly spaced for maple sugar, well watered, plenty of good water, 40 acres cleared, balance of timber, offering free hemlock. Desirable for stock farm. Will sell on easy terms. Inquire of G. Hayes City, Grand Rapids and Western Railway and other machinery within half mile of the premises.

Also on same section--

100 acres, with 40 acres of improvements, good house and young orchard.

The above lands are not cleared with a view to sale. Cheap and on easy terms. Address

HIRAM H. WHITMAN,

Implicit 1 East Jordan, Mich.

Hackett's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt-rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. G. Hines & Co.

O. C. HOLLISTER,

ST. JOHNS, MICH.

Has Good Farms to Sell on Easy Terms through Clinton, Gratiot, Montcalm, Oscoda, Wexford, and Other Counties.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Ira Ward and Ann Ward, of the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, mortgagors, to Charlevoix County, State of Michigan, mortgagee, dated the 1st day of December, eighteen hundred and eighty-four, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the 1st day of December, A. D. 1884, in Liber 1 of Mortgages, on page 50, upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Three Hundred and Twenty-Five Dollars and Twenty-Five Cents principal and interest, and no proceedings have been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative by reason of the default in the payment of the said sum of Three Hundred and Twenty-Five Dollars and Twenty-Five Cents principal and interest, and no suit or proceeding has

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN.

MOBBED BY WOMEN.

THEY ATTACK A TRAIN OF MINERS GOING TO WORK.

Alarming Results from Le Grippe in New York and Brooklyn—An Aged Lady Killed—Her Back Golcher Sentenced—An Iowa Kin Dies Suddenly.

THE South Bend, Ind., mob of women, half crazed from hunger and want, made a furious attack on the "blacklegs" train when it stopped at suburban mine No. 8. With curses and screams of rage they pelted the train with stones, and when it started off they ran after it and waited for the cars to slide down the grade, when, declaring that an accomplice should have been there instead of for the men, they were well armed and soon drove their unwelcome assailants back. Several of the injured were severely bruised, with blows from the clubs the women carried. Though none were seriously injured, Thursday there were several hand to hand fights in the streets between the women and men who had evidently overpowered. The fight was over in less than two minutes, but for nearly an hour the women lurked around the mine in small groups, and a band of Indians at a short distance were swearing vengeance against the "black legs."

Steamer Burned at Sea.

THE steamer Alameda, of the Oceanic Line, which sailed from New York for Liverpool, Saturday, with a crew of 85 hands were saved. The Alameda had had engines only for less than two months, and had a cargo of 1,000 tons of miscellaneous merchandise. The steamer was carried away from her moorings and lost the fuel value of which cannot yet be given. She was valued at $500,000 and was insured for the United Fire by the Phenomenon Insurance Company. She was raised as A and counted as one of the United States Navy vessels at the time. The Alameda was re-engined.

Fatalities.

AT New York the deaths from grippe were reported to the Health Department, Thursday, at 1,000 a week. There are 141 policemen on the sick list, the highest number ever reported in any epidemic in Brooklyn alone. Two deaths from the grippe were reported to the Health Department, while there were thirty-two deaths from the disease in Brooklyn. Sixty-five persons are on the sick list.

Killed by a Falling Brick.

BENJAMIN Brown and Henry Liebers, foreman at the Fuel of Coke of the Black Valley Coal company, at Pittsburgh, Pa., were killed by a brick that in a large bucket for the purpose of emptying unused hot lime, fell from the top of the kiln on the side of the shaft, one of the laborers, in dodging the brick, fell into the open lime, killing Brown and fatally injuring Liebers.

Setting the Date with Cane.

NEW ORLEANS, are gaining at Biloxi, Miss., for the settlement of the celebrated Lamar will case. A compelling cause from the contestants, represented by Henry A. Scott, is the assertion that the cane will not cease to twist and twine.

Killed by a Passenger Train.

MRS. George Hiscock, of New Washington, Ohio, while crossing the Pennsylvania Railroad track was struck by the incoming train and killed, death instantly killed. She was 70 years of age.

Die Hard in Back Bonner, Plain Gang.

DR. Evans, the Marion back robber, who was shot in the Marion Ohio, and $1,100 of the $2,000 stolen recovered, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four years sentence in the penitentiary.

News in Brief.

CAPTAIN H. Evans, of Racine, committed suicide by shooting.

THOMAS Lewis, of Louisville, Mont., slept six days and nights.

HENRY Mazzo, of Astoria, died a victim of a bite of a venomous and dangerous wound for employer and the latter's son.

NICHOLAS Lee died 115 miles at South Omaha, Neb., and was found in the cabin with a razor in his will, etc. but Mrs. Lee will recover.

CHIEF Cole Sing, a commissioner appointed by the Chinese Government to report on the Chinese Fair, has died in New York City.

JOHNSON Cases, noted as a manufacturer of agricultural implements and other farm implements, died among them J. L. Case, died in Racine.

THE Aurora Fire Insurance Company of Cincinnati has wound up its affairs its risks being taken by the National Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn.

THE courts of Belgium have sentenced the government to pay for injuries to one of in Laurence, the French revolutionary journal, upon railways of the Belgium.

SUPERVISOR Thomas J. Walsh, who complained the election contest in New York by running away with the returns of the Third Ward of Syracuse, has been convicted at Syracuse of contempt of court.

CONVENTIONS in Quebec say that as soon as the new ministry is organized Mr. Mercier, the former Premier, and some of his official associates will be arrested on warrants charging fraudulent the Provincial treasury.

INDIANS in South Dakota complain that white men are cutting timber allotted to them in severalty, and have appealed to the bureau at Washington for protection.

THE succession of the Marquis of Hartington to the Duke of Devonshire will take the Liberal Union leader out of the House of Commons and into the House of Lords.

A CONSULAR dispatch to the State Department says that a body of United States troops have been surrounded by a Mexican Revolutionary by a party of Mexican insurgents under Garza.

EASTERN.

HARRISBURG, Pa., was visited by a slight earthquake shock.

AN Indian snapper like hog was purchased at "Fish Market" in Saugus, Mass. The hook was about seven feet below the surface and it contained the skeleton of a man of enormous proportions, which crumbled to dust on exposure to the air. The body was buried in a sitting position, facing the east, beside the skeleton was found a pipe, a tomahawk blade and arrowhead, as well as a cylindrical-shaped stone. Near the place an underground passage was discovered.

THE north-bound Lehigh Valley Buffalo express struck a rock that had rolled from the mountain side at Bethlehem, near Nathington, Pa., and the engine was demolished. Michael Ickel, a fireman, was killed on the engine and badly scalded to death. The fireman was badly hurt and the passengers were shaken up, though none were injured. While the south-bound Buffalo express was coming around the curve from Lehigh Gap, near Fog Jack, Pa., it was thrown up, though none were injured. While the south-bound Buffalo express was coming around the curve from Lehigh Gap, near Fog Jack, Pa., it was thrown up, though none were injured. While the south-bound express was coming around the curve from Lehigh Gap, near Fog Jack, Pa., it was thrown up, though none were injured.

A SECOND alone one hundred men, some of them disguised, and all armed with rifles or revolvers, called on Sheriff Hendricks, at Lake Ude, Fla., and disarmed him. They took from him the keys to the county jail and set a guard over him. The mob then went to jail for the keys, and entering it took from their cells the two convicts accused of the murder of Young Carraway in the streets of Branford last week. The prisoners were bound to trees a short distance for the jail and their bodies riddled with bullets.

WASHINGTON.

AN order was issued from the Navy Department that the destination of the United States war ships sent out be given out.

THE tonnement commission has finally reached an agreement with the Pacific railroads that them 18,000,000 for their "units." It needs but the sanction of government and a proclamation to open these units to settlement.

IT is semi-officially announced in Washington that President Harrison and his cabinet have a sensation prepaying the duties on sugar, coffee, teas and molasses, and the reciprocity treaties with unsoulated reciprocity treaties with the West Indies.

THE President has sent to the Senate the nomination of Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia, to be Secretary of War, vice Redfield Proctor, resigned. The nomination caused no surprise among Republican Senators, who have been expecting it for some time. Mr. Elkins is generally considered without delay and, it is expected, will be the first member of the Way Department within a week.

FOREIGN.

THE Eight Hon. Edward Harold Browne, Bishop of Winchester, is dead.

A DISPATCH received in Brussels says that Mr. Stanley has arrived in Emin Pasha's camp, and is now on his way to Wadelai during the Chinese riots.

CAPT. Ken, the Chinese inventor, has completed arrangements for donating the proceeds of his invention to relief of his native country to the Texas Sunset Central.

NEWS from Mazatlan states that the Chinese riots, which are going on now the wrecked big Tabiti to port, on the Chinese Government, the riots have been strong enough. It will start again in the Tabiti is bottom, up. It is believed that when rushed a number of Indies will be found in the hold. Five ten persons on board, all of whom are probably lost.

THE report of the chartered British South African Company proved given the Portuguese a further amount of that vast area of country, which, with Manoomba, amounts to 30,000 square miles, or nearly twice the area of Portugal, and especially describes Mashonland as abounding with agricultural and mineral wealth and completely contradicts the report that Lord Randolph Churchill's letters to the Irish Times.

BY GENERAL

NEUMBURG, Brown & Co., of San Francisco, were sandal at sunsetting, and have paid $20,000 to settle the matter.

THE report received in the Bureau of American Republics show that the crops in the Argentine Republic are the largest ever known there.

A. A. Lane, of Mt. Gomon, Commander of the United Confederate Veterans, has issued a call for the movement to publish a history of the war showing exclusively the Confederate operations.

CAPT. Jonathan, of the steamer Fire, collisions, which arrived at Philadelphia from Blakeley, reports that a few days ago, while off Lessger's Bank, his vessel struck an immense whale, a school of which had been spouting around the steamer. The whale struck the keel directly beneath the engines. The water for a distance around the vessel was covered with blood. The vessel trembled like a leaf from the shock and for some time consternation prevailed among the passengers. For a time, but it was soon discovered that the steamer had sustained no damage from its collision with the sea monster.

H. H. DEN & Co's weekly review of trade says:

As the end of the year approaches general business stagnation and there is perhaps more than the usual disposition to defer purchases and to wait for the new year and the holidays. It is satisfactory to find that there are few failures and reports which show the inactivity need is not more general than it is. It is also satisfactory that the outlook for the spring season will be unusually large and favorable, the commercial conditions are so satisfactory, stage the foundation of an enormous business, only next year. Excepting the cotton, there is no surplus of any thing to be supplied. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past week are reported to have been parallel with 225 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 195.

MARKET REPORTS.

CHICAGO.

CATTLE—Common to Prime	$3.25	@	4.60
Hogs—Shipping Grades	4.70	@	4.90
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.87	@	.87
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.78	@	.79
CORN—No. 2	.37	@	.37
OATS—No. 2	.24	@	.24
RYE—No. 2	.47	@	.47
BUTTER—Choice Creamery	.22	@	.23
BUTTER—Choice Dairy	.17	@	.18
EGGS—Fresh	.25	@	.26
POTATOES—Per bushel	.40	@	.50
BEANS—Hand-picked	1.50	@	1.60

ST. LOUIS.

CATTLE—Shipping Steers	3.25	@	4.50
HOGS—Fair to Choice Heavy	4.60	@	4.80
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.87	@	.87
CORN—No. 2 Mixed	.37	@	.37
OATS—No. 2	.24	@	.24
RYE—No. 2	.47	@	.47
PORK—New Mess	12.00	@	12.50

CINCINNATI.

CATTLE—Common to Prime	3.50	@	4.50
HOGS—Common to Choice	4.60	@	4.80
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.89	@	.89
CORN—No. 2 Mixed	.38	@	.38
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.26	@	.26
RYE—No. 2	.48	@	.48

DETROIT.

CATTLE	3.00	@	4.15
HOGS	4.60	@	4.80
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.88	@	.88
WHEAT—No. 2 Mixed	.87	@	.87
CORN—No. 2 Mixed	.40	@	.40
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.27	@	.27

TOLEDO.

BEEF CATTLE	4.00	@	4.25
HOGS—Fair to Choice	4.60	@	4.80
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.89	@	.89
CORN—No. 2 Mixed	.38	@	.38
OATS—No. 2 Mixed	.26	@	.26
RYE—No. 2	.48	@	.48

BUFFALO.

BEEF CATTLE	4.00	@	4.50
HOGS—Fair to Choice	4.60	@	4.80
WHEAT—No. 1 Hard	.90	@	.90
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.89	@	.89
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.87	@	.90
CORN—No. 2	.40	@	.40
OATS—No. 2 White	.27	@	.27
RYE—No. 2	.50	@	.50

NEW YORK.

CATTLE—Common to Prime	3.60	@	4.60
HOGS—Good to Choice	4.70	@	4.90
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	.94	@	.94
WHEAT—No. 2 Spring	.90	@	.90
CORN—No. 2	.42	@	.42
OATS—No. 2	.29	@	.29
RYE—No. 2	.52	@	.52
BUTTER—Creamery	.22	@	.26
BUTTER—Western Dairy	.17	@	.18
EGGS—Western	.27	@	.28
POTATOES—Per bushel	.55	@	.60
BEANS—Marrow	1.70	@	1.80

REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE NOTABLE HAPPENINGS.

Read the History of 1889—The Briefly Told and Begloria with Remarkable Suggestiveness—Great Men Have Gone Great Deeds Have Done.

Tale of Twelve Months.

The year of 1889 has come and a retrospective glance may not be uninteresting. It begins in such the same a that of any year of the past decade, except that it was marked by the Indian American revolutions. Below will be found an compilation of the principal events.

Political.

JANUARY.

1—Nicaragua assumes dictatorship of Chili.
2—Gen. Boulanger left London.
3—Nicaragua defeating Santo Domingo (Gen.) elected Governor. Three (rep.) senators elected in Dakota, Montana and Washington. Gen. Boulanger's friends raised funds for the political campaign fund of the Irish. Six Supreme Court judges elected in Chili.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium. Gen. Boulanger's friends raised funds for the Irish "units." It needs but the sanction of government and a proclamation to open these units to settlement.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
31—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

FEBRUARY.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

MARCH.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
31—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

APRIL.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

MAY.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
31—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

JUNE.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

JULY.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
31—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

AUGUST.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
31—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

SEPTEMBER.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

OCTOBER.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
31—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

NOVEMBER.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

DECEMBER.

1—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
2—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
3—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
4—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
5—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
6—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
7—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
8—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
9—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
10—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
11—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
12—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
13—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
14—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
15—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
16—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
17—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
18—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
19—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
20—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
21—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
22—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
23—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
24—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
25—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
26—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
27—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
28—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
29—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
30—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.
31—Gen. Boulanger fled to Belgium.

ROYAL RANGER RALPH:

The Waif of the Western Prairies.

BY WELDON J. COBB.

CHAPTER XVI.

IN THE CAVE.

Ranger Ralph's Fate—Ho! the scout, was not little waiting at the event described since his mishap at the river was transpiring.

When the horses ran away and dashed the wagon over the cliff near Lone Gap Tom Tavern, the ranger at first gave himself up for lost.

The descent was a terrible one, and he clung to the sides of the wagon as it turned and fell, and finally struck the water with a crash.

Then, dazed and bruised, he was half conscious that the horses had become separated from the vehicle, and that the latter, lady clattered, was floating down the stream.

It had now become so dark, especially in the shelter of the cliffs that lined the river perpendicular, that he could not estimate his situation except that he was being borne rapidly along by the force of the accident by the stream's swift current.

"I'm rid of the outlaws, any way," he consoled himself, as he began to feel more strengthful. I wonder if young Ogle is safe yet, or, if not, what the villains will do with him on her way to the middle Plantation?

His prolonged wait was a prolonged one, for the wagon but was borne on in water and he was not driven from the dip in the stream.

Finally it began to think to swim as he was compelled to climb out on the seat, and thence to the top of the wagon to recover itself.

From here he regarded the fast-flying landscape it early and clung to his fright-ful as it was drawn along by the force of the current.

Then he was borne on and Ranger Ralph was flung head foremost into the river.

The wagon was splintered to pieces as it came to shoaling water, and he was substituted, and finaed away leaving the scene to wonderment in the sun.

He managed to reach the shore, and stood with dripping garments, and surveying his situation.

The scenery about him surrounded him, and there seemed no means of leaving having the narrow confined canyon or rage by the waterway up and down stream.

Suddenly a light appeared in the distance, and the scout stood gazing at it for some time, vainly endeavoring to make out the location and cause.

"It must be a lantern or camp-fire of some kind," he mused, and he at last resolved to endeavor to make his way toward it.

It looked dangerous and unfamiliar across this wide and rocky bank, and he hesitated to cross it.

Ranger Ralph was not a coward, but he was prudent in the extreme, and he believed that he would be able to successfully carry it into execution.

Rapidly he formulated his plan. It was simple, and yet, he thought, it was a perfect diagram, and the hardy old ranger, fully prepared to carry it into execution at a moment's notice, was soon at work on a thorough examination of the ground.

With a keen-sighted ranger he shaved off his long beard. Then he proceeded to paint his face and arrange his attire in accordance with his intended role.

When he had completed his toilet it is doubtful if his nearest friend would have recognized him.

He resembled a half-breed, and his stained skin, one eye shaded by a bandage, lingering pale and general shiftlessness of appearance gave him just the look he desired, to enable him to penetrate to the enemy's camp with his already successful.

When he had fully completed his mental plan of action, the scout cautiously clambered over the ledge of rocks and made his way toward the camp fire.

Several times opening in their fast and hooded the further progress as he was obliged to retrace his steps, but he was soon he recognized as "a rained a gain-sayer."

"Who are you, wan?" Who are you? How came you in this place? Speak quickly!

In accordance with his assumed character, the scout listed his arms over his breast and adopted a sullen, defiant expression of face.

"The Black Fox," he muttered. "I must see him."

"Who are you?"

"Half-breed."

"How did you come here?"

"Lost in the storm."

The sentinel gave the hitting plane of the white man and the guilty half-breed, and, as he turned, he demanding reply, admiratively cuached in the Indian language.

Vanquished.

The Black Fox groaned, "you, come from the Medicine?"

"Yes, I came the endgrant train. I bear a message. Where is the leader?"

"Why do you ask?"

"He will know when he remembers the signal of the Medicine."

It was evident from "wan's answer that he had made the fact of Ireland's doubledoriling with the Medoc chief.

He glanced steadily beyond the sentinel, and continued:

"Tell Tallula come alone!" he asked.

"Tallula is in the camp-fire there; I will speak with her."

Ranger Ralph felt he was cleverly in himself at the success of the disguise, and he was soon in a studied attitude of sullen silence until Tallula came.

"Come," said the latter; "the Crow will speak with you."

The event was led into the cave through several long passages, and finally into a spacious chamber, lighted with a portion of a wooden lint that was burning in a cavity in the rock.

Swagged and Dainon sat at a table in the center of the room, and a dozen or somber figures of Vanice's companions.

"Ho! the Crow!" the latter cried, "this is the half-breed!"

"Why?" replied the scount in a disguised tone of voice.

"Why should he wait?"

"His share of the plunder taken from the wagon lies in the cave. The fair lady has played him false, and he has come to take the share of the girl's ransom.

"Tell me, Crow, what has been the cause of the girl's ransom.

"Tell me, Crow, what has been the cause of the girl's ransom.

"Tell me, Crow, what has been the cause

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

MOBBED BY WOMEN.

THEY ATTACK A TRAIN OF MINERS GOING TO WORK.

Alarming Results from Ex-Gov. Hogg's Speech—Mob Fires Upon the Agent Ordered—Her Husband Begs Mercy—Sentiment—An Idiotic Mob Two Men.

This is Serious.

At Brazil, Ind., a mob of women, half crazed from hunger and want, made a furious attack on the "blackleg" train when it stopped at exchange mine No. 8. With clubs and screams of rage they pelted the train with stones, and when it came to a standstill they made a rush for the cars to which the "blacklegs" were thought to be, one of them should be caught alive. Fortunately for the women, the men had been armed and went down their assailants lark. Several of the women were severely bruised, while blows from the clubs the women carried throughout were seriously felt. There were several hand-to-hand conflicts, but the women were driven back from sheer fatigue and were easily surrounded. The fight was over in less than ten minutes but for hearty an hour the women interested around the mines, while a band of Indians at a gleed camp, sat swearing vengeance against the "blacklegs."

Serious Threat at Sea

The steamer Alaska of the Indian Line, which sailed from New York for Liverpool, has been burned. Lots of hands were saved. The Alaska is a red eighteen knot steamer of 4,000 tons displacement. The steamer also carried a valuable cargo. Her loss is the full value of which, amount to be above. She was valued at $1,000,000 and was built for the Cunard line for the Liverpool-Boston service. The steamer was rated as A1 and counted as one of the finest and most seaworthy ships of the time. In 1887 she was re-engined.

Pneumonia Of.

At New York, yesterday, deaths from grip were reported to the Health Department, which were less than of late. There are 143 pathogens on the sick list altogether, only one death and one epidemic in Brooklyn zone. Two deaths from the grip occurred in the Health Department, while there were thirty-six deaths from pneumonia. Sixty-five pneumonia cases are on the sick list.

Killed by a Falling Bank

BENJAMIN BRADLEY and Henry Hickson, foremen of the Dodge shaft of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, at Pittston, Pa., were killed by the shaft to a large bucket for the purpose of removing several large pieces of rock that fell from the side of the shaft. Fan of the massive rock came down without warning upon Gray, Killing Brady and totally injuring Hickson.

Settling the Dam Will Come

Negotiations are pending at Bath, Maine, for the settlement of the gubernatorial dam case. A proposition comes from the commission represented by Dorsey A. Gross, in the shape of an claim that the case will not come to trial again.

Sued by a Passenger Train

Mrs. Simeon Hicks, of New Windsor, Ohio, while crossing the Pennsylvania Railroad track was struck by the locomotive of a passenger train and instantly killed. She was 70 years of age.

Die Spare the Best Robber, Shots Guilty

Dr. Ryan, the Marion bank robber, who was shot and killed by Sheriff Hilton of the $2,200 stolen recovered, pleaded guilty and was given a four-years sentence in the penitentiary.

Soon as Well.

CAPTAIN E. D. Bryant, of Racine, committed suicide by shooting.

Thomas Lindell, of Valkerville, Mont., shot his days and nights.

George Mosier, of Aurora, fired a revolver at his wife and daughter, wounded her daughter and the latter's son.

Norman Fox shot his wife at South Omaha Neb., and then killed himself with a razor. He will die, but Mrs Fox will recover.

Cut Your Files, a Commissioner appointed by the Chinese Government to report on the World's Fair, has arrived in Chicago.

Joseph L. Gray, noted axe manufacturer of agricultural implements and owner of over 40 patents, died yesterday from A. I. C. Bed in Ra-ine.

THE Aurora Fire Insurance Company of Cincinnati has wound up its affairs, its risks being taken by the National Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn.

THE courts of Belgium have ventured to the government in forbidding the sale of La Lanterne, the French revolutionary journal, upon railways of the kingdom.

SEVERAL from Thomas J. Walsh, who campaigned the election contest in New York is running away with the returns of the Third Ward of Syracuse, has been convicted at Syracuse of contempt of court.

CONSERVATIVES in Quebec say that as soon as the new ministry is organized Mr. Mercier, the former Premier, and some of his official associates will be arrested on warrants charging frauds upon the Provincial treasury.

INDIANS in South Dakota complain that white men are cutting timber allotted to them in severalty, and have appealed to the bureau at Washington for protection.

THE succession of the Marquis of Hartington to the Duchy of Devonshire will take the Liberal Union leader out of the House of Commons to the House of Lords.

A COMMERCIAL dispatch to the State Department says that a body of United States troops have been ordered to the Fort Mackinlock by a party of Mexican insurgents under Garza.

EASTERN.

HARRISBURG, Pa., was visited by a slight earthquake shock.

AN Indian squaw has been sentenced to death in "Fifth Marion" in Saugus, Mass. The town was about seven feet below the surface, and it contained the skeleton of a man of enormous proportions, which crumbled to dust on exposure to the air. The body was buried in a silk handkerchief, in the tin-can. Beside the skeleton was found a pipe, a tomahawk and a spear, and an arrow, and a cylindrical-shaped stone. Near the grave an underground passage was discovered.

THE north bound Lehigh Valley flyer falls express crash a rock that had rolled from the mountain side at Rockport, near Slatington, Pa., and the engine was demolished. Michael Lafferty, who was riding on the engine, was crushed to death. The fireman was badly hurt and the passenger coaches slightly. Enough mine were killed. While the train hand Fuller escaped was running around the wreck that I a was dreadfully hurt on one was hurt.

Dr. Ryan, the Marion bank robber, who was shot and killed by Sheriff Hilton of the $2,200 stolen recovered, pleaded guilty and was given a four-years sentence in the penitentiary.

WESTERN.

ALBIE THOMPSON celebrated his sixty-second birthday at Lake City, Colorado, Jul. Mr Thompson is the oldest man in Delaware county, and among the oldest in the state. His first vote was for Lincoln, and he has been a Republican ever since.

WILLIAM H H DIRSING, 23 years old, was taken in Indian Kan. He had received a pistol-shot wound just above the heart. He and James Mahan had been drinking and had a quarrel. Mahan is in Dogtie Jones, between them, cutting in the trigger.

ADA WATKINS and Lizzie Thomas, compilers of the time works at Indianapolis, were married at noon and left for Indianapolis above one-mile. The bride had been employed in the office for twenty-nine days in which time she made a record of 1,000 names. The bridegroom is a young man of 21 years.

SEVERAL from Warrensburg, Mo., who campaigned the election contest in New York is running away with the returns of the Third Ward of Syracuse, has been convicted at Syracuse of contempt of court.

CONSERVATIVES in Quebec say that as soon as the new ministry is organized Mr. Mercier, the former Premier, and some of his official associates will be arrested on warrants charging frauds upon the Provincial treasury.

INDIANS in South Dakota complain that white men are cutting timber allotted to them in severalty, and have appealed to the bureau at Washington for protection.

THE succession of the Marquis of Hartington to the Duchy of Devonshire will take the Liberal Union leader out of the House of Commons to the House of Lords.

A COMMERCIAL dispatch to the State Department says that a body of United States troops have been ordered to the Fort Mackinlock by a party of Mexican insurgents under Garza.

EASTERN.

HARRISBURG, Pa., was visited by a slight earthquake shock.

AN Indian squaw has been sentenced to death in "Fifth Marion" in Saugus, Mass. The town was about seven feet below the surface, and it contained the skeleton of a man of enormous proportions, which crumbled to dust on exposure to the air. The body was buried in a silk handkerchief, in the tin-can. Beside the skeleton was found a pipe, a tomahawk and a spear, and an arrow, and a cylindrical-shaped stone. Near the

REVIEW OF THE YEAR.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE NOTABLE HAPPENINGS.

Read the History of 1891—Its Helpful Hint and Reproof—Its Remembrances and Suggestiveness—Great Men Have Come Great Deeds Done Time.

Tale of Twelve Months.

The end of 1891 has come and a retrospective glance may not be unfortunate for us. History is much the same as that of any year of the past decade, except that it was marked by the South American revolutions. Below will be found an enumeration of the principal events:

Political.

1—Nicaragua assumes its sovereignty at Chili.
12—Chili has independence a fait accompli.
—Nicaragua adopting liberal constitution.
—Nicaragua's congress elects Senor Sacasa provisional president.
—Nicaragua's congress elects Senor Sacasa provisional president.
—Nicaragua's congress elects Senor Sacasa provisional president

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1880.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.
CHARLEVOIX, JAN. 14, 1892.

Northern Michigan News.

W. H. Porter's flouring mill on deer creek, has began operations.

Hay sells at Mackinaw City for a cent and a quarter per pound.

The Record says that there is talk of a Keeley institute branch in Petoskey.

A steamer was seen from Cross Village last week Wednesday going up lake Michigan.

S. G. Isaman, of East Jordan, has been ordered to Petoskey to undergo an examination for a pension.

Upwards of 700,000 feet of logs are hauled over the Mackinaw division of the Michigan Central every day.

The "zero" paper Company intends to spend $500,000 in a plant at Niagara Falls, the purpose being to utilize the water power.

A square has been found near Kewadin frozen as stiff as a poker. She was caught in a recent storm and lost her way.

John D. Vandervort, aged 75 and his wife, aged 67, of Traverse City, died at Grand Rapids Saturday within an hour of each other, of la grippe.

Rowe & Butler are making rapid progress with the big rock cut. They are now filling the old river channel with the stone taken from the bluff.

State Game Warden Hampton, the other day rode for several hours on an Upper Peninsula train right in the next seat to a bunch of illegal venison and never knew it.

The Saturday night train last week going north from Traverse City on the C. & W. M. on account of snow drifts had to wait for the assistance of two other engines.

The examination of Mr. Hetrick last Thursday at Petoskey resulted in his being bound over to the circuit court which convened in Harbor Springs yesterday, Tuesday January 5th.

The railroad laborers who worked on the C. & W. M. extension in Antrim and Charlevoix counties have discovered that they have eaten diseased meat. They are very mad and will prosecute the sellers.

The railroad iron is creeping slowly toward us and is not but a few miles away. Next week it will be worth your while to listen occasionally for the whistle of the locomotive. You may be able to hear it.—Bellaire Bruge.

John Jones of Melrose twp., this county was elected President of the Farmers Mutual Fire Ins. Co., at Petoskey, Tuesday. John W. Smith and Frances X. Passeno, of Cheboygan were elected Directors, each for two years.

Frankfort Express: Frankfort people have waited so long for something to turn up it is not to be wondered at that they feel so jubilant over securing the prize from so many places that have been claiming that they had already secured the prize.

Kalkaska County has an idea that its future wealth will come from the culture of the beet—not the sugar pickled variety, but the sugar beet—the vegetables grow there as if indigenous to the soil and the matter of establishing a sugar manufactory is under consideration.

According to the Tribune, the farmers of Cheboygan county claim that it will be years before they can recover from the failure of the crops this season. It is said that many of them have disposed of teams and live stock in order to secure the necessaries of life for the winter.

It is estimated that the sink hole on the C. & W. M. extension at Intermediate Lake will manage to get away with about twenty-five acres of earth. The yawning cavity is still absorbing gravel in much the same manner as honed turkey disappears down the neck of a tramp.

One of the industries of Boyne Falls that is watched and wished well by every one is the handle factory of H. Cameron. Under many difficulties its development has been slow, but Mr. Cameron's pay roll now amounts to about $15 per day, and in two months of steady run which he has had he has paid out in the neighborhood of $2,000 for logs, labor and new machinery and this in the fall when business of the kind generally at a stand still.

The Frankfort & Southeastern rail road is making rapid headway in the construction of the road bed for the extension of their track to the lake shore. Work on the dock and warehouse at Frankfort is also progressing, and it is expected that everything will be in readiness in a few weeks at most, for landing and loading freight by his new water route. The route will be between there and Kewawna instead of Escanaba, as previously reported, and the outlook for a large business is more favorable that was first supposed It is estimated by Superintendent Ward that at least one hundred men will be required to handle the business at Frankfort. All freight cars on the Toledo & Ann Arbor railroad will be run direct to and from the dock in Frankfort, but the passenger trains will continue under the present arrangement. The significance of this new traffic route as learned from those who are on the inside, is a general consolidation to turn the Northwestern business away from the Vanderbilt and Gould systems, which have hitherto handled a large portion of it by way of Chicago, by bringing it direct, across the lake. The Osceola, a large freight steamer, arrived at Frankfort last Sunday. As soon as the railroad is in a condition to run trains to the dock she will commence to do business over the new route.

Margaret Boyd, the well known Indian woman of Harbor Springs, died last week. Margaret Boyd and her brother Andrew Jackson Blackbird were connected with the family that ruled over the Ottawas of northern Michigan. Margret was born 76 years ago, and was educated in a convent at St. Louis, Mo. She was married to Joseph Boyd, who died only a few years ago. She had a son who was sent to Paris to be educated for the priesthood. She claimed that he died under suspicious circumstances, which indicated that he was murdered. The old lady was quite a hand at romancing, and the thousands of tourists who have visited "Aunt Margaret" to buy the various articles of Indian handicraft which she always had for sale were treated to many an interesting recital of her experiences, flavored to suit the taste. Withall she was a kind-hearted old woman and had many friends. Her funeral was held at the Catholic church in Harbor Springs, of which she was a devoted member. Her sympathies were entirely with her people. In the autumn of 1876 she made a journey to Washington in the interest of a number of Indian families who had purchased a tract of government land in Cheboygan and has failed to receive their deed. She had an interview with President Grant, who listened to her with the utmost courtesy and assured her that everything should be made right. After their business talk was concluded the President took her on his arm, conducted her into another apartment and introduced her to his wife and several other ladies, stumbling a little over her long Indian name. When she went to Washington she took a basket of her work and, selling it along the way and paid expenses of her journey. She taught the first government school at Harbor Springs and continued to teach up to a few years ago. She lived in a comfortable house in the village where she received visitors with great courtesy.

From whatever you purchase we deduct 1 the amount. It's your gain at Washburn's.

Hastings from Hayes.

Thomas Murray is visiting friends in southern Michigan.

Mrs. Sarah Scroggie, of Charlevoix, spent last week with Mrs. Wm. Gray.

Henry Howe was struck on the head with the limb of a tree one day last week, and narrowly escaped serious injury.

We have plenty of the beautiful snow, and everybody and their relations are hauling logs.

We are unable to see why corn cannot be made as profitable a crop on the farm in this region as any other. We have known 100 bushels of ears to the acre to be raised frequently, and 60 to 75 bushels of ears is an ordinary average, with less cultivation than is usually given to it in corn regions.

Norwood Notes.

Percy Macey cut his leg above the knee with a double bitted axe Monday at Nash's lumber camp, which will lay him up for a while.

H. S. Babcock's brother and brother-in-law from Arbor Springs came Friday and visited over Sunday with him.

No services of any kind at the church last Sunday. Pastor Holliday laid up with the grippe. La grippe is no respector of persons.

An uncle of D. G. Bartlett, from Williamsburg, visited over Sunday with him, and he says that the C. & W. M. R. R. at his place is so crooked that if they run trains faster than a walk will surely pull them apart in the middle.

Arthur Meech is scaling logs for Barker at East Jordan.

It would be worth while if the people who think it a good thing for the goverment to go into business in competion with private enterprise to consider that the money order business done by the post-office department of the united States is done at a loss. All the express companies do a money order business, on term satisfactory to their patrons, and if it didn't pay them they wouldn't do it.

For the next two weeks, to reduce our stock, we will give customers a chance for big bargains in

Dress Goods, Cloaks, Linens and Fancy Dry Goods.

MASON & BERDAN.

The Democratic papers are answering the records of Republican state officers to find a parallel for Spec's case, a kind of "Your another" argument.

Matters with Chili are breeding more critical. The result of the investigation, just made known, makes the matter a serious one. Chili does not act conciliatory, and a message to Congress from the President is looked for.

Who was the youngest soldier in the war of the rebellion and who is the oldest living Free Mason, will always remain unsettled questions. Just now the youngest soldier is trying to prove up his claim.

There will be lively times in congress between the factions of the Democratic party under the respective leaderships of Crisp and Mills. The Democrats are not showing them selves to be good politicians just now. "A house divided against itself cannot stand."

Something new for Charlevoix. Fresh ocean fish, fresh cod steaks, fresh blue fish steaks, Holland herring, fresh haddock, Persian sardines, eels and lobsters, imported boneless and American sardines. Trice is not high. A few fine Catawba grapes left, at O. W. Smith's.

If the Arrapahoes and Cheyennes at Fort Reno are indulging in the ghost dance, what of it? Let them dance with the ghosts and jubilate over their Messiah if they confine their salatory and devotional exercises to their own reservations and do not molest those who have no interest in their performances. If the last "Messiah crave" has been properly handled there would have been no slaughter at wounded knee Creek, as no killing of sitting Bull.

The Mantonomah is completed and New York will still the small amount of alarm that was raised by the coast defense enthusiasts. The double turreted monitor is a formidable battle-ship and her range of usefulness extends along the entire Atlantic coast and up the Gulf of Mexico. San Francisco will soon have a good coast defense ship in the Monterey, and alarmists out there will also have to find some other amusement.

The annual meeting of the Masonic Home association was held at Grand Rapids on the 6th, and the following officers were elected. President William Dunham; vice president, H. D. Swartout; trustees, Jacob Barth, J. C. Berkey, William P. Innes, E. Crofton Fox, all of that city; W. S. Lawrence of Kalamazoo and Charles P. Bigelow of Big Rapids. The home is in a fairly prosperous condition, with two inmates and several applications on file. John D. Jennings and General Sprague, two veteran Mason, have died in the home as inmates. The association hopes to persuade the Grand lodge to take the home under its wings at the next meeting.

The Michigan Masonic Mutual Benefit association effected a re-organization at Grand Rapids on the 6th, on the graded assessment plan instead of taking risks at the same rate regardless of age or health. The new rates range from 75 cents per assessment for members twenty-one year old to $2.50 for forty years, and $5 admittance free. Old members of the association will be retained at such rates as would have been given them when they joined. The name of the association was changed to make its scope cover the state instead of having it a western Michigan affair. The membership will be confined to Masons entirely, none outside of the fraternity being accepted. Committee was appointed with General W. P. Innis as chairman, to suggest improvement and report at the regular annual meeting in April when officers will be elected.

The Ironton Branch.

The contract for the construction of the Ironton branch, has just been let to J. J. Granville, of Saginaw, who arrived here today. Work will be commenced at once.

Begin the Year Right

By getting the

SENTINEL

AND THE

Detroit Tribune

ONE YEAR FOR

$2.00.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned under the firm name of Stover & Wakefield, is dissolved by mutual consent. All persons indebted to said firm are hereby notified to make immediate payment to Charlevoix, Mich., Dec. 7, A. Stover, Howard Wakefield.

C. BARRY,
Manufacturer of
FINE CIGARS,
CHARLEVOIX.
The Trade of Northern Michigan Solicited.
Factory Over Postoffice.

TO THE FARMERS
OF
Northern Michigan.
THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN SEED CO
Have organized for the purpose of Importing, Growing and Exporting
SEED GRAINS, etc,
and operating in all kinds of
FARM SUPPLIES.
Many of our farmers realize the importance of a change in their seed grains, Vegetables etc. owing "to seed up" has deteriorated the quality, and reduced the yields of crops raised. We propose to furnish you with fresh seed such varieties as have been tested and proven
Profitable to Grow.
If you wish a change or supply of seeds, place your orders with us, and it shall have our earnest attention. Yours
The Northern Michigan Seed Company.
QUINCY THACKER, Manager.
(Office with Bank of Charlevoix.)

TO-DAY, AND EVERY DAY
In January.

Buy HARDWARE, PAINTS, OILS, TINWARE and HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS of
The Charlevoix Hardware Co.
TIN-SHOP. Sheet Iron and Metal work, Pump repairing and Gas-Pipe fitting. A good tinner always ready to take care of your work.
The smoothest, nicest Stovepipe and Elbows. A few NICE STOVES left. Bargains!
H. LEE JENNINGS.

As to Your Clothing

There is a new Clothing Store in town, and I am glad of it. I am aware that a good many were dissatisfied, thinking I had it all my own way, and was overcharging for my goods. I have always tried to please my customers, and to do so I have been adding to my stock until I have the largest stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods that I have ever had in my store. All I ask is for you to give me a show, and don't forget to look over my stock before buying, and if I don't give you prices and goods to down the world, I won't expect your trade.

Established 1882. G. W. MILLER'S. Still on Earth 1891.

A Happy and Prosperous
New Year to All

Secure both by buying drugs, stationery & all goods carried in our line, at

BEAMAN'S PHARMACY,
BARTHOLOMEW'S BLOCK.

Washburne

OUR ANNUAL ONE-FOURTH SALE
IS NOW GOING ON.
ONE DOLLAR'S WORTH OF GOODS FOR SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS.

A. T. Washburne

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOL XXIII. NO-29. CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY. JANUARY 21, 1892. WHOLE NO. 1,183.

CAN YOU SING?
OR
DO YOU PLAY?
Just for fun, we will give you your choice of 200 pieces of Sheet Music for 10 Cts.
Regular Price from 25 to 75 cts. All first class Music.
F. G. HINES & CO.,
The Popular Druggists.

ESTABLISHED IN 1866.
Law and Real Estate
OFFICE
OF
EDWARD H. GREEN,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
FARMS AND TIMBERED LANDS
And Houses and Village Lots for Sale.

C. B. & CO.

"The hand that rocks the cradle
Is the hand that rules the world."

NOTHING IS MORE TRUE THAN THIS. AND THERE IS ANOTHER THING THAT IS EQUALLY TRUE AND THAT IS THAT C. B. & CO. HAVE A SPLENDID STOCK OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE FOR THE GENERAL TRADE.
And they are the boys that will attend to your wants in good shape, as they desire you to call early and often. Call and see them in 25 cents given away with each pound of Coffee, at 25 cents.

EVER YOURS FOR THE LEADING GENERAL TRADE.

Carpenter, Bartholomew & Co.

CALKINS & WARNE
EXTEND THEIR
GREETING,
And announce that they have opened an elegant line of Holiday Goods for the parlor or the boudoir, Toilet Cases and Albums in artistic styles, and numberless Christmas Gifts that will please. For every $10 in trade a beautiful Album is given away.
Make Your Selections.

BERT MASON.
Sells

Evaporated Apricots,	15c.
Pitted Cherries,	15c.
3 lbs Good Raisins,	25c.
4 lbs Jelly,	25c.
4 lbs Apple Butter,	30c.
Walnuts, per pound,	16c.
Almonds,	20c.
Brazils, 10c, 3 lbs for	25c.

Holiday Goods now open. Corn Meal, Bran, Oats, Linseed Meal and Hay.
BERT MASON.

OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS OYSTERS and ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES ORANGES
From this date until Jan. 15th, 1892, I shall sell the finest Sadlle Rock and Cherry Stone Oysters at lower prices than ever before sold in Charlevoix. And in the matter of Oranges, I shall make a specialty of the finest Florida fruit, direct from the celebrated Hilyer Grove, on Indian River. Just call and let me prove all I say.
O. W. SMITH.

Real Estate, Insurance & Loans
We represent the Oldest and Best English and American Companies in the World.
Village Property, both Houses and Lots. Farms and Timbered Lands for sale.
We have a number of choice Lots for sale at low prices and upon easy terms.
TAXES PAID AND COLLECTIONS MADE.
H. S. HARSHA.

We have a few All-Wool
BLANKETS
Which we will close out at way-down prices.
Our Furniture is All Right.
S. M. SEE & SONS.

Charlevoix Sentinel.
The Oldest Paper North of Grand Traverse Bay, in this Peninsula.
PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY AT
WILLARD A. SMITH,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION
One year $1 50 | Six months 75c
Invariably in Advance.

Local News.

—Circuit court next week.

—Mrs. John Nicholls returns home tomorrow.

—A. B. Steele of Advance, was in town last night.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Wellman left for the East to day.

—The Hansen boys have leased the Stover shingle mill.

—Bowman & Beatty, the photographers, have dissolved.

—Major Green has been confined to his house the past week.

—Beaman's Pharmacy has a new advertisement this week.

—Mrs J. H. Mullen and child returned from Minnesota Monday.

—Great discount sale at Mason & Berdan's. Twenty per cent. off.

—Get your tickets early for the Charlevoix Minstrels, Friday night of next week.

—Hear the finest drummer in America at Lewis Grand Opera House tonight.

—Chas. E Hines, of Chicago, was here over Sunday, looking up the cedar business.

—Capt. Wm. Franklin will command the steamer City of Grand Rapids next season.

—The boys are catching herring through the ice in Round Lake, with hook and line.

—The sack prices given in the Hardenburg Milling Co's ad. means by the quarter-sack.

—R. Mullen, who has been visiting his son here for the past month, has returned to Newaygo.

—Henry Barth returned from Harbor springs this week, after having repaired the Friank's boiler.

—Help out the G. A. R. boys to night by attending the entertainment at Lewis Grand Opera House.

—Mason & Berdan this week advertise a 20 per cent. cut on all their goods. Read their advertisement.

—Major Hendershott, the drummer for the Rappahannock," at Lewis Grand Opera House tonight.

—The Charlevoix Mandolin Minstrels at Lewis' Grand Opera House Friday evening of next week. Don't miss it.

—In case of war with Chili, Mr Hatties may see some of the fun, as San Diego will be our base of operations.

—W. S. Johnson, of Milwaukee, was in town Monday, accompanied by Mr. Hale, President of the Parkes Lumber Co.

—Mrs M J. Steckman received a telegram last week from Collingwood, Ohio announcing the death of her mother and brother-in-law.

—The Epworth League give an oyster supper at Bartholomew's Hall, Wednesday evening, Jan. 27th. Supper from 6 to 8. Bill, 25 cents.

—The Knights of Pythias had installation of officers and a banquet at the Fountain City House last night. A large delegation was down from Petoskey.

—D. S. Way is to start a photo. graph gallery over the Emrey store. The entrance will be changed to go on from the front, and the rooms be thoroughly renovated.

—The finest entertainment of the winter will be given at Lewis Grand Opera House this evening. The "Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock" assisted by his son and the best local talent.

—The store in Bartholomew block recently occupied by D. Sherwood, has been leased and will be occupied by W. H. McCartney as a news stand The cigar factory will occupy the place vacated by the news stand.

—Jacob E. Chew will soon take up his residence in East Jordan, to manage the Hardenburg Milling Co's business there. Mr. Chew is a straight, forward man and good citizen, and will make friends wherever he is.

—The Coloma Herald takes a good deal of interest in the public school of its town, as it should, and in the last number has this to say: "Coloma School has been divided in to three department, and the last month of school has been the successfully month that this village ever enjoyed in the any school."

—The Charlevoix Minstrels will on Friday evening of next week, present an entertainment that will eclipse any previous effort. They have an orchestra, and special features that will combine to furnish a splendid entertainment.

—The Northern Michigan Seed Co have a new advertisement in this issue. They propose to furnish seeds here of as good quality as any, and at less expense to purchasers than they can be bought for from outside concerns.

—D. Sherwood has closed up his business here, and Sunday he and his wife left for Lenoy, Fla., where they expect to take up their residence. Mr. Sherwood was forced to make this change owing to rapidly failing health.

—W. A. Smith and wife and G. A Sherwood and wife leave Sunday morning for Detroit. Messrs. Smith and Sherwood will attend the annual session of the Grand Lodge F. & A. M., and be absent a week. Their wives will remain a month visiting relatives and friends.

—The regular weekly runaway occurred yesterday. Mrs. L. E Smith, her mother and little child, were thrown out into a snow-bank unharmed, the outfit taking the sidewalk on the east side of Bridge street, leaving the outer body demoralized near Major Green's.

—Early last week a large bear came out on the ice of Pine Lake from the Charlevoix Resort grounds and was quietly meandering toward Oyster bay, when the steam pile driver crew discovered him, and pacified the whistle. After raising up on his haunches and viewing the machine with astonishment for a time he returned to the shore and disappeared.

—A most distressing and fatal accident by fire occurred about six miles from Petoskey, on the Bear Lake road Monday. A Mr. Helmwood started out with his team for town and when some distance from home remembered that he had forgotten something and started back for it. He soon met his wife with it, and started on. In the absence of the wife, the house took fire with two little ones inside. Before the mother returned the house was in flames, and the youngest child was burned to death. The older child tried in vain to get out, and when rescued was so badly burned that it died yesterday.

Religious Items.

Methodist.

Pastor Hines will give the sixth lecture in his course Sunday evening. Theme, "The Resurrection."

Congregational.

Rev. W. H. Macpherson, pastor. Morning service, 10:30, subject, "The Deaconess." The second of a series. Evening at 7, "Follow me."

C. L. S. C.

The C. L. S. C. will be held at the home of Miss Kate Smith, Jan. 22. The program will be as follows: Devotional Song, No. 22. Roll call, answered by quotations from Carlisle Table-talk "nearest enemy." Vocal solo—Miss Kate Smith. Questions on Story of the Constitution and on Social Institutions in January number of Chautauquan. Game, geographical.

Rappahannock's Drummer Boy.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: A grand complete was given last week to Washington Gale, Lawrence, Mich The comrades were assisted by Comrade R. H. Hendershott, the original "Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock," and his son. Their martial music created the wildest enthusiasm in the great audience. The large rink was crowded with the best citizens to see and hear the hero of the Honice Greeley drum. The Michigan Department G. A. R. officers were present, and in addresses made stated that after a thorough investigation of the drummer boy controversy, they found that Robert Henry Hendershott was just as represented, the only genuine drummer boy of the Rappahannock. At the close three rousing cheers were given Comrade Hendershott and Son.

The Hon. Austin Blair, War Governor of Michigan, in a recent letter writes: "I have known R. H. Hendershott for over thirty years. I know by contemporaneous report of the circumstances of his crossing the Rappahannock river behind a pontoon boat at the battle of Fredericksburg in December, 1862. He is the original Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock."

50 cents worth only costs you 45 cents at Washburne's ¼ off sale.

The Chilian affairs look more and more war-like. Energetic preparations are being made for trouble.

Railroad Notes.

Eighty dump cars and about two miles of track are being transferred by teams from Brillum to the Wauseon and "Mackinaw & Alpena" sections, for work on extensions. Work will be pushed with energy throughout the winter, regardless of weather.

A crew of men are at work cutting timber on the Ironton branch, and the contractor will push the work as rapidly as possible The line is five miles long. It leaves the main line near the "window Holl place," (now owned by the Company) and runs across the road to the south of John Newman's place, close to J. J. Bennett's house, crossing one to water at the old Holland place.

The locomotive, "No. 105" broke one of her axles the occasional last week and has been running with one cylinder since. She will be taken to Morgan this week, and put into the shops for repairs. Work on the north end is practically done for the winter. A few week's work in the spring in surfacing will complete that section of the road.

Hastings from Hayes.

Peter Compo started for Oklahoma last Sunday.

Miss Maude Dram, of Petoskey, commenced teaching in District No. 5, on Monday.

Mrs. Henry Ward, who has been very sick with pneumonia, is better.

Wm. Gregory and son, of Cross Village, are visiting W. S. Baker.

Andrew Holmes is visiting in southern Michigan.

Walter Ford is visiting friends in Grand Rapids, and will probably remain there if he secures a position as engineer.

The friends of Mrs. Jos. Moore dropped in last Saturday and had an enjoyable time, it being the 60th anniversary of her birth.

Certainly hemlock will cure the grippe. One of our Hayesites was partly afflicted with it. He gathered an armful of hemlock boughs, made a strong tea of them, took it, wrapped himself in a horse blanket, sweat profusely, and knocked the grippe higher than Gilderoy's kite.

Henry Ostrom has purchased a new cutter, and rides out in style.

J. E. Chew and wife, of Charlevoix, were visiting at Forest Home on Sunday.

Mark Saunby has his timber squared for his new barn, the dimensions of which are 40x68.

The Patrons of Industry have an association at Burgess, with nearly fifty members.

Mrs Durance, of Charlevoix, has been visiting at Frank Kane's the past week.

Miss Nettie Banks has returned home from Charlevoix, and is attending the Burgess school.

Norwood Notes.

It has been quite Chili (chilly) of late.

The grippe still gets in its work around here.

Ezra Meech and wife spent Sunday in town.

Henry Superneaw and Arthur Meech were home from East Jordan over Sunday.

The L. A. S. met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. E. S. Harris.

Lista Richardson's husband, Mr. Walter Pease, died last Thursday at Lowell, Mass., of typhoid fever.

Miss E. C. Frost came home from Charlevoix Sunday, by special car, belonging to Geo. Burns, and had a black smoke-stack, painted sky-blue.

W. S. Johnson, with Mr. Hale, of South Arm, were in town Monday.

Miss Annie Wright has been visiting in Charlevoix this week.

25 cents for 19 cents at Washburn's ¼ off sale.

Mrs. Isabel Thompson, wife of Warren D. Thompson, of Marion, died at her home last Wednesday, of consumption. The funeral was from the Baptist church in this village on Friday afternoon, and was largely attended. Mrs Thompson was one of the early settlers of this county, and was universally respected.

No other statesman of great ability and worth and national reputation ever received worse treatment in his own state than John Sherman received in two or three periods of his career. He was defeated for the presidential nomination in this way, but happily the latest conspiracy, which aimed to retire him to private life, was not successful.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - - MICHIGAN

THE WAYING MAIDEN.

A phantom presence came to my side
Hushed to my hearth and seated my bride
We did not hear the dip of his light oar,
Yet know we he was with us evermore.

No rustling chaste on hem of the same
No light footfall, for she was all of flame
But present stands and whispers "O lover
See how I come at your call."

O dear betrothed, that march so alone,
Alone as I, with the Angel Death for the Groom!
Thy presence comes—we know it
When thy time comes.

May fellow, and support thy sudden flight
Through the Dark Valley—I will be there
This I know by the smile
Of the Angel Death.

We parted sorrowfully, thinking sadly
Though unwilling, that Death came on the Wedding day
Yet I know he has come—we shall
Be married soon—married in Heaven
Married in Heaven.

Arm in arm, and never more shall we part
Or separate, save for a little while
At morning, when I must go to work
But then I will return and find
My bride waiting for me.

My bride waiting for me in our home
Which we have prepared together
I go to prepare a place for you
Our home is ready, love
I go to make it ready for you
Be ready when I come
For I will come for you
At the time appointed
Be ready, love, I will come
Or I cannot be happy
Be ready, I will come
Be ready, love, I will come.

A SEA ROMANCE.

I

LIFE-LINE CAPTAIN Miss Hermione Harrington, prima donna from the Commedian Opera Company, accompanied by a lady friend and a tall man Fenelon Smith, had a very impressive and startling arrival at Fundy, embarked upon the great steamship "Cymbeline" for Liverpool.

Upon the same ship Henry Wyn, the up-at-last young minister, rated.

Everybody knew Miss Hermione. Her wonderful voice and her pretty face had made her famous in the Provinces.

Nobody knew Harry Wyn. He was only a tall young man, fresh from college, with his training for the ministry.

The very first sensation that Harry felt on arriving at the Fundy docking was one of much pain.

The upper deck was drenched with water. Big men with long-handled brooms sweeping over the rails and combing its little decks around the bulkhead.

Harry drew his matchless tight-fitted around him, and crouching down under a bulkhead, proceeded to light a cigarette. Match after match spurted and went out. At last, after a tremendous amount of effort, Harry's light was obtained, and Harry settled down for a comfortable smoke.

Harry longed to be tired. What was the use? With the instinct of an ass, he had gone to the Fundy docks and seated himself firmly against the deckhouse.

A bevy of well-groomed, cheerful women passed by. Harry knew that would have made a common tall swimmer in the deep water, and Harry had made fairly an ass himself.

Two men slipped on the wet deck, his matchless. He leaned down at them. Very pretty heads they were, small and white.

He studied the heredity of water-proofs—wondered if they, without doubt, it was a woman. More than this upset Harry. Two women had been laughing. A pair of dark eyes looked up at him, and the lids dropped demurely over them.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he heard the voice said. Harry knew that voice perfectly well. It was well rehearsed. Harry, I—I—I—

SHE SANG IN THE CAR.

Her Brother Appreciated the Sweetness of Her Old, Old Songs.

Only one person heard her, and little she care whether appreciative or not. The manager who sits with one of those grim, business faces that somehow seem large and cold, thinks all the life of it lay in the opera song she was first most noted for, when roses flamed before women's eyes, yet there was heard for his ear. The car was almost empty. He was one of those that enjoy happiness from the great city and the gay you row and again a glimpse of hedgerows, alisma with goldenrod, of old grey homes set about with thick leafing and glorious with stretches of unbroken sky.

The gray woman's eyes grew wet thirstily upon them. By and by she began to sing—not loud, indeed, lest by chance her breath, so low, in fact that the voice creaking drowned it—then fell away. The singing was sweet, with a note of freshness despite the years that must lie between the singer and her springtime. The listeners caught it only in snatches. Now it was:

"She's a rose in her bower,
And oh! she looked sweet,
As the little pink flower
That grows in the street."

The car groaned and bumped over a railway crossing and rolled over a jolty block. Still her lips moved faintly the song went on with the journey. A musk rose in the faded dress. Then in an interval of smooth rails you caught:

"The ferryman's tall and the ferryman's young,
And he's a swift young in his turn of his tongue,
And he's fresh as a pippin and brown as a berry,
And nobody tell now you to Twickenham town."

Who knows but she, too, has crossed the "Twickenham ferry?" Half way the ballad her lips trembled into silence. A minute later there came from them:

"In the other side of Jordan,
In the fragrant fields of Eden
Where the tree of life is blooming
There is one—"

The singing stopped suddenly—there was a catch in the singer's throat. The thought of the "real at home" overcame her. Maybe it was long—so long—since home was more to her than a name. She had the look of sufferance that you see in those whose only abiding place is under a hired roof.

She looked out of the window steadily for at least ten blocks. Then, unconsciously to herself, she began again, while we crept past a high stone wall all affixed with posters.

Oh, could you see them through torrent and risk,
Such spectacles right gallant its rivaled race take Toward have gleaming twenty's car to have based reckless risks
To the banner's lure—the banner's born the banner's hers—the banner—

The car stopped. A dozen passengers crowded in, and the singer sang no more. But one fellow traveler was haunted all day by her pale, clear face and the low sweetness of her old, soft songs.

The Sentiment of the Army.

The late Emperor William objected to the Bazaar Reichsbrodel, and it was only by dint of the present excellent topic his venerable majesty by discussion than Reichsbrodel and his daughter were very reluctantly invited to meet balls. Once his guests the old monarch determined that the banker and Miss Reichsbrodel should be hospitably treated, and finding that the young lady lacked partners he was left to sit out all the dances he himself in person ordered every young officer there to ask her to be his partner to invite her to dance. Much to their astonishment the gilded youths of the Guard were forced to obey. They did so after their own fashion, however; each marching up to the lady one after another, they exclaimed in far from engaging or affable tones: "Most gracious Venus, by the commands of his imperial and royal majesty I invite you to dance with me." The poor girl's mortification may be more easily imagined than described.—Argonaut.

Something Interesting.

A New Yorker, who is a member of the American Society of Psychical Research, tells a curious story that would interest his society. While in Mexico recently he dreamed that in dressing he pulled dropped from his pocket, fell into downward to the floor, turned so that it turned against his ankle and exploded, shattering his leg. The dream was so vivid that he awoke with a start and recalled the whole scene. He was soon asleep again, however, and by morning he had nearly forgotten his vision. When he came to dress he found himself standing as in his dream, and as he drew on his trousers his revolver fell from the hip pocket, struck butt downward upon the tiled floor, struck a sunken tile and, turning, leaned against his ankle with the muzzle pointing directly at his leg. He watched with a sort of fascination for the explosion, but it did not come and he then unwounded to tell the tale.

Without a country.

James P. Peck, of Philadelphia, seems to be a man without a country. He lives on a little triangular bit of land that, through some oversight, has not been included in any of the election divisions of the city, and of course, therefore he has no voting status. "The only ground known in this country," says the Philadelphia Record, "was that of a whole township in the state of Ohio, which was entirely left out in an apportionment of election districts, and the citizens who claimed the right to vote had no redress whatever and were unable to exercise the right of suffrage until they appealed to the courts."

Fortunate Purchase.

The Dublin national gallery has been curiously fortunate in making its recent purchases, having acquired a portrait by Sir Peter Lely for 30 shillings, a portrait of Sir Richard Steele by Kneller for £20 and a group of saints by Paul Veronese for £50.

He Would Remember Him.

Waiter—Guests usually remember the waiter here, sir.

Uncle Si—Do they? Wa'al, I'll take a good look at ye. You don't get no mark, but I guess I'll know ye again when I see ye.—New York Press.

J. Z. LINTON'S

Christmas is close at hand; New Year will soon follow. Know if you would Santa Claus, and him to

LINTON'S.

He has the very finest assortment of Candy and Nuts in Charlevoix.

GIVE HIM A CALL

He will try to please you all, both in goods and price. Oysters fresh. Have on hand, in the bulk or in the can.

J. Z. LINTON.

Guaranteed Cure.

We mention one advertised drug-gist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds—upon this condition. If you are afflicted with a Cough, Cold or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have money refunded. We could not make this offer did we not know that Dr. King's New Discovery could be relied on. It never disappoints. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co's drugstore.

Happy Hoosiers.

V. S. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that tired feeling arising from Kidney and Liver trouble." John Leslie, stockman and farmer, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies." He found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c. a bottle at F. G. Hines & Co's.

English Specific Lessment removes all hard, soft or calloused lumps and blemishes from horses, blood spavins, curbs, splints, sweeney, ring-bone, stifles, spohin, all swollen throats, coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful blemish cure ever known. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. Sw.ly

Rich on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Wolfford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by F. G. Hines, druggist, Charlevoix. 26-6

FOR SALE.

Forty acres of pure cedar land, S. E. quarter of S. E. quarter of section 31, township of Burton, in the Edward Ware Estate.

W. H. HUNT, CARL A. LUBBER ON,
Executors of the Estate of Edward Ware.
Chicago, Ill.

First publication Jan 20th.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Charles Dupont and Delina Dupont, his wife, to Ferdinand Dupont, dated the 8th day of April, 1891, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 15th day of April, 1891, in Liber 15 of Mortgages, on page 1 of said records, which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the principal sum of Eleven Hundred Dollars and interest having become due and payable, and no action or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Twenty Five Dollars and interest on said mortgage, and no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover any part thereof, and no action or proceeding has been instituted to foreclose said mortgage, that is, to deny all the rights of the mortgagee under said mortgage, and to cut off the equity of redemption of the said mortgagors in said mortgaged premises, and the premises mentioned in said mortgage, and described in said mortgage, will be sold at public sale, at the front door of the court house in the village of Boyne City, in said County of Charlevoix, on the 16th day of April, 1892, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, to satisfy the said mortgage, with the interest and costs and the attorney fee allowed by law, which amount is now unpaid, to the highest bidder, to pay the following piece of parcel of land situate in said County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, and which is described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The south half of the south quarter of section one, of the only fractional township one north, range one west, and all the land lying between said south and the shoreline of Lake Michigan, in said township and range, and containing forty acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Dated, Boyne City, Jan. 12th, A. D. 1892.

THE MICHIGAN MORTGAGE COMPANY LIMITED, Mortgagee.
SUMNER COLLINS, Attorney for Mortgagee.

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Charles Dupont and Delina Dupont, his wife, to Ferdinand Dupont, dated the 8th day of April, 1891, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 15th day of April, 1891, in Liber 15 of Mortgages, on page 1 of said records, which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the principal sum of Eleven Hundred Dollars and interest having become due and payable, and no action or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Twenty Five Dollars and interest on said mortgage, and no action or proceeding has been instituted to foreclose said mortgage, that is, to deny all the rights of the mortgagee under said mortgage, and to cut off the equity of redemption of the said mortgagors in said mortgaged premises, and the premises mentioned in said mortgage, and described in said mortgage, will be sold at public sale, at the front door of the court house in the village of Boyne City, in said County of Charlevoix, on the 16th day of April, 1892, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, to satisfy the said mortgage, with the interest and costs and the attorney fee allowed by law, which amount is now unpaid, to the highest bidder, to pay the following piece of parcel of land situate in said County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, and which is described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The south half of the south quarter of section one, of the only fractional township one north, range one west, and all the land lying between said south and the shoreline of Lake Michigan, in said township and range, and containing forty acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Dated, Boyne City, Jan. 12th, A. D. 1892.

THE MICHIGAN MORTGAGE COMPANY LIMITED, Mortgagee.
SUMNER COLLINS, Attorney for Mortgagee.

Farming Lands

500,000 ACRES

Of Splendid

MICHIGAN LANDS

For Sale By The

G. R. & I. R. R.

30,000 Acres in Charlevoix Co.

These lands are flattered with lands and maple and other wood and are accessible to local markets

By Water and Rail

And are in a state unequalled for health, with abundant and contiguous to the great manufacturing cities of Michigan.

The Grand "Lake and Lumber Railroad" runs through the center of the tract, and the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway touches the tract at its southern extremity.

Not a Wilderness by any Means.

It contains a population of 20,000 souls and is equally contiguous to the lake shore and good farm lands.

Over 100,000 acres of the lands of this grant have been sold.

Send for Pamphlet or Address

W. D. HUGHART, Commissioner,

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich

TITLE PERFECT.

Washburn & Ackert,

FOUNDRYMEN,

MACHINISTS,

Ind Manufacturers of The

Charlevoix Plow.

GOOD SEEDS IN Ground

Yield Good Crops.

THE NORTHERN MICHIGAN SEED CO

Will supply the seeds this Season with prompt shipments. Give us your orders early for the seeds and best varieties of Home, Garden, Farm Stock, Field and Garden Seeds in bulk or packages, and Bulbs.

Double the Quantity, Improve the Quality and INCREASE THE PRICE of your Crops.

FARM AND FORTUNE

BY PLANTING

Apple, Pear, Plum, Cherry and Ornamental Trees, and Small Fruits

FRESH AND DIRECT

from the Celebrated

Fonthill Nursery

of Canada, with a

HOME WARRANT.

Manufacturers' Agents for all kinds of Farm Machinery---

Plows, Harrows, etc.,

THE BEST IN MARKET.

The Northern Michigan Seed Company.

QUINCY THACKER, Manager.

Office with Bank of Charlevoix.

TWO FARMS

AT A BARGAIN.

(1) The "SLACKINEY FARM," in Banks Township. Eighty acres, thirty acres under cultivation, forty acres good timber, good grass, with stone cellar, fine ir. it stream. Will sell cheap, and on easy terms.

(2) The "WHITMAN FARM," in Hayes Township. Exceptionally fine location, near town, and one of the best farms in the Pine Lake region. Contains 160 acres. Will sell all or part. Extra good buildings, some orchard, good fences. Title perfect.

Also other Farms and residence property in Charlevoix and vicinity.

MOORE & NETTLETON,

Law and Abstract Office.

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

Look at These Prices

AT THE

Charlevoix Roller Mills.

Iron Duke Flour, per sack,	$1.50; per bbl	$6.00.
White Rose,	1.25;	5.00.
Silver Spray,	1.00;	4.00.
Bolted Meal, per hundred,		2.00.
Coarse Meal,		1.45.
No. 1 Feed, corn and oats,		1.45.
No 2 Feed,		1.30.
Bran, per hundred,		1.00.
Middlings,		1.25.
Oats, per bushel,		48.
Corn,		70.

Rifenburg Milling Co., Charlevoix.

L. A. WEST, Supt.

The Electric Age SHOE.

Forty-Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Seventy - Three Pairs Sold in FIFTY FIVE DAYS.

THE MARVEL of all Foot Covering, THEY COST NO MORE THAN OTHER SHOES. They are made in the latest styles, of the best material and are the best wearing Shoes in America for the money.

Wear the Electric Shoe and be Healthy.

Fox & Miller.

JAMES A. GELLICK,

Dealer in

Choice Wines, Fine Liquors EXCELLENT CIGARS.

I call Special Attention to our Old Kentucky Sour Mash WHISKIES.

I also keep continually on draught

Milwaukee Export and Lager Beer and Budweiser St. Louis EXPORT.

THE SENTINEL

AND THE

Detroit Tribune

For $2.00!

The DETROIT WEEKLY TRIBUNE is the Leading Family Paper of Michigan. Don't let the opportunity slip.

TO REDUCE

A large stock of Blankets, Robes and Cutters we will sell Goat Robes, Plush-lined, for

$3.50 AND UP.

Full clipped Knee Plush Trimmed CUTTERS for $20.00

And up. Quality is guaranteed. To appreciate these prices, call and look goods over.

Baker & Son.

Charlevoix.

Nicholls, Lewis & Bates,

Saw and Planing Mill,

Dealers in

HARDWOOD, HEMLOCK And PINE LUMBER.

Shingles, Lath, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Build-Paper, Etc., Etc.

CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN.

Great Clearing Sale!

AT

Good Luck Clothing Store.

Commencing at Once,

And continuing until the balance of our winter stock is sold.

CLOTHING, GENTS' FURNISHINGS, GLOVES, MITTS, MACKINAWS, LEATHER COATS, LUMBERMEN'S SOCKS, ETC.

All must go at the same uniform reduction. Now, when goods you desire are offered at a sacrifice, to procrastinate is to throw money away.

WHY HESITATE?

Don't make a mistake and go elsewhere looking for bargains, but come at once to headquarters. Every overcoat in the house has to go if prices will move them.

This is a chance of a lifetime to buy goods almost at your own price.

J. H. MULLEN, Prop.

Mrs. H. A. Carr,

Fashionable Millinery.

BRIDGE STREET, CHARLEVOIX.

NICE LINE OF TRIMMED HATS.

Also agent for the celebrated Madam Foy Corsets including the

MADAM DAVIS ADJUSTABLE WAIST

Also Agent for the

Holliday Trade

now on hand.

Call and look and be convinced.

MRS. H. A. CARR.

WHY DOES THIS BOY RUN?

He is Late for School. The clock stopped and he didn't have a watch. He has been late before and will probably be suspended, and may grow up in ignorance the rest of his life. This might have been avoided if his parents had purchased one of Bellinger's clocks. He will give you your choice for $4.00. He is also selling a first class watch a perfect time-keeper, in nickel-silver cases for $8.00. Just receiving an elegant new stock of JEWELRY and SILVERWARE.

C. R. Bellinger.

OUR NEW

FALL & WINTER

SAMPLES

Have just arrived, and they are lemarkable

The Prices are the Lowest ever offered here.

Good Business Suits at from $24 to $30.

JOHN ZWECKL,

Merchant Tailor.

MICHAEL KEHOE,

GROCER.

State Street, Near Baptist Church.

A full line of standard and fresh

GROCERIES

Always in Stock.

Country people especially invited to call.

MICHAEL KEHOE.

ROBERT MILLER,

Dealer in

Rifenburg Milling Co.'s

FLOUR, FEED, BRAN ETC.

IRONTON, MICHIGAN.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS,

Proprietor of

NORTH SIDE LIVERY BARN

Good Teams at lowest rates.

CHARLEVOIX, - MICHIGAN

DR. G. W. CROUTER,

Dental Parlors

At Central Telephone Office.

OFFICE HOURS.—8 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 5.

GEORGE BURN'S

LIVERY STABLE

CHARLEVOIX.

The Best Single and Double Rigs always on hand.

Horses furnished if desired. Rates Low.

GEO. BURNS, Charlevoix.

Charlevoix Sentinel.

(Entered at the Post Office at Charlevoix, Mich., as Second Class Matter.)

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY AFTERNOON AT CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN.

OFFICE—SENTINEL BUILDING, SECOND STREET.

TERMS—$1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE; $1.50 IF NOT PAID IN ADVANCE.

ADVERTISING RATES MADE KNOWN ON APPLICATION.

JOB PRINTING A SPECIALTY.

ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS TO THE SENTINEL, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

BUSINESS CARDS.

ATTORNEYS

EDWARD D. GREEN, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Boyne City, Michigan. Will practice in all the courts.

DENIS M. MAYNE, Attorney at Law, Charlevoix, Mich.

MOORE & NETTLETON, Law and Abstract Office, Charlevoix County, Michigan. Abstracts of Title to Lands in Charlevoix County furnished. Office—Second Street, Charlevoix, Mich.

R. W. KAUFMAN, Attorney at Law, Insurance and Collections. Office over Bank Of Charlevoix.

SOCIETIES.

L. O. O. F.—Iron Dome Lodge No. 297, meets every Saturday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall. Visiting brothers cordially invited to attend. J. W. MCCLELLAN, Secretary.

G. A. R.—Hunter Post No. 124, meets every Saturday evening on or before the full moon at Odd Fellows' Hall. Visiting comrades cordially invited to attend. E. M. SHEPARD, Adjt.

EASTERN STAR—CHAPTER No. 52, O. E. S., meets at Masonic Hall every Wednesday first and second nights of each month. Visiting sisters and brothers cordially invited to attend. MRS. MARY E. SHEPARD, Secretary.

EMMET CHAPTER, No 116, R. A. M., meets at Masonic Hall on the first Monday of each month. Visiting companions cordially invited to attend. J. W. MCCLELLAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.—Forest Lodge No 207, meets every Saturday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall. Visiting brothers cordially invited to attend. E. M. SHEPARD, Secretary.

MAONIC.—Charlevoix Lodge No 294, F. & A. M. Meeting on or before full moon. Hall over Bank. Visiting brothers cordially invited to attend. E. M. SHEPARD, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.—Charlevoix Encampment No. 94. Meets every Monday evening. Visiting brothers cordially invited to attend. E. M. SHEPARD, Scribe.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

L. LEWIS, M. D., Physician and Surgeon, office over Lewis Block, Charlevoix, Mich.

SURVEYORS.

J. E. and J. S. DEAN, Surveyors and Engineers. Office with Edward D. Green, Charlevoix, Mich.

The "New Charlevoix."

M. H. ALLEN, Prop.

(Not long ago known as "PARKER HOUSE.")

Beautifully located on the North Lawn, overlooking Lake Michigan. Rates, $1 per day.

Large Sample Rooms. Every Convenience. Newly furnished and thoroughly renovated throughout.

Grand Palace Hotel.

81 to 103 N. Clark St., CHICAGO.

See boat sailing from the Grand Union Chicago Cars pass the door.

Rooms 50c. per day and upwards. Improvements newly furnished. Its Americans and European plans. Reduced rates week, month. Turkish Bath in connection. Rooms Reservation for Conventions, Balls and Dinners. Cable Cars, Elevator. Table d'Hote service. Special rates to Commercial travelers.

CHICAGO

VIA THE

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

THE FAVORITE

Shortest and best line to Chicago and all points south and southwest.

Trains leave as follows:

Leave Ludington 7:00 a. m., 2:00 p. m., 9:00 p. m.
Leave Grand Rapids 12:05 p. m., 5:00 p. m., 12:00 m.
Leave Muskegon 10:00 a. m., 3:00 p. m., 7:00 p. m.
Leave Newaygo 11:00 a. m., 4:00 p. m., 8:00 p. m.

Every day. Other week days only.

Through cars to and from Chicago.

Lifting line Wagner parlor cars (Chicago—Ludington or Muskegon) leave Grand Rapids daily.

Trains leave Chicago at 9:00 a. m., 5:30 p. m. and 11:45 p. m. Arriving at Grand Rapids 2:40 p. m., 9:15 p. m. and 6:05 a. m. Stopping at Traverse City, Cadillac and intermediate points.

Through Sleeping Cars between Chicago and Traverse City.

Ask your nearest ticket agent for Chicago & West Michigan Railway tickets.

Write for Time Table, Rates, Etc.

J. H. MCCONNELL, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Grand Rapids, Mich.

O. C. HOLLISTER,

ST. JOHNS, MICH.

Has Good Farms to Sell on Easy Terms through Clinton, Gratiot, Montcalm, Oceola, Wexford, and Other Counties

(Each publication Noted Jan. 29, 1892.)

MORTGAGE SALE.

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Charles Dupont and Delina Dupont, his wife, to Ferdinand Dupont, dated the 8th day of April, 1891, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix in the State of Michigan, on the 15th day of April, 1891, in Liber 15 of Mortgages, on page 1 of said records, which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the principal sum of Eleven Hundred Dollars and interest having become due and payable, and no action or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, and there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Twenty Five Dollars and interest on said mortgage, and no action or proceeding has been instituted to foreclose said mortgage, that is, to deny all the rights of the mortgagee under said mortgage, and to cut off the equity of redemption of the said mortgagors in said mortgaged premises, and the premises mentioned in said mortgage, and described in said mortgage, will be sold at public sale, at the front door of the court house in the village of Boyne City, in said County of Charlevoix, on the 16th day of April, 1892, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, to satisfy the said mortgage, with the interest and costs and the attorney fee allowed by law, which amount is now unpaid, to the highest bidder, to pay the following piece of parcel of land situate in said County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, and which is described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The south half of the south quarter of section one, of the only fractional township one north, range one west, and all the land lying between said south and the shoreline of Lake Michigan, in said township and range, and containing forty acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof.

Dated, Boyne City, Jan. 12th, A. D. 1892.

THE MICHIGAN MORTGAGE COMPANY LIMITED, Mortgagee.
SUMNER COLLINS, Attorney for Mortgagee.

THE CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Publisher.
CHARLEVOIX, - - MICHIGAN

WITHOUT A RULER.

EGYPT MOURNS THE DEATH OF THE KHEDIVE.

Disinclined in the Kaiser War—A New York Undertaker Who Should Be Whipped—Two Texas Salmon Setting Scarce—Political.

At Washington.

On the 7th only eight or more Nevada was represented by its two Senators when the upper house convened. Senator David B. Hill was sworn in. The introduction of petitions, bills and resolutions occupied the whole time. Bills were introduced by Mr. Mills, to provide for the free coinage for the benefit of sugar planters. Comparatively few members responded to the roll call prior to the House. After the approval of the journal certificates of the resignation of various Democrats, representing a large number of votes, was introduced a bill to admit Oklahoma as an all the States, before 1891.

Death of the Khedive.

Tue Khedive of Egypt is dead. He had been suffering from the influenza which developed into congestion of the lungs. This was complicated with a cardiac affection and he died in a few hours. The Khedive Tewfik was the eldest son of the administration of his government was generally regarded both in his own country and among foreign callings. Notwithstanding the law which allowed him to marry he had but one. While the country is nominally a dependency of the Sublime Porte, the Khedive has been complete ly under British control.

A Dead Man's Will Stolen.

At Bridgeport, Ct., the Mosquin Rubber Company was charged at the bar as a nuisance for the funeral of William Franklin, a colored man who died in New York, but claimed Bridgeport as his home. The deceased had established to the company that he was a member of the Knights of Pythias. The New York undertaker who claimed the body, on the ground that he was entitled to it, was taken from the hearse undertaker's room, and buried in the cemetery, postponed.

To Secure Cuban Cigars.

At a meeting of the Hawaii railroad companies in San Francisco it was decided that telegraph lines and a cable for four companies should be operated this year, and that the Japan cable should extend one-half of the pack of 1891. The new organization is to be called the Karlok Salmon Canneries Protective Association.

Signs of the Times.

There are rumors of a revolution in Guatemala.

Gases has resumed activity on the Rio Grande.

A Chicago passed over Fitzsimmons, Ca., killing four persons and wrecking many houses.

The grip is particular about society and of Rudolph and Jackson prefer to mix into the combination of Atropa.

Nebraska's Democratic State convention has defined a bill to establish a branch of the United States mint at Omaha.

The Shah of Persia has, in response to popular demand, rescinded all concessions to foreign companies.

The Eye Flour Millers' Association of New York has fixed the price of rye flour at from $3.25 to $3.45 per barrel.

Cuba Tribune, of the Cuban town of Jamesville, Wis., blew out his brains because his sweetheart married another.

Henry Irving's second son, Lawrence, who recently began a stage career, accidentally shot himself in the thigh, at Belfast.

In a boxing fight between Gilliard and Fifteen of the desperadoes who killed Sheriff Paul, near Mobile, Ala., four of the latter were killed.

Twenty-one will be represented at Washington this winter, and twenty-one are appropriation for the deepening of the channel of the Ohio river.

Miss Harvey, of Sagaraw, Iowa, started for the Sandwich Islands a few days. She has not reached her destination, and nothing has been heard from her.

The National Review Trust has been sued for $50,000 damages by Mr. Hall, a harrow manufacturer of Kalamazoo, on allegation that the company had "gone out of business."

The Commander's suit against the schooner Bulmer and Mundie charged with violating the neutrality laws, by transporting arms to the Chilian insurgents, Hada, has not yet come to trial.

Tin plate dealers on the part of Lord Salisbury have declared the settlement of the Anglo-American Sir Lyman Powell, one of the English commissioners, says that the Senate will not ratify the concessions.

Chevalier Chasse has prepared a proclamation against the importation into Indian Territory of whisky and cases from Texas and Indian Territory except as a pass inspection by merchandise setting under State authority.

Jesse Pomeroy is better well pleased that suicide instead of sinus have been sent to his aid in Summer County, Kan. He said he would rather have fifty mounted deputy sheriffs than all the militia companies in Kansas.

There is a story current in Bridgeport, Conn., that, to prevent the work of ghosts, a dummy was substituted for the real body at the funeral of T. F. Barnum, and that the remains were hidden away until all danger of grave-robbery was past.

A Brussels reported near Orville, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnes, an aged couple, were found at their home dead in bed, with their throats cut. Both had been killed by a blow over the head from a coupling pin.

The tie the Prince of Wales, pulled Trinity Craft scandals has been revealed by the printing for private circulation of a statement by two Billed ladies who sworn of the famous Cavendish Club, which Miss Wilson and her daughter, Mrs. Lysette Green, are handled without gloves.

EASTERN.

George T. McConnell, treasurer of the defunct Lucas Bank, of Toledo, O., then and real estate agent at Pittsburg, was arrested on a charge of embezzlement. The shortage is said to be $10,000.

A New York morning paper and reporters in Albany to pull the Legislature, as to its choice of Presidential candidates. The result is given as follows: David B. Hill, 93; James G. Blaine, 50; non-committal (Democratic), 31; non-committal (Republican), 17; Benjamin Harrison, 6; Grover Cleveland, 4; Chauncey M. Depew, 2; R. E. Flower, 1; absent, 2; total, 199.

The annual convention of the Colored Catholic Congress of the United States opened at Philadelphia with a large attendance of delegates. The convention will be called upon to consider various important plans looking to the strengthening of the Catholic Church among the colored people of the country.

The following divorce is contained in a recent letter sent to the sister of a society of dangerous cranks to Jay Gould: "I know how to get near you, and if you don't send me a few thousand dollars I will certainly blow up your hut full of dynamite under your carriage the next time you take a drive. The dynamite will explode without fail. Do not send marked money. I am not to be worried the millionaire and the poor man of his family more than one time." Alarming epidemic which form the largest part of the mail mail.

The great barrel workers of the Middle and Ohio Valleys, numbering 15,000, turned down, and the loss is estimated at from $500,000 upward. They are started in the bending room of the barrel works. The building was filled with barrels, both completed and unfinished, some being taken from piles of sawed of them. There were also great piles of wood ready to be sawed into barrel lots. It is estimated that there are between one and two million barrel hoods in the building and from five to eleven million staves.

WESTERN.

In St. Paul, at 11:45 the other night, the interior of the Capitol presented all the appearance of a fire in the main assembly hall. At 12:30 it presented all the appearance of a well attended prayer-meeting. The transformation was complete as if by magic. The electric motors had been made with the greatest expedition by the Minnesota Electric Association to hold service in the Capitol. The change was made so quietly and orderly, and at the close of the service so quietly, that it was a marvel.

Tue Joseph Jefferson Comedy Company, which was to engagement at Meyhicker's Theatre, in Cincinnati, Wednesday, the Comedy Company members some of the leading members of the Boston Museum, as Mrs. John Drew, Louis James, Viola Allen, Ada Rehan, Annie Russell, Maude Granger, Mrs. Gilbert, Mary Hampton, W. H. Crane, Maud Monkhouse, Frank Worthing, Joseph Owens, Frank Lamb, Frank Hall, Felix and Joseph Jefferson. Those who had seen the Jefferson Company in the production of Rob Acres, should not miss the opportunity of seeing the Jefferson Comedy in his best role.

Tue Fair was a shady break in interest rates at the Chicago banks. For a long time rates have been held up to 6 per cent, with great freedom. Judge Jones of statements showing usually heavy loans and deposits, but the change in the rates broke, however, and local institutions loaned money on funds on call at 5 per cent. The demand for money was not so active as the best demand, and they still preferred to lend their money at 6 per cent, or 5 per cent, but there was considerable money offered at 5 per cent, and 4½ per cent, and three is more money in the hands.

A conference in manufacturing will be held in St. Paul next month, at which time one of the largest flour mills in the Northwest will be operated by electricity. It is claimed that this method is the cheapest motive power for grinding, as the introduction of the grinding machinery is made so easy. The idea was the cause then, inc. improvement in the mills, and it is stated that in Minneapolis, Where the great Minneapolis mill exists, Minneapolis, practically clipping out the

SHERMAN WON EASILY.

OHIO'S SENATORIAL CONTEST IS OVER.

Ex-Governor Foraker Gets Only Twenty-eight Votes in Caucus—It Was Done on Open Ballot—Full of a Long and Sonnet what Bitter Fight.

Sherman His Own Successor.

Joseph Foraker 27
Charles Dick 2
Charles Foster 2
William Sherman 2

The Republicans of Ohio have spoken, and John Sherman is once more a United States Senator.

The joint caucus convened at 8 p. m. in the hall of the House of Representatives, and by acclamation Speaker Kyle, of the House, was selected Chairman. He made a speech alluding in complimentary terms to all the Senatorial candidates, and the call of the roll showed every Republican assembly man present except Representative Jackson.

An interesting conflict took place over the question of admitting the public, but a motion was finally adopted providing the Sergeant-at-arms to clear the galleries. The vast audience of spectators blended this action roundly, and it was half an hour before order was restored. The nominating speeches performed his memorable task.

In his eloquent speech in behalf of his ole, of Belmont, presented the name of John Sherman. Tries and proved by the tests of time, he said, he was "weighed and found not wanting." Sherman's record of subsequent events, yielding to no man in the popular theories which have prevailed since the general calamities, followed by the sacrifices of years. For the first time in years the affair was brightening in the prospect of success at the people. The inauguration took place in Dodge's opera house, which was profusely decorated with American flags. Bishop Watterson, of the Episcopal Cathedral, offered the prayer. Then Gov. Hill congratulated Mr. Flower in a short speech.

FOREIGN.

Hence Gnesemer, of Niger Territory, Africa, has colored sovereignty in Ohio.

In closing the Hungarian Diet Emperor Francis Joseph gave assurances of continued peace among the European countries.

Russian has repudiated the demands of France for reparation for the Kaiser's late incident, and the next steps is awaited with interest.

A Paris barber in the Impasse Thomas of Moscow, over which the Grand Duchess Elizabeth presided, netted $600 for the relief of starving Russian peasant.

A mass meeting in Sunnan, Wales, at which Sir Lyman Powell, the Liberal Unionist, and Lord Tredegar, the Tory, spoke against the Home Rule bill, was disturbed by the Congressional Committee on the question of the Welsh Church, and the reports of famous anti-slavery report which thrilled the nation and made him one of the prominent leaders of the day.

Above Men.

The Car plays in cards
The recent of success is contrary to purpose.
The lazy man aims at nothing and generally hits it.
A mirror on your shirt is worth two down the back of your neck.
It was once believed that hard work changed their see every year.
The man who lives his neighbor as himself never lies or pa i tail dog

MOBS RULE IN KANSAS.

OFFICERS SLAIN WHILE DOING THEIR DUTY.

Two Sheriffs Shot Down and Judge Baldwin Forced to Seek Safety—Consequences of a Bitter Co-ed-Seat Warfare—Other Fatalities.

Down Is Dead.

A desperate attempt to take the life of Judge Theodosius Botsford near Arkadia, Kan., was foiled. Three officers were, however, shot down by an ambushed gang which was lying in wait to kill the judge while his honor was on his way to his home. It is the culmination of a famous feud between Judge Baldwin and Sam Wood, who was shot to death by Brennan June 23.

Information received shows that plans to kill Judge Baldwin were laid three weeks ago, and that the intended victim was made aware of it the day following Brennan's release from jail on the murder arraigned. Bulkin lives on a claim three miles from Botsford. His term of court was to open there, and the murderous ones to lie in wait for him in a deep canyon and kill him when he started for Springfield. It was one of the conspirators that disclosed the plot two weeks ago, and Judge Bulkin kept absolutely quiet, telling only the sheriff and his wife. Accordingly the sheriff and six deputies met at Bulkin's house and refused to leave until 2:30 in the morning, when he started for the deep canyon to lie in ambush and shot down the officers. Bulkin, the Judge, and four

Charlevoix Sentinel.
Established 1869.
WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.
CHARLEVOIX, JAN 21, 1892.

Northern Michigan News.

A burglar over at Manistee made the haul of fifty cents from a citizen.

The people of Bellaire are greatly shocked to have their grist mill run on Sunday.

Nineteen members have been added to the Congregational church at Bellaire the past year.

The bridge over Elk river is a fine one. The carpenters are now framing the timbers for the same.

W. Whitman, of Springvale township, is getting out and shipping from Boyne Falls about 20,000,000 feet of birdseye maple.

Leroy Herrick the Street Commissioner of Petoskey charged with getting stone on Mr. Bamhamer's property for city roll, was acquitted upon trial.

Rev. W. S. Sly is having a clause inserted in the deeds of the Bayside lots, which shuts out saloons and other establishments of the 'oth' be lawful" sort.

The Petoskey Independent-Democrat is authority for the statement that Robert Wright, of Nowhery, will start a newspaper at Harbor Springs in a few weeks.

The Benzie board of supervisors go on enforced all election to determine whether or not Frankfort shall be the county seat. And the old Benzie county seat war is on again.

Capt. Cleary, of the Bois Blanc Island life saving station, and his crew rendered assistance to four tow a more vessels than all the other stations, sixteen in number, in that district.

It is not among the impossibilities that Central Lake will have a manufacturing institution next season of considerable importance in the wood working line. Parties are figuring on this point for a location.

Lehosel has cause to feel proud of its boys. When they are not filling the school house above pipe with dead roosters they try their skill at racing the old saw mill. They belong to the light force.

Jobsonville (Alcona) of Boyne City will soon have teams on the road hauling the cut of their mill over to Boyne City. This is the smaller of the two mills which the Pine Lake Lumber Co. operated at Dwights.

Boyne Falls News: P. P. Myers has been struggling the past week to grip of the grippe, and an inquiry the other day as to his progress with it brought the following reply: "Abnormally I feel weiter and then again I feel better."

